On March 28, 1895, an application was received for the registration of a Boston terrier, having a full pedigree of three generations. It appeared, however, that in the second generation the dam's sire was Thayer's Moses, a bulldog. This fact, taken by itself, was sufficient cause for us to decline to register the dog, but two first prizes were credited to the dog, namely, at Boston in 1891 and 1894. The matter was referred to the stud book committee. It being the opinion of your Secretary that a winning in 1891 could not be recognized, for the Boston Terrier was not recognized as a breed until December 8, 1892, at which time the American Kennel Club adopted a special rule as follows: "Notice is hereby given to clubs, members of the American Kennel Club, that they may make a class for and receive entries for the breed of dog known as the Boston Terrier." The stud book committee has informed me that it has decided to refer the matter to the club, for its ruling, at this meeting.

I would respectfully ask you to decide the question of the right to use registered prefixes as kennel names, or to use registered kennel names as prefixes, or does it require the registration of both prefix and kennel name, with a charge for each? The rules governing registrations, adopted in September last, make it necessary that the above questions should be speedily settled by the club.

By the advice of counsel, I filed an income tax return for this club with the Collector of Internal Revenue on April 10, 1895.

Respectfully submitted.

A. P. VREDENBURGH, Secretary.

MR. WATSON: I move that such part of the secretary's report as refers to the Boston terrier matter be dropped, as the same is referred in the report of the stud book committee.

MR. VREDENBURGH: As this matter came to the secretary first, I think it is proper for me to refer to the matter in my report. The matter was referred to the stud book committee, which committee will report on this question whatever decision they have arrived at.

MR. WATSON: I move the secretary's report lie on the table until the stud book committee's report is read, and then we will see if there is any necessity for a reference to the matter by the secretary.

Motion seconded and lost.

MR. BROOKS: I move the secretary's report be accepted and placed on file.

Motion seconded and carried.

The treasurer's report was read and, on motion, accepted and placed on file. The same is as follows:

NEW YORK, May 8, 1895.

TO THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB.

Gentlemen:—I herewith submit my quarterly report of all moneys received and disbursed by me since January 1, 1895.

Balance on hand January 1, 1895	$2,003.94
Receipts from all sources up to date	2,820.10
	$4,824.04
Disbursements from January 1, 1895, to date	3,178.26
Balance on hand	$1,645.78

I also report the following clubs as being in arrears for annual dues for 1895, and would recommend dropping them from membership, unless said dues shall have been paid on or before July 1, 1895: Louisville Kennel Club, Rhode Island State Fair Association, Rhode Island Poultry Association, Maryland Kennel Club, Southern California Kennel Club, American Pet Dog Club, National Greyhound Club and the English Setter Club.

Respectfully submitted.

A. P. VREDENBURGH, Treasurer.

The report of the advisory committee was read, and the same was, on motion, accepted and placed on file. The same is as follows:

A meeting of the advisory committee was held at No. 55 Liberty Street, New York, May 9, 1895. Present, Thomas H. Terry and Edward Brooks; August Belmont concurring.

Edwin H. Morris vs. George R. Preston Jr. } Re Violation Rule XXIII.

Ordered, That this committee declines to take any action in this case, until after the parties have settled their differences in a court of law.

George Bell. Re appeal for reinstatement.

Ordered, that the appeal of George Bell for a removal of his disqualifications be and is hereby refused.

E. P. Schell. Re appeal for reinstatement.

Ordered, That the suspension of E. P. Schell will be removed only upon the recommendation of the Pacific Kennel Club, from which he was expelled for cause.

Attest, A. P. VREDENBURG, Secretary.

The report of the stud book committee was read, and, on motion, was accepted and placed on file. The same is as follows:

NEW YORK, May 8, 1895.

TO THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB.

Gentlemen:—The stud book committee referred the case of John Jarvis, now of South Fitchburg, Mass., late of Bound Brook, N. J., and formerly of Warren, Mass., on presentation of additional statements contradicting Jarvis. The latter has been given ample opportunity to support his original statement, now definitely contradicted, and failing to do so he leaves no doubt in the minds of the committee as to its having been incorrect. The committee recommends his disqualification for issuing false beagle pedigrees.

In accordance with the agreement entered into at the last meeting of the executive committee, between the American Kennel Club and the Boston Terrier Club, all pedigrees already in the stud book have been ordered canceled which are not in conformity therewith, and are not affected by the prize winning right of entry.

In the case of the Boston terrier Evadne, it is claimed that he is entitled to registration under Section B of Registration Rule 1, which provides that a winner of two (2) first prizes in open class shall be ipso facto eligible regardless of pedigree. But it appears that of the two wins of this dog one was prior to the recognition of the breed, and is not of official record. This committee respectfully refer to the executive committee the question whether they shall recognize such win.

Respectfully submitted.

JAS. WATSON, } of the Committee.
WINSON FISKE, }

The report of the committee on rules was read, and, on motion, was accepted and placed on file, and is as follows

NEW YORK, May 8, 1895.

TO BE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB.

GENTLEMEN:—In accordance with the resolution at the meeting we have considered the application of the Pacific Kennel Club, which has been supplemented by one of a similar nature from the [illegible] for a Kennel Club. The amendment asked for would not be required and, as no club on the Pacific [illegible] entries, the committee therefore recommends that [illegible] added to Section 1 of dog show Rule XIV, [illegible] the stipulation calling for 500 entries does not apply [illegible] west of 110° west longitude."

The committee responds to the request for an amendment or rule which would apply to special cases of clubs holding shows, the clubs not being eligible to membership, by suggesting that the first clause of the show regulations be made to read as follows: "Any club or association a member of or licensed by the American Kennel Club," etc. The restrictions governing the licensing had better be left to the club to decide by motion, or left to the individual merits of each case.

In view of the failure of members to respond to the mail vote called for by the constitution, on the amendment submitted at the February meeting, the committee hereby gives notice that it will prepare and announce an amendment providing for the carrying of all amendments of which thirty days' notice has been given by vote of the delegates present at the meeting when the amendment is voted upon.

The committee also gives notice that at the next club meeting a motion to put a stop to cropping the ears of dogs will be submitted, the date not to be later than January 1, 1896. The committee desires to hear from members and others interested in these two proposed amendments.

The committee also desires to call attention to the difficulty, which has become so conspicuous, of arriving at a satisfactory conclusion of Pacific Coast cases, and suggests the advisability of entering into correspondence with the Pacific Coast clubs with the view of their appointing a committee of club representatives to investigate cases arising in their territory and forward their conclusions for the approval of the American Kennel Club.

JAS. WATSON,
Chairman of Committee on Constitution and Rules.

The application of the Scottish Terrier Club for membership in the American Kennel Club was read, and on motion accepted.

On motion, the request of Elmer Rand Hollander for the sole use of the prefix "Randolph" was granted.

MR. VREDENBURGH: I have a communication here, which has just been received from the Springside Kennels, protesting against the award by the New England Kennel Club to a certain exhibitor for a dog shown by the New England Kennel Club, alleged to be in violation of the bench show rules.

MR. BROOKS: When we were making up our premium list last Winter the club decided to offer certain specialties for a dog and bitch bred and owned by an exhibitor. We subsequently decided that that was unfair, because a second-class dog might win one of these prizes and so we voted to change the offer. By some error it was printed as heretofore suggested. We then published in the AMERICAN FIELD and other journals, prior to the closing of dates of entries, a notice calling attention of exhibitors to the change as it appeared later in the catalog. We thought we had covered ourselves sufficiently to make the change. We also advertised in the local press. Subsequently this protest came up, which was the only protest we received out of twenty-one entries.

MR. WATSON: I move the protest be dismissed on the ground that the New England Kennel Club was empowered by Section 3 of Rule 3 to make a change, and that notice was given prior to the closing of the entries. Motion seconded and carried.

MR. VREDENBURGH: This question of prefix and kennel registry is the next in order. It has been our custom heretofore to register a prefix. In September the club decided, by adopting certain rules governing registration, that a kennel name could not be used as the owner or breeder unless said kennel name with the breeder's name (or names) should be registered with this club. There are many instances where the prefix is the same as the name of the kennel, and I would like to have the meeting decide whether in receiving a registration of a dog either owned or bred by a kennel which has that name registered such prefix shall be accepted, or whether it will be necessary for the owner of that prefix to make a regular application to have the name also registered as a kennel name, and whether if he does make that application it will be necessary to pay an additional fee.

MR. WATSON: I had no idea when we adopted that that it would entail a second registration, or I would have voted against it. If a breeder registers a name he is entitled to make every use of that name, either as a prefix or in any other way as he may.

MR. VREDENBURGH: I did not think it was my province to interpret the meaning of that rule, and for that reason I would like to have on the record the sense or interpretation of the club of that rule. For instance, the president of this club has registered and paid for the prefix "Blemton." We all know that "Blemton" is the name of his kennels, and I know that in registering dogs he always registers them as owned by the Blemton Kennels, and bred by Blemton Kennels, and I desire to know whether, if he should send such a registration, I should refuse it because he has not applied for the registration of "Blemton" as his kennel name. I think practically it ought to be so, but I want the sense of this meeting in order that I may be guided in the matter.

MR. WATSON: The object of the rule was to keep track of people's names in order that some person might not send in a name, bred by so-and-so kennel, of which we had no knowledge. The idea was to find out who the person was. I move that the registration of a prefix or an affix shall govern without extra registration. Motion seconded and carried.

MR. VREDENBURGH: There are eight clubs in arrears for dues, with dues payable on or about the first of January last. It has been customary to grant clubs in arrears thirty days in which to pay, and if not paid at the end of that time to drop them from the roll. I am quite well convinced that the arrearage of some of these clubs is due to the fact that the proper persons have not received the bills. It is our custom to send all communications to the delegates, relying on them to send the bills to the clubs. I think, if these clubs are given until June 1, between now and then I can send the bills to the proper persons and undoubtedly a number of them will be paid.

MR. BROOKS: I move that the secretary write to the different clubs in arrears, notifying them that if their dues are not paid by July 1, 1895, they will be dropped from membership.

[illegible] from the decision of the advisory [illegible] of Morris vs. Preston, referred [illegible], and asked for a further consid- [illegible] the papers in the case were read. [illegible] over these papers, and, while I [illegible] opinion, it seems to me that this stipulation of June 25 by the attorneys settles the claim—that is, a settlement as to the money due. Whether it is the custom of the Kennel Club to enforce claims between members or not I do not know, but this is simply a question as to whether or not this club will force the payment of the balance. If it is the custom of the club to determine such a matter, all right; but if it is not the custom then it rests on the ground of fraud. It is a suit purely for a money claim.

MR. VREDENBURGH: There is a resolution on the books of this club which states that this club absolutely refuses to act in any case where there is any money question at stake between two parties.

MR. MORRIS: The matter of money mentioned in those papers can be obliterated if you choose. I want a decision on the actions of Mr. Preston, as I state in my claim. When I mentioned any sum of money in my papers I did not mean that it should be taken into consideration, but I do insist that his conduct should receive attention.

MR. BROOKS: In what way has Mr. Preston acted dishonorably? As I understood originally it was a question of importation of dogs. Mr. Morris did not import the dog, nor could he do so, and the whole question has arisen as to how much that dog is worth.

MR. MORRIS: In answer to that I would state that Mr. Preston went down on the arrival of the boat and saw this bitch, and he came over to my place and told me he had not seen the bitch until he saw her at my kennel. But the steward and captain of the vessel told me had been on the vessel and remained an hour. He saw I had a good dog there, and he wanted a good one rather than take a chance of getting a poor one. Besides that, his refusal to pay the amount named by Mr. Mortimer, as agreed upon between the parties, is in itself a dishonorable act.

MR. WATSON: I do not understand it as being a claim solely for money. I understand it to be an accusation against Mr. Preston in not carrying out his agreement. Mr. Preston makes no reply to that charge. I move that the matter be referred back to the advisory committee. Motion seconded and carried.

MR. TERRY: If you will permit me, as representative of the Westminster Kennel Club, I desire to state that some time after our show closed my attention was called to a statement in the papers that the Netherwood Kennels had substituted a dog in a bitch class—substituted a dog for a bitch that had been entered. This matter was not discovered and no protest was made. I would like, and move, that the American Kennel Club take it up and investigate it, and, if there is any evidence of misconduct, that the Secretary be authorized to prefer charges.

MR. BROOKS: What is the complaint?

MR. TERRY: It is alleged that the Netherwood Kennels entered a bitch in a bitch puppy class, and I subsequently discovered that they had shown a dog instead of a bitch. Something had gone wrong with the bitch which had been entered, and they substituted a dog instead of a bitch.

MR. WATSON: Do you base your opinion entirely on what you saw in the papers?

MR. TERRY: No; several men have spoken to me about it and verified the reports. Motion seconded and carried.

MR. TERRY: There is another matter I desire to mention. It does not require any action of the club, but perhaps you have all noticed that Mr. James Taylor, who judged the New York show, has made a statement in the English Stock-Keeper that awards in the collie class had been changed by the executive. I wish to say most emphatically that that statement is false, and when my attention was called to it I asked the clerk in the office of Mr. Mortimer to give me the judge's book, with the intention of laying the matter before the Kennel Club. But I was told that Mr. Taylor had written his report in the judge's book, and, although he had been requested not to take it out of the building, he not only took it out of the building but took it to England, and has it there yet.

MR. WATSON: I would call your attention to the fact that there were a number of typographical errors printed in the catalog. I noticed quite a number.

MR. OLDHAM: The English Stock-Keeper has made a full explanation as to how Mr. Taylor made the remark.

MR. TERRY: In connection with that matter I would state that the Messrs. Woodiwiss came over here and got to the show on the afternoon of the second day. The judging had not been finished. These classes were going on at the moment they got in the building (Wednesday afternoon), and the dogs were rushed into the ring, and before I knew anything about it had been judged and awarded prizes. I realized that I was in an embarrassing position, they having come all that distance with their dogs, and it seemed mean not to allow them to compete. At the same time I felt that it was not right to establish the precedent of allowing dogs to come into the show on the afternoon of the second day and compete. The awards I made to the dogs belonging to the Messrs. Woodiwiss were called extra prizes. In other words, they were not allowed to interfere with dogs that were there at the proper time, but I went to them and said, "You have the benefit of the award. You know the rank your dogs would have taken if you had been here in time, and we will pay you the prizes." We not only paid them the prize money, but we paid everybody else. We paid two first prizes, or two second prizes, whatever it was. We gave them a complimentary award and a money award. We tendered them the money, and Mr. Woodiwiss said he would prefer plate, and we ordered plate. They wanted about $95 in plate, and we ordered about $110 worth of plate. So far as the judge's book is concerned, that is in England.

On motion the recommendation contained in the report of the stud book committee, recommending the permanent disqualification of John Jarvis, was dropped.

MR. VREDENBURGH: There is another recommendation by the stud book committee, which is, "Shall we recognize wins of dogs made prior to the recognition of the Boston Terrier Club by this club?"

MR. BURRITT: The question is raised by the Boston Terrier Club, and it is the opinion of that club that the wins made prior to the recognition of the Boston Terrier Club should not be recognized.

MR. BROOKS: I move that wins prior to the recognition of any breed shall not be recognized as a qualification for registration. Motion seconded and carried.

MR. VREDENBURGH: The committee on rules is going to recommend an amendment in regard to shows held on the Pacific Coast. The committee is also going to recommend an amendment in regard to licensing, and then they are going to recommend another amendment in regard to the mail vote. The committee also desires to call attention to the difficulty of arriving at a satisfactory conclusion on Pacific Coast cases, and suggests the advisability of entering into a correspondence with the Pacific Coast clubs, with a view of said clubs appointing a committee of club representatives to investigate a case which arises in their territory and forward their conclusions for the approval of the American Kennel Club. That idea is advisable because in every case we have had of misconduct on the part of clubs and members of clubs on the Pacific Coast it has been almost impossible for us to get the papers and documents on which to form a conclusion.

MR. BROOKS: I move that the recommendation of the committee on rules in regard to the Pacific Coast clubs, as to forming an investigating committee, be adopted. Motion seconded and carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE ENGLISH FIELD TRIALS

The National Trials

These trials were held on April 24, 25 and 26 over the estate of Sir Walter Corbet, at Acton Reynalds, near Shrewsbury. Following three other field trial meetings, and being the latest in a backward season, the National trials had an advantage over its predecessors; vegetation had improved and birds were plentiful. "Twelve months ago," says our English cotemporary, The Field, "the National society made some considerable alterations in their rules, and the present occasion was the first time they had been in force. From the number of entries they must be considered to have worked quite satisfactorily. The new stake, the International Champion Stakes, for winners of a first or second prize at any recent field-trial meeting, had fourteen entries on the night of the draw and seventeen when it closed, and may be said to have included all the cracks of the day, so far as this country is concerned, though, as to its international character, the pointer Fly des Bordes of M. Caillard's was the only foreign representative. This was the bitch which ran so well here last year. However, to see the names of all the 'cracks" entered reference must be made to the card which is printed below. The all-aged stake closed with a total of thirteen acceptances, against eleven last season, and there were eighteen puppies against nineteen twelve months ago, although on the present occasion there were but six pointers, the remainder being English setters, Gordons and the Irish variety being unrepresented. Then there were six entries in the braces, including all that had competed at Bedford, and Mr. Llewellin's in addition. The draw took place on Monday afternoon at the Raven Hotel, Shrewsbury. Nothing noteworthy took place, but it may be said that 'on paper' a better lot of dogs never competed at any field trials in this or any other country. Rain had fallen pretty freely during the whole of Monday, and although we had to be sanguine to anticipate fine weather, everybody said that the somewhat continuous April showers would benefit the land and vegetation to a great extent, and that scent would be improved thereby. Orders to start from headquarters at 8 a. m. for the meet at Rock Hall, Preston Brockhurst, were given, and then to dinner, but there was a terribly scanty gathering in the coffee room at the Raven compared with what we have seen in former years. The older generation of field-trial supporters appear to be disappearing, and unfortunately we find few of the younger to fill the vacant places. The management of the meeting was quite as good as usual, and, as heretofore, the head keeper, Coggins, had the arrangement and conduct of the beats, in which position no one could possibly have done better."

The following was the card, and in running a peculiar arrangement was made, the pointer puppies being as usual taken first, but instead of following with the setter puppies, as is customary, the All-Age Stakes were next run through.

POINTER PUPPY STAKES, puppies of 1894; £5 5s. each; first prize £25 and £10 added money, second prize £15, third prize £5.

Marquis de Vibraye's and Mr. P. Caillard's liv w Rock, by Rocket—Fly of Meirelbeke; 14 mos.	agst	Mr. C. H. Beck's liv w Dandy Dick, by Ortyx of Upton—Nancibel; 14 mos.
Col. C. J. Cotes' liv w Conrad, by Carlist—Peace; 12 mos.	"	Mr. A.P. Heywood-Lonsdale's liv w Ightfield Mentor, by Ightfield Torridge — Ightfield Musa; 14 mos.
Mr. A. B. Walker's liv w Whist, by Woolton Druid—Bertha of Drayton; 14 mos.	"	Mr. Ellas Bishop's liv w Jane Pedro, by Señor Don Pedro —Hoilyberry; 15 mos.

ACTON REYNALD STAKES, single aged pointers and setters (ineligible for the Champion Stake), dogs and bitches (limited to twenty); £7 7s. each; pointers, first prize, £30; setters, first prize, £30; second best of either breed £20; absolute winning dog £10 extra.

POINTERS

Mr. Elias Bishop's liv w t Pollie Pedro, by Señor Don Pedro—Jeanette; 2 yrs. 2 mos.	agst	Mr. W. L. Nicholson's liv w Dora Lee, by Devonshire Nero—Bertha of Drayton; 2 yrs. 3 mos.
Mr. B. J. Warwick's lem w Nyssa, by Señor Don Pedro —Nepthys; 3 yrs. 1 mo.	"	Mr. F. C. Lowe's lem w Ben of Kippen, by Rocket R— Laura of Kippen; 5 yrs. 9 mos.

SETTERS

Mr. C. P. Burr's bk w tan Benbow, by Prince W—Look Out; 2 yrs. 3 mos.	agst	Col. C. J. Cotes' bk w tan Dasher, by Lawdon Dash—Dahlia; 2 yrs. 1 mo.
Mr. F. Bibby's bk w b t Rhine Duke, by Rufus—Rhine Queen II.; 3 yrs. 1 mo.	"	Mr. M. P. Baron's bk w Master Frederick, by Fred W— Blue Maud of Cranfield; 3 yrs.
Miss Bibby's bk w t May Prince, by Royal Prince II —May Bloom; 2 yrs. 10 mos.	"	Mr. A. Richard's bk w tan Wild Tam Tam, by Lahn III—Rose of Shrewsbury; 3 yrs.
Mr. H. M. Wilson's r Runchamp Kili, by Spalpeen—Airnie; 2 yrs.	"	Mr. A.P. Heywood-Lonsdale's lem w Ightfield Roma, by Fred W—Ightfield Rosa; 2 yrs. 9 mos.

Mr. R. Ll. P. Llewellin's bk w t Bruce Wind'em, by Dick Wind'em—May Wind'em; 2 yrs. 3 mos.

SETTER PUPPY STAKES, puppies of 1894; £5 5s. each; first prize £35 and £10 added money, second prize £25, third prize £10.

Col. C. J. Cotes' bk w tan Pitchford Daisy, by Prince Frederick—Dora; 14 mos.,	agst.	Mr. W. L. Nicholson's w bk t Faith, by Baronet—Fancy Fair; 15 mos.

Mr. J. Bishop's w bk t tan Belle of Salop, by Danger of Salop—Flirt of Salop; 13 mos.,	"	Col. C. J. Cotes' bk w tan Pitchford Duke, by Prince Frederick—Dora; 14 mos.
Mr. R. Ll. P Llewellin's lem w t Mab Wind'em, by Dick Wind'em—May Wind'em; 12 mos.,	"	Mr. F. Bibby's bk w t Dance, by Lauee—Daisy; 15 mos.
Mr. R. Ll. P. Llewellin's b w tan Darkie Wind'em, by Dick Wind'em — May Wind'em; 12 mos.,	"	Mr. J. Bishop's w bk t tan Bounce of Salop, by Danger of Salop—Flirt of Salop; 13 months.
Mr. E. Bishop ns. Baron O. Dickson's bk w t Our Jack, by Grand Prince — May Bloom; 15 mos.,	"	Mr. F. C. Lowe's bk w t tan Squire of Kippen, by Aldon Tam—Nancy of Kippen; 15 mos.
Mr. R. G. Mawson's w lem t Lee of Bromfield, by Rattle —Baroness; 12 mos.,	"	Mr. A. P. Heywood-Lonsdale's bk mot Ightfield Rella, by Sybarite Sam—Sweep's Delight; 15 mos.

Mr. F. C. Lowe's liv w tan Mabel of Kippen, by Aldon Tam—Nancy of Kippen; 15 mos. (a bye).

CLOVERLEY STAKES, for braces of pointers and setters (dogs and bitches), all ages: £7 7s. each; first prize £25 and £10 added money, second prize £15.

Mr. B. J. Warwick's lew w pointers Jenny Lind, by Señor Don Pedro —Jeauette, 2 yrs. 8 mos., and lem w Nyssa, by Señor Don Pedro—Nepthys, 3 yrs. 1 mo.

Mr. F. Bibby's bk w be t setters Rhine Duke, by Rufus—Rhine Queen II, 3 yrs. 1 mo., and bk w be t Glen Isla, by Champion Geltsdale—Eden Sweet, 3 yrs. 2 mos.

Mr. R. Ll. P. Llewellin's bk w t setters Jessie Wind'em, by Moss Wind'em—Jewell, 2 yrs. 10 mos., and bk w t Rosa Wind'en, by Dick Wind'em—May Wind'em, 2 yrs. 3 mos.

Mr. J. Bishop's bk w t setters Sweep the Greeu, by Monk of Furness —Kate Auburn, 6 yrs., and bk w t tan Danger of Salop, by Young Duke—Snowdrop, 4 yrs. 4 mos.

Mr. A. Richard's bk w tan setters Wild Tam Tam, by Lahn III—Rose of Shrewsbury, 3 yrs., and lem w Fred W II, by Prince W—Duchesse of Albany, 2 yrs. 1 mo.

Mr. A. P. Heywood-Lonsdale's w bk t setters South Durham Daisy, by Prince W—Look Out, 2 yrs. 3 mos., and w bk t South Durham DI, by Prince W—Look Out, 2 yrs. 3 mos.

INTERNATIONAL CHAMPION STAKES, for single pointers and setters that have won first or second prizes (not in a brace stake) at any field trial in the world in 1894 and 1895: all ages, £5 5s. each; first prize £50, second £30, third £15, fourth £5.

Miss Bibby's bk w t setter May Prince, by Royal Prince II—May Bloom; 2 yrs. 10 mos.,	agst.	Mr. R. Ll. P. Llewellin's bk w t setter Rosa Wind'em, by Dick Wind'em—May Wind'em; 2 yrs. 3 mos.
Mr. R. Ll. P. Llewellin's bk w t setter Bruce Wind'em, by Dick Wind'em—May Wind'em; 2 yrs. 3 mos.,	"	Mr. G. Pilkington's liv w pointer Woolton Druid, by Woolton Dick Lawn; 3 yrs. 1 mo.
Mr. A. P Heywood-Lonsdale's bk w t setter Sybarite Sam, by Fred W—Blue Bess W; 4 yrs.,	"	Mr. R. G. Mawson's w liv t pointer Prior of Bromfield, by Prior of Upton—Queen of Bromfield; 2 yrs. 1 mo.
Mr. C. Austin's r setter Ben Sullivan, by Sullivan—Springfield Flirt; 1 yr. 10 mos.,	"	Col. C. J. Cotes' liv w pointer Dodo, by Carlist—Peace; 2 yrs.
Mr. R. Ll. P. Llewellin's bk w t setter Jessie Wind'em, by Moss Wind'em—Jewell; 2 yrs. 10 mos.,	"	Messrs. M. Dechamp and A. Richard's liv w pointer Kissing Crust, by Naso of Strasburg—Kiss; 3 mos.
Mr. E. Bishop's liv w t pointer Pollie Pedro, by Señor Don Pedro—Jeanette; 2 yrs., 2 mos.,	"	Mr. A. P. Heywood-Lonsdale's w bk t setter South Durham Daisy, by Prince W—Look Out; 2 yrs. 3 mos.
Mr. E. Bishop's liv w pointer Señor Don Pedro, by Dickon—Di; 5 yrs. 2 mos.,	"	Mr. S. Humphrey's liv w pointer Bonny Dan of Cold Hill, by Don of Boleord—Duchess of Boleor 1; 11 mos.
M. P. Caillard's bk w pointer Fly-des-Bordes, by Paris—Fly of Meirelbeke; 2 yrs. 3 mos.	"	Mr. C. P. Burr's bk w setter Captain Swift, by Earl of Moira—Nellie; 3 yrs. 2 mos.

Mr. W. Arkwright's bk pointer Tap, by Rapp VI—Selia Price; 4 yrs. (a bye).

Tuesday proved a model day for field trials. The ground was damp with the rain which had fallen overnight, a nice wind blew from the southwest, and gleams of sunshine were anything but casual visitants. Even fault could not be found with scent, but the early trials dragged somewhat, and a long time was consumed in running through the pointer puppies, whose work was not generally of a high class. "In the end," says The Field, "Whist was placed first, but, though he ran stylishly and found a number of birds, he was fortunate in attaining that position, for he made serious mistakes; he should not have been higher than third. Mr. Beck's Dandy Dick, though not a stylish mover, might easily have won, for he found his game well, was beautifully broken, and we are not aware that he made any serious blunder at all; he once flushed birds, but it was not a bad flush, and almost excusable under the circumstances; he came second, and third honors went to Col. Cotes' Conrad, a stylish young dog, who went in pretty form—not very fast, perhaps, but he had the knack of keeping the outside beat from his opponent; his stern carriage and action were fine, and his natural abilities as a game finder were quite of a high character; he might well have been second. The remaining pointer puppies ran badly, nor did those in the All-Age Stake do better, Polly Pedro winning rather easily. She went as fast as she always does, but should quarter her ground better; Polly finds game. In addition to going through these two pointer competitions, several trials were run with the aged setters, who certainly did well as a lot. Although birds were difficult to find before luncheon, later they were in abundance, and there was a nice sprinkling of hares likewise."

Rain threatened on Wednesday morning and the wind was at times somewhat boisterous and a little chilly from the northeast, but the weather proved quite favorable. The setters, both puppies and aged, are criticised by our cotemporary as follows: "Bruce Wind'em won easily enough, proving himself a capable game finder, and thoroughly well broken. He is not a brilliant dog, still one likely to always hold more than his own, even in the best company. Miss Bibby May Prince was second, a showy, smart setter, good looking, a fair galloper, and generally useful, perhaps more brilliant at times than the winner, but never so generally useful. Ightfield Roma was again speedy, Tam Tam wild as his name, and Master Frederick likewise did not answer expectations; Benbow was perhaps unfortunate, he gallops fast, but has an ugly style, still he seems carefully trained, and the one Irish setter, Runchamp Kill, did badly. Attention need hardly be drawn to the fact that Bruce Wind'em very easily disposed of Polly Pedro, a result which all anticipated. The work of the setter puppies was anything but high-class, but the winner, Leo of Bromfield, was very soon spotted by the knowing ones to see the end of the stake, which he won fairly and squarely. Unfortunately he is a remarkably ugly dog, lemon and white in color, and his appearance might lead to a supposition that he has a cross of pointer in him. His owner says he has not, but that his blood is pretty much the same as that of Tutsham Trip, Woodhill Bruce, and others of that ilk. Lee's backing qualifications were perhaps doubtful, he is not fast, nor is he stylish, but he is a natural game finder, carries his head well, and is stanch and true on point, well broken and well handled. He, however, tired toward the end, or, maybe, he was cowed by the repeated whistlings he had to put up with when down with Faith. The latter was lucky to be given other trials after her first, but at times she went merrily, and seemed to have a good nose; when last down she tired to nothing, and certainly deserved no higher a position than she attained. Squire of Kippen, who was placed second, did some good and some bad work, yet no other dog in the stake could have taken his place; his sister Mabel was stylish and no more, and Mr. Lonsdale's Ightfield Rella, placed third, was an extremely merry mover, but strangely addicted to false pointing, or, at any rate, to pointing where birds could not be found. Of Mr. Llewellin's brace we preferred Darkie Wind'em, although he is not so merry a mover as his sister Mab, who has lovely stern action, but appeared quite unbroken. Darkie appeared sluggish and lacking in dash and energy. Pitchford Duke once or twice went brightly, but Mr. James Bishop's brace did not perform so well as they might do on another occasion. They are merry, free movers at times, but neither found much game, and both false pointed too much. The test for the champion puppy was held over until the Thursday, and one trial on the Brace Stakes was run. During the day we had a good deal of walking, and an hour prior to luncheon birds were difficult to find; later and before, we found good covert, and partridges were in sufficient numbers to gratify anyone."

On Thursday the rain came at last, and fell heavily all day; but about 10:15 a. m. a commencement was made, although one of the judges was absent. It had been arranged over-night that the winning puppies, the setter Lee of Bromfield and the pointer Whist, should run their trial thus early to determine the destination of the special prize for the best puppy at the meeting; and, heeding not the rain, the two dogs were slipped in a nice field of seeds close to the road. The trial is thus described in The Field: "No one expected that a good trial could be run under climatic surroundings so adverse, but Whist went off to the right in pretty style, and almost immediately poked up a pair of birds, refusing to drop to wing. In another part of the field Lee was ambling along in anything but merry fashion. Another cast, and the pointer hit the wind of birds, this time locating them well, and a hare went away from the same spot; almost immediately he stood again, this time to a tiny leveret, which he would no doubt have chased had not Nicholson severely checked him. Climbing the fence into another field, Whist again found birds, this time steady enough to them, and to the left Lee was at last letting himself out; he stood, drew on, and located a pair of birds, making a very good point, while his opponent was anything but steady behind. Just afterward Mr. Serjeantson gave his decision in favor of the pointer, no doubt being guided by his style and quartering rather than by other qualities as displayed amid the rain."

The trials in the Brace Stakes were run off in very short order during a steady downpour. The first brace, Nyssa and Jenny Lind, had had their trial Wednesday evening, when they ran poorly, and the remaining four heats occupied but little over an hour. The work is summarized as follows:

"The English setters Rhine Duke and Glen Isla, handled by Latham, worked independently, quartered their ground well, but failed to find birds, and when they did point on the line of something which had previously gone away failed to back, so their trial was necessarily short, if not sweet. Mr. Llewellin's pretty brace of English setters were present, but their owner, who handles them himself, being in indifferent health, withdrew his favorites, not caring to risk the danger which might result from the soaking he would have had to undergo. The next brace were James Bishop's Sweep the Green and Danger of Salop, which did so well at Bedford a fortnight ago. The wet notwithstanding, they again performed brilliantly, quartering their ground well at a great pace, backing to perfection, and finding, at any rate, two pairs of birds. Then Watts handled M. Richard's Wild Tam Tam and Fred W II, but their work was short and decisively indifferent, so Mr. Lonsdale's brace of smart setters, South Durham Daisy and Di, were called for, and Lauder handled them well. They perhaps quartered their ground better than Bishop's brace had done, but unfortunately one of them flushed a pair of birds, and both passed another pair they should have found. Afterward they located a pair satisfactorily, while working with independence, and at a great pace ran by no means a bad trial, a good one in fact, so good that the judges had Sweep the Green and Danger of Salop tried a second time. They ran in a field of seeds on the opposite side of the road where they had been before, and, finding more birds expeditiously, soon put the matter of the destination of the first prize out of doubt, the judges making their awards thus:

Danger of Salop and Sweep the Green	1
Durham Daisy and Durham Di	2

"It was now about three o'clock, and so ended the rainiest day at field trials on record."

The International Champion Stakes occupied all day Friday. The weather was wet and scent bad, consequently trials were unsatisfactory, the result being as follows:

Mr. Heywood-Lonsdale's South Durham Daisy	1
Mr. S. Humphrey's Bonny Dan of Coldhill	2
Mr. C. Austin's Ben Sullivan	3
Mr. G. Pilkington's Woolton Druid	4

REARING AND BREAKING

BY ACOLYTE

A great deal has been said and written about the rearing and breaking of our high-class English setters by persons who have made it a special study as well as a most fascinating business pursuit. Many such persons have acquired from practical experiences a wonderful knowledge of these subjects; while others, after using their very best endeavors, have either not inherited the predisposition, or, having this inherent predisposition, have not acquired this special skill, which others seem to know intuitively. The rearing and breaking, then, of our high-class English setter is no child's play, and to be only acquired after years of hard study and [illegible] with them in the kennel and field, which is not so easily acquired as the looker-on, who can tell you just what ought to be done and what he would have done, giving his special instructions to the trainer as regards the methods by which it is to be done. But have you ever seen one of those men who can draw such nice distinctions who could go out into the field and break a high-class English setter just exactly as they will prescribe it to someone else who really does know how a dog should be broken? However, I did not intend to enter upon any harangue upon this subject. It just occurred to me that I have some friends like that who have owned some high-class dogs, in fact some noted cracks, and whom I have heard giving some such instructions to their trainers, and I would bet dollars to doughnuts they could not break a "plug shooter" so as not to hamper him into an innocuous state of potterism and useless desuetude, except perhaps to his vaunted trainer.

The country is the only proper place to keep puppies, and be sure that you do not keep so many as to expect the distemper annually. Guard against this by thorough cleanliness. Fumigate your kennel in which a dog has been suffering from the disease by burning sulphur and keeping it tightly closed for several hours, so the fumes may destroy the germs of the disease. Give your youngsters lots of freedom. Take them out for a walk with you every day or two, so that they will learn to follow, and instead of being afraid of you will soon learn to love you and look to you for that care, attention and protection which you have thus far meted out to them with no stinted hand.

Now, then, your dog knows you, likes you, and is not afraid of you because as yet you have given him no cause to be, and you are not going to if it is possible to avoid it. Later on, when the puppy of six months ago has developed in a youngster of some promise, you are figuring on him as a favorable Derby entry.

You take the whole gang of half a dozen out into the stubble-field after Jack Frost has gotten in his work on the sweet potato vine, and as you walk along breathing in fresh inspiration and ozone you see with great pride and pleasure a brace of the puppies break away from the rest and fairly skim the earth over which they fly with that smooth, swallow-like movement so much admired in field trials. You also notice that he carries his head well in the air, breathing fresh inspiration like a thousand-dollar racehorse; you notice, too, that he carries his tail well. Now, then, you begin to figure like this, he has speed, style, range, nose, snap and all the rest of it, and a kind of congratulation which you will extend in silence to yourself will flit through your mind. Now, then, I believe I am just now well into the suburbs of what I want to say. It is this: Lay not this flattering unction to thy vain soul, oh, man! Thou hast done nothing of the kind.

I hinted something about the survival of the fittest in my last letter to the AMERICAN FIELD. Now this is not the elementary law of physics, but is the same law with its accompanying sequence of similia similibus; in other words it is the best possible result which can be produced after bringing together the best possible specimens. These are they which inherit the prepotency to breed on. The undeveloped specimens should not, according to the laws of physiology, be bred at all.

A word in regard to the youngster's early education. Learn his disposition as soon as possible. No rules can be laid down for the training of any one dog, because they are all different. Make them steady to shot and wing by one of these three methods, and whichever one is indicated: The check cord, the whip, or the spike-collar, modifying the restraint when it is possible to do so.

St. Louis, Mo.

BLOODHOUNDS

CARROLLTON, KY.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—While at Marysville, Ohio, recently, I was shown a pair of young bloodhounds, the property of Mr. Henry Spencer, that awakened in me a great interest in that valuable breed of our canine friends. They were only three months old but possessed at that early age the points that, through the AMERICAN FIELD, I am led to believe go to make up almost a perfect specimen of the breed. He told me the name of the kennel from which he procured them, but I am sorry to say I have forgotten the name, for I think it nothing but right that those sending out that kind of stock should receive the praise they justly deserve. He told me that, as young as they were, they were man trackers and proposed to exhibit their prowess, so we took them out into a large corn stubble where some ridges intervened.

"Now you hold them," said Spencer, "and I will run directly over that hill, and as soon as out of sight I will turn abruptly to the right and come in sight again about three hundred yards from where we stand. When you see me turn them loose."

The amount of grunting and pulling to get away that those little fellows did when their master disappeared was truly amazing, and by the time Spencer came in sight I was glad to turn them loose. Just as soon as loose they rushed as hard as their little legs would carry them over the hill and straight on, but only for a little way before they discovered that they were wrong; they came straight back and immediately took the right trail, except that they ran about five steps to leeward of Spencer's tracks. There being rather a strong wind, they did not put their noses to the ground at all; but, to my surprise, they kept this distance, curving in and out exactly as his tracks did, until finally they were about to pass where he was hidden behind a corn shock, when they suddenly wheeled and came up wind with every movement saying "Now we've got you." And the way they did pounce in on him was amusing indeed.

They would track me, too, and I tried [illegible] on dodging, such as back-tracking and [illegible] ten feet to one side and going off in another [illegible] you have seen rabbits do in the snow; but [illegible] as they soon caught on.

Now, Mr. Editor, please do not consider this a "[illegible] head" advertisement, for Mr. Spencer does not [illegible] sell the puppies, but will keep them for hire to posses looking for criminals and to breed from. I believe he has struck the right breed to make money out of.

Mr. Spencer also had another pair of bloodhounds (?) which he should have bought of a man in Chester County, Penn. These were rather indifferent specimens of the breed. Let all sportsmen take warning. I am glad to say that he did not read the "ad" in the American Field but in a New York cotemporary. The man would not answer his letters of complaint, so I took it upon myself to give Spencer some legal advice, which he promised to follow out to the letter; and if he does the wily Boyer will be "where the dogs won't bite him" soon after the next federal grand jury meets.

The exploits of bloodhounds about Chattanooga are probably fresh in the minds of your readers; a number of noted criminals were run down, and the lowly dog's testimony passed at par alongside that of the man who kissed the Bible. This goes to show what correct breeding will accomplish. I believe them the coming dog as a money-maker.

JOHN W. BROYLES.

NEW JERSEY KENNEL LEAGUE'S MEETING

HACKENSACK, N. J.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The third annual meeting of this club was held at Molter's Hotel, Newark, N. J., on May 8. Present, Miles A. Hanchett (in the chair), Frank Linck, Walter Browe, J. N. Sinnock, Alderman W. O. Kuebler, August Hahn, Charles Young, W. J. Whelan, John Brett, Chris Keischler and Edwin H. Morris.

The treasurer's report was submitted, showing a substantial balance in hand and a still larger amount to come from the members who had not paid their dues; this was referred to the auditing committee appointed by the chairman, consisting of W. O. Kuebler, August Hahn and Walter Browe, and the treasurer was requested to send applications to all delinquent members.

The committee appointed by the executive to report on prospects for another show being given in the Fall reported that the hall occupied on the former occasion was not in a satisfactory condition for another such exhibition, wherein so many valuable dogs were intrusted to the safe keeping of the club, but recommended that a show be given provided a satisfactory building could be secured.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then proceeded with, resulting in Miles A. Hanchett of Orange, N. J., being chosen president; Walter Browe of Newark, N. J., 1st vice-president; Dr. E. Guenther, 2nd vice-president, and August Hahn 3rd vice-president; Frank Linck of Newark, N. J., treasurer, and Edwin H. Morris of Hackensack, N. J., secretary. Christian Feigenspan was elected chairman of the executive committee, with Dr. W. F. Seidler, W. J. Whelan, John Brett, Carl Brandt, Dr. F. W. Thum, Otto Heintz, J. B. Conover and Chris Kelschler as his associates.

Edwin H. Morris objected to another term as delegate to the American Kennel Club but was unanimously elected.

It was the sense of the new committee that another show be given, and Messrs. Hahn, Linck, Kuebler and Browe were made a committee to endeavor to secure a spacious new building lately erected near the Oranges and in the fashionable residential part of Newark, and to report at a special general meeting of the members to be called for Monday, June 3.

EDWIN H. MORRIS,
Secretary.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE UNITED STATES FIELD TRIAL CLUB

TRENTON, TENN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The board of governors of the United States Field Trial Club met at Louisville, Ky., May 6, Vice-President Norvin T. Harris presiding. A majority of the board was in attendance.

Considerable routine business was attended to. Letters from Dr. Rowe, president of the club, were read, stating his views as to the club's future actions in regard to the season's field trials. The secretary read a number of letters from prominent owners and handlers in regard to their support of the Indiana field trial, and after considerable discussion by the members of the board a motion was made and seconded to abandon the Indiana field trial. The motion prevailed, Mr. Adams being the only member who voted against the resolution. Mr. Adams then moved to abandon the North Carolina event. As the motion was not seconded the chair declared it lost.

Upon resolution the date of the North Carolina trials was changed from November 28 to November 7, entries to close on June 10.

Letters were read from the President of the Eastern Field Trial Club advising the club to hold its meeting at Newton, N. C., on grounds the committee had selected on the opposite side of the town from the Eastern Field Trials Club's grounds.

The Secretary reported that there had been fifteen new members admitted since the last meeting of the board.

Mr. J. L. Adams was unanimously elected second vice-president of the club.

There being three vacancies on the board of fifteen governors of the club, Mr. T. T. Ashford of Birmingham, Ala., Mr. W. S. Bell of Pittsburg, Pa. and Mr. T. G. Barstow of St. Louis were elected to fill such vacancies.

The Secretary reported that he had made arrangements with the owners of the lands at West Point, Miss., upon which the United States Field Trial Club would hold its trials, to allow the Southern Field Trial Club to run its trials upon the same grounds, the trials commencing February 2, 1896.

There being no further business before the board the meeting adjourned.

W. B. STAFFORD,
Secy.-Treas.

FOR SALE.—Mr. C. [illegible] Longest, Boston, Mass., offers [illegible] Mr. J. C. Wood, Alpena, Mich., [illegible] Mr. William New, Phillipsburg, [illegible] English setters....Mr. C. D. Bernheimer, [illegible] poodles....Mr. J. L. Sebolt, [illegible] Daniels....Mr. A. L. Fookes, Columbus, Ohio, offers English setter....Strodes Valley Kennel Club, Winchester, Ky., offers foxhounds....Mr. C. W. Tway, Michigan City, Miss., offers English setter ....Mr. W. T. Washam, Jackson, O., offers greyhounds ....Mr. W. P. White, Greenwich, Conn., offers English setters....Eldred Kennel, Philadelphia, Pa., offers beagles, English setters and foxhounds ...Mr. F. H. Hoyt, Sharon, Pa., offers Italian greyhounds ....Mr. C. Burgess, Partney, Spilsby, England, offers English setters, pointers, retrievers, fox, Irish, Welsh and Airedale terriers ...Donnybrook Kennels, Oshkosh, Wis., offer beagles....Mr. C. Cooper, Rochester, Ind., offers English setters....Mr. H. Oldenhage, Kahoka, Mo., offers foxhounds and coon hounds....Mr. A. C. Parker, Cincinnati, O., offers English setter and pointer....Mr. C. W. Harris, Mattoon, Ill., offers English setters.

IN THE STUD.—Mr. J. W. Wakem, Highland Park, Ill., offers the services of the collies Christopher Columbus, Seldon Wallace and Chesterford Hero, and the fox terrier Blemton Stipend....Mr. C. D. Bernheimer, New York, offers the services of the French poodle Rajah.... Mr. L. Steffen, Milwaukee, Wis., offers the services of the beagle Tony W....Highland Kennels, Topeka, Kan., offer the services of the Great Dane King William.

NOTES

THE constitution, by-laws, regulations, rules for running and information for competitors issued by the Continental Field Trial Club has been received and shows the club is progressive. It has abolished the time limit, and left the matter solely with the judges. Much of old rules which only apply under the old system of "heat running" has been left out entirely, and the whole matter has been concentrated under such sub-headings as are necessary to render it intelligible and a book of ready reference. The instructions or hints with which field trial rules are usually supplemented have been amplified, and though their general sense is nothing new yet in some particulars they show improvement and should meet with approval. They are appended:

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPETITORS

Pointing fur, feather, reptile or scent of game birds, if the judge or judges deem the same excusable, shall not be considered a false point. A dog which points, discovers that it is an error, and moves on, shall not be considered as having false pointed, but repetitions of the act will be considered as lowering the grade of his work. Assisting a dog to determine whether he is on a true or false point shall also lower the grade of a dog's work at the discretion of the judge or judges.

When a dog points, the judge or judges shall not permit the opposing handler to whistle or call his dog in loud tones. If a dog is turned or balked to a harmful extent by the whistle of the opposing handler, such dog shall be run alone afterward.

The number of times a dog points, backs, etc., shall not necessarily give him the preference, but the judge or judges shall consider the quality of the performance rather than the frequency of the occurrence.

The standard of work shall be a well-balanced performance; that is to say, the judge or judges will consider the quality commonly called "bird-sense;" the intelligent and useful beating out of the ground within proper limits; the roading and pointing; ability to find; obedience, and work to the gun. This is intended to include all the details, such as backing, general training, etc. As to ranging, the judge or judges will consider long, straightaway casts as faulty work, if there are available sections left unworked, and if the casts mentioned are habitual. This shall not apply to a long cast taken intelligently betimes to work out a likely place when the ground is unfavorable near at hand, providing the dog's habitual range is good. Swinging habitually around behind the handler at the end of a cast, working the same ground over repeatedly, leaving repeatedly good ground unworked, frittering away time on hare, unpromising ground, running with no purpose of finding, and much looking after the handler, are faulty methods of ranging. Continual whistling and assisting on the part of the handler will also lower the dog's performance. As to obedience, the dog is required to obey with reasonable promptness. Loud and continuous whistling or shouting will seriously impair a dog's standing in the competition. As to pointing, roading and drawing, a distinction will be made between what the dog does himself and what his handler does for him. Coaching and helping a dog in general, when he is on the scent of birds, will lower the grade of his performance at the discretion of the judge or judges. Where, through the marking of birds, one handler has succeeded in getting more points for his dog than his competitor, the judge or judges will consider the merit of the dog independently of his handler's assistance. Working to the gun is of the first consideration. Faults of puppies in this respect may be treated more leniently than similar faults of dogs in the aged stakes. It is impossible for the judge or judges to determine the merits of a dog if he is not properly broken. The purpose of the trials is to determine which dogs have the best natural qualities and are the best field dogs, but to determine the best natural qualities, they must be properly applied.

Much of this is, of course, a rehash; it was not to be expected that a new and startling departure would be made. But, as a whole, it seems to be aimed at a certain style of handling that is growing quite aggressive.

THE report of the A. K. C. quarterly meeting shows that several matters of more than ordinary interest were attended to, and the amendments recommended by the committee on rules cannot but attract notice; however, it appears that the only one as yet adopted was that in regard to kennel clubs on the Pacific Coast organizing a committee or board to investigate charges and attend to objections raised out there. This plan is almost exactly similar to the one we suggested, in regard to coursing matters, in the AMERICAN FIELD of April 14, 1894, and it is probable the A. K. C. will not find the Pacific Coast fanciers as backward in responding to its suggestion as the coursing men of that section have been in accepting ours, for it is an open secret that the California kennel clubs have "got it in for" the A. K. C. in a mild way. The latter in acceding to the request, which almost amounted to a demand, that the stipulation for 500 entries should be waived as far as Pacific Coast shows are concerned might as well have been generous and extended the grant to shows held west of 100° west longitude, thereby including the Colorado fanciers, who really are more isolated than the members of the California kennel clubs; their only show (Denver) never has approached the 500 mark, and the nearest show to them is at Omaha, some six hundred miles away. The notice of a motion to stop the cropping of dogs' ears is all right, but no great credit need be rendered the A. K. C. therefor; it is merely tagging after the English Kennel Club. The Morris vs. Preston case drags along its tiresome course, and promises to stay with us. Mr. Terry did well to call for an investigation of the substitution by the Netherwood Kennels of a dog for a bitch in the class for English setter bitch puppies at the Westminster Kennel Club's show, and the same gentleman's curt and emphatic denial of Mr. Jas. Taylor's statement in the English Stock-Keeper that the executive altered the awards in certain collie classes will be read with satisfaction generally. Mr. Taylor referred to the Stock-Keeper's list of the awards, but it has never been published. Several weeks passed before any explanation was offered; but at last, in its issue of April 26, the Stock-Keeper indulged in a lengthy dissertation on the dachshund awards and classes. Mr. Terry, speaking at the A. K. C. meeting, also dealt chiefly with the same breed, and it was not clear why the collie was supplanted by the dachshund in this matter. The Stock-Keeper of May 3 (just to hand) explains this by saying: "On the subject of the New York executive altering the judge's awards, we should explain that collies were by a mistake spoken of instead of dachshunde." And it is but natural to ask if it has taken Mr. Taylor and our cotemporary nearly two months to discover such a glaring mistake; also why does Mr. Taylor retain that judge's book?

IN reference to Mr. Jas. Taylor's statement that some of his awards at the last New York show were altered by the executive, our English cotemporary, the Stock-Keeper, at last has come forward with an explanation that "collie" was a mistake for "dachshund"—we all know it is human to err, but the correction should have been forthcoming sooner—and with some reason asks: "If giving a second prize to a dachshund which the judge only 'highly commended' is not 'altering the awards,' what was the term that should be applied? If, in consequence of the 'extras,' the rest of the competitors were getting promoted a step, then Weazel, who was H.C., should have received a V.H.C., but she was jumped over the V., the reserve and third spaces, right up into second honors." It was altering the awards in one sense, of course, but the original statement might and should have been so qualified as not to create the impression it did. Reference to our list of awards shows that in the dachshund class referred to above there were five bitches placed in this order: 1st, Widgeon; 2nd, Dinah Belle; 3rd, Princetta; reserve, Jane Austen; H.C., Weazel. Three of these—Widgeon, Dinah Belle and Jane Austen—belonging to Mr. E. S. Woodiwiss, arrived on the second day of the show, got into the ring and were judged, and subsequently their awards were in reality canceled, but they were generously given extra prizes. This left only Princetta and Weazel in the class, and it will be seen by referring to the prize list in the American Kennel Gazette for March that they were promoted more than one step. Princetta went from third to first and Weazel from H.C. to second! The latter's promotion does seem ridiculous. There was nothing to hinder her from getting V.H.C., had she been worth it, with five in the class; but as she was not worth it then, why should she get second prize subsequently? Because Princetta was beaten by Widgeon and Dinah, it does not follow that she was not worthy of premier honors with them out of the way. But in view of the fact that when the class was judged Weazel finished, if we may use the term, so far behind the four others, it is perfectly reasonable to assume that the judge would not have placed her second or third had only she and Princetta come before him in the ring. A dog or bitch that takes second prize in an open class at the leading canine exhibition of the country should be worthy of a V.H.C. card in any company, and to boost an animal that can only get two letters in a class of five up to second honors is as weak and foolish as to award first and second in a class of poor specimens from which all prizes really ought to be withheld.

A MEETING of the National Greyhound Club was held at the Grand Union Hotel, New York, April 26, at 8 p.m., a full quorum being present. The meeting was called to order by Vice-President Whiton, and in the absence of the secretary Mr. Drake was appointed pro tem. The reading of the minutes of the last meeting was omitted, and the following gentlemen were elected members: Messrs. R. L. Lee, J. L. Kernochan, C. R. Huntley, F. C. Coyne, N. P. Whiting, B. Waters and A. C. Bradbury. The following temporary officers, to hold office until October 6, or until their successors are appointed, were elected: President, Mr. F. C. Coyne; vice-president, Mr. J. L. Kernochan; secretary, Mr. H. W. Huntington; treasurer, Mr. Roger D. Williams. Messrs. Williams and Kernochan and Dr. N. Rowe were appointed a committee to re-draw the by-laws of the club in accordance with the following plan: Two regular meetings to be held a year, one in Huron and one in New York; not over half of the assets of the club available for prizes to be devoted for prizes at either dog shows or coursing meetings; members to be allowed to vote by proxy at all meetings, and such other alterations as may be deemed desirable by the committee. Also, on motion the by-laws were suspended, and the Treasurer was given full power to pass upon all applications for membership in the club without further action on the part of the club. Messrs. C. F. Lewis, N. Q. Pope and A. C. Bradbury were appointed a committee to see if some arrangement could not be made for an eastern coursing meeting. The meeting was adjourned until October 6 at Huron, S. D.

IN a recent issue of one of your cotemporaries I notice an article by Mr. James Watson, which he commences by venting his feelings in a Cassandra-like wail to the promulgators of the Bull Terrier Club, and ends by a panegyric to the Dole family at large and Mr. Frank Dole in particular, and seems to try to connect them in some way with the defunct bull terrier clubs of the past. Mr. Watson surely does not intend to convey the idea that Mr. Dole is responsible for this. The writer has known Mr. Frank Dole for some time, and has had several dealings with him, and has been in every way satisfied as to his integrity and honesty of purpose, and entertains a high personal regard for him. In the course of Mr. Watson's article he refers derogatorily to some persons comprising a "gang." As secretary of the Bull Terrier Club I should deem it a favor were he to inform me of whom the "gang" consists. Does he refer to the gentlemen breeders, of whom Mr. Dole was considered one, who called the meeting, and upon the motion of whom Mr. Dole was elected president? As Mr. Watson has kindly offered his criticisms on the composition and motives of the organization of the previous bull terrier clubs, we will forward him at our earliest opportunity a copy of the rules and by-laws of the Bull Terrier Club of America, and trust that he will oblige us with any further suggestions toward saving it from the untimely fate which he deplores having overtaken its predecessors.

W. D. BRERETON,
Secy. the Bull Terrier Club of America.

Pittsburg, Pa.

THERE was a good meeting of those interested in the organization of a social kennel club at Hotel Marlborough, New York, on Thursday, May 9. Dr. H. T. Foote, the well-known black and tan fancier, was chosen to preside, and others present were: R. L. Crawford, L. A. Burritt, R. Turnbull, C. D. Bernheimer, James Watson, Thos. H. Terry, H. W. Lacy, E. M. Oldham, G. Muss-Arnolt, Dr. P. W. Kitchell, J. Blackburn Miller, J. Ogden, G. W. H. Ritchie, Charles F. Tretbar, J. B. Hefter, Dr. H. Clay Glover, H. L. Kreuder, Dr. H. W. Lincoln and John H. Matthews. After the reading of the minutes of the preliminary meeting, held at Madison Square Garden during the Westminster Kennel Club's show, there was a spirited contest over a name for the club; it was finally decided by a majority of one, and the name of "Metropolitan Kennel Club" was adopted. The following temporary officers were then elected to serve for a period of six months, or until the adoption of a constitution and by-laws: President, Dr. H. T. Foote; secretary-treasurer, E. M. Oldham. The temporary organization committee was continued and was directed to prepare the necessary constitution and by-laws and to obtain suitable quarters for the club. The members present were constituted a temporary membership committee to thoroughly interest dog fanciers in the new club. There will be no initiation fee for the remainder of the year and the dues were fixed at $10. The privilege of charter membership is continued until the close of the year, and the club already has a membership of sixty. The next meeting is to be held in September, when the constitution and by-laws will be reported and adopted and a club house selected. This club seems to be a long time getting under way.

THE Pointer Club in England has undergone a complete change, and if anticipations are fulfilled its operations will be materially extended. To begin with, it was renamed the International Shooting Dog Club, and the following officers were elected: President, the Duke of Portland; vice-presidents, Sir Watkin Williams-Wynn, Bart, and Messrs. W. Arkwright and R. L. Purcell-Llewellin; honorary treasurer, Mr. C. H. Beck. The present members of the late Pointer Club's committee and the acting members upon the committee of the last International Pointer and Setter Field Trials were appointed as the provisional committee of the new club—with Messrs. Bernard-Lewis and F. C. Lowe as joint honorary secretaries—and a subcommittee was arranged in order to settle the details of the next field trials. The rules of the Pointer Club having been remodeled, the same were ordered to be drafted and printed and to be adopted as the new rules. It was also agreed to appoint continental vice-presidents and to have trials periodically in Belgium or in France. It was also unanimously resolved to hold trials on grouse for pointers and setters next July.

THE Montreal Kennel Club held its regular monthly meeting on the evening of May 7, the president, Dr. Wesley D. Mills, in the chair. Twenty-seven new members joined the club, which is growing with wonderful rapidity. "How to Show Dogs" was the theme of the chairman's address, after which he read a letter from Sir Donald A. Smith, the club's honorary president, who very generously had inclosed a check for $100 and said he would be pleased to offer a cup for competition, at the club's disposal. The committee on special prizes also reported it had received $250 in cash, which augurs well for the success of the club's show two weeks hence. After an exhibition of puppies by several members Messrs. Lindsay, Pitt and Gault and Dr. Mills discoursed on the preparation and showing of dogs. It should not be overlooked that the club's approaching show is open to all dogs owned in Canada.

ONE day last week a gentleman living in Chicago, on the North Side, lost a dog (not an unusual occurrence in that city), and forthwith advertised for it, as dog losers are prone to do. Promptly he received an answer saying the spaniel had been found in South Chicago. Not feeling sure that the dog was his, and wishing to save himself a fruitless journey, he conceived a plan to identify his dog, or rather for his dog to identify him. He arranged with the finder that each should go to a public telephone station at a certain hour, the spaniel accompanying his temporary owner. When the two men had got the wire the receiver was placed to the ear of the dog, which had been placed on a table, and the man at the other end called the spaniel's name. The dog immediately made demonstrations showing that it recognized its master's voice, and ere long was back at its old home. So runs the story.

ON May, 9, at Bridgeport, Conn., the body of a man who had been missing since April 22 was found floating in the harbor. When last seen alive the unfortunate had his Irish setter with him and three days later the dog returned home alone. Every day since then the dog left the house in the morning and stayed away until night, but no one seems to have thought of following the dog in the hope of getting some clew regarding its master's disappearance. Subsequent to the recovery of the corpse, however, it was learned that the dog had gone daily to the edge of the dock and sat there quietly looking out upon the water where the body of its master was found.

ANOTHER case of poisoning in Ottawa, Ill., is reported by Mr. Henry Waldecker, whose Great Dane, Hector Nero, received a fatal dose about two years ago. Toska, (28179), a four-years-old mastiff dog, owned by a lady in Ottawa, is the latest victim of the poison fiend in that city. The dog is dead, and Mr. Waldecker complains that though taxes and licenses have to be paid, the police are indifferent. The fair owner offered a reward of $25 for the arrest of the poisoner and the editor of the Ottawa Journal, good man, supplemented this with an offer of $10, but to no purpose.

MR. THOS. H. WEBB of Peoria, Ill., who imported Rowdy Ruffian (Dagonet—Miserable Sinner) last November, and who had the misfortune to receive him in such poor condition that he could not get him in shape for the Spring circuit of shows, and later on had another misfortune by being burned out of his home during a wintry night, barely saving his dog but losing his very complete kennel library, is again in favor with Fate, for he has been honored by being unanimously elected president of the American Ticket Brokers' Association, at the St. Louis meeting, May 9.

FLORENTINE metal makes an evolution in metal for dog-collar trimmings. It is the most brilliant and easiest cleaned metal discovered, and therefore the best adapted for the purpose. J. Bremer, successor to the Medford Fancy Goods Co., whose factory is devoted exclusively to the manufacture of dog-collars and furnishings, is the discoverer of this metal, and the name Florentine metal is copyrighted. The creation of new styles in dog furnishings is the aim of this house.

THE "International Shooting Dog Club" sounds rather ominous, especially in these fin de siécle days of cranks and faddists. But alarm is unnecessary; this is not a body of dog hating men banded together to efface the unoffending Fidos and Sports, or to annihilate the Bang-Dash-Count-Don-Pride's-Boy's So-and-Sos, which offend in name if nothing else; it is merely the name of a club, just organized in England, composed of gentlemen interested in the pointer, setter, retriever and spaniel.

WE acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the Eastern Field Trial Club's pamphlet. Comparing it with last year's we find that no change has been made in the "Regulations, Running Rules and Instructions to Judges," except that the latter appear under the heading "Notices," but in addition to the above the pamphlet under mention contains the constitution and by-laws, with all amendments passed by the club up to date.

WHILE out driving with his mother and sister on May 8, Mr. A. D. Lewis, the A. K. C. secretary's understudy, lost control of the horse, which had taken fright, and the vehicle was overturned, with disastrous results. Mrs. Lewis' collar bone was broken and she sustained a severe nervous shock. Mr. Lewis, we regret to say, had the misfortune to break his left leg, and his sister was equally unfortunate, her right arm being fractured.

IN the "Collie News" column of the British Fancier Clansman writes that Mr. Robert Chapman, of Glenboig, Scotland, has just disposed of his two collies, Heather Ormonde (late Ormskirk Barney) and Heather Hilda, to Mr. J. R. Oughton of Dwight, Ill., and the same will be shipped at the end of the present month. Both collies are winners of numerous prizes, and the price for the brace is said to be not far short of $500.

THE remains of the late E. Bardoe Elliott were quietly laid away Wednesday of last week. It was a beautiful warm Spring afternoon and all Nature was smiling and gay, in marked contrast to the mournful cortége that accompanied the deceased fancier to his last resting place. Of those present Messrs. Frank S. Anderson and Basil Hayman were the only ones known to the canine world.

MR. W. W. DUNNELL, of Providence, R. I., has imported a pair of Dandie Dinmonts, named Tweedside King and Kelso Maud; the latter has done some winning in Scotland, but her mate has never been shown. They are from the kennels of Mr. Archibald Steel, a well-known breeder living at Kelso.

THE Scottish Fancier says Mr. Robert Chapman, of Glenboig, the well-known breeder and fancier, is one of the largest buyers of horses in his district. In fact, his dogs consume about three a week.

WHELPS

WHELPS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Whelps To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

SEACROFT KENNELS'
- BROKENHURST QUEENIE, fox terrier, by Rational—Ytne, has whelped six puppies, by Halifax Revival.
- SEACROFT LADY, fox terrier, whelped, March 1, three dogs and two bitches, by their Bourbon.
- SEACROFT EMPRESS, fox terrier, by Starden's King—Seacroft Fuss, has whelped five puppies, by their Bourbon.
- SVODKA, borzoi, whelped, March 5, three dogs and one bitch, by Sorvanets.
- SISSIE, Irish terrier, whelped, April 10, two dogs and one bitch, by Bar None.

REHAM KENNELS'
- GRACE (C. 2558), field spaniel, whelped March 12, seven dogs and one bitch (all black), by Red Cherry (33500).
- BRANTFORD BONITA, black cocker, whelped, April 26, two dogs and one bitch, by Red Cherry (33500).

MR. WM. WEEKS'
- NELLIE B, pug, whelped, April 28, two dogs and two bitches, by his Satan (Spokane—Sara Bernhart).
- BONNIE BELLE (23347), pug, whelped, May 2, one dog and three bitches, by his Satan.

MR. H. BRUSO'S
- WHITE LADY, English setter, by Sig. Gladstone—Nellie H, whelped, May 2, five dogs and two bitches, by Kent III (Kent II—Miss La Salle).

MR. E. WATTS'
- BREENE, English setter, by Kent's Mark—Burner, whelped, April 19, five dogs and two bitches, by Kent II (Kent III—Miss La Salle).

MRS. PERRY SMYTHE'S
- BRANTFORD VIC, cocker spaniel, by Brant—Woodstock Dinah, whelped, April 16, six dogs and two bitches, by her Jay Kay.

MR. A. E. BRIERLEY'S
- SEACROFT AGATHA (21627), fox terrier, by D'Orsey—Damson, whelped, April 1, three dogs and one bitch, by Raby Pallisy.

DWIGHT KENNELS'
- DWIGHT PEARL, Gordon setter, whelped, May 5, seven dogs and seven bitches, by Champion Heather Lad.

MR. L. S. HUDSON'S
- MISS MOLLIE (24082), beagle, has whelped four dogs and three bitches, by Fluder (24077).

SPRINGHILL KENNELS'
- ZLOBELIS, borzoi, whelped, April 15, four dogs and two bitches, by Sorvanets.

MR. C. D. PURVOY'S
- GROVE LILLY, fox terrier, has whelped five puppies, by Bourbon.

MR. G. M. WILLIAMS'
- FANTINE, fox terrier, has whelped three puppies, by [illegible]

VISITS

VISITS.—We make no charge for inserting [illegible] To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

LAWN GORDON SETTER KENNELS'
- HILDA (23416), Gordon setter, by Jack (5791)—Champion Becky Sharp (7242). April 30 and May 1 and 2, to Champion Rexmont (20897).
- LAWN NONSENSE, Gordon setter, by Reginald II (17277)—Lawn Naua (14676), May 2 and 5, to Don N (34090).
- LAWN FAYAWAY, Gordon setter, by Beaumont Jr (25249)—Faymont (31833), May 10 and 12, to Champion Rexmont (20897).

MR. J. KLEIN'S
- GLADSTONE'S NORA, English setter, by Paul Gladstone—Lilly III, May 5 and 7, to Washtenaw Grouse (Brecze Gladstone—Albert's Nellie).
- LADY SPOT, English setter, by Mingo—Lady Thunder, May 1 and 3, to Washtenaw Grouse (Brecze Gladstone—Albert's Nellie).

MR. C. G. ADAMS'
- HER ROYAL HIGHNESS (36394), St. Bernard, by Watch of Contoocook (26107)—Belle of Manchester (27208), April 27, to Blondel (Marquis of Ripon—Lady Elizabeth).

MR. D. E. WATERS'
- LADY ADELAIDE II (19454), St. Bernard, by Plinlimmon—Lady Adelaide, April 16 and 18, to his Alton II (21770).

MR. A. M. HEFLEBOWER'S
- BLACKIE M, cocker spaniel, April 27, to Jay Kay.
- MINNIE, cocker spaniel, May 3, to Jay Kay.

ELDRIDGE KENNELS'
- MOLTON BEE, pointer, April 11, to Rush of Lad.
- NAN C, pointer, May 3, to Springside Faust.

DR. H. M. QUIMBY'S
- NATELL II, English setter, by Smith's Tramp—Natell, to Kent III (Kent II—Miss La Salle).

MRS. PERRY SMYTHE'S
- RED SKIRT, cocker spaniel, by Red Jacket—Queenie, April 15, to her Jay Kay.

MR. L. S. HUDSON'S
- BETSEY LEE (24080), beagle, by Lee—Venus, March 26, to Ringleader.

MR. H. T. SCHMIDT'S
- PET S, pointer, May 7, to Rush of Lad.

SALES

SALES.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Sales. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

HEMPSTEAD FARM, Hempstead, L. I., has sold
- ——, pointer dog puppy, by Duke of Hessen—Westminster Blanche, to Mr. J. C. McIlhenney, Avery's Island, La.
- ——, pointer bitch puppy, by Hempstead Duke, out of a bitch by King of Kent—Wooltou Game, to same.
- WEASEL, dachshund bitch, to Mr. W. H. McKittrick, Bakersfield, Cal.

MR. E. A. MANICE, New York, has sold
- JESSIE VICTORIA, dachshund bitch, to Mr. W. H. McKittrick, Bakersfield, Cal.
- ——, two dog and two bitch puppies, by Zulu II—Jessie Victoria, to same.

MR. A. C. SHALLENBERGER, Alma, Neb., has sold
- QUEEN VERA, St. Bernard bitch, to Mr. J. W. Davis, St. Louis, Mo.
- MADAM ARISTOCRAT, rough-coated St. Bernard bitch, by Aristocrat—Findern Grace, to same.

MR. G. G. HAESSIG, Ft. Madison, Ia., has sold
- ——, Irish setter dog puppy, whelped December 7, 1894, by Erlu V—Biddy G (27914), to Mr. F. E. Jackson, Davis City, Ia.

MESSRS. BEDFORD & BRYSON, St Louis, Mo., have sold
- TREMONT, English setter dog, by Gladstone's Boy—Specklegown, to Mr. C. A. Pratt, Little Rock, Ark.

NAMES CLAIMED

NAMES CLAIMED.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Names Claimed. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

REHAM KENNELS, Omaha, claim the name
- REHAM PRINCE RAVEN, for black cocker dog, by Reuben (Bob Obo—Topsy S) out of Woodland Cricket (sister to Black Duke).
- REHAM'S OTHELLO, for black and white ticked cocker dog, by Red Rover (Red Robin—Devon Beauty) out of Jessie (Judge—Biddy).
- REHAM TRILBY, for black cocker bitch puppy, by Red Cherry (33500) out of Brantford Bonita (C. 1097).
- LITTLE COCK ROBIN, for red cocker dog, same litter.
- REHAM'S BLACK PRINCE, for black cocker dog, same litter.
- REHAM RAVEN TRESS, for black cocker bitch puppy, by Red Cherry (33500) out of Grace (C. 2558).
- REHAM TROUBLE, for black dog, same litter.
- REHAM KING, for black dog, same litter.
- REHAM DOC, for black dog, same litter.

Coursing

FIXTURES

California state meeting, May 30, Ocean View Park, San Francisco. J. R. Dickson, secretary.

Aberdeen Coursing Club's Autumn meeting, Aberdeen, S. D., October 1. J. H. Davis, secretary.

American Waterloo Cup meeting (first), Huron, S. D., October 8, etc. F. B. Coyne, secretary, American Coursing Club.

Altcar Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 16, etc. T. W. Bartels, secretary.

Kenmore Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 22, etc. C. F. Weber, secretary.

Cheyenne Coursing Club's first meeting, Great Bend, Kan., October 29, etc. Ira D. Brougher, secretary.

NOMINATORS FOR THE AMERICAN WATERLOO CUP

HURON, S. D.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed please find list of nominators that paid their first deposit for the American Waterloo Cup.

X. Y. Z. is still laboring under an incognito in trying to assume that something exists that has not been born. He really felt hurt because he was criticised for throwing mud from behind the bush. Let him come out and identify himself and give us the truth based upon facts and he will have no occasion to disguise himself. In referring to my interest in the Colorado Club's Produce Stakes it may not be news to X. Y. Z. to know that under that little lock and key I have a letter from Mr. Bartels, asking me to try and get a few nominations for him in this vicinity, consequently I wrote the letter that was apparently misconstrued. Mr. Bartels was one of the [illegible] get a copy of that same letter, and in reply [illegible] me and said it would be almost impossible to [illegible] meeting in South Dakota. X. Y. Z. failed to [illegible] any shenanagen, and, laboring under that same [illegible], is now trying to establish that the secretary is [illegible] his authority and peddling nominations. This is [illegible]

[illegible]hable. I could have asked his permission to nego[illegible]such a transaction, but I fear he does not exist, only [illegible] It is indeed news to me to know that it [illegible] for a nominator to offer his nomina[illegible], when Mr. Lowe wrote me, after the [illegible]d, [illegible]g if it could not be increased to a [illegible]s, [illegible]he could enter six if necessary, [illegible] the desired information on that point; but having instructions from a nominator to sell two for $35 each, I offered them to Mr. Lowe. Of course, he naturally refused, and now the party has made good his second payments. Perhaps X. Y. Z. will agree with me that it is not necessary for a nominator to ask the advice of outsiders as to what price he may put on his nominations. Later on, I offered Mr. Lowe two nominations belonging to the Columbus Coursing Kennels for $25 each. I did not receive a definite reply, as I expected, and the transaction was declared off. In regard to the increase in the price of nominations I will say that it is only another vision.

The above are the transactions X. Y. Z. has misconstrued into many meanings. They are public property, and if the facts are as interesting as assumptions I will be pleased to know it. My transactions may be of a high-toned nature, in X. Y. Z.'s opinion, but it seems to me that his prominent position, together with his future aspirations, do not warrant him in throwing cold water without first making authentic investigations.

The following is a list of the nominators: Mr. M. Allen, Chicago, 3; Mr. H. Watson, Brooklyn, N. Y., 4; Mr. J. H. Rew, Artesian, S. D., 3; Columbus Coursing Kennels, Huron, S. D., 2; Mr. A. P. Slocum, Oakes, N. D., 2; Messrs. Melrose & Durbin, Orange City and Hawarden, Ia., 2; Messrs. Warren & Fish, Fox Lake, Wis., 2; Mr. C. H. Waterhouse, Lisbon, N. D., 1; Mr. Geo. McDougall, Butte City, Mont., 1; Mr. C. H. Vinton, Redfield, S. D., 1; Mr. A. C. Bradbury, Jersey City, N. J., 1; Mr. D. O. Miller, Oxford, Kan., 2; Mr. L. C. Whiton, New York, 1; Mr. L. F. Bartels, Denver, 1; Mr. J. A. Parrott, Helper, Utah, 2; Mr. Alfred Haigh, Cable, Ill., 1; Mr. John Charlton, Minneapolis, 1; Mr. John Grace, San Francisco, 1; Mr. Jas. R. McNickle, Hawarden, Ia, 1; total 32. The three gentlemen that sent in their first payments that were received too late are Mr. Cronin and Mr. Payton of California, and Mr. L. C. Whiton of New York, who was too late applying for a second.

F. B. COYNE,
Secy. American Coursing Club.

NOTES

ON April 20, in London, a successful sale of greyhounds was held at Rymill's Repository, where so many high (and low) priced bits of dog flesh have passed under the hammer. Many well-known coursers were present, and prices were satisfactory to those who offered fashionably bred saplings, though none of the youngsters brought a very high price. Six May saplings by Rhymes—Hecate averaged only $21 apiece; three January saplings by Tasmania—Hilda Dundas averaged $40 each; six June saplings by Tyne Head—Short Span averaged $21; five (January) by Restorer—Miss Hannah II went at an average of $18 50 each; and three (April) by Happy Gazer—Ivy Green brought about $15 each. These were the poorest prices. A pair by Restorer—Dugong made $80 and $60 respectively; five by Powfoot—Mary Webster realized $380, or $76 apiece; seven by Todlaw Ruins—Beau Monde averaged $107 each; five by Follow the Flag—Rora averaged $110; seven by Button Park—Terrific sold for $605; and six by Royal Speed—Hinton Changed for $735; three by Norway—Sally Millburn went at $130, $145 and $130, respectively; four by Herschel—Bessie Landells made the capital average of $170 apiece; five by Herschel—My Janie averaged $141 each; and a litter of seven by Tankerville II—Thetis (the dam of Thoughtless Beauty) netted their breeder the nice sum of $1,055, one of them fetching $350, which was the highest price of the sale. It is by no means a record price, but we fear it will be many a day before an American breeder realizes upward of a thousand dollars for a litter of seven saplings.

MR. ED. H. LYON, one of the Emporia old-timers, has made up his mind to leave Oklahoma shortly, and after visiting his old home in Vermont on business expects to settle in Colorado. He has lost none of his love for coursing, and writes: "Next time I locate it will be in a jackrabbit country. I am lost without a few greyhounds at my heels. One of these days I will have as fine a string of greyhounds as anyone has, and will attend the meetings. If I don't win anything myself, I will make the rest run to get there." A very good way of putting it. Mr. Lyon will be welcomed back to the ranks of active coursers.

No longer is Dr. Van Hummell without nominations for the American Waterloo Cup, having taken two of Mr. J. Herbert Watson's four off that gentleman's hands. Possibly other changes in the list sent us by the secretary have taken place, and doubtless we shall be informed of them in due time.

THE greyhounds Mr. D. O. Miller, of Oxford, Kan., expects to run at the Dakota meetings will be trained by Mr. E. H. Mulcaster; they will be in skillful hands, and are apt to prove dangerous opponents, if they come up to the accounts we hear of them.

GREYHOUNDS are offered for sale this week by Mr. W. T. Washam, Jackson, O.

Rifle

FIXTURES

[illegible]stlicher Schuetzen-Bund, Milwaukee,

[illegible]ou's first tournament, Glendale, L. I.,

DR. CARVER CHALLENGED.

AURORA, ILL., May 10, 1895.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I inclose herewith certified check for $50 as my part of the forfeit money for a shooting match according to the following challenge:

I will shoot a match with Dr. W. F. Carver, who claims to be the champion shot of the world, at Aurora, Ill., on July 4, 1895; said match to be for $100 a side, and at 500 or 1,000 balls, the size of ordinary glass balls; each party to use a rifle loaded with solid bullets; assistants to load guns and throw balls, the party hitting the balls in shortest time to be the winner. If Dr. Carver considers that he is out of form for a rifle match, I will allow him to use a heavy caliber rifle loaded with shot, or he may use repeating shotguns or cannons, or any gun he may choose, so that he only hits one ball with one load, and I will keep pegging away with a little 22-caliber rifle loaded with solid bullets. In case the Doctor is afraid he cannot start off well, let him say so, and if the match is at 500 balls I will allow the first 100 he shoots at scored as hit; or if at 1,000 balls, I will allow the first 200 he shoots at as hit; or if he imagines he cannot finish well, I will allow the last 100 or 200 scored as hit. Now, if there is any shoot in Dr. Carver he will certainly accept one of these propositions.

As I do not want to slight anyone I will extend this challenge to any man on earth. If Captain A. H. Bogardus wishes to accept I will allow his son Henry to shoot with him and let the total hits count for him, viz.: I will hit 1,000 balls quicker than Captain Bogardus and his son Henry both together can if they use rifles. Or if Henry Bogardus wishes, he may come here and I will shoot him a match at 100 or 200 balls, each of us using a rifle and the party hitting the most to win. Of course I desire to give Dr. Carver the preference, but if he does not accept I will shoot with the first party that does.

I wish to call the attention of Dr. Carver to the promise he made me at the time of the American championship match at Watson's Park, last Fall, when he assured me that as soon as that was settled he would write me and arrange a match of this kind. Ever since he beat George Kleinman in the Winter, winning the American championship, I have looked for his letter, but in vain. I saw in a former issue of the AMERICAN FIELD that he had run all the shotgun shooters into their holes, so I suppose that the pigeon championship must be settled in his favor. He issued a challenge last Spring to shoot with anyone, time shooting, so here is his chance, and I trust he may be induced to accept this challenge. I will agree to allow him traveling expenses in the event he accepts and loses the match.

C. A. BOGARDUS,
Champion Quick Shot of the World.

[The $50 received.—ED.]

NOTES

WE are informed by the executive board of the Western Sharpshooters' Union that the arrangements for the tournament to be held at Milwaukee, Wis., June 19 to 23, are progressing in a most satisfactory manner. Work on the grounds has already begun, and the necessary additions to the targets and the shooting stand will be completed by June 1. A strong attendance is assured, nine societies having joined the Union since January 1, and an equal number have given notice of their intention to do so. The following societies have already joined; North Chicago Shuetzenverein; Winona Sharpshooters' Society, Winona, Minn.; Monticello Rifle Club, Monticello, Wis.; New Holstein Schuetzen Verein, New Holstein; Wis.; Chilton Schuetzen Verein, Chilton, Wis.; Oshkosh Schuetzen Gesellschaft, Oshkosh, Wis.; William Tell Schuetzen Verein, New Glarus, Wis.; Indianapolis Shooting Association, Indianapolis, Ind., and "Waehalla" Shooting Club of Milwaukee, Wis. The committee on donations has so far secured, in about one week's work, cash subscriptions to the amount of $1,500, and expects to be able to increase this amount considerably. Besides this, the Milwaukee Sharpshooters' Society has donated $150, the W. S. Union $100, Chicago Sharpshooters' Association $50, and the Excelsior Rifle Club, Davenport, Ia., with the other societies yet to hear from, will probably contribute something. All these donations will be awarded on the Target of Honor, which is, next to the King match, the principal event of the tournament. In view of the good work of the committee on donations, the executive board has decided to increase the prizes on the other targets also. On the Point target 25 cents will be paid for every red flag made after the first 250 points, instead of 20 cents, as originally decided, and in the team shoot the Milwaukee Sharpshooters' Society will donate the medals, value $50, which are to be awarded to the winning team. The entrance moneys, less 10 per cent. for expenses, will be distributed as follows: Second team, 30 per cent.; third team, 25 per cent.; fourth team, 20 per cent.; fifth team, 15 per cent.; sixth team, 10 per cent. The Western Passenger Association has granted a reduced rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip, on the certificate plan, from points in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Northern peninsula of Michigan, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth, Minn. Anyone desiring further information can obtain same by addressing the secretary, Wm. Finger, No. 303 12th Street, Milwaukee, Wis.

THE first of a series of weekly tournaments at the Woodvale rifle range, Haverstraw, N. Y., closed on Saturday evening, May 4. The prize, a .22-caliber Winchester repeating rifle, was won by Percy Jersey on a score of 23 out of a possible 30. This score was tied by W. D. Lincoln. In the shoot off Jersey beat Lincoln one point, scoring 13 to Lincoln 12. The conditions of the shoot were as follows: Five shots off-hand, distance 12 yards, 9-16-inch bullseye counting 5, and 22-100-inch center counting 6, Creedmoor count.

Haverstraw, N. Y. G. S. MEST.

RIFLE teams from Lancaster and Chester counties, Pennsylvania, have perfected arrangements for an intercounty rifle match. These teams contested last year in a series of three matches, the team from Chester County being victorious. The first match this year will be shot at Ephrata on June 20, the second match at Lancaster on July 18 and the third at Coatesville on August 20. Twelve men will compose each team, the Lancaster riflemen being selected from the North End Rifle Club of Ephrata and the Lancaster Schuetzen-Verein. Ths conditions of the match are 200 yards on the standard American target.

THE Presque Isle Rifle Club of Erie, Pa., is arranging for a grand prize shoot on Decoration Day. The prizes, which will be contributed largely by friends of members of the club, will be plaoed on exhibition some days before the contest and the donors' names announced, which, the club thinks, will have the effect of bringing out a large attendance of members at the shoot.

NEW front and rear revolver sights have just been placed on the market by the well-known rifle sight manufacturer, Wm. Lyman. By the insertion of ivory to assist the eyesight good aim can be taken in half the time required ordinarily. The rear sight is quite novel, and accuracy of aim is easily attainable. Write him for an illustrated pamphlet.

AT a recent shoot of the Cleveland (O.) Rifle Club Mr. Bender won the much coveted club trophy, the scores being as follows: Richner, 93; Bender, 95; Seelbach, 90; Reich 85; Schworn, 82; Weber, 89; Ivers, 87; Gorser, 84; Knoll, 80.

MEMBERS of the Saginaw (Mich.) Rifle Club at a recent club contest made the following scores out of a possible 50; J. W. Fordney, 40; W. S. Humphrey, 35; V. Kindler, 32; F. W. Lohman, 31; Emil Vogt, 30.

REVOLVER SHOOTING IN ENGLAND

LONDON, ENG.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The revolver shooting at the North London Rifle Club seems more popular than ever, judging from the number of entries during the last three weeks and the number of new members; but no scores of any account have yet been made, the members seeming out of practice from the long Winter's inactivity. Below are the scores:

April 3, first series, 20 yards, stationary target.

H. Andrews	7 7 6 7 6 6—39	Lowe	6 6 5 7 6 4—34
Ricketts	7 7 6 5 6 7—38	Lieut. Richardson—
Major Munday	4 6 7 7 7 7—38		5 5 6 7 3 7—33
Carter	7 7 7 3 7 7—38	Capt. Earle	7 7 5 5 3 5—32
Capt. Peters	5 7 5 7 5 6—35	Comber	4 4 5 6 6 5—30
Major Palmer	6 3 7 5 7 7—35

April 10, similar competition.

Ricketts	7 7 7 6 7 4—38	A. J. Comber	6 5 7 5 5 7—35
F. H. Frost	4 7 7 5 7 7—37	Clementi-Smith—
Major Munday	7 5 7 7 7 4—37		5 7 5 5 6 6—34
Carter	6 6 6 5 6 7—36	Chicken	6 7 5 6 5 5—34

April 17, alternate hands at 20 yards, stationary target.

Carter	6 5 7 7 5 7—37	Capt. Peters	6 5 6 4 6 3—30
Major Munday	7 6 4 5 6 7—35	Major Palmer	6 4 3 5 7 5—30
Clementi-Smith—		Howe	3 7 4 4 7 7—30
	7 7 5 6 6 4—35	MacKormack	5 3 4 7 3 7—29
H. Andrews	6 4 7 4 7 7—35	Comber	6 3 6 5 7 2—29
Lieut. Richardson—		Knapp	5 4 5 7 7 0—28
	3 6 5 7 5 6—32	Frost	5 4 5 3 5 4—26
Ricketts	6 6 3 7 5 5—32	Gould	5 3 6 0 5 4—23
Capt. Earle	6 6 4 3 6 7—32

At the South London Rifle Club, which began its season on April 4, there has been very little done so far. Below are the scores:

April 4 20 yards, stationary target.

E. Howe	7 6 7 7 4 7—38	Lieut. J. Howard—
C. F. Lowe	7 5 7 6 5 7—37		4 5 5 7 7 7—35

Same day, 50 yards, stationary target.

C. F. Lowe	6 5 6 4 7 7—37	Lieut. J. Howard—
E. Howe	4 4 3 7 7 5—30		4 4 6 5 5 4—28

The scores which follow were made at the North London Rifle Club on April 20 and 24:

April 20, stationary target, 20 yards.

Capt. Evans	3 4 7 7 7 7 35	Hore	4 7 7 4 6 3—31
Capt. Earle	6 4 7 5 7 3—32

April 24, disappearing target, 20 yards.

Maj. Munday	7 7 5 6 7 7—39	MacKormack	6 6 4 4 4 4—28
Comber	7 7 4 7 7 6—38	Capt. Earle	7 4 5 0 5 5—26
Carter	6 7 6 4 7 7—37	Lieut. Richardson—
Maj. Palmer	6 6 6 4 6 5—33		4 4 4 5 4 5—26
Howe	4 7 6 4 6 5—32	Capt. Evans	2 5 4 2 5 5—23

At the South London Rifle Club the bad weather kept most of the shooters away on April 24; but Capt. Heath nearly succeeded in making a highest possible score at 20 yards, failing only on the last shot, most likely owing to a defective cartridge. Below are the scores:

April 18, 20 yards, stationary target.

Capt. T. W. Heath—		E. Howe	5 5 7 7 5 6—35
	7 7 7 7 7 3—38

PISTOL GRIP.

Trap

FIXTURES

MAY

Texas State Sportsmen's Association's nineteenth annual tournament, San Antonio, Tex., May 14 to 18 inclusive. Open to the world. Five hundred dollars cash added; $500 in merchandise prizes.

Interstate Manufacturers' and Dealers' Association's tournament, Lynchburg, Va., May 17 and 18, under auspices of the Lynchburg Gun Club; $200 added by the Lynchburg Gun Club.

Montana State Sportsmen's Association's second annual tournament, Butte, Mont., May 17, 18 and 19. C. H. Smith, secretary.

Neponset, Gun Club's Spring tournament, Neponset, Ill., May 21 and 22.

Kansas State Sportsmen's Association's anuual tournament, Kansas City, Kan., May 21, 22 and 23. A. W. Peck, secretary, Kansas City, Kan.

Houston City Gun Club's first annual tournament, Houston, Tex., May 21, 22, 23 and 24.

Knoxville Gun Club's fourteenth annual tournament, Knoxville-Tenn., May 21, 22, 23 and 24, 1895. $3,000 cash added to purses

South Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's auuual tournament, Woonsocket, S. D., May 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25.

Rome Gun Club's tournament, Rome, N. Y., May 22, 23 aud 24. Last day at live birds.

Belding Gun Club's tournameut, Belding, Mich, May 23.

Wauzeka Gun Club's tournament, Wauzeka, Wis., May 23.

Fairview Gun Club's tournament, Hambright's Three-Mile House, Lancaster. Pa., May 23 and 24.

Pekin Gun Club's annual Spring tournament, Pekin, Ill., May 27 and 28.

Arkansas State Sportsmen's Association's fifth annual tournament, Little Rock, Ark., May 27, 28, 29 and 30. John J. Sumpter Jr., secretary.

Canajoharie Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Canajoharie, N. Y., May 29 and 30.

Independeut Gun Club's tournament, Reading, Pa., May 29 and 30.

Janesville Shooting Club's fifth annual tournament, Janesville, Wis, May 29 and 30.

Crystal Lake Gun Club's tournament, Urbana, Ill., May 29, 30 and 31.

Valley City Gun Club's tournament, Grand Rapids, Mich., May 29, 30 and 31. $500 added money. C. F. Rood, secretary.

Home City Gun Club's tournament, Springfield, O., May 30.

Waukegan Gun Club's tournament, Waukegan, Ill., May 30

THE EQUITABLE PLAN

BY JESSE E. PUMPHREY

The subject of handicapping expert shots, whereby the 70 to 85 per cent. men may, at tournaments, successfully compete with the 90 per cent. men, has for years received careful consideration by the most experienced and competent authorities on trap shooting. Many systems have been suggested and tried, but none have proven successful and satisfactory to both the amateur and expert when put into practice, and I doubt if such a handicap ever will be arranged.

Some of the systems in use have much merit and go far to satisfy the amateur, but the methods do the amateur-expert and the professional-expert much injustice. By reference to the report published in the AMERICAN FIELD of April 27, of the tournament held in Pittsburg under the management of the Interstate Association, it will be noticed that the handicap there enforced was so severe that such an expert as Rolla Heikes, who is without question the best target shot in the world, repeatedly failed to secure a place in the money divisions. Others who were compelled to shoot under the same handicap fared likewise. No such handicap system as that can live. It is unfair and unjust to the expert and will prove a detriment to the amateur, because it will eventually deprive the amateur of the company of the professional shooters and prevent amateurs from trying their skill in competition with them. The presence of the popular experts is desired because it creates an active interest and enthusiasm. The society of such people as Messrs. Heikes, Budd, Elliott, Van Dyke, McMurchy, Parmalee and others of this class is most agreeable. The list is long; the older attendants at shooting tournaments know them well and favorably. They have at all times shown the less skillful shooters fairness and favors. We all desire their presence at our local tournaments, and should be willing to have them share in the money divisions in equal proportion to their skill, but it is not wished that they take away all the money.

The plan which I am about to suggest and will explain appears to me the best and most equitable one I know of. It is very simple and I believe will meet with the approval of a large majority of shooters. I would suggest its adoption for all local and league tournaments and such tournaments as are conducted under the management of manufacturers—the latter's object being to encourage and stimulate trap shooting for the purpose of increasing the demand for their goods.

At large tournaments of national importance similar to Knoxville and Memphis I believe, events should be open to all and without any handicap. These events are patronized by the cream of trap shooters. Nearly every expert professional shooter will be present and the amateurs who attend will prove able to take care of themselves in any company. For this reason and from the fact that these gun clubs contribute large cash purses for the purpose of inducing this class of shooters to attend their tournaments, therefore no handicap should be in effect; they should be open to all on an equal basis, thus enabling the most scientific shooters to demonstrate their skill and be awarded accordingly.

I would like the shooters to thoroughly understand the equitable plan and talk it over with their companions and club members, as I think it will prove acceptable and increase the attendance at our social shoots. The less skillful shooters have a chance to save their entrance money by this method and the expert cannot get 40 to 50 per cent. of each purse, nor can a combination be formed among the good shots to "drop for place" and thus take nearly all the money. I shall endeavor to present the plan plainly and with the desire to assist in advancing the interest in trap shooting tournaments. Different arrangements must be adopted from those now in vogue to make tournaments popular to the class of shooters whose presence is required to make them successful. The division of purses into 40, 30, 20 and 10 per cent. must be abandoned and a more satisfactory distribution of purses adopted. Let us drop the complex subject of handicap for the present and seek an equal distribution of the purses. This is the result desired; this is the result that must be attained. There is no more enjoyable sport than tournament shooting, but it is disgusting to oneself to attend a tournament and shoot well, say 85 to 90 per cent., and quit loser simply because a few experts, usually persons who shoot as a business and are consequently always "in form," take first money nearly every time, leaving the smaller portions of the purse to be divided by so many that few get their entrance money back.

The system I would suggest I call the equitable plan because it distributes the purses more equally in proportion to the number of targets broken by the shooter than any other. It is as follows:

1. All contestants enter an event on the same basis, each pays the same entrance fee and shoots at the same number of targets on same conditions.

2. There may be provided as many places to entitle a contestant to share in the money as the management may elect. For instance: If four places are decided upon in a 15 target event, fifteen will be first place, fourteen second place, thirteen third place and twelve fourth place. All persons in these places are to recieve the same amount for each target broken; contestants failing to get a place of course receive nothing. For illustration say there was a 15-target event, $3 entrance, twenty-five entries, $75 in purse. Deduct two cents each for targets, $7.50; net amount left, $67.50, four places. Two men score 15 each, three men 14 each, five men 13 each, five men 12 each. These fifteen contestants break 197 targets. Divide net amount of purse, $67.50, by 197 targets and it gives 34¼ cents, which is the amount to pay for each target broken by those having a place. In further explanation of above I present the figures as follows:

Two men break 15 targets each.	Total 30.	Each man receives $5.13.
Three men break 14 targets each.	Total 42.	Each man receives $4.80.
Five men break 13 targets each.	Total 65.	Each man receives $4.45.
Five men break 12 targets each.	Total 60.	Each man receives $4.11.

Number of targets broken 197. Net amount of purse $67.50, which divided by total number of targets broken by men in places, 197, equals 34¼ cents, the price each contestant in place receives for each target scored.

By reference to published scores of most tournaments it will be observed that about one-third of the shooters fail to get a place, so the above would be a fair example of what may be expected.

The whole thing, briefly stated, is on the same plan as that of a stock company. Those in the places compose the stockholders, and the number of targets each scored represents each man's shares of stock. The net amount of purse is the profit to be divided. When the dividend is declared each receives an amount in proportion to his shares of stock. If the reader thinks the equitable plan a good thing, "push it along."

Columbus, O.

NOTES

THE Illinois State Sportsmen's Association has issued its program for its twenty-first annual meeting and tournament, and as in former years spreads a meal, as it were, that its members cannot well help but enjoy. The menu, in the main, is live pigeons and Empire targets, but the side dishes—the trophies and the honors that go with them, to say nothing of the little cash accompaniments—make even pigeon pie or Empire fritters quite inviting. The events that will attract attention this year, as heretofore, are the Board of Trade diamond badge race, the team contest—both at live birds—and the Smith Cup event at targets, the winning of any one of the three being an honor to be proud of. Aside from these particular prizes this year, the association has secured quite a nice array of merchandize prizes, one and all of more or less value and not one of them but what in one way or another is useful to the average sportsman. Following immediately after the three association events, or, in fact, before the association events are finished, come the events open to the world, both at live birds and targets, which any reputable sportsman may participate in if he so elects. The tournament will be held at Watson's shooting park, Burnside, which is easy of access from the business portion of Chicago by steam and electric cars, or cable and electric cars, the latter landing you within a block or so of the park. At the park everything will be arranged for the comfort of participants or visitors, there being ample seating capacity for all, a comfortable club house, and an abundance of shelter in case of a storm. Mr. Watson, manager of the park, will also see that a competent force of cooks and waiters are on hand to cater to the wants of the inner man. A regular homelike dinner will be served in the dining-hall each day at 12 o'clock, and should that not be sufficient to satisfy, meals will be served to order promptly. Nowhere in this land are better live birds furnished than at Watson's, and nowhere on the face of the earth can a gentleman shooter, whether he is Mr. Watson's dearest friend or a stranger from a foreign land, get squarer treatment. The indications are that this meeting will be largely attended, but if there have been reasons for the belief that it would not be before the program was issued, its attractiveness alone ought to banish all such thoughts. The association should be liberally supported by the gun clubs of the state, for it is an organization that should wield a strong influence for the protection of game and the enforcement of the game and fish laws of Illinois and to support it liberally is to strengthen it and add to its power to doing good. The hand-book and program is elegantly gotten up, contains the portraits of the winners of the trophies last year, the rules of the association for live bird and target shooting, and a list of the members of many of the clubs belonging to the state association, consequently it is of value to all trap shooters in Illinois. It can be had by addressing Mr. H. B Meyers, secretary, 148 Monroe Street, Chicago. Mr. Meyers has been a hard-working, earnest, zealous official, and much credit is due to his indefatigable labors for the excellence of this program.

THE program for the first annual tournament of the Houston City (Tex.) Gun Club is to hand and a perusal of it shows that the events are so arranged as to make the tournament, which is to be held on May 21, 22, 23 and 24, interesting to all who may attend. There will be one live bird shoot each day, the rest of the events being at inanimate targets. Special merchandise prizes will be given each day as fifth prize in the program target events. The manager, Mr. J. Emmett Haney, announces the following handicap, which he thinks will be fair for all: "Any contestant winding a place in one first or two second moneys will be handicapped one bird in each subsequent event that day. (This applies only to regular program Blue Rock events. No handicap in live bird and sweepstake matches.) A contestant that has been handicapped will shoot at the regular number of Blue Rocks and shall be scored one less than he makes, and it shall be indicated on the score cards and books by a star, thus *. Believing this to be the fairest method of handicapping yet introduced, I submit it to all who may attend the tournament; and I further reserve the right to declare the handicap off should I see that it works an injustice to the majority of the contestants." American Shooting Association rules will govern. Among the events that will be features of the tournament is the contest for a $100 Parker Bros. shotgun, open only to residents of Harris County who are members in good standing of some gun club in the county, and the contest for a diamond medal open only to members of the Houston City Gun Club. To the one making the best average in all the Blue Rock program events will be given a basket of champagne, value $35, and $15 cash; to the one making the second best average $25 cash; to the third best average $20 cash. Non-resident (state) shooters cannot contest for average money. This is the first tournament of this kind ever held in Houston and a lively interest in it is being manifested by the sportsmen of that city.

THE Palmetto Gun Club of this city will hold a tournament on July 4 at its new club grounds, at which it will offer a number of valuable merchandise prizes. There will be ten events of fifteen targets each, known traps, unknown angles, four moneys, $1 entrance, targets extra. In order to assure a fair distribution of the prizes, they will be awarded to contestants who make the best percentage in the ten program events, in the order of their value. There will be in all about twenty prizes, which under this arrangement will go to the twenty high guns; hence there will be no dropping for place and average scores will be good for money throughout the sweeps. The Palmetto Gun Club is one of the most wide-awake organizations in the South, and is adding new members to its already large roll at every meeting. A club house was put up early this year, and ever since moving into its new quarters the club has been on a boom, which statement can be best illustrated by the fact that it has thrown upward of 17,000 Blue Rocks so far this year. It is expected that bi-weekly shoots with the Forest City Gun Club of Savannah, Ga., will be resumed during this month, the feature of which is the contest for the Georgia—South Carolina team championship, which was won last year by the Palmetto Gun Club.

Charleston, S. C. G. A. STECK, Secy.

THE Brainerd Gun Club recently opened its new shooting park, which is on a tableland overlooking some fine river scenery and immediately accessible by the electric street car line. When the park is finally completed, as now contemplated, it will be difficult to find a club house in the state more conveniently and picturesquely situated. The club has an active membership of thirty-six, a practical and sufficient club house, a set of five traps with electric pull—the electricity being supplied direct from the power-house of the street car line. This club was the first in the United States to adopt and use electricity in springing traps, and does not intend to be in the rear in the matter of having an electric pull with plenty of electric push. One of the most interesting items in articles or reports of shoots from other clubs is a description of the kinds of guns and powders used by the different shooters, and as the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD may be interested in such items regarding this club, the writer will endeavor in a future communication to furnish a full list of the guns and powders used by the different members of this club.

Brainerd, Minn. W. H. MANTOR, Secy.

THE second annual tournament of the Valley City Gun Club of Grand Rapids, Mich., will be held on the club's grounds on May 29, 30 and 31, and the management has every reason to believe that it will be one of the most largely attended and best tournaments held in that state this year. Ten events, all at targets, are announced for each day, the entrance to each being from $1.50 to $2.50 according to the number of targets to be shot at, while the club adds from $10 to $25 to each purse. Manufacturers' agents and known 90 per cent. men will shoot at the number of birds scheduled in each event, while all others will be given an extra bird to shoot at in 15 and 20 bird events and two birds extra in all 25-bird events. During the tournament the Michigan State Trap Shooters' League events will be shot but they will take place over an extra set of traps and not interfere with the progress of the tournament. American Shooting Association rules will govern, except that all guns, 10, 12 or 16 gauges, will shoot from the same rise. The tournament will be held at the club's grounds three miles from Grand Rapids, near the beautiful Summer resort known as Reed's Lake.

MR. J. E. PUMPUREY, of Columbus, O., a gentleman well and favorably known to the trap shooters of the Western and Southern states as a man who is always trying to do something to interest and advance the amateur trap shooter, spent a few days the past week with Chicago friends, and on Saturday last paid his respects to the AMERICAN FIELD. Mr. Pumphrey, naturally a good shot either at live birds or inanimate targets, has not been doing much trap shooting so far this season, yet we found him just as thoroughly interested in the sport as ever and just as anxious, yes, perhaps more anxious than ever, that some means be adopted in this country whereby this gentlemanly sport may be made even more popular than heretofore. He realizes, as many others do, that if something is not done to protect the amateur against the professional, the expert, and the paid representatives of manufacturers, trap shooting, or at least tournament shooting, is going to be left to such gentlemen and the few others who have money to burn. Mr. Pumphrey is an intelligent, enthusiastic sportsman and his call was thoroughly enjoyed.

COMMENCING on June 20, a three days' tournament on inanimate targets, with all modern appliances, will be held at the grounds of the Flour City Gun Club in this city, and if former tournaments held by the club are any criterion, there will be assembled the largest field of shooters ever seen in this state. The management of the tournament will be in the hands of Mr. Fred McKay, which is a sufficient guarantee that all who attend will be given a fair field and no favors. The club is composed of shooters who are gentlemen in the strictest interpretation of the word, and no efforts will be spared to make the visitors feel at home. Blue Rock and Empire targets will be used and will be thrown from a set of five expert traps, electric pull. A large list of prizes will be given and there will be royal sport for all. There will be ten events each day, from ten to twenty birds each. All events will be shot at 16 yards rise regardless of gauge of gun. Programs will be ready on June 1.

Minneapolis, Minn. JOS. GENEVEY, Secy.

As will be seen by referring to their advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD, Mr. Henry C. Squires & Son of New York have secured Mr. Frank Lawrence, of grass salt fame, of Chicago, as manager of their shell-loading department. As is well known by most of our readers, Mr. Lawrence has for some years been in the shell loading business for himself, in Chicago, and therefore is a man of extended experience in that branch of business. Messrs. Squires & Son have greatly increased their capacity for shell loading and feel confident that under Mr. Lawrence's efficient management they will this season turn out a larger number of ready-loaded shells than in any one season before since they commenced the business, and at the same time have their goods maintain the same excellence as heretofore. Mr. Lawrence's Chicago friends will regret that he has concluded to make his home in the East, yet one and all will rejoice to know that he is connected with such a well-known and popular firm as Henry C. Squires & Son.

THE eighth annual tournament of the South Dakota State Sportsmen's Association is to be held at Woonsocket, S. D., on May 21, 22 and 23. The program announces ten events for each of the first two days and five events for the third day, with one live bird event each day. The features of especial interest are the medal contest on the first day, the contest for a Lefever hammerless team race on the second day, and the race on the individual state championship medal for 1895. The association has secured quite a number of which will be added to the various events. Association rules will govern and all purses will be divided into four moneys. The association penalty on anyone dropping for place.

To bring out a better weekly attendance at the Omaha (Neb.) Gun Club's shoots, Mr. Frank Parmelee offers a $25 corduroy hunting suit as a prize to the member taking part in the largest number of regular club shoots during the season, Paxton & Gallagher will present the member taking part in the next largest number of regular shoots with a handsome $10 meerschaum pipe, and a Mr. Gray, a photographer, will give a group photograph of club members to each member of the club who shoots in fourteen or more regular club contests during the season. In addition to the above the club will award average prizes to shooters taking part in fourteen or more regular shoots of the club. This arrangement ought to insure a good attendance at every club shoot, and doubtless will.

THE Limited Gun Club of Indianapolis, Ind., has been incorporated under the laws of the state of Indiana, with a capital stock of $1,000. A very desirable piece of land directly on the fair grounds electric street car line has been purchased and is now being fenced, while an architect is preparing plans for a club house. The improvements and equipments will be all that experience and good taste can suggest, and will insure the comfort and convenience of shooters at all times. In fact we hope to make a model shooting ground and will spare no effort or expense in this direction. We have something of interest to say to other gun clubs in Indiana, and respectfully ask secretaries to send us their addresses.

Indianapolis, Ind. ROYAL ROBINSON, Secy.

ON the evening of May 4 a large delegation of sportsmen representing many of the towns in Western New York met at Fredonia, N. Y., and organized the Lake Erie Rod and Gun Club, electing the following gentlemen as officers for the ensuing year: President, H. F. Glissan; vice president, S. W. Ware; captain, Seth Clover; directors, F. M. Shelley, Sheridan; L. P. Harrison, Dunkirk; Benjamin Pond, Fredonia. The committee appointed on by-laws and constitution were: Seth Clover, Dr. N. G. Richmond and Benjamin Pond. Twenty members were placed on the roll and many more are expected to be received from all parts of Western New York, which territory the club will use as its hunting and fishing grounds.

ACCORDING to the Syracuse (N. Y.) Standard of May 7, it is quite probable that to decide which is the better shot on live birds, Mr. Ayling or Mr. White, both members of the Onondaga County Sportsmen's Club, a match will soon be arranged between the two men. Mr. Ayling says he is not looking for honors in this direction and only shoots at the trap for the pleasure he derives from it and the recreation it affords him, but if it will please his friends to witness such a contest, he is agreeable to it and will give Mr. White a two-yard handicap in distance. Mr. White's particular admirers say that they think Mr. White will consent to the race but they do not believe he will take the handicap offered.

I WRITE to inform the AMERICAN FIELD and my many friends throughout the country that I have ceased doing business in Chicago and have made arrangements with Henry C. Squires & Son of this city to take charge of their hand-loaded ammunition department. I have, however, retained the privilege of filling orders for my old customers and soliciting new trade both in hand-loaded shells and sporting goods, and if the AMERICAN FIELD will kindly favor me with an announcement in its next issue to this effect, so that it will acquaint my customers who read it with the fact, I will be greatly obliged.

New York City. FRANK LAWRENCE.

MR PAUL R. LITZKE of Little Rock, Ark., writes us under date of of May 9 that the Arkansas State Sportsmen's Association will add $300 in cash to the purses at its forthcoming tournament to be held at Little Rock on May 28, 29 and 30. Mr. Litzke also writes that the programs for the tournament are now ready for distribution, and as they contain the game law of Arkansas and much other information of interest to sportsmen, every sportsman in the country should have a copy, which anyone can obtain by sending his address to Mr. Litzke at Little Rock.

MR. WILLARD L. SIMPSON, secretary of the San Antonio (Tex.) Gun Club, writes us to say that the San Antonio Gun Club has nothing to do with the nineteenth annual tournament of the Texas State Sportsmen's Association, to be held in San Antonio from May 14 to 18; that the club is not even a member of the state organization. He makes this statement as the report has gone forth that the state tournament is to be held under the auspices of the San Antonio club.

ON May 8 Capt. J. L. Brewer, of New York, on a wager of $250 that he could not kill 95 selected live birds out of 100, Hurlingham rules, 30 yards rise, 50 yards boundary, scored 98 out of the 100 and won the wager. The birds, it is said, were of the hardest kind and there was a strong wind across the traps which made the shooting unusually hard. Brewer is reported to have made four very phenomenal kills that almost anybody would have been excusable for missing.

THE Carbondale (Ill.) Gun Club, recently organized, held its first tournament on May 2. Shooters were present from Centralia, Murphysboro, Pinckneyville and other towns and all seemed to enjoy themselves very much, and many of them did good work. Mr. Phillips, secretary of the club, assisted by J. L. Kimmel, who officiated as referee, exerted themselves to have their friends have a pleasant time, and they were quite successful.

Pinckneyville, Ill. E. C. EATON.

MR. J. O'H. DENNY, of Pittsburg, Pa., member of the Cartaret club of New York, who has for some time been in England, has been doing some remarkably good work of late with the shotgun. He has shot at the Gun Club and other grounds in competition with many of the crack pigeon shots of London and has usually more than held his own. In fact so good has been his work that he is spoken of in London as the crack shot of the United States.

MESSRS. CHARLES VANDENRIFT, of the Cornwell Gun Club, Charles Van Camp, of the Tacony Rod and Gun Club, Elmer Betson, of the Frankford Gun Club, and Fred Weingard of the Boerckel Gun Club, all of Pennsylvania, have arranged for a match at live birds for a purse of $100. The match is to take place very soon on the grounds of the Boerckel Gun Club at Bridesburg, Pa., each man to shoot at 25 birds, 28 yards rise.

THE South Side Gun Club of Milwaukee, Wis., whose grounds are at Lake Station, eight miles south of the city, has recently added a commodious dancing pavilion to the grounds and constructed an artificial lake within the inclosure which is supplied with a fleet of rowboats, thus adding greatly to the attractiveness of this otherwise pleasant club property.

THE Cleveland Target Company has made arrangements with the railroads running into that city whereby those wishing to attend their tournament on June 19, 20 and 21 can make the round trip for one fare. Such a concession from the railroads ought to add largely to the attendance at the tournament, as many will probably take advantage of it.

TEAMS of five men each from the Columbus (Wis.) Gun Club and the Randolph Gun Club shot a match at Columbus on the afternoon of May 9, each man shooting at 30 single targets, known trap, unknown angles. The Randolph team won, the scores being as follows: Randolph 134 out of 150; Columbus 127 out of the same number.

MR. E. THOMAS JR., the well-known gunmaker, who for so long a time was located on Van Buren Street, near [illegible] now at No. 21 North Clark Street, near the bridge, will [illegible] times be glad to see his many old friends and [illegible]

THE Pekin (Ill.) Gun Club will hold its annual [illegible] 1895 on May 28 and 29. In years past the tournaments [illegible] have been all that the club could desire and it is [illegible] one will also be a grand success.

The Fairview Gun Club of Lancaster, Pa., announces a tournament for May 23 and 24, at Hambright's Three-Mile House, near [illegible]. Targets will be used on the first day and live birds on the second day.

[illegible] Gun Club of Springfield, O., will have its opening [illegible] on Decoration Day, May 30, when the club will [illegible] prizes besides adding money to many [illegible].

The return match between the Walsrode Gun Club of Newark, N. J., and the Greenville Gun Club of Greenville, N. J., will be shot on the grounds of the last named club on May 22.

A match at 50 single Empire targets per man will be shot on May 29 between Mr. G. Young and Mr. Robert Schrafft, members of the Walsrode Gun Club of Newark, N. J.

The Waukegan (Ill.) Gun Club will hold an all-day tournament upon the club's grounds on Decoration Day, May 30.

The Belding Rod and Gun Club of Belding, Mich., will hold an all-day tournament on May 23.

The Pekin (Ill.) Gun Club has selected May 27 and 28 as the dates for its Spring tournament.

THE DU PONT TOURNAMENT

The Du Pont Powder Co.'s shooting tournament, held at Cincinnati, O., on May 7, 8, 9 and 10. under the able supervision of Mr. R. S. Waddell, was probably one of the best managed tournaments that has been held in this country for many a moon. Everything was in perfect order and the business of the tournament, from the work of the trappers to that of the men in the office who received and paid out the moneys in the various events, run along with as much precision and exactness as if millions of dollars and thousands of lives depended on the correctness with which each detail was attended to. Those present at this tournament will probably travel many thousands of miles and attend hundreds of other tournaments before they will find another one that in detail and perfection of management will equal this, and to Mr. Waddell is largely due the credit for the excellent manner that everything was attended to. There was no room for fault finding or complaining, and when it did occur—though not frequently—that a man thought he had not received proper credit for his work, he was soon convinced of his error and turned away with the thought that the fellows running this tournament know their business fully and are as correct as clockwork.

The attendance was excellent throughout the four days, and the work at the traps of some of the more proficient was as good as is seen anywhere—it was nearly perfection itself. Among the well-known expert shots of the country that were present were Glover, of Rochester, N. Y.; Young, Shorty Bacon, Upson, Red Wing, Rike and Alkire, of Ohio; Budd of Des Moines, Ia.; Bartlett of Buffalo, N. Y.; Gay of Louisville, Ky.; Elliott of Kansas City, Mo.; Merrill of Milwaukee, Wis.; Du Bray of Dayton, Ky.; Partington of Indianapolis, Ind.; Grimm of Clear Lake, Ia.; Fulford of Utica, N. Y.; Connor of Knoxville, Tenn.; Meaders of Memphis, Tenn.; Skinner and White of Chicago; Van Dyke of New Jersey; North of Cleveland, O.; Le Roy, Raymond, Anthony and any number of others whose names we do not readily call to mind. The men mentioned are those known as experts and who, with many others present and not individualized, are able to hold up their end in trap shooting with the best in the land. There was also a large attendance of amateurs, many of whom shot quite as well as some of the experts, and who with a fair amount of practice for a month would have to go into the expert class. A perusal of the scores will give the reader a good idea of the number present and the kind of work a man had to do to "save stakes." The weather was pleasant throughout, and the company "hot" from start to finish, yet no one could complain, for if he did not get a taste of the pie it was because some of his competitors did better work than he. One well-known expert, speaking of the company he had to compete with, remarked that he did not find the cherries as ripe in Cincinnati as he had expected, and that he was not certain that he would attend the Knoxville tournament until he had talked with one or two of his particular friends.

Blue Rock traps and targets were used and both gave complete satisfaction. Paul North was present and kept the traps in splendid shape, consequently there were few hitches and not many targets broken by the traps, a source of annoyance at many tournaments where the traps are not properly adjusted.

The winners of the big prizes for averages during the entire shoot in the prize events were as follows:

Experts, 120 birds—Merrill, 116, $90; Van Dyke, 115, $75; Glover and Upson, 113 each, $60; Heikes, Fulford, Grimm and Hoffman, 112 each, $45; Trimble, 111, $30.

Amateurs, 90 birds—Cherry, Murphy, 80, $60; Grube, 79, $50; Gamble, 78, $40; Partington, Harry, 77, $30; Forrester, 76, $20. The scores:

EXPERTS

Event No. 1.—20 single targets, $3 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Alkire.....11110111101111111011-17	Van Dyke..11111111111111111111-20
Upson.....01011111111111111111-18	Glover.... 11101011111101111111-17
Raymond..11011111111111111111-19	White.....11111111111111111101-19
Heikes... .11011111111111011111-18	Shorty 01111111111111111101-18
Rike 01111111111111101111-18	Dando.....11111111111111110111-19
Bartlett....11111111111111111111-20	C.A. Young11101011111111111111-18
J. Gay.....01111011111010010010-13	Verges.....11111111111111111111-20
Le Roy. ...11111111111101111111-19	Watts.....11110101111101111111-17
North 11111111111111111111-20	Grimm.....11111111111111111111-20
Red Wing..11110111111111111110-18	Merrill.....11111111111011111111-19
Mitchell. ..11111111100111111111-17	Budd 11111111111111011111-19
Bimel.....11111111110010111011-16	Mead 11101101111111011101-16
Meaders ...11011111111011110110-16	Anthony...11010101101111010011-13
Skinner....11111111001111100011-16	Elliott..... 11111101111111111111-19
Connor 10111111111101101110-16	Volland....01100111011111011011-14
Fulford....11111111111111011111-19

Event No. 2.—Same as preceding: Alkire 20, Upson 19, Raymond 18, Heikes 19, Rike 17, Bartlett 19, J. Gay 18, Le Roy 18, North 19, Red Wing 17, Meaders 19. Mitchell 19, Connor 17, Fulford 17, Van Dyke 19, Glover 20, Dando 18, C. A. Young 17, Verges 13, Volland 12, Merrill 19, Budd 19, Anthony 16, Elliott 18, Grimm 16, Skinner 14, Shorty 19, Bimel 14, Taylor 20, White 18, Watts 16, Meade 16, Forrester 18, Peterman 18, Barker 18.

Event No. 3.—Same as before: Alkire 16, Upson 20, Raymond 16, Heikes 20, Rike 19, Bartlett 19, J. Gay 19, Le Roy 19, North 14 Red Wing 17, Meaders 17, Mitchell 19, Connor 15, Fulford 20, Van Dyke 19, Glover 19, Daudo 17, C. A. Young 17, Verges 17, Grimm 19, Merrill 19, Budd 18, Anthony 17, Elliott 15, Volland 10, Shorty 20, Jones 20, Ed. Taylor 17, Watts 18, Barker 20.

Event No. 4.—Same again: Alkire 20, Upson 19, Raymond 19, Heikes 19, Rike 20, Bartlett 19, Gay 18, Le Roy 19, North 20, Red Wing 17, Meaders 20, Mitchell 16, Connor 17, Fulford 19, Glover 20, Dando 15, C. A. Young 18, Verges 17, Grimm 18 Merrill 19, Budd 17, Anthony 15, Elliott 16, Volland 17, Shorty 20, Du Bray 18, White 18, Peterman 18, R. S. Waddell 14, Jones 15, R. Trimble 19, Taylor 16, Hoffman 17, Watts 15, Van Dyke 19, Bimel 18.

Event No. 5 —Like all the rest: Alkire 19, Upson 20, Raymond 19, Heikes 19. Rike 20, Bartlett 16, Gay 20, Le Roy 18, North 20, Red Wing 19, Meaders 17. Mitchell 16, Connor 20, Fulford 20, Van Dyke 19 Glover 19, Dando 18, C. A. Young 19, Verges 17, Grimm 17, Merrill 17, Budd 20, Anthouy 15, Elliott 17, Volland 16, Shorty 18, Jones 20, Houston 19, Taylor 18, Peterman 20, Watts 12, Bimel 16, Gruhe 19, Du Bray 15. Hoffman 18, Woodworth 20.

Event No. 6.—20 singles, $3 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Alkire.....11111011011111110100 15	Merrill.....11111111111111011111-19
Upsou.....10111111111101111111-18	Budd.....11111111111111111111-20
Raymoud...11111111111111111111 20	Anthony...00111111111001000001-11
Heikes.....11110111111111111111 -19	Elliott.....11111010111101111100-15
Rike.....11111010111111101111-17	Volland ...11011111101111111111-18
Bart ett....11111111111111111111-20	Shorty.....11111111101111111111-19
Gay..... .11111111111111111111-20	Jones.....11111111111111111111-20
Le Roy.....11111111111111101111-19	Goodman.. 11110101111111101001-15
Nortb.....11111111111101101101-17	Houstou... 11001101111101011011-14
Red Wing..11111111111111111111 19	R. Trimble.01111111111111101111-18
Meaders... 11111111101111111111-19	White.....11111111111111111111-20
Mitchell....11111111111101110 17	R. S. Waddell—
Connor [illegible]	11101111111111101110-17
[illegible]	Woodworth11111111101011011111-17
[illegible]	Hoffman....11111111111101111111-19
[illegible]	Bimel..... 01011111111111011010-15
[illegible]	Grube.....11111111111111011111-19
[illegible]	Peterman...11111111101110111111-18
[illegible]	Ballard 01101101111111101111-16
[illegible]	Hutchings .01011111111011001010-13

Event No. 7.—Same as preceding: Alkire 17, Upson 20, Raymond 18, Heikes 19, Rike 16, Bartlett 17, Gay 19, Le Roy 20, North 15, Red Wing 20, Meaders 19, Jones 17, Connor 16, Fulford 19, Van Dyke 19, Glover 16, Dando 19, C. A. Young 17, Verges 18, Grimm 17, Merrill 18, Budd 19, Anthony 16, Elliott 18, Volland 14, Shorty 19, Swan 14, Peterman 19, Grube 18, White 20, Mitchell 17, Woodworth 18.

Event No. 8.—Same as before: Alkire 11, Upson 19, Raymond 18, Heikes 20, Rike 19, Bartlett 20, Gay 19, Le Roy 20, North 14, Red Wing 18, Meaders 19, Jones 20, Conuor 17, Fulford 20, Van Dyke 20, Glover 19, Dando 19, C. A. Young 18, Verges 12, Grimm 16, Merrill 20, Budd 17, Anthony 13, Elliott 16, Volland 16, Mitcbell 19, Swan 16, Hoffman 20, Woodworth 15, Peterman 15.

AMATEURS

Event No. 1.—15 single targets, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Ballaid.....1101011111110111-12	Murphy.....1101111111111111-14
Houston.....1111111111111111-15	Senaur.....0010101111111110-10
Pragoff 1111111111101101-13	H. E. Ware. ...1110101011111111-12
Hutchings.....1111101111011111-13	Goodman .....1111100000010101—8
Watson 0111111111111111-14	Grimes.....1110111111111011-13
Forrester.....0101110010111111-10	A. W. Du Bray.1101101101111111-12
Swan..... 1011110011001111-10	R. Trimble.....1110011111111101-12
Peterman.....1111111011111101-13	See.....0011111110111111-12
Watts.... 0111010111111111-12	Girton..... 0111000010001000—5
Shattuck.....1111101111110110-12	Betsinger.....0110100100010110—6
Costello.... 1111111111100011-12	Pearson.....1010101111010011-11
Hoffman 1111111101111111-14	Woodworth.....1101111111111110-13
E. Trimble.....1101110001010111—9	Randall.....0001110010101110—7
Lockwood.....0011110111001111-10	Gamble.....1110111111111011-13
Hub..... 1100011101011111-10	O'Brien.....1111110001010111-10
Jac Art.....1111010111001111-11	J. A. Meyer . .0110110110101100—8
Grube.....1111111111111111-15	C. Zollar.....0100100101101101—7
Partington.... .1110111111111010-12	Winchester.....1110101010110110—9
Harry 1010111111111111-13	Hanauer.....1110110011100010—9
Bibbee.....0110101110011110—9	Bimel 1111111111111111-15
Robinson 1111110110100111-11	Skinner.....1110111111110011-12
Cherry.....1111110111111110-13	R. H. Smith.....1110111111111111-14
Daughman ...0001111110111111-11	W. Devoe 1110010111111111-12
Blair... .....0011100100111110—8	Linderman.....1011110111010111-11

Event No. 2.—Same as preceding: Ballard 12, Houston 15, Pragoff 13, Hutchings 13, Watson 14, Forrester 10, Swan 10, Peterman 13, Watts 12. Shattuck 12, Costello 12, Hoffman 14, E. Trimble 9, Lockwood 10, Hub 10, Jac Art 11, Grube 15, Partington 12, Harry 13, Bibbee 9, Robinson 11, Cherry 13, Daughman 11, Blair 8, Murphy 14, Senaur 10, H. E. Ware 12, Goodman 8, Grimes 13, A. W. Du Bray 12, R. Trimble 12, See 12, Girton 5. Betsinger 6. Pearson 11, Woodworth 13, Randall 7, Gamble 13, O'Brien 10, J. A. Meyer 8, C. Zollar 7, Winchester 9, Hanauer 9, Bimel 15, Skinner 12, R. H. Smith 14, W. Devoe 12, Linderman 11.

Event No. 3.—Same again: Ballard 10, Houston 12, Bragoff 11, Hutchinson 12, Watson 13, Forrester 11, Swan 12, Peterman 13, O'Brien 11, Shattuck 12, Costello 8, Woodworth 14. E. Trimble 11, Lockwood 9, Hub 15, Jac Art 10, Grube 12, Partington 13, Hoffman 13, Du Bray 10, Senaur 7, Blair 8, Robinson 8, Goodman 12. Pearson 13, Gamble 14. Harry 11, Skinner 8, Devoe 11, Bibbee 12, Bimel 13. Cherry 14. R. Trimble 12, Girton 5, See 11, Watts 12, H. E. Ware 13, Holliday 12, Link 8, Zoller 11, T. F. Meek 8, J. A. Meyer 9, Daughman 13, Randall 9, Richardson 12, Murphy 11, Bee 12, R. H. Smith 10, Grimes 10.

Event No. 4.—Same as the rest: Ballard 12, Houston 14, Pragoff 13, Hutchings 12, Watsou 12. Forrester 14, Swan 13, Peterman 13, Watts 5, Shattuck 14, Costello 8, Hoffman 10, Ed. Trimble 7, Lockwood 12, Hub 11, Jac Art 7, Grube 13, Partington 14, Woodworth 14, R. H. Smith 14, Cherry 13, Devoe 8, Bimel 9, Pearsou 12, Robinsou 8, Gamble 12, Goodman 12, Holliday 10, Zollar 10, Link 9, O'Brien 8, Park (w) 1, Meek 10, Joe 8, Richardson 15, Bee 10, J. A. Meyers 10, Du Bray 7, Daughman 11, Murphy 12, Ware 13, Grimes 10, Harry 13. R. Trimble 13, See 11, Girton 9, Randall 13, Betsinger 7.

Event No. 5.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Ballard. 1111111111111001-13	Cherry.....1011111111111110-13
R. H. Smith....1111111111111111-15	Gamble..... ... 1111111110110100-11
Pragoff.....1011111111101110-12	Verges.....1111001010110101-10
Hutchings.....0010111111110111-11	Willie.....1101111111001111-12
Watson.... 1111111111111111-15	O'Brien.... 0001011111111111-11
Forrester 1111101011110111-12	Richardson.....1011111100101101-10
Swan. 1111011001111101-11	Robinson.....0000011100101000—5
Peterman.....1101111111111111-14	Murphy.....0111001101111111-11
Watts.....1111111010111101-12	Hauauer.....0101111111111011-12
Shattuck.....1111110010010011-10	Bee..... .1110111101011111-12
Costello.....1111110111111111-14	Pearson.....1011111111110110-12
Hoffman.... ...1111111111110100-12	Du Brav.....1011011111111101-12
Partington.....1110111101111111-13	Harry 1101011100101111-10
Lockwood..... 0101110100111101—9	Bimel.....1111100110110111-11
Hub.....1111111110110110-12	Randall.....1110110111000011-10
Jac Art.....0111101111111010-11	Daughman.....1011111111111110-13
Fisher..... ....0111011000111101—9	See..... .....1111001110010010—9
Devoe.....1111100111111111-13	Girton..... ....1001000111010100—7

Event No. 6.—Same as preceding: Callard 11, R. H. Smith 10, Pragoff 14, Hutchings 11, Watson 10, Forrester 13,Swan 14, Peterman 13, Watts 11, Shattuck 11, Costello 11, Willie 8, Partington 11. Lockwood 11, Hub 11, Jac Art 9, Grube 15, F. J. Waddell 9, Corbett 10, Meek 10, Link 8, Meyer 11, C. Jay 11, Devoe 12, Ware 9, Gamble 15, Fisher 12, Cherry 13, Holiday 8, Richardson 10, Hoffman 13, Goodman 12, Blair 12, Randall 12, Daughman 8, Harry 13, Murphy 14, See 10, Pearson 13, Bimel 12, Du Bray 9

Event No. 7.—Same as the rest: Ballard 13, R. H. Smith 15, Pragoff 12, Hutchings 14, Lockwood 10, Hub 9, Partington 13. Cherry 11, Watts 12, Shattuck 8, Blair 8, Hoffman 15, Grube 13, Willie 12, O'Brien 12, Peterman 14, Devoe 10, B. Trimble 14, Fisher 14, Richardson 10, Bimel 9, Pearson 13, C. Jay 11, Link 6, Daughman 10, Randall 7, J. A. Meyer 11.

Event No. 8.—Same again: Partington 12, R. H. Smith 10, Pragoff 10, Hutchings 13, Lockwood 12, Hub 15, Grube 13, Willie 13, Watts 14, Shattuck 10. Cherry 13, Hoffman 14, Fisher 12, Bimel 13, Devoe 9, Pearson 12, Richardson 10.

SECOND DAY

EXPERTS

Event No. 1.—20 single targets, $3 entrance, $15 added; four moneys.

Alkire.....01111111111111011111-18	Budd.....11011111111111111011-18
Upson.....10111111111111111110 18	Conuor.....11011111110111111011-17
Raymond...11011011111111101011-16	Jones..... 10011110110111111001-14
Heikes.....11111100111110111101-16	Shorty.....11111111111111111111-19
Rike.....10111111111111011101-17	Fulford....01110011111111111111-17
Bartlett....11111111111001111111-18	Youug.....11111101110111111110-17
Gay 11011111111101111111-18	Meaders....11111110111101011111-17
Le Roy.... 11111111111111111111-20	Glover.....11111111111111110110-18
North.....11111111111110010110-16	Hoffman. ..01101111111111111101-17
Red Wing..11111111110111110111-18	Watts.....01111111101111111010-16
Van Dyke..11001111111011011111-16	Mitchell. ..11111011111101011111-17
Elliott.....11111110011111110111-17	Cherry.....11111111111010111111-18
Grimm 11111111111111111101-19	Dando.....11111111111101111111-19
Merrill.....11110111111111111111-19

Event No. 2 —Same as preceding: Alkire 12, Upson 19, Raymond 16, Heikes 20, Rike 15, Bartlett 18, Gay 19, Le Roy 19, North 15, Red Wing 18, Van Dyke 17, Elliott 14, Grimm 17, Merrill 15, Budd 15, Connor 15, Jones 20. Shorty 17, Taylor 19, Fulford 19, Young 18. Glover 17, Meaders 15, Dando 19, Peterman 18, Volland 12, Mitchell 18, Du Bray 13, White 17, Hoffman 18.

Event No. 3.—Same as before: Alkire 18, Upson 17, Raymond 17, Heikes 19, Rike 19, Bartlett 18, Gay 18, Le Roy 15, North 16, Red Wing 20, Van Dyke 17, Elliott 18, Grimm 20, Merrill 20, Budd 18, Connor 15, Joues 18, Shorty 19, Watts 18, Fulford 18, Young 17, Glover 18, Meaders 18, Taylor 15, Dando 15, Hill 18. R. Trimble 18, Volland 11, Hutchings 18, Peterman 18, Hoffman 19, Mitchell 16, Richardson 17, R. H. Smith 15, Pragoff 17.

Event No. 4.—Another of the same kind: Alkire 16, Upson 18, Raymond 16. Heikes 19. Rike 19.Bartlett 16, Gay 17. Le Roy 18, North 19, Red Wing 16, Van Dyke 19, Elliott 15, Grimm 17, Merrill 20, Budd 17, Connor 15, Jones 18, Shorty 14, White 16, Fulford 19, R. S. Waddell 16, Glover 20, Meaders 16, Young 17, R. Trimble 18, Volland 18, Hill 18, Dando 18, Peterman 17. Mitchell 17, Richardsou 16, Gamble 19, Hutchings 16, Linderman 18, Woodworth 17, Hoffman 20.

Event No. 5.—Same again: Alkire 13,Upson 20. Raymond 18, Heikes 19, Rike 17, Bartlett 20, Gay 18, Le Roy 18, North 16, Red Wing 17, Van Dyke 16, Elliott 15, Grimm 17, Merrill 19, Budd 19, Connor 13, Jones 17, Shorty 18, Young 19, Fulford 17, Mitchell 16, Glover 20, Meaders 18, Volland 12, Dando 17, Taylor 16, Richardson 16, Woodworth 18, Linderman 17, Peterman 20, Hoffman 19, Hutchings 16, Trimble 18. Hill 18.

Event No. 6.—20 singles, $3 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Alkire.... .11111111111111101111-19	Shorty.....11111101111111111011-18
Upson.....11111111111111111111-20	White.....10111111110111001010-14
Raymond...01101111111101111010-15	Fulford .. 11111111101111111100-17
Helkes.....11111111111111111011-19	Young..... 01110111111111111111-18
Rike.....11111111111111111111-20	Glover.....11111111111111111111-20
Bartlett....11111111101111111111-19	Meaders....11111110111111011111-17
Gay..... ..11100111111111111111-18	Linderman 11111110111101111011-17
Le Roy.....11111011111111111110-18	Dando.....11111011111111011111-18
North.....11110110101011000111-14	Richardson 11111001111111111111-18
Red Wing..11111111111001111101-17	Peterman..11110111111111111110-18
Van Dyke..11111110111111111101-18	Volland.....00111110101111000110-12
Elliott 11111110111111111101-18	Woodworth11111101101111101111-17

Event No. 1.—15 single targets, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Richardson.....1111011101111111-13	Walt..... 11111110111101-13
Forrester..... .1100111111111111-13	Mitchell..... 0111111111111111-14
Linderman.....0101110111111011-11	See..... .....111 01111111111-14
Watts.....1111111111100111-13	Girton.... .....0011110110100011—9
O'Brien..... 1000011001111110—8	Anthony..... 1111011111101111-12
Pearson.....0111100101010011—9	Swan.....1011111111011110-12
Morris..... 0111100011101101—9	Peterman.....1101111111111011-13
Bibbee.....1010001101100110 8	R. Trimble 1111111111111101-14
Cherry.....1110111111111010-12	Grube.....1111111111110111-14
Fisher.... 1111101010101101-10	Robinson .....1101111110100000—8
Woodworth.....1111111110111011-13	Lo kwood..... ..1110111111111100-12
Hutchings.....1111111011111111-14	Devoe.....1101111011011110-11
Pragoff 1111111111111111-15	Partington.....1101110111111111-13
Shattuck..... ...1111001111110111-12	R. H. Smith.....1110111111110011-10
Randall.....0111010111001101—9	Hub.....1001011111111111-12

Event No. 2.—Same as preceding: O'Brien 12, Linderman 15, Forrester 13, Fisher 7, Richardson 15, Pearson 9, Swan 12, Hutchings 15, Walt 13, Woodworth 15. Harry 13. Port 11. Murphy 12, Robinson 8, Smith 13, Anthony 10. Shattuck 6, Watts 12, Lockwood 9, Senaur 13, Partington 14. Hub 13, Mitchell 15, Randall 6, Cherry 13, Girton 11, See 13, Eddy 13, R. Trimble 11, Du Bray 11.

Event No. 3.—Same as before: Woodworth 13, Goodman 8, Smith 11, Pearson 12, Devoe 11, Anthony 6, Murpby 12, Fisher 5, Morris 9 O'Brien 13, R. Trimble 15, Forrester 9, Robinson 11, Bibbee 10, Hutchings 14, Gamble 14, Senaur 12, Watts 12, Linderman 14, Hub 10, Eddy 10, Walt 12, Swan 13, Costello 11, Lockwood 11, Richardson 13, Holiday 10, Cherry 13, Hauss 10, See 13, Girton 7, Partington 13, Verges 11. Shattuck 13, Grimes 8, Du Bray 11.

Event No. 4.—Same again: Anthony 15, R. H. Smith 13, Devoe 11, Pragoff 13, Senaur 9, Hub 14, Harry 12, Goodman 9, Ware 13, C. Jay 11, Corbett 12, Meyer 13, Murphy 14, Robinsou 11, O'Brien 11, Watts 12, Linderman 13, Costello 14, Eddye 8, Peterman 13, Swan 11, Grube 15, Gamble 13, Walt 13, Cherry 14, Post 11, Thomas 12, Bibbee 13. Pearsou 12. See 10, Hauss 9, Jacooy 11, Partington 13, Holiday 14, Shattuck 13, Randall 13, Verges 13, Forrester 11, Lockwood 10, Hoffman 13, Du Bray 11, Hill 14.

Event No. 5.—Same as the others: Hub 13, Senaur 11, O'Brien 12, Walt 13. Smith 14, Swan 8, Anthony 12, Watts 9, Costello 13, Devoe 12, Pearson 12, Verges 11, Hauss 8, Jacoby 13, Robinson 9, Sebald 15, Otters 12, Shattuck 10, See 13, Randall 10, F. J. Waddell 10, Lockwood 5, C. Jay 6, Corbett 13, Meyer 10, Forrester 11, Grube 8, Thomas 12, Hoffman 12, Cherry 13, Trimble 14, Peterman 9, Hill 13, Jac Art 9.

Event No. 6.—Same again: Cherry 13, Pragoff 11, O'Brien 14, Hub 10, Sorg 13 Harry 12, Ware 14, Murphy 14, Jacoby 9, Otters 10, Sebold 11, Partington 13, Goodman 8, Gamble 14, Walt 14, Shattuck 12, See 10, Devoe 13, Holiday 10, F. J. Waddell 5, Swau 7, Verges 13, Smith 14. Anthony 10, Forrester 14, Bimel 13. Thomas 14, Grube 14, Lockwood 12, Pearson 9, Meyer 11, Randall 9, Costello 10, Peterman 13, Hoffman 12, Daughman 11, Hill 15.

Event No. 7.—Same again: Bimel 14, Partingtou 15, Pragoff 14, Cherry 13, Harry 11, Devoe 11, Hub 13, Jacoby 13, Otters 11, Sebald 11, Willie 11, Frauk 11, Murphy 12, See 11, Walt 15, Forrester 10, Daughman 13, O'Brien 12, Anthony 12, Swan 14, Shattuck 12, Verges 10, Lockwood 14, Raymond 13, Randall 12. Pearson 13, Corbett 13, C. Jay 7, Peterman 13, Sorg 12, Hoffman 13.

Event No. 8.—Again the same: Partington 12, Cherry 12, Bimel 10, Pragoff 15, Hub 12, Forrester 12, Willie 14, Daughman 11, Volland 8, Raymond 14, O'Brien 10, Harry 6, Lockwood 12, Du Bray 12, Randall 11, Hoffman 8, Shattuck 10, Sorg 11, Anthony 8, Swan 14. See 12, Corbett 9, Lingler 8, Devoe 9, Peterman 14, Costello 8, Holiday 9, Thomas 12, H. Murphy 10, Pearson 9.

THIRD DAY

EXPERTS

Event No. 1.—20 single targets, $3 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Alkire.....11101111101111101111-17	Budd.....11111110011111011111-17
Upson.....10111011111111111111-18	Hill.....11111111101111111111-19
Fulford....11111111111111011111-19	Jones 11111111111111111110-19
Heikes.....11111111111111111111-20	Shorty.....11101111111111111111-19
Rike.....00111111111111110101-16	Hoffman...11111111011111111111 19
Bartlett....11111111111111111111-20	Meaders ...01101101011011011111-14
Gay.....11111111010111111111-18	Linderman11111111101101011111-17
Le Roy 11111101111111111111-19	Glover.....11110111111111111111-19
North 10111010111011010111-14	White .. . 11110111111110111101-17
Red Wing.11111110111010111100-15	Young.....11101111101111111110-17
Van Dyke..11011111111110111001-16	Anthony....11111111110110111111-18
Elliott.....10000111110111111011-14	Woodworth—
Grimm.....01101111111101111011-16	11111111111111011111-19
Merrill.....11101111111111111111-19

Event No. 2.—Same as preceding: Alkire 14, Upson 18, Fulford 19, Heikes 20, Rike 17, Bartlett 19, Gay 19, Le Roy 18, Hoffman 18, Red Wing 17. Van Dyke 19, Elliott 15, Grimm 15, Merrill 16, Budd 19, Hill 15, Jones 18, Shorty 20, Meaders 18. Peterman 19, Linderman 18, Glover 19, Young 20, Gamble 19, Anthony 17, Trimble 18, Harry 17, Dando 15, Woodworth 18, Raymond 18

Event No. 3.—Same as before: Alkire 13, Upson 20. Fulford 18, Heikes 20, Rike 20, Bartlett 20, Gay 17, Le Roy 16. Hoffman 18, Red Wing 15, Van Dyke 19, Elliott 16, Grimm 16, Merrill 17, Budd 19, Hill 18, Jones 15, Shorty 17, Taylor 18, Meaders 20, Young 19, Glover 16, O'Brien 11, Lockwood 16, Peterman 18, Trimble 20, Woodworth 18, Anthony 14.

Event No. 4.—Same thiug over: Alkire 9, Upson 20, Fulford 18, Heikes 19. Rike 12, Bartlett 16, Gay 16, Le Roy 17. Hoffman 20, Red Wing 19, Van Dyke 19, Elliott 17, Grimm 20, Merrill 19, Budd 18, Hill 17, Jones 19, Shorty 16, Linderman 14, Meaders 19. Volland 14, Glover 16, Young 18, Raymond 17. Belding 17, White 20, R. Trimble 18, Dando 14, R. S. Waddell 17, Peterman 20, Woodworth 13, Anthony 14.

Event No. 5.—20 singles, $3 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Alkire.... .11101010101001111011-13	Merrill.....11101011111111111111-18
Upson..... 11111111111110101110-17	Budd.....11111111111111111110-19
Fulford....11111111111101111111 19	Hill.....11111111010111111011-17
Heikes.....11111111101111111111-19	Jones 11111111111111111111 20
Rike.... .11111110111111111111-19	Shorty.....11111111111111111111 20
Bartlett....11111011111101111111-18	Meaders....11111101011110111111-17
Anthony...11000101011111111101-14	Young.... .01011101111111111111-17
Le Roy.....11111101101111110001-15	Taylor.....01111111111111101111-18
Hoffman...11111111111111111111-20	Glover 11111111111011111111-19
Red Wing..11111111111111111101-19	Trimble.....10011111111111011111-19
Van Dyke..11111111111111111111-20	Volland....10111011111100101001-13
Elliott.... .11011010110011000110-11	Linderman.11111101001011111011-15
Grimm... ..11111110101111111111-18	Smith 11111111111111111111-20

Event No. 6.—Same as preceding: Alkire 15, Upson 18, Fulford 19, Heikes 17, Rike 18, Bartlett 19, Anthony 19, Glover 17, Hoffman 18, Red Wing 16, Van Dyke 20, Elliott 15. Grimm 18, Merr ll 20, Budd 17. Hill 18, Jones 14, Shorty 20, Meaders 18, Verges 16, R. Trimble 19, Le Roy 17, Young 16, White 19, Peterman 17, R. S. Waddell 15, Volland 17.

Event No. 7.—Same again: Alkire 16, Upson 20, Fulford 18. Heikes 18, Rike 17, Bartlett 20, Anthony 15. Le Roy 20, Hoffman 19, Red Wing 18, Van Dyke 17, Elliott 12, Grimm 17, Merrill 17, Budd 17, 1111l 18, Jones 19. Shoity 18, Taylor 18, Trimble 17, Young 17, Glover 20, Volland 14. Meaders 16, White 20.

Event No. 8.—Just like the rest: Alkire 15, Upson 19 Fulford 18, Heikes 18, Rike 18, Bartlett 20, Anthony 8, Le Roy 19, Hoffman 20, Red Wiug 17, Van Dyke 15, Elliott 16, Grimm 17, Merrill 20, Budd 19, Glover 18, Jones 17, Shorty 18, Meaders 19, Peterman 17, Trimble 20, Hill 15, Harry 14, White 16.

AMATEURS

Event No. 1.—15 single targets, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

O'Brien.....1111011011111111-13	Woodworth.....1111111011101l-13
Devoe.....1110111111110010-11	Richardson.....1110111111111101-13
Hutchings. .....0110110011101100—8	Harry.....1111111111111011-14
Hoffman.....1011111111011110-12	R. Trimble.....1111111111111110-14
Pragoff..... 0011011111111110-11	No. 4.....0111111111111111-14
Lockwood.... ..1110111111110111-13	Benton.....1111010001111100—9
Anthony.....0111110101011011-11	Randall.....0001101111111111-11
Dando.....1011111111111111-14	Murphy.....1011011011111111-12
Hub 1111011111011111-13	Gamble.....1011111101111110-12
Raymond.....1111111110011110-12	See.....1111111111111111-15
Linderman.... .1111111111111111-15	McLaughlin....0000010100101101—5

Event No. 2.—Same as preceding: Hoffman 12, O'Brien 10, Hub 11, Hutchings 8, Pragoff 14, Trimble 15, Devoe 11. Linderman 14, Dando 13, Swan 11, McLaughlin 12, Richardson 11, Lockwood 14,

Anthony 13, Woodworth 14, Randall 9, See 11, Raymond 14, Benton 9, No. 4 13, Belding 11, Verges 14, Forrester 12, Half Breed 12, Grimm 13.

EVENT No. 3.—Same again: Partington 12, Grube 14, Hoffman 14, Hub 12, Hutchings 11, Swan 11, Verges 12, McLaughlin 9, Cherry 13, Forrester 10, Belding 11, Peterman 15, Linderman 10, Costello 11, Benton 8, Half Breed 13, Raymoud 15, Dando 13, Anthony 11, Trimble 15, Richardson 11, Smith 13, Murphy 14, No. 4 15.

EVENT No. 4.—Same as before: Gruhe 15, Partington 13, Hoffman 15, Belding 13, Pragoff 13, McLaughlin 10, Murphy 12, Gamhell 11, Hub 14, Richardson 13, Goodman 10, Verges 14, Linderman 12, Daudo 12, Half Breed 10, Harry 12, Grimm 14, Beutou 10, Lockwood 13, Devoe 11, Hutchings 12, Smith 9, Costello 13, Forrester 12, See 12, Meyer 9, Ware 11, O'Brien 13, Peterman 10, Schatzman 9, Swan 13, Cherry 13, Anthony 13, North 13.

EVENT No. 5.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Goodman	101111111010011—11	Schatzman	011101111111111—13
Richardson	111111111101001-12	Grube	010011111011011—10
Devoe	101101110111101—11	Grimm	111101111111100-12
See	010111111111111-13	North	111110111110011-12
Benton	110001100111100—8	Volland	110 0101101101—9
Verges	000011110110010—8	Partington	001111111110111-12
Gamble	101110111111111-13	Thomas	111111011110100-11
Huh	011011111011111-12	Swan	101111001111111-12
McLaughlio	101101110000101—8	Peterman	110011111111111-13
Forrester	011111111111110-13	Belding	001111011100010—8
Hutchings	111110111110101-12	Woodworth	111101111111011-13
Harry	111111111111011-14	Murphy	111100111101111-12
Half Breed	110101111010101-10	Lockwood	111111100101111-12
Smith	011111110111101-12

EVENT No. 6.—Same as preceding: Murphy 14, Gamble 13, Cherry 14, Dando 12, Smith 13, Verges 15, Hub 13, See 12, Costello 10, O'Brien 10, Hutchings 15, McLaughlin 9, Schatzman 8, Pragoff 11, Half Breed 12, Forrester 12, Harry 15, North 13, Goodman 10, Beuton 7, Peterman 12, Swan 6, Devoe 13, Lockwood 13, Partington 13, Volland 10, Richardson 13, Ware 11, Grube 7, Raymond 13, Woodworth 13, Anthony 11, Grimm 13.

EVENT No. 7.—Same again: Gamble 10, Dando 15, Smith 6, Hub 14, Cherry 13, Hutchings 14, See 11, North 10, Harry 13, Goodman 13, Partington 14, Forrester 11, Raymond 13, Richardson 15 Pragoff 13, McLaughlin 9, Grube 10, Swan 12, Half Breed 8, Lockwood 11, Grimm 12, Devoe 12, Grimes 13, Murphy 10, Thomas 12, Woodworth 11, Anthony 14.

EVENT No. 8.—The same thing once more: Hub 13, Gamble 12, Peterman 15 Cherry 14, Hutchihgs 14, Partington 14, North 14, Costello 11, Harry 13, Raymond 12, Richardson 14, Dando 14, McLaughlin 6, Goodman 10, Pragoff 11, Grimm 14, See 11, Murphy 12, Devoe 14, Swan 13, Volland 9, Woodworth 13, Half Breed 11, Budd 13, Meaders 14, Hill 15, Anthony 10.

FOURTH DAY

Several sweepstake events were shot on the last day, but the event of the day and the only one that attracted especial attention was the 50-bird race, $5 entrance, seven moneys and three merchandise prizes. The scores in this event were as given below:

Van Dyke	0111111111	1111111111	1111001111	1111011111	1111111110—45
Waddell	1111101110	1111101111	0111001111	0111111110	0111111011—35
Lindeman	1111011111	1111101111	1111011111	1111111111	1111111110—46
Aikire	1011111111	1111111111	0111001111	0111111110	1111111100—42
Upson	1111111111	1111111111	1110011111	1110111111	1111111110—46
Pike	1010111101	1110111111	1001001111	1101101011	1011011110—36
Heikes	1111111111	1111111111	1110011111	1111111111	1111110011—46
Elliott	0010111111	1111111111	1110111111	0111101101	1011110111—41
Hill	1111101111	1111111111	1111111111	1111011101	1111111110—46
Fulford	1011111011	1111111111	1111111111	1111111111	1111111110—48
Bartlett	0111111111	1111111111	1111000011	1010101111	1111111110—41
Hoffman	1111111111	1111111111	1111110111	0101011011	1001011010—30
Budd	1110111110	1101111111	1111011111	1111111111	1111111111—46
Anthony	1110111111	0110111011	1111011000	1110110111	1101111010—37
Glover	1111101111	0111011111	1111011111	1111111111	1111111111—46
Devoe	0111110111	0111011111	1111001010	1101010110	1110011111—35
Red Wing	1111111111	1111111111	1111111110	1110110101	1101111011—44
Half Breed	0101001100	1111111111	1111001111	1110111111	1111111110—40
Merrill	1001111111	1111111111	1101111111	1111111111	1111111111—47
Jones	1111111111	1111111111	1101101010	1111111101	1111111111—45
Peterman	0111111111	1111111110	1111111011	1111011011	1111110110—43
Bob White	1111011110	1111111110	1111101111	1111111111	1111011111—45
Harry	0111101111	1111011110	1111001111	1101111111	1111111110—42
Gamble	1111101111	1111111100	1111111111	1111111111	1011111111—47
Swan	1111111111	1111111101	1011111111	1111111111	1101111111—47
Hub	1111111111	1111101000	1110111111	1111011111	0001111100—39
Murphy	1101111111	0110111111	1110000101	0111101111	1111011110—38
Ralph Trimble—	1111111111	1111111111	1100111111	1111111111	1111111111—48

Winners—Fulford, Le Roy and Ralph Trimhle, first; Merrill, Gamhle and Swan, second; Lindeman, Hill, Upson, Heikes and Budd, third. All other ties divided as per conditions governing the contest.

SOUTHPORT GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

SOUTHPORT, IND.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The seventh annual tournament of the Southport Gun Club was a success throughout, and the great number of amateur shooters in attendance were well pleased. The traps worked perfectly; there was hardly a moment's delay or a balk during the meet. The aim of the club seemed to be to entertain its guests with a model tournament, and it was the general opinion that it succeeded well. There were few mistakes and dropping for place was not indulged in by anyone.

The feature of the tournament was the good and impartial judgment of the referee. His decisions were quick and unquestionably right at all times. A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Samuel Miles for his excellent services. The tournament opened at 9 o'clock on the morning of April 21. Those present used guns and ammunition as given below:

	Gun	Shell	Powder
Raymond	Winchester	Leader	Am. Wood
Partington	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Lockwood	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Thompson	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	E. C.
Elwood	Francotte	U. M. C.	E. C.
Dando	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Schultze
Jac Art	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Troisdorf
Grube	Parker	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Robinson	Parker	U. M. C.	E. C.
Taylor	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Troisdorf
Smith	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Voris	Parker	U. M. C.	E. C.
Elliott	Burgess	U. M. C.	E. C.
Luse	Winchester	Leader	E. C.
Perry	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	S. S.
Jacksnipe	Parker	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Levenguth	Francotte	U. M. C.	E. C.
Button	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	E. C.
Orme	Ithaca	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Polster	Parker	U. M. C.	Schultze
Comstock	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Martin	L. C. Smith	Blue Rival	Black
Haslin	Parker	U. M. C.	E. C.
Stein	Parker	U. M. C.	E. C.
T. A. Gentle	Parker	U. M. C.	Du Pont
S. Todd	Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
White	Parker	U. M. C.	S. S.
Tucker	Parker	U. M. C.	E. C.
Scott	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Pard	Parker	U. M. C.	F. C.
Shott	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Marott	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont
Humphrey	L. C. Smith	Blue Rival	Black
Trout	L. C. Smith	U. M. C.	Du Pont

The scores made follow:

EVENT No. 1.—10 targets, $ entrance: Raymond 9, Partington 8, Lockwood 9, Thompson 10, Elwood 9, Dando 10, Jac Art 10, Grube 9, Robinson 9, Taylor 7, Button 3, Voris 8, Elliott 8, White 10, Orme 6, Parry 7, Jacksnipe 8, Livenguth 6, Smith 10.

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Thompson 13, Dando 12, Jac Art 14, White 10, Smith 11, Raymond 14, Partington 14, Lockwood 15, Elliott 11, Grube 14, Robinson 14, Taylor 15, Voris 11, Jacksnipe 13, Livenguth 14, Orme 15, Parry 7, Elwood 14.

EVENT No. 3.—20 targets, $2 50 entrance:

Lockwood 11111111111011111111—19	Jac Art 11111111111111111110—19
Taylor 11011111111111011111—18	Smith 11100111111110101010—15
Gruhe 10111111111111111111—19	Jacksnipe 11111111010111000000—14
Raymoud 11111111110101010100—15	Livenguth 11001101111111111111—17
Partington— 11111111111110110011—17	White 10111010111111111111—17
Thompson— 11110111111111111111—19	Voris 10110111011100111001—13
Elwood 11111111 01011111111—18	Elliott 01101011011111111101—15
Dando 11110101111111111111—18	Polster 11111101111111111111—19
	Button 00010111110011111111—14
	Comstock 11001111110111111111—17

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Lockwood 14, Gruhe 15, Thompsou 10, Jac Art 9, Polster 12, Orme 9, Raymond 13, Partington 10, Elwood 13, Dando 15, Rohinson 10, Martin 10; Smith 13, Jacksnipe 10, Haslin 9, Livenguth 9, Stein 9, Taylor 15, Luse 12, Humphrey 12, Elliott 10, Marott 12, Buttons 10.

EVENT No. 5.—20 targets, $2 50 entrance, $50 guaranteed by the club.

Gruhe 10111111101111111111—18	Elliott 11110111011111101100—15
Dando 11111101010011011111—15	Robinson 11111011011111111110—17
Taylor 11111111111111111111—20	Smith 10110011011111111111—16
Raymond 01111111111111111111—19	Jacksulpe 01110110111111011111—16
Partington— 01111111111111111111—19	Livenguth 10101001101111101111—13
Lockwood 01111101101111011111—16	Polster 11100111003110111111—14
Thompson— 10111111101111111111—18	Orme 11101011011111071111—16
Elwood 10111111111111111111—19	White 10111111110011111111—17
Martin 11101111011111111111—18	Humphrey— 11111111111111101111—19
Jac Art 10110110101 01011111—15	Marott 11110100111110111110—15
	Comstock 11111111111111111111—20

In this event Mr. Comstock entered against some high scores, there being four with 19 and one with 20 to tie or beat, and when he made a straight he was roundly applauded. He is a popular shooter and everyone was pleased to see him shooting in such fine form. The silver cup that was given for highest average on the first day was donated to the club by him.

EVENT No. 6.—10 targets, entrance $1: Taylor 9, Comstock 9, Polster 9, Perry 8, Voris 6, Elliott 7, Raymond 9, Partington 7, Lockwood 9, Thompson 8, Elwood 9, Dando 9, Jac Art 7, Grasou 6, Smith 9, Jacksnipe 7, Livenguth 9, Trout 6, White 8.

EVENT No. 7.—15 targets, $2 entrance: Stein 9, Partington 11, Lockwood 15, Thompson 14, Elwood 13, Art 10, Gruhe 15, Rohinson 13, Smith 12, Jacksnipe 12, Taylor 15, Comstock 10, Elliott 13, Haslin 10, Parington 14, Grube 19, Raymoud 20, Partington 15, Elliott 11, Elwood 19, Martin 15, Jac Art 14, Polster 13, Jacksnipe 12, Livenguth 16, Dando 18, Humphrey 14, Luse 13, Marott 13.

EVENT No. 9.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Jac Art 10, Raymond 7, Partington 8, Lockwood 9, Thompson 10, Elwood 8, Dando 10, Grube 8, Robinson 6, Smith 6, Livenguth 8, Perry 8, Voris 8, Comstock 8, Button 8 Polster 10, Elliott 9, Stein 7, Marott 7, Taylor 9, White 7, Trout 9, Martin 8.

EVENT No. 10.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Thompson 12, Dando 12, Jac Art 10, Polster 13, Raymond 13, Partington 11, Lockwood 13, Elwood 14, Comstock 8, Grube 13, Robinson 8, Button 8, Smith 11, Jacksnipe 10, Livenguth 10, Haslin 9, White 10, Humphrey 13, Elliott 12, Taylor 11, Ormc 11, Wesliug 8, Martiu 11.

First average was won by the amateur champion of Indiana, Mr. Alvey Grube, with a score of 139 out of 150. Mr. Ed. Taylor and Charles Lockwood tied for second place with a score of 138 out of 150. Mr. Taylor was representing the new Troisdorf powder and gave a splendid exhibition of its Blue Rock breaking qualities. After the events of the program had been shot, some extras were listed, including some double target shooting.

SECOND DAY

The day opened with a fair attendance, hut the wind began blowing and the indications were not favorable for good target shooting. About noon, however, the wind quieted down and it was very warm.

EVENT No. 1.—10 singles, $1 entrance: Grube 10, Pard 9, Lockwood 8, Raymond 9, Dando 8, Partington 9, Thompson 10, Elwood 9, Tucker 5 White 3, Jac Art 9.

EVENT No. 2.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance: Gruhe 12, Thompson 14, Pard 13, Lockwood 15, Raymond 15, Dando 14, Partington 14, Elwood 14, White 10, Tucker 12.

EVENT No. 3.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance: Lockwood 16, Raymon 19, Grube 20, Pard 19, Dando 18, Partington 19, Thompson 18, Elwood 18, White 17.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Grube 12, Pard 11, Lockwood 13, Raymond 15, Dando 14, Partington 14, Elwood 15, Polster 14,

EVENT No. 5.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance, $50 guaranteed by the club, and merchandise prizes added.

Raymond	11111011111111111111-19	White	11011011111111101111-17
Partington	11111010100111111101-14	Jac Art	00111011010111011110-13
Elwood	11111111111111011111-19	Smith	11110010111101001001-12
Grube	11111101111111111111-19	Todd	10010111000101110111-12
Pard	11100001111111111111-16	Scot	11111000110111000001-11
Lockwood	11011111111111101110-17	Tack	10111111111011110111-17
Dando	11011111 11111111111-18	Jumbo	11111011111111111111-19
Thompson	10111011111111101111-17	Shot	11111101010101111111-16
Polster	11111111111111111111-20	Orme	11110110111111000111-16

EVENT No. 6.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Polster 8, Pard 8, Lockwood 9, Raymond 10, Dando 8, Partington 8, Thompson 9, Elwood 7, Tucker 5, Gruhe 10, Shot 7, Scott 6, White 7.

EVENT No. 7.—15 targets, $2 entrance: Grube 14, Raymond 12, Pard 12, Lockwood 13, Jumbo 11, Dando 14, Partington 14, Thompson 14, Elwood 12, Tack 10, Scot 8, Tucker 10, Polster 11, Shot 13.

EVENT No. 8.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance, $10 added by the Limited Gun Club of Indianapolis: Gruhe 19, Daudo 18, Partington 17, Thompson 19, Raymond 17, Lockwood 19, Elwood 17, Jumbo 16, Polster 16, White 14, Shot 14, Tack 16.

EVENT No. 9.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Dando 8, Raymond 10, Gruhe 8, Thompson 10, Lockwood 8, Shot 7, Scot 3, Partington 9, Elwood 10, Polster 7, Tucker 7, Jumbo 8, Tack 9.

EVENT No. 10.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Dando 14, Raymond 13, Thompson 13, Elwood 14, Pard 12, Gruhe 12, Lockwood 14, Partington 13 Polster 13, Shot 9, Tucker 10, Jumbo 14, Tack 9.

First average was won by Raymond of Dayton, O., with a score of 139 out of 150. Thompson was second with a score of 138 out of 150.

First general average was won by Mr. Alvey Grube with 91⅘ per cent. Raymond won second with 90⅕ per cent. Lockwood and Elwood tied for third place with 90 per cent., and Thompson won fourth with 89⅘ per cent.

After the program was completed there were a number of extra events shot, including expert and double target shooting. A large number of chairs, sufficient to seat everyone, was furnished the club by the township trustee, Mr. Chris Gruhe. [illegible] able feature, for there are too many tournaments at which shooters must choose between hard benches or standing room, much credit cannot be accorded Mr. Gruhe and the club for the accommodation. There was a large attendance of visitors including many ladies. It was decided to give another tournament in the Fall, date to be announced later, and to add to it a day's shooting.

W. M.

PARTICIPANTS IN THE DU PONT TOURNAMENT AT CINCINNATI, O., MAY, 1895

THE INTERSTATE ASSOCIATION'S WILMINGTON TOURNAMENT

WILMINOTON, N. C.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—While there is a great amount of pleasure and recreation in a trap shooting tournament at any time of the year, the wonderful climate and proverbial hospitality of the South add greatly to the enjoyment of such an affair. It is a pleasure to leave the shooting ground and then return-[illegible] be other diversions spring up the moment the [illegible] is over, and it can be truly said that for downright sport and enjoyment, all one has to do is to accept the courtesies extended by the sportsmen of the "Sunny South." The methods of entertaining are varied, but is this not the place where we secured that pertinent and ever-welcome suggestion, "What did the Governor of North Carolina say to the Governor of South Carolina?" The reader can guess the rest.

The tournament of the Interstate Association which was held at Wilmington, N. C., on May 9 and 10, under the auspices of the Eastern Dog and Game Protective Association, was no exception to the rule, for the members of the local organization were untiring in their efforts to please and entertain visiting sportsmen. The number of entries in the different events was not large, but this was due to a combination of circumstances, the principal one of which was the Cincinnati tournament held on the same date. Cincinnati, with its large amount of added money and cheap railroad rates, attracted several shooters who would have otherwise put in an appearance here. It must also be borne in mind that trap shooting in the South is not so far advanced as it is in the North, and active gun clubs are few and far between; consequently when some enterprising organization decides to hold a tournament it does not have the hundreds of gun clubs to draw entries from that Northern tournaments have. The tourney, however, brought Wilmington into prominence with all shooters throughout the South, as it was extensively advertised, and there was a general desire that the shoot would be in all respects a success. Only a short time ago it would have seemed impossible to have held a tournament here, but trap shooting has made such rapid progress in quality and popularity in and about this city during the last year, that nobody is even surprised now at such an event taking place in this vicinity. The Wilmington boys, from the go, worked like beavers, and an unusual interest was manifested in the tournament. The Eastern Dog and Game Protective Association put forward every possible effort to make the shoot a success, and inasmuch as it has been only five months since they made their initial bow before the trap shooting world, there was a fairly representative entry list, including not only all the good shooters from this vicinity, but some from a distance. The Greensboro Gun Club of Greensboro, N. C., was well and ably represented by Messrs. E. L. Gilmer and J. L. Fonda; Tarboro, N. C., sent a new beginner at the traps in the person of Mr. H. C. Bridgers. A glance at the scores will show that he rendered a good account of himself. Others who came from a distance were Mr. Thomas of Bridgeport, Conn., representing the Union Metallic Cartridge Co., Messrs. Edward Banks and August Schmidt of New York City, and Mr. H. C. Collins, of Baltimore, Md. Among the local shooters were Messrs. Green, Pritchard, Williams, Latimer, Wise, Lodor, Sanders, McEachern, Heinsberger and Grant.

Everything in connection with the tournament went off in first-class style. There was not a thing to complain about except the fact of the local club's men shooting below their average. President H. McL. Green and Secretary L. L. Pritchard lent valuable service toward making the tournament a success. Mr. Green ably assisted Manager Elmer E. Shauer by taking charge of the refereeing. Under his care refereeing ran along smoothly, which fact was not a little responsible for the satisfaction expressed by shooters and spectators. The shooting grounds of the Wilmington club are at Hilton Park, which is very easy of access by the electric street railway. The arraugement of the grounds is first-class. A handsome grand stand and club house afford ample shelter for both shooters and spectators. The traps face northeast and the background is among the best.

Manager Shaner made a good display, and on every hand could be seen cards announcing that E. C. powder was the standard nitro powder of America, and that 80,000 pounds of hard grain Schultze powder was received in one batch. The Union Metallic Cartridge Company and the Winchester Repeating Arms Company's shells were also well advertised, as were Messrs. Tatham & Bros. and the Le Roy Shot and Lead Works' goods. The S. S. Powder Co. and the Cleveland Target Co. were also well taken care of.

The opening day saw between 300 and 400 spectators on the grounds, among which were many ladies. This large gathering of spectators were pleased and satisfied in all respects. Such work at the traps was never seen in Wilmington before, and there was excitement at times, because of the good quality of the shooting. The out of town men showed up to perfection and gave Wilmington rather the worst of it on the first day, but the strangers were cheered for their good points as well as the locals. Never was there a more unbiased crowd at any tournament.

The second day of the tourney exceeded the first not only in the brilliancy of the shooting, but in the number of shooters and spectators present. The weather conditions were perfect and a more propitious day for trap shooting could not have been wished for. There was a slight wind blowing across the grounds from the southwest, which increased materially as the day wore on, but it did not reach sufficient velocity to interfere with the shooting, except during the shooting of event seven. The scores follow:

EVENT No. 1.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance. $5 added.

Fonda.....0111001100000011—7	Bridgers.....110111110111000—10
Schmidt.....010011111110111—11	Edwards.....110011011010001—8
U. M. C. Thomas 111111111111111—15	Heinsberger.....010011110011100—8
Gilmer.....111111101101111—13

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added: Expert—Thomas 11. Amateurs—Fonda 9, Schmidt 10, Gilmer 8, Edwards 10, Bridgers 7, Beery 9.

EVENT No. 3.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added, four moneys: Expert—Thomas 9. Amateurs—Fonda 13, Schmidt 11, Gilmer 10, Edwards 5, Bridgers 11, Beery 10.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added: Experts—Fonda 11, Thomas 9. Amateurs—Schmidt 9, Gilmer 9, Edwards 10, Bridgers 12, Beery 9. Pritchard 13.

EVENT No. 5.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added: Experts—Fonda 7, Pritchard 4. Amateurs—Schmidt 14, Thomas 8, Gilmer 9, Bridgers 11, Edwards 10, Beery 14.

EVENT No. 6.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added.

Experts—	Gilmer.....111110111111010-12
Schmidt.....101111110110101-11	Bridgers.....010111011011011-10
Beery.....010110101011110—9	Edwards.....111110101111010-11
Amateurs—	Latimer.....001000011011111—8
Fonda.....110100111111011-11	Wise.....111001011011111 11
Thomas.....111011110111111-13	Lodor.....001000011001100—5

EVENT No. 7.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added, four moneys: Experts—Thomas 7, Schmidt 3. Amateurs—Fonda 9, Gilmer 13, Edwards 8, Bridgers 9, Grant 11, Beery 6, Wise 9, Sanders 10, Latimer 5, McEacbern 11, Heinsberger 11.

EVENT No 8.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, 5 added: Expert—Gilmer 6. Amateurs—Schmidt 7, Thomas 13, Edwards 8, Latimer 8, Bridgers 12, Wise 10, Grant 8, Sanders 11. Fonda 10, McEacbern 7.

EVENT No. 9.—Same as preceding: Expert—Thomas 4. Amateurs—Fonda 12, Schmidt 7, Gilmer 9, Edwards 9, Wise 8, Grant 11, Bridgers 5, McEachern 11, Latimer 8, Heinsberger 10.

EVENT No. 10—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added: Expert—Fonda 8 Amateurs—Schmidt 9, Thomas 12, Gilmer 10, Edwards 7, Wise 8, Grant 14, Bridgers 6, McEachern 8, Latimer 8, Heinsberger 11.

EXTRA No. 1.—15 targets, $1 entrance: Fonda 9, Edwards 11, Thomas 14, Schmidt 8, Bridgers 13, Gilmer 11.

EXTRA No. 2.—10 targets, entrance $1: Edwards 1, Thomas 5, Fonda 6, Gilmer 6, Latimer 4, Wise 8, Sanders 7, Bridgers 8, Beery 6, Pritchard 6, Heinsberger 7.

EXTRA No. 3.—10 targets, entrance $1: Fonda 6, Latimer 3, Wise 6, Grant 7, Thomas 7, Schmidt 4, McEachern 7, Edwards 5, Bridgers 8, Gilmer 6, Heinsberger 6, Berry 3.

EXTRA No. 4.—10 targets, entrance $1.

Wise.....1010111001—6	Thomas.....0011111101—7
Pritchard.....0011100010—4	Fonda.....1110011100—6
Schmidt.....1010101000—5	Stick.....0111111111—9
Sanders.....1111101000—6	Bridgers.....0111110111—8
Latimer.....1100001101—5	Gilmer.....1001101011—6
Grant.....1101010111—7	Sanders.....1111010110—7
McEachern.....0110000011—4	Heinsberger.....1101001010—5

EXTRA No. 5.—10 targets, entrance $1: Grant 6, Schmidt 6, Thomas 6, McEachern 3, Fonda 7, Wise 4, Stick 8, Bridgers 2, Gilmer 6, Latimer 5.

EXTRA No. 6.—10 targets, entrance $1: Grant 5, Schmidt 3, Bridgers 6, Latimer 3, Thomas 7, Fonda 5, Stick 7, Wise 5, McEachern 8, Gilmer 6, Sanders 4.

EXTRA No. 7.—10 targets, entrance $1: Wise 6, Bridgers 7, Grant 9, Latimer 7, Fonda 7, McEachern 3. Thomas 5, Schmidt 6, Gilmer 4, Stick 7.

EXTRA No. [illegible] $1: Fonda 9, Stick 3, McEachern [illegible] ridgers 9, Thomas 6, Gilmer 6,

[illegible] D DAY

[illegible] trance, $5 added, four moneys.

[illegible]	Bridgers.....0111100011110110—9
[illegible]	Schmidt.....1110110101111001-10
Fonda.....1011110100111111-11	Sanders.....0111110011011000—9
Gilmer.....0111100111111000—9	Edwards.....1111110011000010—9

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added, four moneys: Experts—Grant 5, Thomas 6, Fonda 14. Amateurs—Gilmer 10, Bridgers 9, Rienzi 10, Edwards 8, Pritchard 5, Sanders 9.

EVENT No. 3.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added, four moneys: Expert—Fonda 10. Amateurs—Graut 11, Thomas 10, Gilmer 10, Bridgers 13, Rienzi 13, Edwards 9, Heinsberger 9, Latimer 12.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added: Experts—Bridgers 6, Rienzi 10, Fonda 9 Amateurs—Thomas 12, Gilmer 10, Pickett 10, Grant 9, Edwards 5, Latimer 7, Wise 9, Heinsberger 10.

EVENT No. 5.—Same as before: Experts—Thomas 10, Fonda 7, Rienzi 7. Amateurs—Gilmer 10, Bridgers 13, Wise 6, Grant 8, Pickett 8, Latimer 7, Stick 6, Stanley 7, Beery 10.

EVENT No. 6.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added.

Experts—	Green.....1100101111011010— 9
Bridgers.....0110011100110000— 7	Wise.....1100011000010001— 6
Fonda.....0111001010111110— 9	Heinsberger...1111010111110111—12
Rienzi.....1111001110001010— 9	McEacbern....1001011010111111—10
Thomas.....0101001011111101— 9	Stanley .....1100010111010001— 8
Amateurs—	Stick.....1000011011010001— 7
Grant.....1101011111111011—12	Latimer.....1101111111101100—11
Pickett.....0000101011111111— 9	Beery.....0001111101100010— 8
Gilmer.....0100111010111111—10	Lodor.....0011111010001110— 8

EVENT No. 7.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added, four moneys: Experts—Thomas 1, Fonda 6, Rienzi 7, Grant 7. Amateurs—Rastus 7, Bridgers 9, Stick 5, McEachern 9, Wise 6, Green 8, Latimer 9.

EVENT No. 8.—Same as before: Experts—Bridgers 9, Latimer 5, Fonda 9, Rienzi 9, Grant 4, McEachern 7. Amateurs—Thomas 11, Pickett 11, Rastus 7, Wise 10, Denuis 5, Stanley 8, Green 3, Beery 7.

EVENT No. 9.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added: Experts—Bridgers 12, Fonda 6, Rienzi 10, Thomas 3, Pickett 7. Amateurs—Rastus 9, Grant 10, McEachern 7, Latimer 11, Dennis 7, Cuckoo 8, Stanley 8, Split Moou 9.

EVENT No. 10.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $5 added.

Experts—	Spot.....0011100100111110—8
Bridgers.....1111010111001111-11	Long.....1011100011100000—8
Rienzi.....1001100010110107	Moore.....0011111111111101-12
Amateurs—	Cuckoo.....0110010011001111—8
Thomas.....1111010111111001-11	Grant.....1000101111111100—9
Fonda.....0001111111111011-11	Stick.....1101110011111100-10
Rastus.....1001111101111011 11	Stanley.....0010110111100011—9

EXTRA No. 1.—10 targets, entrance $1: Bridgers 7, Thomas 7, Fonda 6, Grant 6, Stick 6, Wise 5, Latimer 3. Gilmer 6, McEacheru 4, Rienzi 5, Stanley 8, Green 5.

EXTRA No. 2 —10 targets, entrance $1: Thomas 7, Fonda 8, Stick 5, Wise 7, Grant 6, Bridgers 7, McEachern 6, Rienzi 6, Stanley 5, Gilmer 5, Latimer 6, Beery 6, Green 4.

EXTRA No. 3.—Same as preceding: Rienzi 6, Fonda 9, Bridgers 8, Pickett 7, Grant 7, Rastus 7, Thomas 8, Bernard 3, Stick 7, McEachern 6, Latimer 7, Cuckoo 5, Stanley 1.

EXTRA No. 4.—10 targets, entrance $1: Fonda 6, Bridgers 6, Rienzi 6, Grant 6, Pickett 9, Stick 6, Thomas 5, Latimer 5, McEachern 5, Cuckoo 4, Rastus 4, Williams 5, Stanley 2.

EXTRA No. 5.—Same as preceding.

Grant.....1010101110—6	Thomas.....1110100110—6
Fonda.....1111110111—9	Bernard.....0110100100—4
Bridgers.....1100011011—6	Latimer.....1000111111—7
Rienzi.....1011100101—6	Rastus.....0100110000—3
Stick.....1101001011—6	Heinsberger.....1011110111—8
Pickett.....1010011111—7	Green.....1100101001—5
McEachern.....1011111000—6	Wise.....0101110010—5

EXTRA No. 6.—10 targets, entrance $1: McEacbern 7, Grant 6, Fonda 7, Bridgers 7, Pickett 4, Williams 4, Wise 6, Stick 6, Latimer 5, Thomas 5, Heinsberger 8, Rienzi 9.

EXTRA No. 7.—Another of the same: Pickett 5, Fonda 8, McEachern 5, Grant 6, Bridgers 8, Rienzi 10, Pritchard 6, Latimer 7, Stick 6, Thomas 7.

EXTRA No. 8.—Same thing: Bridgers 9, Rienzi 8, McEachern 7, Fonda 5, Pickett 3, Stick 4, Latimer 6, Heinsberger 8, Stanley 5, Grant 6, Thomas 9.

EXTRA No. 9.—Same: Bridgers 7, Rienzi 7, Fonda 9, Stick 5, Pickett 2, McEachern 7, Heinsberger 7, Latimer 4, Thomas 9.

CAROLINIAN.

THE GOSHEN GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

GOSHEN, IND.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The shooting tournament given by the Goshen Gun Club on April 23, 24 and 25 was the most successful shoot ever given in Northern Indiana. The program was elaborate and the prizes valuable, and for three full days the Spring atmosphere over the racing park was filled with shattered Blue Rocks and maugled sparrows. There were in all thirty-six events, any one of which was worth fighting for, but the one in which the greatest interest centered was the medal contest for the championship of Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan. In this event there were twenty-four entries, 25 Blue Rocks per man. The wind was blowing a gale of from 50 to 60 miles an hour, and it was about as easy to kill a bird as it is to wring the truth from a fisherman, yet Le Roy Miles of Milford, Indiana, when the score was cast up, had 19 out of 25 to his credit and was awarded the gold medal which for the past year has been worn by George Cline of Goshen.

The attendance was large each day both in point of shooters and spectators, and the club cleared expenses and had a few dollars left to throw at birds. The records for English sparrow shooting were good. There were 1,500 birds liberated from the traps and but few evaded the shot of the marksmen. Among those to bear away prizes in the sparrow events were Dr. Leeman and Joseph Golden, Elkhart, Indiana; McAllen of New York, and Skinner of Chicago. The club will reorganize in a few days and enter the state league with the intention of giving a great sparrow shoot here about the middle of July. The scores follow.

EVENT No. 1.—10 single Blue Rocks: Stacy 8, G. Kolb 10, Bungay 6, Skinner 6, Beckner 4, Loyd Bitner 4, Miles 6, Moon 6, Campfield 4, Douglass 10, Witt 8, Cline 8, Jones 8, McAllen 9.

EVENT No. 2.—10 singles per man: Skinner 8, Geo. Kolb 9, Witt 8, Beckner 8, Bungay 7, Miles 7, Douglass 6, Moon 5, Campfield 4, Stacy 7, Cline 5, Jones 6, McAllen 8.

EVENT No. 3.—15 Blue Rocks: Geo. Kolb 13, Miles 7, Douglass 9, Moon 10, Beckner 10, Campfield 7, Skinner 11, Witt 11, Bittner 11, Stacy 10, Buugay 9, Snobarger 7, Jones 12, McAllen 13.

EVENT No. 4.—Sparrows, miss and out: Skinner 9, Kolb 9, Witt 7, Miles 6, Douglass 3, Moon 3. Skinner and Kolb divided first money.

EVENT No. 5.—15 Blue Rocks: Geo. Kolb 13, Miles 7, Skinner 11, Beckner 9, Douglass 13, Moon 5, Witt 11, Stacy 10, Bungay 9, Snobarger 7, Jones 10, Findeke 11.

EVENT No. 6.—Merchandise shoot, 5 singles and 5 pairs: Skinner 7, Geo. Kolb 9, Douglass 9, Moon 5, Campfield 5, Witt 8, Bungay 8, Miles 10, Braun 8, Bittner 8, Stacy 9, Cline 10, Beckner 7, H. Kolb 6, C. Kolb 8.

EVENT No. 7.—5 sparrows: Skinner 3, Moon 3, Campfield 3, G. Kolb 3, Douglass 3, Stamatz 3.

EVENT No. 8.—10 Blue Rocks: Skinner 7, Geo. Kolb 9, Miles 9, Moon 7, Douglass 8, Campfield 7, Jones 7, Bungay 8, Snobarger 9, Findeke 6, McAllen 8, Stacy 7, Beckner 7, H. Kolb 9, Cline 7.

EVENT No. 9.—10 Blue Rocks: Skinner 9. H. Kolb 8, G. Kolb 10, Miles 8, Cline 8, Bungay 7, Jones 7, Moon 7, McAllen 9.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—5 sparrows per man: G. Cline 3, L. Kopp 2, W. Skinner 4, G. Kolb 3, Stacy 3, Beckner 0, Bussel 4, Harding 2, Miles 4.

EVENT No. 2.—10 sparrows each man:

Skinner.....2211111001—8	Neff.....0121020111—7
G. Kolb.....0120100011—5	Bussel.....2100212120—7
Stacy.....1101010110—6	Beckner.....0200021102—5
Cline.....1120101110—7	Stacy.....1100202012—6
Kopp.....0122200210—6	H. Kolb.....1021112002—7
Miles.....2000122122—7	Witt.....2212002120—7

EVENT No. 3.—5 sparrows: Kolb 2, Miles 5, Skinner 4, Kopp 5, Stacy 3, Harding 3, Beckner 1, Cline 2, Snobarger 4.

EVENT No. 4.—7 sparrows: Skinner 7, Miles 4, Kopp 4, Snobarger 2, Cline 3, Stacy 6, Kolb 5.

EVENT No. 5.—5 single sparrows: Kolb 3, Miles 4, Cline 2, Stacy 2, Snobarger 2, Skinner 5, Witt 5, Kolb 2.

EVENT No. 6.—5 sparrows: Miles 4, Cline 1, Turner 2, Stacy 5, Brown 1, Kopp 3, Davy 2, Skinner 4, G. Kolb 5, Stametz 3, Witt 2.

EVENT No. 7.—5 sparrows: Witt 1, Skinner 2, G. Kolb 2, Miles 3, Turner 3, Neff 0, Stacy 2, Davy 3, Manning 4, Braun 4, Bussel 4, Kopp 4, Cline 3, H. Kolb 3, C. Kolb 1.

EVENT No. 8.—Medal shoot, 25 single targets per man.

Davy.....1111101011 1000011111 10000—15
Geo. Kolb.....1110111110 0101010111 01011—17
Dr. Turner.....1111011101 1011110110 10101—18
Cline.....1100111001 1110101100 01101—15
Miles.....1101111101 0011101111 11110—19
S. Skinner.....1010110110 1010101111 01111—17
C. Kolb.....0011111001 1111011111 00101—17
Bussel.....1101101010 0101111111 11100—17
H. Kolb.....1101010111 1111011111 10100—18
Witt.....1110101001 0111101111 11001—17
Braun.....0000001111 1011011000 01010—11
Neff.....0010000100 1010110100 11101—11
Stacy.....0111101100 1010101111 10110—16
Kopp.....0001000000 0101111110 01101—11
Manning.....0011001100 1110010011 00010—11
Fledeke.....0000000111 1101111000 11100—12
Jones.....1011001101 0011111100 11100—15
Brown.....1111011010 1100110101 01100—15
Bungay.....0011101001 1111100111 01111—17
Stametz.....1110100000 0110001010 11100—11
Harris.....1101001110 1101100011 01010—14
Collins.....1110111010 1010010101 10100—14
McAllen.....0101010110 1000010000 01011—10

EVENT No. 9.—8 sparrows: G. Kolb 5, Kopp 6, Stacy 5, Turner 6, Skinner 8, Miles 6, Goldman 6, C. Kolb 1, Fiedeke 4, H. Kolb 6, Stametz 2, Witt 8, Cline 4, Davy 3, Collins 3, McAllen 4.

EVENT No. 10—5 sparrows: Skinner 2, Geo. Kolb 3, H. Kolb 3, Stacy 2, Turner 1, Fiedeke 1, Goldman 4, C. Kolb 4, Miles 2, Kopp 1, Stametz 4, Bungay 2, Davy 2, Snobarger 3, Cline 4, Witt 5, Collius 4, McAllen 4.

EVENT No. 11—7 sparrows: Jones 6, McAllen 4, Skinner 3, G. Kolb 6, Kopp 4, H. Kolb 4, Stacy 3, Bungay 7, Snobarger 6, Goldman 2, Stametz 5, Turner 6, Witt 6, Cline 4, Fiedeke 3, C. Kolb 3.

THIRD DAY

EVENT No. 1.—5 single Blue Rocks: G. Kolb 5, Skinner 4, A. Witt 3, J. Cline 5, W. Miller 4, Al. Bussel 3, H. Kolb 4, R. Rule 3, R. Bungay 4.

EVENT No. 2.—10 single Blue Rocks: Skinner 10, Witt 7, Cline 7, Miller 4, G. Kolb 10, A. Bussel 6, H. Kolb 8, R. Rule 7, T. Bungay 7.

EVENT No. 3.—15 single Blue Rocks.

Cline.....101110101110111-11	A. Bussel.....110111111010110-11
G. Kolb.....111111110111111-14	H. Kolb.....101001111111011-11
W. Skinner.....111111111011111-14	R. Rule.....011101111001111-11
A. Witt.....011101111101111-12	F. Bungay.....111011101111100-11
W. Miller.....010111001100011—8

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles, entrance $1.50: G. Kolb 12, Kline 9, Skinner 14, Miller 9, Witt 8, Bussel 11, H. Kolb 10, Bungay 9.

EVENT No. 5.—Miss and out at targets: Skinner won on 5 birds.

EVENT No. 6.—10 single targets: Cline 8, G. Kolb 7, Skinner 8, H. Witt 9, Miller 8, Bitner 5, Douglass 7, Almon 7.

EVENT No. 7.—5 singles and 5 pairs: G. Kolb 11, Cline 9, Miller 8, Skinner 9, Witt 9, Almon 8, Douglass 8.

EVENT No. 8.—10 singles. unknown traps:

Skinner.....1111100011—7	Neff.....1000011111—6
Cline.....0100010111—5	Kopp.....0110100010—4
G. Kolb.....1110101111—8	Bussell.....0110011011—6
Miller.....1010111110—7	Witt.....1101101101—7

EVENT No. 9.—5 singles: Skinner 3, Noble 2, Kopp 4, Miller 3, Eastman 2, Cline 3, Bussel 4, Stametz 2.

EVENT No. 10.—10 singles: Cline 5, Kopp 5, Noble 4, Miller 6, Skinner 8, Bussel 8, Bitner 2, Stametz 3, G. Kolb 9, Witt 5, H. Kolb 3.

EVENT No. 11.—10 singles: G Kolb 7, Skinner 7, Cline 6, Kopp 7, Eastman 3, Stametz 3, Miller 4, H. Kolb 5, Pounder 5, Turner 3, Witt 4, Bussel 6, Neff 4, Bituer 5, Bungay 6.

EVENT No. 12.—15 singles, unkuown traps: G. Kolb 14, Skinner 12, Cline 12. Kopp 10, Stametz 5, Miller 6, H. Kolb 9, Pounder 11, Turner 13, Witt 12, Bussel 10.

J. M. GOWING, Secy.

TRAP AT PONTIAC

DETROIT, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed please find an account of the last shoot for the Gitsobla diamond medals, which was held at Pontiac, Mich., on April 26. The day was all that could be desired for target shooting. The grounds were very poor for high scores, being situated on a piece of low ground with a hill for a background. However, there was a good attendance of shooters and a large number of spectators. The shooting was spirited throughout, there being thirteen contesting teams.

The conditions for the medal contest are as follows: Three men to a team, 25 birds per man, the team winning them the first three times to become the owners of them. The first time they were shot for was at Mr. John Parker's tournament last August. At that time they were won by a Detroit team composed of Parker, Klein and Rennick, and although they have been shot for six times since, they have not been won by the same team twice until this shoot, when Parker, Klein and Kenuick won them again. The Detroit team No. 1, Pontiac teams Nos. 1 and 2, and the Old Reliable Gun Club shot at unknown angles, the rest of the teams shooting at known angles.

Mr. Oswald Von Lengerke, of Chicago, was referee and gave great satisfaction; not once was his decision questioned, and the verdict of all present was that Oswald is all right. Following are the scores:

DETROIT TEAM NO. 1

Parker	1100111110	1111110111	11111	—21
Klein	1111001111	1111011101	11111	—21
Rennick	1111111111	1111101111	11110	—23—65

OLD RELIABLE GUN CLUB

Avery	0111111101	1110111111	11100	—20
Walton	0010111111	1101100000	11111	—16
Marks	1001111011	1100011111	11101	—18—54

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 2

Gregory	0011001111	1011111101	11101	—18
Windiate	1001111010	1110010011	00001	—13
Giddings	1011011011	1010111111	11011	—19—50

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 1

Osman	1111110011	1101111111	11011	—21
Cutchler	1010000001	1111011111	10111	—16
North	1110100110	1111111111	01011	—19—56

MILFORD GUN CLUB'S TEAM

Wakeley	0111011001	1101101000	00010	—12
K. C. Yerkes	1110011111	1111111111	11011	—22
Loew	0000111111	1101111111	11100	—18—52

NORTHVILLE GUN CLUB'S TEAM NO. 1

Simmons	1111101111	1101111101	01110	—20
Hueston	1011101001	1110011111	01111	—18
W. G. Yerkes	1111111100	1000111111	10010	—17—55

PASTIME GUN CLUB TEAM, DETROIT

Wolfe	0111111111	1111011110	10111	—21
Buesser	1011111111	1100010011	11010	—17
Fox	1110111111	1111101111	10110	—21—59

DETROIT TEAM NO 2

Clay	1111010111	1110110111	11111	—21
Berghoefer	1101111111	1111010111	01111	—21
Ashlone	1000010011	1000110001	11001	—14—56

WINDSOR GUN CLUB'S TEAM

Cicotte	1110111111	1101011001	11111	—20
Purser	0111001101	0101111111	11011	—18
Donoldson	1000111011	1110111111	11111	—20—58

NORTHVILLE TEAM NO. 2

Hamilton	1111110111	1111110110	10011	—20
Green	1111000011	1110111111	11111	—20
Shaw	1101100011	1001111000	10010	—13—53

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 4

Brummitt	1101111111	1101110111	11101	—21
Van Buskirk	1111111110	1011101111	11111	—22
Webb	1111011100	0011010111	00110	—15—58

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 3

Stewart	0110101100	1111011111	01110	—17
Cooper	1111101111	1111111111	11111	—24
Terry	1110111111	0011111111	11111	—22—63

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 5

Weaver	1101111011	1110111110	11111	—21
T. Brodle	0101100011	0100101110	01010	—12
S. Brodie	0010101010	0011111011	01110	—14—47

J. K.

CLINTON ROD AND GUN CLUB

Ten events, two at live birds and eight at targets, were decided at the regular meeting of this club at New Dorp, Staten Island, N. Y., on May 7. Excellent scores were made. The principal event was the shooting for the gold badge of the club. Dr. Emil Schraeder had won it twice before and had only to win it at this shoot to own it. He lost it by one bird, Mr. Geo. J. Kingsland winning it on a straight score of 7. Following are the scores:

EVENT No. 1.—Club shoot at 7 live birds, handicap rises: Dr. Emil Schraeder, 28 yards, 6; Henry K. Williamson, 27 yards, 5; Thomas P. Longrief, 26 yards, 6; Edwin W. Schraeder, 26 yards, 4; George J. Kingsland, 26 yards, 7; Louis G. Wilson, 26 yards, 5; Samuel G. Porter, 27 yards, 6; Richard J. Williamson, 27 yards, 4; James O. Hendersou, 26 yards, 4; Andrew W. Barton, 27 yards, 4; David G. Schneider, 26 yards 3; Thomas P. Lee, 26 yards, 3; Richard D. Morgan, 26 yards, 2; William H. Smith, 26 yards, 2.

EVENT No. 2.—Handicap sweepstakes, 5 live birds: George J. Kingsland, 26 yards (allowed 1 bird), 5; Dr. Emil Schraeder, 28 yards (scratch), 4; David G. Schneider, 26 yards (allowed 2), 4; Thomas P. Lee, 26 yards (allowed 1), 5; Richard D. Morgan, 26 yards (allowed 1), 3; William H. Smith, 26 yards (allowed 2), 3; Thomas P. Longrief, 26 yards (allowed 1), 4; Samuel G. Porter, 27 yards (allowed 1), 5.

EVENT No. 3.—Same conditions, excepting that clay birds were used: Henry K. Schraeder, 26 yards (allowed 1), 5; George J. Kingsland, 26 yards (allowed 1), 4; David G. Schneider, 26 yards (allowed 2), 5; Dr. Emil Schraeder (scratch), 4; Samuel G. Porter, 27 yards (allowed 1), 3; Richard D. Morgan, 26 yards (allowed 1), 3; Thomas P. Lee, 26 yards (allowed 2), 3.

EVENT No. 4.—5 pairs of clay targets and 10 singles: Henry K. Williamson, 18 yards, 12; Louis G. Wilson, 17 yards, 18; Richard D. Morgan, 16 yards, 14; Thomas P. Lee, 17 yards, 17; Dr. Emil Schraeder, 18 yards, 18; David G. Schneider, 16 yards, 17; Thomas P. Longrief, 16 yards, 16; Andrew W. Barton, 17 yards, 16; William H. Smith, 16 yards, 16.

EVENT No. 5.—Match at 20 clay birds per man: Henry R. Williamson, 18 yards, 12; Richard D. Morgan, 16 yards 14.

EVENT No. 6.—Match, same conditions: Richard D. Morgan, 18 yards, 16; Henry R. Williamson, 16 yards, 18.

EVENT No. 7.—10 clay birds each: Louis G. Wilson, 16 yards, 9; Richard J. Williamson, 16 yards, 8; Dr. Emil Schraeder, 18 yards, 9; Richard D. Morgan, 16 yards, 7; Samuel G. Porter, 16 yards, 7; Henry R. Williamson, 18 yards, 7; George J. Klugsland, 18 yards, 6; William H. Smith, 16 yards, 6; Thomas P. Lee, 16 yards, 4.

WON BY THE PHILADELPHIA GUN CLUB

In a team race betweeu the Philadelphia Gun Club, the Racquet Club, and the Rittenhouse Club, four men to each team, 25 live birds per man, 30 yards rise, 50 yards boundary, shot on May 11, on the grounds of the Philadelphia Club at Eddington, the first named club not only added a victory to its record, but also won a magnificent silver cup as a trophy.

Great interest centered in the match because of the presence on the Racquet Club team of Murphy and Work, the New York cracks, and of Handy and Macalester on the Philadelphia Club team. That the latter have lost none of their old-time skill and nerve was fully demonstrated as the shoot progressed. All honor must, however, be awarded to Murphy, who was in most brilliant form, and grassed his birds with lightning like quickness. He alone upheld the Racquet Club hopes, while his mate, Work, on whom it all depended at the finish, was clearly outshot by the veteran Macalester.

The Philadelphia club team won simply by steady and consistent shooting, their lowest man getting 20, while Handy, after some time of semi-retirement, led his mates with 23 neat kills. The pigeons were an especially deceptive lot for Summer birds.

The rivalry between the shooters was intense. A number of good-sized wagers were laid on the result and more on the contests between individual shooters. At the start the Racquet club ruled a strong favorite because of the Murphy-Work combination, while Work was picked to make the high score. The scores follow:

PHILADELPHIA GUN CLUB

E. K. Bispham	1022111201	0122011220	21122—20
R. E. Tucker	2220222200	1222222222	2222—22
E. Handy	12:2222012	2121121111	02122—23
C. Macalester	1121002.01	2222012222	11212—21—84

RACQUET CLUB

H. Cartwright	2002122022	2222202220	10220—18
H. Yale Dolan	2222220222	2222202222	20222—22
Edgar Murphy	2222221222	1222222012	21212—24
George Work	2220200222	2202222022	22220—18—82

RITTENHOUSE CLUB

H. H. Ellison	2122220202	1222122112	12120—22
E. D. Toland	1100120012	1111011022	11222—19
M. Bailey	2222011222	0122202122	20022—20
J. B. Ellison	2221102222	0112000220	10112—18—79

PARKAWAY ROD AND GUN CLUB

Good birds, coupled with good handicapping, made the regular monthly event of this club an interesting one, as the competition was spirited and close. Six live bird events were finished as the following scores show:

EVENT No 1.—Club competition at 7 live birds, classified shooting: Class A—Elias Helgans, 28 yards, 5; Anthony Botty, 30 yards, 6; Henry Bramwell, 28 yards, 3; Christopher M. Meyer, 28 yards, 7. Class B—Thomas Short, 25 yards, 7; Joseph Woolley, 25 yards, 5. Class C—Henry J. Bookman, 25 yards, 6; William J. Selover, 25 yards, 5; Dr. George O. Berry, 23 yards, 6: Dr. Henry A. Fischer, 25 yards, 6; John H. Schlelmann, 25 yards, 4; John N. Meyer, 25 yards, 5.

EVENT No. 2.—A handicap sweepstake race at 3 live birds: Charles Helgans, 28 yards, 3; Anthony Botty, 30 yards, 3; Dr. Henry A. Fischer, 25 yards, 3; Dr. George O. Berry, 23 yards, 2; Henry J. Bramwell, 28 yards, 2; John H. Schielmann, 25 yards, 2; Henry J. Bookmau, 25 yards, 1; John N. Meyer, 25 yards, 1; Joseph Woolley, 25 yards, 0. Helgans, Botty and Fischer divided first money, and Berry, Bramwell and Schielmann second money.

EVENT No. 3.—A scratch sweepstakes race at 3 live birds: Dr. Henry A. Fischer, 28 yards, 3; John N. Meyer, 28 yards, 2; Christopher M. Meyer, 28 yards, 2; Anthony Botty, 28 yards, 2; Henry J. Bramwell, 28 yards, 3; William J. Selover, 28 yards, 2; Dr. George O. Berry, 28 yards, 1. Fischer and Bramwell divided first money, and John N. Meyer, Selover and C. M. Meyer second money.

EVENT No. 4.—Same conditions: Dr. Henry A. Fischer, 28 yards, 2; Christopher M. Meyer, 28 yards, 3; Anthony Botty, 28 yards, 3; Henry J. Bramwell, 28 yards, 3; William J. Selover, 28 yards, 3; Dr. George O. Berry, 28 yards, 2. C. M. Meyer, A. Botty, Bramwell and Selover divided first money, and Fischer and Berry second.

EVENT No. 5.—Same conditions: Dr. Henry A. Fischer, 28 yards, 2; Christopher M. Meyer, 28 yards, 3; Anthony Botty, 28 yards, 1; Henry J. Bramwell, 28 yards, 2; William J. Selover, 28 yards, 2; Dr. George O. Berry, 28 yards, 3. C. M. Meyer and Berry took first money between them, and Fischer, Selover and Bramwell divided second money.

EVENT No. 6.—Same conditions: Henry A. Fischer, 28 yards, 3; Christopher M. Meyer, 28 yards, 2; Anthony Botty, 28 yards, 3; Henry J. Bramwell, 28 yards, 3; William J. Selover, 28 yards, 3; Dr. George O. Berry, 28 yards, 2. Selover, Botty and Bramwell divided first money and C. M. Meyer and Berry second.

WHITE CITY GUN CLUB

This Chicago club, the members of which are all residents of the South Side, opened its shooting season on May 5. The primary objects of the club are amusement and recreation, consequently the conditions of its shoots are such that a member is at liberty to do that which suits his fancy or pocketbook best, to shoot for the price of the targets only or to enter into the sweepstakes and put up a small entrance fee. The club shoots targets from five expert traps sprung by a pull invented by one of the club members and which works with great satisfaction. The live bird traps are also an invention of a member of the club and work with such precision that few birds fail to take wing as soon as the trap is opened. Visitors are always welcome and will find the club members sociable and very entertaining. The club grounds can be reached by those having conveyances of their own, by a drive to 55th Street and Western Avenue, thence to Kedzie Avenue, and then south on Kedzie Avenue to the grounds. The scores made at the opening shoot are as follows:

SHOOT No. 1.—25 single targets, everything known.

F. Maierhoefer	0010001000	0100001000	00100— 5
J. Schwer	0000000000	0100011010	00010— 5
H. Franz	0100111010	1010101011	10000—12
Dr. Liddy	1011110111	1110111110	11010—19
Man	1100101110	1001011111	10110—16
Junker	0111001000	1111101101	01010—14
A. Maierhoefer	1010101010	1001000101	00000— 9

SHOOT No. 2.—30 singles per man, everything unknown: F. Maierhoefer 9, J. Schwer 7, H. Franz 17, Dr. Liddy 16, A. Maierhoefer 8, Man 17, Junker 16, Fulton 8.

SHOOT No. 3.—5 pairs per man: Man 5, Franz 4, A. Maierhoefer 5, Liddy 1, Junker 4.

SHOOT No. 4.—25 single targets, known trap, unknown angles: H. Franz 12, F. Maierhoefer 8, Dr. Liddy 12, G. Man 13, H. Junker 12.

SHOOT No. 5.—30 singles, known trap, unknown angles: Junker 23, Liddy 17, G. Man 6.

GERMANIA ROD AND GUN CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of this club was held at New Dorp, Station Island, on April 30. All the shooting was at targets, all ties divided, as follows:

EVENT No. 1.—Club competition, classified rise: George H. Becker, 16 yards, 11; William H. Glander, 18 yards, 12; Henry J. Knoebel, 18 yards, 11; Carl L. Meyers, 16 yards, 10; Charles A. Gurlech, 16 yards, 11; August O. Schmidtt, 18 yards, 5; Henry J. Woelfkln, 18 yards, 10; Richard V. Wagner, 16 yards, 9; William H. Schneider, 18 yards, 13; Jacob O. Brehem, 16 yards, 9; John H. Dreuss, 16 yards, 8.

EVENT No. 2.—Clay birds: William H. Glauder, 18 yards, 9; George H. Becker, 16 yards, 10; Henry J. Knoebel, 18 yards, 9; Carl L. Meyers, 16 yards, 9; Charles A. Gurlech, 16 yards, 5; August O. Schmidtt, 18 yards, 4; Henry J. Woelfkln, 18 yards, 4; Richard V. Wagner, 16 yards, 8; William H. Schuelder, 18 yards, 9; Jacob O. Brohem, 16 yards, 7; John H. Drenss, 16 yards, 4.

EVENT No. 3.—Same conditions: William H. Glander, 18 yards, 8; George H. Becker, 16 yards, 7; Henry J. Knoebel, 18 yards, 4; Carl L. Meyers, 16 yards, 9; Charles A. Gurlech, 16 yards, 6; August O. Schmidtt, 18 yards, 7; Henry J. Woelfkln, 16 yards, 3; Richard V. Wagner, 16 yards, 2; William H. Schnelder, 18 yards, 2; Jacob O. Brehem, 16 yards, 3; John H. Dreuss, 16 yards, 2.

EVENT No. 4.—Miss and out: William H. Glander, 18 yards, 0; George H. Becker, 16 yards, 2; Henry J. Knoebel, 18 yards, 2; Carl L. Meyers, 16 yards, 3; Charles A. Gurlech, 16 yards, 2; August O. Schmidtt, 18 yards, 0; Henry J. Woelfkln, 16 yards, 1; Richard V. Wagner, 16 yards, 3; William H. Schnelder, 16 yards, 2; Jacob O. Brehem, 16 yards, 1; John H. Dreuss, 16 yards, 1.

EVENT No. 5.—Same conditions as second event: William H. Glander, 18 yards, 8; George H. Becker, 16 yards, 4; Henry J. Knoebel, 16 yards, 7; Carl L. Meyers, 16 yards, 5; Charles A. Gurlech, 16 yards, 3; August O. Schmidtt, 18 yards, 3; Henry J. Woelfkln, 18 yards, 8; Richard V. Wagner, 16 yards, 7; William H. Schneider, 18 yards, 6; Jacob O. Brehem, 16 yards, 1; John H. Dreuss, 16 yards, 9.

ENTERPRISE ROD AND GUN CLUB

The regular monthly event of this club was held at North Beach, L. I., shooting grounds, Wednesday, May 8. Some excellent scores were made in the six events which were shot. All shooting was at targets. The scores:

EVENT No. 1.—Regular club shoot at 15 Blue Rocks per man, 16 yards rise; scores to count in the yearly averages for the annual prizes: Benjamin G. Williams 13, James R. McGuire 14, Thomas V. Boddey 15, William H. Kingsland 14, David W. Jones 11. Henry K. Vollmenning 10, Louis G. Andrews 9, Henry J. Ray 9, George W. Lawrence 7, Thomas K. Hennessey 6, Henry P. Irving 7, John B. Gordon 4.

EVENT No. 2.—A scratch sweepstakes at 10 birds: McGuire 6, Boddey 4, Kingsland 2, Jones 1, Williams 4, Vollmenning 5, Andrews 2, Ray 1, Lawrence 6, Hennessey 5, Irving 2, Gordon 5.

EVENT No. 3.—Miss and out, handicap: McGuire (scratch) 2, Boddey (allowed 1 bird) 4, Kingsland (scratch) 3, Jones (allowed 2) 0, Williams (scratch) 2, Vollmenning (allowed 1 bird) 4, Andrews (allowed 2 birds) 3, Ray (allowed 2 birds) 5, Lawrence (allowed 1 bird) 2, Hennessey (allowed 4 birds) 3; Irving (allowed 3 birds) 3, Gordon (allowed 2 birds) 5.

EVENT No. 4.—Scratch sweepstakes, 10 singles: McGuire 8, Boddey 7, Kingsland 6, Jones 4, Williams 3, Vollmenning 5, Andrews 3, Ray 6, Lawrence 6, Hennessey 9, Irving 6, Gordon 4.

EVENT No. 5.—10 singles: McGuire 9, Boddey 7, Kingsland 7, Jones 7, Williams 6, Vollmenning 5, Andrews 4, Ray 6, Lawrence 4, Hennessey 5, Irving 5, Gordon 4.

EVENT No. 6.—Handicap, at 10 birds per man: McGuire (scratch) 9, Boddey (scratch) 10, Kingsland (allowed 1 bird) 10, Jones (allowed 2 birds) 8, Williams (allowed 1 bird) 10, Vollmenning (allowed 2 birds) 10, Andrews (allowed 2 birds) 8, Ray (allowed 1 bird) 8, Lawrence (allowed 3 birds) 7, Hennessey (allowed 4 birds) 7, Irving (allowed 3 birds) 8, Gordon (allowed 2 birds) 9.

ROCKAWAY ROD AND GUN CLUB

The closing tournament of this club for the season was held on April 30, at Rockaway Park, L. I. Twelve events were decided as follows:

EVENT No. 1.—10 singles, known angles: Woods 8, Smythe 5, Wash 10, Joe Blotz 9, McKenna 6, Heyer 7.

The next four events were star sweeps, re-entry up to and including the sixth bird, then miss and out. The second event was won by Blotz; third event divided by Blotz and Woods; fourth event, divided by Blotz and Wash; fifth event, divided by Woods and Wash.

EVENT No. 6.—20 singles, expert rules: J. Blotz 17, Woods 16, Smythe 15, Wash 14, J. J. Treman 14, Major Spott 11, McKenna 10, Scott 11.

EVENT No. 7.—25 singles, handicap, known angles: Joe Blotz 17, Woods 22, Smythe (2 added) 22, Wash 24, J. J. Treman 19, Spott (3 added) 23, McKenna 17, Lyons (3 added) 21, J. H. Voss (3 added) 24, H. W. Voss (3 added) 24, Loeble (3 added) 20.

EVENT No. 8.—Star sweep, miss and out. Won by Woods.

EVENT No. 9.—15 singles: Blotz 15, Wash 12, Lyons 9, J. H. Voss 12, H. W. Voss 12, Loeble 11, McKenna 9, Mackin 9, Spott 10, Heyer 11.

EVENT No. 10.—25 singles: Blotz 22, Wash 23, Major Spott 20, J. H. Voss (3 added) 19, Lyons (3 added) 22, Loeble (5 added) 22, H. W. Voss (3 added) 24, McKenna (6 added) 20, Lee (6 added) 15, Crawford 22, Clifton (4 added) 17.

EVENT No. 11.—25 singles, expert rules: J. Blotz 19, Wash 18, Crawford 23, McKenna 15.

EVENT No. 12.—10 pairs: McKenna 11, Blotz 15, Wash 15, Crawford 17, Loeble 11.

UNKNOWN ROD AND GUN CLUB

There was an unusually large turnout of the membership of this club on Thursday, May 9, at Dexter Park, L. I. Three live bird events were decided, with the following results:

EVENT No. 1.—Club shoot at 7 live birds: Dr. Henry A. Littlefield, 26 yards, 6; Patrick Sweeney, 25 yards, 5; Andrew E. Rankin, 23 yards, 3; John E. Flynn, 28 yards, 6; John H. Bohling, 26 yards, 6; Moses V. Brown, 28 yards, 6; Henry J. Krobel, 26 yards, 6; Thomas B. Potter, 25 yards, 4; John H. Akhurst, 23 yards, 6; Edward A. Broome, 23 yards, 6; Frank J. Ibert, 25 yards, 4; George H. Harned, 25 yards, 3.

EVENT No 2.—Handicap sweepstakes at live birds, miss and out: Dr. Littlefield, 26 yards, 5; Patrick J. Sweeney, 25 yards, 3; Andrew E. Rankin, 23 yards, 2; John H. Bohling, 26 yards, 4; Moses N. Brown, 28 yards, 2; Henry J. Knobel, 26 yards, 0; Thomas H. Potter, 25 yards, 3; John H. Akhurst, 23 yards, 1; George H. Harned, 25 yards, 2.

EVENT No. 3.—Sweepstakes at 7 live birds: Henry J. Knobel, 26 yards, 7; John Akhurst, 23 yards, 7; Edwin A. Broome, 23 yards, 6; John H. Bohling, 26 yards, 6; Patrick Sweeney, 24 yards, 6; A. E. Rankin, 23 yards, 6; George H. Harned, 23 yards, 5; Moses V. Brown, 28 yards, 4; Henry J. Bates, 25 yards, 4; John H. Vagts, 25 yards, 4; Thomas B. Potter, 21 yards, 4; Louis J. Kolh, 23 yards, 3; Henry J. Boemermann, 25 yards, 2; Edward K. Hauff, 21 yards, 1.

EUREKA ROD AND GUN CLUB

The second shoot of this newly organized club was held at Flatlands, L. I., on May 7. There was a good attendance. A feature of the club shooting in the future will be shooting for a gold badge which will go to the member winning it the greatest number of times in twelve consecutive club shoots. Five events were decided, as follows:

EVENT No. 1.—Club competition at 15 clay birds, 16 yards rise: Louis D. Jenkins 14, Henry J. Daniels 13, William H. Smith 12, James J. Wilson 11, Harold G. Morse 11, Harry W. McGuire 10, James W. Graham 9, Thomas W. Bowron 9, Michael D. Andrews 8, George W. Brown 7, Thomas W. McGivney 6.

EVENT No. 2.—Sweepstakes at 10 targets, handicap: Jenkins 8, Daniels 7, Smith 6, Wilson 6, Morse 6, McGuire 5, Graham 9, Bowron 5, Andrews 5, Brown 5, McGivney 4.

EVENT No. 3.—Same conditions: Jenkins 4, Daniels 5, Smith 6, Wilson 5, Morse 3, McGuire 2, Graham 4, Bowron 4, Andrews 6, Brown 5, McGivney 5.

EVENT No. 4.—At clay birds, miss and out: Jenkins 0, Daniels 6, Smith 2, Wilson 0, Morse 4, McGuire 2, Graham 5, Bowron 3, Andrews 2, Brown 1, McGivney 1.

EVENT No. 5.—Same conditions: Andrews 2, Daniels 3, Smith 5, Wilson 1, McGuire 4, Graham 4, Bowron 3, Andrews 4, Brown 3, McGivney 5.

CLIMAX GUN CLUB

An average attendance of this club's members met on the club's grounds near Fanwood, N. J., Wednesday, May 9, for their regular handicap shoot, which resulted as follows, the scratch men shooting at 25 singles:

	Bird handicap
Smith	0	1111111111	1111110011
Keller	0	1011111010	11110111
Apgar	0	1111111101	1111011
Brantingham	0	0110111011	11111
Short	1	1111111111	11011
Taylor	3	1110111111	11010
Williams	5	0111011100	01100
D. Darby	5	1110111111	011
Scot	3	1011101100	11110
J. Darby	7	1110111111	0110011101 0101000110 11 —21
J. Goodman	6	1111000001	0100100110 1100001111 0 —15
D. Terry	1	1011011110	0111101111 11111 —21
Singer	10	1000110000	0111111001 1100011101 00100—17
Grieff	8	0111111110	1110110111 1111111111 111 —27
Charles	10	1101110111	1110010001 1101010010 01011—21

FIRST GERMAN GUN CLUB

Rain did not deter the following members from shooting in the club's regular competition at Dexter Park on April 30, when the following scores were made at eight live birds each. Scores: William Michell, 25 yards, 8; Frederick Brondhorst, 25 yards, 8; Carl Dietz, 28 yards, 7; John Schwacke, 28 yards, 6; Anton Neusch, 25 yards, 4; Philip Neusch, 28 yards, 2; August Schrickmann, 25 yards, 2; William H. Soll, 28 yards, 5.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—The Flour City Gun Club ushered in the fourth season of its existence on its new grounds at Thirty-first Avenue and Grand Street, by a very largely attended and enthusiastic shoot. The traps worked well and everything went off nicely, and the members seemed to enjoy themselves. Some good scores were made, considering that this was the first time at the trap for a majority of the boys The feature of the day was the shooting of some of the new blood. Billy Edwards, of the Grand Opera House, who is a new man at the trap, cut out the work in the club badge shoot, set the pace too hot for the rest of the crowd and carried off the senior emblem. Snyder won the junior Ed and Dell badge, and would undoubtedly have made a much better score had he not been handicapped by using a new gun. Klars won the amateur badge presented by Young & Belanger, in good style, and with practice will make a hard one to beat. Lambert Hays shot like a veteran, distinguishing himself by making some straight scores. It will be well for some of the older members to keep an eye on Lambert this season. Wilson, a promising amateur, had the misfortune to break his gun or he would probably have done much better. In the diamond badge shoot Pon Jay and Genevey tied on 21, Pon Jay winning on shoot off. Altogether the shoot was a very pleasant one and the management feel confident the season will be the best ever enjoyed by this, the leading club of the state. The next shoot will take place May 19. Targets will be thrown at one cent each, and visitors are cordially invited. The scores:

EVENT No. 1.—10 singles: Pon Jay 5, Hays 9, Wachsmuth 2, Wilson 0, Genevey 5.

EVENT No. 2.—10 singles: Wilson 6, Pon Jay 5, Bert 7, Snyder 6, Wachsmuth 6, Genevey 7, Edwards 4, Hedwall 2, Klars 5.

EVENT No. 3.—25 singles for diamond badge.

Pon Jay	0110111111	1111101101	11111—21
Wilson	0110000100	1100001111	10001—11
Hays	1111111101	0011111100	11000—17
Edwards	0111010101	1111010001	11000—14
Snyder	1000001011	0011110011	10101—13
Klars	1001010010	0 00100111	01001—10
Wachsmuth	0011101101	0010000111	01110—13
Keegan	1110100001	1010000100	00001— 9
Genevey	0110111111	1110111110	11111—21
Hedwall	0000000000	1001000000	01100— 4

EVENT No. 4.—25 singles for club badges: Pon Jay 18, Wilson 11, Hays 16, Billy 19, Klars 13, Snyder 17, Wachsmuth 12, Genevey 17, Shattuck 18.

JAS. GENEVEY, Secy.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—The Louisiana Gun Club has thus far given seven prize shoots, the scores of the seventh being herewith inclosed. The highest scores, it will be seen, were made by Messrs. Jefferson and Macmurdo. Mr. Jefferson broke 21 and had one added to his score; Mr. Macmurdo broke 18 and had four added. Both therefore scored 22. Upon this day there were but two prizes (number of prizes offered being dependent upon number of entries) and under our rules ("high guns to win") they won both prizes, the 21 men and under smiling their prettiest. We find the abolition of class shooting the best yet discovered to maintain good fellowship. There is no possible way in which one shooter can aid another, or himself, everything depending upon his own individual ability as the rules oblige him to shoot his best. Irrespective of the prizes above mentioned, the shooter making the highest score is awarded a heat for a trophy to be presented at the end of the season, but as both gentlemen named tied on 22, they shot the tie off and Mr. Macmurdo won. Scores:

	Targets allowed
"Nap"	0	1110010111	1101101111 10110—18
Jefferson	1	1101111111	1111111011 11001—22
Edgar Nott	2	0110111111	0110110100 11101—19
P. N. Nott	4	0100010100	0111010000 10110—14
Faure	5	1110011010	1000111101 10111—21
J. DeBlanc	3	1110010011	0011111000 11111—19
Benedict	3	1111001111	0101010111 11011—21
Cousin	8	1100000110	1101000000 11010—18
Saucier	4	1011100010	0111111011 01010—19
Macmurdo		0111100111	1101110110 11110—22

PERCY L. BENEDICT, Secy.

BUNKER HILL, ILL.—In your issue of May 11 it was stated that Mr. G. T. Hall, of Loami, Ill., and myself shot a match at 21 live birds each, and the scores were given as 23 and 20 out of 25. It is strange that some outsider should be so anxious to have the scores made public, and either intentionally or through ignorance give the scores incorrectly, and in the same breath announce that both men are simply good field shots. The party who sent in that report saved himself only by not playing the last card, or rather by not signing his name, for had he done so he would have had to shoot or fish—that is crawfish. It is a fact that Mr. Hall and I were to have shot a match at 100 live pigeons each for $100 a side, at Carlinville, Ill., on April 20, and according to agreement we met there on that day prepared to shoot, when we learned that the parties agreeing to furnish the birds had only secured some fifty odd pigeons. Though greatly disappointed, both of us being eager for the match, we finally agreed to let the stake stand, divide what birds were there and decide the matter by shooting, which we did. As the scores will show Mr. Hall, though in good form, had the misfortune to have his first, fifth and twenty-first birds dead over the boundary line, each one of them hard hit with both barrels, and although we both used the second barrel quite often it was frequently used when unnecessary. On account of several birds escaping from the boys while they were putting them in the traps, we were compelled to stop when 23 each had been shot at. Mr. Budd Boyd, of Carlinville, acted as referee, and Mr. Thomas Taylor, of Plainview, kept the scores, which were as follows:

Abel Harris	2221221122	2222122122	222—23
G. T. Hall	*221*21111	2121212212	*22—20

ABEL HARRIS.

UTICA, N. Y.—The first monthly live bird shoot of the Oneida County Sportsmen's Association was held on the West Shore grounds, Tuesday, May 7. The following scores were made:

EVENT No. 1.—10 live birds per man, bird handicap

	Birds added				Birds added
Wheeler	2	1011020110	—8	Frank	1	.2020201110—7
Smith	3	1111100110	-10	Cummings	3	.2010110100—8
Johnson	1	2210212102	—9	Hunter	0	.0111000012—5
Richardson	0	1111011102	—8	J. Fulford	1	.2012211211 10
Mayhew	0	1211100101	—7

The club's regular weekly target shoot was held on Friday, May 10, and resulted as follows, the scratch men shooting at 25 single targets, unknown angles, while the less expert shots had one or more targets added to their scores:

	Targets added
O. A. Wheeler	3	0111111111	1110011111 11111—25
J. Fulford	0	1111111111	1111111100 01111—22
Hayes	3	1100001110	1111111101 11111—22
Kilbourn	2	1001111111	0111
Richardson	0	1010111110	011
Bremer	4	1100111011	1111
Gates	0	1111010111	1111
Johnson	2	1110100110	1111
Pfeiffer	3	1100111111	1110
Dexter	3	1110111111	0101

A. C. SIE[illegible]

WILMERDING, PA.—The members of the Wilmerding Gun Club had a practice shoot on May 4. The day was pleasant and the [illegible] were quite good. The number in attendance was not [illegible] but that is because it is yet a little too early for [illegible] to turn out well to our practice shoots. Blue Rock [illegible], and the shooting was from known trap, known [illegible] at the same number, each man shooting [illegible] cartridges were exhausted. The scores:

[illegible] 1111 [illegible] 0111111111 1011110110 0110110101
[illegible] 011 [illegible] 1011 0111101111 1011111110 1111101111—73
[illegible] 1111 1100011101 0111110100 1111111111
[illegible] 11101 1100101111 1011111101 .....—62
O. Reich.....0001100000 0110011101 0010101001 1010110001 0100100100
0010110110 11011 .....—29
Sharrard.....1010101100 1011011011 1101111101 1111011111 1101111001—36
A. Mackert...0110001110 0110101111 0101101010 1111100111 0110000110—29
Brant.....1111110010 0010011000 01010.....—12

A. A. MACKERT, Secy.

RUTHERFORD, N. J.—The inclosed scores were made on the grounds of the Boiling Springs Gun Club of this city, on Saturday, May 4. It was the regular monthly shoot of the club and each man shot at 25 single targets.

Paul.....1101010111 0110101010 11011—16
Hollister.....1110111110 1111111110 10101—20
Huck.....0111111101 0111111111 11111—22
James.....1111101101 1101011011 10011—18
Simpson.....C011101111 0001110111 01111—17
Frank.....1111110000 1111111100 11110—18
Collins.....1111011111 1111110011 11100—20
Jeannrette.....1100101111 0110111110 11101—18

W. H. HUCK.

MARSHALL, ILL.—I inclose herewith scores made by members of the Marshall Gun Club in a recent contest for the club's badge, each man shooting at 25 single targets, unknown angles. Mr. Besler won the badge on a score of 24, Mr. Mitchell being a pretty good second.

Ed. Howell.....1101101110 1000111101 11110—17
W. S. Besler.....1111111111 1111111111 01111—24
W. R. Green.....0101001111 1101111001 11011—17
O. Mitchell.....1111001011 0111111111 11101—20
R. B. Miller.....0101000100 1110111010 11110—14

W. S. BESIER.

BRAINERD, MINN.—About one-third of the members of the Brainerd Gun Club, on May 8, opened the season of 1895 with their first regular shoot at their new shooting park, making the following scores on 15 singles:

McClenahan	100000111010000—5	Ingersoll	011000011000000—4
Courtney	110110011001110—9	Mantor	111111110111101—13
Westfall	110111001011111—11	Smith	111100111110111—12
Kirkwood	110100011111101—10	Casey	000010010111110—7
Walker	111001100000110—7	Keene	010111011001010—8
Tache	001100001010000—4	Veon	111111110111111—14

SECRETARY.

BURNSIDE ILL.—With the exception of the practice that is taking place by those who expect to take part in the forthcoming state tournament very little shooting is being done at my park at present. On May 8, three members of the South Chicago Gun Club, in their club contest, made the following scores:

EVENT No. 1.—20 live birds per man.

Willard....11112211102221111111-19 | Reeves.....02100121221010102011-13
Sibley.....02110200122011120010-12 |

EVENT No. 2.—30 single Empire targets each man: Sibley 15, Willard 28, Reeves 27.

WATSON.

MENOMINEE, MICH.—Scores as given below were made by members of the Menominee Gun Club at a recent practice, each man shooting at 25 single targets, known trap, unknown angles, American Shooting Association rules:

Smith.....1111000100 0101011010 00011—12
Kratz.....1011110111 0110110101 01001—15
Bothwell.....1111110000 0101001000 10100—11
McQueen.....1111101001 1111111111 10111—21

MENO.

Answers to Correspondents

We are willing always to answer any question that we can answer, and prescribe for dogs or other animals in these columns, but we cannot answer questions or prescribe by mail. In all instances where it is necessary that a sick animal should be prescribed for by mail, we refer the owner to Professor R. J. Withers, No. 627 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Cal., to whom one dollar must be inclosed to pay for his services.

KENNEL

J. W., St. Louis, Mo.—A friend of mine living in Illinois has had the misfortune to lose two of his best dogs by their being poisoned with strychnine. I wish to ask if the law of Illinois allows any citizen to scatter broadcast such a deadly poison, when there is no protection for other people's animals on account of the poison being put outside of any inclosure. Ans.—This question is, perhaps, best answered with a quotation of Section 203 of the Illinois Criminal Code: "Whoever willfully and maliciously kills, wounds, maims, disfigures or poisons any domestic animal, or exposes any poisonous substance, with intent that the life of any such animal should be destroyed thereby, such animal being the property of another, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than three years, or fined not exceeding $1,000, or both: Provided, that this section shall not be construed to apply to persons owning sheep or other domestic animals, who may, in the exercise of reasonable care and good intentions, put out poisou on his own premises where sheep are kept, to kill sheep-killing dogs."

C. E. M., Sparta, Ill.—My Irish setter in some manner got out of his yard two weeks since. A farmer came in yesterday and said he shot him, claiming the dog was running his sheep. I can't believe the dog was running his sheep. The dog was well broken and valuable. Can I, through the courts, make him pay for my dog? I don't want to go to law unless I am sure. Awaiting your advice. Ans.—It is very doubtful if you would gain anything by taking this matter into the courts. They offer you no redress unless you can overcome the farmer's story with positive evidence that the dog did not run his sheep. There is an Illinois law, which has been in effect since 1853, that "If any person shall discover any dog or dogs in the act of killing, wounding or chasing sheep in any portion of this state, or shall discover any dog or dogs under such circumstances as to satisfactorily show that such dog or dogs has been recently engaged in killing or chasing sheep, for the purpose of killing them, such person is authorized to immediately pursue and kill such dog or dogs."

DR. G. H. Q., Trenton, N. J.—Ans.—(1) Count Wind'em (E. 8169) was by Count Dick (E. 5038) out of Phantom (E. 5078). (2) Phyllis (474) was by Leicester (148) out of Petrel (472). (3) Juno (407) was by Rake (212) out of Fanny (359). (4) Jealousy (3698) was by Blue Hope (3325) out of Blue Whist, by Blue Dick (3324) out of Nellie Belton (Belton—Fannie). (5) Clip (320) was by Leicester (148) out of Dart (335). (6) Nora (4836) was by Count Noble (1509) out of Lit (3736).

C. E. A., Salt Lake City.—Ans.—(1) Tell, by Dash Sr—Rose. (2) Maryland, by Ben—Mab. (3) Rush (1259), by Flake (1214) out of Lily, by Sam—Lily. (4) Romp, by Ben—Bess. (5) Dan, by Star—Belle. (6) Devonshire Flo (6678), by Croxteth Bang (4048) out of Devonshire Fan (4134). (7) Gertrude (3043), by Snap Shot (Rap—Judy) out of Elf, by Sensation (1261) out of Belle (1283). We have given all the information we can about those not registered.

I. F. A., Parsons, Kan.—Ans.—After a fast of eighteen hours give one and one-half grains of powdered areca nut to each pound weight of the dog, following in one hour with two ounces of castor-oil. Apply the following to the skin: Oil of tar four ounces, sulphurous acid two ounces, fisholl to make one pint. Give a bath two days after application.

G. C., Grand Rapids, Mich.—(1) Not registered. (2) We do not know what "Mr. Whitman" you mean. Mr. L. F. Whitman's address can be found in our advertising columns. (3) You can find in our advertising columns good cocker stud dogs owned in Ontario, not so very far from you. (4) You were foolish to leave such a matter until the last minute.

J. W. T., Greenville, S. C.—Ans.—The symptoms you give regarding the inability to open the mouth or swallow lead us to believe the trouble is tetanus, for which very little can be done. Beat up some eggs and milk and try to get some down by pouring it into the side of the mouth.

J. F., Milwaukee, Wis.—Ans.—After a fast of eighteen hours give one and one-half grains of powdered areca nut to each pound weight of the dog; one hour after give one ounce of castor-oil; follow this treatment up with five drops of Fowler's Solution three times daily.

R. B. P., Bale Shed, Miss.—Ans.—Take fluid extract of jasmine three drams, muriate of ammonia six drams, fluid extract of licorice root one ounce, water sufficient to make four ounces; mix and give one dessertspoonful four times daily.

A. H. S., Dallas, Tex.—Ans.—(1) Zippo II (7184) is by Zippo (6370) out of Ruby Buckellew (3823). (2) Lady Nell of Elms (4514), by Knight of Snowden (Johnnie Faa—Swan) out of Bell (Dick Laverack—Adele); none of them registered.

H. W., Mineral Point, O.—Ans.—Give four grains of the iodide of potash three times daily, for six consecutive days, then begin to give the one-sixtieth part of a grain of the sulphate of strychnine three times daily.

H. S. M., Leamington, Ont.—Ans.—(1) Rabies is not known to arise spontaneously. (2) He is not registered, and the catalog of the show does not give names of sire and dam.

P. W. B., Turtle Creek, Pa.—Ans.—The symptoms are those of dumb rabies, for which there is no treatment; and all dogs similarly afflicted should be destroyed at once.

B. B., Hastings, Neb.—Ans.—(1) We know of know reason why it should. (2) No; and total blindness disqualifies.

F. M. H., Rock Creek, O.—Ans.—This is a natural physiological result, following parturition, known as lochia.

J. B. D., Booneville, Miss.—Ans.—We answered your query in the AMERICAN FIELD of May 11.

G. F., Portland, Ore.—Ans.—Generally it does not affect their hunting qualities.

MISCELLANEOUS

J. O. D., Chicago.—(1) How would the rifle grade of American Wood powder work in a .44-caliber XL shotgun? (2) Would it injure the gun or the shells? (3) What is the present law in Illinois on shooting small birds for a strictly scientific collection? (4) Has that part of the proposed new game law of this state relating to collecting birds for scientific purposes been passed? Ans.—(1 and 2) We do not know anything about the gun you mention, but would think for use in any shotgun, American Wood 12-bore trap grade powder would be preferable and safer than the rifle grade. (3) The law permits one to kill them at all seasons of the year if they are taken strictly for scientific purposes. (4) No. Up to the present time no part of the proposed new game law has been passed by the Illinois legislature.

NATURAL HISTORY

J. F. N., Port Byron, Ill.—I mail you under separate cover portions of a snipe killed on a sandbar in the Mississippi River. As I am unable to name it I send it to the AMERICAN FIELD to have it named and to know what portion of the country is its natural habitat. Ans.—It is the Hudsonian godwit (female) and is found in western and northwestern portions of the United States.

RIFLE

B. B., Hastings, Neb.—(1) What is the regulation distance for a target pistol of .22-caliber? (2) Do the different calibers require different distances in competition, or is a 22 and .38 caliber shot at the same range? (3) What is the standard target for a .22-caliber pistol at the regulation distance? Ans.—(1) 50 yards. (2) No. Conditions of matches may handicap different arms. (3) Standard target.

GAME AND SHOOTING

W. A. G., Olden, Mo.—Has the law of Arkansas compelling non-residents to take out a $10 license for the privilege of hunting and fishing in that state been repealed? Ans.—So far as we know the law has not been repealed, but we understand that it is intended to apply only to such non-residents as hunt or fish for market, or those who follow hunting and fishing as an occupation.

Club Elections

CLUB ELECTIONS.—Secretaries and other officers of clubs not having previously done so will confer a favor by sending us the names of all such organizations, with a list of the officers elected for the current year.

THE Jersey Shore Rifle and Gun Club has been organized at Lockhaven, Pa., and the following gentlemen elected officers for the ensuing year: President, John W. Grier; vice-president, Phil. C. Oechler; secretary, Samuel Junod; treasurer, W. T. Feerar; directors, Elmer Campbell, W. D. Liseuring and W. R. Anderson; captains, Samuel Sperow and W. C. Maggs.

AT the orgauization some time since, at Wisner, Neb., of the Wisner Gun Club the following gentlemen were elected officers for the current year: President, Dr. L. Riley; secretary and treasurer, Henry Kinsel. The president and secretary, together with F. J. Buck and Gus Wessel, comprise the executive committee.

AT the organization a few weeks since of the Halloweli (Me.) Gun Club officers as follows were elected for the ensuing year: President, W. G. Meloon; secretary, John O. Robinson; treasurer, C. E. Dinsmore; executive committee, W. G. Metoon, L. D. Merchant, J. H. Crockett, C. F. Kilgore and Ralph Anderson.

THE Rising Sun Gun Club of Dixon, Cal., have elected the following gentlemen as officers of the club for the ensuing year: President, C. E. Clausen; vice-president, Dr. R. F. Millar; secretary, John Pedrick; treasurer, Thos. Pedrick; executive committee, Dr. Millar, B. F. Newby and Henry Zeutner.

THE following gentlemen have been elected officers of the Minneapolis (Minn.) Gun Club for the ensuing year: President, J. C. Joslyn; vice-president, W. P. Shattuck; secretary, S. C. Johnson; treasurer, John Marshall; field captain, Emory Ensign. The officers constitutes the board of directors.

AT a meeting of the West Side Gun Club of Saginaw, Mich., the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, C. F. Schoeneberg; vice president, Julius Hohn; secretary, John Brechtelsbauer; treasurer, H. G. Krogman; captain, Andrew Freuchtel.

Amusements

SCHILLER THEATER.—Frederick Warde and Louis James in "Francesca da Rimini" until Thursday, May 16. Thursday night and Saturday matinee, "King Henry IV;" Friday night (by request), "Othello;" Saturday night (last time), "Julius Cæsar." The new musical burlesque—"Little Robinson Crusoe"—that will be the special Summer attraction, is already drawing much attention. It will be a positively new thing in the way of theatrical attractions. A bright and laugnable story of "Crusoe" and right up to date, has been especially written by that popular dramatic author, Harry B. Smith; the music, which is delightfully melodious, tuneful and catchy, is by the well-known composer, W. H. Batchelor recognized as one of the leading composers of burlesque and extravaganza music. The expenditure for scenery and stage accessories will be lavish, and "Little Robinson Crusoe" will be put upon the stage in a superbly handsome manner. The cast will be a remarkable one, and made up of the very best burlesque artists in the country. The one fact that the popular favorite, Eddie Foy, will be the star comedian of the company would make "Little Robinson Crusoe" a big hit with the public.

MCVICKER'S THEATER.—The new, record-breaking production by Sutton Vane, "The Cotton King," which ran 150 nights in London and over 100 nights in New York and Boston. Gus Reynolds' impersonation of the character of James Shlilinglaw is an artistic and admirable delineation, that shows marked aollity and goes far toward making the success of the melodrama.

COLUMBIA THEATER.—The beautiful and talented artist, Miss Fanny Davenport, presenting for the first time here her magnificent production of Sardou's "Gismonda," assisted by a fine company in a great cast, headed by Melbourne MacDowell. The great theatrical representation of the week.

HAYMARKET THEATER.—Thatcher & Johnson's mammoth "Twentieth Century Minstrels;" a host of comedians and singers. Next week, for the first time on the West Side, the queen of comedies, "Jane," preceded by Mr. Sedley Brown's one-act curtain raiser, "The Lost Sheep."

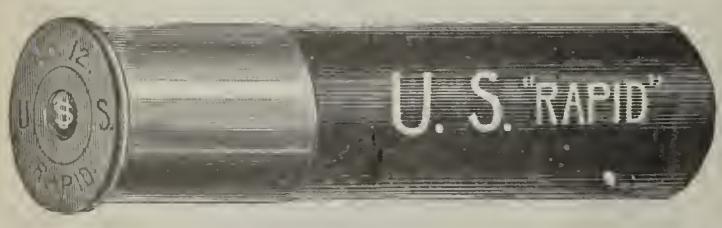
GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Continued success and fifth week of Hoyt's mirth-provoking production, "A Black Sheep," with Otis Harlan as "Hot Stuff." Next week, the "Trilby Dance." Usual matinees.

THE LINCOLN.—Miss Mattie Vickers in "Jacquine," a breezy comedy; supported by Eric Pollock and Miss Mattie Earle.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—Last week of "The Passing Show." Next week "Aladdin Jr."

MADISON STREET OPERA HOUSE.—Sam T. Jack's Lilly Clay Company; two big shows daily.

U. S. RAPID



SHOT SHELL

FOR NITRO POWDERS.

Penetration increased with pattern 15 per cent improved. Results same with every shell. None so regular ever produced before. Head of shell and battery cup one piece of metal. No gas escape, no balling of shot, no upsetting of charge.

AGENTS:
[illegible] York City.
[illegible]ncisco, Cal.

U. S. CARTRIDGE CO., Lowell, Mass.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Advertisers are respectfully requested to observe the following rules governing the insertion of advertisements in these columns:

CLASSIFICATION.—Strictly kennel advertisements—those which relate exclusively to dogs and to nothing else—cannot be placed under headings of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange," but are subject to classification only under their proper kennel headings. When two or more breeds of dogs are mentioned in one advertisement, it destroys the possibility of giving it a distinctive heading and it is therefore classified under "Miscellaneous." For this reason it is well to advertise each breed separately.

If stud notices are included in advertisements of dogs for sale the classification given will be "Miscellaneous." Stud notices should be separate and distinct from other advertisements so as not to conflict with proper classification.

The departments of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" are reserved for advertisements relating in some way to sportsmen's goods or other articles of merchandise.

RATES.—The rate for advertisements under 'Wanted," "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" is 3 cents per word each insertion. The name, address, initials and abbreviations are included and count as words.

The rate for advertisements under kennel headings is 25 cents per line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each additional consecutive insertion. Estimate seven words to a line unless the words are unusually long. If display type is used the rate is $3.50 per inch for the first insertion and $2.50 per inch for each additional consecutive insertion. Special rates are given for displayed advertisements running three months or longer. Schedule will be mailed on application.

Remittances to cover full cost should invariably accompany advertisements. If too much is remitted we will refund you what is overpaid.

Advertisers will favor us greatly by writing their advertisements plainly, using separate sheets of paper. Copy should reach us by Tuesday of each week to insure insertion in that week's issue.

WANTED

Advertisements under this head inserted for Three Cents for each word The money must be sent with the advertisement. See "Notice to Advertisers."

WANTED—Job by thoroughly competent man to prepare puppies for the Fall shooting. PROFESSIONAL, care AMERICAN FIELD, New York office. 20*

WANTED—A pair of greyhounds, dog and bitch, not under ten months old; pedigreed. FRED ERB JR., Lafayette, Ind. 21

WANTED—12-gauge hammerless, nitro bore, must be as good as new and bargain. H. C. THOMPSON, Mauston, Wis. 20*

WANTED—Live pigeons; must be old birds; squabs not wanted. Address JOHN WATSON, Grand Crossing, Ill. 23-21-tf

WANTED—Good hammerless shotgun, with or without ejector. C. D. ANDERSON, 380 Elm St , Dallas, Tex. 20*

WANTED—Sportsmen who want an outing to send for pamphlet of Nimrod Hall, Va. Apply MANAGER. 3*

WANTED—12 gauge hammerless gun of standard make. H. R. STEVENS, Nevada, Mo. 20*

LIVE foxes wanted. Address H. F. WARNEKE, Aiken, S. C. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

LIVER and white pointer dog, 3 years old, Ch. Spotted Boy—Gip Beaufort; not "the best dog in Indiana," and "won't retrieve a red hot stove," but a good dog and a good sire and worth $35, or exchange for English setter bitch, St. Bernard dog or anything in dog or gun line of equal value; worth double the price asked. JOE H. ALEXANDER, Haughville, Ind. 20*

FOR SALE — Or exchange; want shotguns, trained setters, pointers, fox, rabbit and coon dogs, fancy pigeons; some fine beagle and foxhound puppies cheap; inclose stamp, naming wants. FIELES & BRO., Christiana, Pa. 21

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a fine blue b. and t. bitch, three years old, by Toledo Blade—Ch. Cincinnatus bitch, broken and a good breeder: want cigars, bicycle or a dog puppy equally well bred. A. J. KLOFANDA, Eau Claire, Wis. 20

FOR EXCHANGE—Striped blue and white palmetto tent, size 10x10, with awning, in good condition, for .22 caliber Winchester or Marlin octagon barrel rifle. BOX 27, Earling, Shelby Co., Ia. 20*

WOULD take in exchange for foxhound bitch and three puppies (two dogs and bitch). two months old, a .22 caliber Winchester or Marlin rifle. Address GEORGE SELL, Syracuse, Ill. 20

FINE .45 90 pistol grip Winchester; young water spaniel dog, guaranteed a good duck dog; wanted, small caliber rifle or shotgun. E. B. JOHNSON, Corsicana, Texas. 21*

EXCHANGE—Encyclopedia Britannica, 25 volumes, cloth binding, new: want light 12-gauge hammerless or offers. LOCK BOX 657, Jerseyville, Ill. 21*

I WILL EXCHANGE a high-class Count Roderigo dog puppy for a pair of Smith & Wesson .32-caliber pistols. OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 21*

FOR SALE—Or exchange for 12-gauge hammerless, a 16-gauge Kirkwood hammerless, self ejector. E. TOMLINSON, Mt. Carroll, Ill. 22*

SALE OR EXCHANGE—Black cockers, 10 months old; prefer Winchester repeating shotgun. A. D. JACKSON, Huntsville, Mo. 20*

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

BEAGLES—Have now ready for mailing cabinet size photographs of Ch Frank Forest, Ch. Roy K, Lee III, Directum, Base, Buckshot, Ch. Louely, Ch. Lou, Norah K and Trillah at $1 per set; extra large photo "Dinner Hour at Rockland Beagle Kennels," $1 extra: price is cost; beagles for sale. H. L. KREUDER, Nanuet, N. Y. 23

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

LINNDALE STOCK FARM AND GAME PRESERVE—Eggs for hatching from pure Mongolian pheasants, fresh and fertile; golden and silver pheasants, the most beautiful birds living for yards and lawns, $5 per setting; only a limited number to spare; pure brown Leghorns and Plymouth Rock eggs $2 per setting; the only fowls worth keeping; Jersey cattle of the finest strains; fresh cows of superior milk and butter strains always on hand at moderate prices; we keep the Pekin bantams in large numbers; the only artificial mother for pheasant eggs, $1.50. W. L. GARDINER, Norwalk, Ohio. 22

NOTHING like Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure; keeps your dog's coat in prime condition; not greasy or poisonous; ask your dealer; kills fleas, etc.; 50c. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia. Pedigree blanks for the asking. 43-12-tf

FOR SALE—Lefever hammerless trap gun, $100 grade, 12-30 14-3-1¾ 7¾, bored for nitros, almost new and in perfect condition; don't fit me; price, with solid leather case, $50. Address R. T. TERRY, Mt. Sterling, O. 20*

FOR SALE—L. C Smith hammerless, two sets of barrels, $150 grade, price $85; 12-30, 7¾ lbs., stock 14¼, 1¾, 2¾; fine outfit for both field and trap. Address J. D. ARNOLD, 344 D St., Washington, D. C. 20

FOR SALE—Moose head, a fine specimen shot last Fall, well preserved and mounted; spread about 5 feet, 11 and 9 prongs; will sell at a bargain. Dr. H. R. PARKER, 1405 Willson Ave., Cleveland, O. 20

COLT'S 10-gauge hammer gun, $75 list, $25; Remington 12 gauge, $55 list, $20; both like new; trained pointer brood bitch, three fine pointer puppies. R. H. KERR, York, Neb. 21*

AN elegant solid gold open-face Waltham chronograph, cost $125, for second-hand light four-wheeled trap. W. E. WARREN, Fox Lake, Wis. 20*

FOR SALE—Or exchange, modern marine engines and boilers, both new and second-hand. Address THATCHER A. PARKER, Terre Haute, Ind. 43-13-tf

TROTTERS, saddle horses, Shetlands, Jersey cattle, bird dogs and fancy poultry; write for catalogue. FAIRVIEW STOCK FARM, Athens, O. 20

BARBER CHAIR, Melchior Bros'. No. 10 patent break, for 12-gauge hammerless, Parker preferred. MONT MANN, Fairbury, Neb. 20*

FIVE ground and three plunge traps for pigeons and 3 Blue Rock traps, all nearly new, cheap. J. F. LADERER, McPherson, Kan. 20*

FOR SALE — Hammond typewriter, almost new, $55. Address L. GOODWIN, Room 16, 31 N. Clark St., Chicago. 20

A SMALL gasoline launch, in good condition, engine works good. Address T. J. G., AMERICAN FIELD office. 21*

HIGH-CLASS pedigree blanks, 7 generations, bond paper. CHAUTAUQUA KENNELS, Box 914, Chicago. 42-19-tf

FOR SALE—Deer, jack-rabbits, prairie dogs, peafowls, squirrels, etc. CHAS. PAYNE, Wichita, Kan. 21*

BURGESS REPEATER, 30-7 14, new; need spot cash; write. BOX 487, Reading, Pa. 20*

PEDIGREE BLANKS — J. S. C. THOMPSON, Manhattan, Kan. 40-17-tf

WHERE TO GO

Warren White Sulphur Springs,

C. W. CULLEN & SON, Owners and Prop'rs,

Cullen Post Office, Virginia.

On top of the mountains; elevation 2,100 feet. Variety of waters. Only one mile from the Southern Railroad, and convenient to others. Good shooting and trout and bass fishing.

Moderate terms. Season opens May 15. 6

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

FOR SALE.

English setter dog puppy, year old, by Ch. Cincinnatus—Belle Mur (21166); Belle Mur is full sister to the noted Fanny M, Vanguard and other good ones; this is gilt-edged breeding, field trial blood; $20, cheap. A. L. FOOKES, Columbus, O. 21*

ALLIE FURNESS (Monk of Furness—Blade's Dart), in whelp to a Roderigo dog; Allie is beautifully broken, handsomely marked and is a bench show winner; also Hope's Rhœbe (Gath's Hope—Mai Alcorn), very handsome, fast, wide ranger; should make valuable bitch; prices very low, quality considered. CORINTH KENNEL, Corinth, Miss. 45 17-tf

MAKE cash offer for my grand English setter bitch, Field's Cossette (25?48), by Ch. Jean Val Jean—Sbeena Vau; thoroughly broken by W. W. Titus; a fast, stylish worker, a good looker, excellent disposition and a great brood bitch, litter sister to Atlanta, the field trial winner; she cost me $150. CHAS. T. FIELD, Harbor, O. 43-16-tf

READ THIS—I lost my kennel yards during the fire; as I am crowded with dogs will sell without reserve puppies by Gleam's Sport and Gleam's Pink out of Roderigo, Gladstone's Boy, Toledo Blade and Count Gladstone bitches at half price; also three high-class broken bitches. A. M. YOUNG, Manchester, Tenn. 21

FOR SALE—Puppies whelped March 14, by Dashing Count—Rod's Fanette, she Roderigo—Fanette, she by Sportsman; price $15 each. WM. NEW, Philipsburg, Mont. 44-4

FOR SALE—Two bitches, one dog, by Gladstone's Boy—Nat's Queen, whelped March 6, 1895; all evenly marked and in perfect health. C. COOPER, Rochester, Ind. 20*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

I HAVE for sale a litter of seven grand setter puppies, orange and white, 8 weeks old, by Lear, Count Roderigo, Victorine Wise and out of Nellie, a thoroughly trained field bitch and a well-bred one; by consent, I refer to Old Dominion, White Post, Va. W. P. WHITE, Box 96, Greenwich, Conn. 21*

I HAVE for sale setter puppies by Count Roderigo out of Ben Hill, Paul Gladstone, Antonio and Roderigo bitches, ranging from 8 to 12 weeks of age; price $20 for dogs, $15 for bitches, subject to the usual conditions upon which I sell OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 42-25-tf

FOR SALE—Puppies and young dogs by Gladstone's Boy out of my best brood bitches. Also several high-bred brood bitches and broken dogs. Write for what you want. No trouble to answer letters and furnish information. J. SHELLEY HUDSON, Covington, Ky. 42-17-tf

GLEAM BLOOD—One dog, blue belton, one bitch, lemon and white, by Gleam's Sport—Gleam's Pride II, she by Gleam—Pride's Belle, 9 months old; extra fine, as their breeding will indicate; price low. J. CHAS. WOOD, Alpena, Mich. 21*

FOR SALE—The English setter Blandon Jim, by Ch. Breeze Gladstone—Bettina Bondhu, she by Gus Bondhu—Bondhu Rural Neva, trained and cheap for cash. Apply to CHAS. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss. 20

DERBY PUPPIES—Some fine young Llewellin puppies 13 months old, over distemper, over gunshyness; have been run in the fields every day; just the thing for Derby entries. W. B. WELLS, Chatham, Ont. 20

FOR SALE—Wun Lung's Pride (Wun Lung—White Wings), b. and w. ticked, good record, just the right age to win the All-Age; write for full description; price $200. GEO. H. READ, Washington, Ind. 20

FOR SALE—Cheap, seven English setter puppies, white and liver spotted, bred by Belle and Ben Gladstone. Inquire of C. C. STEIN, Westphalia, Ind. 21*

MacAllister, by Monk of Furness—Bell Mur, thoroughly trained and retrieves; price $100; two years old. CHAS. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss. 20

FOR SALE — Two English setter puppies, whelped September 13, 1894, sire Ch Breeze Gladstone—Fanny Noble. W. G. SMITH, Marydell, Md. 21

DERBY AGE PUPPIES (two litters), by Count Gladstone IV out of Roderigo bitches, choicest markings. W. E. SMALL, Corinth, Miss. 43-15-tf

A BARGAIN—Trained b., w. and t. English setter dog and bitch. C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill. 20*

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of English setters. New Castle, Pa. 43 18-tf

TERRIERS

Fox Terriers,

BEVERWYCK PUNSTER.

"THOROUGHBREDS"

For circular apply to

BEVERWYCK KENNELS

P. O. Box 6, Albany, N. Y. 39-8-52

FOX TERRIERS—Imported prize winner and stud dog Holster (A. K. C. S. B. 29311); several brood bitches, bitches in whelp and puppies combining the blood of Ch. Dominie, Stipendiary, Ch. New Forest, etc., cheap to clear. BANBURY KENNELS, 410 E St. N. E., Washington, D. C. 43-18-tf

FOR SALE—Litter wirehaired foxterrier puppies by Cribbage—Hill Hurst Pansy (Brittle—Petition), whelped December 26; dogs $35, bitches $25; all registered A. K. C. and well marked. DR. JAMES FERRIS BELT, Wilmington, Del. 43-18-tf

FOUR of the best Bedlington terriers in America for sale cheap; have beaten all others at New York, Chicago, Detroit, Newark and Boston. Particulars apply to C. W. LOUGEST, 313 Columbus Ave , Boston, Mass. 20

FOR SALE—The high-class Irish terrier stud and show dog Hazard, winner of over thirty prizes in England: also an imported brood bitch by Irish Ambassador. HUGUENOT KENNELS, New Rochelle, N. Y. eow-43-25*

FOX TERRIER brood bitches and puppies for sale, the property of Messrs. L. & W. Rutherfurd For stud cards, etc., address DONALD MUNRO, Manager, Allamuchy, Warren Co., N. J. 39 7-tf

WIRE-HAIRED fox terriers and black and tan terriers, best breeding: mature stock and puppies. ROCHELLE KENNELS, New Rochelle, N.Y. 43-18-tf

BULL TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. F. L. DEVER, 316 Illinois Ave., Peoria, Ill. 43-17 tf

FOX TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. AUDUBON KENNEL, Lockport, Ill. 22*

FOR SALE—Skye terriers $10, for Christmas; Yorkshires in February. SEEBACH, Peru, Ill. tf

FOXHOUNDS

FULL-BLOOD and half-blood English and pure American foxhounds for sale at all times, all ages and sizes. STRODES VALLEY KENNEL CLUB. Address J. M. Hodgkin, Secy, or W. N. Ramsey, Winchester, Ky. 1

FOR SALE—Cheap, 10 trained and fast running foxhounds; also 4 bitches with puppy by my white Pooler dog; also trained coon hounds. HUGH OLDENHAGE, Kahoka, Mo. 20*

FARM-RAISED fox and rabbit dogs, guaranteed stayers or money refunded. J. H. MILLER, Christiana, Pa. 20*

PURE Goodman foxhounds for sale at all times. BOURBON KENNELS, North Middletown, Ky. 40-20-tf.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted un... cents a line for the first ins... each subsequent insertion. ... inch for first, and $2.50 fo... tion

POO...

MEADOWMERE KENNELS

MILO (30101) Champion of America.

Southampton, L. I., N. Y., breeders and importers of

French Poodles

(Black curly coated only); first prize winners New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, 1893-4.

A GRAND LOT OF DOGS FOR SALE

For catalogues price lists and stud cards apply to NEW YORK CITY AGENCY, 13 William St., Room 1006.

FRENCH POODLES—Black curly coated; four beautiful litters of puppies for sale from imported stock and prize winners at Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and Louisville, 1894; also two males and two females, six months; handsome specimens, and one brown female two years old, winner 3rd prize New York, 1894 CLARENCE S. WELDY, Tamaqua, Pa. 20*

SPANIELS

COCKERS—A grand lot of young puppies and young stud dogs; also several young brood bitches, prize winners, in whelp to Ch. Black Duke and other noted sires. GEORGE DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ontario. 24

FOR SALE—Three dogs and two bitches, clear black cocker spaniels, 5 months old, sired by Pluto Jr (27262), dam Mander's Daisy (31069). For prices and pedigrees address J. L. SEBOLT, Box 464, Lorain, O. 21*

FOR SALE—One brown cocker spaniel, large size, hunted some on partridge and has retrieved over one thousand snipe and plover this Spring. FRED ERB JR , Box 74, Lafayette, Ind. 21

COCKER SPANIELS—Special sale of young stock and brood bitches; prices low. HANDSOME BROOK KENNEL, Franklin, N. Y. 42-12-tf

CHAMPION strain cockers, stud dogs, puppies, bitches, almost given away; stamp. REHAM KENNELS, Omaha, Neb. 43-19 tf

ST. BERNARDS

FOR SALE—Some grand big puppies by Ch. Melrose, the famous sire, and out of splendid dams; also the famous prize winning bitches Alta Berna, Columbia Venus, by Ch. Keeper, Lady Alton II, by Saladin; all winners, and several young ones equal to the best living; some bred to that winning sire Melrose; a grand young stud dog for sale. A. C. SHALLENBERGER, Alma, Neb. 22

$25 WILL BUY a registered St. Bernard dog 18 months old, weighs 165 pounds, nicely marked and well broken, from H. M. ORLADY, Durand, Wis. 20*

ST. BERNARD PUPPIES by Ch. Melrose—Queen Vera; quality none better, well marked. I. W. DAVIES, 3022 Vine Grove, St. Louis, Mo. 20

FOR SALE—Bitches in whelp to our famous Lawrence Garza; also young stud dog. ILLINOIS ST. BERNARD KENNELS, Streator, Ill. 21*

POINTERS

FOR SALE—I still have a brace of Strideaway—Hops II pointer puppies, born January 4; great Derbys for next year; Hops was a sister to Rip Rap; I sold the other litter at $100 each; will sell these at $50 each as I have no room for them. P. T. MADISON, Indianapolis, Ind. 43-11-tf

AT $10 each, two as finely bred pointers as live, 9 months old. liver and white. just right to break, by Beppo III (7832)—Belle of Ossian (31895); field and bench winners on both sides. C. A. PAETZEL, Hope, Ind. 43-18-tf

FOR SALE—Cheap, English mastiff, pointer, setter, water spaniel and coon hound puppies. W. H. CRONER, Piqua, O. 43-19-tf

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of pointers. New Castle, Pa. 43-18 tf

BEAGLES

WHEN plugs are as good as trotters and muskrat fur as good as seal; when calico is as good as silk and other papers equal the FIELD. when curs are as good as thoroughbreds, and this you will not allow, then other strains of beagles may be as good as the Glenrose strains are now. Several superb bitches of these strains in whelp to our celebrated studs; also young stock for sale cheap. GLENROSE BEAGLE KENNELS, Orland, Me. 43-19 tf

$5 EACH; four beagle puppies, six weeks old, by Royal Dick, a field trial and bench winner, out of Winnie Bross, full sister to Ch. June M. DONNYBROOK KENNELS, Oshkosh, Wis. 20

COLLIES

FOR SALE—The crack collies, Seldon Wallace and Chesterford Hero. For particulars address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

COLLIES AT $10—Puppies from Champ Christopher, Ch. Metchley Wonder strain, also older stock. J. L. LINCOLN, Union Club, Chicago. 43-tf

GREYHOUNDS

A VERY choice litter of puppies (Ch. Gem of the Season—Chig. Wild Rose), now ready to ship. TERRA COTTA KENNELS, ... 21

THREE beautiful greyhound ... at $5 each; choice stock, ... WASHAM, Jackson, O.

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS ... F. H. HOYT, Sharon, ...

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

IRISH SETTERS

Yo[illegible] of Finest Breeding in the World. Most Successful on Bench and in Field. Write for prices. G. W. Hamilton, Mgr., Centreville, Kan.

IRISH SETTER PUPPIES for sale, by Ch. Kildare (champion Irish setter dog of America and sire of Queen Vic, champion Irish setter bitch of America), stud fee $25. Also English setter and Chesapeake Bay puppies of the finest strains. Send for catalogue containing photos of celebrated stud dogs and bitches. OAK GROVE KENNELS, Moodus, Conn. tf

GREAT DANES

GREAT DANES—Ch. Major McKinley's puppies, out of Jessie L. whelped April 14: they are beauties F. L. JENNINGS, River Forest, Ill. 20*

MISCELLANEOUS

St. Bernard Puppies

Three litters of blue bloods for sale, quality the finest in America.

DOGS IN THE STUD—Altou Jr, Altoneer, Melrose King, Jim Blaine.

MELROSE KENNELS,

E. H. Moore, MELROSE, MASS. 43-15-tf

DOGS! DOGS! DOGS!

Less than panic prices. If you want to get a first-class dog of the following breeds cheap write us and we will give you a bargain:

Mastiffs, St. Bernards, Newfoundlands, bull, fox, Skye, Scotch and Yorkshire terriers, setters, pointers, beagles and pugs. Toy black and tan terriers a specialty and a grand lot of collies cheap. In fact for a first-class dog of any breed you cannot do better than with us.

N. B.—A grand lot of rabbit dogs on hand.

CEDAR KENNELS,
42-17-tf 135 S. 8th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

We have a fine litter of

Collie Puppies

For sale by Ch. Christopher (21675), out of Dorcas (27756), she by Ch. Wellesbourne Charlie; also some fine

Irish Terriers

By our new stud dog, John Briggs (35584). CHRISTOPHER and WELLESBOURNE CHARLIE at stud. CHESTNUT HILL KENNELS, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED!

Any sportsman wanting first-class broken and unbroken setters or pointers can get what they want from me; new list now ready.

T. C. DAVEY, London, Ont.

DOGS FOR SALE.

If you want to buy a dog of any kind write for prices to

J. HOPE,
39-20-52t 29 N. 9th St., Phila., Pa.

MR C. BURGESS, whose kennels have been established 18 years, supplies perfectly broken setters and pointers of the leading field trial blood; also retrievers Specialties in terriers, broken to ferrets; fox (wire and smooth), Irish, Welsh, Airedale, etc. Also non-sporting dogs in all varieties. References to leading shippers and customers at home and abroad N. B—All orders must be accompanied by remittance or good English reference. C. BURGESS, The Grange, Partney, Spilsby, England. 20*

FOR SALE—Liver and white pointer dog; also black and white English setter dog, warranted to be thoroughly broken on quail, pheasant and woodcock, good retrievers and as fine a pair of dogs as any man wishes to own; only $25 each for these valuable dogs as I am making arrangements to go to Europe. AL PARKER, care Frank Mitchell & Co., 141 W. Fifth St., Cincinnati, O. 21*

FOR SALE—A setter bitch puppy by Diomed—Blue Ridge Belle, whelped September 5, 1894, color white, lemon ticked, dark eyes and nose, very strong, quick and promising; also dog and bitch pointer puppies by Strideaway—Beulah III, whelped March 18, 1895, very handsome puppies, liver and white, only four in litter. Address JOHN S WISE, 44 Broad St., New York. 21

DOGS FOR SALE—St. Bernards, mastiffs, Newfoundlands, pointers, setters, spaniels, pugs, all kinds of terriers. I make a specialty of game pit and show bull terriers and Yorkshire terriers; dogs and puppies of the above on hand at prices to suit the times; satisfaction and safe delivery guaranteed. EXCHANGE KENNELS, office 2312 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 44-6

ELDRED KENNEL offer cheap to make room two Avent hounds, dog and bitch, one native foxhound, beagle brood bitches by Tony Weller and Frank Forest and beagle puppies by Roy K, two fine setter puppies, chestnut, white and tan dog and bitch by Gladstone's Boy, 2 months old; cheap account color. CHAS. H. PHELPS JR., 13 Dock St, Philadelphia. 21

MOREY KENNELS have several litters of black curly-coated French poodles for sale; also grown stock, including brood bitches and stud dogs from imported stock and prize winners; Cnlg. Rajah, winner of five first open and three first challenge prizes, at stud, fee of $25 until sold. CHAS. D. BERNHEIMER, 21 W. 4th St., New York City. 43-20-tf

FOR SALE—A beautiful dog and bitch, February 28, black and white, combining Lady Margaret, Duke of Jesse L. King of Kent and Hops; two dogs January 6, and three dogs and one bitch January 19, by [illegible] George Cid and St. [illegible] for sale, pointers [illegible] Bluesville, Va. 43-16-tf

[illegible] Stud dogs, brood [illegible] prices. Estab- [illegible] KENNELS, Lanville, Kansas. 33-20-tf-eow

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

TRAINED dogs on bears, coons, rabbits. Also English bloodhounds, man trailers. GREENDALE KENNEL. Kensington, Ohio. 42-22-tf

COUPLE of hunting dogs for sale, thoroughly broken, fine retrievers. FRED ERB JR., Lafayette, Ind. 21

DOG TRAINING

WANTED—Sportsmen contemplating having dogs to train should write for my terms before placing them: the most complete training kennel in the United States; all work guaranteed. CHAS. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss. 20

K. 9 KENNELS—Pointers and setters, educated for practical field work; kennels located in a game country, and but 2½ hours from Philadelphia; twenty years' experience; best reference. W. G. SMITH, Marydel, Md. 43 26*

TRAINING—I will start for Northern Minnesota in July, can take two more dogs to work on chickens. J. T. MAYFIELD, Bicknell, Ind. 20

GEO. BATTISON—Professional bench show handler. Dogs boarded and put in condition for shows. Youngstown, Ohio. tf

BOARDING

DOGS BOARDED—Yard broken, best facilities for care, best care guaranteed; beagles preferred; good hunting, plenty of game. Address J. J. DEMAREST, Mont Vale, N. J. 22

STUD DOGS

AT STUD, $35.—CH. DUKE OF KENT II

Field trial winner; only pointer in U. S. winning title of champion in one year, 1893. First challenge, 1st field trial class; also special for best sporting dog in show, Louisville, 1894.

AT STUD, $35—IMP. MOLTON BANNER

One of the best pointers living; has beaten his sire, Saddleback, champion of England, Sandford Graphic and Sandford Bang, England's best. Puppies—Dogs $25; bitches $15; from the best of field trial and bench show blood bitches. GLEN ROCK KENNELS, 2 N. Market St., Boston, Mass.

Westminster Kennel Club.

KING OF KENT

In the Stud. Fee $50.

ALSO

Sandford Druid

FEE $35.

Apply to F. O. DeLUZE, Treasurer, 18 S. William St., New York.

WILLOWDALE KENNELS,

CROWN POINT, IND.

ALAN-A-DALE—A. K. C. No. 28135, collie dog, by Ch. The Squire—Stonehurst Lassie, by Ch. Roslyn Dandy, a magnificent dog and image of his sire; V.H.C. Chicago 1894. See comment AMERICAN FIELD. Alan is a born cattle dog.

DANDY DAVY (A. K. C. No. 36097), by Moray—Clover, the handsomest and most intelligent collie I ever bred; sable with white collar and ruff.

TACONY, smooth-coated fox terrier (A. K. C. 28136), white with tan marked head; inbred Prince Result: game as a pebble.

I will sell at reasonable price Moray, prize winner; Don Cameron and other A. K. C. collies; also book orders for young dogs. Address WILL J. DAVIS, Columbia Theater, Chicago. 39-4-tf

Rodfield

Black, white and tan English setter, winner of both of the U. S. F. T. Club's All-Age Setter Stakes at Bicknell, Ind., and West Point, Miss., 1894 and 1895. Catalog free.

STUD FEE $50.

P. T. MADISON.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

COUNT BEAUFORT

Moss Wind'em—Primrose, bred by and recently imported from Mr. R. Ll. Purcell Llewellin, Shrewsbury, England. Here is a chance for setter breeders to obtain the pure Count Noble blood, Moss Wind'em being a litter brother to that noted sire of field trial winners. This is an opportunity that owners of Gladstone and Druid—Ruby bitches should not lose sight of. Fee $25. Count Beaufort is a handsome, well built blue belton and is thoroughly field broken, keen nose and wide range, having been well shot over by Mr. Llewellin. For pedigree, etc., address W. STEWART DIFFENDERFFER, 113 Commerce St., Baltimore, Md. 44-8

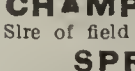
AT STUD—The well-known pointers,

CHAMPION RUSH OF LAD

Sire of field trial and bench winners; fee $25.

SPRINGSIDE FAUST

Winner of 1st puppy class Boston, 1894, only time shown; fee $15. Some exceptionally fine puppies from $10 up, ages 6 months to 1 year. ELDRIDGE KENNELS, 248 S. Warren St., Dayton, Ohio. eow-20



Irish Setters at Stud.—Imported Clairemont Patsy, Flash of Clairemont, (Ch. Elcho Jr. x Nino), and Chief Red Cloud. Great Prize Winning Blood. Send for Circulars. G. W. Hamilton, Centreville, Kansas.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

At Stud. ELDRED KENNEL. Fee $50.

CHAMPION ANTONIO

Winner of four firsts in trials and sire of Rodfield, Tony's Boy, Tony's Gale, Lady Mildred, Dash Antonio, Daisy Hunter II, Nellie Fox and Antoinette; eight winners out of seventeen of his get starting.

Brighton Tobe. Fee $35

Second A.-A. Stakes Northwestern and International Trials 1893; first A.-A. Stakes Manitoba and International Trials 1894. Read what the AMERICAN FIELD said of him. Pointer and setter puppies for sale.

Stud cards, shipping directions and circular of C. H. PHELPS JR., 13 Dock St., Philadelphia, Pa. 43 16-eow tf

AT STUD. FEE $25.

BRADLEY

(Rowdy Rod—Breeze Gates).

Bradley is an all-day tireless hunter and one of the best English setters in New England; he won 3rd in the N. E. F. T. Derby 1892, 2nd in the sweepstakes November, 1894. Address D. A. GOODWIN JR., Newburyport, Mass. 43-8-eow-tf

WIRE-HAIRED FOX TERRIERS

BROWN FRENCH POODLES.

For stud cards, list of produce stakes ($175 annually offered in prizes), price lists and full particulars, apply to HILL HURST KENNELS, Wellesley, Mass. 45-7

At Stud, Fee $25.

WHYTE B.

I offer the services of this highly bred setter; he is by Roderigo—Florence Gladstone. He won the A.-A. Stake in the Southern trials, beating such dogs as Antevolo, Novelist, Eugene I, Tremont, Bettye S and Bob Cooper. I candidly believe Whyte B has more endurance than any dog living, and is a combined field trial and shooting dog; his equal would be hard to find. H. S. BRYAN Somerville, Tenn

AT STUD—The celebrated pointer

KING BANG

FEE $15

Will serve a limited number of bitches this season. Pedigree and particulars on application.

C. C. HESS, Riverdale, Ill. 20*

AT STUD,

ST. BERNARDS and COCKER SPANIELS

Four St. Bernards and eight cocker spaniels including Ch Middy at $15 stud fee. Send stamp for illustrated catalogue.

SWISS MOUNTAIN KENNELS, Germantown Philadelphia, Pa.

COCKER SPANIEL

CH. BLACK DUKE

Stud $25. Bitches for breeding purposes admitted free of duty in Canada. GEO. DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ont. 23

IMP. ALBERT'S RANGER

The handsomest English setter in America; fee $25; return expressage paid on bitches. Photo 20 cents. Stud cards. WARWICK KENNELS, Bridgeport, Conn. 43-13

AT STUD—Smooth fox terriers, Hillside Royal (Starden's King—Hillside Freda); fee to approved bitches, $10; Raby Prince (Raby Pallisy—Richmond Jesmine); fee to approved bitches, $10. WAWASET KENNELS, Wilmington, Del. 44-5

AT STUD—Col. Kent (31054), by King of Kent—Bang's Mollie, half brother of Rip Rap, Strideaway and Kent Elgin; a No. 1 fielder; $15 Address SAM A. NOFTZGER, Proprietor Eel River Pointer Kennels, North Manchester, Ind. 43-8 tf

AT STUD—Christopher Columbus, the finest collie in the West, by Ch. Christopher; fee to approved bitches, $20 Address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20 tf

AT STUD—The golden brindled Great Dane King William (34279), winner of three first prize; fee $25. HIGHLAND KENNELS, Topeka, Kan. 23*

AT STUD—The famous smooth fox terrier, Blemton Stipend, to approved bitches: $10. J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43 20 tf

RODERIGO is dead, but I have his brother Cassio (23600), winner of four field trials: fee $25; try him. W. F. VAN BUSKIRK, Odell, Ill. 43-15-tf

RED COCKERS—Champ. Red Jacket and Red Roland at stud; red puppies. BRANT COCKER KENNELS, Brantford, Ont. 43-14-tf

BEAGLE—Tony W (Ch. Tony Weller—Topsy S), in stud. LOUIS STEFFEN, 781 3rd St., Milwaukee, Wis. 22

CHESAPEAKE MARK (3594); fee $10. L. K. MASON, Hastings, Ia. 43 15-tf

MATERIALS AND FIXTURES

HEALTH FOR ANIMALS

Of the many skin diseases that animals are subject to there are none which cannot be brought under control and speedily cured by the use of

GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP

Its perfect reliability in all forms of

MANGE

From which dogs suffer has been attested by innumerable testimonials from the highest kennel authorities and the grateful acknowledgment of thousands of dog owners.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

SPRATTS PATENT
DOG,
PUPPY,
POULTRY,
GAME
Foods, Medicines, Soaps and Furnishings.

Send for pamphlet to

SPRATTS PATENT, LTD.,

239-245 E. 56th Street, New York.

"OUR DOGS"

The Popular English Doggy Journal.

Published every Saturday. Price One Penny.

Contains all the latest news and the best information relating to doggy subjects. It is written in chatty style; is contributed to by the best known writers; is well illustrated: enjoys a large circulation, and is a splendid medium for the sale or purchase of dogs. Subscription 8s. 6d per year post free to any part of America. SPECIMEN COPIES FREE.

Our Dogs Publishing Co., Ltd.,

10 Gore St., Piccadilly, Manchester, Eng.

Florentine Metal Dog Collars

Royal Bronze.

THE UP TO DATE COLLAR.

I. BREMER,

Successor to

Medford Fancy Goods Co.,

Dog Outfitters.

44-46 DUANE STREET, NEW YORK.

Dog Collars and Furnishings in Sterling Silver a Specialty.

R. J. WITHERS, M. D.,

VETERINARY SURGEON,

627 So. Main St., LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Treatment of dogs a specialty. Good hospital accommodations. Advice by mail $1.

NEW BOOK ON DOG DISEASES

And How to Feed

Mailed FREE to any address by the author.

H CLAY GLOVER, D V S., 1293 Broadway, N. Y

McGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL

Faculty of Comparative Medicine and Veterinary Science (late Montreal Veterinary College). Calendars sent on application, giving full information to intending students. Lectures commence first Wednesday in October in each year. Apply to CHARLES McEACHRAN, D. V. S., Registrar, Veterinary College, 5 Union Avenue, Montreal, Canada 37-1-tf

SPORT WITH GUN AND ROD

Edited by Alfred M. Mayer

Is a magnificent volume of 892 pages—"the finest volume about American sports and outdoor life," says the Hartford Courant, "that has ever been published in this country." The book contains fifty separate and distinct articles, each by an expert sportsman, and is embellished with several hundred illustrations. Over $30,000 was spent in the preparation of this work. "In every respect the work is thorough and must become standard," says the Spirit of the Times. In one royal octavo volume. cloth, $5. An Edition de luxe in two volumes is also published. Price, in embossed leather binding, $18; cloth, $12.

The American Field Pub. Co., Chicago.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

THE

Continental Field Trials Club's Inaugural Field Trials

To be run on Quails at

Newton, N. C., beginning with the Derby, Monday, November 25, 1895,

SETTERS:
$150 to first
$125 to second
$100 to third
$ 75 to fourth
$ 50 to fifth

POINTERS:
$150 to first
$125 to second
$100 to third
$ 75 to fourth
$ 50 to fifth

Providing the Eastern Field Trials Club's trials are through, otherwise as soon as the Eastern trials are concluded.

For Pointers and Setters born on or after January 1, 1894.

Each breed to run separately.

Entries close June 1, 1895. Forfeit, $10, which must accompany nomination. $10 additional forfeit, payable September 1. $10 additional to start.

TOTAL STAKE, $1,000.

P. T. MADISON, Secretary-Treasurer, Lock Box 4, Indianapolis, Ind.

LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE

LITTLE'S PRIZE MEDAL PHENYLE DOG SOAP
Cleanses the skin and improves the coat.

Superior to any now before the public. Beautifies, cleanses, and gives a healthy glow to the skin.
LITTLE'S SANITARY PHENYLE DOG SOAP.

(COPYRIGHTED.)

DOCTOR—There is no doubt, my friends, but that you are suffering from a most severe case of Mange. My advice is that you procnre at once LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE, a sure cure, which will also keep your kennels nice and sweet.

PATIENTS (all together)—We will send to our druggist for it at once.

Used by the principal kennels and bench shows in America and Europe. No keeper of valuable dogs, horses, etc, should be without it. Pronounced by the highest authorities the best and most effective disinfectant in the market. For full particulars of its various uses, send for pamphlet to

MORRIS LITTLE & SON, 175 to 177 N. 10th Street, Brooklyn, E. D., N. Y.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's

Patron: C. C. Chipman, Commissioner Hudson Bay Co., Winnipeg.
President: F. G. Simpson, Winnipeg.

Ninth Annual Trials (ON PRAIRIE / CHICKEN), Morris, Man., September 10, etc., 1895.

DERBY—For setters and pointers whelped on or after January 1, 1894. Purse $250. First $100; second $75; third $50; fourth $25. Entries close July 1. Forfeit $5, starters $10 additional. Forfeit money must accompany each entry.

ALL-AGE STAKES—For setters and pointers which have never won first place in an all-age stake in any previous year. Purse $250. First $125; second $75; third $50. Entries close August 15. Forfeit $5, $10 additional for starters. Forfeit money must accompany each entry.

JOHN WOOTTON, Hon. Secy.-Treas., P. O. Box 109, Manitou, Man.

cow-21

TROUT, BASS, PIKE,
PICKEREL, PERCH, DUCKS,
GEESE, SNIPE, CHICKENS;

Are all to be found contiguous to the line of

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

—SEND FOR—

Natural Game Preserves of North America.

CHAS. S. FEE,

Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt., ST. PAUL.

PLOVER, ANTELOPE, BEAR,
MOUNTAIN LIONS, CARIBOU, DEER,
WHITE GOATS, ROCKY MTN. SHEEP

Chicago & Alton R.R.

AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR RAILROAD.

PERFECT PASSENGER SERVICE.

The direct, best and only rock-ballasted dustless line between
CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY,
CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS,
ST. LOUIS AND KANSAS CITY.

Through Pullman Service Every Day From

CHICAGO TO COLORADO

JAMES CHARLTON, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

PETER MÖLLER'S NORWECIAN COD LIVER OIL

SWEETEST, SOUNDEST, BEST AND OF ABSOLUTE PURITY.

Put u in flat, oval bottles, sealed and dated. All druggists.

W. H. SCHIEFFELIN & CO, New York,

Sole Agents for the U. S. and Canada.

In answering advertisements please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD.

ANTI-STIFF

Sportsmen, Cyclists, Oarsmen, Yachtsmen, Cyclists and Athletes

SHOULD TRY IT. It has a particularly warming, comforting and stimulating effect on all weak or stiff muscles. RUB WELL INTO THE MUSCLES. Quick in action. Clean and pleasant to use.

20c.-35c. Box. Trainer's size, $1.

Sold by druggists and dealers in sporting goods.

E. Fougera & Co., 30 N. William St., N. Y.

STRENGTHENS THE MUSCLES

ESTABLISHED 1857.

FRED KAEMPFER,
Taxidermist

AND DEALER IN Taxidermists', Oölogists' and Entomologists' supplies.

Send stamp for catalogue.

No. 217 E. Madison, Chicago, Ill.

ARTIFICIAL GLASS EYES For Stuffed Birds and Animals.

IS YOUR GUN LEADED?

If so get a TOMLINSON GUN CLEANER and clean it out. Simplest cleaner ever offered to the trade. Wire pads can be replaced; will not injure gun barrels; will fit any standard rod, guaranteed in every particular. Sent by mail, $1. Mention gauge. Discount on application. Address

C. TOMLINSON
108 Beacon St., SYRACUSE, N. Y

THIS IS THE ORIGINAL

CHEW WHITE'S YUCATAN GUM.

PEPPERMINT-FLAVORED—
Chewing Gum

To relieve the distressing pains of DYSPEPSIA AND HEART BURN.

Indispensable to cyclists and sportsmen.

CHEW FOR 20 MINUTES AFTER EACH MEAL.

The only chewing gum factory open to visitors at all [illegible]

W. J. WHITE, Sole [illegible]
Cleveland [illegible]

MISCELLANEOUS.

HUNTING GROUNDS

ALONG THE LINE OF

The Southern Railway

The Southern Railway is endeavoring to furnish every facility to sportsmen to reach its territory, especially Virginia and the Carolinas, where game is abundant and game laws lenient.

Most convenient schedules are operated from all junction points.

For additional information apply o

S. H. HARDWICK,
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Atlanta, Ga.
C. A. BENSCOTER.
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Knoxville, Tenn.
W. A. TURK,
Gen. Pass. Agt., Washington, D. C.
R. D. CARPENTER
Gen. Agt., 271 Broadway, New York
HENRY HIDEN,
Commercial Agt., 10 Rookery, Chicago.
L. S. BROWN,
Gen. Agt., 1300 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.

The Home of the Tarpon

AND

Ducks by the Million

AT

Aransas and Corpus Christi Bays

REACHED BY

San Antonio and Aransas Pass Ry.

Twelve tarpon caught in one day, November 4, 1894, by Messrs. Bull, Lewis and Wallis of Racine, Wis., aggregating over 800 pounds.

Tarpon season March 15 to December 1; duck shooting December to March.

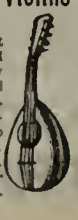
Send for maps, etc. Address

E. J. MARTIN, Gen. Pass. Agt., San Antonio Tex

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.

These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality, we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order. Also sent C. O. D., with privilege of examining. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manuf'rs in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.



Sportsmen, Attention

Trophies of the Forest and Field

Few sportsmen are enabled to keep souvenirs of the chase, as the art of preserving objects of natural history is not generally known. Still there are thousands of guuners and anglers, together with their parents, wives and children, who often lament their want of ability to mount rare and curious objects of interest, and tropbies of the day's or week's outing.

Many homes could be beautified, and many dens made more attractive, if the head of the house, his wife or childreu. had even a slight knowledge of preserving and mountiug objects of natural history. We often hear the remark: "How I wish that big pike's head could be saved." Or we hear the complaint from a hunter who deplores the fact of his inability to save more than the horns of the moose, elk or caribou which he shot on the trip; while the lady of the house, intent on decoration, laments the wasting of the plumage of the game birds.

Do you wish to learn a simple method by which you can preserve and mount a humming bird, grouse, snipe or quail in natural position, or put up a pike's or deer's head?

Do you wish to follow a course of instruction which does not require one-third of the work needed for the old style of preserving by stuffing, and at less than one tenth of the expense and no tools excepting a knife and file?

Do you wish to give agreeable employment to your family, and beautify your homes, enlighten your children, and delight and interest your friends?

If so, send 75 cents for complete instructions and one pound of prepared compound ready for use, enough to prepare twenty to forty birds. Mention the AMERICAN FIELD, and address MORRIS GIBBS, M. D., Kalamazoo, Mich. 43-26

LYMAN'S RIFLE SIGHTS.

Send for 96 Page Catalogue of Sights and Fine Shooting Rifles.

WILLIAM LYMAN,
Middlefield, Conn.

THE AMATEUR TRAINER

FORCE SYSTEM WITHOUT THE WHIP.

BY ED. F. HABERLEIN (a practical trainer of thirty years' experience).

SECOND EDITION. Revised and illustrated with full-page portraits of typical bird dogs.

Has just been published and should be in the hands of every owner of a bird dog, whether trained or untrained.

"The Amateur Trainer" is a plain, practical and concise yet thorough guide in the art of training, handling and the correcting of faults of the bird dog subservient to the gun afield. The manual has been written especially for those who may possess a puppy but cannot afford the high charges of professional trainers to have the same broken for field work. By following the instructions plainly given in the book, every shooter possessed of a little common sense and patience can train his own dog to perfection.

If you have a broken dog who is faulty in some respects, you will find ample advice in the manual how to overcome any fault thoroughly. If your dog does not retrieve, or if so, is hard mouthed, and unsteady to point and shot chases rabbits, etc., etc., is whipshy, watershy or gunsby, etc., then don't fail to get this book and eradicate the annoyances.

The book is written in a comprehensible, popular form, devoid of long-spun theories, and is based upon practical experience throughout. Each chapter alone on the correction of faults of matured dogs is fully worth the price of the book to anyone owning a dog so afflicted. Dogs of any age can be taught to retrieve readily—soft moutbed and in perfect style—by following the plain instructions given therein.

To the novice, who may aspire to perfect his own dog in the usefulness afield, it will prove an invaluable aid, giving clear instructions from the beginning with a puppy up to the training of the bird dog to a high degree.

It is not INTENDED NOR PROMISED to give a large volume of PASTIME READING MATTER, but the publisher guarantees the book to contain the most practical information on the subject, in a plain, concise form, for the price. It contains 81 pages and has paper cover. Price, paper cover, $1; cloth, $1.50.

Address

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

AMERICAN GAME FISHES.

Their Habits, Habitat, and Peculiarities. How, When and Where to Angle for Them.

The book is a sportsman's book, edited and written by sportsmen. In a relatively small compass table writers, whose names appear in the contents, and are well qualified to discuss the subjects upon which they have written, have furnished a book that, as a whole, is unequaled in the history of angling literature, and no other volume presents to its readers so much valuable information by such a corps of accomplished and experienced writers upon AMERICAN GAME FISHES.

The 155 illustrations will be found to be accurate, truthful portraits of all the fishes described in the volume. The two colored plates give the natural colors of the flies commonly used in angling, and enhance the value of the book.

CONTENTS.

Introduction	A. N. CHENEY.
The Salmon	CHARLES HALLOCK.
The Pacific Salmon	W. A. PERRY ("Sillaicum").
The Land-Locked Salmon	J. G. A. CREIGHTON.
The Tarpon	W. N. HALDEMAN.
The Striped Bass	FRANCIS ENDICOTT.
The Black Bass	DR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Bluefish	PROF. G. BROWN GOODE.
The Mascalonge	LR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Mascalonge in Wisconsin Waters.	A. A. MOSHER.
The Brook Trout.	F. H. THURSTON ("Kelpie").
Trouting on the Nipigon	W. H. H. MURRAY.
The Lake Trout	REV. LUTHER PARDEE.
The Rocky Mountain Trout	G. O. SHIELNS ("Coquina").
Sea Bass, Sea Trout, Spanish Mackerel, Grouper, Mangrove Snapper, Sheepshead and other Southern Fishes	S. C. CLARKE.
The Grayling	F. H. THURSTON.
The Pike	W. D. TOMLIN.
The Wall-Eyed Pike	A. A. MOSHER.
The Pickerel	W. D. TOMLIN.
The White Perch	FRED. MATHER.
The Yellow Bass, White Bass, Strawberry Bass, Rock Bass, Crappie, Sunfish, Yellow Perch, and Minor Perch and Sunfishes.	PROF. DAVIN STARR JORNAN.
The Senses of Fishes	WILLIAM C. HARRIS.
Fishing-Tackle, and How to Make It.	J. HARRINGTON KEENE
Reels, Their Use and Abuse	B. C. MILA
The Angler's Camp Outfit	G. O. SHIELN

Large 8vo, 580 Pages. Cloth $2.50; Half Morocco, $4.00; Full Morocco, gilt edged, $5.50.

...s, and will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address

...ERICAN FIELD PUBLISHING CO.,

245 and 247 State Street, Chicago, Ill.

DUCK CALLS, 55c & $1
GOOSE CALLS, $1
SNIPE CALLS, 40c
TURKEY CALLS, 75c

GRUBBS' PERFECT DUCK CALL. (EVERY ONE WARRANTED.)

Grubbs' Improved Illinois River Duck Call. The most natural toned call made; easy to blow; not easy to get out of repair, having a fine tempered reed; makes it so you can call teal, woodduck and bluebill, as well as mallard. This is the only call you can do this with.

Same as above, made of red cedar, silver-mounted, with silver reed which gives it perfect tone, $1. Every one warranted. Address

CHAS. W. GRUBBS; 56 Alice Place, Chicago

WHERE MAY I FIND GOOD SPORT?

IN Kansas

PRAIRIE CHICKENS, quails, jack-rabbits and ducks abound. The Arkansas Valley and its tributaries afford most satisfactory hunting grounds. In southeastern Kansas there is a fair supply of bass and catfish.

IN Colorado

HERE the fishing rod should be unpacked. Enough trout to keep your rod and line busy may be found in hundreds of mountain streams along the Colorado Midland line. Away from the railroad larger game exists—bears, rocky mountain sheep, elk, blacktail deer, etc.

IN Indian Territory

WILD TURKEYS, prairie chickens, quails and deer are the favorite game in Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A party of three to ten, with guide, will find great sport thirty miles or so from railroad lines.

IN Texas

ANYWHERE on the Gulf Coast several days can be enjoyably spent angling for the deep-sea fish that swarm the Gulf waters. You cast the line; the fish do the rest. Wild fowl are also prevalent in the marshes.

IN New Mexico

UP In the mountains are clear streams where the possible catch of trout may exceed your biggest story—which is saying a good deal. Enough wild game in the wooded wilderness to satisfy the most ardent hunter.

Address G. T. NICHOLSON, G. P. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R., Monadnock Building, Chicago, for detailed information respecting any one or more of the above localities.

ALL ALONG THE SANTA FE ROUTE.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

GUN CLUB SCORE BOOK

Surpasses anything of its kind ever issued. It has, in addition to 150 score sheets, correct and complete copies of American Shooting Association Rules for Live Bird and Inanimate Target Shooting, also Hurlingham and Long Island Rules, which will be found very convenient for ready reference. Further, it contains a proper form of Constitution and By-Laws (that may be used as a guide in organizing a club), also a set of Field and Club House Rules. Carbon paper for manifolding purposes is inclosed in each book. It is so bound that when in use the top cover may be thrown back and under the book, making a solid base on which to write.

Owing to the immense advantage we have in compiling and pushing the sale of this book we are able to offer it at only $1.00 per copy, but at this price our margin of profit is too small to admit of discounts on large lots or to dealers. Bear in mind it contains 150 score sheets, besides additional matter as detailed above. Size of book, 9x12 inches. Sent postpaid on receipt of price.

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO.

Modern American Pistols and Revolvers.

By A. C. GOULD ("RALPH GREENWOOD").

An account of the development of pistols and revolvers in America; description of the varieties manufactured; manner of shooting them; work accomplished with these arms; departments of pistol and revolver shooting; impressions formed by studying these arms, and rules governing pistol and revolver competitions. Profusely illustrated 222 pages, cloth bound.

PRICE $1.50.

Address AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO., Chicago, Ill.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

THE SPORTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

Vol. XLIII—No. 21. NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, MAY. 25, 1895. PRICE, Ten Cents. $5.00 Per Year.

Published by the American Field Publishing Co.

TERMS.—Five dollars a year; two dollars and seventy-five cents for six months; Club rates, three or more four dollars a year each; strictly in advance.

REMITTANCES.—Money should be sent by American Express Co.'s Money Order, Postal Order, Draft on Chicago, or by Registered Letter.

NEWS DEALERS.—The Trade supplied by the American and Western News Companies.

COMMUNICATIONS.—Manuscript intended for publication should be written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith, and all communications, upon any subject, or for any department, must be addressed,

N. ROWE.
Editor and Manager American Field,
245 and 247 State St., Chicago, Ill.

EASTERN OFFICE.—19 Park Place, New York.

THE SPORTSMEN'S EXPOSITION

The anxiously awaited sportsmen's exposition that opened in Madison Square Garden, Monday afternoon, May 13, at 2 o'clock p. m., more than realized the expectations of those taking part in it, either as exhibitors or visitors, and the sportsmen—true, honest lovers of the woods, lakes, rivers, fields, forests and streams, the game and the fishes that dwell in them—have had an object lesson placed before them that will cause pleasant memories for years. At noon on Monday nearly everything seemed in chaotic mass, but the disorder rapidly changed to order, so that when the gong sounded the opening hour, the music adding interest, the large number of displays of art and Nature were nearly in order. As soon as the doors opened visitors began to come in, culminating in a crowd in the evening such as is seen at the dog shows there. When the sportsman enters the garden, visions of the chase, nights in camp after the successes and disappointments of the day in the woods and along streams, must arise and carry him back to the days happily spent in past years, free from the cares of business, where, communing with Nature, many of the happiest hours of his life have been spent. Memory must have turned back to the cozy cabin near some lake, in the home of some guide, the happy and welcome place of rest after a long day's tramp. Sportsmen and others found here much to amuse and educate them, and which will be productive of good to them in after years when preparation is being made for another life-giving trip for a few days, or weeks, perchance, to Western wilds, to the Adirondacks, the forests of Maine, the ducking grounds of the Chesapeake, or to the region of the Rangeley lakes, and places of such nature. Specimens of animals innumerable, preserved by the taxidermist's art, told to all of the great variety of animal life with which this country has been blessed, and which has succumbed to the master, man, whose devices have been able to meet and conquer; yet, compared with the present, the agencies of man have never been so complete in the death-dealing qualities as were shown in this great display.

This inaugural event must have been most satisfactory to those who have labored hard to bring it about, and assures them that it is but the beginning of yearly exhibitions which will serve to bring about a result which now should never be in question again—a sportsmen's club—where yearly they should be able to meet and recount the pleasant experiences of the past in rooms second to none, made instructive by contributions from sportsmen throughout this broad land, who would only have to be invited to insure them. Now is the time to make a move in the matter.

But to the exhibits, and as they are so numerous a passing glance must suffice for many of them.

It is but just to say that this, the first exhibition, has been an unqualified success in way of exhibits, and in point of attendance has far exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine. The attendance of sportsmen from far and near has been large, the society of New York has stamped its approval and a very large percentage of the attendance has been ladies. In the evenings alone the attendance has been as high as 8,000. Firms that should have taken an interest and did not came in after the first half of week and offered round sums for space for the remaining days, but were refused in justice to those who had the courage to take the first step; but they are now among the first to make application for space for the next exposition, which will be held in March, 1896, when it is safe to say that the exhibits of everyone present this year will be excelled, as many did not anticipate the great success of the present show. Many have already applied for additional space, promising a much more elaborate and extensive exhibit, and it is doubtful if the Garden will accommodate the demands that will be made. The railroads throughout the United States will be asked for reduced rates and the time (March) is fixed that the merchant sportsmen of the country can take advantage of it in proper season to get their supplies. The object of the association is a laudable one and is best set forth in the following, the

FIRST ANNUAL GREETING.

"In opening the doors of its first annual exposition, the Sportsmen's Association believes that it will appeal most strongly to those sentiments which create the sportsman among the American people.

"A love of those pleasures associated with forest, field and stream seems inherent among young Americans. As boyish enthusiasm over the contests of the diamond is followed by the love of the collegian for the rush and struggle of the football field, just so, in later years, is developed a devotion to those pastimes typified in the rod, the gun and rifle. Whole-souled and enthusiastic indulgence in honest sport makes strong-bodied, clear-minded men and healthy women. A nation of people who are also a nation of sportsmen is a nation to be admired for its vigorous man and womanhood, and respected for the mental force and physical prowess of its subjects. A nation of people who boast no sportsmen is invariably a nation of weaklings.

"As a nation of sportsmen, America to-day, perhaps, leads all the world, and as such it is growing greater with each succeeding year. Nor is it strange that we should have attained preëminence in this respect. Our almost boundless prairies, our vast forests, our superb mountain ranges, our incomparable great lakes, and the bountiful distribution of smaller lakes and streams throughout almost every state in the Union, certainly furnish sufficient game for the sport of two such nations as our own, great as it is.

"It is with a view to still further stimulating an interest in sports of the field and stream, that the Sportsmen's Association has planned and carried to success its first annual exposition, that experienced sportsmen may become better posted upon the improvements effected in those implements with which they are to a greater or less extent familiar, and that the young sportsman, possessed of a budding love and enthusiasm for those pastimes of "The limpid stream, beneath whose shadows lolls the speckled trout,

The brush of elder where the brown-hued cock and mottled grouse repose, may, through a closer intimacy with all that pertains to manly sport, give vigorous stimulant to the sportsman's blood within his veins, if such there be.

"The annual exposition of the Sportsmen's Association is but one of the means through which it is proposed to educate the younger generation of sportsmen. The organization, assured of the support of some of the most prominent sportsmen and sportsmen's organizations of the country, is planning to establish a headquarters in New York City that must prove of much interest and great practical value to sportsmen in many ways.

"First, in its valuable library, for which the nucleus has already been formed.

"Second, in its extensive collection of paintings of game birds and animals, mounted specimens, models of firearms—both ancient and modern—fishing tackle, and all that pertains to sport with either gun or rod.

"Third, in its course of illustrated lectures by prominent guides and amateur sportsmen, in which it is intended to portray their adventures and experiences in the big game districts of the world.

"Fourth, in its department of 'Work with the Camera,' where specimens of photography made in the field and upon the stream by members of the association will form one of the most interesting collections of the kind in existence.

"Fifth, in its 'Bureau of Information,' through which, by coöperation with many of the great railway lines of the country, and by other means at the command of the association, its members will be informed, upon application, as to those districts offering the greatest attractions to sportsmen, the best means of reaching them at the least expense, and the accommodations afforded.

"Sixth, in its effort, through legislation and other effective methods, toward game protection.

"Seventh, in the establishment of handsomely appointed assembly rooms as a headquarters for its members, and for the display of its collections, the care of its library, and the holding of its lecture courses.

"In a word, the Sportsmen's Association has been organized to fill a want long felt by sportsmen; to instruct, to serve, and to benefit its members in a manner which they can scarcely fail to appreciate, and recognize the practical value of.

"Such is the Sportsmen's Association—an organization of sportsmen, governed by sportsmen, and for sportsmen. During the past few weeks, many sportsmen have enrolled their names upon the membership list, the yearly dues being, for active members $20, and for honorary members $5. Before the time arrives for holding the second annual exposition (which it is intended to make international in character), in March, 1896, it is expected that the membership roll will have increased until the association shall have become an organization with members in every state in the Union, with wide reaching influence in the interests of game protection, and of much practical value through the information it will disseminate among its members.

"Applications for membership should be mailed to Treasurer Sportsmen's Association, P. O. Box 1760, New York City. All applications should be accompanied by check, cash, or P. O. order for first year's dues, checks being made payable to the order of J. A. H. Dressel, treasurer."

PARKER BROS.

The display of this firm was in the hands of that well-known, courteous gentleman, A. W. Du Bray (Gaucho), and no better hands could have represented it. Nearly one hundred guns were in the attractive case and on the revolving stand, representing all grades from fifty to four hundred dollars. Around this display a group of sportsmen could always be found. A large sign displayed the fact that the Parker gun won the Grand American Handicap of 1895.

THE BRIDGEPORT IMPLEMENT CO., BROADWAY, N. Y.

Several men here were kept busy showing the large line of cartridge-loading devices, cleaning rods, cyclometers, etc. A new thing is the micrometer measure, which is quickly changed and set to meet the demand for nitro powder, and shot measure. It seems perfect for the purpose intended. In looks it is like the ordinary measure, but taking hold of the milled lower edge the lower half is readily turned by a screw running on the inner surface of the upper half, which lengthens or shortens the measure, and when to a point wanted a set screw under the handle secures it safely until another change is wanted. The scale covers all sized charges of nitro powders and shot, and the measure must soon supersede all others.

REMINGTON ARMS CO.

Next to the above display is a large one by this company, which includes, besides a large display of their excellent shotguns, a display of rifles such as they have furnished and are furnishing to the governments of the United States, China, Japan, Spain, Roumania, San Domingo, New Zealand, Chile, Egypt, France, Honduras, Argentine Republic, Cuba, Guatemala, Persia, Sweden, Greece, Hayti and Nicaragua. The penetrating force of some of them is shown in blocks of pine where sixty-three inches are perforated. Mr. Bradly, Mr. Fred Hartley and P. G. James were in attendance.

A. G. SPALDING & BRO.

The display of this firm was under the direction of Mr. Frederick A. Leland. A recess room, with doors in picture-frame shape, showed figures in costume, representing, in appropriate dress, hunting, skating, fishing, golf, tennis, baseball and archery. Something entirely new to the larger number of visitors was the Layman pneumatic boat. Seemingly comfortable, safe, of easy projection, it must prove a boon to sportsmen for shooting and fishing. Next in order was the handiwork of taxidermists, No. 5 West 3d Street, New York. A great variety shows the skill of this firm in this line, two exhibits being the equal of anything seen: First, a group of tigers, one with game and a second [illegible] ing and crawling, both snarling, intent on a [illegible] second, a lioness in a cage on a bed of straw [illegible] cubs. So lifelike were these that, together with [illegible] which read, "Visitors are requested not to [illegible] animals," many were not readily convinced that the subjects were other than alive.

WM. W. HART & CO.,

FRED SAUTER, TAXIDERMIST.

Adjoining the above was the large display of this gen[tleman], of No. 3 North William Street, New York, [estab]lished in 1860. The exhibit covered a large space, and [was a] unique one, consisting of several large groups of [animals], bears, wild boars and hounds in conflict, a buffalo [pursued] by wolves, surrounding him in every possible way, some tossed aside, others on his back, making a realistic scene, enjoyed by all who saw it.

THE SPORTSMEN'S EXPOSITION—AMERICAN FIELD EXHIBIT

Moose and elk, deer, cougars, bears and tigers, with other animals in entire form, with a large display of heads and horns of nearly every species, formed an exhibit not surpassed or equaled by any. To Mr. Sauter the AMERICAN FIELD is indebted for a display that has been complimented beyond measure.

MERIDEN BRITANNIA CO.

Mr. J. H. Dickinson in charge we found obliging and ready to show the numerous loving cups of many designs and other articles in which they have built up a large trade, furnishing hundreds of clubs and societies trophies that will baffle the skill of many to detect from the solid silver of firms who must charge a large advance on the heavily plated ware of this company. Their goods are in such design and finish that it is a necessity to look at the bottom for the words "sterling silver" to detect the difference. They are finished by a process that prevents discoloring and can be kept in best of condition. With the exhibit of this company were the trophies of the Vigilant belonging to Mr. Geo. J. Gould and loaned for exhibition. They comprised the cups won at Royal St. George Yacht Club (Ireland), Royal Clyde Yacht Club, Royal Cork Yacht Club cup, the Yachtsman's cup, Rear Commodore's cup, and the cup presented by H. R. H., Prince of Wales. It is needless, almost, to say they attracted the attention of all loyal Americans.

LEFEVER ARMS CO.

Uncle Dan Lefever was in evidence here. He long ago demonstrated that he can make and shoot a gun, as well as talk gun. His exhibit was attractive and the hammerless ejector—the ejector with only two pieces—commends itself to all. The exhibit will add to the popularity of this gun. In the case was exhibited the gold medal and blue ribbon won years ago, we believe in 1878, at St. Louis, when three army officers were appointed as judges. This is one of Uncle Dan's treasures.

UNITED STATES NET AND TWINE CO.

was represented by Mr. Geo. Paddock. The well-known Kosmic (world-wide) rod and fishing tackle specialties formed the chief exhibit. The solid gold-mounted rod, with the price of $500 attached, attracted attention. Another thing, rarely seen, was a bunch of silkworm gut in the extraordinary lengths of twenty-one inches. Mr. Paddock said his display in this way formed half of the stock in the world.

SMITH & WESSON

The fame of this firm is world-wide, and it is not hard to find the reason, judging from the grand display of their make of arms (pistols) of every conceivable finish. A finely engraved weapon, mounted as a central piece, is said to represent, in [wo]rkmanship and value, the actual [sum] [re]ceived. Wesson was in charge.

[U.] M. C. CO.

[Th]e boys say, "U. M. C." Thomas, [Jr.], [was] there, to discuss the goods of this firm. The tall octagon black and tan stands contained, in pyramidal form, the many things turned out by this firm. In the first case were wad and shell cases, both artistically arranged in designs and colors. The loaded cases were cut on the sides, exposing the manner of loading all nitro powders. The cases and loaded shells represented all sizes, from those used by yachts to a number 20. Case No. 2 contained bullets of all sizes and makes, rim and central fire cartridges, all sizes, from the old-style Spence to the BB; also the military cartridges for various nations, and smokeless powder cartridges, including one for the new Savage Arms Co. Another side had all sporting cartridges—all grades and sizes—short and long range. Another side contained small sporting and revolver cartridges, shot cartridges, Smith & Wesson self-lubricating, Marlin and Smith & Wesson smokeless cartridges. Another panel had the various sporting cases, empty. Case No. 3 had brass cases from Nos. 4 to 20 a second, 10 and 12 club brass shells. There was also a panel of primers, nitro powder cartridges and shot shells, including the celebrated No. 3 and new No. 5. The next panel held the primers for black powders, and still another musket caps and all other kinds. The last panel had the necessary rapid fire ammunition for long and short range, including steel and iron and steel projectiles, fuse, primers, and cannon primers. On one corner of the stand was a modern Driggs-Schroeder six-pounder, with chest of ammunition. Near by was a four-inch wrought iron plate that had been perforated by this gun. A shot near by was one that had gone through the plate, which was seemingly perfect. On another corner of the exhibit was a cannon of marked contrast, said to have been used in 1776. Mr. J. A. H. Dressel was a pleasant representative of the firm often met here.

LATHAM & CO.

Facing the entrance a shot tower about twenty-five feet high was in active operation, and it proved a feature of much interest to those who saw the three sizes of shot coming from it.

W. FRED QUIMBY & CO.

Along with the leather and goods of sportsmen's wear was the Empire target display and that of the E. C. Powder Co., for which this firm is the agent. The powder is now so well known and universally used that it needs no special mention here. In the Empire target trap some improvements are noticed, one important one. It is now made so that in throwing at unknown angles it cannot on the quartering birds throw any at more acute angles than those recognized as the proper ones in known angles. The traps were tastefully decorated in colors. Mr. Chas. Hibbard was at all times ready to show their good points, along with the electrical device to use with them.

PERFECT POCKET OILER.

Messrs. Cushman & Denison, of 172 9th Avenue, N. Y., had a good display of this recognized article of merit near the entrance to the Garden, and had their share of callers to examine the merits of the article.

LYMAN SIGHTS.

The riflemen naturally congregated around this display where they could see the really only recognized article of this kind. They were shown in variety and great quantity.

HUNTER ARMS CO.

There was a fine exhibit here, in charge of one of the Hunter Bros., of guns ranging from the lowest up to $500, the latter a magnificent piece, which was sold with several of the other grades. Comfortable chairs, flowers and agreeable company, always found here, made it a favorite rendezvous.

VON LENGERKE & DETMOLD

This display was admirably located, and the decorations in pictures, including a large picture of the celebrated eight of the Peekskill Club that scored 193 out of 200 targets in a match race—a record never equaled—were a pleasant feature. The display of guns included the celebrated Francotte, with Schultze and Walsrode powders, and the many necessaries of the sportsman.

THE SPORTSMEN'S EXPOSITION—AMERICAN FIELD EXHIBIT

Jordan L. Mott's new live-bird trap and pull was a feature of the exhibit. The pull is encased in a disk-shaped piece of furniture on an iron frame; the handle of the pull being the only part in sight of the mechanism. A cylinder with cogs pulls the traps in endless combinations, shifting automatically, after five pulls have been made. It does not necessarily pull all five traps in one combination, but the combinations are so arranged that after several combinations have been pulled it will be found that there has been an equal number of pulls on each trap. The electrical device in connection with the pull meets the demands on it. There is a quick pull, and any noise made by the trap comes after the bird has flown. The working of the trap is accurate and quick, and perhaps, as a whole, is the best yet offered. The firm distributed a souvenir—a match box in form of a cartridge. It was not equaled as a souvenir by anything distributed in the building.

AMERICAN FIELD

The illustrations published in connection with this report give a correct idea of the efforts of the AMERICAN FIELD to make its thousands of readers, visitors here, spend a pleasant hour or more. One side of a division showed a Maine moose, elk, Rocky Mountain goat, heads of caribou, moose, deer and antelope. On the other, two deer pursued by hounds, Koodoo antelope of South Africa, rocky Mountain sheep, heads of different animals, including that of a buffalo, the largest in the world. A case containing a 33-inch brook trout, weight 13½ pounds, a celebrated painting of Carl Rungius, heads of tarpon, mascalonge and other fishes preserved by the Daniels process, as well as beautiful specimens of various kinds of ducks. On the end a case of birds of exquisite plumage attracted much attention. All of this was prepared by the celebrated taxidermist, Fred Sauter, No. 3 North William Street, N. Y. One of the features of the exhibit was a magnificent brook trout (Salmo Fontinalis) 33 inches long and weighing 13½ pounds, the largest brook trout on record. This mammoth fish was very much admired and the subject of much discussion by trout fishermen, as its equal in size has never before been seen. The trout was beautifully mounted, looked as natural as though in the water, and was a revelation to the skeptic who cannot believe that a brook trout ever grew whose head was 33 inches from its tail. The fish is the property of Mr. Charles H. Meigs, of New Haven, Conn , who has refused an offer of $750 for it. Arrangements will probably be made to have a further exhibition of this fish in New York, to give anglers a chance to see the very largest and most magnificent specimen of a brook trout ever captured.

HURLBERT BROS. & CO.

Beginning at one end of this firm's exhibit was a cedar camp made of cedar logs halved, which formed a smooth and attractive place pleasantly scented. The decorations inside and out were tastefully arranged. There was a large display of athletic goods, comprising everything needed for the many outdoor amusements of the day, including golf. A special feature of the exhibit was a machine in operation making the sweaters and like garments sold by this firm. Other specialties were the seamless sleeping bag and steamer rugs, for which the firm are sole agents. One feature recommending the former for hunters is its weight, being only about seven pounds, about half the weight of those used in the past. The steamer rug is opened part of the way down and must come into universal use as it avoids that constant "tucking in" necessary with articles heretofore used. Light, warm, made in durable and attractive colors, such as navy blue, brown, mixed red and grays, they must soon supersede all articles for similar use, the prices, ranging from six to ten dollars. Other articles shown were boots and shoes (athletic goods), majestic bicycles, pistols, guns, boats, photographic outfits—of which the firm makes a specialty—Hopkins & Allen's single barrel shotguns and rifles. Pictures ornamented the display and with electric lights in showcases at nights the view at all times was good. Messrs. Muller, Ryder and Stoutenburg were in charge.

WIEBUSCH & HILGER

This firm being sole agents for the Stevens rifles and pistols, as well as the S. S. powder and shotguns, made by F. Demoulin, Liege, Belgium, made an attractive display.

SYRACUSE ARMS CO.

Geo. Mosher was, of course, found in charge here, ready to show the guns that are fast becoming popular with sportsmen who want a clean, well-made gun at a moderate price, such as can always be had here The success of the firm proves it has struck a popular vein which will be worked to the satisfaction of all.

COLT'S PATENT FIREARMS CO.

Here we found one of the oldest firms and largest manufacturers of firearms in the world. A picture of the founder and inventor, Mr. Samuel Colt, ornamented the center of the large and handsome case containing the firm's display, which included several of their first production made by Col. Colt in 1835–6. A large number of medals ornamented the display, proving their worth in competition with other lines. Along with the case goods we noticed the gatling gun and their new automatic gun. A smaller case was filled with rifles, shotguns and revolvers, which could readily be reached for inspection. Returning to the automatic gun, Mr. Willard explained that it had been put to severe tests and filled completely all requirements claimed for it. The automatic action is effected by the pressure of the powder gases in the barrel after the projectile has received its maximum velocity. Accuracy, durability and rapidity are its principal features. In tests for rapidity 100 shots were fired in 16 seconds, in accuracy making 100 consecutive hits; 7,000 shots were fired to test its durability. After these tests it was buried in fine sand, taken out and worked again without a hitch. The ammunition is fed to the gun automatically by belts holding 100, 250 or 500 each. One man only is required to work this gun, and he can fire it at the rate of 450 shots per minute. An important feature is its weight, which with tripod and mount complete is only about 100 pounds. The 10-barrel gatling gun is the formidable weapon furnished by this company to the U. S. Navy and mounted in same manner. Mr. Charles Willard, late of Chicago, but now at headquarters at Hartford, was in charge of the exhibit. It is needless to say his many Eastern friends are glad to have him among them where they can see more of him.

SCHOVERLING, DALY & GALES

Mr. W. Scherer Jr., in charge here, was obliging and attentive to visitors, and could show an excellent line of goods. As in other displays, some specialties were shown here, consisting of an excellent line of hampers well furnished with porcelain and tin covered contrivances of every kind, far preferable for their uses; also a superior quality of knives, etc. An excellent display of hunting knives was shown, the only one; also field and marine glasses with aluminum frames, elegantly finished. They were marvels of lightness and must supersede the heavier ones of the past. Athletic goods of every conceivable kind are carried in the stock of this firm. They are agents for the Al. J. Reach base balls and the Wright & Ditson tennis goods. In the gun department are found the Daly hammerless and three-barreled guns; also guns made by Sauer & Son, and the Krupp steel barreled guns. They control the product of the Wilkesbarre Co. and the New Haven Arms Co. The "take down" Marlin and other grades were shown in large quantities.

WINCHESTER REPEATING ARMS CO.

The handsome case here was the same used in former exhibitions of samples of their manufactured goods. It contained all styles of their sporting, target and hunting rifles and the style of shotgun made by the firm. The "take down" rifle is now a feature of the firm's make. They also showed a 5½ pound carbine for Mexican use, a new sling attachment for a rifle which can be taken off instantly, .30 caliber nitro ammunition for rifles. A fine display of ammunition was made, among which was that made exclusively by this firm for the Hotchkiss gun. One of the Hotchkiss guns was mounted, and by it the ammunition used in the gun. Armor-piercing projectiles were shown in good quantity, and a four-inch plate showed how easy it was to perforate it by shooting through it. Magnificent forgings from which the Winchester is made were a feature of the exhibit. Mr. Henry Daggett was in charge, but Lieut. Albee, who used to stir up the boys in shooting matches, was around also.

CLEVELAND TARGET CO.

Paul North, surrounded by the firm's colors, black and yellow, with targets and traps and electric pulls, was talking to everybody in sight. He reports he has ideas for the next exhibit that will be catching. Thousands visited the display here that had never seen a target, and many after examination left orders for traps and targets, to be sent to their homes. Paul said "the show is a big thing, but that it will be a much bigger one next time." In this he is right. The large quantity of targets brought on, which had the photos of principal shots throughout the country on the top of them, were eagerly called for and carried off. The new trap here has the stop mentioned in the Empire, which prevents the trapper using unusual angles. This feature is much needed and will be readily adopted.

SPRATT'S PATENT

Judging from this exhibit one would think there was a dog show around somewhere, but Mr. T. Farrar Rackham reported nothing new but "cat food," which is now put up in one-half pound packages, fifty and one hundred pound sacks. A large display of medals—twenty-two gold, seventy-one silver and fourteen bronze—attested the popularity of this brand in competition. The past year has been, by far, the most successful of this excellent company with its standard goods.

DU PONT POWDER

The display of this company was one of unusual merit. Two white and gold cases on either side of a front case contained the packages in which the goods made by this company are packed and sold, and their gay colors were reflected by plate glass linings giving a striking effect. The raw material from which the firm's powder is made were interesting exhibits to thousands who paused to look at them. Crystal glasses, resting on velvet in the front case, contained samples of the manufactured articles, black and smokeless powders. The latter is now on the market, as experts in the tournament lately held by the company at Cincinnati, O., where some remarkable scores were made, will testify. Loaded shells cut away, where the loads were protected with mica, showed the manner of effective loads.

THE BURGESS GUN CO.

Friend Bartlett was missed here as [illegible] representative, but the exhibit was well [illegible] Damon and others who always had an [illegible] vestigate the merits of this gun. B[illegible] arms the "folding" gun was exhibited, [illegible] ding much attention. These arms have been minutely described before.

THE OVERMAN WHEEL CO.

At stands six to eleven there was a most interesting exhibit. The Victor bicycle, athletic goods of every description, some of which were being made—tennis rackets and baseballs—drew a crowd at all times. An attractive room where visitors could rest and view the goods was a special and enjoyable feature to many.

THE HAZARD POWDER CO.

This firm, one of the oldest and best, made a creditable exhibit, adding to their display of black powders, so long and favorably known as one of the best, their "Blue Ribbon" smokeless brand. The reputation of this firm is a sufficient guarantee that their "smokeless" is all that is claimed for it in the circular description. A miniature keg filled with sand was distributed as a souvenir, which was refused by none.

THE WEBSTER STUDIO

There were seen here some of the best specimens of the taxidermists' art. Heads of most of our principal animals were well represented. An albino black bear graced one corner and a variety of skins covered the floor with a pleasing effect. Across the back end of the Garden was a cycloramic group, prepared by Mr. Webster also. Number one was entitled "At Last," representing an Eastern sportsman in the Western wilds in Winter season where he has killed an elk. Number two, "Waiting for a Shot," a sportsman in a hunting boat with Irish water spaniel, on the lookout for ducks. Number three, "A Solitary Camp Fire," the camp fire dying out, and beside the camper his faithful hound, with two foxes in the foreground, the result of the day's hunt. Number four, "A Two-Pounder," a fisherman holding up a two-pound trout just taken from a stream. Number five, "A Lost Opportunity," a sportsman in the act of loading a breech-loader while a deer is making off through the cedars.

THE OBRIG CAMERA CO.

A. Clinton Wilmerding, the well-known president of the Spaniel Club, is a principal member. The display was a large and attractive one in a variety of cameras as well as in photos and enlargements of same. The cuts showing the AMERICAN FIELD's display is some of their work during the exhibition. Developing the work of amateurs is a feature of their business.

THE UNITED STATES CARTRIDGE CO.

Charles Dimick is always happy in springing a surprise, and was never happier than in this, his last attempt. His camp, tastefully decorated with skins, animals and birds, also had a number of the best known guides from Maine, the Adirondacks, Florida, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana. It was here that the crowd, far exceeding any other part of the display, could always be found. The U. S. C. Co. when asked to contribute to the success of the exposition felt that rather than make a big display of the large variety of cartridges and shot shell cases made by them, they would interest visitors by introducing a number of typical guides that they might talk with them and learn from them something of the game, the game resorts, manner of hunting it, and living when in pursuit of it. That the guides brought a fund of information and proved drawing cards, thousands will testify. The guides present have become prominent by their intelligence, bravery and superior skill as woodsmen, and many engagements were made by those who talked with them to visit them in their homes where renewed life will be one of the results. There will be a grateful remembrance of the U. S. Cartridge Co. by many for placing them in direct contact with these experienced men. Jonathan Darling, one of the guides from Maine, is skilled as a hunter and guide. Beginning in early life he became proficient in the pursuit of big game and has killed more, perhaps, than any man. Mr. Darling has acted as guide for some of the best known sportsmen in the United States. Joe Francis, a full-blooded Penobscot Indian, as a hunter, trapper and guide, stands second to none. He is about fifty years old. He is a man of intelligence and honor, skilled in the calls that bring game within easy range of the sportsman. I fancy that the results of his visit here will give him work in his favorite pursuit of game for years. Mr. H. H. Covey was the representative of the Adirondack region now of such easy access to the sportsmen of the East. Mr. Covey has a camp at Big Moose Lake and is thoroughly competent to give information, entertain and guide those who visit his [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wallihan were the agreeable [illegible] sentatives from Lay, Colorado. They entertained a [illegible] daily with accounts of game in their section [illegible] showing a marvelous collection of photographs taken [illegible] game in their native haunts. The collection has [illegible] skill and the patient labor of years, and doubtless exceeds the collection of any person living. Both Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] are skillful in the use of firearms, Mrs. [illegible] having killed over thirty deer besides large [illegible] of other kinds of game. Thousands are grateful [illegible] C. for the pleasure, profit and interest [illegible] introduction of these persons. Mr. Ira Dodge of Cora, Wyoming, has had the experience that few would care to have, and one readily believes him when he says that the mighty grizzlies have taken from him many of the choicest pieces of his anatomy and it has taken him the best part of a year to get over some of his encounters with them. Mr. Dodge readily entertains all with whom he comes in contact. He claims to be in the best game country now left in the United States, as it abounds in elk, moose, mule deer, antelopes, mountain sheep, black and grizzly bears, besides great quantities of small game and excellent fishing. Mr. Dodge met many old friends who have spent pleasant days in his Western home. Mr. W. H. Wright, who is familiar with the choice hunting grounds of Southern Montana and Idaho, and whose office is at Missoula, is quiet and unassuming, but the U. S. C. Co. felt that no better man could be brought to the Exposition to enlighten them on this section of the country and the game found in it. His hunting trips are uniformly successful, and large game abounds in the section he is so familiar with. His services are in constant demand. Mr. J. W. Schultz, familiar with Northern Montana and Washington, was born in New York, but the life of a hunter possessed unusual charms for him. His favorite hunting ground is a country north and south of the Great Northern Railway where it crosses the Rocky Mountains. This section is the home of all big game and especially of the big horn. Information covering a wide section of territory can be obtained from Mr. J. W. Schultz, whose address is Kipp, Montana. Thos. H. Keller was the able assistant of Mr. Dimick and has pleasantly extended his large circle of acquaintances. The U. S. Cartridge Co. and its representative, Mr. Chas. Dimick, will be remembered pleasantly for years to come for the novel manner adopted to entertain and instruct. "Hunting Regions and How to Reach Them" is an instructive booklet of fifty pages, introducing representative guides, with a description of them and the section of country with which they are familiar, and the best manner of reaching it and time of year to go. Ten thousand and more of these were soon distributed.

C. G. GUNTHER'S SONS

occupied exhibit spaces 45, 46, 47, 48 and 50. Here could be seen furs of every kind, mounted heads and full mounted specimens. In the center the of space was a large rock nine feet high and twelve feet long, covered with moss and ivy, on top of which was the largest mounted buffalo in the world. Also mounted animals of the Rocky Mountains, lions, goats, sheep, antelopes, deer, musk ox, all feeding on moose berries. This was one of the grandest center pieces ever made. There were four large, white hand-carved columns eighteen feet high, one at each corner of the space. On top of the columns were mounted eagles of various kinds. Heads of all kinds were hung around each column, such as moose, elk, caribou, all kinds of deer, buffaloes, musk ox, antelopes, Rocky Mountain sheep, mountain goats, roan antelopes, sable antelopes, gaur ox, walrus, wart hogs, wild boars, eland, water buck, roebuck, reindeer, ibex, nylghau, bosch bok, koodoo, pallah, springbok, gazelle, cape buffalo and many others. Four large glass showcases contained some of the finest and largest skins, ready for use, ever shown, such as royal Bengal and Mongollan tigers, lions, leopards, cheetah, nebulous or clouded tiger, ounce, jaguar, black, brown, isabella, grizzly and white polar bears, panther, ocelots, lynx and wildcat and all the different foxes. In fact all the skins of fur bearing animals in use to-day. To show what useful articles can be made from skins, we name a few: Elephant's feet made in game, wine and cigar cases, vests for hunting, sleighing and evening wear, robes for traps, sleighs, etc., steamer bags, leggings, slippers, field pouches, tobacco bags, and many others. Four large bears, brown, black, grizzly and polar, holding silver salvers, were placed on the isle; the salvers holding books on fur-bearing animals, to which visitors were welcome. One of the most charming features of this exhibit was the two baby musk oxen mounted on a rack. These are without a doubt the only mounted musk ox babies in the world.

MARLIN FIRE ARMS CO.

A fine display was made by this company of the several varieties of their deservedly popular gun, including their "take down" repeater with interchangeable barrels. These guns are so well known the country over that anything we might say would not add to their already great popularity. Along with this display was that of the

IDEAL [illegible] MANUFACTURING CO.,

[illegible] loading and reloading tools, [illegible] has so often made been in these col[illegible]mn [illegible]ary to repeat what has already [illegible] every sportsman knows, stands high as a standard loader, and deservedly so, for it is one of the best to be had.

THE MAINE CENTRAL RAILWAY CO.

had a typical hunter's cabin, handsomely decorated inside and out, and presided over by Miss Crosby ("Fly Rod"). This is the popular line of road to the hunting and fishing regions of the Northeast. The cabin was constructed out of logs hewn under the supervision of Miss Crosby. Several guides were always ready to give the required information to sportsmen choosing this route for their vacation.

NATCHAUG SILK CO., WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

A pleasing display, for the fisherman, was made of the silk fishing lines extensively manufactured by this company, which should result in increased sales.

Another attractive feature of the exhibition was the handsome exhibit of the Anker Boullion Capsules Manufacturing Co., of New York, who through the day and evenings dispensed to visitors refreshing draughts of bouillon. Beef extracts have come to stay. The sportsman's and tourist's outfit is incomplete without a supply of the Anker Bouillon Capsules. The capsules are made of gelatin and all that need be done is to drop one into a cup of boiling water, The capsule quickly dissolves and makes a delicious cup of bouillon. A more convenient form to carry into the woods a supply of beef extract could not be devised.

Other exhibitors were: Scovill & Adams Co., photographic supplies; The Tie Co., manufacturers of luggage carriers; Chas. Scribner's Sons, publishers; the National Science Association of America, publishers of "Birds of North America;" Brunswick-Balke Collender Co., billiard tables and supplies; O. F. Heublein & Co, sportsmen's supplies; Le Roy Shot and Lead Works; Herman Boker & Co.; Iver Johnson's Arms and Cycle Works; H. Werlemann, Pieper breech-loading guns; Cornwall & Jesperson, guns, fishing tackle and sportsmen's supplies; E. & H. T. Anthony & Co., photographic supplies; Gas Engine and Power Co. showed two models of the "Naphtha" launch—one a yacht tender, the other a pleasure boat. They also showed a 42-foot cabin boat of fine finish and design. As a pleasure craft they are popular and easily handled.

The loan and trophy department had fine exhibits from Wm. Ziegler, Hon. Austin Corbin, Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, New York City; Mr. A. H. Verrill, New Haven, Conn.; Mr. J. W. Lawrence, and Mr. F. W. Curtis; paintings from the Webster studio, and several from Mr. A. Weyderveld; also an extensive exhibit of ancient and modern firearms from Mr. N. Spering, of Philadelphia.

The herd of twenty-two yearling elks which were shipped to Ira E. Dodge, from Wyoming, for exhibition, were belated and did not reach Madison Square Garden until Friday, the day previous to the closing of the show. While awaiting transportation across the North River, one of the bulls was killed in a quarrel. They were in poor condition and showed the effects of the long journey. The shedding of their coats also gave them a ragged appearance. Their ultimate destination will be the private park of Dr. W. Seward Webb, at Burlington, Vt., and Central Park, New York, to whom they have been sold.

The horse used by the Western guides during Exposition to illustrate the method of packing and unpacking on the plains, on May 17, tired of the role he was playing, suddenly buck-jumped. He dislodged the pack and started for the Fourth Avenue entrance. There he encountered the doorman, who received a severe jamming. After tumbling down the steps into the street he headed directly for the grocery store on the opposite corner and ended his career by leaping down the cellar steps. Some difficulty was encountered in rescuing him, but beyond a few slight cuts he seemed none the worse for his adventure.

Game and Shooting

FIXTURES

Illinois State Sportsmen's Association's twenty-first annual convention, Chicago, June 4.

North Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's first annual convention, Fargo, June 14.

ELK SHOOTING

BY CHAS. E. BAER

Friday morning, October 20, 1893, my brother Tom and I got up before daylight, as it was the date set for the beginning of our long-talked-of bear hunt, and we wanted to get an early start. Immediately after breakfast I left Tom to pack up our hunting outfit while I went to the west end of town to get a borrowed horse, leading him to the other end of town where we had hired another horse and a buckboard from a liveryman. Tom and I were both inexperienced as far as handling horses was concerned (that is we were before this trip, but I cannot truthfully say that such is the case since), and our chief aim was to get good, gentle horses, and so I got George, the liveryman, to fit the harness correctly and then get in and try the team so as to be sure everything was right. George couldn't get both of the horses in the same mind to go, for some time, which made me feel rather dubious, but when he did finally get them started everything went along smoothly, and we drove around to our cabin, where Tom had everything ready, including our fox terrier, Pompey, and we soon had our implements and utensils of war loaded.

George gave me the lines and away we went through town and out into the country long before the majority of the citizens were awake. Sand Mountain, some twenty-five miles northwest of town, was our destination, as we had surmised, from remarks made by tourists and natives, that that point would be the best for bear, and we felt sure we would get one, at least, in a week's hunt. We had talked and planned this hunt all Summer, Tom, of course, being more eager than I (if such a thing were possible), as he was a genuine tenderfoot so far as hunting big game; and as is usually the case when one starts in this business he thinks the bigger the game the better. Everything went along smoothly and we seemed to be in luck all around, the sun coming up in such a way as to promise a nice day, while our team made good time up Elk River, which we crossed after passing through the cañon. Taking a cut across the hills from this point so as to strike Deep Creek some miles from its mouth, we saw several bunches of antelopes and a dozen or more sagehens, but we were after bear, you know, and had not time for any such small truck, generally looking the other way in order to lessen the temptation to try a shot.

We went up Deep Creek a couple of miles to where another cut-off, or wood road, could be taken at "Pap" Smith's ranch, and as I was well acquainted with this gentleman, we halted our caravan and I went in to call on my friend Smith, who was of Teutonic persuasion and a veteran of the late war, and who would have been deeply offended had I passed without this formality. He was very glad to see me, and when I told him what we were after he just unloaded himself of enough information and advice to enable us to bag a dozen bears, and after a few minutes he went into his house and brought out a front quarter of venison which he presented to me, remarking that it might come in handy for a couple of meals if we were so unlucky as not to get any fresh meat for a day or so.

We proceeded on our way as soon as possible. I began to notice that the horses were getting rather tired and inclined to balk at the foot of every hill we came to, which averaged about fifteen or twenty to the mile, each one a little higher and steeper than the last we had passed. We were getting pretty well up into the up-country now, and at the beginning of trouble too, for along pretty well in the afternoon we came to a hill a little steeper than any we had as yet encountered, so I put on the willow so as to get up a good head of steam, but in spite of a good start such as we had got in previous cases of threatened balking, we did not get more than twenty-five yards up this hill before those blessed horses just grew fast to the ground, and neither the willow nor any other method we had ever heard of proved of any avail. We came to the conclusion that we were pretty near the end of this wood road and would then have to abandon the buckboard anyway, so we outspanned those stubborn beasts in a hurry, put our truck on their backs in an incredibly short space of time for two amateurs in the pack business, shoved the vehicle out of the road, piled the harness out of the reach of porcupines, and resumed our journey with the writer in the lead with the hired horse and Tom and Pompey bringing up the rear with the borrowed nag. We came to the end of the road in a short time, and then branched off on a game trail which led us down a gulch to the right fork of Deep Creek. Here we took a short rest, and then went up the creek as fast as we could travel, as it was getting late and we wanted to get as high as we could before camping for the night. In about an hour we came to a level place, and not knowing that we could find anything better, we unpacked and went into camp, Tom getting supper while I attended to the horses. After supper we laid our plans for the next day, which were to leave the horses and camp just where they were and spend the whole day in getting the lay of the country and hunting a good location for a permanent camping place during our hunt.

After a fair night's rest we made an early start, getting into our new harness immediately after breakfast and following the upward course of the creek. Tom carried a .45-90, 1886 model Winchester and a .38-44 Smith & Wesson revolver, while I was armed with a single shot .38-56 rifle that was sort of a mixture, as it had a Winchester barrel, a Sharp's military action, a pistol grip stock of my own construction, with complete Lyman sights and a Winchester Express rear sight extra. When we got up to where the creek forked we struck a pretty fresh bear track which we followed over a mile up the right fork, when the critter left the well-beaten game trail we had been following and struck across the country. As best we could make out, the course led in the direction we wanted to go, so we followed, but soon lost the track altogether; still we kept on until we came to the foot of Sand Mountain, where we halted and ate our lunch.

We had been circling round to the left and from our present position could look down to where our camp was, so we decided to continue on in the same way and get down to the creek near the forks; and as elk signs were plentiful we thought best to be on the lookout for a chance to get a little fresh meat; besides Tom had never even shot at an elk and was getting terribly anxious to knock over something big.

Shortly after turning down the mountain Tom called my attention to something he appeared to see away down in the gulch for which we were heading, but as I could make out nothing in the game line, he concluded he was mistaken and we went on for another quarter of a mile or so, when he stopped again. This time it was a plain case to me, for there were two elks lying down in full view, and after a short consultation Tom went off to the left and I to the right, with the intention of getting as close as we possibly could to the game, keeping each other in sight, while we tried to be invisible to the elks. I was to give the signal when to open our batteries, and in case I crippled one of the elks, we were both to keep at that one until he came down; so when I got as close as I could without coming out in the open, I set my sight for 300 yards, took a rest on a log and let drive at the larger of the two elks, fully expecting to see him kicking his last when the smoke cleared away. But I did not. I had my rifle reloaded by the time the smoke had disappeared, and while I did not see any dead or crippled elk, I saw that the whole gulch was literally alive with the animals, all making off as rapidly as possible; so I just picked out another good shot, and then still another, while Tom was yelling and pouring bullets down on their backs from the other side—and still we had no fresh meat.

We followed the herd to the top of the next ridge only to find that they had turned the wrong way for us, and so we left their trail and turned down the next gulch. We had gone just about a mile, during which time we were explaining to each other just how we didn't happen to down anything, when I spied an old bull elk looking down on us from the top of the ridge to our right; but before I could get a bead on him he vanished, and up the ridge we went just as tight as we could go. Our mad was up now and something had to suffer; so when we got to the top, Tom went to the right to look over a spur ridge, while I sat down to await his report, holding Pompey, who was beginning to get excited.

Just about the time Tom got out of sight I heard a rustling down the hill, and on looking around saw two big bulls feeding along toward me. I sat just as still as I could under the circumstances until they got behind a couple of small pines, when I put for a tree where I could command a good view of them when they would work out from behind the pines. I had scarcely arranged myself and the puppy, when out they came. I selected the one with the large set of horns and planted a bullet right behind his foreleg, sending him down all in a heap, the other going off in Tom's direction as fast as he could. My first shot could not have been much over 60 yards, and I had only time to send two bullets after No. 2, without effect, when I had to attend to No. 1 again. Instead of being as dead as I wished him to be, I discovered him making tracks after No. 2, and almost as lively too, so I let him have another dose, which put him down the second time; and after I tried No. 2 again with the same result as before, I whistled to Tom and called Pompey and went after my dead elk. When I got to where I had knocked him over the second time, he wasn't there, and I couldn't find him anywhere in that immediate vicinity, either; but I kept looking around until Tom arrived, and he informed me that he had seen a bull come over the ridge he had passed around, but he did not get a shot. That ridge being in the line my dead (?) elk must have taken, I told Tom to hurry back there and look for him, while I tried to find some blood marks to trail him by. I had not succeeded in finding any trace, and probably would have continued my search indefinitely had I not heard Tom's gun crack, whereupon I immediately abandoned my job and struck out in Tom's direction, arriving just in time (at the top of the ridge) to see Tom propped up against a sapling taking deliberate aim at that same old elk tearing off down the gulch. Seeing that Tom's shot had no effect, I tried another myself, without success, and then began a great race. Tom yelled (as usual), called to Pompey, and started on a run after that elk, and I after him as fast as I could go, which was nothing to speak of, as my course lay over a lot of fallen trees and old logs.

Just as I reached the main gulch, which ran at right angles to this branch, I heard a shot and a yell right around a bank close at hand, which caused me to put on more speed so as to be in at the death; but as I rounded this turn my eyes were greeted by another "bang" and the inevitable yell from just beyond another turn in the gulch. Thinking this surely must have ended the chase, I slackened up in order to let my breath catch up with me, but before I turned the second bend I was electrified by hearing two shots followed by such an unearthly yell that the rocks on the sides of the gulch threatened to roll down upon me. I broke into a run again, and as I turned the bend I saw a sight, a few rods beyond, that was almost as grand as the scene pictured on the Winchester 1895 calendar. There lay that awful bull elk, on his side right in the little creek where he had rolled from the trail about twenty feet above, Pompey sitting on him looking in my direction, and Tom flat on his stomach taking a well-deserved drink from the creek, with his gun lying off to one side where he had thrown it, which I am sure he did not do as long as there was a sign of life about his victim.

After I had taken a drink we sat down and I listened to Tom's explanation and description of how he had downed this, his first elk, which he gave in a very high and rapid key, ending up with the following words to Pompey: "When you and me get after anything, it's bound to come down, ain't it, Pompey?" And that puppy understood every word, I believe, for he growled and took hold of a tuft of hair and tried his best to tear it out.

By this time it was quite late in the afternoon, and not knowing how far we might be from camp, we dressed our game as speedily as possible and, taking nothing but the liver, which would afford two good meals at least—placing the balance in a safe place—we started on the back track, reaching camp just about dark and finding everything just as we had left it; and you had better believe, dear reader, that we did justice to our stomachs with elk liver that evening, to say nothing of sleeping so soundly afterward that we never felt the roots and lumps gouging us, as we did the first night.

The next forenoon was taken up in moving our camp on up the creek to a nice little park within half a mile of where Tom's elk lay, and after we had gotten everything arranged satisfactorily under an immense pine tree, we took the horses and brought in our meat; also the head and horns. In the afternoon we took a climb to the top of the mountain to the west of us, but saw nothing, and had to hurry back and fix up a shelter, as it had clouded up and was beginning to snow—just what we wanted in our business.

Monday morning there was about four inches of snow on the ground and more coming down, but we struck out pretty early, all the same, making rather a large circle up one gulch and down another back to camp, without seeing anything but a small band of elks too far off to go after, especially as we had plenty of fresh meat on hand. We remained in camp the rest of that day, and made another early start and another circle Tuesday, getting back along in the afternoon pretty well tired out and thoroughly disgusted, as we had failed to see any signs of bear, or anything else, although a couple of bull elks did show themselves on the hill opposite our camp while we were getting supper. They were over three hundred yards away, but we got our rifles ready, thinking they might come close enough, and I wanted the big one badly, for he had an immense set of horns. I did not get them, however, as the elks soon turned about and finally disappeared over the hill.

Wednesday morning we struck out in a new direction, and the snow being pretty deep by this time, it wasn't very easy going, and we had to make frequent stops to rest while climbing a hill or mountain. About two miles from camp we came out on a ridge overlooking the gulch and were taking one of our periodical rests, when our eyes caught sight of a pretty good sized bull elk coming up the trail, and if he came on undisturbed we knew he would pass within 150 yards of us. I remarked to Tom that we did not need any meat, and as this fellow's horns were not the best, I would not shoot at him, and I got in reply: "Well, I guess that's the best you can do, for you only waste your ammunition, anyhow. I'll show you how to down him;" and he prepared to do as he had said he would. When the elk got as close as he would by continuing on his course, Tom let him have it twice, which, instead of "downing," simply wakened him up, and away he went on a run, Tom forgetting to yell (for a wonder) and I forgetting my late reasons for not shooting at him, and we both opened fire before he disappeared up the trail. Then we started after him, tracking him to a bunch of timber about half a mile further on, into which we had not gone very far when I heard brush breaking ahead, so I made a dash for the gulch again, expecting to see our elk cross. Sure enough, that was his direction, but he made wonderful time for a cripple, I thought, for when I caught sight of him he was going up the other side a good 150 yards away. His left side was toward me and I was sure I put my bullet in at the right place, but he never flinched, keeping on his way, but presenting the other side to me, and I took another sure (?) shot at him with the same result as the first. I ran to a handy log and, kneeling down, took a rest and a tail shot, and was preparing to repeat the dose when over he flopped; and when I reached him I found him stone dead with a bullet hole in each side and one in the rump, showing that all three of my shots had taken effect. No other holes were to be found, which did not speak well for Tom's marksmanship. I also found that my game was an old-timer, and scabby too, which made him unfit to eat; but his scalp was pretty good, so I went to work [illegible] quite a job I succeeded in getting it off in [illegible] which I waited a while longer for Tom [illegible]—wondering in the meantime why he wa[illegible] as he certainly had heard me sh[illegible] whistled for him when I saw my elk [illegible] to show up, so I had nothing to do bu[illegible] and I soon struck his and Pompey's trail, which showed me plainly that they were on a fresh elk track. I followed and soon saw blood, and this informed me that my scabby elk was a different one than that which Tom had shown me how to down, and he and Pompey were no doubt still endeavoring to catch up with their cripple and make his (Tom's) word good.

I had a great chase after that brother of mine and that puppy, I can tell you, and I was on the point of giving it up several times as their tracks led right opposite to the direction I wanted to go—toward camp; but I kept on until at last, as I was cutting across a bend in the trail, Tom showed up, way above me, on his road back. He had never even caught sight of the wounded elk, but the trail was so warm he could not keep from following it, he said, whereupon I remarked that "it was best to down them the first time," and the way I emphasized the word down caused Tom to say a few harsh-sounding words. It was a tiresome trip back to camp, but when we did finally get there, we built a roaring fire and were soon filling ourselves with juicy elk steak fried in bacon grease.

Thursday we took a course which would bring us past the remains of my scabby elk, fully expecting that this bait would cause at least some signs of bear to be seen in the vicinity; but as usual we were disappointed, so we trudged back to camp again feeling rather surly, which surliness was not all dispersed by our supper of potatoes and elk meat, for when three deer showed themselves on the brow of the hill where the two elks had appeared a couple of days before, we grabbed our guns and began to shoot, making them get back over the hill again in short order. Being again unsuccessful, it so discouraged us that we decided to go home the next day, and as we had had an early supper we just pulled up stakes at once and, packing our meat and camp luggage on the horses, moved down the creek, reaching our first camping place pretty late in the evening, where we stopped for the night.

The next morning we were up early and on our way to the buckboard in short order. We did not get very far down-stream, however, before we came across a fresh track which did not require a very close examination to tell us it was the long-looked-for bear sign, and we wasted no time in picketing the horses and strapping on our bear-killing harness. But I am not going into details over our chase after that bear, as it makes me feel rather sour yet, when I think of it. That bear evidently was not in a hurry, as he zigzagged in his course and we kept right on his trail until noon, when we struck a big bunch of timber where the bear seemed to tack back and forth from the top to the bottom of the ridge. Here we kept to the top so as to gain on him. At the end of the timber we took up the trail again, which led us into an awful stretch of country full of logs and fallen trees. We plodded on, however, Tom swearing and I sweating, until we were led to the top of a ridge overlooking a wide gulch into which we could see for a mile or so without seeing anything that looked like a bear, or even a place where an animal of that size could be hiding. It was 3 o'clock by this time, and with a parting valley of choice words from Tom, we about faced for the horses, the trip back being a very quiet one barring Tom's occasional locomotive-like blowing off. We found the horses all right and proceeded on our way to the buckboard, reaching it quite a while after dark, where we put up for the night.

Saturday, the last and worst day of the whole trip, we got started about 8:30 o'clock in the morning, but had not gone 50 yards before those blessed horses balked right on level road, and then the show opened in great shape. We each procured a good sized sapling and went to work on those beasts in the latest fashion, finally persuading them to move on; and the only peace we had from this on was when we were on a down grade. Whenever we came to a hill, or even a slight grade, Tom and I had to get out and clear brush, and how those horses managed to stay in their hides and the same frame of mind is a mystery to me. Under the circumstances I decided to take a different road home, one not so hilly as the one over which we came; but I do not know that I bettered matters much, for at one steep hill the only way we could do was to unhitch those stubborn nags and lead them up to the top of the hill and then carry our load up, a piece at a time, after which we played horses ourselves and got the wagon up too. This was at a place devoid of gad material, but we got even with those horses by making them go down the hill about as fast as they ever went in their lives.

From this on to the Elk River ford we ma[illegible] and the horses went all right until we got a [illegible] across the river, when they balked again, and [illegible] just exploded and I heard some of the mo[illegible] grouping of adjectives I ever heard in my life, whi[illegible] course, had no effect on those horses, although they did tremble occasionally: but I guess it was more from the effect of standing in the cold water than from Tom's profanity. We had not have much more than a yard of [illegible] possession, and after that had been used[illegible] we had to roll up our sleeves and reach [illegible] that cold water and roll the bowlders, which were causing all the trouble from in front of the wheels. In this manner we managed to make the last half of the river (probably 20 yards) in about half an hour, the cuss words continuing to pour from Tom's lips as easily as the water followed the river bed. But our troubles were not over even when we did get across, as we had a big hill to ascend. We went at this systematically, however, by Tom tying a rope around the borrowed horse's neck while I cut a new gad, and then Tom went ahead and pulled and I put on the persuader, managing to make about 25 yards between rests until we finally reached the top of the hill.

We got along well after this until we got near town where we had to go down a long and awfully slippery hill, and as the horses had not hesitated to kick several times when the buckboard ran up against them, we thought best to tie one hind wheel so that it would act as a brake. But this did not suit our team at all, for they positively refused to pull that wagon down-hill, just because it started a little hard. There was nothing left for us to do but to get out again and take off our brake, and then we went down that hill in a hurry, Tom and I cracking our heads together several times dodging whenever one of the horses took a notion to kick, which each did several times before we got to the bottom of the hill.

We went into town as smooth as grease, as it was a nice, level road, so I laid what was left of my last gad under the seat, where it rema ned until we were passing the hotel where there happened to be a little rise, and then, as the horses began to go a little jerky, Tom yanked out the tonic and straightened them up with a few cuts, sending us through town at a smart trot, thus ending a trip that ought to have been made in half a day with a decent team (or a good driver, maybe), but which had taken us nearly the whole day.

After giving the party from whom we had borrowed the horse as good a lecture as I could without notes, we adjourned to the bathhouse and there terminated, in a very necessary manner, our first bear hunt, wherein Tom, instead of getting his first bear got his first elk.

Steamboat Springs, Colo.

THE INTRODUCTION OF FOREIGN PHEASANTS

KALAMAZOO, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The remarks of Mr. M. R. Bortree in your issue of May 11, relative to the introduction of pheasants into our states, were good in a general way; but in advocating the cultivation of these interesting, useful and beautiful birds, he has either thoughtlessly written upon the subject before investigation, and through misleading information, or he has idly espoused a cause without reason, and as we might say an ephemeral "fad of the times."

Mr. Bortree says: "The following states, it seems to me, contain places where these birds would soon become very numerous: Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Arkansas, Louisiana, Cumberland Mountains in Tennessee, North Carolina and West Virginia." The very fact of embracing Arkansas, Carolina and Louisiana in the same list with Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan seems preposterous, and cannot fail to cause an observer to smile at the suggestion which advances an idea for the cultivation of foreign pheasants in these separated regions with their greatly different climates resulting from widely removed lines of latitude and longitude.

Now I am confident that there are many sections in the Union where pheasants may be successfully reared and fair sport be the result. In truth, it has been fully demonstrated that these birds are to become a pronounced factor in the sports of the shooting fraternity in limited districts. But is it fair to reason that because we can introduce a foreign bird, or for that matter any animal, in one section and have it thrive, that we can secure like results in far removed and diversified quarters? It is safe to say that there are sections where these birds will not only not thrive, but will never secure the slightest foothold in a wild state. Common sense should dictate in these matters, as in all others, and the conditions and requirements which must obtain for the successful introduction of pheasants should be carefully considered before the attempt is made in any quarter. I will not undertake to say that pheasants will succeed in the Cumberland Mountains, but it is fair to predict that they would at least maintain a foothold and furnish a limited source of pleasure to lovers of the curious nearly throughout the southern portion of the Apalachian system, for in sec[illegible]n find suitable adaptations of [illegible] nous regions, and secure needed [illegible]sy o[illegible]s of plane, they will often multi[illegible] would be partially realized in the [illegible] as [illegible]astern Kentucky and Tennessee, and which, with the not too cold weather of Winter, do compare fairly with the region where the pheasants are best favored, in Washington and Oregon. Nor can I deny that the birds may do well in Arkansas or Louisiana, or any of the Gulf or Southern states, but I wish to protest against the attempt to cultivate the pheasant in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, for I am confident that it will prove an idle undertaking in so far as the interests of the sportsmen are concerned. The climate is too severe for pheasants north of the forty-third parallel anywhere in America east of Idaho, and while it is not denied that they may be successfully cultivated as far north as the fiftieth parallel near the Pacific line, I do not think that they will ever be a success to the East.

It is not expected that any amount of attention will be paid to these suggestions, for experimenters will continue to introduce and attempt to raise pheasants year after year, but I only hope that the day will come when someone will recall my present remarks, after the "pheasant craze" is over, for the truth of this matter will some day be recognized.

To all sportsmen of common sense it must be patent that it is a foolish undertaking to attempt the cultivation of foreign pheasants in the rigorous climate of the northern part of the Union. By great care we may possibly succeed in getting the birds to breed, and in time there may be enough of them so that most of our sportsmen can claim an acquaintance with them, but it is to be doubted if they will ever become common enough to be considered as anything more than curiosities. It is not my intention to enter into details concerning the natural history of this bird, and neither to give reasons why some sections are unsuited to the requirements of foreign pheasants, but I will make this assertion, which will be fully proven in time, that no matter how much attention is given to the work, and notwithstanding how large the amount of money invested (squandered), the development of the pheasant as a factor in field sports in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, or for that matter New York, Canada and New England, will never prove a success.

We have excellent game birds of our own; indigenous species that are better adapted to our climate than imported birds can possibly be, and the question is asked the sportsmen of the great lake region, if it is not far more sensible to give our time and money toward the cultivation and protection of our own birds?

MORRIS GIBBS.

UNFRIENDLY LEGISLATION

ST. PAUL, MINN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—In reply to Mr. Felton's last article in the AMERICAN FIELD, I would say that although not personally acquainted with the gentleman I have known him by reputation for twenty years, and we all know him to be an ardent game protector. In fact, I have such an admiration for Mr. Felton that I spent some time in trying to find him the last time he was in St. Paul, that I might become personally acquainted with him.

I quite agree with Mr. Felton when he says: "It is not necessary for a true sportsmen to make an affidavit that he will obey the laws." If all hunters were sportsmen there would be no need of a game law. There may be now and then a market-shooter who might be classed as a sportsman. I have known of but one in an experience of twenty-five years. As regards limiting the number of birds that one may kill in one day, Minnesota has a law of that kind now, but it is impossible to enforce it, and to make a market-shooter obey such a law would be as impossible as it would be to limit a farmer to the number of bushels of potatoes he could raise to the acre.

I suggested that I would like to see a law passed requiring all to take out a permit, paying a nominal sum for the same, and at the time of taking out said permit require the party to make an affidavit that he would obey the game laws. I did not mean by this to cast any reflection upon sportsmen, for, as stated above, if all were sportsmen no game law would be needed.

I do not agree with Mr. Felton when he says that the occupation of a market-shooter is a legitimate one; nor do I think that any sportsman under any circumstances should sell a head of game. In fact, if in my power, I would make laws forbidding the marketing of game. The state of Delaware has such a law now. Regarding the license law just passed by the North Dakota legislature I do not think it would have been passed had it not been for the South Water Street, Chicago, bill. There may be some things that Mr. Felton does not know about North Dakota. When I say to him that there was one party of sixty non-resident shooters at Stump Lake, N. D., shooting, it is a fact. Just think of it, one party of sixty. I say one party. About the same time there were twenty-four special cars on the lines of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads, each carrying from four to fifteen hunters. Game was slaughtered, and to my certain knowledge some of it was absolutely buried to get rid of it. Sixty shooters in one party. Suppose they bag ten head of game per day each.

North Dakota is full of true, loyal sportsmen who would be only too glad to greet such gentlemen as Mr. Felton, but they felt as if something must be done, or there would not be a grouse left on their beautiful prairies. Although North Dakota has had a non-export law for the past four years, there has been no objection raised to a sportsman carrying his game out of the state; that law was not made for sportsmen, and it is so understood. This license law was not passed through any selfish motives, and I have a letter on my desk now from a sportsman of that state saying he trusted the sportsmen of other states would not attribute it to selfishness. The fact of the matter is, the state has been stampeded by hunters from all over the United States and England, and North Dakota felt that something must be done. With an open market at Chicago staring her in the face, they passed this license law, and I don't blame them, knowing the facts.

As to Minnesota's Spring laws on wild fowls as compared with Illinois—both April 15—there is a vast difference in Minnesota's favor. On an average it will give Minnesota's Spring duck shooters about five days' shooting, whereas the Illinois Spring duck shooter will have about forty-five days. I am willing to give Illinois all the credit she is entitled to regarding her game laws, but I make the claim that there is no state in the Union (unless it be the state of Maine) that has as good and rigid game laws as Minnesota, with an annual appropriation of $20,000 to enforce them.

R. W. MATHEWS.

NOTES

THE bill introduced in the New York state Senate by Senator Donaldson, of Ballston, and which, having passed both branches of the legislature, is now in the hands of Governor Morton for his signature, is said by real game protectionists to be a misnomer, and they declare that if it becomes a law it will not only bring about the destruction of New York game, but also the game of many other states. Mr. Charles E. Whitehead, counsel for the New York Association for the Protection of Fish and Game, has forwarded to Governor Morton a vigorous protest against his signing the bill and asked him to give those most interested in the protection of game a hearing. The section of the law to which the real protectionists protest is as follows: "No person or persons shall be deemed to have violated any law or ordinance by reason of his or their selling, exposing for sale, transporting or possessing, or attempting so to do, the body or a part of the body of any wild animal or bird in the close season for such animal or bird, provided it be proved by him or them, by production of proper invoices and freight or express receipts, that such wild animal or bird was shipped from a point at least three hundred miles distant from the state of New York. For the purpose of the proper enforcement of this section, the package containing this wild animal or bird shall be marked plainly 'game,' and the place of shipment and destination shall also be plainly marked. All transportation companies which shall transport the same shall keep books plainly showing the receipt and delivery of such packages of game, and dealers in the same shall keep books of account showing the number of birds or animals received, sold or delivered by them, and shall, at all times, permit any authorized agent of the Commissioners of Fisheries, Game and Forest to examine their books of record for purpose of establishing the right of such possession or transportation during the close season." The direct intent of this is to give the dealers their long-desired right to handle game all the year round, and it is this which the protectionists say will lead to the wholesale destruction of game and would cause a vast increase in poaching. Governor Morton should not attach his signature to the bill and we do not believe he ever will.

THE recent action of the sportsmen of Minnesota in organizing the Minnesota Game and Fish Protective Association cannot be commended too highly. Minnesota is the natural home of many species of game, embracing some varieties not found in many other states, and from this fact has been made the hunting ground of sportsmen from other sections where game is not so plentiful or of such great variety. Minnesota sportsmen are not selfish—few sportsmen are—but they saw that if they were to save the game of their state from certain annihilation, they must have a state organization and see that their game laws were respected and enforced; so they sounded the bugle note, called the "boys" together, and wisely and not a day too soon formed a state organization. The association begins with a membership of 242; not a small beginning by any means, but a number that will appear small in comparison with the list that will be enrolled before the lapse of another twelve months. The organization is just what the state has long needed, and it should have the encouragement and liberal support of every lover of field sports within its borders.

IN the Supreme Court, at Richmond, Staten Island, on May 14, Peter Broggi and Joseph De Gararo, both of New York, were prosecuted and fined for violating the game law of that state by killing robins. De Geraro had killed fifty-seven and was fined $1,350; Broggi had killed thirteen and was fined $325. Gen. Edward G. Whittaker prosecuted for the Fish and Game Commissioners. The cases were appealed, as a matter of course, but the violators will find that the appeal will do them no good, for it has been tried by others and the finding of the lower court is always sustained. When a man starts out with gun in hand, intent on killing something or somebody, he should be sure he is conversant with the laws of the land and does not overstep them, else he may find his sport too costly to be enjoyed.

QUOTING from the South Bend Times in the last issue of the AMERICAN FIELD, you say that the Toleston Club has finally received a knockout blow. The reverse is the fact. A suit was brought against the club by the Attorney General of the state of Indiana for possession of certain lands. Ultimately the case reached the Supreme Court of that state and its decision confirms the claims made by the Toleston Club. This is believed to be final as against the claims made by the Attorney General. Had it been otherwise possibly he might have received fifty per cent. of the appraised value of the land. As it is the Supreme Court sustains the club's position.

Chicago. CHAS. E. FELTON.

MR. B. VAN M. LA RUE, son of Major Geo. W. LaRue, of New York, leaves on May 26, for the Maine woods, to remain until November, trouting and hunting. Mr. La Rue's address will be Eustis, Me., with headquarters at the celebrated Blakesley Camps, conducted by the popular guides, Wm. Emery and Will Douglass. Anyone desiring information regarding deer, moose, caribou, bear and partridge shooting, as well as fine trout fishing, will be enlightened by addressing either of the above named gentlemen.

GAME WARDEN BUNTAIN, of Ohio, recently arrested Mr Emory Trissell, of Perry Township, that state, for shooting a gray squirrel out of season. Mr. Trissell at first denied that he had violated the game laws of his state, but at the trial confessed his guilt and was fined $25 and costs of suit.

GAME WARDEN BLOW is here and doing some good work.

Rockford, Ill. JOE RYDBERG.

Hunting

FIXTURES

Brunswick Fur Club's annual foxhound trials, October 28, ——. B. S. Turpin, secretary.

Dixie Red Fox Club's first annual meet, Rowland, Ala., October —. J. H. Wallace Jr., secy.-treasurer.

National Fox-Hunters' Association's second annual meet, ——, November 18, etc. H. L. Means, secretary.

TWO REMARKABLE INCIDENTS

NASHVILLE, TENN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I am tempted to give your readers the benefit of two remarkable incidents in fox-hunting that would challenge my credulity had I not witnessed them.

A couple of weeks ago I was visiting my friend Mr. W. N. Richardson, of Quid Nunc, Ala. He is an enthusiastic fox-hunter and keeps a pack of foxhounds. Desiring to give me the entertainment of a fox chase, he sent an invitation to Mr. Clarence Spears, a brother member of the Dixie Fox-Hunters' Club, to come down on a certain evening and bring his hounds and join us in a chase.

Mr. Spears, who lives ten miles from Mr. Richardson's (and by a very circuitous route), has in his pack a foxhound named Prompter, a large and powerful dog hound that led the packs at the last annual meet of the club, a notice of which appeared, a few months ago, in the AMERICAN FIELD. Mr. Richardson regards Prompter as the best all-round foxhound he ever saw, and he was anxious for me to see him in a chase.

On the evening appointed for Mr. Spears to come down we were on the lookout for him until dusk. The moon was full and the weather pleasant. But Mr. Spears failed to put in his appearance, and, concluding something detained him, we had all gone into the sitting room, and supper was about ready. Suddenly Prompter walked into the room and went straight to Mr. Richardson, who exclaimed, "why here is Prompter; Spears has come," and immediately went out to meet him. But no Spears could be found.

When we were all satisfied that Spears had not come, the question very naturally arose as to how Prompter happened to be there. He had never come there by himself before. I told Mr. Richardson that I believed that Mr. Spears had talked about the hunt in the presence of the hound, and that when Spears could not come it concluded to come by itself.

Mr. Spears came down the next day, and I asked him f he said anything in the presence of Prompter about the intended fox-hunt. He said that he did; that he told the hound that morning that he was going down to Mr. Richardson's for a fox chase. These are simple facts that occurred quite recently, and were witnessed by half a dozen persons. Did Prompter understand Spears, or was his coming to Mr. Richardson's an accident?

The other remarkable incident was as follows: Several years ago, Dr. McDonald, of Courtland Valley, Ala., and myself were at Mr. Richardson's. He had then a splendid pack of seventeen trained foxhounds in prime condition. We got an early supper and started before dark for a chase after a very large old red fox that had been run a number of times and always saved his brush. The moon was full and just rising as we got to the fox's territory, and it was a delightful October evening. In a few minutes the hounds had the fox up and going for his life. For eight hours the race was red hot; not a break or a loss, even for a moment. At about 2:30 a. m. I was on my horse in a small opening or field, as the fox and pack were returning from a long circuit and coming directly toward me. It was almost as light as day. I had not been out of hearing of the pack at any time during the long run. Closer and closer came the wearied pack—or those that were still in, for a number of the hounds had quit. I was straining my eyes to see the fox as it entered the field from the wood, when to my astonishment several of the hounds came into the field in full cry and no fox. After most of the pack had entered the field, for they were well bunched, I saw the largest fox I ever saw come into the field a few yards to the right of the pack and running parallel with them. Several of the hounds were ahead of the fox, and they did not seem to be trying to catch the fox; all seemed to be running along together. I gave a yell and made a dash at the fox. The pack closed in, and when the fox disappeared in the bushes on the other side of the little opening a blanket would almost have covered the fox and four or five of the hounds. They never caught him, and I think both fox and hounds were so completely fagged out, after the eight hours of hard running, that they were running him mechanically, the scent being very strong.

A short time after this Mr. Richardson went out to have another chase after this old red. He had in his pack a very fast bitch called Fleet, and soon after reaching the grounds the fox broke covert and started across a large cotton-field only a few yards from where Mr. Richardson and Fleet happened to be. It was a plain sight race between Fleet and the fox for about half a mile, when she caught and killed him; and Mr. Richardson, being on a fast horse, kept close up during this desperate race of the fox for its life. He says it was the largest fox he ever saw, and measured over four feet from tip to tip.

H. E. JONES.

MICHIGAN FOXES

PINCKNEY, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—In your issue of April 27 is an article by "Old Kentuck" that comes as near sizing up the conditions of fox-hunting as it is possible to do so. I would soon make short work of a hound that would leave the pack when following a hot trail to post across country, looking for a possible stray fox.

If Mr. Luttrell was up in old Michigan fox-hunting, I am afraid that most of his pack would bring up in some swamp or lake, as they must necessarily run with their heads well up in order to see any unfortunate fox that may be lurking around. For when a fox is started he does not wait to see what is after him; he has been too well brought up for that, He starts at once for parts unknown, and in a straight line. So, you see, if any of the pack indulged in "cutting" they would soon need a compass to find out where they were.

I am afraid if Mr. Ridley lived in this part of the country, and killed his hounds if they followed a fox for forty miles, he would soon run short of foxhounds; that is, if his hounds are stayers, for about the first fox they started would in all probability have business that needed his attention about that distance off, and he would at once proceed to get there. And I will say in perfect faith that I do not believe there is a strain of foxhounds in America that can catch a full grown Michigan or Wisconsin red fox; and I will tell you why. In the first place the fox has every advantage on his side; he goes to any place and every place his instinct tells him will bother the hounds, and they have to follow, a thing that is not always easy to do. And then again, the country abounds with dens, and I find that when a fox is hard pressed he does not wait to get home but will dive into the first hole he comes to, often going into a woodchuck's den. He will not stop for water even. I have known a fox swim across a lake forty rods wide, and dive into a swamp where the water was from six inches to a foot deep. I would like to know what Mr. Luttrell's hounds would do under such a condition of affairs.

I have hunted foxes with all kinds of dogs, and I find that the hound that will stick right to the trail and drive the fox right along at a good steady clip is the one that gets there in the end up in this neck [illegible] I am glad to see so much interest being [illegible] hounds and fox-hunting, for the wily [illegible] the worst enemies our noble game bir[illegible] with.

NOTES

THE executive committee—for such it is to all intents and purposes—of the National Fox-Hunters' Association has sent to fox-hunters, far and near, three hundred printed postcards containing the following: "The committee appointed to select a location and decide upon the time for holding the second annual meeting met at Lexington, Ky., May 2, and selected the week of November 18 as the date, but did not decide upon the place of meeting. We will be pleased to receive any suggestions you care to offer on the subject. The most important consideration is plenty of red foxes—of this there must be no doubt; also, state what facilities for getting to and from the place, what accommodations are to be had for man and beast, and the number of horses that can be furnished. No section of country is barred, and all locations suggested will have full consideration. If you are not a member of the National Fox-Hunters' Association we will be pleased to have you join." And we might add that right now is a good time to join.

IN the AMERICAN FIELD of March 16 I saw a few lines from Mr. Moulton of Traverse City, Mich., stating he had killed seven foxes and broken the leg of one that he did not get, and that he had only had one hound. I presume Mr. Moulton has a good foxhound, or at least thinks he has, but it must be a very slow hound on foot if it cannot catch a fox with only three legs on good tracking snow. This same man Moulton shoots 12 No. 4 buckshot at all kinds of game. One day when he was going home from fox-hunting on the bay shore he saw a flock of ducks on a sandbar (what a chance for a pot-shot!) so he crawled and sneaked within close range, and shot both barrels; and after the fog had cleared up he discovered he had shot at a flock of gulls, and not a feather did he get. I hope when we hear from Mr. Moulton next time that he will have a little swifter hound and not have so many foxes running around on three legs.

Air Line Junction, O. C. MILLS.

FOXHOUNDS are offered for sale this week by Mr, M. G. Plimpton, Medfield, Mass.

Fish and Fishing

FIXTURES

Chicago Fly Casting Club's open to the world tournament, August 24. F. B. Davidson, secretary.

MEETING OF THE CHICAGO FLY CASTING CLUB.

The Chicago Fly Casting Club held a special meeting May 14, in the Great Northern Hotel, and decided upon a program for the season's work and pleasure.

After it was decided to hold bi-weekly club contests on the North Lagoon in Garfield Park, Chicago, President Strell submitted a draft of rules to govern same. Secretary Davidson moved that the number of contests be ten instead of eleven, ending with the last Saturday in October. Messrs. Orr and Goodsell moved that the medals be awarded to the successful competitors at each contest. Mr. Goodsell moved that the restrictions for long distance fly casting be practically unlimited, and in accordance with his views the leaders were put at not over twenty feet. With these changes the rules were adopted, and are as follows:

CONDITIONS GOVERNING CONTESTS

The bi-weekly contests of the Chicago Fly Casting Club shall commence Saturday afternoon, May 25, and continue every other Saturday afternoon thereafter, viz.: June 8 and 22, July 6 and 20, August 3, 17 and 31, September 14 and 28, ten in all.

There shall be four events, and a souvenir medal shall be awarded the first week to the highest competitor in each event, and he shall wear it until the next bi-weekly contest, when, if he shall be beaten, he shall transfer it to his succe sful competitor. If the holder of a medal is unable to attend the next regular contest he shall send the medal to the Secretary, who shall award it to the competitor having the highest score.

The competitor having won the medal the most number of times out of the ten contests shall be awarded the said medal as his personal property.

There shall be four events as follows:

EVENTS

(1) Fly Casting for Distance and Accuracy Combined.
(2) Dry Fly Casting for Distance, Delicacy and Accuracy Combined.
(3) Fly Casting for Distance.
(4) Bait Casting for Distance and Accuracy Combined.

RULES

All casting shall be single handed. All leaders single gut, hooks not larger than No. 4. One, two or three flies allowed. Half ounce weights in bait casting.

EVENT No. 1.—FLY CASTING FOR DISTANCE AND A[illegible] BINED: Rods shall not exceed 11 feet or 8½ ounces, l[illegible] 9 feet; lines not larger than E. Three buoys, at fix[illegible] viz., 45, 50 and 55 feet, placed triangularly. Any part [illegible] falling across the object buoy shall be counted perfect, [illegible] cent.; one point shall be deducted for every foot distant [illegible] or nearest fly shall be from the buoy. Five casts shall be [illegible] each buoy; thirty seconds shall be allowed at the start to [illegible]

...e, and cast to be shall be called on the back cast at the expiration ... thirty seconds, or sooner if the contestant calls time. The ... of the buoys at each cast shall be added ... by three (3); the total shall be deducted from ... be the percentage. The one having the highest ... be declared the winner. Ties shall be cast off at ... thirty seconds to extend line, time called ...

... CASTING FOR DISTANCE, DELICACY AND ... shall not exceed 5½ ounces in weight; three buoys ... viz., 35, 40 and 45 feet, placed triangularly. The same rules governing Event No. 1 shall govern this event in scoring, except that the delicacy of dropping the fly shall be decided by points, 10 to be considered perfect. The contestant making the highest score, when the total per cent. and points are added, to be declared the winner.

MODERN TAXIDERMY—FIGURE 3, GREAT HORNED OWL, BUBO VIRGINIANUS (UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM)

EVENT NO. 3.—LONG DISTANCE FLY CASTING: Rods and lines any length and weight; leaders not over twenty feet; single handed casting only; one or three flies; no weighting or knotting of lines.

EVENT NO. 4.—BAIT CASTING FOR DISTANCE AND ACCURACY COMBINED: To place all on an equality, 125 feet, average five casts, shall constitute the dividing line between experts and novices. This figure shall be the basis of handicapping. every member being handicapped the number of feet his record shows him to have over that number, thus: A's record is 140 feet; handicap 15 feet. The thumb only shall be allowed to control reel, the click, drag or other device barred. Each contestant shall make five casts, one trial cast being first allowed; if the contestant desires he may call "score" on the trial cast, after which the four following casts shall be counted. The average of the five casts shall constitute the record, to be determined as follows: If the weight falls within one foot of either side of the tape line full measure shall be counted; for every foot over one foot away from the tape line one point shall be deducted from the length of distance cast: thus—if the weight lies three feet away from the tape line at the 140-foot mark, then 138 shall be credited; if 15 feet away from the 140-foot mark, then 126 shall be credited, and so on, the foot to be counted nearest which the weight lies; no fractions allowed.

It was decided to hold the first outing of the club at Phantom Lake, near Mukwanago, Wis., June 15.

The resignations of Messrs. Alfred Marshall and H. A. Moyer were accepted.

Mr. F. B. Orr offered the name of Mr. I. Tomlinson, of Oak Park, and Mr. Chas. Antoine that of Mr. T. Lewis, of Reynolds, Ill., for membership.

Mr. Isgrigg moved that the rules governing the club contests and the events be the same for the open to the world tournament, next August. Carried.

On behalf of the Beverly Hills Casting Club, Mr. Clark extended an invitation to members to a sweepstake bait casting contest at Beverly Hills, Saturday afternoon, May 18.

As the Tippecanoe River had been mentioned as a desirable place for an outing, Mr. Osgood proposed that the next outing of the club be held there. Messrs. Murrell and Clark dilated on the beauties of river fishing, and it was practically settled that the second outing of the club will be along the Tippecanoe.

TARPON FISHING GOOD

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Tarpons were never so plentiful at this time of the year as they are at present at Rockport and Aransas Pass.

On W... Hon. A. W. Houston, Mr. Reagan ... Maverick, accompanied by. Mr. P. ... arm of Swearingen and Brooks, ... sas Pass to try their hand at ... minor fishes. Up to the next Friday afternoon they were fortunate to land five very large tarpons, each one a royal beauty that would send the blood of any man coursing through his veins at the rate of forty and one-half miles an hour. Mr. Swearingen landed one, Mr. Reagan Houston two and the Hon. A. W. Houston two; Mr. Albert Maverick hooked at least ten or twelve but was unfortunate about landing them on account of having a very delicate line.

The news spread very rapidly to San Antonio, and on Saturday, May 11, the following party of sportsmen started for the tarpon grounds at Rockport and Aransas Pass, and a right merry party it was: Louis Frankel (with his koohinoor); Wm. Hardie; Allen Irvin, general agent of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railway; E. G. Seng, who talks to all the ladies on the train and loses his grip; E. K. Bixby, traveling passenger agent of the great and only Vandalia Line; Jacob Waelder (honest Jakie); Fred Dagget; P. Wooldridge, who has to go courting at every station he comes to and gets left at Rockport; E. J. Coward; Ira N. Turner, who doesn't know what it is to say no or refuse; J. A. McDonald (Silent Jack); G. P. Spaulding; J. Hamer, who says "boys keep quiet or I can't go again;" W. Berry, who was lost; J. C. Mangham, who knows how to fish; and L. F. Meyers to pull the corks and keep the files off the mess chest. They expect to stay some time, that is if they can keep Frankel and Seng in their limit with their harness on.

Mr. Swearingen's catch was his maiden tarpon; he has grown at least a foot and several inches taller, and says that tarpon fishing beats practicing law.

L. F. M.

TROUT FISHING IN PENNSYLVANIA

As the season advances reports from the Keystone State confirm the anticipation that in some sections better sport was in store for troutsmen. In Westmoreland County a favorite fishing ground with many Pittsburg anglers, the fishing is superb, could hardly be better it is said, and a number of experts have lately made trips from that city to the Ligonier Valley and returned with fine catches. Among them were D. B. Bayard—an old-time troutsman—T. H. Laughrey, G. R. Taylor and P. B. Brenzler, who brought home over fifty pounds of trout, many of them ten inches in length, and some one foot long.

MODERN TAXIDERMY—FIGURE 4, FORK-TAILED GULL, XEMA FURCATA (UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM)

Trout enthusiasts in the southwestern counties often run over onto the headwaters of the Cheat River, in West Virginia, and the unanimous verdict is that excellent sport repays the expert for his toil in those waters.

In the eastern part of the state, however, there has been an almost universal complaint that low water materially affected the trouting. In the neighborhood of Huntingdon, although the troutsmen had very poor success early in the season, later some splendid catches were made, and it is said all the streams there now show trout in abundance.

On the contrary, the Harrisburg anglers not only had indifferent luck early in the season, but more recently claim there is no trouting in the vicinity. Complaints are made that poachers clean the trout out of the streams, and that no protection being given the legal troutsman suffers.

In Chester County, some streams in the northern part of the county that have furnished no trout of late years, through judicious re-stocking are now affording fair sport to the anglers trying them, and in streams in other parts of the same county, the Brandywine and its tributaries, Broad Run and Octoraro Creek, some excellent catches of trout have been made; and in several cases good creels of fall fish have rewarded the anglers using wasp grubs for bait, although some fine fall fish are taken with the fly. Success in this fishing is a comparatively new thing, as the old-time anglers have had so little luck at it as to have given it up some years since.

In Pike County the trouting has been below the average so far. Some fair catches have been made by individuals, on leased and preserved streams, but no great creels are reported. At the Blooming Grove Park preserve, it is said none of the members have been able to reach the number of trout limited as the catch of a single rod.

Near Pottstown some good sport has rewarded troutsmen. Fish Warden G. B. Good and W. B. Shaner took a nice lot of trout home from Mill Creek, a few days ago, and Wm. Michener caught seventy-five good ones, in one day, on French Creek, not long since.

NOTES

RECENT reports from the famous fishing resorts of Maine indicate a season of remarkably fine sport for anglers who may visit that favored locality. At Rangeley Lake big trout and fine landlocked salmon have rewarded the skill of enthusiasts who have braved the discomforts of a late Spring in the Maine forests for the sake of enjoying their favorite sport. The Phillips Phonograph reports some of the catches as follows: On May 9, Mr. James A. Smith landed a landlocked salmon of three and one-half pounds; May 14, Mr. W. T. Patten took a five and one-half pound trout and several other smaller ones; May 15, Mr. W. F. Sturtevant, of Springfield, Mass., captured a five-pound trout. Mr. Walter Farmer, of Arlington, was the first fisherman to arrive at the Mooselookmeguntic House, where he made headquarters several days. He arrived May 10, and the next day he caught nineteen fishes; two were landlocked salmon, largest three and one-half pounds, and the largest trout was just four ounces heavier. Up to May 15—the afternoon of that day—Mr. Farmer had landed sixty fishes; largest trout five and one-quarter pounds; next in size four and one-half pounds; largest salmon three and three-quarters pounds. Mr. C. H. Thompson, of Lynn, Mass., took a seven and one-quarter pound trout from Richardson Lake, and four others that weighed three pounds each. The same day his fishing companion, Mr. J. H. Cochey, landed three trout that weighed, respectiveiy, six and three-quarters, six and one-quarter, and four and one-quarter pounds, and three others of one and one-half pounds each. Mr. C. M. Davis, of Phillips, caught at Rangeley Lake, at one cast recently, two trout which weighed two and one-half pounds and one pound each. He also got a five-pounder one day. These are but a few of the remarkable catches being made in the anglers' paradise of Maine, and it is not strange that the trout fishers are hastening to the lakes and streams of the Pine Tree State. On Friday, May 17, Messrs. H. A. Phinney, H. H. Baldwin, W. Page and J. Gormley, of Boston, started for Richardson Lake. Mr. E. E. Partridge and Mr. W. G. Peck, both of Boston, are just starting for a fishing trip to New Hampshire, and later the former will join Mr. G. H. Gerard, of Brooklyn, N. Y., at the latter's salmon river in New Brunswick.

IT is said there are 10,000 lakes in the state of Minnesota, and many of them, as well as the numerous streams, are plentifully stocked with bass, mascalonge, pickerel and wall-eyed pike. Beside, there are many trout streams which bountifully reward the patience of the angler. Amid such a multitude of locations for sport it should not be difficult for the angler to indulge in his favorite pursuit to an almost unlimited extent. The vast supply of fishes in the favored state of Minnesota is evidenced by the thousands of pounds of black bass and other choice game fishes recently seized by the fish wardens, who are attempting to prevent the wholesale violations of the fish law, which have been perpetrated so constantly and to an almost unlimited extent in the past. On May 14 Deputy Game Warden Farnham seized, at the St. Paul depot, 2,700 pounds of black bass, which showed net marks, but no signs of having been caught with hook and line. Two days later the warden seized 1,000 pounds of fine fishes, under similar conditions. Both lots were consigned to prominent fish-dealing concerns, and the shippers claimed the fishes had been caught in a legal manner. These are but two of the recent seizures. The Minnesota wardens are displaying great activity, and as the state fish and game commission has decided to make every member of the volunteer fish and game protective association a game warden, without pay, but having all the authority of paid wardens, there will be so many men on the watch that violators of the fish and game laws will find their path rather "rocky" in the future, we think.

MODERN TAXIDERMY—FIGURE 5, HEAD OF WILD TURKEY, MELEAGRIS GALLOPAVO, GOOD TAXIDERMY

MODERN TAXIDERMY—FIGURE 5, HEAD OF WILD TURKEY, BAD TAXIDERMY

THROUGH the courtesey of Mr. W. B. Kniskern, the general passenger and ticket agent of the Chicago and North-Western Railway, we are enabled to give the following information of interest regarding trouting in Michigan and Wisconsin: At Antigo, Wis., the fishing is the best it has been for several years. At Atkinson, Mich., there are many small streams, some but a short distance from the railway, all abounding in trout, and the sport is excellent. A fine trout stream, which can be fished a distance of six or seven miles, crosses the railway some 600 yards south of the station, at Eland Junction, Wis., in which some large catches have been made this Spring. Within five miles of Iron River, Mich., good fishing can be had; and some fifteen or eighteen miles west of that station, Basswood and Elmwood, are good points for trouting. Prairie River, near Parrish, Wis., is said to be one of the finest trout streams in that state, and very good catches are being made there; Dudley, but three miles from Parrish, and reached easily at slight expense, is the principal headquarters for fishermen in that vicinity. Anglers who like to camp out and wish good trouting will find Shawano, Wis., an excellent point from which to make a start. About twenty miles north of that station are some very fine trout streams in which good catches can be made. On the Brule River, Stager, Wis., is an excellent location, as fine catches are made there in the river. From Watersmeet, Mich., come reports that the fishing in that vicinity is very fine this Spring. The snow water has run off and the streams have a good stage of water. Catches of fifty nice trout have been made there, this Spring, in a half day's fishing.

ON Saturday night, May 11, S. E. Land, the superintendent of the proposed Wyoming branch fish hatchery to be located at Sheridan, liberated a batch of 50,000 speckled brook trout fry in Dome Lake, a beautiful body of water in the Big Horn Mountains, some thirty-five miles from Sheridan. The trout came from the state hatchery at Laramie, and were carried a distance of 1,000 miles by rail, in ten cans, and then the cans were hauled by wagon to the lake. Forty-eight hours were needed to make the transfer, but so carefully were the trout handled that not over one dozen died during the operation. The best of results are anticipated from this stocking, as these brook trout (the spawn was procured from Mr. W. L. Gilbert, of Plymouth, Mass., and hatched at Laramie) are known to thrive in pure, cold water, and the temperature of the lake where they were placed is 40° throughout the year, except during the Winter, when it lowers about 5°. On May 13, Superintendent Land went out to Wolf Creek, where the branch hatchery has been located, and will oversee the construction of the buildings; when the hatchery is finished the work of propagation will begin by the collection of fishes from which spawn will be taken.

WE have here, in the town of Litchfield, a man who for the past ten years has rented boats to those that patronize him for the purpose of fishing, and in all these years he has been and now is fishing with gill nets and selling the fishes. If anyone rents one of his boats and has hard luck fishing, he will say: "If you could have been here three days ago, or if you had come a few days later, you could have caught a wagonload." This man is depending on the anglers of his locality for his bread and butter, and I would be glad if the anglers who read the AMERICAN FIELD would write their opinion of this man, who keeps a hotel, has boats to rent, and yet fishes with gill nets and sells his fish; and I hope that you, Mr. Editor, will give their letters room in the AMERICAN FIELD. If any readers of the AMERICAN FIELD, who want good camping grounds, black bass, pickerel and perch fishing, will correspond with me I think I can be of service to them.

Litchfield, Conn. FRANK GRANT.

THE newly appointed state fish and game commission of Connecticut held its first meeting at the capitol, on May 9, when Commissioner Hubert Williams was elected president of the commission and Commissioner A. C. Collins secretary. The appointment of the latter gentleman on the commission was an act of the governor that meets the approval of all best qualified to judge. No man in that state has had a wider experience in fish and game matters or done greater service in the usually thankless duty of protecting game and fishes. That the office of secretary will be filled with conscientiousness is a certainty to all who know aught of Mr. Collins, and the state will benefit by his appointment.

AT Media, Pa., Mr. Joseph M. Rodgers, the secretary of the Delaware County Anglers' and Fish Protective Association, has been appointed fish warden for that county. The appointment will undoubtedly result in benefit to the fishing interests of the county, as Mr. Rodgers is enthusiastic in the protection of fishes and game and has taken active part in seeing that the trout streams of that section were kept stocked as well as protected. The association of which he is an official has a fine club house and grounds at Broomall's Lake, near Media.

MODERN TAXIDERMY—FIGURE 6, PLASTER CAST OF A LARGE LIZARD, TUPINAMBIS (UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM)

ON May 15, Mr. Henry Loftie, of Syracuse, N. Y., received from the Clayton hatchery 200,000 pike fry, which were liberated in Onondaga Lake the same night. The state commissioners of fisheries furnished the fry, and it was considered a large shipment for that lake. In the same car were 2,500,000 for Lake Ontario, to be placed in that lake at Willoughby, near Rochester. The commissioners have placed in Tully Lake and other central New York waters a large number of pike.

ON May 10, at Harrisburg, Pa., the new State Fish Commission organized and elected officers as follows: President, H. C. Ford, of Philadelphia; treasurer, H. C. Demuth, of Lancaster; secretary, S. B. Stillwell, of Scranton; corresponding secretary, James A. Dale, of Harrisburg.

SOME time this month the anglers of Brunswick, Ga., will hold a convention of all the principal fishermen of that state. Arrangements will be made for a grand fishing excursion, and many invitations to attend the convention will be sent out.

Natural History

FIXTURES

May meetings of the Scientific Alliance of Sciences, 27 and June3; Entomolo[illegible] Botanical Club, 29; Linnæan Society, 28; Mathematical Society, 25.

MODERN TAXIDERMY

(Illustrated)

BY R. W. SHUFELDT, M. D.

When we come to review the progress made in the taxidermy of birds, we find that it is only in special cases that the artist employs clay in the reproducing of the subject's form, and it is then, as a rule, confined to the head. I will refer to this matter again a little further on. Generally the false body and other parts are made up of excelsior, tow or oakum, being wrapped with thread as are the large mammal manikins wound with twine. But right here I am dealing with results rather than with methods, and in the advanced school of taxidermists of the present day the attention paid to the mounting of birds has been quite equal to that given to mammals.

Some of the groups of birds sent on to the World's Columbian Exposition were superb reproductions of nature. Not only were the birds themselves true to life, but all their surroundings were in exact natural keeping with them. Formerly taxidermists commonly used the coarse, bright-green paper leaves supplied by milliners, whereas now means have been discovered whereby the real leaves themselves can be preserved so as to lose little or nothing of their original freshness. In fact, whenever it is possible, in our search for material for "accessories" in the mounting of birds nature is now the great storehouse whence most of it is directly derived. Real limbs are used, not wires wrapped with oakum and glued and stuck all over with fine chipped-up moss; earthwork is earthwork, and not powdered green smalt on a glue-coated surface; fruit cast in gelatin molds and subsequently tinted is made to represent nature so closely that I have seen the keenest observers deceived by what the modeler and caster now so successfully produce. Great skill has been thus shown in the imitation of the shallow parts of ponds; a stretch of beach at the seashore; a bit of snowclad hillside; a piece of parched, dusty prairie land where Tympanuchus loves to dwell; or the whole hollow trunk of some great tree borrowed from the forest upon which to place our group of woodpeckers or fill with specimens of our now nearly extinct Carolina paroquet.

MODERN TAXIDERMY—FIGURE 7, GELATIN CAST OF A CEPHALOPOD, HISTIOTENTHIS BOVELLIANA (UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM)

Among birds owls have always given taxi[illegible] or less trouble, as they have those ornith[illegible] attempted to draw them. Wilson groan[illegible] dred and one efforts to get a good picture [illegible] commoner species of owls, and even the mast[illegible]

Audubon only occasionally produced a thoroughly pleasing drawing of one of these birds.

I have met, however, here and there, a taxidermist who [illegible] in his mastery of this task. Owls, [illegible] among their favorites and in some instances [illegible] the most complete success. Such an [illegible], it being a direct study from life, and represents a specimen of one of our best known species, the famous great horned owl. The bird has been given a look and an attitude that he would have assumed in life had something just attracted his attention, and as observant as he stands he shows also that the feeling of defiance has ruffled his nature, and he is either preparing to see an enemy or exert his power in the capture of some quarry that may have been responsible for the disturbance. So true to life is this specimen that many have been deceived by the photograph of it, thinking it must have been made from the live owl, so realistic is the reproduction.

The same artist who mounted this big Bubo is also especially skilled in the taxidermy of other groups of birds, more particularly the so-called game birds and all kinds of water fowl. I have seen gulls of his that looked as though they were alive sure enough. A fair example of one of these latter is given in Figure 4, it being a specimen of the lovely fork-tailed or swallow-tailed gull, known to science as Xema furcata. It is also a study from life, and in its attitude is depicted all the larine, dove-like gentleness so characteristic of so many varieties of these birds. Xema is a lovely, soft, fluffy creature; white as driven snow where he is white; black where he is black; and with all his other tints equally well defined where they occur—reds, dark pearl grays, yellows, and the rest.

Avian taxidermy, however, is not all as simple as this. Problems of the most difficult nature sometimes offer themselves for solution. Standing prominently among these we find such subjects as the heads of condors, vultures and turkeys to deal with, and by proper treatment to reproduce as we see them in life.

Take the practically naked turkey's head, with its ever-changing glow of color; its wrinkles, wattles and lobes; its widely scattered, hair-like feathers, so minute, yet there; and, finally, the proper relations of the parts; and we have on our hands a task requiring the taxidermist's most consummate skill, as well as the exercise of his best sample of patience, to successfully handle. But science has accomplished the feat, as may be seen in Figure 5, which gives a turkey's head as preserved by a skilled modern taxidermic artist, and another, for comparison, done by a "bird stuffer" of the last period. It surely requires nothing from my pen either to distinguish or criticize them.

To reproduce a turkey's head and upper cervical region, the wire is firmly and neatly wrapped up to the skull with soft tow; this is closely overlaid with clay, and this material carried where necessary onto the skull. The eyes, set in their orbits, are also imbedded in it. The clay is then modeled so as to take on the exact proportions and form of the bird's head which it had immediately after the skin was removed. Next, from a study of the living bird's head, aided by a plaster-of-paris cast of the same, the skin of these parts and associate structures are made up in wax. This wax is tinted so as to exactly reproduce the colors as they are seen in life; and, by an interesting method, the very scattered hair-like feathers are taken up by it so each and every one of them holds a place corresponding in every way to the one it did when growing on the naked skin of the head of the living turkey. When completed the effect is wonderful and very real. Compare it with the poor other thing in Figure 5—distorted, daubed with paint, shrunken, and vilely unnatural in every way—and tell me that txidermy is not a progressive art, a science!

From birds we pass to such groups as reptiles, batrachians and fishes, and from them, finally, to the invertebrata. Now history goes to show that it has been the rarest exception only, that taxidermists have succeeded in preserving lizards, turtles, frogs, snakes, fishes and so on with any marked success by the ordinary methods. Formerly much of it was attempted, however, though now it is as rapidly being abandoned in favor of better processes. Two of these now hold a very prominent place, and both have their advantages in their own peculiar fields. One is the plaster-of-paris cast, and the other the gelatin cast. I will present in Figures 6 and 7 examples of these two methods.

Figure 6 shows a remarkably fine plaster-of-paris cast of a large lizard (Tupinambis). It is about one-third the size of the specimen, the first picture of it being a reduced photograph, and from it the present illustration was made. The cast is an unusually fine one, for not only was the reptile secured in a very natural attitude but the definition of the parts, as scales, points, structures of the head, and, finally, the coloring of the whole is about as perfect as it can well be made. The base upon which it [illegible] is a cast of a large, rough stone, [illegible] to imitate the natural object.

[illegible] is far more satisfactory in [illegible] wretchedly "stuffed" and generally much distorted specimen of the same species. At the United States National Museum there is a collection of such objects, not especially extensive yet very good, in which we find some admirable casts of American snakes of many species; a variety of turtles; lizards not a few; frogs and toads; a large series of fishes; and other forms. Next to the actual casting, the most important thing to be attended to in such objects as are these is to see that they are painted true to nature when they fall into the hands of the artist for that purpose. A splendid cast may be easily ruined by careless and faulty coloring.

Notwithstanding the general excellence of many of these, they offer one great objection, one insurmountable failing, and that is they are easily chipped, or if let fall are broken all to pieces.

For this and other reasons, I am inclined to think that the plaster cast will be soon entirely superseded by the gelatin one, as the latter offers so many important advantages.* These casts when done are sharp and true to nature in the matter of form, are perfectly pliable, and so cannot be broken without great violence; and, finally, admits of being most beautifully colored.

One may easily appreciate how fine these casts are by an examination of Figure 7, which illustrates one of the cephalopods reproduced by this method. I have seen at the United States National Museum and at the United States Fish Commission some of the most magnificent casts of snakes, fishes, turtles, and, indeed, nearly every form except in mammals and birds, done in this way. They will keep indefinitely without deterioration, if properly cared for; and are never unsightly.

Fruits of all kinds offer beautiful subjects for reproduction by the gelatin cast, and to the scientific taxidermic artist who tastefully combines such accessories in his group-making this fact is of great value. Indeed, group-making, wherein the exact imitation of the haunts of the animals are reproduced by the use of the real materials, is to be the method of methods adopted by the scientific museums of the future. More than that it will be carried one great step farther, for large government, state and other educational institutions of that kind will not only preserve animals in groups showing the natural surroundings of their normal habitats, but museum space will be more economically and advantageously used by arranging these groups in such a manner as to set forth regional zoölogy. Modern taxidermy is ripe to carry out such projects now; that is where none but the most expert artists are employed, skilled in every department of the science. Our next great national museum could easily represent the physical features of our country from Alaska to Florida and from Maine to Mexico. As one passed a continuous wall-case in review, he could have presented to him the leading topographical characteristics of one geographical area after another, as they were made to merge into each other. And upon these several areas could be grouped in a natural way the characteristic animals of various classes that are known to occur within their limits in nature. Much of the plant life could also be shown. A great deal in the habits of the animals could be indicated, and the geological formations of certain parts of the country. By the use of generous labels, wall-charts, and descriptive works at hand upon the tables, in an institution thus equipped, the American student of the physical and biological characteristics of his own country could learn more in twenty-four hours than could be acquired by months of travel and an outlay of money sufficient to deter the majority from undertaking the task.

When one comes to think of the thousands upon thousands of people of all classes—students, teachers, children, savants and all the rest—that would pass through such an institution every year, it would be quite futile for anyone to attempt, with any hope of success, to estimate the benefit such a museum would be to a country like ours simply as a constant educator of the most effective kind. We hope that our people at large will see this in the same light that we do, and will determine to carry out the project in the near future as early as possible.

Washington, D. C.

*For instructions in making these gelatin molds and casts, and kindred subjects, see Hornaday's very excellent work, "Taxidermy and Zoölogical Collecting;" New York, Charles Scribner's Sons, 1892; Illus.

NOTES

NOTICING Mr. George O. Greene's article in the AMERICAN FIELD of April 27, in regard to the disappearance of the bluebirds, and his query as to the cause thereof, I would state for his information that the severe cold of the past Winter accounts for their scarcity. I found a great many of them frozen, and other observers report the same condition concerning them. I am fully convinced that they are more susceptible to cold than any of our birds. During the phenomenal cold spell of February I found but few sparrows and other small birds frozen, but on the other hand I found a large number, comparatively speaking, of bluebirds frozen. I attribute their death in a great manner to their habit, viz., roosting in bare places unprotected from the "chilling blast." The severe cold also killed a good many of our "prince of all songsters," the mocking bird. I have noticed very few of them. Usually, at this time of the year, their charming notes are heard on all sides, but now they are conspicuous for their absence. Game birds fared well, and in all my tramps I did not find a single quail frozen, and only one woodcock. Referring to the bluebird again, I will say that, according to my observations, the English sparrow plays no part in the disappearance of the bluebird. Here we have large numbers of the abominable English sparrows, and I have never seen them make war on the blue bird; the recent cold, in my opinion, is the sole cause of their decreased numbers.

Darlington, S. C. A. T. BAIRD, M. D.

ON May 17, the Board of Managers of the New York Zoölogical Society held a meeting for the purpose of organization, and elected officers as follows: President, Andrew H. Green; vice presidents, Charles E. Whitehead and J. Hampden Robb; treasurer, L. B. F. Litchfield; secretary, Madison Crane; corresponding secretary, George B. Grinnell; executive committee: Charles E. Whitehead, E. H. Litchfield, J. L. Cadwalader, Hugh N. Camp, Henry F. Osborn, Alexander Hadden, C. Grant, and L. Farge; finance committee: Theodore A. Havemeyer Charles R. Flint, H. H. Cook, W. H. Webb, and John H. Starin; auditing committee: Henry E. Howland, Charles A. Peabody, and George Niles.

THE Chicago Academy of Sciences held a meeting the night of May 16, in Cobb Hall, S B, University of Chicago, at which Prof. Albert Whyte, of the Puget Sound University, Washington, delivered an interesting lecture entitled "American Indians East and West of the Cascades," illustrating his subject by means of stereopticon views.

NEXT week we will resume the series of articles on "Reptiles of Michigan," by Mr. Morris Gibbs.

Travel

INCIDENTS OF AFRICAN SPORT

BY AFRIKANDER

One hears much nowadays of the rich gold fields of South Africa, from which, it is predicted, enough of the precious metal will be taken to supply the active wants of the world for many decades to come. I know something of this country from actual experience—of its grassy kloofs and huge granite kopjes; its beautiful rolling veldts, wild karoos and dreary deserts, like the Kalahari with its interminable waste of sand and wilderness of thorny mimosa bush. I know also of those ancient gold diggings, very numerous in places; of the ruins of that once great city of antiquity, near the western borders of Mashonaland; and of those other mysterious ruins along the Mayoe and Sabi rivers.

I know also of some glorious sport. I had thrilling adventures in that far-away land, and some of those experiences I propose recounting in this article.

In 1884 I visited the country as the companion of Mr. Henry Ashford, an English gentleman, with whom I had hunted several years before in Colorado. He was a man of abundant means; and, as he proposed to assume the main expenses of the trip and absolutely insisted upon my going with him, finally, at some business sacrifice, I went.

We outfitted—with the exception of our guns, etc., which we had purchased in London—at Vryburg, in Bechuanaland, from which point we began our "trek." Ten yokes of oxen drew our big Cape wagon, in which were packed all our provisions, etc., while Ashford and I rode on horseback, each of us having a good horse in addition to the one which we rode.

It is not my purpose here, however, to enter into a detailed account of our experiences—of our day's journeyings—some pleasant and others inexpressibly trying and wearisome; of our nightly bivouacs and concerts wherein the treble of the jackal mingled with the deep bass of the lion and the mocking laughter of the hyena. But I have in mind some adventures which I think worthy of publication in the AMERICAN FIELD.

One occurred at night, at a fountain or drinking pool near the northern edge of the Kalahari Desert. We had heard from the natives that the place was resorted to nightly by the game for many miles around, and we determined to have a night's shooting there. It was well along in the afternoon when we "outspanned" at some little distance from the pool, fearing our presence nearer would have a tendency to keep the game away. As night approached we repaired to the fountain and constructed a rude sort of skärm or shooting box, and having disposed our blankets and guns lay down to await the approach of game.

The night was beautiful, with bright moonlight, and it was evident that we would obtain a very distinct view of anything which approached the fountain. We had brought two guns each, a big, double elephant gun carrying five to the pound, and a .50-caliber double barreled express rifle. About one hour after sundown the game began to come in, the first to arrive being a small herd of blue wildbeestes. Then, after a little, came a band of koodos with their graceful twisting horns; after which trooped along in rapid succession zebras, pallah bucks, springboks and other varieties of antelopes, forming an ever shifting and beautiful panorama for the lover of nature.

I well remember the beautiful picture presented by a band of giraffes, as with stately grace they moved slowly down toward the water. They are at all times singularly picturesque animals, and under the idealizing glamour of the moon they presented a strikingly beautiful appearance. We did not attempt to shoot any of them or any of the antelopes for the reason that we were waiting for larger game, having noticed before sundown some mighty elephant spoor on the edge of the pool.

In a few minutes we heard the muffled, shuffling step of some large animal approaching the fountain from the west, and in another moment a large, black rhinoceros came in sight. He seemed to be in a particularly unpleasant frame of mind, too, for he violently charged several zebras which having quenched their thirst stood about near the water's edge. Having put them to flight he proceeded to drink, after which he started upon a sort of exploring tour about the fountain, evidently being of a very inquiring turn of mind.

He had got about half way around when he chanced to catch our wind, but instead of being alarmed he began at once to approach us, determined, evidently, to investigate the matter to his entire satisfaction. As he steadily drew near us without showing the slightest disposition to halt, we thought it about time to attempt in some way to stop him, if we wished to keep him out of our skärm. We did not care to shoot him if we could help it, but even had we wished to do so we would hardly have attempted it in his position at the time, as he presented anything but a promising mark. So we began throwing stones at him, and much to our gratification succeeded in bringing him to a halt. There he stood, intently watching us with his small prying eyes, every once in a while giving vent to a snort of mingled alarm and anger, a few repetitions of which sent the other game scurrying away from the fountain.

His presence began to grow very annoying to us, for we were fearful that if he should remain for any length of time the result would be to keep away from the fountain some of the game for which we were looking. He did not show the slightest disposition to move, however, and the growing frequency with which he pawed the ground with his great forefeet and shook his big homely head led us to believe that his ugly temper was steadily becoming worse, and that it would not be long probably before he would charge us.

In such an event it might become somewhat embarrassing for us in the skärm, and we began casting about for some scheme by which we could outwit our bulky foe. If we could have got anything like a fair shot at the upper part of either foreleg we would have gladly taken it, that being—as with the elephant—a particularly vulnerable part. No such chance presented itself, however, and after a moment's consultation we hit upon another plan which I proceeded to put immediately into execution.

I cautiously crawled out of the skärm on the side opposite the rhinoceros and made directly away from him, crawling on my hands and knees for a distance, probably, of forty or fifty yards. Then I swung off to the left, my purpose being to get around so as to secure a good side shot at the rhinoceros, in which event I had little doubt as to the result, for I had with me my elephant gun and one of its big balls I was certain would finish him in short order.

I do not think the brute noticed me for some little time, but as I began swinging back in his direction I saw his head turned toward me, and so persistently did he maintain it in that position that there was little doubt he saw me. If he was nursing any vicious thoughts in his mind certainly he gave no evidence of it, for he was perfectly quiet save for those occasional snorts previously mentioned.

I was rapidly getting into a good position for a shot, being not more than thirty-five or forty yards from him, indeed, I had about concluded that the opportunity then presenting itself was all that I need ask for, when, acting upon one of those sudden impulses of rage quite characteristic of that animal, the rhinoceros without the slightest warning furiously charged me. I realized in a moment that my hope of safety rested largely upon Ashford, for there was little chance of my stopping the beast coming head on at me, and while I might succeed in dodging him yet I knew that would be a rather ticklish expedient upon which to hang any substantial hope of safety.

He had moved scarcely ten feet upon his way when Ashford fired; but the beast never faltered, seemingly, and when after a second shot he swept on toward me without hesitation I realized with a sinking heart that I was certainly in for it. I determined to chance a shot, however, and throwing my rifle to my shoulder I held for an instant at the big, ugly, advancing head and then fired. The big ball struck the brute's horn on one side, but the shock caused him to swerve violently, giving me for an instant a splendid chance at his huge, broad side. I had not dropped my rifle from my shoulder, and bringing it quickly to bear on the exposed side I fired again. The beast dropped onto his knees, then slowly rose to his feet and came on again, but not directly toward me for he evidently felt too sick to care about continuing his quarrel with me. Indeed, it was very evident that he had got his death wound, and while I could readily have given him another shot I did not molest him further, confident that he would not go far. He had proceeded hardly a hundred feet, when he began to weave about, and in another moment he pitched heavily to the ground uttering a peculiar, shrill cry characteristic of the rhinocerous when in his death agony. Thus did the episode end quite fortunately for us.

Ashford was at a loss to understand why his two shots had not been more effective, but the cause became apparent the next morning, when an examination of the carcass showed that both shots had struck the beast too far back.

Then we resumed our watch in the skärm, but for quite a long time nothing appeared, the game for a considerable distance around probably having been frightened by the reports of our big guns. It must have been at least an hour before anything approached the fountain, about which time a herd of twelve or fifteen buffaloes drew up and proceeded at once to drink. As they were moving away Ashford, anxious to redeem himself, picked out a fat young cow and fired, and so true was his aim that she ran only about twenty-five yards before she fell. Again was there an interval of half or three-quarters of an hour, during which time no game approached; but, after that, it began to come in again and was soon arriving in an almost unbroken stream.

After some little time we began to notice signs of uneasiness among the various animals, among which was another black rhinoceros. This one had better manners, however, than the one in the early part of the evening; but for some strange reason it seemed to share in the same uneasiness which prevailed among the other animals. So pronounced did this become that soon one after another of the animals began taking its departure until, at length, the fountain was entirely deserted save by ourselves.

We were speculating as to the cause of this curious conduct when our attention was drawn to a low, rumbling sound at the eastward, which gradually grew more distinct until, at last, we knew it to be the measured, muffled tread of some ponderous animals. We suspected at once the identity of the newcomers, and our suspicions were fully verified a moment later when thirteen elephants, moving with a free, swinging stride, approached the fountain. The animals evidently had not the slightest knowledge of the fact that enemies were lying in wait for them. Their ponderous size and graceful movements, with the mellowing effect of the bright moonlight and the general surroundings, formed a picture I shall never forget. Even more attractive was it when they had moved out into the pool. They filled their capacious trunks with water and squirted it into their great mouths until, at length, having satisfied their thirst they proceeded to throw aloft showers of water and as it fell back upon their enormous bodies they uttered low peculiar cries of intense pleasure. It was, indeed, a picture to delight any sportsman or lover of nature, and we lay for several minutes watching them intently without feeling the slightest disposition to take a shot.

There were six bull elephants, four cows and two calves in the herd. Four of the bulls were magnificent animals, but there was one great fellow whose superior size and magnificent tusks easily proclaimed him the monarch of the herd. This was the one which both of us had set our eyes upon, and after a moment's consultation we decided to make a try for him as soon as he moved out of the water. The only difficulty was that he kept well in the center of the herd, and for that reason there was a chance of our failing to get a good shot at him.

Directly they commenced to move out; and as we had feared, we all but lost sight of our big fellow in the heard. We could distinguish him readily enough, there was no difficulty about that, but he was so surrounded by the others as not to expose to us any vital part. The elephants remained almost stationary for some little time after coming out of the water, and then, to our dismay, suddenly started back in the direction whence they came.

The big fellow was now out of the question, and it was very apparent that quick action was necessary on our part if we expected to get any of the herd. Heading the left of the line was a very fine large bull which we quickly decided to try for, and following him for a few yards with our rifles we fired almost simultaneously, at the word "three." What a mighty chorus of trumpeting succeeded our shots, and away the herd went, at an astonishing pace, including the one at which we had shot. We felt quite chagrined at our failure to stop him, but our hopes were suddenly revived when we noticed him beginning to lag perceptibly behind the others, and in another moment he dropped into a walk.

He was badly hurt, it was certain; but elephants are so tenacious of life that we feared he might struggle along for a considerable distance before succumbing, so we decided to take after him on foot and finish him, which we were satisfied could readily be done. To our surprise, however, we did not find overtaking him the easy job we had anticipated, and we must have gone half or three-quarters of a mile before we began to draw very near him.

Just about that time we noticed a heavy, dark line looming up ahead which was readily recognized as timber, and thither the elephant was directing his steps. He seemed to understand that once within those dark shadows he would be safe from pursuit, for he freshened his pace so that we gained on him but slightly, and before we had a chance to shoot he disappeared in the cover.

We both stopped for we recognized that further pursuit in the dark shadows of the timber was out of the question, but at a suggestion from Ashford that the elephant might have stopped just inside the edge of the forest, we moved forward to investigate. When within twenty or thirty feet of the edge, I should think, without the slightest warning, the elephant broke through the cover ahead of us, and uttering the shrillest and fiercest trumpetings imaginable furiously charged us.

It was a position of the gravest peril for us both, and especially since it was so entirely unexpected that we were not at all upon our guard. It seemed to me as though I stood there for ages while the enraged elephant bore down on me with uplifted trunk, but I presume in reality the time did not exceed a second, for in another moment I was running toward a small thorn tree at my right, while at the same moment Ashford made a rush for cover on the other side. I think this rather confused the elephant, for he seemed to halt as though undecided, for a moment, which of us to pursue, and then with another shrill trumpet blast he started after me.

By this time I had gained the tree, and as I turned I saw the huge beast bearing down on me, and not to exceed twenty feet distant. I was undoubtedly a little bit nervous and rattled, but with the ready instinct of a sportsman I quickly threw my rifle to my shoulder, and holding as best I could in the uncertain light, at the center of his forehead, I fired. It is an uncertain shot, this head shot, at all times, and especially so when the light is bad; but it was the only chance offered me, and unhesitatingly I took it.

For an instant following the report the smoke obscured my vision, but when next my eyes rested upon the beast I saw at a glance that he would never charge another foe. He seemed to stand motionless for a moment, then a shiver appeared to pass over his huge body, raising aloft his trunk he gave one last shrill blast of defiance, and then pitched heavily to the ground. He died game, and, somehow, as I surveyed his huge proportions I found the pleasure incidental to the successful termination of the adventure tempered by a certain vague feeling of regret, a sensation that nearly always came over me after killing an elephant.

Thus terminated our night's adventures, [illegible] thing of especial interest is concerned. [illegible] had another very thrilling adventure [illegible] again shooting at a fountain, which I [illegible] some future time give to the readers [illegible] FIELD.

New York.

NOTES

TOURISTS contemplating trips to the West will be pleased to learn that the National Yellowstone Park will be opened for business two weeks earlier this season than usual. On May 16, General Passenger Agent Fee, of the Northern Pacific, received at his office in St. Paul, Minn., a dispatch from Superintendent Dean, of the hotels of Yellowstone Park, quoting Superintendent Anderson, the Park, who states that the roads into the park will be open and ready for business at the beginning of June; and it is said the hotels will open on the first day of next month. Rates to the Park this season are from twenty-five to forty per cent. lower than those of last year. Mr. Fee says that there is a larger inquiry from prospective tourists to the park now than for three or four years past, and that he never anticipated so many large parties, of which there are now from ten to twelve, ranging in size from 40 to 150 people. The Northern Pacific is arranging for a special sleeping car service between Cinnabar, the terminus of the park branch, and St. Paul and Cinnabar and Pacific Coast points. This will give park tourists better accommodations than they ever enjoyed.

THE Providence and Stonington Steamship Company of New York, owns a fleet of six passenger steamers and three freight boats which ply between New York and Providence, R. I., and New York and Stonington, Conn. The steamers are noted for their elegance and commodiousness, and two of them—the new and stanch steel propellers Maine and New Hampshire—run on the Stonington line throughout the entire year. The passenger service between New York and Providence will be resumed on June 3. Tourists and travelers to Boston and all eastern points will find the steamers of this company safe, swift and luxurious, and the officials always courteous and obliging. The Stonington route is known as the "Inside Sound Route," and is always patronized by persons who feel timid about encountering the swells of the Atlantic which must be breasted in traveling by lines whose termini are farther east.

THE second number of "Art Idols of the Paris Salon," which is published by the White City Art Company of Chicago, is quite the equal of its superb predecessor, the finely executed illustrations and letterpress being a lasting credit to the publishers. This number is devoted to the following six famous paintings, which created so much comment and interest when first hung in the Paris Salon: "La Gulper," "Cupid as Pilot," "Les Indiscreets," "Lassitude," "The Vision" and "Noontide Rest."

ON May 7, General Manager Wood, of the Fort Wayne division of the Pennsylvania Railway system, with a party of friends, in a train consisting of an engine, a coach and two special cars, made a phenomenal run from Crestline, O., to Fort Wayne, Ind., and thence to Chicago. The entire distance of 280 miles was run in 300½ minutes, net time; but the 131 miles between Crestline and Fort Wayne were made in 134 minutes. It is said the run beat all previous records.

AT the Cotton States and International Exposition, to be held at Atlanta, Ga., opening September 8, the Smithsonian Institution and National Museum will have in its anthropological display a representation of the Tower of Babel. It will be a miniature, encompassed within a few square yards, but will give some idea of the architectural notions of those early people.

Improved Service to Washington

The Baltimore & Ohio R. R. (Royal Blue Line) under the new schedule which went into effect on May 12, has a greatly improved service between New York, Baltimore and Washington, having two 5-hour trains in each direction, leaving New York at 11:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. The other trains, of which they have six, are now making the run of 226 miles inside of six hours. Owing to the completion of the Baltimore Belt R. R all trains now enter Baltimore via the new line, avoiding the transfer by boat across the Patapsco River. The service on the main line to Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis has also been greatly improved, both as to time and equipment.

Important Change of Time

The new service on the Nickel Plate Road goes into effect on Sunday, May 19. Three trains will be run in each direction, leaving Chicago going east at 8:05 a. m. daily except Sunday, 1:30 and 9:20 p. m. daily. No change of cars between Chicago and New York in either direction. Also through sleepers between Chicago and Boston. Superb dining cars are a feature of the new service. Rates always the lowest. City ticket office, 111 Adams Street, telephone Main 389. Advt. 62.

The Amateur Trainer

The following letter received by Mr. E. B. Haberlein, author of "The Amateur Trainer," gives some idea of the practical value of the book to any person owning an unbroken dog.

ROCHESTER, IND., Jan. 22, 1895.

MR. E. B. HABERLEIN, McPherson, Kan.

Dear Sir:—I purchased one of your books, "Amateur Trainer," through the AMERICAN FIELD, and can say for you it is the best book I have ever read on the subject, and I have several dollars invested in books on the subject of training. Every person owning a bird dog should have a copy of this work. Yours truly,

C. COOPER.

In Effect May 19

Remember the new service on the Nickel Plate Road [illegible] effect May 19. Afternoon train will leave Chicago at [illegible] arrive Cleveland 11:30 p. m., Buffalo 6 o'clock a. m. [illegible] will leave Chicago at 9:20 p. m., arrive Cleveland 9:50 a. m. [illegible] ing business men an excellent train service to those cities. [illegible] trains between Chicago, New York and Boston with [illegible] Superb Dining Cars. City Ticket Office, 111 Adams Street. [illegible] phone Main 389. Advt. 63.

Kennel

FIXTURES

SHOWS

Montreal Kennel Association's show, Montreal, May 31 and June 1. G. Lanigan, secretary.

Canada's Industrial Exhibition's seventh anuual dog show, Toronto, September 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. C. A. Stone, superintendent.

Orange County Fair's dog show, Newburg, N. Y., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. Robert Johnston, secretary.

Omaha Kennel Club's second annual show, Omaha, Neb., September 18, 19, 20 and 21. E. L. Marstou, secretary.

FIELD TRIALS

Coutiuental Field Trial Club's inaugural trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 2. P. T. Madison, secretary.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 10. Entries close July 1 and August 15. John Wootton, Secretary.

United States Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C., November 7. Derby entries close June 10. W. B. Stafford, secretary.

International Field Trial Club's trials, Mitchell's Bay, near Chatham, Ont., November 5. W. B. Wells, secretary.

Eastern Field Trial Club's trials, Newton, N. C., November 18 W. A. Coster, secretary.

Continental Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C November 25. P. T. Madison, secretary.

BEAGLE TRIALS

New England Beagle Club's trials, Oxford, Mass., November 5 W. S. Clark, secretary.

National Beagle Club's fifth annual trials, Hempstead, Long Island, November 11. Geo. W. Rogers, secretary.

CLUB MEETINGS

Northwestern Beagle Club's executive committee meeting, Milwaukee, Tuesday, May 28, at 2 p. m. Louis Steffen, secretary.

Canadian Kennel Club's executive committee meeting, Queen's Hotel, Toronto, Friday, June 7, at 3 p. m. H. B. Donovan, secretary.

THE SAN FRANCISCO SHOW

(Special Report.)

The fourth show of the Pacific Kennel Club was held May 8 to 11 at the Mechanics' Pavilion, San Francisco. The Pavilion is a roomy, well ventilated hall, capable of benching more dogs than have ever been brought together at any show in America, but the benches and judging ring were so arranged, with spacious aisles and promenades, as to make it at the same time comfortable and having the appearance of being well filled. At the rear of the hall was a large judging ring surrounded on three sides by raised seats capable of accommodating 2,000 persons and giving each and all a perfect view of the ring. Many of the benches were handsomely decorated with evergreens, flowers and bunting, giving the room an attractive appearance.

The attendance was much larger than at any previous show, and contained at all times a large delegation of the leading society people of the city.

The entries numbered 351, with but few absentees. The quality in nearly all classes was a great improvement over the previous shows; and this was especially the case in English setters, pointers, collies and smooth-coated St. Bernards.

The judging of all classes was done by the veteran John Davidson, and, with the exception of a few cases where "kicking" is to be expected, he gave general satisfaction.

The show must pass into history as a pronounced success. But few complaints were heard against the management, and these, even if well founded, were of minor importance, excepting one, and that was the fault of the secretary of the American Kennel Club, not of the committee. I refer to the disqualification of certain dogs. Several St. Bernards, bred by Mr. E. P. Schell (now under suspension) but owned by other parties, were offered for entry, and on the telegraphic advice of the secretary of the American Kennel Club were refused; so was the fox terrier bred by Mr. Geo. Bell. But, on the same advice, Blemton Consequence, over the sale of which Mr. Bell was disqualified, and a puppy bred by Mr. Bell out of Rejoice, another over which the disqualification arose, were admitted. The complaint is that, if the secretary cannot interpret a rule twice in the same way, the committee should have taken the matter in its own hands and made it apply to all alike.

The judging commenced at one o'clock, Wednesday, and was renewed at ten a. m. on Thursday and continued through the afternoon.

MASTIFFS.—The dog class was an uneven one. Major, the winner, is strong in bone with good back, legs and feet and standing very fine in front, but his beauty of body is spoiled by a weak head, lacking in mastiff character. Cube beats the winner in head, it being of a proper type and with good mask, but he is short in body and rather cow-hocked. Don, third, also has a better head than the winner, but is too light in body. Nab, reserve, The Earl and Leo D have more of the Great Dane body and are lacking in character of head. Open bitches brought out one fine one in Bessie, a very typical bitch without serious fault at any point. Ruth, second, is much lighter and not good in head. Bess II lacks in character and is too leggy.

GREAT DANES—Cæsar II has a cleanly cut outline, and is of good proportions except that he is a trifle long in body. While he had the best head of any of the dogs, even it is too thick for the correct type. Strohm, second, is fully the equal of the winner in body, but loses to him in head. The balance of the dogs were quite thick in head and indicate the presence of a mastiff cross. In open bitches Trontis was much the best; she has a good clean head with nice body, feet and legs, and she outclassed the others very much.

ST. BERNARDS.—There was a big class of roughs, but only a few in either dogs or bitches can be called good in quality. California Bernardo was the only entry in the challenge class. He is a very pleasing dog but under sized; [illegible]ood skull, is a trifle weak in [illegible]n, which by the way would be [illegible] has a good coat and is well [illegible]avily shaded; his body cannot [illegible]nd he moves well. In open [illegible] very nearly the same type as [illegible]ze smaller with a trifle better bone, proved the winner; he has a good skull, lacks a little in muzzle, has a good expression, is well marked and has a good coat. St. Elmo, second, is much better in size, has a very good head but a trifle long in muzzle, loses to the winner in body, and does not move so well. Pinmonarch, the reserve, is quite good in size, but too flat in ribs and generally weedy. Noble, V.H.C., The Old, H.C., and Don Orsino, C., were the only others of the class that were noticed. Lady Bute II, with a little more muzzle and better blaze, would be a hard one to beat; she has a good body, plenty of bone and is full of character. Lola, second, is a bitch of good body but loses in head. Queen, third, is flat in ribs and too long and light in head. Victoria Alton, the reserve, lacks in character and substance. The rest were very much outclassed. In dog puppies Prince Othmar got the blue ribbon, Barry of Hauenstein II was the only other one noticed. In bitch puppies Wanda, a very good one with fairly good head, good body and bone, proved the winner with ease. Miss Miggs, second, and Lady Mona, third, lack development.

The smooths were a good lot, showing more quality, as a whole, than the roughs. The winner, Hector of Hauenstein, is more than a good dog; he has a fine head, full of character, is excellently made in front, and, barring the fact that he is too low in loin, he might be called nearly perfect. Ryn II is another good one, but loses to the winner in head and forelegs. Salvo of Thusis is a very even animal, but does not reach the others in quality. Minque and Rover are not so good, having too much of the hound type of head. Open bitches had but three entries, all good ones. Blanca II is a young bitch of fine quality, with but few material faults. Her dam Blanca is very typical, but a trifle massive in build and was not in good condition. Sister, third, is not so good in head and rather too light in type. Teddy B, the winner in dog puppies, has a good head and plenty of bone and shows the quality of which winners are made. Ingomar has too much of the hound type of skull. Leo II, third, is very similar in head and character. Sir Owen is better in head, but lacks in development.

NEWFOUNDLANDS.—They were not good, none of them showing the real character of the breed either in head or coat.

GREYHOUNDS.—The greyhounds were a strong class, but all of them being working dogs they were shown too low in flesh to appear to the best advantage. Applause, the winner, is a dog of splendid quality with fine head and neck, standing well in front and with strong driving power. I would like him better with a little more length of body. Jack Dempsey, the red ribbon recipient, is clean in head and neck but a trifle flat in ribs and a shade light in quarters. John W, third, is a large dog, well put together behind the shoulders but not good in front. Skyball, while a worker, is not so cleanly built. In open bitches White Cloud was an easy winner. She is beautiful in head and neck, and has a well formed body and good legs, but should be a couple of sizes larger. Nelly Conroy is another good one with almost faultless formation, except that she is too wide in front. Dottie Dimple is a nice, evenly balanced bitch, but a bit too finely drawn. But one puppy entered the ring; he is a splendidly made young dog, cleanly built on the right lines.

IRISH WOLFHOUNDS.—The class had two entries, a dog and a bitch; both are well made animals very much resembling in general character the deerhound, only much larger and coarser. They are powerful dogs, and I should imagine that when they were through with a coyote he would look very much as if he had been trying to stop a freight train.

FOXHOUNDS.—Nearly all American. Paddy, the only entry in the challenge classes, is a dog of rare quality and so good all over that it is hard to find a place where one would want to take a shaving off or add anything to. In open dogs Gen. Molka, a son of the challenge class winner and resembling him very closely, was an easy winner. Like his sire, he is as nearly right as they often come. Tasso, second, and Commander, third, are also good hounds built on good lines, but they lack the refinement of the winner. In open bitches Flossy M and Fleet II, litter sisters of the winning dog, show the high quality of their sire. Flora, third, and Nellie, reserve, are both well made bitches but of the coarser type. Blue Speckle was not so good, being too coarse in head and rather loose in body. The dog puppy class had but one; it was too young for the ring and was given a second. In corresponding bitches there were two good ones.

The class for English foxhounds had only one entry. He is a well made dog of the proper type.

POINTERS.—In the challengeclasses there were two heavy and two light weight bitches. Of the former, Sally Brass II beat Hempstead Blossom in head and bone. The two lightweights were Patti Croxteth and Kioto; the former won easily, beating Kioto in head and shoulders. In open dogs, over 55 pounds, Buck S, a rather coarse dog was placed over Glenbeigh Jr. Buck is low in loin and quite heavy in head. I consider Glenbelgh Jr the better type, and while he is not so good as Buck in legs he is better in loin, fully as good in body and a shade better in head. Professor's Lad has better stifles and hocks and good loin, but is loaded in shoulders. The others in the class were more loosely made, Buck B and Duke S being very open in loin. The corresponding bitches had three to enter the ring, all better in quality than the heavy dogs. Dinah, the winner, was clearly the best in body and legs. There was but little choice between Rose K and Jessie. Both are well put together, with Rose a little the better in head. In lightweight dogs there was much more quality than in the heavyweights. Baldy, a fine bodied dog a little on the coarse order, went to the front over Joe M and Donald's Hope. Joe M is a cleanly built black with good head, rangey in body, not heavy in shoulders, and well sprung in ribs. He is of a different type from any others in the class, and I prefer him to any. If he beats Donald's Hope he should beat Baldy also; if not, he should have been third. Donald's Hope is a very symmetrically built dog with a pleasing outline and shows lots of quality, but he is a little short in muzzle. Lightweight bitches had several good ones. Beulah, the blue ribbon winner, is a very neat bitch of splendid formation with good head, a clean neck, good shoulders and quarters, and, to my fancy, none too long in body. Arabella is another of much the same type and is put together on the right lines. Tippetta, a close third, is a well formed bitch, a trifle short in muzzle and a little open in loin. Nancy S does not stand so good in front. Dog puppies had but one entry, a fairly good one. In bitch puppies Kent's Lassie and Kent's Amy were much the best. The former is an extra good one that should make trouble in the near future.

ENGLISH SETTERS.—Countess Noble was the only entry in the challenge class. She is a very pleasing bitch of the correct type, a little faulty in head, but otherwise nearly perfect; she was shown in very bad coat and almost devoid of flag and feather. In open dogs Pilot, a good little dog with a fine coat, went to the front; his only serious fault is thickness in head, and I should like him better with more length of body. Whip, second, showed well and presents a pleasing outline; but I preferred Stamboul, who beats him in head, chest, quarters and legs, but is open in loin and was shown too thin. The reserve dog, Marks the Lawyer, is rather coarse. Dick C and Dictator are both loosely made and deficient in head. Open bitches had two very fine ones. Flake L is a handsome bitch with a good head, though it is a trifle flat in dome and lacking in stop. She is too thick in shoulders and weak in hocks. Silverplate, second, is not nearly so good in head but beats the winner in shoulders, chest, back, loin, quarters, stifles and hocks, which should more than overbalance the difference in head. Nellie V, third, is a very nice bitch of the light order; she has a very fair head and is reasonably good in body and legs. Suver G, reserve, is a bitch of fine ribs and good deep chest; she is light in bone and not so good in hips. None of the puppies were of high quality.

GORDON SETTERS.—The class was small, and only two of them can be called really good. Dick II, the dog, is the best, and is of very fine type, but he shows a little too much daylight under him.

IRISH SETTERS.—These were a good lot, with Dick Swiveler the only one in the challenge class. In open dogs Nemo II was an easy winner; he is well put together, with proper type of head and body. Finglas Jr loses to the winner in head; he is too prominent above the eyes and too thick in skull; in legs and body he is good. Glenmore Sultan, third, is very much of the same character as the last mentioned, and rather wide in front. Barrymore and Glenmore Reporter also have the same faults. In open bitches Lightning was much the best; she is very typical in head, has a nicely turned body and good legs. Maid of Glenmore has a fairly good head, but loses in quality and is a trifle leggy. Elcho's Maid, like the last named, while well put together lacks the proper type of the breed; and the same is true of the others in the class.

IRISH WATER SPANIELS.—Nellie, a bitch of good type and coat, was alone in the challenge class. Handy Andy, in open dogs, is a strong, well knit dog, but does not conform very closely to the proper type. Irish Duke has the same fault in a greater degree. In open bitches, Nora W is a good one and the best and most typical of any shown. The other lacks wholly in Irish type.

RETRIEVERS.—Two poor ones in two classes. They had to be contented with red ribbons—more than they deserved.

CHESAPEAKES.—Trout, a very good one, was alone in the challenge class. Pearl, in open bitches, was the only other good one.

COLLIES.—A large entry, fairly good in quality. The best was Lord Rosebery II, a dog lately imported from England. He is good, but not the crack that one would expect of an imported dog. He lacks in refinement of head. Mona, second, loses to the winner in coat and frill, but is his equal in other points. Max, a light sable, was a close third. In open bitches, Baby Sue, a dark sable with white front, is a very taking bitch, with nicely carried ears and good head. The red ribbon went to Floss, not so good in head. Flax, the reserve, is too short in legs.

DALMATIANS.—There were two dogs and one bitch to enter the ring; none of them were good.

BULLDOGS.—Brigand was the only one to get mention. He is a very good specimen and attracted considerable attention.

BULL TERRIERS.—Four were really good ones. Twilight, the only challenge bitch, was the best and shows nice quality. In open dogs Adonis and Chief, placed in the order named, are both of good type, with Adonis the better in head and front. In open bitches Little Starlight again won with ease. She is a cleanly cut, typical bitch of good quality.

FIELD SPANIELS.—Two entries, and both overgrown cockers.

COCKER SPANIELS.—Open dogs had four in the ring. Woodland Robbie, the blue ribbon winner, is a small dog with nice head and perfect coat. Woodland Duke is much larger, has a good head but is too wavy in coat to win in really good company. Open bitches brought out six, Queen Vic, a very fair bitch, taking first honors. Zona was a close second, and Peg Woffington a good third. Prince B was an easy winner in dog puppies. And Lady Etta, the Los Angeles winner, again got the honors in bitch puppies.

DACHSHUNDE.—One in each class. Both good specimens.

BEAGLES.—Only one; a fairly good one.

FOX TERRIERS.—Large classes, with Raby Rasper, a corking good dog of the low type, at the head of the dogs. Blemton Reefer, an old-timer, was a good second; he is more leggy, with good head and nice body. Hopbloom, Dusky and Reefaway (winner in the puppy class) made a close race for third place, Dusky at last getting the white ribbon. Mission Rival, a very showy dog, got three letters, and Dauntless, Mariner and Storm Signal the other cards. The rest were not mentioned. Open bitches had fifteen in the ring and they made a strong class. Golden Jewel carried off the honors. She is a finely drawn bitch with nice head and front and shows a good deal of quality. Langtry K, another nice one, took second place, and Nellie, much too heavy in head, third. Seacroft Myrtle, unplaced, is a much better bitch both in type and head and should at least have taken her place. The others were placed properly, but leaving so handsome a little bitch with so much real quality as Seacroft Myrtle unplaced and placing third, Nellie, with a very poor head and at best only a fairly good body, is a decision which I cannot understand. In dog puppies Reefaway and Spinner were first and second; they are both good, and either might have been first without serious fault. Dauntless Mariner was a good third. Pytchley Vixen, a snappy little bitch full of character, carried off the honors in bitch pupples. Victorian Caprice and Twig were placed as named.

BLACK AND TAN TERRIERS.—Only two entries; both good ones.

SKYE TERRIERS.—Only two here again, and both of good type.

YORKSHIRE TERRIERS.—There were four, two of which were fairly good; the others were too leggy and off in color.

OTHER TOY TERRIERS.—A brace of black and tans, very finely drawn and of good type.

JAPANESE SPANIELS.—In spite of the great number of these handsome little dogs in the city there was only one in the show.

PUGS.—A very inferior lot, lacking character.

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.—Three very good ones of quite perfect type, but a couple of sizes too large.

MISCELLANEOUS.—This class brought out nothing worthy of mention, except a large dog resembling a brown bear in color and coat. He is said to be a Tibetan mastiff, imported from that country, and as he surely came from some place I suppose it is true.

OFFICIAL LIST OF AWARDS

MASTIFFS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Col. R. D. Laidlaw (Major Sir Harcourt—Duchess of York); 2nd, J. H. Provard (Cube, Edric—Echo); 3rd, C. Carpy (Don, Chino Lion—Chino Beauty); Res., Mrs. F. A. Towles (Nab, Ingleside Crown Prince—Lomita Hilda); V.H.C., F. C. Beazley (Earl); H.C., Miss L. Deikes (Leo D); C., P. Siebrecht (Rover). Bitches: 1st, Richard Gird (Bessie, Chino Lion—Chino Bessie); 2nd, John Standes (Ruth, Major—Waldina); 3rd, M. D. Garratt (Bess II).

GREAT DANES.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, W. Zingg (Cæsar II, Maloch—Lolo); 2nd, Rowell & Cutten (Srohm, Satan—Lady); 3rd, Richard Lalner (Prince L, Melac—Lola); Res., Dr. F. P. Muffe (Hector, Hector—Eva); V.H.C., F. C. Klein (Danger); H.C., Kramer & Peterson (Hector C); C., J. E. Daly (Sando, Hector—Maude). Bitches: 1st, Charles Dresser (Flontis, Hector—Belle); 2nd, J. L. Cunningham (Queen, Bismark—Fanny). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st and 2nd, withheld; 3rd, Dr. F. P. Muffe (Nob e, Hector—May). Bitches: 1st, W. E. Lovdal (Olga, Prince—Ulma II).

ST. BERNARDS.—Rough—Challenge Class—1st, J. G. Barker (California Bernardo, Duke of Wellington—Tomah). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Capt. Wm. Poole (Columbus, Gillott—Victoria); 2nd, J. C. Coryell (St. Elmo, Duke of Wellington—Tomah); 3rd, Dr. A. T. Regensburger (Reglov, Safford—Mountain Queen); Res., R. A. Cunningham (Plinmouarcb, Casper—Lady Scott); V.H.C., G. A. Mudgett (Noble, California Alton—Tomah); H.C., J. D. Tate (The Cid, Altoneer—Topsy); C., M. Gerstle (Don Orsino, Reglov—Cleopatra). Bitches: 1st, W. H. Collins (Lady Bute II, Lord Bute—Clydesdale Nell); 2nd, H. A. Barkalen (Lola, California Alton—Tomah); 3rd, T. S. McGinley (May Queen, California Alton—Tomah); Res., E. S. Logan (Victoria Altou, California Alton—Tomah); V.H.C., E. R. Smith (Gudred, Ba on Cardiff—Cameo); H.C., L. G. Rowell (Laura Alton, California Alton—Tomah); C., Alfred Sbarboro (Empress Josephine, Reglov—Cleopatra). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, Miss May Uesthal (Priuce Othmar, Lord Hualpa—Lolo); 2ud, E. Leuenberger (Barry of Hauenstein II, Barry of Hauenstein—Lady Bute III); 3rd, withheld. Bitches: 1st, F. Frey (Wanda, Barry of Hauenstein—Lady Butte III); 2nd, H. L Larchett (Miss Miggs, Melrose—Countess Amelia); 3rd, Miss Grace Poole (Lady Mona, Lord Hualpa—Victoria).

Smooth—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, F. Frey (Hector of Hauenstein, Barry—Gemma I); 2nd, A. J. Salazar (Rhyn II, Rhyn—Bianca); 3rd, F. Frey (Salvo of Thusis, Barry—Bella); Res., Jacob Wehrles (Minque, Salvo of Thusis—Juno); V.H.C., Richard Muhr (Rover). Bitches: 1st, A. J. Salazar (Biauca II, Rbyn—Bianca); 2ud, Countess Valensin (Bianca, Stammback—Sarah); 3rd, H. E. Yarsley (Sister, Rbyn—Bianca). Puppy Class—1st, F. H. Busbnell (Teddy B, Lord Hualpa—Lola); 2nd, Mrs. H. A. Barkelan (Ingomar, Lord Hualpa—Lola); 3rd, J. H. Baxter (Leo II, Lord Hualpa—Lola).

NEWFOUNDLANDS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, E. S. Christin (Nero); 2nd, withheld; 3rd, R. B. Monk (Duke Royal, Nero—Flora). Bitches: 1st, James Boyes (Flora, Duke—Flora); 2nd, J. H. Schmidt (Myrtle S, Nero—Flora); 3rd, withheld.

GREYHOUNDS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, John Egan (Applause, Midnight—Veronica); 2nd, Killarney Kennels (Jack Dempsey, Killarney—Peasant Girl); 3rd, W. W. Benchley (John W, Freestone—Lady Emma); Res., Killarney Kennels (Skyball, John Mitchell—Mollie B); V.H.C., Rossiter & Burrell (Emin Pasha). Bitches: 1st, M. W. Kerrigan (White Cloud, Killarney—Peasant Girl); 2nd, John Grace (Nellie Conroy, Royal Crest—Daisy); 3rd, Killarney Kennels (Dottie Dimple, Killarney—Lady Cleveland); Res., Presidio Kennels (Lady H Glendyne, Trales—Lady Graham Glendyne); V.H.C., Archie Merritt (Faster and Faster, Dan O'Connell—Rockland Maid); H.C., Killarney Kennels (Best Trump, Bend Or—Chickopee Lass); C., Peter Casabones (Rose Treley).

IRISH WOLFHOUNDS.—Open Classes—1st, Jas. G. French (Lion McCall, Dhniart—Jess); 2nd, same owner (Zota, Myshall—Nell).

FOXHOUNDS.—American—Challenge Class—1st, F. W. Sanderson (Paddy, Dolph—Fleet). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, F. W. Sanderson (Gen. Molka, Paddy—Fanny M); 2ud, Wm. P. Lawlor (Tasso, Prince—Fanny M); 3rd, L. Carrigan (Commander, Paddy—Jennie). Bitches: 1st, F. W. Sanderson (Flossie M, Paddy—Fanny M); 2ud, F. W. Sanderson (Fleet II, Paddy—Fanny M); 3rd, J. J. Ryan (Flora, Rush—Nellie); Res., F. P. Hellwig (Nellie, Mount—Bell); V.H.C., Robt. Chatham (Blue Speckle, Blutcher—Old Mag). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, withheld; 2nd, L. Carrigan (Whip, Paddy—Sister). Bitches: 1st, E. Mazzini (Bell, Paddy—Sister); 2nd, H. Gamberger (Belle, Sport—Lillie). English—Open Class—1st, J. McEnroe (Landlord, Sailor—Fallacy).

POINTERS.—Heavyweights—Challenge Class—1st, H. Vernon (Sally Brass II, Graphic—Meally); 2ud, J. W. England (Hempstead Blossom, Duke of Hessen—Woolton Game). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. Spencer (Buck S, Duke of Vernon—Gypsy Queen); 2nd, B. J. Baum (Glenbeigh Jr, Glenbeigh—Lady Max); 3rd, C. M. Osborne (Professor's Lad, Professor—Drab); Res., Chas. Kenyon (Dick, Dick—Rosalie); V.H.C., T. L. Potter (Buck B, Buck S—Dottie P); H.C., S. Simons (Duke S, Buck S—Dottie P); C., Emil Sutro (Jim P, Old Black Joe II—Black Bess). Bitches: 1st, L. Carrigan (Dinah, Raven—Nellie); 2nd, L. M. King (Rose K, Dan—Lady); 3rd, G. W. Russell (Jessie, Echo—Chippie). Lightweights—Challenge Class—1st and 2nd, A. B. Truman (Patti Croxteth, Croxteth—Patti M, and Kioto, Kan Koo—Drab). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, J. H. Keifer (Baldy, Idstone Bang—Vashti); 2nd, Markland & Eaton (Joe M, Old Black Joe II—Black Bess); 3rd, R. J. Widney (Donald's Hope, Donald's Sensation—Graphic's Rose); Res., Wm. Dormer (Bruce R, Royal Shot—Chloe B); V.H.C., A. Larsen (Dick L). Bitches: 1st, H. C. Golcher (Beulah, Glenbeigh—Jill); 2nd, F. E. Peterson (Arabella, Glenbeigh—Jill); 3rd, H. Y. Evaus Jr. (Tippetta); Res., J. H. Sammi (Nancy S, Buck S—Hornell Bess); V.H.C., Jos. D. O'Neil (Cora, Climax—Lady Quadrant); H.C., J. H. Varley (Lulu, Kansas Ben—Franken Belle); C., H. Elsner (Dot F, Professor—Nellie P). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, Presidio Kennels (Blithedale, Upton of Blithe—Juno H). Bitches: 1st, T. E. Walker (Kent's Lassie, Sargent Kent—Amaryllis); 2nd, Thos. Burke (Kent Amy, Sargent Kent—Amaryllis); 3rd, T. C. M. Collins (Lady Blithe, Upton of Blithe—Juno H); Res., Presidio Kennels (Nellie Blithe, Upton of Blithe—Juno H).

ENGLISH SETTERS.—Challenge Class—1st, H. T. Payne (Countess Noble, Stanford—Lily C). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. A. Barber (Pilot, Regent—Topsy); 2nd, John Kerrigan (Whip, Rover II—Bessy); 3rd, Joseph Singer (Stamboul, Stanford—Lily C); Res., H. L. Sumner (Marks the Lawyer, Roderigo's Prince—Countess Hazel); V.H.C., V. A. Caglierl (Dick C, Kittle's Luke—Victor's Belle); H.C., Dr. E. M. Lowry (Dictator, Jean Val Jean—Lufra Blackburn; C., Wm. C. Brown (Nick K, Kittle's Duke—Victor's Belle). Bitches: 1st, B. M. Lelong (Flake D, Dan Gladstone—Florine); 2nd, S. F. Hughes (Silverplate, Fred W—Countess Noble); 3rd, Victor Guerinean (Nellie V, Kittle's Luke—Victor's Belle); Res., R. K. Gardiner (Suver G, Sbell Hudson—Estrella); V.H.C., Wm. Larsen (Belle Gladstone, Gladstone—Zell) and N. Batto (Manzanita Belle, Fred W—Countess Noble); H.C., D. Winder (Kitty K, Gath's Hope—Lady Lit); C., E. McAndrew (Dollie Mack, Sport—Sisso). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, Louis Schueider (Jacob, Luke—Flora); 2nd, D. T. Murphy (Olema, Soapy Sponge—Lottie T); 3rd, Wm. Larsen (Count Del Sur, Del Sur—Countess Noole). Bitches: 1st, A. C. Draveur (Hazel Z, Sirocco—Belle T); 2nd, R. K. Gardiner (Peach Mark, Mercury—Betsy Mark); 3rd, L. E. Hagan (Veza H, Luke K—Dotty C).

GORDON SETTERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, J. W. & H. W. Orears (Dick II, Whip—Nanon); 2nd, C. P. O'Neil (Prince); 3rd, C. A. Blank (Trim, Rex—Mirza). Bitches: J. W. & H. W. Orear (Bijou, Whip—Nanon); 2nd, Fred Baltzer (Dot, Woodward's Ben—Twing's Lady). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, E. M. Marriott (Bounce M). Bitches: 1st, J. M. Vandall (Lady Dare, Prince—Jewel).

IRISH SETTERS.—Challenge Class—1st, A. B. Truman (Dick Swiveler, Bruce—Leigh Doane II). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, A. B. Truman (Nemo II, Emmett—Lightning); 2nd, Glenmore Kennels (Finglas Jr, Finglas—Ruby Glenmore); 3rd, M. D. Garratt (Glenmore Sultau, Finglas—Lady Josie); Res., Glenmore Kennels (Barrymore, Finglas—Ruby Glenmore); V.H.C., Dr. E. N. Lowry (Reporter of Glenmore, Finglas—Lady Josie); H.C., Geo. P. Adams (Redwood, Emmett—Ruby M); C., J. Hopkins (Ned II, Emmett—Lightning) and C. F. Mohrhardt (Robin Hood, Emmett—Lightning). Bitches: 1st, A. B. Truman (Lightning, Mike T—Lady Elcho); 2nd, Glenmore Kennels (Maid of Glenmore, Finglas—Betsy Crafts); 3rd, Glenmore Kennels (Elcho's Maid, Elcho Jr.—Maid); Res., Mrs. E. F. Mohrhardt (Star Aileen M, Emmett—Lightning); V.H.C., J. W. Keene (Queen of Kildare, Kildare—Red Rose). Puppy Class—1st, G. B. Gray (Lad of Glenmore, Barrymore—Belle C).

IRISH WATER SPANIELS.—Challenge Class—1st, J. H. Sammi (Nellie). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, J. H. Sammi (Handy Andy, The Shaugrauu—Dutchess of Connaught); 2nd, J. H. Sammi (Irish Duke, Pat—Bridget O'Douoghue; 3rd, J. H. Sammi (Brocky Tom, Pat—Bridget O'Donoghue). Bitches: 1st, W. H. Williams (Nora W, King Marsh—Nora P).

CHESAPEAKES.—Challenge Class—1st, T. Higgs (Trout, Drake—Dundee). Open Class—1st, Thomas Higgs (Pearl, Neptune—Motlie B); 2ud, F. J. Lane (Nancy, Trout—Bess); 3rd, M. Peterson (Grace, Trout—Bess). Puppy Class—1st, E. J. Morgan (Hyp, Trout—Bess).

COLLIES.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Mrs. George Crocker (Lord Rosebury II, Great Guu—Flirt); 2nd, Burlingame Kennels (Moro, Forehook Paragou—Floss); 3rd, O. J. Albee (Max, Major Wilton—Reg R); Res., Countess G. Valensin (Jeannot); V.H.C., W. de Lopez (Laddie, Heather Sandy—Ormskirk Girl); H.C., C. A. Stuart (Laddie S, Lea Rig—Bess II); C., Miss Della Beach (General Stark, Mauey Trefoil—Mermaid). Bitches: 1st, O. J. Albee (Baby Sue, Maney Trefoil—Smokey); 2nd, Chas. S. Nathan (Duke, Winnemuck—Collie); 3rd, Burlingame Kennels (Floss, Strathmore Ben—Jean); Res., Burlingame Kennels (Flax, Lea Rig—Bess H); V.H.C., Wm. F. Miller (Bonnie M, Chance III—Bliukbonny II); H.C., Miss Della Beach (Juanita, Gen. Stark—Sunshine); C., Miss D. Beach (Sunshine, Maney Trefoil—Smoky) Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, O. J. Albee (Max, Major Wilton—Reg R); 2nd, C. A. Stuart (Laddie S, Lea Rig—Bess II). Bitches: 1st, Burlingame Kennels (Flax, Lea Rig—Bess H).

DALMATIANS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Dr. W. F. McNutts (Ajax); 2ud, withheld; 3rd, Dr. W. F. McNutt (Hector). Bitches: 1st, E. Flnn (Rose F).

BULLDOGS.—Open Class—1st, G. Crocker (Brigand, Coco—Doris).

BULL TERRIERS.—Challenge Class—1st, J. F. O, Comstock (Twilight, Hinks—Starlight). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Captain Comstock (Adonis, Gully the Great—Edgewood Fancy); 2nd, Frank Lycett (Chief, Chief—Little Starlight); 3rd, Frank M. Stone (Chautaqua Colonel, Crisp—White Gypsy); Res., Charles A. Kohler (Jim Bud, Jim Blaine Jr—Waney). Bitches: 1st, W. H. Collins (Little Starlight, Adonis—Twilight); 2nd, Mrs. J. A. Baxter (Bessie B, Jack—Jenny).

SPITZ.—Open Class—1st, Chas. A. King (Dude, Sport—Flossie); 2ud, Gabriel Garraod (Nero, Bosco—Rose); 3rd, Miss Helen Wheeler (Bismark); Res., Chas A. King (Fiossy); V.H.C., N. D. Sickle (Roy).

FIELD SPANIELS.—Open Class—1st, J. T. Fish (Monarch); 2nd, J. H. Follis (Tige, Obo II—Little Nell).

COCKER SPANIELS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Pastime Cocker Kennels (Woodland Robbie, Red Roland—Thompson's Queen II); 2nd, Pastime Kennels (Woodland Duke, Black Duke—Woodland Jude); 3rd, Mrs. W. W. Moody (California Duke, Woodland Duke—Jessie M); Res., Harry L. Morse (Black Prince, Corporal Trim—Vixen). Bitches: 1st, Al Byler (Queen Vic. Woodland Duke—Lillie Mc); 2nd, W. Barstow (Zona, Woodland Duke—Mollie Mc); 3rd, Pastime Kennels (Peg Wolfington, Red Roland—Jessie M); Res., Miss Mina D'Evelyn (Bessie Woodstock, Nip K—Brontilla); V.H.C., Pastime Kennels (Mollie Mc, Toby Mc—Black Nellie); H.C., Richard Nye (Victoria, Jack Obo—Blackbird E). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, D. T. Murphy (Prince B, King Bee—Bessie Woodstock); 2nd, Fred Boell (Apollo B, Woodland Duke—Jessie M); 3rd, Enterprise Kennels (Count K, Nip K—Queenie); Res., Eeterprise Kenuels (Giff K, Nip K—Brontilla) Bitches: 1st, J. H. Varley (Lady Etta, King Douglas—Jessie V); 2nd, E. Berwick (Nellie Berwick, King Douglas—Jessie V).

DACHSHUNDE.—Challenge Classes—Dogs: 1st, S. F. Hughes (Brownie, Sinbad—Victoria). Bitches: 1st, D. Bolderl (Loulsa, Blitz—Pusel).

BEAGLES.—Open Class—1st, Miss Frances Howard (Rex).

FOX TERRIERS.—Challenge Class—1st, J. B. Martin (Blemton Consequence, Result—Diadem). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st. C. A. Sumner (Raby Rasper, Drone—Miscreant); 2nd, Mission Kennels (Blemton Reefer, Venio—Rachel); 3rd, A. E. Guy (Hopbloom Dusky, Triton—Vernon); Res., Edgar Mills (Reefaway, Blemton Reefer—Blemton Spinaway); V.H.C., Mission Kennels (Mission Rival, Blemton Reefer—Rejoice); H.C., W. W. Moore (Dauntless Mariner, Blemtou Reefer—Dauntless Suzette); C., D. Shannon (Storm Signal, Ripon Stormer—Judy). Bitches: 1st, J. B. Martin (Golden Jewel, Blemton Reefer—Blemton Brilliant); 2nd, Capt. C. B. Knocker (Langtry K, Oriole Bluffer—Dauntless Lilian); 3rd, Robert Liddle (Nellie, Tim—Minnie); Res., J. B. Martin (Dauntless Ruby, Le Logos—Hillside Gaudy); V.H.C., Pytchley Fox Terrier Kennels (Pytchley Meddlesome, Le Logos—Pytchley Patch); H. C., Mrs. D. Shannon (Stiletto, Blemton Reefer—Judy); C., J. Heffernan (De Oro, Blemton Reefer—Judy) and Geo. Debenham (Frisco Daisy, Frisco Diablo—Dauntless Cythree). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, Edgar Mills (Reefaway, BlemtonReefer—Blemton Spinaway); 2nd, Edgar Mills (Spinner, Blemton Reefer—Blemton Spinaway); 3rd, W. W. Moore (Dauntless Mariner, Blemton Reefer—Dauntless Suzette); Res., Geo. W. Debenham (Frisco Dasher, Frisco Diablo—Frisco Doubtful); V.H.C., Andrew Carrigan (Rats); H.C., H. H. Carlton (Oakside Chief, Raby Rasper—Pytchley Mischief); C., W. W. Moore (Dauntless Royal Flush, Blemton Reefer—Dauntless Suzette). Bitches: 1st, Pytchley Fox Terrier Kennels (Pytchley Vixen, Blemton Reefer—Pytchley Pearl); 2nd, J. A. Sargent (Victorian Caprice, Raby Rasper—Pytchley Mischief); 3rd, E. H. Burrell (Twig, Volunteer—Gyp).

BLACK AND TAN TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Capt. J. F. O. Comstock (Dan). Bitches: 1st, Capt. J. F. O. Comstock (Nellie).

SKYE TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Mrs. G. Crocker (Ben II, Old Burgundy—Scottish Queen). Bitches: 1st, Miss Bertie Bruce (Gyp).

YORKSHIRE TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, E. B. Grace (Frank); 2nd, E. Attridge (Mike, Dandy—Nellie). Bitches: 1st, W. P. Feeny (Belle, Mikado—Flossy); 2nd, E. Attridge (Nellie).

OTHER TOY TERRIERS.—Open Class—1st and 2nd, J. C. Farley (Midget and Moxie).

JAPANESE SPANIELS.—Open Class—1st, C. L. Heller (Nellie).

PUGS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Mrs. W. F. Chipman (Puck, Ben Butler—Puss in Boots); 2nd, A. C. Stoetzer (Tip); 3rd, Mrs. Geo. D. Troy (Cnarlie, Spot—Beauty). Bitches: 1st and 2nd, Mrs. G. Troy (Beauty, Dandy—Jess, and Beauty II, Sir Charles—Beauty). Puppy Class—1st, Mrs. G. Troy (Toodles, Sir Charles—Beanty).

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, W. A. Dean (Pop, Texas—Zelda). Bitches: 1st, Mrs. Kate Waters (Zelda); 2nd, J. J. Vleira (Qneenie V).

MISCELLANEOUS.—Over 25 pounds—1st, Dr. T. Deane (Rolla); 2nd, Mrs. E. E. Bonelli (Cairo). Under 25 pounds—1st, withheld; 2nd, G. Brigg (Pip).

SPECIAL PRIZE LIST

MASTIFFS.—Best, Major. Best bitch, Bessie.

GREAT DANES.—Best, Cæsar II. Best bitch, Flontis.

ST. BERNARDS.—Best in show, California Bernardo. Best in open classes, Hector of Hauenstein. Best dog in open classes, Hector of Hauenstein. Best rough dog in open classes, Columbus. Second best dog in open classes, Columbus. Second best rough dog in open classes, St. Elmo. Second best in open classes, Lady Bute II. Best bitch, Lady Bute II. Largest dog, Reglov. Best puppy, Teddy B. Best smooth dog, Hector of Hauenstein. Best smooth bitch, Blanca II. Best smooth dog puppy owned by a member of the St. Bernard Club, Teddy B. For members of the California St. Bernard Club only: Second best rough dog open class, Reglov. Third best rough dog in open class, Noble. Second best rough bitch in open class, Lola. Third best rough bitch, May Queen. Best rough dog puppy, Barry of Hanenstein II. Best rough bitch puppy, Wanda. Second best rough bitch puppy, Miss Miggs.

NEWFOUNDLANDS.—Best, Nero.

GREYHOUNDS.—Best, Applause. Best placed in any open coursing stake, Applause. Best bitch, White Cloud. Best bitch owned by a lady, Lady II Glendyne. Best puppy, Emin Pasha.

AMERICAN FOXHOUNDS.—Best, Paddy. Best dog in open class, Gen Molka. Best bitch, Flossie M. Third best dog in open class and best English foxhound, Landlord. Best dog puppy, Whip C. Best bitch puppy, Belle. Best kennel of foxhounds, F. W. Sanderson.

POINTERS.—Best, Sally Brass II. Best heavyweight [illegible] II. Best heavyweight in open classes, Dinan. [illegible] Beulah. Best dog in open classes, Baldy. Third [illegible] Baldy. Third best pointer, Kent's Lassie. [illegible] Patti Croxteth T. Third best lightweight [illegible] puppy, Kent's Lassie. Best black pointer dog [illegible] of puppies, Bilthedale and Nellie Blithe.

ENGLISH SETTERS.—Best, Flake L. Be[illegible] best, Pilot. Best puppy, Jacob.

GORDON SETTERS.—Best, Dick II. [illegible], Pilot. Best puppy, Lady Dare.

IRISH SETTERS.—Best dog, Dick Swiveler. Best dog in open class, Nemo II. Best bitch, Lightning T. Third best Irish setter, Finglas Jr. Best puppy, Lad of Glenmore. Best kennel, Glenmore Kennels.

IRISH WATER SPANIELS.—Best, Nora W. Best dog, Handy Andy. Second best, Nellie. Best kennel, J. H. Sammi.

CHESAPEAKES.—Best dog, Trout. Best bitch, Pearl. Best in open class, Pearl. Best puppy, Hyp.

COLLIES.—Best, Lord Roscbery II.

DALMATIANS.—Best, Ajax.

BULLDOGS.—Best, Brigaud

BULL TERRIERS.—Best, Twilight. Best dog, Adonis.

COCKER SPANIELS.—Best, Woodland Robbie. Best bitch, Queen Vic. Best (other than black), Prince B. Third best cocker and best puppy, Lady Etta; best bred on the coast, Queen Vic.

FOX TERRIERS.—Best, Raby Rasper. Best puppy, Reefaway. Best exhibited by a lady, Stiletto. Best bred in California exhibited by a lady, Stiletto. Third best exhibited by a lady, Oakside Beauty. For members of the Pacific Coast Fox Terrier Club only: Best dog, Raby Rasper. Best dog puppy, Oakside Chief. Best bitch, Golden Jewel. Second best bitch puppy, Victorian Caprice. Best bitch puppy, Pytchley Vixen. Best puppy, Pytchley Vixen. Best brace bred in California, Frisco Daisy and Frisco Dasher. Second best dog, Blemtom Reefer. Second best bitch, Dauntless Ruby. Third best dog, Hopbloom Dusky. Third best bitch, Pytchley Meddlesome. Breeder of best puppy, J. B. Martin. Best dog puppy, Frisco Dasher. Best kennel, J. B. Martin.

BLACK AND TAN TERRIERS.—Best, Nellie.

SKYE TERRIERS.—Best, Gyp.

YORKSHIRE TERRIERS.—Best, Frank.

TOY TERRIERS.—Best, Midget.

JAPANESE SPANIELS.—Best, Nellie.

PUGS.—Best, Puck. Best bitch, Beauty.

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.—Best, Zelda.

Best dog of any breed exhibited by a lady, Mrs. Geo. Crocker's Lord Rosebery II.

OUR SETTERS—SHALL WE BREED OUT, OR REVERT TO ORIGINAL STRAINS?

BY J. R. HAMILTON

The very interesting extracts from Mr. George Lowe's letter to the London Sporting Life, which you recently published, are a timely vindication of the Laverack setter, which pure strain has not been given full credit for its contribution to the qualities of the Llewellin (or Duke-Rhæbe-Laverack) setter as we know him and esteem him at the present day, for there is no absolutely straight bred Llewellin that is not at least of half Laverack blood, and some of our greatest sires have more than half of the latter strain in them.

Mr. Llewellin has owned two very famous dogs, Count Wind'em (E. 8169) and Dash II (E. 4259), both three-fourths Laverack, the former being by Count Dick (Dan—Countess) out of Phantom, full Laverack and sister to Petrel, the dam of Gladstone. Dash II was by Blue Prince (E. 4259), a Laverack, out of J. Armstrong's Old Kate, a half Laverack, she being by Laverack's Dash II (E. 1341) out E. Armstrong's Kate, sister to Felld's Duke (E. 1361).

From Count Wind'em we have had in this country the great sire Count Noble (1509), bred from the half Laverack Nora (E. 7217). From Llewellin's Dash II we have had in this country Dashing Monarch, Dashing Rover, Dashing Berwyn, and Dashing Lion, all out of half Laverack-Duke-Rhæbe dams. The great Gladstone was the produce of Dan (E. 1330) out of the Laverack Petrel (472), a first cross of the Duke-Rhæbe on the pure Laverack strain. The success of this crossing, even in present generations, is to be seen in our great sires and field trial winners of to-day. That these dogs do not always produce the best shooting dogs is possibly because the special training and selection of a dog for our field trials develops and perpetuates natural qualities detrimental to the usefulness of a dog intended for the more prosaic purposes of a satisfactory shooting dog, such as is invidiously called "a plug."

The training in a dog is not transmissible to his progeny, but the capacity to be so trained is. Those who want field trial dogs should breed to sires and dams with a record of success in such competitions. Those who want shooting dogs, with equally requisite qualities for the purposes for which they are to be used, should breed to sires and dams of known excellence in the shooting field and in the service of the gun.

If, however, we cross the field trial strain with an old native strain of pure origin, like the Celeste of Virginia or the Morford of New Jersey, my own experience demonstrates (with an entire litter of six survivors) that we get level-headed field dogs, absolutely subservient to the gun and having the qualities most essential in good shooting dogs. However, a cross again of this successful outcross on an equally pure native strain has not been so successful; but on breeding the produce of the original outcross back to Llewellins I retained or recovered all of the excellence I obtained by the first mating of Llewellins to natives.

If we had trials for shooting dogs, as are the English trials, we would doubtless be able to develop from our Llewellins, by careful selection and mating, as good shooting dogs as could be obtained from any outcrossing whatsoever on native breeds, which, although they represent the survival of the fittest in the mating of the best to the best in successive generations, are as a general rule somewhat mixed in breed, which possibly accounts for their immunity from diseases fatal to our pure bred setters and pointers, which, to keep pure, are necessarily inbred.

The late Mr. Arnold Burges contended, on the authority of a letter from Mr. E. Armstrong published in the London Field, that Old Moll, one of the original pair said to have been purchased by Mr. Laverack in 1825, came from the kennels of Sir F. Graham, who bred and owned Duke, the sire of Feild's Duke (the sire of Dan and Dora), and that the success of the breeding of these Duke—Rhæbes on the Laveracks Countess, Nellie, Lill II Petrel and Prince was in a large measure due to breeding back on the original stock of the Gra[illegible] On the other hand we must not leave out [illegible] count the wonderful record of Mr. Statter's [illegible] dam of no less than thirteen winners in [illegible] trials got by at least four different sires, some [illegible] were by Feild's Duke and some by pure Laverack. The sire of Rhæbe was Paul Hackett's Rake (E. 1[illegible], not recorded but pedigree shows some black and tan blood in him; her dam, Psyche (E. 1537), neither date of birth nor color given in the English Stud Book, is there stated to be half South Esk and half Gordon Castle. This is indefinite and erroneous, for we now know she was bred in 1859 by Mr. James Tait, Larkhall, came from his celebrated strain of black and tan which he kept in his kennels for fifty years and had only been in the hands for one hundred years. Psyche's sire was Tait's black dog Rock; her dam was Tait's Countess (black, white and tan). The South Esk and Gordon myth perpetuated in our Llewellin pedigrees has no better basis than that one of Psyche's great-grandsires, out of four, was a black dog named Sultan, purchased by Mr. Tait from the South Esk kennel, or that Fan, one of her four great-grandams, a black and tan, belonged to Lord Douglas and probably may have been a Gordon; admitting which would make Pysche one-eighth South Esk and one-eighth Gordon, instead of half and half. Pysche was sold by Mr. James Tait to Mr. Statter in 1835, having previously had three litters, and through them having descendants in Mr. Tait's kennel to-day. Instead, then, of Psyche being the produce of two unnamed dogs from known kennels, she is the outcome of generation after generation of careful breeding, now perpetuated in the prepotency of the Duke—Rhæbe cross on the equally pure and carefully bred Laveracks.

The English Stud Book is equally incomplete in recording Rhæbe's pedigree, giving neither the date of her birth nor her color and markings. From a photograph sent me by Mr. Thos. Johnson, of Winnipeg, and from Mr. Arnold Burges' pedigrees, she seems to have been black, white and tan, the black preponderating. Champion Gloster (8209), who has in him four distinct crossings of Rhæbe, bred back to her in the distribution of black, white and tan, being like her heavily marked with black. The Laveracks are mostly blue belton, black and white, and lemon and white. Neither Prince, Blue Prince, Countess nor Nellie had any tan markings, and Lill II and Petrel were lemon and white. It is doubtful if there ever was a pure Laverack marked with tan, and therefore it is reasonable to infer that the tan in our black and white Duke-Rhæbe-Laveracks came from either Duke or Rhæbe, or both.

If breeding the produce of these two to the Laveracks was a reversion, in part, to an original strain derived from the Graham kennel, through Duke (the sire of Feild's Duke) and Laverack's Old Moll, then would it not be well to go back to the old Laverack strain, as Mr. Llewellin did when he bred Count Wind'em and bought Dash II? Mr. Geo. Lowe tells us the Laverack strain is still preserved in the kennels of Mr. Thos. Pilkington and Mr. I. C. Hartley, and, if still in existence, I also may add in the kennel of Mr. J. R. Robinson. I think such a reversion would promise a more enduring success than a resort to off crosses of other English strains or to natives of more or less mixed or doubtful pedigrees. It would also be judicious to breed pure Laveracks to old Psyche's strain, as perpetuated in Mr. James Tait's kennel and represented on this continent by Mr. Thos. Johnson's Manitoba Toss (23368); then to cross the produce of this mating onto the three-fourths Laveracks, and also onto the Llewellins.

These suggestions ars entirely in the interest of those sportsmen who do not participate in field trials, and as they are in the vast majority there can be no doubt that the field trial strain of setters is becoming unpopular with them. While they still want pure blood and authentic pedigrees, so as to breed intelligently, many of them are dropping the setter and taking up the pointer, the almost uniform victory of the former over the latter in field trials to the contrary notwithstanding. Is it because of this demand for pointers that the prices paid for them have kept up better than the prices asked and accepted for setters? There can be no doubt that the general belief is gaining ground that the pointer makes a better shooting dog than a setter of the fashionable field trial strain, and that the pointers are by nature and breeding too good as shooting dogs to win against setters in trials as now run and judged in this country.

We have Mr. Lowe's testimony, however, that the best shooting dogs in England to-day are the Laveracks, and for that purpose the nearer one breeds to this strain the better. Mr. Llewellin so breeds at intervals, and the most recent importation from his kennel, Count Beaufort (34331), a blue belton setter by Moss Wind'em out of Primrose, is at least three-fourths Laverack, having two crosses of the pure Laverack Phantom and a cross each of the three-fourths Laveracks Count Wind'em and Dash II. Mr. Llewellin evidently breeds thus to keep a preponderance of Laverack blood in his strain of dogs as at present bred.

I have never seen a description of Count Wind'em, but Dash II is thus described by Bell's Life in its report of the Shrewsbury field trials of 1876: "The winner of the Champion Cup, Dash II, is a very handsome dog, very low and lengthy and of quite the true Laverack type. Although quite a young dog he has already won many prizes at shows, and his pedigree quite confirms the opinion that the best setters are the Laveracks; and the nearer we breed to that strain the better." Of Count Wind'em I have, as already stated, never read a description, but as he had the same proportion of Laverack blood in him as Dash II it is reasonable to assume that he, too, bred to the same type. We know that he was very much valued by Mr. Llewellin, and that his name is still retained as an affix in many names of Mr. Llewellin's dogs and bitches introduced to the public of recent years. I may as well add that the description of Dash II in the Bell's Life report of the Shrewsbury field trials of 1876, and adopted by the English Kennel Club, was published in Vol. IV of the English Stud Book for 1877. In that year Dash II, running as the property of Mr. Bemis, won the Kennel Club's Challenge Cup, beating the Laverack bitch Blue Belle III (his half sister) for first place. She was also second in the Horseheath Kennel Club trials in 1876, when only one year old, having only been beaten in this race by Lord Downe's pointer bitch Jill (five years old), the blue mottled Laverack beating all the other aged dogs in the trials, pointers and setters alike. As I have before stated, these trials are run to decide [illegible] the competitors as companions of us who in our modest way [illegible] dogs and to develop them [illegible] birds (in this state at least [illegible] of the trespassing pot [illegible] English trials are far more valuable than our own, for in our trials a dog, to win, must emancipate itself more or less from the service of the gun, and look to its coveys, rather than to its single birds. Our field trials promote breeding for nose, for a dog must be very sensitive to scent not to pass or run into his birds when going a coursing pace; stanchness must also be an inherited quality, because the dog so frequently finds game out of the range of his handler's command, and if not naturally stanch he would creep in and flush. On the other hand a field trial aspirant showing that cunning in handling of game and combination of bird-sense and accuracy which is the characteristic of a good shooting dog would be relegated as a potterer to the cold obscurity of instant defeat.

If anyone with an antiquarian turn desires to learn the difference between the running of field trials to-day and those of these pre-Clinkerian era, when Gladstone and Sanborn's Nelly won their victories, let him turn to reports of these trials and the rules governing them, as given in the preliminary pages of the first volume of our American Stud Book. He will be interested to learn there the accurate and faultless work done by Gladstone when only fifteen months old. If Captain P. H. Bryson would kindly give some reminiscences of the grand old dog's performances in the hunting field they would, to the majority of sportsmen, be much more interesting and instructive than the cut and vanish performances of most of our present day field trial dogs, the produce of mating "Buzzsaw" to "Bag of Nerves" and the consummation of breeding like to like for pedigree sake.

The enduring prepotency and great qualities of our earlier sires and dams have not been extinguished or eliminated from many of our straight but judiciously bred Llewellins, and the more Gladstone—Sue blood they have in them as ballast for the Count Noble strains and inbreedings the better.

I have heard that a certain dog has only failed to be a great field trial winner because he works too much in the form of a first-class shooting dog, that he is a level-headed bird finder and a faithful servant to the gun. These qualities, in combination with other characteristics which their possession imply, with judicious training aptly acquired, make to my mind the perfect shooting dog. I have known, personally, but three such dogs, and strange to say all three had a strain of one-eighth native blood in them. To produce such dogs Mr. Edward Laverack bred from the days of Old Ponto and Old Moll down to those of Countess, Nellie, Prince and Blue Prince. Here Mr. Statter came in and evolved the Duke—Rhæbe strain. And then came Mr. Llewellin who crowned the edifice by combining the Duke—Rhæbes with the Laveracks; of which combination his kennel now consists, with occasional fresh infusions of Laverack blood. In this country the pure Laverack may be said to be extinct. Cactus (28519) and Glendon (19492), the two winning dogs at the shows, with Count Beaufort, are the nearest representatives of this strain left to us unless Bonnie Blue Daisy (8282), now ten years old, is still alive.

Chester, S. C.

THE UNITED STATES FIELD TRIALS

NEWTON, N. C.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The committee on grounds for the Fall trials of the United States Field Trial Club having decided on Newton, N. C., as the place for the November meeting, I have been here for some days arranging the details for the above event, I find the birds (owing to the severe Winter) not as plentiful as they were said to have been last year, but with favorable weather in June and July I think there will be as many as will be necessary for the trials. I have leased a large tract of land for the United States trials, lying in the opposite direction from the town from that of the Eastern Field Trials Club, and equally as good grounds. The running will be mostly on wheat stubbles; a few cornfields may have to be drawn, but as the farmers say they pull the fodder and also cut the tops of the stalks off they will prove good grounds to work in. But very few broomsage fields are to be found.

The people of Newton and vicinity are much pleased that their locality has been chosen as the field trial center of the Fall circuit, and pledge themselves to give the clubs all the aid and assistance desired. St. Hubert Inn (formerly Hotel Newton) will be headquarters. The rate at this house will be two dollars per day, no extra charge for fires in rooms or for lunches sent to the field. This hotel is now fitted with electric bells in all rooms, hot and cold water, inside closets and washrooms, and other conveniences of the houses of a good-sized city, the table being supplied with beef from Chicago, fish and oysters from the gulf, and the best of creamery butter, with the turkeys and chickens from the neighborhood. Visitors can rest assured that the inner man will be well taken care of. Other accommodations can be had at the rate of $1 per day, or $5 per week. Good livery will be provided. Two-horse hacks with driver, $2.50 per day; saddle horses, $1.25 per day. For the benefit of those parties who attend the trials from the South and West, due notice will be published of the best route and reduced rates on the railroads. Visitors from the East can secure the same rates that are given the Eastern Field Trials Club from Washington and New York.

I have looked up a number of good locations tributary to Newton that are good points to locate at to prepare dogs for the trials, and if handlers who expect to attend and are not familiar with the country will communicate with me, I will give them the names of places that would suit their wants.

I have secured the services of a local shooter who is familiar with the grounds. He will draw them thoroughly before the trials, and locate the bevies, and then act as a guide through the trials, thus enabling work to move along expeditiously and without loss of time.

W.B. STAFFORD, Secy. U. S. F. T. Club.

JUDGES FOR THE CONTINENTAL TRIALS

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Continental Field Trial Club's quail trials at Newton, N. C., will be judged by J.M. Freeman, W.S. Bell and Royal Robinson. The prairie chicken trials of the club are an assured success. P.T. MADISON, Secy.-Treas.

FOR SALE.—Mr. J. Hawkins, Rockville, Conn., offers Italian greyhounds....Mr. M. B. Mellor, Plainfield, N.J., offers cocker spaniels....Mr. A. Froembling, Chicago, offers dachshunde....Mr. C. Harris, Kalamazoo, Mich., offers beagle and English setter....Mr. M. G. Plimpton, Medfield, Mass., offers foxhounds....F. E. B., Chicago, offers deerhounds....Glenridge Beagle Kennels, Slatersville, R. I., offer beagle ...Osceola Kennels, Troutmere, Wis., offer Great Danes ...Mr. F. F. Capers, Greenville, S. C., offers pointers....Mr. J. A. Stagg, Harris, Ind., offers pointers....Mr. C J. Prouty, Scituate, Mass., offers beagles....Mr. R M. Dunberry, Philadelphia, Pa.. offers beagle....Mr. L. L. Baird, Parsons, Kan., offers English setters ...Mr. C. Thixton, Owensboro, Ky., offers pointer....Mr. T. A. Carson, Kingston, Can., offers Irish water spaniels....Mr. F. C. Schleicher, Baltimore, Md., offers St. Bernards....Mr. R. W. Smith Jr., Tate, Ga., offers pointers and English setters Mr. Wm. Edwards, Chicago, offers fox terrier ...Mr. A. G. Sorstmann, Philadelphia, Pa., offers English and Gordon setters....Box 156, Port Dover, Ont., offers Irish setters ...Mr. E. R. Cole, Battle Creek, Mich., offers English setters....Mr. A. Rufle, North Manchester, Ind., offers English setters. ....Key City Kennels, Dubuque, Ia., offer English setters ...Messrs. J. D. Poston & Co , Columbus, O., offer English setters ...Oakland Beagle Kennels, Pontiac, Mich., offer beagles ...Mr. S. F. Noftzger, North Manchester, Ind., offers pointers....Mr. J. H. H. Maenner, Baltimore, Md., offers Great Danes....Mr. E. L. Ives, Manning, Ia., offers English setters....Mr. R. S. Hynson, Manassas, Va., offers pointers.

IN THE STUD.—The Strode Valley Kennel Club, Winchester, Ky., offers the services of the foxhound Abelard ...Mr. F. A. Wagner, Seacliff, N. Y., offers the services of the pointer Legerdemain .. Dr. J. W. Cotting, Swathmore, Pa., offers the services of the English setter Carleton Pero....Mr J. H. H. Maenner, Baltimore, Md., offers the services of the Great Danes Moreau, Victor, Harras and Nero.

NOTES

THE death of Sir Bedivere of course called forth more or less comment from the English kennel press. Our Dogs says: "Sir Bedivere was really the result of—as we may say—an accidental cross. It was originally intended to breed his dam, Bena, to Champion Pouf, but the services of that dog not being available, she was put to Nero III. Sir Bedivere was undoubtedly the handsomest and most perfect St. Bernard ever seen upon the bench. Upon his arrival in America he was interviewed and feted to repletion, and that Mr. Sears was thoroughly enamored of his purchase may be gleaned from his answer to a lady who queried: 'May he have some water?' 'Madame,' replied Mr. Sears, 'he can have a sealskin jacket if he likes, his order for anything here goes without question.'" The British Fancier says that last March Sir Bedivere nearly became the property of Mr. Jagger, the well-known English fancier, who was in this country part of last Winter and visited the New York show. There he saw Sir Bedivere, whom both himself and wife had always admired so much when in England. He was in grand form, and when writing home Mr. Jagger gave such a good account of the old dog that by next mail Mrs. Jagger told him to make an offer to Mr. Pratt. At the best Mrs. Jagger knew his life was not long, but she thought that under her care, and in his native air once more, he might live a few years longer. Mr. Pratt had nearly come to terms with Mr. Jagger, but a few days before the latter set sail for home he wrote Mr. Jagger that if he parted with the grand old dog Mrs. Pratt would certainly sue for a divorce, as he was her great pet.

HAVING been quite ill since the Pittsburg show, I have not seen until recently Mr. Watson's letters, in which he refers to the formation of the Bull Terrier Club of America. In his endeavors to convey the idea that Mr. Dole was elected president in spite of the opposition of some "gang," Mr. Watson places Mr. Dole in the position of needing someone to save him from his friends. I presume that as I am responsible for calling the meeting I might be regarded as one of the "gang" but I will state that I am in very good company as I was in communication with all the bull terrier fanciers in the country, who were all unanimous as to the necessity of a bull terrier club; this was the "gang" that elected Mr. Dole president, which was done upon my motion. Personally I have nothing to lose or gain in the success of the club, which is a certainty, as its future now depends upon a class of people interested, who will make it as strong as any specialty club in the country, despite the many efforts to throw cold water upon it since its incipiency. The officers of the club for the year are men who have been successful in their business careers and who have time and means to devote to the interests of the club. So far I have gained nothing but a whole lot of abuse and a loss of time and money, but I have accomplished what my friends requested.

Rochester, N. Y. W. J. HIGGINSON.

MR. THOS. H. WEBB, of Peoria, Ill., the well-known bulldog fancier, will sail from New York on the Umbria, Saturday, June 8, to attend the Bulldog Club Show at the Aquarium, London, Eng., June 18, 19 and 20. Mr. Webb, who is a real fancier, will be glad to undertake any commission for members of the Bull Dog Club of America, of which he is a member, free of charge. The British Bulldog Club, at its meeting at the Bath Show, April 24 last, highly complimented Mr. Webb by electing him an honorary member of the club, under clause a of the following rule governing honorary memberships: "That it be competent for the committee to elect as honorary members of the club (a) any well-known breeder or exhibitor of bulldogs residing abroad, (b) any well-known breeder or exhibitor of bulldogs residing in the United Kingdom who has retired from the fancy, and (c) any person who has rendered distinguished service to this club, (d) but no honorary member shall be allowed to compete for the club's cups or prizes, nor shall there be more than ten honorary members on the list at the same time."

THE dog show being held at Cincinnati this week, in connection with the Ohio Humane Society's Bazaar, received 202 entries, some twenty breeds being represented as follows:

Mastiffs	10	Bull terriers	2
St Bernards	29	Dachshunde	3
Bloodhounds	9	Beagles	7
Great Danes	1	Fox terriers	22
Newfoundlands	1	Poodles	12
Greyhounds	4	Yorkshire terriers	5
Pointers	18	Italian greyhounds	10
English setters	17	Pugs	14
Irish setters	8	Miscellaneous	5
Spaniels	15
Collies	9	Total	202
Bulldogs	1

The hall is large, and the attendance is good. Mr. Eberhart is superintending, and Austin's dog bread is being fed. The judging is being done in the afternoons and evenings, and is to be extended over four days. Wormwood's dog and monkey circus gives two performances daily, and is supplemented by Mr. Eberhart's clever corded poodle Ponce de Leon. An exhibit of eight Angora cats attracts some attention.

MR JOHN DAVIDSON, who has just returned from San Francisco, where he judged all breeds, expresses himself as well pleased with the show, and tells us the improvement in quality since he was there in 1891 is very pronounced in some breeds. In spite of the long, tedious journey he enjoyed himself a good deal, and he speaks warmly of the hospitality tendered him on every hand. To judge a show of three hundred and fifty entries is no great task for "Uncle John," and both before and after the show he found time to run around a little; among other things he attended the pigeon shooting at the California State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, spent an afternoon at the Bay District racetrack, and witnessed with the keenest interest a number of trials at the Golden Gate and Ocean View coursing parks. On his way home he spent a couple of pleasant days in Denver, and broke his journey again by stopping over for half a day in Chicago; but his short stay in the Windy City was not from lack of invitations to tarry.

THE newly formed Bull Terrier Club has favored us with a neat little pamphlet containing its rules, the points of the breed it favors and promotes, and a table of valuation of those points. The names of the club's officers and committee on rules and regulations we published five weeks ago, but from the pamphlet under notice we find the club has an executive committee composed of Messrs. John H. Church, J. Otis Fellows, C. Albert Stevens, W. Mariner, W. J. Higginson, Perry Tiffany and T. H. Given. And from the same source we learn that the club has chosen for judges Messrs. Mortimer, Mason, Bellin, Mariner, Fellows, Stevens and Mahler. The annual dues are $5, payable January 1 of each year, or at least thirty days before the club's annual meeting, which will be held at New York during the Westminster Kennel Club's show.

DOGS, it is well known, have been pressed into military service in Germany, and a competition among them has been arranged to take place at Dresden this month. The trials are intended to bring out the qualities of the animals as regards their training and capacity for conveying dispatches, for guarding a camp, for seeking out the wounded and for carrying munitions. As regards the carrying of dispatches they will have to accomplish a journey of upward of three miles out and home again, while a number of barriers will be purposely placed in their way to be surmounted. The most trying circumstances of all to the competitors is the fact that they will be required not to loiter about, although other dogs will be posted with detachments of men along the line of route.

THINGS are looking favorable for the International F. T. Club's trials, which will again be run near Mitchell's Bay, where birds are more plentiful than they were last year. Entries for the International Derby will close July 1, which date owners and handlers will do well to bear in mind. Mr. W. B. Wells, who has been engaged to judge the Continental Club's trials at Morris, Man., expects to run three or four puppies in the Manitoba Derby; they will be handled by Joe Spracklin, who will take his string of dogs to Manitoba early in July. Advices from that country say the birds should be matured by July 15, owing to an early Spring. We hear Dash Antonio, winner of last year's International Derby, is looking very well and is expected to prove a thorn in the sides of the best of them next season.

MY pug Roxie II (36624) whelped, April 13, two dogs and two bitches, by Sparkle Jr (36626). The two bitch puppies are perfectly white, while the dogs have all the color and markings of the highest bred pugs. I think they are probably the only thoroughbred white pugs that were ever dropped in a litter of puppies. I was very particular in breeding Roxie II, and she was under lock and key all the time, so that there was no possibility of a cross in any way.

Pueblo, Colo. GEO. W. ZILLER.

[A white pug was exhibited at the Birmingham (Eng.) show in 1892, and in "British Dogs" mention is made of two bitches that invariably threw one pure white puppy in each litter.—ED.]

IN the matter of a very necessary and humane attention to the needs of our canine friends Montreal appears to be behind the times, judging from the following suggestion forwarded by the Montreal Kennel Association to the City Council: "The Montreal Kennel Association would respectfully suggest to the City Council that it would meet with the approbation of citizens and conduce to the comfort and well-being of dogs if drinking troughs were placed in various parts of the city for their use. We are of the opinion that the condition of excitement that may terminate in fits, often mistaken for hydrophobia, is frequently induced by fatigue, excessive heat and excitement aggravated by lack of water to drink. The association earnestly desire that the City Council will take action in the matter as suggested above."

LET us call attention to the United States Field Trial Club's advertisement of its fifth annual Fall Derbys—one for setters and the other for pointers. Each Derby is worth $150 to the winner, $125 to second, $100 to third, $75 to fourth and $50 to fifth, or $1,000 in all. Entries close June 10, and must be accompanied by $10; on September 10 a second payment of $10 will become due, and starters will be required to put up an additional $10. From the advertisement it will be seen that the club has eventually found footing at Newton, N. C., for its Fall trials; also that Spring trials at West Point, Miss., are contemplated.

AT a meeting of the New England Kennel Club, held at Boston, on Wednesday of last week, the principal business transacted was the adoption of the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Dr. C. A. Lougest has lost the mastiff Beaufort Prince, and Mr. Martin Fallon has been allowed to retain the dog, be it

Resolved, That the vote of the American Kennel Club, passed February 21, 1895, in relation to this case, is hereby indorsed, and that this club extends to Dr. Lougest its sympathy for his great loss of so valuable a dog; and does hereby instruct its show committee not to receive either the entry of Beaufort Prince or any of his get after July 15, 1895, until this dog becomes the property of Dr. Lougest.

MR. CASS M. HENDEE of Milwaukee, Wis., passed through Chicago last week on his way to Jackson, Tenn., having with him six Gordon setters, which he will put in the hands of Mr. King, for training. From Jackson Mr. Hendee will go on to Atlanta, Ga., where he will remain about a week. Mr. Hendee informed us that the Milwaukee Kennel Club, which is now fully organized, has a membership of sixty-nine, all paid up. The club has drafted and adopted a constitution and by-laws, and an A. K. C. bench show is an assured fact, it being the intention of the club to follow Chicago next Spring, if possible.

BY order of the president, a meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Kennel Club will be held at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, on Friday, June 7. The meeting will be called to order at 3 p.m., when the following matters will come up for consideration: (1) Field trial rules; (2) Industrial Exhibition Association vs. Fred Kirby; (3) to consider the cropping system, etc.; (4) to consider show dates; (5) to receive new members; (6) to consider the reciprocity of disqualifications with the American Kennel Club; (7) other business.

THE old Bache Homestead at Morristown, N. J., is again occupied by Mr. Archie Bache for the Summer season, where he proposes to reopen his kennels. He has over sixty acres, and with the pretty little lake and trout streams, it makes an ideal place for both dogs and horses. There the quails are whistling, and the old birds are already bringing up their broods. Mr. Wilmerding's spaniels are in Mr. Bache's charge, and are looking well, we hear.

WE are asked to call attention to the date of meeting of the Northwestern Beagle Club's executive committee. The meeting will be called to order at 2 p.m. next Tuesday, May 28, at Milwaukee, and members of the committee should attend or communicate with the secretary. We confidently anticipate, as a result of this meeting, the announcement of the date and place of the club's beagle trial's next Autumn.

THE strength of the Mere Kennels at Tarrytown, N. Y., has been added to by a fox terrier importation. This is Charlton Trigger, by Success—Sunlight, who arrived May 14. He was not extensively exhibited on the "other side," but he improved the opportunities he had, and F. G. Browning, the kennel manager, is pleased with the new arrival.

A MEETING of the directors of the St. Louis Kennel Club was held the evening of May 10, and progress was reported. Sufficient subscribers to the capital stock having been obtained, it was decided to incorporate without delay, and the secretary was instructed to collect fifty per cent. from all subscribers.

WE desire to call attention to the announcement in our business columns that the dogs of the late E. B. Elliott are offered for sale by his widow. Intending purchasers have an opportunity to accomplish a double purpose, which we hope they will not overlook.

A VERY neat stud card has been gotten up by Messrs. Brooks & Donner for their sterling good Irish terrier Jackanapes, and it would be well if the "directions for sending bitches," printed on the back, were more generally observed.

FOR the cartoon suggestion this week which our artist has worked up, we have to thank Mr. G. W. Hamilton, who writes: "I am afflicted with one of those kind of dogs which do not hunt to the gun unless it would be a gatling gun."

MR. J. J. ODOM of Birmingham, Ala., has purchased the pointer bitch Vera, a litter sister of the late Kent Elgin, from their breeder, Dr. H. D. Danford of Trimble, O.

OUR thanks are due Mr. J. A. Stagg, of Harris, Ind., for a photograph of five bright looking little 'uns by Antonio, out of a granddaughter of Monk of Furness.

VISITS

VISITS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Visits. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

DR. J. F. BELT'S
- ADELINA (31672), fox terrier, March 2, to his Hillside Royal (Starden's King—Hillside Freda).
- WINNING HAND (30707), fox terrier, by Raffle—Warren Jostle, March 1, to Hillside Royal.
- WAWASET LUCY (36610), fox terrier, by Despoiler—Squalls, April 3, 4 and 5, to Hillside Royal.
- WAWASET LUNA (34504), fox terrier, by Hillside Royal—Beverwyck Luna, April 18 and 19, to Warren Safeguard.

CORKTOWN KENNELS'
- TOUGH, black cocker spaniel, by Wildair—Belle, to Corktown Cupid (Obo Jr—Dot Smirle).
- RIDEAU RESTLESS, black cocker spaniel, by Bl... Rhea, May 4 and 5, to Corktown Cupid.

MESSRS. G. A. LEE & SON'S
- PRINCESS INEZ (29547), St. Bernard, by Patro... March 26 and 27, to Fernwood King.

MR. C. TUCKER'S
- ——, pointer, April 1, to Strideaway.
- ——, pointer, April 11, to Strideaway.

MR. J. T. POLLARD'S
- QUEEN OF FULTON, St. Bernard, by Prince Ruper... out of Luzerne, March 11, to Fernwood King.

MR. Z. T. NORTHCUTT'S
- RUTH, St. Bernard, by Waldo W out of Francis II, April 23 and 24, to Fernwood King.

DR. J. J. HALLEY'S
- FRANCIS II, St. Bernard, by Anderson's Duke—Menie. April 30 and May 1, Fernwood.

MR. E. O. DAMON'S
- BECKY NOBLE, English setter, February 27, to Rodfield.

DR. J. R. JEFFERY'S
- FANNY, fox terrier, March 28 and 29, to Hillside Royal.

MR. E. O. DAMON'S
- IGNTFIELD TEION, pointer, February 3, to Strideaway.

MR. J. B. TURNER'S
- ABDALLAH TRINKET, pointer, May 1, to Strideaway.

MR. C. A. PAETZEL'S
- CLIP OF KENT, pointer, March 13, to Strideaway.

MR. G. E. GRAY'S
- LA BELLE, pointer, January 7, to Strideaway.

MR. J. S. WISE'S
- PEGGY G, pointer, January 13, to Strideaway.

MR. W. W. PEABODY'S
- DAME BANG, pointer, May 5, to Strideaway.

WHELPS

WHELPS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Whelps. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MR. S. H. SEAMAN'S
- HEXE-ARNSTADT (35754), Imported dachshund, by Hundesport's Waldman (T. S. B. 37)—Hundesport's Annenmierl (T. S. B. 158), whelped, May 8, five dogs and three bitches (all browns), by Unser Fritz.
- CECILE (35493), dachshund, by Hundesport's Bergman—Alice, whelped, May 11, three dogs and three bitches, by Mars.

CORKTOWN KENNELS'
- DOT SMIRLE, black field spaniel, by Bob Obo—Tough, whelped, April 16, two dogs and three bitches, by Red Obo (Red Roland—Devon Beauty).
- ŒNONE, black cocker spaniel, by Obo Jr—Tough, whelped, April 18, one dog and three bitches, by Nerve (Othello—Desdemona).

MR. E. GOODALL'S
- RIDEAU RILL, cocker spaniel, by Bob Obo—Cleo, whelped, March 9, two dogs and two bitches, by Corktown Cupid (Obo Jr—Dot Smirle).

MR. W. J. McGRATH'S
- DOT, black cocker spaniel, by Major—Tip, whelped, April 2, three dogs and four bitches, by Corktown Cupid (Obo Jr—Dot Smirle).

MR. J. R. FLOYD'S
- ADELINA (31672), fox terrier, by Ford Venio—Dusky Beauty, has whelped four dogs and two bitches, by Hillside Royal (32342).

MR. N. LUMAREE'S
- COLUMBIA (31732), fox terrier, by Declare—Winning Hand, has whelped three dogs and one bitch, by Hillside Royal (32312).

MR. S. C. ESHELMAN'S
- WINNEBAGO BELLE II, Irish setter, by Clermont Patsy, whelped, May 10, six dogs and two bitches, by Don Fulano (14710).

MR. N. DANIEL'S
- FLEET RODERIGO (35 55), English setter, whelped, April 23, three dogs and one bitch, by Mack Rodman

MR. G. A. SOISTMANN'S
- Vie, English setter, whelped, April 16, five dogs and three bitches, by Papillian (Antonio—Lilly Burges).

MR G. W. ZILLER'S
- ROXIE II, pug, whelped, April 13, two dogs and two bitches, by Sparkle Jr (36626).

SALES

SALES.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Sales. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MESSRS. GEO. A. LEE & SON, Bowling Green, Mo., have sold
- ——, rough St. Beruard, whelped November 19, 1894, by Fernwood King (31387) out of Princess Inez (29547), to Mr. C. G. Buffum, Louisiana, Mo.
- ——, dog, same litter, to Mr. W. G. Tinsley, Louisiana, Mo.
- ——, dog, same litter, to Mr. C. E. Porter, Bowling Green, Mo.
- ——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. Gil Munroe, Bowling Green, Mo.
- ——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. D. Graves, Arborville, Neb.
- ——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. H. J. McCormick, St. Louis, Mo.
- ——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. L. Padberg, St. Louis, Mo.
- ——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. F. J. O'Neill, Marshall, Mo.
- ——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. N. C. Hardin, Louisiana, Mo.
- ——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. Cort Fry, Louisiana, Mo.

DR. J. F. BELT, Wilmington, Del., has sold
- WINNING HAND (30707), fox terrier bitch, to Mr. J. E. Dalton, Glenolden, Pa.
- WAWASET PRINCESS (35259), fox terrier bitch, to same.
- ADELINA (31672), fox terrier bitch, to Mr. J. R. Floyd, New York.
- WAWASET LUNA (34504), fox terrier bitch, to Mr. A. J. Griswold, Nogales, Arizona.

CORKTOWN KENNELS, Ottawa, Ont., have sold
- RACHAEL OBO, black cocker spaniel bitch, whelped March 9, by Corktown Cupid—Rideau Rill, to Mr. F. A. Le Clercq, Springfield, O.

MR. G. W. ZILLER, Pueblo, Colo., has sold
- SILVER, pug, to Mr. A. Kern, St. Louis.
- PEARL, pug, to Mr. J. A. Kranz, Pueblo, Colo.

NAMES CLAIMED

NAMES CLAIMED.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Names Claimed. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. J. E. SLATTERY, East St. Louis, Ill., claims the name
- BLUE CLOUD, for English setter dog, whelped June 16, 1894, by Blue Rake V J (26208) out of Gath's Buck (26174).

MR. A. T. OSGOOD, Chicago, claims the name
- CHAUTAUQUA PHIL, for bull terrier, whelped October 29, 1891, by Chautauqua Dutch—Belle F.

Coursing

FIXTURES

California state meeting, May 30, Ocean View Park, San Francisco. J. R. Dickson, secretary.

Aberdeen Coursing Club's Autumn meeting, Aberdeen, S. D., October 1. J. H. Davis, secretary.

American Waterloo Cup meeting (first), Huron, S. D., etc. F. B. Coyne, secretary, American Coursing Club.

Altcar Coursing Club's third annual meeting, —— ——, etc. T. W. Bartels, secretary.

Kenmore Coursing Club's third annual meeting ——, ber 22, etc. C. F. Weber, secretary.

Cheyenne Coursing Club's first meeting, Great Bend, Kan., ber 29, etc. Ira D. Brougher, secretary.

ON THE SECRETARY'S BEHALF

HURON, S. D.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I have read with interest the [illegible] between X. Y. Z. and Mr. F. B. [illegible] A. C. C., and note with regret that AMERICAN FIELD, by using the head-line "But Who Were the Nominators?" indorses the attack of X.Y.Z., who confesses that he is not a nominator and will now make the further confession that he is not a member of the American Coursing Club, and therefore has no more right to criticise the Secretary of that club than I have to find fault with the conduct of the St. Louis driving park management. I am surprised that the AMERICAN FIELD should have allowed a non-member of the American Coursing Club to use its columns to criticise over an algebraic pseudonym the actions of Mr. Coyne or any other officer of the club. How any benefit is to be derived therefrom, or how interest in the first American Waterloo Cup is to be added to by any such proceeding, is beyond my comprehension.

I do not desire to take up valuable space in the AMERICAN FIELD to defend Mr. Coyne. He needs no defense from me, or from anyone else. His actions must speak for themselves, and I make this assertion, from my knowledge of Mr. Coyne and his work as secretary, that at the next annual meeting of the club his work as secretary will secure the indorsement of every member in attendance, and if the St. Louis gentleman will show interest enough in the club's affairs to send in his application for membership, and to be present at the meeting, he too will be found among those indorsing Mr. Coyne's work as secretary of the A. C. C.

I wish to make plain (not for the benefit of the St. Louis gentlemen of concealed identity, but for any member of the club who may believe his innuendoes) that Mr. Coyne has done nothing but what he believed to be for the best interests of the club, and has devoted much time and labor to make the American Waterloo a great success. Who the nominators are, the question over which there has been so much ado, will be answered by the Secretary himself as soon as the second payments have been made; those who dropped out, or defaulted, will also be published, and this "tempest in a teapot" be stopped.

Considering the charge of peddling nominations at $35 each, I wish to say that I am acquainted with this transaction, and will briefly state it, and I trust our St. Louis friend will be satisfied and take his ghost of a departed African in out of the cold. A nominator who thought it would be impossible for him to attend the meeting asked Mr. Coyne to dispose of his nominations, and to sell them for $35; the payments had been made as required by the conditions of the club. When the stake had filled, Mr. H. C. Lowe, of Lawrence, Kan., found out that he was not the owner of any nominations (through some mistake of others than Mr. Coyne), and in corresponding with Mr. Coyne about nominations, Coyne offered these nominations of a member to Mr. Lowe for $35 each. In doing this Mr. Coyne carried out the instructions of the owner, and gave Mr. Lowe a chance to get in. The price Lowe probably considered too high, as he did not purchase them. To no one else were they ever offered, and the original owner has made his second payment and these nominations are not now for sale. I think Mr. Hayman will remember conversing last October with the writer about the value of a nomination in this stake, and we agreed that by the time of the draw a nomination would probably be worth $50, and that as a commercial transaction a nomination would be good property. This promises to be verified before the draw. In view of this I fail to see how any member has sinned in offering a nomination at $35, or how the Secretary has committed any crime or abused his office by offering, at the request of a member, to another member nominations at an advance of $10, or for any other sum.

Before closing I wish to express regrets that the AMERICAN FIELD, in its coursing notes, should take such a pessimistic view of the Waterloo. The paragraph to which I allude refers to the second payment in the Cup. At the time of the publication of the AMERICAN FIELD no nominator had defaulted. Everyone living within a radius of a thousand miles from the Secretary had sent his second payment, and up to the present time 28 out of 32 have made their second payments; and the only ones to hear from live in California and Montana, who since the notice was sent out have not had time to reach the Secretary by mail (and it would hardly be expected that they would telegraph their second payments). If the AMERICAN FIELD will turn its pessimistic orb elsewhere, and give the Waterloo meeting the benefit of its brighter and optimistic vision, we will have a grand meeting, a full stake, and a square deal at any cost.

JOHN LONGSTAFF.

[We might chide Mr. Longstaff for accusing the AMERICAN FIELD of possessing a "pessimistic orb," for none have better reason for knowing we do not possess such an article than he and all other citizens of Huron; but let it pass. Our inference that eight nominations had been returned to the committee was drawn from Mr. Coyne's own letter, written two days after second payments were due. Mr. Longstaff, writing eleven days after second payments were due, states that nominators in California and Montana had not had time to reach the Secretary by mail! We have no desire whatever to interfere with the committee's proceedings, but the setting of a date for payments should be something more than an empty formality. Had the committee announced that forfeited nominations would be eagerly snapped up, we believe the holders would have seen to it that their second payments were made before May 1. We regret we cannot agree with Mr. Longstaff that a person who is not a member of the American Coursing Club has no right to consideration; we have always looked upon the first American Waterloo Cup meeting as a national, not a club, affair, and we believe it is generally so regarded.—ED.]

SUCCESSFUL SIRES

[illegible]nces of Herschel's get at the [illegible], a gentleman writes to our [illegible] Field—and his figures have [illegible]as follows: "I notice that seven-[illegible]reyhounds which contested the [illegible] Plate were sired by Herschel. These seventeen won forty-one and lost fourteen courses. The forty-seven greyhounds by other sires won sixty-seven and lost ninety-four courses. On these data the average performance this year of one of Herschel's progeny is five times as meritorious as that of the progeny of other sires. It would be of interest to know whether any stud greyhound of the past has achieved so marked a success." This statement is by no means accurate. The seventeen greyhounds by Herschel ran in 68 courses in the Cup, Plate and Purse, with the following results: In the first round of the Cup 11 Herschels won and 6 were beaten; in the second round 6 won, and 5 were beaten; in the third round 5 won, and 1 was beaten; in the fourth round 3 won, and two were beaten; in the fifth round 2 won, and 1 was beaten; and the final course naturally resulted in a tally for each side, winners and losers; so that in the Cup the Herschels won 28 courses and lost 16. The six beaten in the first round started in the Purse, and they split even in the first round; 2 out of 3 won in the second round; 1 out of 2 in the third round; and then the remaining one (Word of Honour) won in the semi-finals and divided with Fertile Green; thus the Herschels won 7 and lost 5 courses in the Purse. All five that met defeat in the second round of the Cup tried their luck again in the Plate, and only 3 survived the first round; 2 of these three won in the second round; in the third round one (Forum) won, and the other lost; and in the final Forum again won; so we find that in the Plate the Herschels won 7 courses and lost 4. Therefore the total number of courses they won was 42 (28 and 7 and 7), and the total number they lost was 25 (16 and 5 and 4), or 42 out of 67.

The remark that "it would be of interest to know whether any stud greyhound of the past has achieved so marked a success" is rather surprising. Is the mighty Greentick forgotten so soon? True, the averages made by his get at the Waterloo meetings never quite came up to 42 out of 67; but they were so near it on two occasions that Greentick's success as a stud greyhound (apart from the fact that he sired Fullerton) may reasonably be considered as marked as Herschel's. In 1890 Greentick had 12 representatives in the Waterloo, and they won 16 out of 27 courses in the Cup, 7 out of 12 in the Purse, and 7 out of 11 in the Plate; or, in all, 30 out of 50. In the Waterloo Cup of 1891 the Greenticks numbered 19, and they won 21 courses out of 39 in the Cup, 13 out of 22 in the Purse, and 5 out of 7 in the Plate; or 39 out of 68. The following year (1892) there were 24 Greenticks running at the Waterloo meeting, but the percentage fell off; out of 79 courses they won 37.

Of the many good litters sired by Herschel the palm must be awarded to that out of the Messrs. Fawcett's red bitch Fair Future, containing as it does six such good young greyhounds as Fortuna Favente, Fair Floralle, Fabulous Fortune, Fortune's Favorite, First Fortune and Fair Favorite. The three first named ran in the last Waterloo Cup and won 11 out of 14 courses, all getting into the last eight, and supplying the runner-up. It should interest our readers to know that their dam, Fair Future, is half-sister of the well-known imported dog Trales, whose death we mentioned last week, she being by Wandering Tom out of Reformation. The Messrs. Fawcett are fortunate enough to have five saplings by Herschel out of Fair Future, but she has no whelps this Spring. The amount of money these gentlemen expend on coursing may be guessed when they are said to have over eighty saplings coming on for next season.

Rifle

FIXTURES

Ninth tournament of the Westlicher Schuetzen-Bund, Milwaukee, Wis., June 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

National Sharpshooters' Union's first tournament, Glendale, L. I., June 30 to July 8.

DURING the last week the following societies have joined the Western Sharpshooters' Union: The Hartford Rifle Club, Hartford, Conn.; La Crosse Sharpshooters' Association, La Crosse, Wis., and Green Bay Schuetzen Verein, Green Bay, Wis. I omitted to state, last week, that the Excelsior Rifle Club, of Davenport, Ia., has donated $40 for the Target of Honor. The executive committee has been obliged to make several changes in the prizes for the Target of Honor on account of the unexpected liberality of Milwaukee citizens. It was originally decided to make the first prize on that target $150 cash, donated by the Milwaukee Sharpshooters' Society. Now, the Milwaukee Herold, one of our largest dailies, has donated a $200 Parker hammerless 12-gauge shotgun, and the Pabst Brewing Co. $200 in cash, and the Milwaukee Sharpshooters' Society has decided to increase its own prize to $200, but will give the honor of first prize to the Pabst Brewing Company, Capt. Fred Pabst being an honorary member of the society. The $200 donated by the Milwaukee Sharpshooters' Society will be divided into three or four prizes of from $50 to $75 each. The first three prizes on the Target of Honor will consequently be as follows: First, Pabst prize, $200; second, Milwaukee Herold prize, $100 Parker hammerless gun; third, Western Sharpshooters' Union prize, $100. Another prominent daily, the Milwaukee Germania, has donated a magnificent cup, of $225 value, to be known as the Germania Cup. In order to make the competition for this trophy as lively as possible, the executive committee has decided to make this cup the first prize on the People's Target, leaving the other prizes as advertised, except that the former first will now be second, and soon. As a result some fine scores on that target may be looked for.

Milwaukee, Wis. W. FINGER, Secy.

THE Berry Mills (Me.) Rifle Club issues a challenge to any rifle club in Franklin County, Me., to shoot for the championship of the county, the conditions of the contest to be as follows: Clubs accepting the challenge to consist of not less than twelve members residents of the town where said club is organized; each member to shoot a string of ten shots, the total score to decide; distance 100 yards off-hand, American target; no shots outside the four ring to count. Contests to be held at the Berry rifle range and time of shoot to be announced by clubs competing. Mr. D. W. Berry of Carthage, Me., is president of the club issuing the challenge and Mr. D. C. Brown, secretary.

DOMINION OFF-HAND RIFLE ASSOCIATION

PARRY SOUND, ONT.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The teams members of the Dominion Off-Hand Rifle Association, on May 4 shot their regular monthly contest with the following results, bullseye to count 10:

BRADFORD TEAM

	100 yards				Total	200 yards				Total	Grand Total
H. Parker	10	9	9	9	10—47	10	10	8	10	10—48	95
D. Neilly	10	8	9	10	10—47	10	9	10	7	10—46	93
A. McWilliams	9	9	10	10	8—46	10	9	7	10	10—46	92
I. G. Neilly	9	10	7	10	10—46	6	8	10	10	9—43	89
Jno. Doolittle	10	9	8	9	10—46	10	10	6	10	8—44	90
Team total											459

KING CITY TEAM

Dr. Norman	9	10	10	10	10—49	10	9	7	10	10—46	94
I. Whiting Crossley	10	10	10	8	10—48	8	10	7	10	10—45	93
W. I. Ross	9	10	10	7	10—46	10	5	10	10	8—43	89
A. Carley	10	9	9	9	10—47	9	8	7	10	6—40	87
E. Braund	10	10	9	6	10—45	9	5	9	7	9—39	84
Team total											447

PARRY SOUND TEAM

Rod O. Stokes	10	8	10	10	10—48	10	9	7	10	10—46	94
I. Morrish	10	7	9	9	9—44	9	10	9	9	7—44	88
W. Stafford	8	9	10	10	10—47	8	9	6	10	8—41	88
T. White	7	10	10	10	8—45	10	3	10	7	5—35	80
I. B. Miller	9	10	9	9	10—47	4	5	4	8	10—31	78
Team total											428

TORONTO TEAM

I. F. Scholes	7	9	9	9	10—44	6	8	10	10	9—43	87
W. I. Graham	7	10	8	8	9—42	8	10	6	9	8—41	83
H. R. Stewart	7	7	8	7	10—39	8	10	7	10	10—45	84
I. L. Scholes	10	3	10	4	10—37	6	9	6	8	9—38	75
W. Latimer	8	5	10	10	10—43	5	10	10	5	5—35	78
Team total											407

WAUSAKASENE TEAM

D. F. Macdonald	7	8	8	9	10—42	4	6	6	9	10—35	77
I. R. Leggett	6	6	10	10	10—42	5	5	6	3	8—27	69
I. McClelland	9	8	5	5	9—36	10	5	4	1	8—28	64
G. White	10	9	9	9	10—47	9	3	0	3	2—17	64
S. B. Purvis	8	4	9	7	10—38	9	6	4	3	2—24	62
Team total											336

GRIMSBY TEAM

W. F. Gibson	1	6	4	7	1—19	5	2	3	1	2—13	32
R. I. Hewatt	2	4	2	2	9—19	0	4	3	10	0—17	36
H. E. Russ	3	1	8	10	0—22	5	4	9	10	4—32	54
I. D. Lawrence	6	4	10	9	7—36	9	4	2	0	4—19	55
S. Wismer	1	10	1	6	9—27	10	9	1	1	9—30	57
Team total											234

D. F. MACDONALD, Secy.

CINCINNATI, O.—The following scores were made by members of the Cincinnati Rifle Association at their range on May 19. Conditions: 200 yards off hand at the Standard target, 7-ring black.

Glndele	10	8	9	10	10	9	7	10	8	10—91
	10	10	10	6	9	10	8	10	8	9—90
	10	6	8	9	9	10	10	10	7	9—88
	7	10	9	10	9	10	10	9	9	9—92
Louis	8	9	6	7	7	6	6	10	7	10—76
	5	9	8	7	8	10	8	8	6	6—75
	8	3	9	7	8	9	5	9	10	6—74
	7	7	6	7	8	8	6	9	6	6—70
Payne	9	9	9	8	9	9	8	6	9	9—85
	9	6	9	9	6	6	8	9	9	10—81
	6	9	6	6	8	9	8	9	8	9—78
	10	10	8	8	7	7	8	6	5	8—77
Weinheimer	7	10	9	6	7	8	5	10	5	7—74
	10	9	5	8	9	6	10	4	10	5—76
	5	6	7	8	8	7	7	7	6	8—69
	4	8	7	5	5	10	6	7	8	8—68
Trounstein	9	4	8	7	6	7	8	8	8	4—69
	1	4	6	8	6	8	9	9	4	5—60
	4	6	8	6	6	6	6	5	7	4—58
	4	7	4	5	4	4	8	9	6	5—56
Topf	7	4	10	4	5	9	9	9	8	8—73
	8	10	7	8	6	3	5	6	8	10—71
	6	7	10	6	6	5	6	8	10	5—69
	9	4	8	10	6	6	8	3	6	6—65
Hake	7	6	10	7	6	8	8	10	10	8—80
	4	6	10	6	8	9	7	6	6	9—71
	9	4	8	4	5	6	10	8	8	6—68
	6	5	9	9	6	5	7	5	4	9—65
Wellinger	8	10	6	9	9	8	4	9	8	9—80
	8	6	6	8	10	10	8	8	8	6—80
	8	6	8	8	9	6	9	9	8	8—79
	10	10	6	9	7	7	6	8	5	10—78
Randall	8	9	6	7	8	8	6	8	9	9—78
	5	7	8	10	7	9	7	7	7	7—74
	5	9	8	7	8	6	6	8	5	5—67
	5	6	7	6	8	8	6	9	8	8—71
Drube	9	6	10	8	9	9	9	6	9	6—81
	5	9	5	6	10	8	9	8	9	6—75
	9	7	7	7	8	7	7	8	7	4—71
	5	9	7	6	8	8	8	6	5	7—69

A. DRUBE.

CINCINNATI, O.—The Losantiville Shooting Association held its regular practice shoot at Central Shootiug Park, Dayton, Ky., May 12. Conditions: 200 yards, off hand (no palm rest), open sights, three pounds trigger pull, Standard American target. Sighting shots and unfinished scores not allowed.

*Nestler	8	9	10	8	8	9	8	7	8	9—84
	5	7	10	9	6	10	9	8	10	7—81
	6	10	9	6	10	7	6	10	10	5—79
	8	7	8	10	10	10	6	5	7	8—79
*Wellinger	5	8	9	7	9	7	9	10	10	9—83
	10	5	9	5	9	6	7	10	8	8—77
	7	8	7	10	7	7	8	7	7	8—76
	6	7	10	4	8	9	6	7	8	6—71
Roberts	8	10	7	6	9	10	9	9	7	5—80
	7	6	8	10	7	8	9	6	9	8—78
	6	7	9	9	5	8	6	10	9	4—73
	8	9	7	4	6	7	9	6	8	8—72
Lapp	8	9	9	9	6	9	5	6	6	7—74
	8	9	6	6	8	9	6	7	6	6—71
	7	7	8	8	7	6	7	4	9	5—68
	6	7	6	10	7	5	6	5	9	5—66
*Gassmann	6	8	4	7	7	9	6	8	9	4—68
	4	10	5	8	3	6	4	9	8	10—67
	0	10	6	7	9	6	10	10	3	5—66
	9	4	5	6	8	9	5	6	4	5—63
Hoed	7	7	6	7	6	6	7	6	10	6—68
	6	6	6	7	8	6	4	9	6	7—65
	7	2	7	6	9	9	5	7	5	5—62
	2	5	5	5	9	7	4	9	3	9—58
Fritag	6	5	9	7	7	5	6	4	10	10—69
	4	6	6	6	6	9	5	7	7	8—64
Jonscher	10	5	6	5	7	4	8	6	10	7—68
	8	7	5	4	4	7	0	3	4	9—51
	2	6	6	4	10	6	5	3	6	5—53
	5	4	5	5	3	4	4	9	4	0—43
Kinath	4	5	5	5	8	5	5	5	8	3—53
	3	8	6	2	5	7	3	6	5	7—52
Acker	5	6	5	5	3	2	5	4	8	4—47
	8	4	0	5	4	4	5	6	3	7—46
*Scherrer	6	6	5	9	7	9	7	9	5	8—71
Heinichen	0	5	3	5	9	5	5	4	8	3—47

*Globe and peep sights,

H. C. ROBERTS.

FORT SMITH, ARK.—A prize shoot held at Simmons' gallery this city, lasting four weeks, closed on May 18. The first prize was a $20 gold medal emblematic of the champion rifle shot of Fort Smith for 1895. Second prize, a small gold medal, neat and hand some. The shooting was on a special target made by L. B. Simmons, owner of the gallery, one inch bullseye and a half inch center, counting 10 when hit anywhere; the rest of the black counting 9. The first ring outside of the black was 1¼ inches, counting 8. The distance was 75 feet, off-hand, and the shooting as will be seen by the scores given below, by Mr. Voelter and Hood, was fine. The ten best scores made during the shoot to win, six shots to the score, possible 60. The shooting by Mr. Voelter and Mr. Hood was very close the last meet, and it was hard to tell which one would win until the very last hour. Mr. F. O. Voelter proved the champion and won the handsome gold medal. Scores, possible 600:

*F. O. Voelter	57 57 57 57 56 56 56 56 56 56—565
*J. W. Hood	57 57 57 56 56 56 56 56 56 56—564
*J. Gramlich	57 55 54 54 54 53 53 53 52 52—537
J. Farnham	54 53 51 49 49 49 48 48 47 47—495
D. M. Sanderson	50 49 48 48 48 48 46 45 44 43—469
R. H. Mayers	54 50 49 47 47 47 45 43 42 41—465
*L. M. Alford	51 49 48 46 45 45 44 43 42 42—455

*Members of the Fort Smith Rifle Club.

The ten scores given below were shot by L. B. Simmons, same conditions as above, for practice:

L. B. Simmons.....58 58 57 57 57 57 56 56 56 56—568

L. B. S.

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y.—Two prizes were offered at the Woodvale Rifle range in the second weekly tournament which closed Saturday, May 11. The first prize was a Marlin .22-20 repeating rifle, and the second prize $5 cash. At the close of the shoot the scores stood as follows: C. G. Scanell and Wesley Drew 24, Michael Hines and W. H. Miller 23. In the shoot off Scanell won first by a score of 14 against Drew's 11, and Hines won second by a score of 23 against Miller's 10. Considerable interest is being shown in these tournaments and as the boys are getting into practice it is probable that the scores will run higher this week.

G. S. MEST.

Trap

FIXTURES

MAY

South Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Woonsocket, S. D., May 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25.

Rome Gun Club's tournament, Rome, N. Y., May 22, 23 and 24. Last day at live birds.

Belding Gun Club's tournament, Belding, Mich., May 23.

Wauzeka Gun Club's tournament, Wauzeka, Wis., May 23.

Fairview Gun Club's tournament, Hambright's Three-Mile House, Lancaster, Pa., May 23 and 24.

Pekin Gun Club's annual Spring tournament, Pekin, Ill., May 27 and 28.

Arkansas State Sportsmen's Association's fifth annual tournament, Little Rock, Ark., May 27, 28, 29 and 30. John J. Sumpter Jr., secretary.

Canajoharie Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Canajoharie, N. Y., May 29 and 30.

Independent Gun Club's tournament, Reading, Pa., May 29 and 30

Cicero Gun Club's all-day tournament, Oak Park, Ill., May 30. Both live birds and targets.

Winona Gun Club's tournament, Winona, Minn., May 30.

South Side Gun Club's tournament, Milwaukee, Wis., May 30, 31 and June 1.

Crystal Lake Gun Club's tournament, Urbana, Ill., May 29, 30 and 31.

Valley City Gun Club's tournament, Grand Rapids, Mich., May 29, 30 and 31. $500 added money. C. F. Rood, secretary.

Home City Gun Club's tournament, Springfield, O., May 30.

Waukegan Gun Club's tournament, Waukegan, Ill., May 30

JUNE

Illinois State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Chicago, week of June 3, 1895.

Kewanee Gun Club's Summer tournament, Kewanee, Ill., June 4 and 5.

Wabash Gun Club's all-day tournament at targets, Wabash, Ind., June 5.

Emmetsburg Gun Club's tournament, Emmetsburg, Ia., June 5 and 6.

Janesville Shooting Club's fifth annual tournament, Janesville, Wis., June 12 and 13.

Memphis Gun Club's annual tournament, Memphis, Tenn., June 11, 12, 13 and 14. $2,000 added money.

North Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's first annual tournament Fargo, June 13 and 14. W. W. Smith, secretary.

Eleventh annual tournament Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest, under the auspices of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club, Portland, Ore., June 13, 14 and 15. D. L. Williams, secretary, Portland.

Nebraska State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament Omaha, Neb., June 13, 14 and 15. $500 added money. F. S. Parmelee secretary.

New England Shooting Association's seventh tournament, Worcester, Mass., June 14.

Wilmerding Gun Club's tournament, Wilmerding, Pa., June 15.

Chamberlin Cartridge & Target Co.'s second annual tournament, Cleveland, O., June 19, 20 and 21.

Flour City Gun Club's tournament, Minneapolis, Minn., June 20, 21 and 22.

Interstate Association's tournament, Vicksburg, Miss., under the auspices of the Vicksburg Gun Club, June 26 and 27.

New York State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Saratoga, N. Y., under the auspices of the Saratoga Gun Club, June 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28.

JULY

Wood Powder Gun Club's tournament, Orangeville, Baltimore County, Md., July 4.

Palmetto Gun Club's tournament, Charleston, S. C., July 4.

J. F. Schmelzer & Sons Arms Co.'s second annual midsummer shooting tournament, Kansas City, Mo., July 9, 10, 11 and 12. Open to amateurs only; $1,500 in prizes.

Altoona Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Wapsononock Park, Altoona, Pa., July 11 and 12. W. G. Clark, secretary.

Interstate Association's tournament, Macon, Ga., under the auspices of the Macon Gun Club, July 17 and 18. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Macon Gun Club.

Lafayette Gun Club's annual tournament, Lafayette, Ind., July 23, 24 and 25.

AUGUST

Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association tournament, Philadelphia, Pa., August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

OCTOBER

West Newburg Gun Club's Fall tournament, West Newburg N. Y., October 9, 10 and 11. First two days at targets, last day at live birds.

NOVEMBER

Kewanee Gun Club's regular annual tournament, Kewanee, Ill., November 5, 6 and 7.

1896

Annual territorial tournament, Arizona Sportsmen's Association, Phœnix, Ariz., January 4 and 5, 1896.

Interstate Association's fourth annual Grand American Handicap at live birds, New York, April 1, 2 and 3.

Winona Gun Club's tournament, Winona, Minn., May 30.

South Side Gun Club's eleventh annual tournament, Milwaukee Wis., May 30, 31 and June 1.

WE present to our readers this week a very good likeness of Mr. J. G. Messner, of Pittsburg, Pa., winner of the Great American Handicap at Willard Park, Paterson, N. J., on April 4, 1895. Prior to going to Paterson Mr. Messner had not had a great amount of practice on live birds, but he had made such good scores in what shooting he had done that he was encouraged to enter this great race, hardly himself believing that he would land in better than second or third place. So little was known of him as a live bird shooter that the handicapping committee placed him at 25 yards rise, and by his good work and the advantage of his handicap he made a clean score of 25 straight, tying with such well-known experts as Mr. Frank Class of Morristown, N. J., and Mr. J. A. R. Elliott of Kansas City, Mo., and winning between them $1,520. It was at once agreed to divide the purse equally, and shoot the tie off for the honor and to determine the absolute winner, on ten birds per man. In the tie shoot Mr. Messner again killed straight, and as both Mr. Elliott and Mr. Class missed, he won a distinction that dozens of other and more experienced trap shots in this country would be proud to possess.

LAST New Year's Day the Cicero Gun Club was notified by the town board of Cicero not to shoot live birds. This action was taken on account of a petition circulated by Rev. Francis H. Rowley, secretary of the Humane Society and pastor of the Baptist church of Oak Park. The club never took the matter up with the board but at once began casting about for a convenient and permanent location. It finally leased, for a term of five years, five acres in "No Man's Land," being a strip bounded by the villages of Maywood on the west and River Forest and Harlem on the east. Located here the club is practically under state jurisdiction alone. The club has erected a two-story building, the upper floor for spectators, with shooting box below. Being on the line of the Cicero and Proviso electric road arrangements are being made to work both live bird and target traps by electricity from the company's wire. On Decoration Day, May 30, the club will give its opening shoot, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m. Both live birds and targets will be shot at the same time. The new grounds are on the Desplaines River. Take the Madison Street electric car to door. Come on, boys, and get your hand in for the state tourney.

Oak Park, Ill. A MEMBER.

THE Arkansas State Sportsmen's Association in its program for its annual tournament to be held at Little Rock, Ark., on May 28, 29 and 30, presents an array of events each day that should prove inviting not only to the members of the association but also to lovers of trap shooting residing in near-by states. The shooting is to be at targets exclusively and the events are so arranged that a man can pick those that suit his capacity best. All events except the three trophy contests will be open to the world, and if there be those North or South, East or West who think the sportsmen of Arkansas do not know how to handle a scattergun, here is the best place in the world for such to go and have their ideas in this respect corrected. The sportsmen of Little Rock will be found to be whole-souled and open-handed, but if a man steps up to some of them and tells them they cannot shoot a little bit, right then and there he will have a shooting match on his hands before he can catch his breath. Those who think "cherries will be very ripe at Little Rock" are likely to run up against quite as steady a lot of target shots as can be found in any other part of the country. But why should we tell you all? Go and see for yourself.

J. G. MESSNER, PITTSBURG, PA., WINNER GREAT AMERICAN HANDICAP, WILLARD PARK, PATERSON, N. J., APRIL 4, 1895

THE program for the first annual tournament of the North Dakota State Sportsmen's Association demonstrates that the sportsmen of that state are well up in everything necessary to a successful tournament, and therefore they have so arranged their program as to make it attractive to all. The tournament will be held at Fargo on June 13 and 14, and should have a good attendance of the best shots in the state. The shooting will be governed by American Shooting Association rules, purses will be divided into four moneys, no charge will be made for conveying shooters from the hotels to the grounds, all ties will be divided except where specially stated otherwise, winners of first and second moneys will be handicapped in the next event, the entrance to each event is small, the list of merchandise prizes large, and anyone intentionally dropping for place will forfeit his entrance money and be debarred from ever again taking part in a tournament given by the association. What more does a sportsman want? What more could a seventy-five or eighty per cent. man ask? Let the shooters of North Dakota answer.

THE Multnomah Rod and Gun Club of this city desire "indicators" for the following events: Five unknown traps, known and unknown angles, one man up; five unknown traps, known and unknown angles, five men up, five men in squad; five unknown traps, known and unknown angles, five men up, six men in squad; eight unknown traps, known and unknown angles, one man up; eight unknown traps, known and unknown angles, five men up, five men in squad; eight unknown traps, known and unknown angles, five men up, six men in squad, and would be pleased to receive the necessary combinations from any individual or club that may have knowledge of the same.

Portland, Ore. D. L. WILLIAMS, Secy.

MR. D. C. BRADEN, the noted one-armed trap shot of Beaver Falls, Pa., and Mr. W. S. Canon, an expert one-armed pigeon shot of Newark, N. J., have arranged a match at 50 birds per man for $500 a side which is to be shot at Hummelstown, Pa., on Thursday of this week, under the auspices of the Fulford Gun Club. Mr J. J. Bolton has been made stakeholder and each man has deposited with him $100 as forfeit money. American Shooting Association rules will govern the match. Both men are experts in pigeon shooting and the contest is creating much excitement among the sportsmen acquainted with the contestants.

BY an oversight on the part of the printer, the fixtures for the Winona (Minn.) Gun Club's tournament, to be held on May 30, and that of the South Side Gun Club of Milwaukee, Wis., to be held on May 30, 31 and June 1, have been omitted from our last three issues. They appear, however, under the proper heading this week, and the tournaments will be held as announced, and from information received at this office we are led to believe that the Milwaukee tournament will be one well worth attending. The South Side boys always have a bang-up tournament, and the one this year should be no exception to the rule.

THE Horicon Shooting Club, an organization that co[illegible] the best duck shooting marshes in the state of Wi[illegible] annual meeting on the evening of May 14 and ele[illegible] gentlemen officers of the club for the curre[illegible] A. R. Keating, Fond du Lac; vice-president, [illegible] waukee; secretary, Percy H. Stone, Chicago, [illegible] Burns, Oakfield; directors, P. F. Stone, A. R. K[illegible] and L. F. McLean; manager, William Kleiff[illegible]

THE Wabash Gun Club of Wabash, Ind., [illegible] tournament on June 5. Twelve events are announced on the program, all at targets. Shooters failing to score 70 per cent. in the first two events will be allowed two extra targets to shoot at in the two succeeding events. Known experts will be allowed no handicap in any event. The shooting will be from known traps, known angles. All purses divided into four moneys and all ties divided. Shooting all day long.

AT the recent annual meeting of the Iowa State Sportsmen's Association, Davenport was selected as the place for holding the next annual meeting and the following gentlemen were elected officers for the current year: President, N. S. Young; vice-president, Geo. Henderson; secretary, R. C. Cook; treasurer, Edward Emerson; directors, C. W. Budd, Samuel Hoffman, Carl Leopold, E. Hofer, Louis Heneman.

JUDGMENT was given on April 27, at Melbourne, Australia, in a suit brought by W. W. Greener, gunmaker, of No. 63 Haymarket, London, Eng., against L. Abrahams & Co., of Melbourne, Australia, for wrongfully making use of the name Greener upon guns not of the plaintiff's manufacture. The evidence showed that the practice had long prevailed, and the court awarded £5,500 as damages exclusive of costs.

THE Wilkinsburg (Pa.) Gun Club, of which Mr. J. G. Messner, winner of the Great American Handicap for 1895, is a member, has arranged for an all-day tournament on May 30. The shoot will be attended by a good delegation of sportsmen from Pittsburg, live bird events being the attraction.

AT the Iowa State tournament last week, Mr. Geo. Henderson, then secretary of the state association, won the L. C. Smith cup with a score of 20 straight. Gilbert and Trotter in the same event each scored 19.

ON account of conflicting with the dates selected by the South Side Gun Club of Milwaukee for its tournament, the Janesville (Wis.) Gun Club has postponed its tournament until June 11 and 12.

MR. LOUIS H. SCHORTEMTIER of New York City has purchased his father's interest in the business at 201 Pearl Street, corner Maiden Lane, where he will be pleased to meet all his old sportsmen friends.

TRAP shooting is taking on new life all through Central and Southern Illinois this year, and new clubs are springing up in many towns that never before had such an organization as a gun club.

ROLLA HEIKES, one of the greatest target shots in America to-day, last week, at Dayton, O., at the State League tournament, won the state championship, scoring 49 out of a possible 50.

THE New England Shooting Association will hold its seventh and closing tournament at Worcester, Mass., on June 14, under the auspices of the Worcester Gun Club.

THE first annual Southern Illinois Sportsman's tournament was held at Centralia, Ill., under the auspices of the Crescent Rod and Gun Club, on May 23 and 24.

THE New York German Gun Club will hold its annual picnic and prize shoot at Dexter Park, L. I., on June 19.

THE CALIFORNIA STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT

The annual tournament of the California State Sportsmen's Association, which was this year held at the Oakland racetrack, was, perhaps, not so largely attended as some that have been held in years gone by, but the enthusiasm was just as great and the different events quite as closely contested, for of the number present could be seen several as good trap shots, both at live birds or at targets, as can be found on the Pacific Coast, and a man to win in such company—whether it be large or small—had to be something of an expert himself, and even then he found others who disputed his ability to carry off all the boodle.

Among the many well-known sportsmen present from a distance and from outside the state were Col. A. G. Courtney, of Syracuse, N. Y., representing the Lefever Arms Co., Harvey McMurchy of Utica, N. Y., traveling agent for the Hunter Arms Co.; Marques Chick, of San Diego, champion of Southern California; Chas. J. Haas and young Richards, of Stockton; Rhnstaller and Nicolaus, of Sacramento; Mr. O. M. Judy, of Dinuba; M. O. Fendner, of Dixon, and J. A. Durst, of Wheatland; while such good local talent as Crittenden Robinson, "Slade," J. S. Fanning and a number of others were on hand and entered in nearly every event to "dispute the right of any foreigner" to carry off more than a fair share of either the money or the honors.

On the opening day the weather was all that could be desired for good work at the traps on live birds, the sun being overcast with a light cloud thus making the light really better than it would have been had the sun shone bright and clear. The birds were an excellent lot for this season of the year, among them not a few which proved too fast or too strong—which, it is hard to say—for even the best to stop within bounds, consequently straight scores were not numerous, yet in each event there were several who scored close up to a possible.

In the first event, which was at 10 live birds per man, Mr. "Slade" made the only straight score, consequently he raked in a good fat purse.

The second event was at 15 live birds, $10 entrance, seventeen entries, and here it was that Mr. McMurchy, representing that wonderful Smith gun, got in his work and scored a straight, and being the only man of the seventeen in that particular hole, he felt nearly as happy as he did when that grizzly bear that Dick Swiveller wrote about pulled him up over that precipice in the Rocky Mountains.

In the third event Crittenden Robinson, a local shot that does not often occupy a rear seat in any shooting crowd, evidently concluded it was time for him to do "a bit" of the deading, so he forged ahead and went out with a clean string of kills; but unfortunately for him there was Mr. Smith who was evidently of very much the same opinion as Robinson, and he also closed the twelfth round without a lost bird. And so it went from the beginning to the end, first one at the top and then another, except that McMurchy, Robinson, Chick and one or two others seemed to get to the top a little oftener than most of the others.

Mr. McMurchy is well known on the Pacific Coast—as indeed he is the country over—and is very popular with all shooters here. He is an excellent shot at either live birds or targets, and being a gentleman at all times, he is never begrudged a penny he wins. He is no braggart, never boasts of what he has done or can do, is a cheerful loser, and always ready to bear his part cheerfully no matter what the outcome. If luck favors him and the tide comes his way, well and good; if it is his day off and some other man gets the best of the deal, "Mac" never squeals, but keeps pegging away, knowing that in shooting, as in business, he will even up before the season ends. "Mac" ought to be a Californian instead of a New Yorker, for it's just such men as he is that have made this state the great, good name it now enjoys.

The first two days were devoted almost entirely to live bird shooting, while on the third day the events were pretty evenly divided between live birds and inanimate targets. The scores which follow will give the reader a very good idea of the character of the shooting and the number of participants:

EVENT No. 1.—10 live birds per man, $5 entrance.

Slade	1122222222—10	Zentgraf	2111110201—8
Robinson	2111111201—9	Feudner	2212021022—8
Chick	1120122211—9	Durst	[illegible]—8
McMurchy	1111012221—9	Warder	[illegible]
Smith	1122221121—9	H. C. Golcher	[illegible]
Haas	1222012222—9	Rice	[illegible]
"Fox"	1121011111—9	Morrison	[illegible]
Sprague	1112122220—9	Richards	[illegible]
Webster	*1122121101—8	Fanning	[illegible]
Fay	1121211202—8

EVENT No. 2.—15 live birds, $10 entrance.

McMurchy.....1212112211111122-15	Morrison.....121121010w....—7
Haas.....2210222222112211-14	Webster.....1*2110w.. ...—4
Feudner.....1222212121121101-14	Chick.....1*1120w.....—4
Crittenden.....1212022122120.-12	Warder.....21120*w... .. —4
[illegible]...2222201 1120w..—9	Smith.....212010w. .....—4
[illegible]...1111102w.....—7	Slade.....11100w.....—3
[illegible]...0[illegible]1110w..—8	Fox.....020w.....—1
[illegible]...[illegible]0w .—7	Zentgraf.....020w.....—1
[illegible]...1[illegible]w ...—7

[illegible] and moneys shot the ties off in the second by a shoot-off second, Haas third.

EVENT No. [illegible] birds, per man: Robinson 12, Smith 12, McMurchy 11, Richards 11, Fay 11, Chick 10, Feudner (w) 9, Haas 8, Slade (w) 8, Morrison (w) 3, Zentgraf (w) 3, Rice (w) 2.

Following the above two matches at Blue Rock targets were shot with the following results:

EVENT No. 4.—10 single Blue Rocks: McMurchy 10, Feuduer 10, Robinson 9, Rice 9, Durst 9, Richards 9, Haas 9, Warden 9, Chick 9, Fanning 9, Smith 8, Courtney 8, Wood 4.

EVENT No. 5.—20 Blue Rocks per man: McMurchy 18, Haas 18, Crittenden Robinson 17, Feudner 17, Fanning 17, Fox 16, Courtney 16, Durst 15, Richards 15, Woods 15, Rice 14, Chick 13.

SECOND DAY

A drizzling rain early on the morning of the second day delayed matters a little as the shooters were slow in getting out but later the sun came out bright and the day was all the pleasanter. The scores on the second day were a little better than those made on the day previous, as the shooters, becoming better acquainted with the grounds and with one another, felt more at home.

EVENT No. 1.—10 live birds per man, $5 entrance.

Robinsou.....1112111122-10	Haas.....2122222021—9
Slade.....1221121212-10	Fay.....0111211112—9
Feudner.....1111211112-10	Durst.....12*1211011—8
Chick.....1111122112-10	Fox.....2211112010—8
McMurchy.....2121111111-10	Nicolaus.....2020120121—7
Morrison.....12*1212111—9	Wood.....0200112212—7
Richards.....1101121112—9	Ruhstaller.....0121011010—6
Smith.....2121111101—9	Rice.....1201220001—6
Fanning.....12212121*1—9	Zentgraf. .. ..0111122*w—6

EVENT No. 2.—Contest for the Fay diamond medal, 20 live birds per man, open only to members of the association.

Robinson..11111111112011221211-19	Zentgraf...202021211w.....—7
Chick.....11121222101222112111-19	Richards...2200w.....—2
Fox.....21111011212121111022-18	Slade.....1021120w.....—5
Rice.....11112101112110211211-18	Smith.....11111211111101*w.-15
Warder....12112111212011211022-18	Haas.....22011212110w.. . .—8
Levi.....22222102111101111222-18	Morrison...21221211100w.. ....—9
Feudner....22011221112111110101-17	Nicolaus...011212110w.....—7
Webb.....10121122l*0011221101 16	Fay.... ... *0w.....—0
W. Golcher 22210101102101001200-12	Wood.....1222201010w.....—7
Baldwin ...00111012112002000212-12	Durst.....12111201110w.....—9
Fitzgeral l..11112212*1120w ....-11	Fanning....010w.....—9
Ruhstaller..102210w.....—4	Darsy..... 0110w.....—2

The above was the event of the tournament, and in it Mr. Crittenden Robiuson showed a considerable of his old-time style of shooting, centering his birds so well with the first barrel that to use the second barrel was wholly unnecessary. Mr. Chick also did fine work, and when the score was finished they were the two highest, each scoring 19 out of the 20 shot at. The money was divided, and in the shoot off for the medal, at 5 birds each, Mr. Chick made a clean score and won, Mr. Robinson losing one out of his 5 tie birds.

EVENT No. 3.—12 live birds, $7.50 entrance: Richards 12, Feudner 12. Morrison 12, Warder 12, McMurchy 10, Chick 10, Wood 9. Durst 7, Fay (w) 6, Rice (w) 4, Haas (w) 2, Smith (w) 2, Levi (w) 0. In this event Feudner did some nice single barrel work, making a clean score of 12 and not resorting to his second barrel once during the match.

EVENT No. 4.—10 live birds, $5 entrance: Chick 10, Rice 10, McMurchy 7, Wood 6, Richards 6, Warder 6, Morrison 6, Worth 6, Smith (w) 4, Robinson (w) 4, Feudner (w) 4. When each man had shot at seven, Chick and Rice were the only ones that had not missed one or more birds, so those two were allowed to shoot out their ten and the rest withdrew. Both killed straight and they divided first and second moneys.

THIRD DAY

EVENT No. 1.—12 live birds, $7.50 entrauce.

Robinson.....111111111111-12	Morrison.... .....01121w.....—4
"Smith" 221211121121 12	Warder .....20210w.....—3
McMurchy.....222121211121-12	Wood .....22220w.....—4
Maskey..... ...21212210....—8	Zentgraf.....012*w.....—2
Chick..... ..... 1121110w...—6	Roos.....1110w.....—3
"Slade".....11110w... .—4	Richards.... .....*22w.....—2
Rice.....11110w.....—4	Fay.....0w.....—0
Feudner.....22011w.....—4

In the above event Mr. Crittenden Robinson did some very clever work, scoring 12 straight kills all with the first barrel. "Smith" and McMurchy also scored straight, and the three men divided $170.

EVENT No. 2.—15 live birds, $7.50 entrance: Rice 15, McMurchy 14, Morrison 13, Chick 13, Smith 12, Robinson (w) 10 Warder (w) 9, Fay (w) 9, Slade (w) 8, Richards (w) 3, Feudner (w) 1.

EVENT No. 3.—12 live birds, $5 entrance: Morrison 11, McMurchy 11, Warder 11, Smith (w) 9, Wood (w) 5, Chick (w) 3, Maltland (w) 3, Robinson (w) 3, Rice (w) 3, Slade (w) 2, Johns (w) 2, Fitzgerald (w) 2, Brown (w) 2, Feudner (w) 1, Nauman (w) 1, Durst (w) 1, Nicolaus (w) 0, Richards (w) 0. The three high men divided the purse.

EVENT No. 4.—8 live birds, $5 entrance: Robinson 8, McMurchy 8, Chick 7. Wood 6, Feudner 6, W. Golcher 6, Warder (w) 4, Brown (w) 4, Smith (w) 4, H. Golcher (w) 4. Morrison (w) 2, Maltland (w) 1.

EVENT No. 5.—6 live birds, entrance $5: Chick 6, Robinson 6, Feuduer 5, Smith 5, Wardner 5, Richards 5, W. J. Golcher (w) 4, H. Golcher (w) 4, Morrison (w) 0.

EVENT No. 6.—25 single Blue Rocks per man, class and squad shooting.

Daniels.....	1111111111 1111101111	11111—24
Fauuiug.....	1111111111 1111111011	11110—23
Rice.....	1111111111 1101111001	11111—21
Warder.....	1110111111 1011011111	11111—21
Durst ..	1111111001 1111100111	10111—20
Webb.....	1101111111 1101110011	11011—20
Fox.....	0101111001 1110111101	11111—19
Eug. Forster.....	1110111111 0101101011	11011—19
Nauman.....	1111101001 1111111110	11010—19
Alleu.....	0111101111 0101111010	11111—19
Conrtney.....	1110111111 1111011100	01110—19
Baker.....	1110011111 0111011110	11111—19
Jackson.....	0101111001 0111101111	11110—18
Fischer.....	0111111100 1111111100	11110—18
Hughes.....	1110111011 0001110110	01111—17
Audrews.....	1111011101 0111010100	10110—16
Joues.....	1111110010 0001100011	01111—15
Liddle.....	1111010110 1111001100	10100—15

EVENT No. 7.—Same as preceding: Warder 25, Fox 21, Fanning 24, Webb 23, Feudner 23, Rice 22, Daniels 21, Courtney 17, Jones 19. Wood 19, Baker 17, Liddle 16.

EVENT No. 8.—15 single targets:

Webo.....111111111111111-15	Fischer.....011011011111101-11
Daniels 111111111111111-15	Bekeart.....111111001101110-11
Warder.....111101111111111-14	Andrews 011010011111111-11
Woods..... 011111111111111-14	Zentgraf 011111111101100-11
Fox 110111111111111-14	Allen.....011101110110111-11
Nauman... 111110111101111-13	Roos.....001110011111110-10
Durst..... ... 111110111111011-13	Richards.....101101010011111-10
Wetmore.....111111111101011-13	Little 101111000101111-10
Fanning.....111111110111110-13	Allison..... 101110100101101—9
Foster 111111111110101-13	Owens.....011000110101111—9
Nicolaus..... 111111010111111-13	Condon.....010000011111100—7
H. C. Golcher....111101011111101-12	Ditz.....001001100110110—7
Baker.... 110111101111011-12	Klevesahl.....000000000011000—2

EVENT No. 9.—Same as before: Durst 15, Allison 14, Fanning 14, Woods 14, Naumau 14, Webb 14, Fox 13, Eug. Forster 13, Allen 12, W. J. Golcher 11, Courtney 11, Maskey 11, Daniels 11, Andrews 11, Donaldson 11, H. C. Golcher 10, Feudner 9, Owens 8, Vernou 8, Liddle 8, Roos 6, Chapman 3.

The next three events were at 10 targets each and each had twenty-four entries. In the first of these Fox, Owens, Fauning and Warder scored straight. In the second, Durst, Fanniug and Allen made clean scores. In the last there was no straight score, Durst, Daniels, Golcher, Webb, Andreas, Fanning and Richards dividing first money on 9 each.

WEST NEWBURG GUN AND RIFLE ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT

Another successful tournament, held by this club on May 9 to 11, can be added to the list [illegible] before it, and only proves the popularity [illegible] club, who are liberal patrons of the sport. [illegible]les the management of the tournament. Mr. David Brown, and the captain, Mr. [illegible] commends itself to all visitors and [illegible] the grounds. Another pleasant feature [illegible] furnished by Mr. Gidney, and a stop there leaves a pleasant memory. The grounds to shoot over are not considered "easy" ones, but the scores show that some of the shooters were well on the targets.

A pretty and exciting race was one brought out by a special of $25 for best average in all program events, between Messrs Rayland and Taylor. At the close of the first day, with 90 per cent., Mr. Rayland led the next highest man by two targets, a lead which he held until the afternoon of the second day, when Mr. Taylor caught and passed him, gradually gaining until the close of the day, when both finished with a straight in the last, a 15-bird event. The average of both for the two days was Taylor, .89.30 per cent., Rayland, 87.61 per cent. Both received hearty congratulations for their good shooting and game race.

One feature which makes the success of the tournaments of this club is the active participation of many of its members, they shooting in all the events whether winners or not. After the two days on targets the personnel of the shooters changed, as it always does. The scores show these changes and how well the participants shot. Among the visiting sportsmen present I noticed Messrs. Mascroft and Kennerson of Worcester, Mass., always a welcome and pleasant addition at any shoot; Messrs. Mason, Halstead, Rohr, Perry and Pierce of Peekskill; Messrs. Hobart, McAlpin, Morfey, Lenone, Money, Collins and Dutchy Smith of New Jersey; Beckwith of Albany, and Doud of New York.

The weather, while a little warm, was charming throughout the shoot. The scores:

EVENT No. 1.—15 targets per man, $1 entrance.

Morfey 111011101111111-13	Dooley.... .. . 100101110111101-10
Kennerson 101000111111111-11	L. Carpenter Jr.010101001111100—8
Boyd.....001110110011110—9	Dr. Mason 111011111101111-13
Kerr..... .....001001100111101—8	J. Taylor 111111110111111-14
Mascroft..... ...110111110101111-12	H. C. H.....111111111111111-15
Von Lengerke..111000011110101—9	Money.... . ... 101101110101010—9
Stansbrough....001011111111111-12	E. Collins.....111011011111111-13
McAlpin.....111111111111100-13	Hobart.....111111111101111-14
Rayland..... 111111111111111-15	M. Taylor.....101101011011010—9

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, unknown angles: L. Carpenter Jr. 6, Mason 12, Rayland 14, Collins 11, J. Taylor 12, H. C. H. 13, Von Lengerke 13, Morfey 12, Kennerson 13, Mascroft 14, Fayette 11, Hobart 10, Mitchell 8, Money 10, Lenone 7, Boyd 10, McAlpin 15, Stansbrough 13.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, unknown angles, and 10 singles, known angles, $2 50 entrance: Collins 22, McAlpin 19, Rayland 22, Stansbrough 18, Money 20, Mason 22, H. C. H. 19, Taylor 22, Morfey 21, Kennerson 19, Von Lengerke 19, Hobart 16, Fayette 20, Wood 21, Lenone 11, Mitchell 14.

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles, known angles, $1 entrance: McAlpin 10, Money 14, Morfey 14, Stausbrough 13, Doud 7, Mascroft 12, H. C. H. 11, Mason 14, Hobart 9, Von Lengerke 15, Wood 14, Mitchell 11, Rayland 14, Boyd 8. Taylor 13, Lenone 7, Fayette 12, Kennerson 13.

EVENT No. 5.—10 singles, unknown angles, $1 entrance: McAlpin 9, Stansbrough 7, Morfey 10, Mouey 4 Taylor 9. Rayland 8. Kennerson 7, Collins 10, Lenone 4, Mascroft 10, H. C. H. 7, Mason 6, Boyd 6 Fayette 6, Dond 3, Kerr 5, Wood 10, Mitchell 4.

EVENT No. 6.—20 singles, unknown angles, $2 entrance.

McAlpin....11111111011111110111-18	Kennerson.00110011111011111111-15
Money.....11111111111111111111-20	Mason.....00000111101110111111-13
Rayland....11111111111111111010-18	Mascroft...01111111111110111111-18
Morfey.....11111010111001110111-15	H. C. H.....10100111111100101001-12
Taylor.....11101111111111110111-18	Collin.....11110111111111111111-19
Fayet'e.... 11111111110111111101-18	Stansbrough—
Hobart.....10011111010111111101-15	11101100111111011111-16
Wood..... 11011011110011011110-11	Lenone.....01001001101101001110-10

EVENT No. 7.—5 singles, unknown angles, 10 known angles and 5 pairs, $3 entrance: McAlpin 21, Money 20, Morfey 19, Collins 19, Rayland 18, Taylor 23, Kennerson 21, H. C. H. 17, Stansbrough 16, Kerr 14, Lenone 12.

EVENT No. 8.—15 singles, known angles, $1 entrance: Taylor 14, Kennerson 13, Money 14, Morfey 15, Rayland 15, Mascroft 15, Leicht 10; McAlpin 14, Wood 12. H. C. H. 12, Kerr 9, Mitchell 10, Stansbrough 11, Hobart 10, Doud 9. Collins 14, Lenone 8.

EVENT No. 9.—3 pairs and 9 singles, unknown angles, $1 entrance: McAlpin 12, Money 10, Taylor 13, Rayland 13, Morfey 7, Kennerson 13, Collins 14, Stansbrough 10, Hobart 14, Mascroft 12, H. C. H. 12, Lenone 7.

EVENT No. 10.—15 singles, known angles, $1 entrance.

McAlpin.....111111110111111-14	H. C. H.....111101010111111-12
Money.....010111111110101-11	Mitchell.....101110011101110-10
Taylor.....100111111011111-12	Kerr.....011000101111101—9
Rayland.....111111111111111-15	Stansbrough.. .111011111111111-14
Morfey.....111000001100111—8	Wood.....110011010011011—9
Jova.....010000100001100—4	Lenone.....011001110011101—9
Kennerson.....111111111101111-14	Kissam.....100111110111111-12
Likely.....111111111111011-14	Doud.....111101101010101-10
Mascroft... 111111111111111-15	Hobart.....000111101100101—8

EXTRA No. 1.—15 singles, $1 entrance: Mascroft 13, Kennerson 11, Taylor 14, Stansbrough 10, L. Carpenter Jr. 9, Rayland 13, Wood 15.

EXTRA No. 2.—15 singles, unknown angles: Kennersou 14, Rayland 13, Stansbrough 13, L. Carpenter Jr. 5. Taylor 14, Mascroft 11, Wood (w) 5.

EXTRA No. 3.—15 targets, $1 entrance: Kennerson 13, L. Carpenter Jr. 8, Stansbrough 9, Wooley 12, Taylor 14, Rayland 12, Wood 11, H. C. H. 12, Mascroft 13, Lenone 12, Hobart 15.

EXTRA No. 4.—15 targets.

Lenone.....110111111111101-13	Boyd.... 000111110100011--8
Stausbrough....111101111101011-12	Taylor.....111111110100011-13
Rayland 111111111111111-15	Wood.....101111100111110-11
L. Carpenter Jr.001011000110111—8	H. C. H.....011101111111000-10
Wooley.... 110111111111111-14	Mascroft.....111101111101111-13
Kennerson . . .111111101111101-13	Hobart..... 101111110110111-12

EXTRA No. 5 —15 targets, unknown angles: Kennerson 13, Lenone 11, Rayland 14. Stansbrough 11, Wooley 10, L. Carpeuter Jr. 4, H. C. H. 13, Taylor 12, Mascroft 13, Hobart 12.

EXTRA No. 6.—9 singles, unknown angles, and 3 pairs, $1 entrance: Stansbrough 9, Rayland 14, Kennerson 5, Leuone 10, Carpenter Jr. 6, McAlpin 12, Taylor 14, H. C. H. 10, Mascroft 7, Hobart 11, Von Lengerke 10.

EXTRA No. 7.—15 singles, unknown angles, $1 entrance: Collins 13, Lenone 11, Stansbrough 8, McAlpin 12, Rayland 13, Mascroft 12, L. Carpenter Jr. 8, Taylor 14, H. C. H. 11, Hobart 13, Kenuerson 11, Von Lengerke 12, Money 12, G. W. Morfey 13.

EXTRA No. 8.—10 singles, unknown angles, $1 entrance: McAlpin 10, E. Collins 9, Rayland 10, Likely 7, Money 7, H. C. H. 8, Kerr 3, Wood 8, Mitchell 6, Kennerson 8, Mascroft 10, Leuone 2.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—15 single targets, $1 entrance.

J. Taylor.....110111111111111-14	Collins 101111111111111-14
Kennerson.....011110101110111-11	Money.....110011111111110-12
Fayette.... .....110111100001010—8	Hobart.....101001111110110-10
McAlpin.....111110111111111-14	Rayland.....110111111111111-14
Mascroft... 000111101111111-11	Halsted.....111011111111011-13
Wood 001011111101111-11	Perry..... .111011001111101-11
Dickson.....001100110100100—6	Rohr..... 110001110000101—7
Dutchy..... .100111111101101-11	Kerr..... 010010001000101—5
Keller.... 111111001011111-12	Thomas.....011100111011000—8

EVENT No. 2.—15 single targets, unknown angles, $1 entrance: J. Taylor 13, Keller 11, Money 13, Kennerson 13, McAlpin 11, Dutchy 13, Rayland 11, Wood 11, Dickson 12, Hobart 10. Collins 11, Fayette 4, Mascroft 9, Halsted 7, Perry 6, H. C. H. 9.

EVENT No. 3.—9 singles, unknown angles, 10 known angles and 3 pairs, $2.50 entrance: J. Taylor 22, Keller 15, Money 20, Kennerson 17, McAlpin 17, Dutchy 19, Rayland 24, Collins 20, Fayette 12, Hobart 19, Dicksou 15, Halsted 16, H. C. H. 17, Perry 16, Mascroft 15.

EVENT No. 4.—15 single targets, $1 entrance: Taylor 14, Keller 13, Money 12, Kennersou 13, McAlpin 11, Dutchy 14, Rayland 15, Dickson 12, Barnes 13, Wood 10, Hobart 5, Perry 11, Mascroft 12, Fayette 4, H. C. H. 13, Halsted 12, Thomas 7, Walker 9.

EVENT No. 5.—10 singles, knowu angles, 15 unknown angles, $3 entrance.

Taylor.....	..1110111111 1110111111	11011—22
Keller.....	1101111111 1111101111	11111—23
Money.....	..1010111111 1111111010	01000—17
Kennerson.....	1111101111 0111010100	11111—19
Lindsley.....	0100101010 1100111000	11001—12
Dutchy.....	..1110111111 1111011100	11111—21
Rayland.....	..1001111110 1110111111	11111—21
Dickson...	1001111111 1110101101	01101—18
Collins.	.1101101100 0011111001	11010—15
McAlpin.....	1111101111 1101110111	01111—21
Wood.....	1111000111 1111110111	11111—21
Perry.....	.0100101000 1111011101	11011—15
Halsted.....	1010111111 1011111111	01101—20

EVENT No. 6.—10 singles, known angles, 5 unknown and 5 pairs, $5 entrance: Taylor 19, Money 18, Kennerson 18, Collins 21, Dutchy 21, Rayland 19, Dickson 17.

EVENT No. 7.—10 single targets. $1.50 entrance: Taylor 10, Keller 8, Money 9. Kennerson 8, Dutchy 8, McAlpin 9, Rayland 8, Dickson 7, H. C. H. 7, Hobart 7, Barns 7, Wood 5, Kerr 5, Walker 5, Perry 7, Wanda 7, Mascroft 9, Doud 4, Lenone 7, Kissam 8, Halsted 9, Collins 10.

EVENT No. 8.—15 targets, unknown angles, $2 entrance: Taylor 14, Keller 12, Money 12, Kennerson 14, Dutchy 15, Rayland 12, Dickson 12, McAlpin 11, Lindsley 5, Wood 6, Hobart 8, Lenone 10, Halsted 11, Collins 14, H. C. H. 8, Perry 6, Walker 9, Mascroft 10.

EVENT No. 9.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Taylor 11, Keller 11, Money 12, Kennersou 13, Dutchy 14, McAlpin 11, Rayland 12, Dickson 15, Thomas 10, Lenone 8, Wanda 4, Mascroft 13, Kissam 7, Doud 11, H. C. H. 12, Barns 10, Walker 11, Halsted 10.

EVENT No. 10.—10 targets, unknown angles, $1 entrance: Taylor 10, Keller 9, Money 7, Kennersou 9. Dutchy 9, McAlpin 6, Rayland 9, Dickson 9, Wanda 7, Mascroft 8. Kissam 8, Donohue 7, Collius 9, Perry 3, Lenone 6, Wood 6, Walker 5, Rohr 3.

EVENT No. 11.—15 single targets per man, $1.50 entrance: Taylor 15, Keller 15, Money 13, Kennerson 13, Dutchy 14, McAlpin 12, Rayland 15, Dickson 15, Kissam 12, Stansbrough 9, Halstead 13, H. C. H. 9, Lenone 2, Doud 10, Mascroft 14, Lindsley 12, Collins 12.

LIVE BIRDS

EVENT No. 12.—5 live birds each man, $5 entrance: Taylor 5, Rayland 4, H. C. H. 5, Arnold 5, Dickson 5, Condit 3, L. Carpenter Jr. 4, Patton 0, Dain 4, Kennerson 5, Halstead 5, Mascroft 3, Train 4, Donnelly 4, Taggart 4, Stansbrough 2, Palmer 3, Barker 1, McDonnell 2.

EVENT No. 13.—7 live birds per man, $7.50 entrance.

Tsylor. .... 2122222—7	Taggart.....2211110—6
Arnold .....0021221—5	Halstead.... .. ..2221121—7
Rayland..... ..2222022—6	Dounelly.....2222222—7
H. C. H.....2222202—6	Knight.....2202012—5
Dickson.....1220202—5	McDonnell.....0222012—5
Train.....1020001—3	Barker.....2222200—5
Perry.....2220211—6	Palmer.... .....1220001—4
Dain... .... .0210212—5	Kennerson .....1221112—7
Condit.....2002221—5	Mascroft.....0221122—6
L. Carpenter Jr.....1220020—4	Wood.....2022222—6

EVENT No. 14.—10 live birds, $10 entrance: Arnold 9. Taylor 7, Rayland 8, Dicksou 7, H. C. H. 9, Dain 9, Train 9, Halstead 9, Condit 8, Barker 4, Knight 8, L. Carpenter Jr. 7, Perry 8, McDonnell 4, Taggart 8.

EVENT No. 15.—Miss and out at live birds: Taylor 2, Dickson 1, Doud 1, Perry 6, H. C. H. 6, Rayland 2, Halstead 6, Dain 6.

EVENT No. 16.—Same as above: Taylor 4, Train 7, Dickson 7, Halstead 7, Dain 2, Knight 0, Perry 7, H. C. H. 1, Doud 0, Kerr 0, Rayland 4, Arnold 1.

EVENT No. 17.—3 birds, $2 entrance: Taylor 3, Halstead 3, H. C. H. 3, Rayland 3, Dain 3, Stansbrough 3, Train 3, Donuelly 3, Barker 0, Palmer 2, McDonnell 3, Doud 3.

EXTRA No. 1.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Taylor 7, E. Collins 9, Dixon 4, Wood 7, Rayland 8, Stansbrough 3, Mascroft 9, Fayette 8.

EXTRA No. 2.—10 targets, unknown angles, $1 entrance: Stansbrough 4, Fayette 9, Collins 8, Dickson 6, Taylor 10, Rayland 8, Wood 7, Mascroft 7, Dutchy 5, Keller 7, Kennerson 9.

EXTRA No. 3.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Taylor 9, Stansbrough 5, McAlpin 8, Rayland 8, Collins 7, Fayette 6, Dickson 6, Kennerson 9, Wood 7, Dutchy 9, Mascroft 8, Hobart 8.

EXTRA No. 4.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Rayland 9, Keller 8, McAlpin 7, Collius 8, Hobart 7, Dutchy 9, Wood 6, Dickson 5.

EXTRA No. 5.—15 single targets: Dickson 11, McAlpin 10, Keller 12, Wanda 8, Walker 11, Kennerson 14, Wood 13, Dutchy 13, Rayland 12, Kissam 10, Taylor 14, Money 12, Halstead 14, Collins 11, Mascroft 13.

EXTRA No. 6 —Same as preceding: McAlpin 13, H. C. H. 6 Wood 11, Taylor 15, Dickson 15, Donohue 6, Keller 14, Lindsley 9, Kissam 12, Kenuerson 13, Money 8, Rayland 14.

EXTRA No. 7.—Same again: Halstead 15, Kissam 12, Kennerson 14, Mascroft 12, Dickson 10, Taylor 15, McAlpin 12, Wood 10, Rayland 15.

THE MICHIGAN STATE LEAGUE TOURNAMENT

BATTLE CREEK, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The opening shoot for 1895 of the Michigan State League was held at this place, on April 23 and 24. The weather both days was fine and the tournament a success.

The shooters commenced to arrive on Monday evening, the first man to show up, as usual, being Mr. N. W. Holt of Manchester, who insisted on entering squad one, number one, for both days. A close second was Jack Parker, representing the Winchester gun, E. C. powder, the Cleveland targets and Detroit. With him came Oswald Von Lengerke, loaded down with V. L. & A. specialties. The Grand Rapids contingent, Walton Gould, Widdicomb, Holcomb, Gilmore and Wharton, came with blood in their eyes, anticipating their reception home bearing the coveted state team trophy, with diamonds and gold medals thrown in. Then there was Casper Schelling of Lansing, Preston of Coldwater, Watts and Thompson of Jackson, Ben O. Bush of Kalamazoo, and his famous electric pull. Kellogg, Brunson and Linton of Olivet, Church of Litchfield, Welch of Hudson, Thorn of Hudson, which together with the home shooters made up a jolly crowd.

The first day's averages were won by Parker, first; Holt, second. Second day's averages were won by Thompson, first; Parker, second. Following are the scores in full.

EVENT No. 1.—10 single Blue Rocks, $1.20 entrance.

Holt..... .... 0010111111—7	Gilmore.....1111111111-10
Parker.....1100111111—8	Gould.....0011111110—7
Walton..... ...1010001111—6	Howes .. ..1100011111—7
Von Lengerke .....0111011101—7	Bush..... .....1110100111—7
Wharton..... 1111011101—8	Church.....1101111010—7
Widdicomb.....1111111111-10	Carpenter.....1001110111—7
Holcomb.....1010101111—7	Halladay.....1111001010—6

EVENT No. 2.—12 single targets, $1.25 entrance: Holt 9, Parker 11, Walton 8, Von Lengerke 10, Wharton 9, Widdicomb 9, Holcomb 10, Gilmore 7, Gould 10, Howes 9, Bush 7, Church 11, Carpenter 7, Halladay 12, Bramble 8, Willard 7.

EVENT No. 3.—15 single targets, $1 80 entrance: Holt 12, Parker 11, Walton 11, Von Lengerke 13, Wharton 14, Widdicomb 10, Holcomb 10, Gilmore 11, Howes 12 Gould 10, Bush 12, Church 11, Carpenter 15, Halladay 13, Bramble 9, Willard 8.

EVENT No. 4 —Miss and out at targets, 50 cents entrance: Holt 5, Parker 3, Walton 0, Von Leugerke 6, Wharton 6 Widdicomb 5, Holcomb 3, Gilmore 5, Howes 0, Bush 0, Church 0, Halladay 6.

EVENT No. 5.—7 singles and 3 pairs: Holt 8, Parker 12, Walton 9, Von Lengerke 6, Wharton 8, Widdicomb 11, Holcomb 11, Gilmore 10, Gould 10, Howes 12, Bush 12, Prestou 11, Carpenter 10, Halladay 7.

EVENT No. 6.—Team race, 25 single targets per man, 50 cents entrance.

GRAND RIDS TEAM.

Walton...	1110010100 1111011100	11111—17
Widdicomb.....	1111111111 1110011111	01111—22
Wharton.....	1111100111 1001101111	11111—20—59

BATTLE CREEK TEAM

Halladay.....	1111111101 1001111111	11111—22
Howes.....	1111011110 1111111110	00111—20
Carpenter.....	0111111011 1111110010	00111—19—61

CHICAGO TEAM

Parker.....	1111111111 1111110111	11111—24
Holt.....	1101110101 1111001111	11111—20
Von Lengerke.....	1011111111 1111111101	11111—23—67

GRAND RAPIDS TEAM NO. 2

Holcomb	1111111111 0101111111	10111—22
Gilmore	1111111111 1010111110	00111—20
Gould.....	1111111111 0111011111	11111—23—65

SOUTH WHEATON TEAM

Bush.....	.1111111101 1111111111	11111—24
Church.....	1110110110 1111111111	01111—21
Preston.....	1011111111 1111111110	11111—23—68

EVENT No 7.—15 singles: Widdicomb 11, Holt 12, Parker 14, Thompson 12, Von Lengerke 14, Wharton 12, Walton 12, Preston 13, Church 12.

EVENT No. 8.—7 singles, 21 yards rise, one man up, unknown traps: Holt 5, Parker 5, Waltou 6, Von Lengerke 3, Wharton 6, Widdicomb 4, Holcomb 4, Gilmore 6, Preston 3, Howes 4, Bush 5, Church 4, Carpenter 2, Halladay 5.

EVENT No. 9.—5 sets triplets, $1 30 entrance. In this event three birds were sprung at once, shooter to pick two birds out of the three: Holt 8, Parker 8, Walton 7, Von Lengerke 7, Wharton 5, Widdicomb 8, Holcomb 4, Bush 4, Gilmore 7, Preston 5, Howes 7, Carpenter 7, Halladay 5.

EVENT No. 10.—20 singles, $3 60 entrance.

Holt..... 11110101111000111111-16	Howes.....01111111011111111111-18
Parker.....11111111111011111110-18	Carpenter..11011111000001101110-12
Walton.....00110010011101000010—8	Bush.....01111101101110011011-14
Von Lengerke—	Preston....11111111110111111111-19
11001111101111011111-16	Church....11111101111111101111-18
Wharton...01101111010000101100-10	Gould.....10110101111111101111-16
Widdicomb 10111111111001111101-16	Eaton.....11010100000110011011-10
Holcomb...11110010110101111111-15	Willard....11110111011111111110-17
Gilmore....11111110001111111010-15	Halladay...11101111011101011111-16

EXTRA No. 1.—15 singles: Holt 12, Holcomb 7, Walton 12, Preston 13, Widdicomb 12, Gilmore 13, Wharton 10, Howes 11, Parker 12, Bush 12, Eaton 6, Carpenter 14, Church 10, Gould 13, Halladay 12, Welch 13.

EXTRA No. 2.—15 singles, second barrel allowed: Bush 11, Holcomb 10, Gilmore 10, Howes 10, Gould 7, Von Leugerke 12, Holt 12, Walton 11. Preston 12, Parker 13, Widdicomb 11, Carpenter 12.

EXTRA No. 3.—15 singles: Holt 12, Eaton 10, Preston 14, Widdicomb 13, Parker 14, Wharton 13, Welch 11, Howes 13, Carpenter 14, Paterson 3, Walch 12, Bush 14.

EXTRA No. 4.—15 singles: Church 12, Holt 7, Widdicomb 13, Percy

5, Wharton 12, Parker 10, Carpenter 12, Bush 9, Howes 10, Waltou 9, Eaton 7, Holcomb 9.

EXTRA No. 5.—Same as before: Thompson 11, Widdicomb 11, Parker 14, Bush 12, Wharton 12, Holt 14, Church 12, Carpenter 7, Waltou 12, Howes 11, Welch 13.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—10 single Blue Rocks, $1.20 entrance: Parker 8, Preston 9, Howes 8, Thompson 8, Carpenter 9 Holt 10, Shorn 6, Widdicomb 10, Walton 8, Watts 8, Holcomb 7. Wharton 8, Gilmore 6, Gould 8, Schelling 7.

EVENT No. 2.—12 singles, $1.25 entrance.

Parker	111011111111—11	Holcomb	111101011011— 9
Preston	111101111110—10	Gilmore	111111111111—12
Howes	111011111111—11	Von Lengerke	111111110011—10
Thompson	111010111011— 9	Watts	101111101111—10
Walton	110011111111—10	Schelling	111111110101—10
Holt	110101101111— 9	Thorn	011001111100— 7
Widdicomb	011111101011— 9	Hubbard	101100010111— 7
Carpenter	111111011101—10	Gould	011111111111—11
Wharton	111111011101—10	Halladay	111111011111—11

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, $1.80 entrance: Parker 13, Preston 12, Howes 13, Thompson 15, Walton 10, Holt 13, Wharton 14, Carpenter 11, Gilmore 11, Widdicomb 13, Von Leugerke 9, Schelling 12, Gould 11, Watts 13, Holcomb 13, Welch 12.

EVENT No. 4.—Miss and out at targets: Parker 4, Preston 8, Howes 2, Thompson 9, Gilmore 1, Holt 4, Wharton 3, Holcomb 1, Widdicomb 0, Carpenter 1, Bush 3.

EVENT No. 5.—12 singles, $1.75 entrance, use of both barrels, second barrel to count one-half: Parker 8½, Wharton 9½, Howes 5½, Thompson 9, Waltou 5, Holt 6½, Von Lengerke 7½, Widdicomb 6, Watts 7½, Bush 9½, Brennau 4½, Carpenter 6, Holcomb 6½, Scnelling 4½.

EVENT No. 6.—Championsbip medal race, three medals, one for each class, expert, semi-expert and amateurs, 25 targets.

Experts—

Watts	0111111110 0111110110 .....—15
Carpenter	.0011010100w.....— 4
Bush	1001110101 110110w.....—10
Scbelling	1111111010 0111100w .....—12
Halladay	1110001111 00w.....— 7
Parker	1111111010 1011010111 10110—18
Wharton	1111110010 0111011111 10011—19
Howes	1101111111 1100100110 01111—18
Thompson	0001111011 1111111111 11100—19
Preston	1100101110 0010011111 11111—17
Holt	1110111111 1110110111 11011—21

Semi-experts—

Walton	1101111111 1111111111 10111—23
Widdicomb	1110111111 1110111110 01010—19

Amateurs—

Holcomb	1001111111 1001111110 10111—19
Eaton	1010100011 0101000111 10001—12
Kellogg	1111101100 1101011011 11111—19
Gilmore	0011100101 1011111110 11001—16
Willard	0111011111 1110111111 10101—20
Keys	1010110001 1110011111 10001—15
Gould	1111111111 1111111111 11011—24
Thorn	.00010100w.....— 2
Welch	1101011110 111100w.....—11

EVENT No. 7.—7 singles and 3 pairs: Parker 10, Watts 7, Howes 9, Thompson 10, Preston 6, Holt 8, Bush 10, Carpenter 8, Horton 6, Halladay 9.

EVENT No. 8.—15 siugles, $1.80 entrance: Bush 12, Howes 13, Thompson 13, Holt 11, Carpenter 13, Wakefield 6, Brunson 8, Linton 9, Watts 12, Parker 12, Schelling 10, Hubbard 14, Halladay 10.

EVENT No. 9.—Everyone plays even; 7 singles, everything known, 7 singles, known trap, unknown angles, and 7 singles, three traps, everything unknown; Parker 18, Howes 14, Thompson 19, Holt 18, Hubbard 13, Bush 19, Brunson 17, Linton 10, Carpenter 18, Watts 18, Schelling 15.

EXTRA No. 1.—25 singles per man: Gilmore 18, Howes 16, Widdicomb 21, Halladay 18, Walton 20, Hubbard 15, Gould 19, Willard 16, Wharton 23, Carpenter 19.

EXTRA No. 2.—10 pairs and 20 singles: Gilmore 30, Howes 29, Widdicomb 33, Halladay 31, Waltou 30, Hubbard 30, Gould 29, Willard 24, Wharton 36, Carpenter 33.

S. A. HOWES, Secy.

SHOOTING AT THE LARCHMONT YACHT CLUB

The last pigeon shooting of the season at the Larchmont Yacht Club grounds was held last week, all the crack amateurs with the exceptiou of Fred Hoey, Capt. Money, Edgar Murphy and one or two of the Philadelphia contingent being present.

The principal event of the first day's shooting was a handicap sweepstake, 25 live birds per man, which fourteen men entered and in which not a single man of the fourteen made a clean score. Mr. J. H. Davis, J. "Harold," H. Chapin and Dr. Wynn tied with but one miss, while N. Reynal and R. G. Welch, the well-known Philadelphian, were the only two to bring down twenty-three birds. George Work was in poor form throughout the day, and at the end of the sixth round withdrew. Another topweight, J. K. Palmer, after letting two birds get away from him out of twelve, retired, while Fred Moore killed 13 straight, and then settled his chances by missing two in succession. The following summaries show the result of the first day's sport:

EVENT No. 1.—Handicap sweepstake, 5 birds, $5 entrauce: J. K. "Palmer," 30 yards, 2; Robert Welch, 30 yards, 8; J. "Harold," 28 yards, 7; "Fred" G. Moore, 29 yards, 1; Col. Butler, 27 yards, 8; F. Mead, 27 yards, 3; F. S. "Mott," 30 yards, 7; F. "Leonard," 28 yards, 8; J. H. Davis, 28 yards, 7; George Work, 30 yards, 1; H. Chapin, 27 yards, 8. Welch, Butler, Leonard and Chapin divided.

EVENT No. 2.—Sweepstake, miss and out, $10 entrance: J. K. "Palmer," 30 yards, 4; Robert Welch, 30 yards, 4; J. "Harold," 28 F. G. Moore, 29 yards, 2; Col Butler, 27 yards, 3; H. Mead, 27 yards, 4; F. S. "Mott" 30 yards, 3; F. "Leonard," 28 yards, 3; J. H. Davis, G. Work, 30 yards, 3; H. Chapin, 27 yards, 0; N. Reynal, 28 yards, 0; Dr Wynn, 28 yards, 4. Palmer, Welch, Mead and Dr. Wynn divided.

EVENT No 3.—Star blind pool; shooting at 6 birds; to draw for position: entrance fee twice as many dollars as the competitor's shooting number. No. 1 to put in $2. No. 10 to put in $20; first half of the shooters to have option to "star" for 4; second half to have option to 'star" for $2: George Work, 30 yards, 4; J. K. "Palmer," 30 yards, 7: J. H. Davis, 28 yards, 7; Robert Welch, 30 yards, 8; Col. Butler, 27 yards, 7; H. Chapin, 27 yards, 8; J. "Harold," 28 yards, 8; F. "Leonard," 28 yards, 6; N. Reynal, 28 yards, 6; J. S. "Mott," 30 yards, 6. Welch, Chapin and Harold divided.

EVENT No. 4.—Optional sweepstakes, 25 birds; entrance $25 or $12.50; cup value $50, added to winner; three misses and out. Ties to shoot off at 5 birds. Allowances, 28 yards, one miss to count as no bird; 27 yards, two misses as no bird; 26 yards, three misses as no bird. Cup and 40 per cent. of sweepstakes to the winner: 30 per cent to second, 20 per cent to third, and 10 per cent to the club.

	Yards
H. Eckert	27	2112111112 20120.....—13
N. Reynal	28	2222220222 2222122222 22201—23
J. H. Davis	28	1212122121 2111222222 20122—24
J. "Harold,"	28	2222222222 2202222222 22222—24
F. "Leonard,"	28	0111020221 22.....— 9
J. K. "Palmer,"	30	2022022222 22.....—10
Col. Butler	27	0221011022 02.....— 8
R. Mead	27	2221122211 2112?010.....—16
T. S. "Mott"	30	2112212210 22220.....—13
F. G. Moore	29	1222222222 222200.....—13
George Work	30	022020.....— 3
R. G. Welch	30	2122122021 2212222212 22201—23
H. Chapin	27	1122222121 2222222221 21201—24
Dr. Wynn	29	1122211112 1122211121 22102—24

Ties shot off: H. Chapin 5, Dr. Wynn 4, J. H. Davis 3, J. "Harold" 3 Davis and Harold divided third money.

Only one important event was shot on the second day, the Getaway Handicap at 50 live birds $50 entrance. Fourteen experts entered this contest, including the following Philadelphians: Robert Welch, T. S. "Mott," J. "Leonard," and J. H. Davis.

George Work and Palmer, the two New York cracks, were in such poor form that both retired before the first half of the contest ended. Palmer having missed six birds out of twenty-two, while Work let the same number get away out of twenty-four. In the end the two Quakers, "Mott" and "Leonard," divided first and second moneys with 46 kills each, while Dr. Wynn, H. Chapin, Robert Welch and J. S. Robbins split up third money with 45 to their credit.

At the end of the first half it looked as if the Philadelphians would have everything their own way. Welch had missed only one bird, "Mott" had only let two get away from him, while "Leonard" had a score of twenty-two kills to his credit. The only man of the New York contingent who had a small fighting chance was Chapin, who had grassed the same number of birds as "Leouard." As matters progressed, however, Chapin's prospects for repeating his success of the previous day grew better, until at the end of the twentieth bird of the second round he had brought down all his birds. At this stage "Mott" was the only man on equal terms with him, both men having only three lost birds against their score. Of the last birds, however, Chapin allowed two to escape, while "Mott" was unfortunate enough to see one sail clean away. This changed the aspect of affairs, and "Mott" had to be content with a division with his fellow clubman, "Leonard," while Chaplu dropped into the third money division.

"Mott" and "Leonard," after agreeing to divide first and second money, shot off their tie at 10 birds for a cup, which went with the winner's stakes. Another tie resulted, as both men missed one bird. They again essayed to kill ten birds, and this time each missed two. Then they abandoned the contest. Summary:

EVENT No. 5.—Getaway Handicap, 50 birds per man, $50 entrance, with a cup added for the winner: 40 per cent. of the sweepstakes to the winner, 30 per cent. to second, 20 per cent. to third, and 10 per cent. to the club: T. S. "Mott," 30 yards, 46; J. "Leonard," 28 yards, 46; Dr. Wynn, 30 yards, 45; H. Chapin, 28 yards, 15; R. A. Welch, 30 yards, 45; J. S. Robbins, 28 yards, 45; Dr. Gilder, 27 yards, 36; F. G. Moore 35; N. Reynal, 28 yards, 30; J. Harold, 28; J. H. Davis, 28 yards, 23; W. S. Edey, 28 yards, 20; George Work, 30 yards, 18; T. K. Palmer, 30 yards, 16.

GARFIELD GUN CLUB TROPHY SCORES

CHICAGO,

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Three rainy Saturdays in succession have resulted in reducing the attendance at the weekly shoots of the Garfield Gun Club, but the enthusiasm of the old members is undiminished, and the contests for the monthly trophy in each class are watched with the keenest interest. On May 4 the first shoot of the season was participated in by about twenty members, who were pleased to entertain Mr. Skinner and Dr. W. F. Carver. The latter was using his new Casbmore "long Tom." The Doctor thinks that it will make a great target gun, as he can always "reach 'em with it and poke it into 'em." He discovered, however, that this was easier said than done, and no one present laughed more heartily than he as the tricky saucers escaped his usually unerring aim. He proved such a jovial companion that while he was missing targets a quorum of the directors of the club quietly elected him a member, and he is now labeled "Garfield." This so encouraged him that at the following weekly shoot he showed vast improvement, as the appended scores attest, each man shooting at 25 single targets, known trap, unknown angles:

CLASS A—MAY 4

W. Palmer	1111111110 0111111111 11110—22
S. Palmer	0111111010 1111111101 00111—19
Dr. Carver	1010111101 1111101111 01011—18
Hicks	1010111110 1011011110 01111—18
Von Lengerke	1111101111 1110011011 00110—18
Baird	1111101111 1001001101 11101—18
Adams	1001011101 1011011011 10111—17
Richards	1101011100 1111110011 11000—16
Bowers	0100101010 1111011110 10101—15

MAY 11

W. Palmer	1111101111 1111111111 11101—23
Bowers	1111110111 1111111110 11111—23
Dr. Carver	1111111011 1111101111 11110—22
Smith	1011111011 1101111101 11111—21
Pattersou	1110111111 0111111011 10011—20
Mott	0111011111 0111111010 11111—20
Hicks	0110110011 0110111111 11111—19
S. Palmer	1001111100 1110110110 01101—16

MAY 18

W. Palmer	1111111111 1100111111 11011—22
Hicks	1011011011 1101111111 11111—21
S. Palmer	1111111100 1111110010 11110—19
Bowers	1110111011 1000101011 10011—16

CLASS B—MAY 4.

Fehrman	1100111111 1101001010 11111—18
Dr. Hodson	1110001010 1011110110 00000—12
Drake	0001001011 0.01101001 11100—11

MAY 11.

Dr. Hodson	1111110110 1101111111 00111—20

MAY 18.

Dr. Hodson	1111111101 0111101111 10111—21
Fehrman	1110111011 1111111101 11101—21
Drake	1011100110 1011000100 11111—15

CLASS C—MAY 4.

Ralston	0101101110 1010110001 01111—15
Dr. Wescott	0101111001 0011100111 10010—14
Tilt	1000100100 1001111010 01011—12
Dr. Palmer	0110101000 0000000100 10100— 7
Eaton	0001001000 0011100001 00000— 6

MAY 11.

Best	1010000111 0111110011 01100—14
Dr. Palmer	0111100101 1101010000 10000—11
Eaton	0100101100 1000110110 00100—10

MAY 18.

Tilt	1011101011 1101101011 01110—17
Dr Palmer	0001101110 0010001110 01111—13
Bartholomy	0000011000 0111000101 10000— 8
Kelly	0110100000 1010000000 00010— 6

On May 11, Messrs. Fox, Knott, Burridge, Lowry and Cooper, of the Cicero Gun Club, visited our grounds in time to join in a few of the "wind-up" events, and extended an invitation to the Garfield boys to visit them at their new club house. There should be more sociability among the members of the various gun clubs of Chicago and vicinity, and more friendly contests. Dry rot has destroyed many clubs that were once prosperous, and there is evidence this Spring that others are affected, and unless interest is aroused, innocuous desuetude will be the condition of several. What has become of the proposed league of Cook County clubs?

R. S. M., Sec'y.

SHOOTING AT WATSON'S

Since our last report from the above named grounds, quite a little shooting has taken place, and as the time for the annual tournament of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association draws nigh the shooting there will increase, for many of the Chicago shooters who have grown rusty, as it were, from a Winter's idleness, so far as shooting is concerned, will desire to brush up a little and get in form for the state event.

On May 13 the following scores were made out of a possible 50, just as practice.

S. Palmer	1120120002 2221110010 0222201112 2222112021 2011010011—36
W. Palmer	2011100201 0012202210 1210200212 1001002222 w.....—25
R. S. Mott	2201222011 2221212022 2220020221 1222111022 1110120020—40
Hicks	1022101212 0011120121 1010002202 1112101221 1022000011—34
Dr. Carver	2222210222 2202221022 2222222222 2122212002 1222222222—46
J. J. Smith	0101111112 1102001100 1202200202 1102012211 2211200012—31

The day following the Chicago Gun Club had its club contest, 15 birds per man, dead bird handicap owing to the less expert members.

	Birds added		Birds added
Bingham	2..121112221221212—15	Hamline	3..121221210210020—14
Kleinman	0..1012222110w	Ehlers	2..121012101212002—13
Wadsworth	2..1021221111122112—15	Frothingham—
M. J. Eich	2..2111112222111011—15		0..1022012221212201—12

Wadsworth withdrew and the other two tying on 15 shots the tie off at the original number of birds, Mr. M. J. Eich winning by one bird.

The next day saw the members of the Audubon Gun Club at the park for their regular club contest. Each man shot at 15 single live birds and the weaker members were given an added dead bird handicap. Scores:

	Birds added		Birds added
Dicks	3..2022120001111111—14	Bissel	4..2021222210222220—15
Hamline	3..2122111021211111—15	McCauley	2..2221212021001222—14
Frothingham—		Amberg	3..2221111021020222—15
	2..1100100220122222—12	Heath	4..0210012122012010—14
Place	0..2212011010200w..— 8	*Case	0..2101021122221211—13
Morris	5..0201202001101121—14	*Antoine	0..0111112222101202—12
Wadsworth	2..1221112022212202—15	*Carver	2020222222222222—13
Wilcox	3..1222102001002221—13

*Not members.

Mr. Wadsworth of the ties on 15 withdrew and the other three shot the tie off at the original number of birds, receiving the same handicap as in the original contest. The result: Hamline 15, Bissell 14, Amberg 15. The two that were still a tie shot at 10 birds each. Mr. Amberg scoring 9 and winning, Mr. Hamline losing two out of his last ten.

On May 16 the four men whose names appear below visited the park and shot for practice making the following scores:

Dr. Carver	...2222221000 2221002221 2220122222 0.....—24
Atherton	1211121110 0110202211 2222012221 2202220.11 ..... 0210220021 2022221220 1122121012 2211222101 .....
Wilson	2020121211 2012121121 1121221111 12020.....
Antoine	2021111221 0021020011 12120.....

LLOYD—WELLS

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—A series of three matches at 25 live birds each, $50 a side each match and $50 additional to the winner of two out of three, was shot at Wylie Jones' Park, this city, on May 8, 9 and 10, between Mr. J. T. Lloyd and Mr J. E. Wells, both of this city.

As the scores show it was a case of "Greek meets Greek," and each match was stubbornly contested until the last bird was killed. This race was the outcome of two matches which took place recently between the same gentlemen at the same place for $50 a side each, at 50 birds, and in which Mr. Wells proved an easy winner.

Mr. Wells is now out with au open challenge to Mr. Lloyd or any other man in the state to shoot a series of three matches at 25 birds each match for $100 a side each match, and as there are several fine live bird shots in Arkansas he will probably find a customer.

Considerable money changed hands on the matches and some of the boys were quite jubilant over their winnings.

Mr. Lloyd used in these matches a W. W. Greener hammerless ejector 12-gauge gun weighing 7 pounds 10 ounces, and his shells were the U. M. C. Smokeless charged with 3¼ drams hard grain Schultze powder and 1¼ ounces chilled No. 7 shot.

Mr. Wells used a W. & C. Scott & Sons hammerless ejector 12-gauge gun weighing 7 pounds 6 ounces, and his loads were U. M. C. Smokeless cases, 3¼ drams E. C. powder and 1⅛ ounces No. 7 and No. 6 chilled shot.

W. A. Leach acted as referee and Elmo Marsh scorer.

FIRST MATCH

J. E. Wells	2212022222 1*1020?221 02212—20
J. T. Lloyd	2121021002 2212221121 10022—20

As will be seen by the scores this match resulted in a tie and it was agreed to shoot the tie off on the first five birds in the next match.

SECOND MATCH

J. T. Lloyd	2021112210 2221222110 11222—22
J. E. Wells	1012102212 01*1211122 21210—20

Mr. Lloyd won this race and also the match of the day before. Score 13 out of 15; Wells 11 out of 15.

THIRD MATCH

J. T. Lloyd	2*10121121 1122111111 *2220—21
J. E. Wells	1102120202 2202,22122 22221—21

The tie was shot off at 5 birds per man, Lloyd scoring 5 and Wells 3, the former winning.

ARKANSAS.

NEW YORK GERMAN GUN CLUB

Members of this club held their regular club shoot at Dexter Park on May 15, when the following scores were made:

SHOOT No. 1.—Club contest, 8 live birds per man.

Huff	01221002—5	Smith	11100212—6
Krousberg	10001011—4	Messmann	10100000—2
Bondan	10220010—4	B. Konig	02112111—7
Thomforde	00101221—5	Edwards	20111010—5
Hudson	12121211—8	Frazer	11121201 7
Sauter	21212221—8	Dreste	10100010—3
Uno. Schmitt	10110111—6	Lucas	10111212—7
Wellbrock	01012101—5

Ties on 8 shot off for first and second medals, and ties on 7 shot off for third medal. Hudson won first medal, Sauter second and Konig third.

SHOOT No. 2.—Sweepstake, 5 birds each man: Sauter 3, Edwards 5. Hudson 5, Lucas 2, Woelfel 4, Schmitt 2, Frazer 4, Krousberg 4, Dreste 2, Smith 4, Wellbrock 4.

SHOOT No. 3.—Same as before: Hudsou 5, Lucas 3, Woelfel 3, Schmitt 2, Edwards 0, Frazer 3, Krousberg 4.

SHOOT No. 4.—Same again: Huff 1, Krousberg 4, Schmitt 3, Lucas 3.

SHOOT No. 5.—Same: Krousberg 5, Schmitt 4, Lucas 1.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—The scores which I send herewith were made recently by the members of the Valley City Gun Club of this place.

EVENT No. 1.—20 single targets each man: Widdicomb 12, Woodworth 14, Beeson 7, Gilmore 9

EVENT No. 2.—10 singles, reverse traps: Widdicomb 6, Woodworth 5, Beeson 5, Gilmore 6.

EVENT No. 3.—15 single targets per man.

Walton	1111001101011111-11	Kelsey	1101010101111001—9
Widdicomb	1011011110111011-11	White	0011101111101101-10
Coleman	1111110111011101-12	Holcomb	0111010100111111-10
Woodworth	0111101110001110—9	Norris	0010111011111111-11
Beeson	0000100100010010—4	Walton	1111110111100101-11
Gilmore	1110101011100111-10

EVENT No. 4.—10 targets each man: Widdicomb 8, Wharton 6, Holcomb 7, Coleman 5, Kelsey 4, Temple 2.

EVENT No. 5.—10 targets: Temple 9, Widdicomb 6, Colemau 7, Woodworth 7, Beeson 7, Kelsey 5, Holcomb 10, Wharton 9, White 7, Gilmore 9, Walton 8, Norris 9, Gould 9.

EVENT No. 6.—10 targets: Temple 8, Widdicomb 8, Woodworth 6, Beeson 4, White 8, Holcomb 9, Wharton 7, Kelsey 4, Gould 8, Walton 9, Coleman 8, Norris 8.

EVENT No. 7.—20 single targets each man.

Temple	00111001111011110010-12	Wharton	11111101110101100011-15
Widdicomb	10111111111110001110-15	Holcomb	11111111110110101-16
Coleman	11011011111100110100-13	Kelsey	10100111111000111000-11

EVENT No. 8.—10 targets: Gould 9, Temple 7, Widdicomb 9, Gilmore 9, Woodworth 8, Kelsey 7.

A difference of opinion as to which was the better shooter existed between Messrs. Wharton and Widdicomb, so they attempted to reach a correct understanding by shooting at 15 single targets each man. The result:

Widdicomb	11111101111110-13	Wharton	11111111101111-14

LOST BIRD.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Inclosed please find scores made in the eighth and ninth competitive shoots of the Louisiana Gun Club. In our last shoot an agreeable surprise was sprung. Mr. Geo. Faure, a young gentleman who has but recently joined the club, and certainly not shot more than four times in all at targets, won first prize on a score of 23 out of 25 at unknown angles, which irrespective of his allowance was the best score of the day. He also afterward scored 18 out of 20 in pool shoots and 9 out of 10 on doubles. Mr. De Blanc on the same day scored 20 straight, and other members did very creditable shooting. Unknown angle events are the most popular with our club, but of course we intersperse doubles and expert rules at times. Interest in trap shooting seems to be on a boom here and our board has about perfected arrangements with Manager Shaner for a tournament here in August, the details of which will be communicated to the AMERICAN FIELD when arranged. The scores:

EVENT No. 1.—25 singles each man, dead bird handicap added: "Nap" 17, Jefferson (1 added) 22, Jung (1 added) 23, More (3 added) 20, George (3 added) 18, Mscmurdo (4 added) 17, Kepilnger (5 added) 18 Cousin (8 added) 21.

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding.

	Birds added
"Nap"	0..	1111101111 1011101111 10001—19
Edgar Nott	2..	0111011101 1111111111 11011—23
Faure	5..	1111111111 1011111111 10111—25
Ph. Nott	4..	1000111111 1111110110 10101—21
J. De Blanc	3..	1001111111 1111111111 11100—21
L. Jung	1..	1010111111 1111110111 11011—22
W. F. Miller	3..	1011111110 1101111011 01100—21
Saucier	4..	1100111111 0100301100 11010—18
Macmurdo	4..	1111101011 0001111010 11010—20

PERCY S. BENEDICT, Secy.

SAGINAW, MICH.—The scores which I inclose herewith were made by members of the West Side Gun Club at their first shoot this season.

SHOOT No. 1.—Practice, 25 single targets each man: A. H. Delonjay 21, J. M. Brechtelsbauer 23, Ed Lawrence 19, Geo. Wirth 19, J. Herman 14, H. G. Zschoerner 17, H. G. Krogman 16, A. Brechtelsbauer 11, J. Baum 11, M. Baum 14, J. Willhite 18, F. Hunt 1[illegible]

SHOOT No. 2.—25 single targets for club medals, [illegible] in three classes, A, B and C.

CLASS A

Delonjay	1111111111 1111111111 1111111—21
Brechtelsbauer	1101101111 1111111111 1111111—23
Lawrence	1111111111 0101101111 0111111—21

Wirth.....1111110111 1111000111 00110—18
Kindler.....1100101110 1101001111 10111—17
[illegible].....0011111001 0101011110 11101—16
[illegible].....1101010100 1001111101 10110—15

CLASS B

[illegible].....1111111111 1011011111 11111—23
[illegible].....1111111001 0010110111 11001—17
[illegible].....0101011111 0110101110 11001—16
[illegible].....1001111100 1100011100 11011—15

CLASS C

[illegible].....0101111101 1101111110 11111—20
Willhite.....0111111111 1110011100 11011—19
Herrig.....1100101010 1111000111 01110—15
Remer.....0010000000 0110111111 11111—14
Andre.....0000001011 0100111011 00001—10
Humpfrey.....

J. M. BRECHTELSBAUER, Secy.

MICHIGAN CITY, MISS.—The Michigan City Gun Club christened its new shooting grounds, which are only two minutes' walk from the railroad depot, on the afternoon of May 9, by holding its weekly club shoot thereou. The location of the new grounds makes them convenient for members of the club who reside at Jackson, Tenn., Lamar, Miss., and other adjoining towns. The shooting on this occasion was not extraordinarily good as the background is not of the best and the day was dark. The club is composed of energetic business men, gentlemen, every one, and will be kept so, as one black ball on an application rejects. The attendance on this occasion was small, only Mr. W. F. McCauley of Jackson, Tenn., Mr. M. L. Brewer of Lamar, Miss., and a few local men putting in an appearance, but the afternoon was very pleasantly spent. Expert Blue Rock traps were used and the shooting was at unknown angles. The scores:

SHOOT No. 1.—Club contest, 25 single targets per man.

W. F. McCauley.....0111111010 1100100100 01100—13
M. L. Brewer.....1111111001 0011111111 11111—22
Chas. W. Tway.....1010000110 0001001110 11010—11
J. M. Aldrich.....0001000000 0001010111 01110— 9
R. A. Robinson.....1111111011 1010011011 01010—17
Haudaway.....

SHOOT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Tway 19, McCauley 11, Brewer 11, Aldrich 7.

SHOOT No. 3.—Team coutest, 10 single targets per man.

Team No. 1.—Tway 10, Aldrich 3, Brewer 6. Total 19.
Team No. 2.—Handaway 6, McCauley 4, Robinson 4. Total 14.

CHAS. W. TWAY, Secy.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.—Inclosed please find scores made by some of the members of the San Antonio Gun Club. The attendance was somewhat small, owing, I suppose, to the greater number going out to picnics and plover shooting, which seem to be all the craze just now.

SHOOT No. 1.—15 single Blue Rocks: Piety 12, Chabot 11, Smith 13, Barr 7, Veith 5, Shields 9.

SHOOT No. 2.—Medal contest, 30 single targets per man.

Piety.....0111111110 0111011011 1110111101—23
Chabot.....1010110001 1011111100 1011111100—19
France.....1101101111 1101111111 1000111001—22
Barr.....0011111011 1101101001 0111100100—18
Veith.....1010111101 1110101000 0011111011—19
Smith.....1111011111 1010101111 1111011111—25
Eppsteln.....1110110001 1110000101 0001011001—15
Learn.....1111101100 1101111110 1110111101—23
Prescott.....1001101000 1111101110 0011111100—18
Epp.....1111111111 1001111110 1111111111—27
Caun.....0011000110 1101110101 0111001110—17
Seug.....0111110010 0011001000 1011111000—15
Grossman.....1001000010 1101011111 1101101111—19
Vollbrecht.....0010110110 1110011111 1010111011—20
Shields.....0111100111 1001001011 1010111000—18
Carpenter.....0010011000 0000100000 0010110000— 7

SHOOT No. 3.—15 singles: Piety 11, Chahot 10, France 13, Learn 12, Shields 7, Grossman 8, Vollbrecht 12, Cann 8, Biesenbach 11.

G. A. CHABOT.

HELENA, MONT.—The scores appended below were made by members of the Helena Gun Club in a recent contest for the club's medals, each man shooting at 25 single Empire targets, American Shooting Association rules.

Fisk.....1011110011 1111011111 11110—20
Bryan.....1100110111 0111110101 00111—17
Barbour.....1111111011 1111110011 10100—19
H. P. Kennett.....1110111011 1101100011 11111—19
Hague.....1001001101 0111111011 10111—17
Yeager.....0000000001 1001001100 10110— 8
Walker.....1111110110 1110111110 11101—20
Pruitt.....1111111111 1111110111 10111—23
Chisholm.....1010010000 1010111101 11001—13
S. H. Kennett.....1010111101 1111111011 10111—20
Cullen.....1100100010 1011001011 00001—11
Farmer.....1111010110 0111010110 00001—14
Hewes.....1111110110 1111101111 11110—21
Bickett.....1110101111 0111100011 11001—17
O'Conner.....1111110110 0110001001 10011—15
Belmaine.....1111010010 1111000101 01111—16
Cronin.....1111100011 1111111111 01101—20
Pleasauts.....1011111111 1101111111 11111—23

Pleasants won Class A medal; Pruitt won Class B medal.

J. H. ZANNER, Secy.

DUNKIRK, N. Y.—The Lake Erie Rod and Gun Club, recently organized, conducted its second weekly field day shoot on the Driving Park grounds of this city on May 18, under the most favorable circumstances. The weather was excellent, the turnout large, including a number of crack shots from neighboring counties, and the facilities for shooting designed and modeled after the most modern methods of trap shooting, under the supervision of Mr. Seth Clover gave us all that could be desired for a day's outing. The favorable location of the grounds, giving us a clear sky background for flying targets, was finally chosen as the permanent site for our regular meets. A permanent selection is quite desirable, on account of the required expense for a first-class arrangement. Ours includes a 60-foot stayed and braced trench, a 60-foot rotating barricade, five Clover traps, weather sheds, etc. Although enjoying all the advantages of field shooting the prime object of the club is the preservation of fish and game in Western New York. With that distinguished sporting enthusiast and crack shot, Mr. Seth Clover, for field captain, we enjoy a management in the field that cannot be improved upon. Fully 2,000 targets were used during the afternoon. Following are some of the scores:

SHOOT No. 1.—Possible 100: Ware 92, Clover 88.

SHOOT No. 2.—Possible 50: Pond 30, Dodd 24, Shelly 24, Mack 18, Breslin 17.

SHOOT No. 3.—Possible 25: Green 22, Cochrau 15, Johnson 12

D. W. B.

HELENA, MONT.—At the recent club shoot of the Helena Rod and Gun Club for club medals—the members being classified—the following scores were made out of a possible 25.

P. Kennett.....1101111111 1111111111 11111—24
Beckett.....1101101000 1111011111 11000—16
Hoag.....0011101111 0010111101 11111—18
Pruitt.....1110111111 1100011101 11100—18
S. Kennett.....0001111100 1011110011 11011—16
Walker.....1101111111 1111111101 11111—23
Fisk.....1101111111 1111000111 11111—21
Beyan.....0010101101 1101001010 00101—12
Barbour.....1111101110 1111111110 10110—20
Perkins.....1111011111 1101111101 10111—21
Allen.....1101101001 1011101111 10110—17
Hewes.....1010111111 0111001101 11011—18
O'Connor.....1111111111 1010111111 10001—20
Pleasants.....1111101111 1111111110 11101—22
Cronin.....1011011111 1111111101 00111—20
Yeager.....0011010010 1010100010 00011—10
Farmer.....1011111101 1111000111 10110—18

H. P. Kennett won Class A medal; L. A. Walker won Class B medal.

J. H. FARMER, Secy.

UTICA, N. Y.—The fourth weekly target shoot of the Oneida County Sportsmen's Association was held on the West Shore grounds Friday, May 17. The scores made were as follows, each man shooting at 25 single targets and the weaker shooters being given a "dead bird" handicap:

	Birds added
O. A. Wheeler	3..	1110111101	1110110011 11001—21
Pfeiffer	3..	1110111111	1110001110 10111—22
J. Fullford	0..	1110111111	1101001111 11111—21
H. L. Gates	0..	1111111111	1111010111 11111—23
Dexter	3..	0111011111	1110101111 01101—22
Richardsou	0..	1111011111	1111111111 11011—22
Breamer	4.	0100110001	1111111000 11000—17

A. C. SIEBOTH.

BRAINARD, MINN.—The regular shoot of the Brainerd Gun Club was held at the shooting park on May 15. The day was cloudy and the cold raw wind that blew across the traps chilled the shooters. Some of the members of the club point to the atmospheric conditions as a sufficient excuse for low scores: but such weather appeared to invigorate some of the boys. The following scores were made out of a possible 15:

Kirkwood.....111010101101101—10 | Mantor.....001011100001111— 8
White.....111110110101101—11 | Keene.....000101110101001— 7
Casey.....110000110000010— 5 | Smith.....111011101111111—13
Westfall.....010111101111001—10 | Courtney.....111111011111011—13
Veon.....001010100010001— 5 |

SECRETARY.

DE KALB, ILL.—The ninth semi-monthly shoot of the De Kalb Gun Club was held on May 16, with following results:

Adams.....1111111111 1111111110 11111—24
Knodle.....0110011110 1111101111 11111—20
Holderness.....0001011110 1111110111 11101—18
Yerdt.....1011111100 1111111111 10111—21
Lattimer.....1100100101 0010111011 11111—16
Gledden.....1101010001 1111111101 10011—18

B. HOLDERNESS, Secy.

SCHOOLCRAFT, MICH.—Members of the Schoolcraft Gun Club at a recent practice shoot made the following scores out of a possible 20 each: W. C. Kohl 17, C. M. Reed 16, H. W. Pursel 15, P. C. Pursel 14, Geo. W. Smith 11, W. E. Furgeson 11, N. Burson 11, Germ. Phillips 11, E. L. Crull 11.

P. C. PURSEL, Secy.

Answers to Correspondents

We are willing always to answer any question that we can answer, and prescribe for dogs or other animals in these columns, but we can not answer questions or prescribe by mail. In all instances where it is necessary that a sick animal should be prescribed for by mail, we refer the owner to Professor R. J. Withers, No. 627 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Cal., to whom one dollar must be inclosed to pay for his services.

KENNEL

F. E. G., Center Point, Ia.—Ans.—Give suitable doses of castor-oil for five consecutive mornings. Apply the following mixture to the skin, for three consecutive days, giving a bath on the fourth day: Oil of tar four ounces, sulphurous acid two ounces, cotton-seed oil to make one pint; repeat the external treatment if necessary.

W. A. H., Wichita, Kan.—Ans.—This is a dietetic disease; you are undoubtedly overfeeding; for five consecutive mornings give suitable doses of castor-oil. Apply the following to the skin: Oil of tar four ounces, cottonseed oil to make one pint; use for three consecutive days, and give a bath on the fourth day.

F. J. H., Trenton, N. J.—Ans.—Nat Goodwin (12563) divided third honors with his kennel companion Jean Val Jean in the Eastern All-Age Setter Stakes at High Point, N. C., in November, 1887; we cannot find that he ever won at a dog show.

E. C. N., Elizabeth, N. J.—Ans.—Worms. Give thirty drops of the fluid extract of pinkroot and senna every morning, for six consecutive days, following this with three grains of the citrate of iron and quinine three times daily.

CRANK, Boston.—Ans.—Take three grains of hydrastiue, four grains of sulphate of zinc and two ounces of rosewater; mix and drop into the eyes twice daily.

F. W. G., Guelph, Ont.—Ans.—Follow advice given in this issue to E. C. N., Elizabeth, N. J.

Club Elections

CLUB ELECTIONS.—Secretaries and other officers of clubs not having previously done so will confer a favor by sending us the names of all such organizations, with a list of the officers elected for the current year.

AT the recent organization of the La Crosse (Wis.) Gun and Fishing Club, the following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, S. D. Fitzgerald; vice-president, C. W. Kyle; secretary-treasurer, F. H. Davis; executive committee, H. L. Brown E. L. Bush and H. E. Winterburn.

AT the annual meeting of the Schoolcraft (Mich.) Gun Club the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, E. W. Pursel; vice-president, R. Bell; secretary and treasurer, P. C. Pursel; captain, W. E. Furgeson; directors, John Pahst and Germ. Phillips.

THE Binghamton (N. Y.) Gun Club has elected the following gentlemen officers of the club for the ensuing year: President, George W. Kendall; vice-president, Edwin L. Rose; secretary-treasurer, H. S. Vance; executive committee, N. W. Waldron, E. R. Carr and C. S. Hobby.

AT the recent organization of the Lake Kenka Gun and Rod Club, at Penn Yan, N. Y., the following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Hauford Struble; vice-president, Fred U. Swarts; secretary, W. Stauley Bruen; treasurer, Charles N. McAdams.

THE officers of the Warren (O.) Gun Club for the year 1895 are as follows: President, G. D. Kirkham; vice-president, Z. F. Craver; treasurer, G. H. Jones; secretary, H. B. Perkins Jr.; captain, R. H. Ewalt; directors, W. A. Neraeher, T. G. Dunham and W. H. Abell.

THE Halloweil (Me.) Gun Club has been organized with the following officers: President, W. G. Meloon; secretary, J. M. Robinson; treasurer, C. E. Dinsmore; executive committee, W. G. Meloon, L. D. Merchant, J. H. Crockett, E. R. Anderson and W. H. Kilgore.

AT the annual meeting of the Monroe City (Mo.) Gun Club on May 6, the following were elected officers of the club for the ensuing year: President, J. W. Hollandsworth; vice-president, H. W. Wood; treasurer, Fred Wood; secretary, L. C. Saunders.

AT the annual meeting of the Lincoln Gun Club of Peoria, Ill., the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. G. Schoenheider; vice-president, Fred W. Mills; secretary, E. W. Canterbury; treasurer, Chas. Schoenheider.

THE officers for the ensuing year of the Farmingdale and Melville Gun Club of Amityville, Long Island, are: President, E. W. De C. Ree; vice-presidents, Nathan Ketcham and E. W. Smith; secretary, J. H. Doud; treasurer, Edward Baylis.

AT the annual meeting of the Winona (Minn.) Sportsman's Club the following gentlemen were elected officers for the current year: President, John Beutner; vice-president, Ira Baldwin; secretary, C. W. Cool; treasurer, J. P. Schmitz.

THE following gentlemen have been elected officers of the Flour City Gun Club of Minneapolis, Minn., for the ensuing year: President, Fred E. McKay; vice-president, Lambert Heys Jr.; secretary-treasurer, Joe Geuevey.

THE officers of the recently organizated Indian River Gun Club of Warren, O., for the ensuing year are as follows: President, J. J. Jones; vice-president, F. S. Chryst; treasurer, Geo. H. Jones; secretary, Chas. M. Wilkins.

Amusements

COLUMBIA THEATER.—The grand production of "Gismonda," by Miss Fanny Davenport, has proved one of the most successful events of the season, and the manifest approbation of the public has induced the announcement that the engagement will be extended to three weeks, instead of two, which will be good news to those who have been unable to secure seats for the current week. Matinee Saturday only.

HAYMARKET THEATER.—Miss Anna Parker, in the queen of comedies, "Jane," supported by a company of exceptionally fine comedians; performance preceded by the charming farce, "The Lost Sheep." Next and last week of the season, Mr. Peter F. Dailey and his great company in "A Country Sport."

MCVICKER'S THEATER.—Second week of W. A. Brady's great production, "The Cotton King;" a play of the times, set off by realistic scenery especially devised and painted for this great production. Every night and usual matinees.

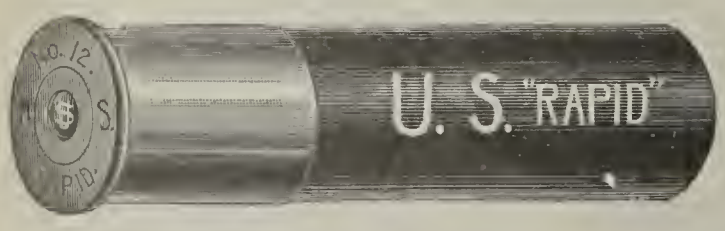
MADISON STREET OPERA HOUSE.—Lew Hawkins, Gus Bruno, and a host of bright comedians; Grace Cleveland, Ella Carlington, and fifty lovely girls; all appearing in a gorgeous program. Two shows daily.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—Graud revival of "Aladdin Jr.," resplendent with magnificence; another new sensation, "The Trilby Quadrille," and a number of specialties. Every night and usual matinees.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Sixth week of the greatest mirth invoking production of the year, Hoyt's "A Black Sheep," with Otis Harlan as "Hot Stuff." This week a new sensation in the "Trilby Dance."

SCHILLER THEATER.—Closed until June 8 to prepare for the production of the grand Summer spectacle, "Little Robinson Crusoe."

U. S. RAPID



SHOT SHELL

FOR NITRO POWDERS.

Penetration increased with pattern 15 per cent improved. Results same with every shell. None so regular ever produced before. Head of shell and battery cup one piece of metal. No gas escape, no balling of shot, no upsetting of charge.

AGENTS:
[illegible] New York City.
[illegible] Francisco, Cal.

U. S. CARTRIDGE CO., Lowell, Mass.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Advertisers are respectfully requested to observe the following rules governing the insertion of advertisements in these columns:

CLASSIFICATION.—Strictly kennel advertisements—those which relate exclusively to dogs and to nothing else—cannot be placed under headings of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange," but are subject to classification only under their proper kennel headings. When two or more breeds of dogs are mentioned in one advertisement, it destroys the possibility of giving it a distinctive heading and it is therefore classified under "Miscellaneous." For this reason it is well to advertise each breed separately.

If stud notices are included in advertisements of dogs for sale the classification given will be "Miscellaneous." Stud notices should be separate and distinct from other advertisements so as not to conflict with proper classification.

The departments of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" are reserved for advertisements relating in some way to sportsmen's goods or other articles of merchandise.

RATES.—The rate for advertisements under "Wanted," "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" is 3 cents per word each insertion. The name, address, initials and abbreviations are included and count as words.

The rate for advertisements under kennel headings is 25 cents per line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each additional consecutive insertion. Estimate seven words to a line unless the words are unusually long. If display type is used the rate is $3.50 per inch for the first insertion and $2.50 per inch for each additional consecutive insertion. Special rates are given for displayed advertisements running three months or longer. Schedule will be mailed on application.

Remittances to cover full cost should invariably accompany advertisements. If too much is remitted we will refund you what is overpaid.

Advertisers will favor us greatly by writing their advertisements plainly, using separate sheets of paper. Copy should reach us by Tuesday of each week to insure insertion in that week's issue.

WANTED

Advertisements under this head inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement. See "Notice to Advertisers."

WANTED—A b., w. and t. setter bitch not under six months and not over twelve months old, in exchange for well-bred pointers three months old; will give double value to party who has what I want. BOX 162, Geneva, Ill. 21

WANTED—An English setter dog not over three years old, a first prize field trial winner, royally bred and a good looking individual. W. H. McQUOID, Middletown, N. Y. 22*

WANTED—A pair of greyhounds, dog and bitch, not under ten months old; pedigreed. FRED ERB JR., Lafayette, Ind. 21

WANTED—A hammerless gun, with or without ejector; give full particulars. Address W. F. K., 616 Chestnut St., St. Louis, Mo. 21*

WANTED—Live pigeons; must be old birds; squabs not wanted. Address JOHN WATSON, Grand Crossing, Ill. 23-21-tf

WANTED — Thoroughbred English bulldog puppy; give pedigree. L. B. FRENCH, 128 La Salle St., Chicago. 21*

WANTED—Sportsmen who want an outing to send for pamphlet of Nimrod Hall, Va. Apply MANAGER. 3*

FOR CASH, coach dog puppy 8 months old; must be cheap. G. G. BRAGG, Huntsville, Mo. 22*

WANTED—20-gauge hammer or hammerless. C., 205 Front St., New York. 21*

LIVE foxes wanted. Address H. F. WARNEKE, Aiken, S. C. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a pointer brood bitch, liver and white and ticked, cream of breeding and good enough to win; now in whelp to Ch. Pommery Sec; will sell or exchange for a 12-gauge hammerless or a high-class setter dog, black, white and tan, from 12 to 15 months old. WM. H. HYLAND, North Tarrytown, N. Y. 22

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a thoroughly trained Irish setter dog, nearly 4 years old, trained on ruffed grouse, quail and woodcock; a fine retriever, good nose, steady and fast; $65 cash, or a first-class bicycle or camera as part payment. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia, Pa. 22

FOR SALE—Fine Francotte trap gun, 12-gauge, 7-30-1¼-2⅞-14½, full choked, in perfect condition, almost new: cost $100, sell for $75 cash; also will trade fine road mare, well broken, kind and gentle, for high-grade hammerless gun. DR. T. S. MAXWELL, Columbus, Wis. 22

EXCHANGE—Two elegant year-old English setter dog puppies by Mack's Monarch—Dashing Mamie, for pointer bitch puppy, Irish setter bitch puppy of best possible breeding, or hammer gun. GREAT NORTHERN KENNELS, Box 590, Minneapolis, Minn. 21

FOR SALE — Or exchange; want shotguns, trained setters, pointers, fox, rabbit and coon dogs, fancy pigeons; some fine beagle and foxhound puppies cheap; inclose stamp, naming wants. FIELES & BRO., Christiana, Pa. 21

I WILL sell cheap, or exchange for hammerless 12 or 16 gun or bicycle, some finely bred and good looking young bitches; they are strong in Gladstone and Count Noble blood; inclose stamp. J. W. SHRIVER, Wartrace, Tenn. 22

FOR SALE—English pointer Spotwood (No. 35280), 16 months old, or will trade for a good bicycle. Send for full pedigree and description to W. W. COLES, Kokomo, Ind. 43-21-tf

FINE .45 90 pistol grip Winchester; young water spaniel dog, guaranteed a good duck dog; wanted, small caliber rifle or shotgun. E. B. JOHNSON, Corsicana, Texas. 21*

EXCHANGE—Encyclopedia Britannica, 25 volumes, cloth binding, new: want light 12-gauge hammerless or offers. LOCK BOX 657, Jerseyville, Ill. 21*

EXCHANGE—Two lots in Illinois town for high-grade ejector, 12 gauge. For particulars address DR. F. DANNETTELLE, Indianapolis, Ind. 21

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Or exchange, modern marine engines and boilers, both new and second-hand. Address THATCHER A. PARKER, Terre Haute, Ind. 43-13-tf

I WILL EXCHANGE a high-class Count Roderigo dog puppy for a pair of Smith & Wesson .32-caliber pistols. OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 21*

FOR SALE—Or exchange for 12-gauge hammerless, a 16-gauge Kirkwood hammerless, self ejector. E. TOMLINSON, Mt. Carroll, Ill. 21

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Francotte hammer pigeon gun, 12-ga., 30-inch Siemans-Martin steel barrels, weight 7 lbs. 14 oz., drop at butt 2½ inches, at comb 1⅛ inches, stock 14¾ inches; cost $275, price $150. L. C. Smith hammerless ejector, two sets Damascus barrels, 12 gauge, 30 and 28 inch barrels, weight 7⅛ and 7¼ lbs., 2⅞ at butt, 1⅞ at comb, stock 14⅛, field barrels cylinder; cost $200, price $100, in double leather muttonleg case. E. C. Green hammerless. 10-gauge, 32-inch Damascus barrels, weight 9⅛ lbs., 3 inches at butt, comb 1⅞ inches, stock 14 inches; cost $175 to order, price $60. These are high grade guns, in first-class order and practically good as new; there is more value for the money than can be had anywhere. J. O'H. DENNY, Ligonier, Pa. 24

LINNDALE STOCK FARM AND GAME PRESERVE—Eggs for hatching from pure Mongolian pheasants, fresh and fertile; golden and silver pheasants, the most beautiful birds living for yards and lawns, $5 per setting; only a limited number to spare; pure brown Leghorns and Plymouth Rock eggs $2 per setting; the only fowls worth keeping; Jersey cattle of the finest strains; fresh cows of superior milk and butter strains always on hand at moderate prices; we keep the Pekin bantams in large numbers; the only artificial mother for pheasant eggs, $1.50. W. L. GARDINER, Norwalk, Ohio. 22

BEAGLES—Have now ready for mailing cabinet size photographs of Ch Frank Forest, Ch. Roy K, Lee III, Directum, Base, Buckshot, Ch. Lonely, Ch. Lou, Norah K and Trillah at $1 per set; extra large photo "Dinner Hour at Rockland Beagle Kennels," $1 extra; price is cost; beagles for sale. H. L. KREUDER, Nanuet, N. Y. 23

NOTHING like Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure; keeps your dog's coat in prime condition; not greasy or poisonous; ask your dealer; kills fleas, etc.; 50c. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia. Pedigree blanks for the asking. 43-12-tf

COLT'S 10-gauge hammer gun, $75 list, $25; Remington 12-gauge, $55 list, $20; both like new; trained pointer brood bitch, three fine pointer puppies. R. H. KERR, York, Neb. 21*

FINE hammerless 20-gauge, 6-30-3, treble bolt, Anson & Deely action, made by Richard Ellis & Son; cost $125 in London; sell or trade for 12-ga. BOX 324, Cromwell, Conn. 21*

FOR SALE—New Smith ejector, never used, 12-30 14¼-2¾-1½; cost $125, first check for $100 gets it and fine leather case. EJECTOR, Box 91, Milwaukee, Wis. 21*

MONGOLIAN PHEASANT EGGS for sale, $2.50 per 13, carefully packed, with instructions. MISS SUSIE CROSBY, Washington, Pa. 23

A SMALL gasoline launch, in good condition, engine works good. Address T. J. G., AMERICAN FIELD office. 21*

HIGH-CLASS pedigree blanks, 7 generations, bond paper. CHAUTAUQUA KENNELS, Box 914, Chicago. 42-19-tf

FOR SALE—Deer, jack-rabbits, prairie dogs, peafowls, squirrels, etc. CHAS. PAYNE, Wichita, Kan. 21*

PEDIGREE BLANKS—15 for 10 cents. REPORTER, Wellsville, N. Y. 41-26-eow-tf

PEDIGREE BLANKS — J. S. C. THOMPSON, Manhattan, Kan. 40-17-tf

WHERE TO GO

Warren White Sulphur Springs,

C. W. CULLEN & SON, Owners and Prop'rs,

Cullen Post Office, Virginia.

On top of the mountains; elevation 2,100 feet. Variety of waters. Only one mile from the Southern Railroad, and convenient to others. Good shooting and trout and bass fishing.

Moderate terms. Season opens May 15. 6

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

FOR SALE.

English setter dog puppy, year old, by Ch. Cincinnatus—Belle Mur (21166); Belle Mur is full sister to the noted Fanny M, Vanguard and other good ones; this is gilt-edged breeding, field trial blood; $20, cheap. A. L. FOOKES, Columbus, O. 21*

AT $10 each, one dog and bitch puppy, whelped December 19, 1894, chest w. and t., blood of Roderigo, Paul Gladstone and Dashing Berwyn, large, healthy and intelligent; have been shot over afield, show good range and retrieve well for six-months-old puppies; if not satisfactory upon receipt they can be returned, less express charges; a few black, white and tan puppies, whelped March 28, by Rigo's Rod (36908)—Lula W; $5 each if taken at once. KEY CITY KENNELS, Dubuque, Ia. 43-21-tf

CHOICE, perfectly healthy puppies by Papillion (Ch. Antonio—Lilly Burges), out of Vic, an elegant, well-bred field bitch, $10 each; these are bargains A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia, Pa. 22

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

MAKE cash offer for my grand English setter bitch, Field's Cossette (25248), by Ch. Jean Val Jean—Sheena Van; thoroughly broken by W. W. Titus; a fast, stylish worker, a good looker, excellent disposition and a great brood bitch, litter sister to Atlanta, the field trial winner; she cost me $150. CHAS. T. FIELD, Harbor, O. 43-16-tf

FOR SALE—Three English setter puppies, b., w. and t., yard broken, sire by Roderigo—Lee Gladstone, dam by Boss Gladstone—Vell; three whelped April 7, 1895, sire by Tramp—Buechner's Nell, dam by Gladstone's Boy—Kate Gladstone. Send for photos and pedigrees; satisfaction guaranteed. E. R. COLE, Battle Creek, Mich. 22*

READ THIS—I lost my kennel yards during the fire; as I am crowded with dogs will sell without reserve puppies by Gleam's Sport and Gleam's Pink out of Roderigo, Gladstone's Boy, Toledo Blade and Count Gladstone bitches at half price; also three high-class broken bitches. A. M. YOUNG, Manchester, Tenn. 21

I HAVE for sale a litter of seven grand setter puppies, orange and white, 8 weeks old, by Lear, Count Roderigo, Victorine Wise and out of Nellie, a thoroughly trained field bitch and a well-bred one; by consent, I refer to Old Dominion, White Post, Va. W. P. WHITE, Box 96, Greenwich, Conn. 21*

I HAVE for sale setter puppies by Count Roderigo out of Ben Hill, Paul Gladstone, Antonio and Roderigo bitches, ranging from 8 to 12 weeks of age; price $20 for dogs, $15 for bitches, subject to the usual conditions upon which I sell. OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 42-25-tf

FOR SALE—Puppies and young dogs by Gladstone's Boy out of my best brood bitches. Also several high-bred brood bitches and broken dogs. Write for what you want. No trouble to answer letters and furnish information. J. SHELLEY HUDSON, Covington, Ky. 42-17-tf

FOR SALE—English setters, Gladstone's Boy—Speckle Gown (mother of Tremont), 75 per cent. Gladstone Sue and 25 per cent. Count Noble; best bred puppies in the world at panic prices. J. D. POSTON & CO., 853 Champion Ave., Columbus, Ohio. 24

FOR SALE—English setter puppies whelped March 27, 1895; also a high-bred brood bitch and broken dogs. For pedigrees, etc., address LOT L BAIRD, Parsons, Kan. 23*

FOR SALE—Puppies whelped March 14, by Dashing Count—Rod's Fanette, she Roderigo—Fanette, she by Sportsman; price $15 each. WM. NEW, Phillipsburg, Mont. 44-3

FOR SALE—B., w. and t English setter puppies, whelped March 2, by King Rea (35705)—Bessie Ray (19361). Address ADEMAR RUFLE, No. Manchester, Ind. 23

FOR SALE—Cheap, seven English setter puppies, white and liver spotted, bred by Belle and Ben Gladstone. Inquire of C. C. STEIN, Westphalia, Ind. 21*

FOR SALE — Two English setter puppies, whelped September 13, 1894, sire Ch Breeze Gladstone—Fanny Noble. W. G. SMITH, Marydell, Md. 21

THOROUGHBRED English setter puppies, sire Clive B (36438), dam Thistle's Florence (36831); dogs $8; bitches $7. E. L. IVES, Manning, Ia. 24*

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of English setters. New Castle, Pa. 43 18-tf

POINTERS

CH. TRIBULATION—Cora C—Two pairs pointer puppies of this breeding, strong and handsome; also Cora C, a beautiful young bitch of choice breeding and a field dog that it is a pleasure to shoot over. For extended pedigrees, terms and references, address F. F. COPERS, Greenville, S. C. 22*

FOR SALE—I still have a brace of Strideaway—Hops II pointer puppies, born January 4; great Derbys for next year; Hops was a sister to Rip Rap; I sold the other litter at $100 each; will sell these at $50 each as I have no room for them. P. T. MADISON, Indianapolis, Ind. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, the l. and w. pointer stud dog Col. Kent (31054), three years old, by Ch. King of Kent—Bang's Mollie, a winner on the bench, sires grand puppies. S. A. NOFTZGER, North Manchester, Ind. 43 21-tf

AT $10 each, two as finely bred pointers as live, 9 months old, liver and white, just right to break, by Beppo III (7832)—Belle of Ossian (31895); field and bench winners on both sides. C. A. PAETZEL, Hope, Ind. 43-18-tf

POINTER BITCH, 3½ years old, thoroughly broken, good retriever, good breeding; price $20; no place to keep her. CHAS. THIXTON, Owensboro, Ky. 21*

RIP RAP, Duke of Hessen, Lad of Rush blood, 2½-months-old puppies; bargain to those who will run them. R. S. HYNSON, Manassas, Va 21*

FOR SALE—Cheap, English mastiff, pointer, setter, water spaniel and coon hound puppies. W. H. CRONER, Piqua, O. 43-19-tf

CH. ANTONIO—Monk's Twilight puppies, b., w. and t., whelped March 11; only $15, worth $50. J. A. STAGG, Harris, Ind. 21*

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of pointers. New Castle, Pa. 43-18 tf

ST. BERNARDS

FOR SALE—Some grand big puppies by Ch. Melrose, the famous sire, and out of splendid dams; also the famous prize winning bitches Alta Berna, Columbia Venus, by Ch. Keeper, Lady Alton II, by Saladin; all winners, and several young ones equal to the best living; some bred to that winning sire Melrose; a grand young stud dog for sale. A. C. SHALLENBERGER, Alma, Neb. 22

FOR SALE—Bitches in whelp to our famous Lawrence Garza; also young stud dog. ILLINOIS ST. BERNARD KENNELS, Streator, Ill. 21*

FOR SALE—Two St. Bernard bitches, Plinlimmon stock. F. C. SCHLEICHER, 2 Gilmore Lane, Baltimore, Md. 22*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this [...] cents a line for the first insertion, [...] each subsequent insertion. If di[...] inch for first, and $2.50 for eac[...] tion.

TERRIERS

FOX TERRIERS—Import[...] stud dog Holster (A. K. C. S. [...] brood bitches, bitches in whelp and puppies combining the blood of Ch. Dominie, Splendlary, Ch. New Forest, etc., cheap to clear. BANBURY KENNELS, 410 E St. N. E., Washington, D. C. 43-18-tf

FOR SALE—Litter wirehaired foxterrier puppies by Cribbage—Hill Hurst Pansy (Brittle—Petition), whelped December 26; dogs $35, bitches $25; all registered A. K. C. and well marked DR. JAMES FERRIS BELT, Wilmington, Del. 43-18-tf

FOX TERRIER brood bitches and puppies for sale, the property of Messrs. L. & W. Rutherfurd. For stud cards, etc., address DONALD MUNRO, Manager, Allamuchy, Warren Co., N. J. 39 7-tf

FOR SALE—Fox terrier, grandson of Ch. New Forest, registered, commended last Chicago show; price $25. WM. EDWARDS, 762 Washington Blvd., Chicago. 21*

WIRE-HAIRED fox terriers and black and tan terriers, best breeding: mature stock and puppies. ROCHELLE KENNELS, New Rochelle, N.Y. 43-18-tf

BULL TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. F. L. DEVER, 316 Illinois Ave., Peoria, Ill. 43 17 tf

FOR SALE—Skye terriers, $10, for Christmas; Yorkshires in February. SEEBACH, Peru, Ill. 43-19-eow-tf

FOX TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. AUDUBON KENNEL, Lockport, Ill. 22*

SPANIELS

IRISH WATER SPANIEL PUPPIES, sire and dam imported, grand dark curly coats; also litter by Marguerite, winner twelve first prizes; pronounced by press and judges best in America. T. A. CARSON, Kingston, Can. 21*

COCKERS—A grand lot of young puppies and young stud dogs; also several young brood bitches, prize winners, in whelp to Ch. Black Duke and other noted sires. GEORGE DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ontario. 24

FOR SALE—Three dogs and two bitches, clear black cocker spaniels, 5 months old, sired by Pluto Jr (27262), dam Mander's Daisy (31069). For prices and pedigrees address J. L. SEBOLT, Box 464, Lorain, O. 21*

FOR SALE—One brown cocker spaniel, large size, hunted some on partridge and has retrieved over one thousand snipe and plover this Spring. FRED ERB JR., Box 74, Lafayette, Ind. 21

COCKER SPANIELS—Special sale of young stock and brood bitches; prices low. HANDSOME BROOK KENNEL, Franklin, N. Y. 42-12-tf

CHAMPION strain cockers, stud dogs, puppies, bitches, almost given away; stamp. REHAM KENNELS, Omaha, Neb. 43-19-tf

COCKERS, champion stock, year old, jet black, $30. M. B. MELLOR, Plainfield, N. J. 24*

BEAGLES

WHEN plugs are as good as trotters and muskrat fur as good as seal; when calico is as good as silk and other papers equal the FIELD: when curs are as good as thoroughbreds, and this you will not allow, then other strains of beagles may be as good as the Glenrose strains are now. Several superb bitches of these strains in whelp to our celebrated studs; also young stock for sale cheap. GLENROSE BEAGLE KENNELS, Orland, Me. 43-19-tf

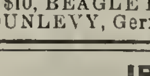
A HANDSOME litter sired by Geo. F. Reed's Jock (Flute M—Pride), dam Zoe Reed (Buckshot—Haida); all evenly marked b., w. and t., and are guaranteed to make first-class hunters. For prices and particulars address C. J. PROUTY, Scituate, Mass. 22*

FOR SALE—Beagles, good hunters, strong, healthy stock; puppies cheap if taken soon. OAKLAND BEAGLE KENNELS, Pontiac, Mich. 22*

BEAGLE BITCH by Ch. Frank Forest, broken, cheap. GLENRIDGE BEAGLE KENNELS, Slatersville, R. I. 21

$10, BEAGLE DOG, highly pedigreed. R. M. DUNLEVY, Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa. 21*

IRISH SETTERS



Young Stock of Finest Breeding in the World. Most Successful on Bench and in Field. Write for prices. G. W. Hamilton, Mgr., Centreville, Kan.

FOR SALE—Brace of choice Irish setters of best breeding in America (Dick Swiveler blood), registered, solid red, 2½ years old, broken to signal and whistle, retrieve over land or water, fast and stylish workers; dog will make money for anyone at stud, as he is an ideal specimen; dog $45, bitch $30, or bitch can be bred if desired for $5 extra; also brace six months old, fine healthy specimens, solid red, sired by above registered dog; price per brace, $20, or dog $15, bitch $10. Address care of BOX 156, Port Dover, Ont. 22*

IRISH SETTER PUPPIES for sale, by Ch. Kildare (champion Irish setter dog of America and sire of Queen Vic, champion Irish setter bitch of America), stud fee $25. Also English setter and Chesapeake Bay puppies of the finest strains. Send for catalogue containing photos of celebrated stud dogs and bitches. OAK GROVE KENNELS, Moodus, Conn. tf

GREYHOUNDS

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a handsome Gordon setter bitch, 3½ years old, perfectly trained on ruffed grouse, quail and woodcock, steady, good nose and fast and lots of experience; $65; this is a bargain—or offers. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia, Pa. 22

A VERY choice litter of pupp[...] the Season—Chlg. Wild Rose [...] TERRA COTTA KENNELS, T[...]

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS. F. H. HOYT, Sharon [...]

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

POODLES

MEADOWMERE KENNELS

MILO (30101)
Champion of America.

Southampton, L. I., N. Y., breeders and importers of

French Poodles

(Black curly coated only); first prize winners New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, 1893-4.

A GRAND LOT OF DOGS FOR SALE

For catalogues price lists and stud cards apply to NEW YORK CITY AGENCY, 13 William St., Room 1006.

FOXHOUNDS

FULL-BLOOD and half-blood English and pure American foxhounds for sale at all times, all ages and sizes. STRODES VALLEY KENNEL CLUB. Address J. M. Hodgkin, Secy, or W. N. Ramsey, Winchester, Ky. 1

FOR SALE—My entire kennel of foxhounds, including six of the shaggy strain; also four black and tans, Pennsylvania strain. Address M. G. PLIMPTON, Box 502, Medfield, Mass. 24*

PURE Goodman foxhounds for sale at all times. BOURBON KENNELS, North Middletown, Ky. 40-20-tf

COLLIES

FOR SALE—The crack collies, Seldon Wallace and Chesterford Hero. For particulars address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

COLLIES AT $10—Puppies from Champ Christopher, Ch. Metchley Wonder strain, also older stock. J. L. LINCOLN, Union Club, Chicago. 43-tf

DACHSHUNDE

SIX rough-coated Dachshund puppies; four dogs and two bitches, out of prize winners at Detroit and Chicago 1895; also some very fine smooth-coated Dachsbund puppies and older dogs for sale, pedigreed and prize winners. ARTHUR FROEMBLING, 715 Farwell Ave., Rogers Park, Ill., or office, Putnam Clothing House, Chicago. 23

DEERHOUNDS

FOR SALE—Scotch deerhound, bitch, three years old, well bred, prize winner; price reasonable, and dog from first litter taken in part payment. F. E. B., care AMERICAN FIELD. 22*

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS—I have some choice ones to dispose of, very small, light built, all solid fawns, long heads, out of registered stock, themselves registered, ages 8 months to 2 years. JAMES HAWKINS, Rockville, Conn. 21*

GREAT DANES

THREE very fine one-year-old Danes—Chlg. Neverzell, by Earl of Wurtemberg. OSCEOLA KENNELS, Troutmere, Wis. 25

MISCELLANEOUS

St. Bernard Puppies

Three litters of blue bloods for sale, quality the finest in America.

DOGS IN THE STUD—Alton Jr, Altoneer, Melrose King, Jim Blaine.

MELROSE KENNELS,
E. H. Moore, MELROSE, MASS. 43-15-tf

We have a fine litter of

Collie Puppies

For sale by Ch. Christopher (21675), out of Dorcas (27756), she by Ch. Wellesbourne Charlie; also some fine

Irish Terriers

By our new stud dog, John Briggs (35584). CHRISTOPHER and WELLESBOURNE CHARLIE at stud. CHESTNUT HILL KENNELS, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED!

Any sportsman wanting first-class broken and unbroken setters or pointers can get what they want from me; new list now ready.

T. C. DAVEY, London, Ont.

DOGS FOR SALE.

If you want to buy a dog of any kind write for prices to

J. HOPE,
29 N. 9th St., Phila., Pa.
39-20-52t

OWING to the death of E. Bardoe Elliott the following well-known dogs are for sale, the property of his widow; no reasonable offer will be refused for any of them: Collie bitch Chesterford Lilly, served by Toronto Wonder; cocker spaniel Adam, Scottish terrier The Colored Preacher, fox terrier Black Rock, greyhound Lucy and two well-bred bull terrier bitches. Apply THE CHESTERFORD PARK KENNELS, Box 534, Maywood, Ill. 21

[illegible] puppies bred [illegible] stock; also [illegible], thoroughly [illegible] woodcock. R. W. 25*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

AT STUD—Four first-class Great Danes, viz.: Moreau (fawn), Victor and Harras (brindles), and Nero (black), fee $25 to $50. For sale, two stud dogs and three beautiful litters of brindled, black and fawn puppies, all whelped first week in April by Moreau (31162) and Harras (29298), out of Cora (27788), Cordelia (34241) and Dido (34242); price $30 to $40; expect two more litters in June. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 S. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 24

FOR SALE—Liver and white pointer dog; also black and white English setter dog, warranted to be thoroughly broken on quail, pheasant and woodcock, good retrievers and as fine a pair of dogs as any man wishes to own; only $25 each for these valuable dogs as I am making arrangements to go to Europe. AL PARKER, care Frank Mitchell & Co., 141 W. Fifth St., Cincinnati, O. 21*

FOR SALE—A setter bitch puppy by Diomed—Blue Ridge Belle, whelped September 5, 1894, color white, lemon ticked, dark eyes and nose, very strong, quick and promising; also dog and bitch pointer puppies by Strideaway—Beulah III, whelped March 18, 1895; very handsome puppies, liver and white, only four in litter. Address JOHN S. WISE, 44 Broad St., New York. 21

DOGS FOR SALE—St. Bernards, mastiffs, Newfoundlands, pointers, setters, spaniels, pugs, all kinds of terriers. I make a specialty of game pit and show bull terriers and Yorkshire terriers; dogs and puppies of the above on hand at prices to suit the times; satisfaction and safe delivery guaranteed. EXCHANGE KENNELS, office 2312 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 44-6

ELDRED KENNEL offer cheap to make room two Avent hounds, dog and bitch, one native foxhound, beagle brood bitches by Tony Weller and Frank Forest and beagle puppies by Roy K, two fine setter puppies, chestnut, white and tan dog and bitch by Gladstone's Boy, 2 mouths old; cheap account color. CHAS. H. PHELPS JR., 13 Dock St, Philadelphia. 21

FOR SALE—A beautiful dog and bitch, February 28, black and white, combining Lady Margaret, Duke of Hessen, King of Kent and Hops; two dogs January 6, and three dogs and one bitch January 19, by Rod H; Stanch George, Cid and St. Blaise in the stud, very low; all for sale, pointers and setters. J. R. PURCELL, Gainesville, Va. 43-16-tf

MOREY KENNELS have several litters of black curly-coated French poodles for sale; also grown stock, including brood bitches and stud dogs from imported stock and prize winners; CHAS. D. BERNHEIMER, 21 W. 4th St., New York City. 43-20-tf

BLUE BELTON SETTER brood bitch and a beagle dog, both finely bred, for sale cheap or exchange. CECIL HARRIS, Kalamazoo, Mich. 22

TRAINED dogs on bears, coons, rabbits. Also English bloodhounds, man trailers. GREENDALE KENNEL, Kensington, Ohio. 42-22-tf

COUPLE of hunting dogs for sale, thoroughly broken, fine retrievers. FRED ERB JR., Lafayette, Ind. 21

DOG TRAINING

K. 9 KENNELS—Pointers and setters, educated for practical field work; kennels located in a game country, and but 2½ hours from Philadelphia; twenty years' experience; best reference. W. G. SMITH, Marydel, Md. 43-26*

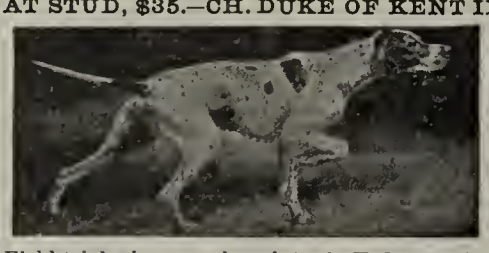
GEO. BATTISON—Professional bench show handler. Dogs boarded and put in condition for shows. Youngstown, Ohio. tf

BOARDING

DOGS BOARDED—Yard broken, best facilities for care, best care guaranteed; beagles preferred; good hunting, plenty of game. Address J. J. DEMAREST, Mont Vale, N. J. 22

STUD DOGS

AT STUD, $35.—CH. DUKE OF KENT II



Field trial winner; only pointer in U. S. winning title of champion in one year, 1893. First challenge, 1st field trial class; also special for best sporting dog in show, Louisville, 1894.

AT STUD, $35—IMP. MOLTON BANNER

One of the best pointers living; has beaten his sire, Saddleback, champion of England, Sandford Graphic and Sandford Bang, England's best. Puppies—Dogs $25; bitches $15; from the best of field trial and bench show blood bitches. GLEN ROCK KENNELS, 2 N. Market St., Boston, Mass.

AVENT & THAYER KENNEL

STUD DOGS.

Count Gladstone IV	Fee $50
Topsy's Rod	50
Orlando	30
Chevaller	30
Cassio	25
Juno's Rod	20

Broken and unbroken foxhounds and puppies for sale. Broken deer, fox and opossum hounds and English setter puppies for sale.

AVENT & THAYER KENNEL
HICKORY VALLEY, TENN.
42-7-eow-tf

AT STUD,
ST. BERNARDS and COCKER SPANIELS

Four St. Bernards and eight cocker spaniels including Ch. Middy at $15 stud fee. Send stamp for illustrated catalogue.

SWISS MOUNTAIN KENNELS, Germantown Philadelphia, Pa.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

Westminster Kennel Club.

KING OF KENT

In the Stud. Fee $50.

ALSO

Sandford Druid

FEE $35.

Apply to F. O. DELUZE, Treasurer, 18 S. William St., New York.

WILLOWDALE KENNELS,
CROWN POINT, IND.

ALAN-A-DALE—A. K. C. No. 28135, collie dog, by Ch. The Squire—Stonehurst Lassie, by Ch. Roslyn Dandy, a magnificent dog and image of his sire; V.H.C. Chicago 1894. See comment AMERICAN FIELD. Alan is a born cattle dog.

DANDY DAVY (A. K. C. No. 36097), by Moray—Clover, the handsomest and most intelligent collie I ever bred; sable with white collar and ruff.

TACONY, smooth-coated fox terrier (A. K. C. 28136), white with tan marked head; inbred Prince Result; game as a pebble.

I will sell at reasonable price Moray, prize winner; Don Cameron and other A. K. C. collies; also book orders for young dogs. Address WILL J. DAVIS, Columbia Theater, Chicago. 39-4-tf

Rodfield

Black, white and tan English setter, winner of both of the U. S. F. T. Club's All-Age Setter Stakes at Bicknell, Ind., and West Point, Miss., 1894 and 1895. Catalog free.

STUD FEE $50.
P. T. MADISON,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

COUNT BEAUFORT

Moss Wind'em—Primrose, bred by and recently imported from Mr. R. Ll. Purcell Llewellin, Shrewsbury, England. Here is a chance for setter breeders to obtain the pure Count Noble blood, Moss Wind'em being a litter brother to that noted sire of field trial winners. This is an opportunity that owners of Gladstone and Druid—Rnby bitches should not lose sight of. Fee $25. Count Beaufort is a handsome, well built blue belton and is thoroughly field broken, keen nose and wide range, having been well shot over by Mr. Llewellin. For pedigree, etc., address W. STEWART DIFFENDERFFER, 113 Commerce St., Baltimore, Md. 44-8

Imported Irish setter at stud.

Chlg. Finglas

The most successful Irish setter sire, field trial and dog show winner combined living; winner of 35 firsts and specials; his get have won 57 firsts and specials, 25 seconds, 11 thirds at leading bench shows and field trials. Circulars free. W. L. WASHINGTON, Box 203, New Castle, Pa. 43-17-eow-tf

AT STUD ELDRED KENNEL Fee $50

CH. ANTONIO
BRIGHTON TOBE
FEE $35.

Winner of All-Age Stake Manitoba and International trials 1894. Stud cards, shipping directions and circular of C. H. PHELPS JR., 13 Dock St., Philadelphia. 41-17-eow-tf

WIRE-HAIRED FOX TERRIERS
BROWN FRENCH POODLES.

For stud cards, list of produce stakes ($175 annually offered in prizes), price lists and full particulars, apply to HILL HURST KENNELS, Wellesley, Mass. 45-7

At Stud. Fee $25.

WHYTE B.

I offer the services of this highly bred setter; he is by Roderigo—Florence Gladstone. He won the A.-A. Stake in the Southern trials, beating such dogs as Antevolo, Novelist, Engene I, Tremont, Bettye S and Bob Cooper. I candidly believe Whyte B has more endurance than any dog living, and is a combined field trial and shooting dog; his equal would be hard to find. H. S. BEVAN, Somerville, Tenn

COCKER SPANIEL

CH. BLACK DUKE

Stud $25. Bitches for breeding purposes admitted free of duty in Canada. GEO. DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ont. 23

IMP. ALBERT'S RANGER

The handsomest English setter in America; fee $25; return expressage paid on bitches. Photo 20 cents. Stud cards. WARWICK KENNELS, Bridgeport, Conn. 43-13

STRIDEAWAY FEE $50

Meadow City Kennels, Northampton, Mass.
43-21-tf

BREED TO THE BEST—At stud, $15, imported English setter Carleton Pero (16291), (Sir Tatton—Princess Charlotte III), color black and white, very handsome, winner on the bench, field broken by N. B. Thomas (deceased). Address DR. J. W. COTTING, Swathmore, Delaware Co., Pa. 44 9

AT STUD—Smooth fox terriers, Hillside Royal (Starden's King—Hillside Freda); fee to approved bitches, $10; Raby Prince (Raby Palliy—Richmond Jesmine); fee to approved bitches, $10. WAWASET KENNELS, Wilmington, Del. 44-5

AT STUD—Christopher Columbus, the finest collie in the West, by Ch. Christopher; fee to approved bitches, $20 Address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

AT STUD—Legerdemain (9378), Mainspring—Merrylegs; fee $15. For winnings and full particulars apply to F. A. WAGNER, Seacliff, L. I., N. Y. 23*

AT STUD—The imported foxhound Abelard, to a few choice bitches at $10 each. J. M. HODGIN, Secretary Strode Valley Kennel Club, Winchester, Ky. 2

AT STUD—The golden brindled Great Dane King William (34279), winner of three first prizes; fee $25. HIGHLAND KENNELS, Topeka, Kan. 23*

AT STUD—The famous smooth fox terrier, Blemton Stipend, to approved bitches; $10. J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

RODERIGO is dead, but I have his brother Cassio (23600), winner of four field trials; fee $25; try him. W. F. VAN BUSKIRK, Odell, Ill. 43-15-tf

RED COCKERS—Champ. Red Jacket and Red Roland at stud; red puppies. BRANT COCKER KENNELS, Brantford, Ont. 43-14-tf

BEAGLE—Tony W (Ch. Tony Weller—Topsy S), in stud. LOUIS STEFFEN, 781 3rd St., Milwaukee, Wis. 22

CHESAPEAKE MARK (35914); fee $10. L. K. MASON, Hastings, Ia. 43-15-tf

MATERIALS AND FIXTURES

AUSTIN'S

DOG BREAD

The final choice of many kennels and individuals after trying all others, as attested by hundreds of unsolicited letters.

AUSTIN & GRAVES,
116 COMMERCIAL ST.,
BOSTON, MASS.

HEALTH FOR ANIMALS

Of the many skin diseases that animals are subject to there are none which cannot be brought under control and speedily cured by the use of

GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP

Its perfect reliability in all forms of

MANGE

From which dogs suffer has been attested by innumerable testimonials from the highest kennel authorities and the grateful acknowledgment of thousands of dog owners.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

WHITMAN KENNEL SUPPLY CO.
418 WABASH AVE., CHICAGO.

PEDIGREES COMPILED

And printed in first-class style, and at reasonable rates.

COPYRIGHT PEDIGREE BLANKS.

Pictures for framing of CHAMPION PAUL GLADSTONE, DASH III AND COUNTESS MAY; GLADSTONE AND PEEP O' DAY; CROXTETH AND SENSATION; EMPEROR FRED, and others.

WHITMAN'S UNIQUE DOG REMEDIES.
SPRATTS DOG FOODS AND MEDICINES.
AUSTIN'S DOG FOODS.
SERGEANT'S CONDITION PILLS.

L. F. WHITMAN,
Manager.
33-26-tf

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted u... cents a line for the first inse... each subsequent insertion. ... inch for first, and $2.50 for ... tion.

THE

Continental Field Trials Club's Inaugural Field Trials

To be run on Quails at

SETTERS:
$150 to first
$125 to second
$100 to third
$ 75 to fourth
$ 50 to fifth

Newton, N. C., beginning with the Derby, Monday, November 25, 1895,

POINTERS:
$150 to first
$125 to second
$100 to third
$ 75 to fourth
$ 50 to fifth

Providing the Eastern Field Trials Club's trials are through, otherwise as soon as the Eastern trials are concluded.

For Pointers and Setters born on or after January 1, 1894.

Each breed to run separately.

Entries close June 1, 1895. Forfeit, $10, which must accompany nomination. $10 additional forfeit, payable September 1. $10 additional to start.

TOTAL STAKE, $1,000.

P. T. MADISON, Secretary-Treasurer, Lock Box 4, Indianapolis, Ind.

DR. N. ROWE, President. NORVIN T. HARRIS, 1st Vice-President. J. L. ADAMS, 2nd Vice-President.

United States Field Trial Club's Fifth Annual Field Trials

Fall Meeting at Newton, N. C. Spring Meeting at West Point, Miss.

POINTERS.....
$150 to First
$125 to Second
$100 to Third
$ 75 to Fourth
$ 50 to Fifth

PURSES, $4,000.00

SETTERS.....
$150 to First
$125 to Second
$100 to Third
$ 75 to Fourth
$ 50 to Fifth

DERBY STAKE, to be run at Newton, N. C., November 7, 1895

For pointers and setters whelped on or after January 1, 1894. Each breed to run separately. Entries close June 10, 1895.

TOTAL STAKE $1,000. First forfeit $10, which must accompany nomination. $10 additional forfeit, payable Sept. 10. $10 to start. W. B. STAFFORD, Secy.-Treas. Trenton, Tenn.

For entry blanks, rules, etc., apply to Secretary-Treasurer.

LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE

LITTLE'S PRIZE MEDAL PHENYLE DOG SOAP
Cleanses the skin and improves the coat.

Superior to any now before the public. Beautifies, cleanses, and gives a healthy glow to the skin.
LITTLE'S SANITARY PHENYLE DOG SOAP.

(COPYRIGHTED.)

DOCTOR—There is no doubt, my friends, but that you are suffering from a most severe case of Mange. My advice is that you procure at once LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE, a sure cure, which will also keep your kennels nice and sweet.

PATIENTS (all together)- We will send to our druggist for it at once.

Used by the principal kennels and bench shows in America and Europe. No keeper of valuable dogs, horses, etc, should be without it. Pronounced by the highest authorities the best and most effective disinfectant in the market. For full particulars of its various uses, send for pamphlet to

MORRIS LITTLE & SON, 175 to 177 N. 10th Street, Brooklyn, E. D., N. Y.

"OUR DOGS"

The Popular English Doggy Journal.

Published every Saturday. Price One Penny.

Contains all the latest news and the best information relating to doggy subjects. It is written in chatty style; is contributed to by the best known writers; is well illustrated; enjoys a large circulation, and is a splendid medium for the sale or purchase of dogs. Subscription 8s. 6d per year post free to any part of America. SPECIMEN COPIES FREE.

Our Dogs Publishing Co., Ltd.,
10 Gore St., Piccadilly, Manchester, Eng.

R. J. WITHERS, M. D.,

VETERINARY SURGEON,

627 So. Main St., LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Treatment of dogs a specialty. Good hospital accommodations. Advice by mail $1.

NEW BOOK ON DOG DISEASES

And How to Feed

Mailed FREE to any address by the author.

H. CLAY GLOVER, D.V.S., 1293 Broadway, N. Y

McGILL UNIVERSITY, MONTREAL

Faculty of Comparative Medicine and Veterinary Science (late Montreal Veterinary College). Calendars sent on application, giving full information to intending students. Lectures commence first Wednesday in October in each year. Apply to CHARLES McEACHRAN, D. V. S., Registrar, Veterinary College, 6 Union Avenue, Montreal, Canada. 27-1-25

MISCELLANEOUS.

HUNTING GROUNDS

ALONG THE LINE OF

The Southern Railway

The Southern Railway is endeavoring to furnish every facility to sportsmen to reach its territory, especially Virginia and the Carolinas, where game is abundant and game laws lenient.

Most convenient schedules are operated from all junction points.

For additional information apply o

S. H. HARDWICK,
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Atlanta, Ga.
C. A. BENSCOTER.
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Knoxville, Tenn.
W. A. TURK,
Gen. Pass. Agt., Washington, D. C.
R. D. CARPENTER
Gen. Agt., 271 Broadway, New York
HENRY HIDEN,
Commercial Agt., 10 Rookery, Chicago.
L. S. BROWN,
Gen. Agt., 1300 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.

The Home of the Tarpon

AND

Ducks by the Million

AT

Aransas and Corpus Christi Bays

REACHED BY

San Antonio and Aransas Pass Ry.

Twelve tarpon caught in one day, November 4, 1894, by Messrs. Bull, Lewis and Wallis of Racine, Wis., aggregating over 800 pounds.

Tarpon season March 15 to December 1; duck shooting December to March.

Send for maps, etc. Address

E. J. MARTIN, Gen. Pass. Agt., San Antonio Tex

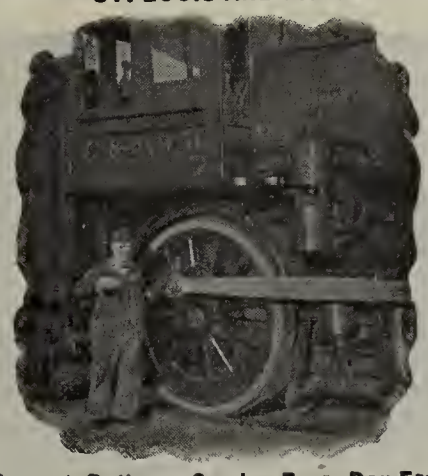
Chicago & Alton R.R.

AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR RAILROAD.

PERFECT PASSENGER SERVICE.

The direct, best and only rock-ballasted dustless line between

CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY,
CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS,
ST. LOUIS AND KANSAS CITY.



Through Pullman Service Every Day From

CHICAGO TO COLORADO

JAMES CHARLTON, General Passenger and Ticket Agent.
Chicago, Illinois.

TROUT, BASS, PIKE,
PICKEREL, PERCH, DUCKS,
GEESE, SNIPE, CHICKENS,

Are all to be found contiguous to the line of

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

SEND FOR

Natural Game Preserves of North America.

CHAS. S. FEE,

General Pass. and Ticket Agt., ST. PAUL.

PLOVER, ANTELOPE, BEAR,
MOUNTAIN LIONS, CARIBOU, DEER,
WHITE GOATS, ROCKY MTN. SHEEP

SHOOTING TOURNAMENT

AT MEMPHIS.

For the tournament at Memphis, June 11 and 14, take the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

It is the only line having double daily service to Memphis from Cincinnati and Louisville with Pullman Buffet Sleeping Coaches through. All principal cities in the South are reached by the through Pullman service of this line from its northern terminals at Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis. Write to C. P. ATMORE, General Passenger Agent at Louisville, Ky., for folders and other information. 23

In answering advertisements please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD.

J. S. CHAPIN, J. J. GORE, J. S. CARTER

CHAPIN & GORE,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

FINE WHISKIES

IMPORTED

Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

73 & 75 Monroe St., Chicago

Branch Stores: 152 22nd Street, 121 Clark Street, and 73 South Halsted Street, Chicago.
Branch Store: 30 and 32 N. Illinois Street, Indianapolis, Ind.
Paris Branch: No. 28 Boulevard Haussmann, Paris. 12-6-25

In answering advertisements please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD.

IS YOUR GUN LEADED?

If so get a TOMLINSON GUN CLEANER and clean it out. Simplest cleaner ever offered to the trade. Wire pads can be replaced; will not injure gun barrels; will fit any standard rod, guaranteed in every particular. Sent by mail, $1. Mention gauge. Discount on application.

Address

C. TOMLINSON,
108 Beacon St., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

In answering advertisements, please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD

THE AMATEUR TRAINER

FORCE SYSTEM WITHOUT THE WHIP.

BY ED. F. HABERLEIN (a practical trainer of thirty years' experience).

SECOND EDITION. Revised and illustrated with full-page portraits of typical bird dogs.

Has just been published and should be in the hands of every owner of a bird dog, whether trained or untrained.

"The Amateur Trainer" is a plain, practical and concise yet thorough guide in the art of training, handling and the correcting of faults of the bird dog subservient to the gun afield. The manual has been written especially for those who may possess a puppy but cannot afford the high charges of professional trainers to have the same broken for field work. By following the instructions plainly given in the book, every shooter possessed of a little common sense and patience can train his own dog to perfection.

If you have a broken dog who is faulty in some respects, you will find ample advice in the manual how to overcome any fault thoroughly. If your dog does not retrieve, or if so, is hard mouthed, and unsteady to point and shot chases rabbits, etc., etc., is whipshy, watershy or gunshy, etc., then don't fail to get this book and eradicate the annoyances.

The book is written in a comprehensible, popular form, devoid of long-spun theories, and is based upon practical experience throughout. Each chapter alone on the correction of faults of matured dogs is fully worth the price of the book to anyone owning a dog so afflicted. Dogs of any age can be taught to retrieve readily—soft mouthed and in perfect style—by following the plain instructions given therein.

To the novice, who may aspire to perfect his own dog in the usefulness afield, it will prove an invaluable aid, giving clear instructions from the beginning with a puppy up to the training of the bird dog to a high degree.

It is not INTENDED NOR PROMISED to give a large volume of PASTIME READING MATTER, but the publisher guarantees the book to contain the most practical information on the subject, in a plain, concise form, for the price. It contains 99 pages. Price, paper cover, $1; cloth, $1.50.

Address

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

AMERICAN GAME FISHES.

Their Habits, Habitat, and Peculiarities. How, When and Where to Angle for Them.

The book is a sportsman's book, edited and written by sportsmen. In a relatively small compass the able writers, whose names appear in the contents, and are well qualified to discuss the subjects upon which they have written, have furnished a book that, as a whole, is unequaled in the history of angling literature, and no other volume presents to its readers so much valuable information by such a corps of accomplished and experienced writers upon AMERICAN GAME FISHES.

The 155 illustrations will be found to be accurate, truthful portraits of all the fishes described in the volume. The two colored plates give the natural colors of the flies commonly used in angling, and enhance the value of the book.

CONTENTS.

Introduction	A. N. CHENEY.
The Salmon	CHARLES HALLOCK.
The Pacific Salmon	W. A. PERRY ("Sillaheum").
The Land-Locked Salmon	J. G. A. CREIGHTON.
The Tarpon	W. N. HALDEMAN.
The Striped Bass	FRANCIS ENDICOTT.
The Black Bass	DR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Bluefish	PROF. G. BROWN GOODE.
The Mascalonge	LR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Mascalonge in Wisconsin Waters.	A. A. MOSHER.
The Brook Trout.	F. H. THURSTON ("Kelpie").
Trouting on the Nipigon	W. H. H. MURRAY.
The Lake Trout	REV. LUTHER PARNEE.
The Rocky Mountain Trout	G. O. SHIELDS ("Coquina").
Sea Bass, Sea Trout, Spanish Mackerel, Grouper, Mangrove Snapper, Sheepshead and other Southern Fishes	S. C. CLARKE.
The Grayling	F. H. THURSTON.
The Pike	W. D. TOMLIN.
The Wall-Eyed Pike	A. A. MOSHER.
The Pickerel	W. D. TOMLIN.
The White Perch	FRED. MATHER.
The Yellow Bass, White Bass, Strawberry Bass, Rock Bass, Crappie, Sunfish, Yellow Perch, and Minor Perch and Sunfishes.	PROF. DAVID STARR JORDAN.
The Senses of Fishes	WILLIAM C. HARRIS.
Fishing-Tackle, and How to Make It.	J. HARRINGTON KEENE
Reels, Their Use and Abuse	B. C. MILA
The Angler's Camp Outfit	G. O. SHIELD

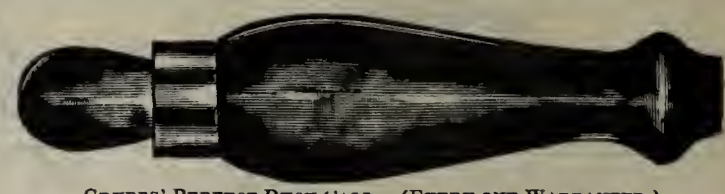
Large 8vo, 580 Pages. Cloth $2.50; Half Morocco, $4.00; Full Morocco, gilt edged, $5.50.

press, and will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address

AMERICAN FIELD PUBLISHING CO.,

245 and 247 State Street, Chicago, Ill.

DUCK CALLS, 55c & $1
GOOSE CALLS, $1
SNIPE CALLS, 40c
TURKEY CALLS, 75c



GRUBBS' PERFECT DUCK CALL. (EVERY ONE WARRANTED.)

Grubbs' Improved Illinois River Duck Call. The most natural toned call made; easy to blow; not easy to get out of repair, having a fine tempered reed; makes it so you can call teal, woodduck and bluebill, as well as mallard. This is the only call you can do this with.

Same as above, made of red cedar, silver-mounted, with silver reed which gives it perfect tone, $1. Every one warranted. Address

CHAS. W. GRUBBS; 56 Alice Place, Chicago

WHERE MAY I FIND GOOD SPORT?

IN Kansas

PRAIRIE CHICKENS, quails, jack-rabbits and ducks abound. The Arkansas Valley and its tributaries afford most satisfactory hunting grounds. In southeastern Kansas there is a fair supply of bass and catfish.

IN Colorado

HERE the fishing rod should be unpacked. Enough trout to keep your rod and line busy may be found in hundreds of mountain streams along the Colorado Midland line. Away from the railroad larger game exists—bears, rocky mountain sheep, elk, blacktail deer, etc.

IN Indian Territory

WILD TURKEYS, prairie chickens, quails and deer are the favorite game in Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A party of three to ten, with guide, will find great sport thirty miles or so from railroad lines.

IN Texas

ANYWHERE on the Gulf Coast several days can be enjoyably spent angling for the deep-sea fish that swarm the Gulf waters. You cast the line; the fish do the rest. Wild fowl are also prevalent in the marshes.

IN New Mexico

UP in the mountains are clear streams where the possible catch of trout may exceed your biggest story—which is saying a good deal. Enough wild game in the wooded wilderness to satisfy the most ardent hunter.

Address G. T. NICHOLSON, G. P. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R., Monadnock Building, Chicago, for detailed information respecting any one or more of the above localities.

ALL ALONG THE SANTA FE ROUTE.

THE DAVIS HAMMERLESS

Has Best of Workmanship and Best of Material Throughout.

Shooting Qualities Unsurpassed in all Grades. Price Lists and Descriptive Circulars of Hammer and Hammerless Guns sent on application.

N. R. DAVIS & SONS, - Freetown, Mass.

WE have decided to meet the requirements of sportsmen for a medium priced, reliable Ejector and are now ready to accept orders for all of our grades of guns fitted with Automatic Shel Ejector.

Guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Lefever Automatic Ejector Gun at a price within the reach of every Sportsman.

Onr new Ejector Movement has ONLY TWO PIECES, ONE IN FRAME, ONE IN HAMMER.

At the last convention of New York State Sportsmen's Association, Lefever Guns with Nitro Powders won three highest averages. We could fill the columns of this paper with records of its triumphs at trap and in field. Send for Catalogue.

LEFEVER ARMS CO., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mention AMERICAN FIELD.

The Parker Gun Again a Winner!

The first prize at Grand American Handicap, April 5, 1895, was won with a Parker gun.

The Parker is unexcelled in perfect construction, beauty of finish, symmetrical lines and shooting qualities. Write for catalogue.

PARKER BROS.,

MERIDEN, CONN.

New York Salesroom, 96 Chambers Street.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

THE SPORTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

Vol. XLIII—No. 22. NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, JUNE. 1, 1895. PRICE, Ten Cents. $5.00 Per Year.

Published by the American Field Publishing Co.

TERMS.—Five dollars a year; two dollars and seventy-five cents for six months; Club rates, three or more four dollars a year each; strictly in advance.

REMITTANCES.—Money should be sent by American Express Co.'s Money Order, Postal Order, Draft on Chicago, or by Registered Letter.

NEWS DEALERS.—The Trade supplied by the American and Western News Companies.

COMMUNICATIONS.—Manuscript intended for publication should be written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith, and all communications, upon any subject, or for any department, must be addressed,

N. ROWE.
Editor and Manager American Field,
245 and 247 State St., Chicago, Ill.

EASTERN OFFICE.—19 Park Place, New York.

Game and Shooting

FIXTURES

Illinois State Sportsmen's Association's twenty-first annual convention, Chicago, June 4.

North Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's first annual convention, Fargo, June 14.

AT SPIRIT LAKE

BY M. A. TIRRELL

Deep in Canadian woods, hidden away from the gaze of civilization, and as little influenced by its advances as if it were located in the heart of Nigritia or on some lone island of the Polynesian Group; nestling in the bosom of a wilderness where the fall of the white man's tread is seldom heard, and where the moccasined foot of the Indian rarely leaves its imprint; where the forest has never echoed the knell of the lumberman's ax, and Father Time has left no apparent trace of his tireless march, there in the pristine purity of the forest primeval is situated Spirit Lake.

I happened on this lake in this way. In the Autumn of 1894, my friend Gill and I were camping at a small Indian reservation in Northern New Brunswick, awaiting the annual migration of geese and brant. Owing to exceptionally fine weather the birds were late in their Southern movements, causing us several days of inactivity. In conversation with the Indians we were informed that some twenty-five miles in the interior were several lakes where good shooting could be had. Among others was one called Spirit Lake, at which immense flocks of black, wood and shell ducks resorted for shelter during stormy weather; but at the same time they intimated that it was a good place from which to stay away. Upon further inquiry an aged aborigine, so old and wrinkled that he might successfully have posed as the original savage, who was well posted in the folklore of his race, told us the lengend of the psychologically named waters. Somewhat after this fashion runs the Mic Mac tradition:

In days long gone by, ere the European's big winged ships bore the paleface adventurer across the great waters to this land of the West, here were born the spirits of evil. On stormy nights when the spirit of light has gone to rest behind the far western hills, and the spirit of darkness casts his gloomy shadows over the earth, riding on the night-rolling breath of the east wind from their abode in the land of ghosts and shadows, comes Mitche Manito and his dusky troup of evil ones to hold high feast in the "Cave of the Fearful Voice," and woe betide the Indian who happens to disturb their revels. There it was in that Atonga, famous in war and wise in council, and his gentle wife Miani, laughing-eyed Miani, had been spirited away to the beyond never more to return, a fate which has happened many a foolhardy brave. Even at this late day the superstitious Indians place considerable faith in the romantic story. So much so, that it is almost impossible to induce one of them to engage as guide, more especially if one wishes to stay at the lake over night.

The old chief, seeing, however, that we were bent on visiting the gostly spot, gave us directions that would enable us to find the place without the aid of a guide.

Next morning at daybreak, with a supply of provisions, we started up a little river oddly called the Big Northwest, a branch of which led into Spirit Lake. It was a lovely day in golden October, the remembrances of which shall long linger in my memory. Winding a tortuous course through a heavily wooded country we paddled, admiring this wonderland of Nature. Now rounding a bold headland recalling recollections of that haunted promontory on the dear old German Rhine where sunny-tressed Lorelei of old sang her wild melodies, enticing to destruction the poor fisher-lads of Bingen and Coblenz, to open out a widening of the river as placid as a mill pond, then sweeping under the overhanging banks casting their jagged shadows in the sunlit stream below; again winding our way among many beautiful islets, suggesting those mythological islands of the blessed where, in everlasting joy, dwell the favored of the gods, around whose shores the whirling, eddying stream had innocently wound a wreath of silvery foam. All along the way grew tall spruces, firs and mighty pines, nodding o'er the drooping ash, birch and maple trees whose Autumn-tinted verdure, mingled with the varied show of coppice dwarfs that tangled underneath the forest in wild confusion. Each tree, shrub, lichen and moss-covered rock was in itself a color study, and when pictured as a whole, framed in a sky of cerulean blue, and mirrored on the limpid waters of the river, the combination of form and color blending showed the master hand of the Creator in a scene which no human art could reproduce. Upon yon Parnassian mount might dwell the fabled pagan deities of ancient Greece, and further along in that peaceful dell could fair Diana and her chaste huntresses haunt the sylvan shades. On yonder wood-crowned eminence, fancy throned Odin and Thor, whom, according to Scald and Kemper, Viking and Norseman bold were wont to worship, or heard the voice of Druid priestess as she chanted her Celtic hymns of praise. On we guided our bark canoe through the ever-changing vista, with naught to break the stillness but the splash of the paddle and the rippling current as its sheeny, lapping tide wandered to the sea.

We at length came to the rapids where, according to our directions, we discovered the branch leading to the lake. Upon turning up this brook we found it was barely ten feet wide, but very deep. Here everything was somber, dank, and wet with Nature's dewy teardrops. It was overgrown with a dense growth of alders and swamp trees that interlaced themselves overhead, arching the brook with a canopy through which no sunbeam dared to peep in at the sports of the otter, beaver and muskrat that denizened the place. We reached our destination and found ourselves at a pretty sheet of water some two miles long and one-half mile wide, which we knew to be Spirit Lake from the little island in the center.

It was getting late in the afternoon, and, expecting a storm, we searched along the shore for a camping place. We discovered a small cave on the margin of the lake which would save us the necessity of pitching tent. We took our provisions ashore, and while Bill caught and dressed a mess of lovely trout, I built a fire and got supper ready. And such a supper! Here is the menu: Broiled bacon, baked trout, baked potatoes, hot toast, coffee and Bass' ale. There was a feast for the woods, and perhaps we did not do justice to it. If you have never cooked trout our way I will tell you how it is done. Scale the fish, haul out the gill and gut without splitting the belly, insert a slice of fat bacon or pork, roll the fish—after peppering and salting—in well-buttered brown paper, then wrap the whole in dampened moss and place it on your fire among the hot coals. When the moss is well charred your fish will be done; and I feel you will say we know a thing or two about cooking trout.

After a good smoke we cut some small fir boughs and strewed the floor of our natural little castle, so situated that it would shelter us from wind and rain, no matter how heavy it stormed. Nowhere was there sign of ducks, and unless the weather changed we would have our trip for nothing; but we felt satisfied that the jagged, white-edged, black clouds that were rising over the northern horizon meant something, and that the relative humidity of the day indicated an atmospheric change. Darkness being upon us we turned in for a rest, and, wrapped in our heavy blankets, lying on the delicate aromatic branches, with no electric cars, elevated roads or other city noises to disturb our slumbers, how we slept!

During the night I was aroused by a heavy thunder clap, and striking a light I found it was ten minutes past 3 o'clock, and that Bill was up. The night was very sultry, and dark as Pluto's shades, with a strange sulphurous smell permeating the air.

"I have been awake over half an hour, and how you could sleep among such noises as the heavens have been voicing is a mystery to me; you must have an easy conscience, my boy," remarked my friend.

A strange feature of the night was, that a heavy thunder-storm was raging without any accompanying wind or rain. Peal after peal, each one louder than its predecessor, would crash from the southern sky, leaving a momentary lull of deathly stillness.

"Hast thou not marked, when o'er thy startled head
Sudden and deep the thunder-peal has rolled,
How, when its echoes fell, a silence dead
Sunk on the wood, the meadow, and the wold?
The rye-grass shakes not on the sod-built fold,
The rustling aspen's leaves are mute and still,
The wall-flower waves not on the ruined hold:
Till, murmuring distant first, then near and shrill,
The savage whirlwind wakes, and sweeps the groaning hill."

Suddenly from the north came the sound of a hoarse, roaring noise, and in a few moments, preceded by a cold northwest blast, a terrible hailstorm was upon us which lasted nearly twenty minutes, during which time ice-drops from one-half to two inches in diameter fell. This was followed by a terrible electric storm which had previously been giving us warning. And how it did rain, thunder and blow! I had seen September gales in the Caribbean Sea when the equinoctial hurricanes bowl along the Spanish main, had been overtaken by a mountain tornado high up among the weather-beaten crags of the Cordillera range, had viewed a Kansas cyclone plow its way across the Western plains; but never till this night had I witnessed the elements at their best. The lightnings blazed, the thunder rolled, while flash and peal were almost instantaneous, announcing the proximity of the electric current. The rain came down in unbroken sheets, swelling the hillside brooks into mountain torrents. Huge bowlders were torn from their bed of ages and tossed about like pebbles on a surf-battered beach. Giant trees became the playthings of the winds and flood and were uprooted and snapped more quickly than if attacked by a woodman's ax. The Storm God was abroad, and his worthy lieutenants Jupiters Pluvius and Tonans were doing themselves proud. Again and again they bellowed their challenge, and back came as often the defiance of the echoing hills. After a time the wind changed to northeast and the thunder became silenced, but the rain still kept falling in a heavy downpour.

As it was approaching daylight we built a fire under an overhanging rock and prepared our breakfast, after which we donned our oilskins and paddled across to the little island where we had the previous afternoon built a blind to await daylight and the ducks we expected the storm would surely bring in. While sitting in the darkness smoking, we heard the ducks quacking in all directions and the whistling of their wings as they flew by satisfied us that for once in our lives we would be "in it." We were on the western end of the island, by which we thought the birds would fly on their way from the sea. All birds passing to the left were to be mine, and those to the right would be taken care of by Bill. My friend cautioned me to keep my weather eye open as he intended to "wipe it out" before night, and prompted by

"The stern joy which warriors feel
In foemen worthy of their steel,"

I advised him to keep his own lamps carefully trimmed, for I also intended to do some shooting. Just as day was breaking in a deep drizzle, Bill drew on a pair of wood-ducks which he neatly stopped, and a moment after I duplicated the shot by knocking two sawbills out of the air. The next shot offered was at a big loon, which I missed clean with both barrels. Three black ducks came along on Bill's side, inviting a shot, on which he failed to connect. He had smiled at my miss, so I just remarked, "there are others." A flock of woodducks swerved my way, to be followed by a bunch of blacks on the other side. Result: Two wood and one black ducks. The birds were now coming every way, affording us no time for conversation. It was bing-bang to right, and bing-bang to left. Among the shots fired were some good and some bad. I was laying out some fair work for Bill [illegible] his side of the blind was being guarded in good [illegible], and it was a question which of us would need the [illegible] of an oculist. Incomers, right and left quarterers and towerers and droppers kept us busy and gave us an opportunity of noisily advertising to each other how much we knew about wing shooting.

We had been shooting a couple of hours, and the [illegible] bunches of inanimate feathers drifting toward the [illegible] shore proved that all our S. S. powder was not [illegible], and that either a Parker or Smith gun is good [illegible]. If anybody should ask the reader [illegible] gun, let him give it as his opinion that all modern guns, bored true to gauge, shoot well, and that there is more in their holding than their make, notwithstanding the fact that some makers claim theirs is the only gun on earth. The Greener gun has made some wonderful scores; so have the Scott, Francotte, Parker and Smith, but it obtains forcibly with the writer that the man pointing the gun had just a little to do with it; and I am further favorably impressed that the same man behind any other latter-day gun would obtain just as good results. Mr. Catalog Compiler, in your next issue, while you may praise your particular make of gun, won't you please give the shooter a little more credit? Don't be selfish. Should the amateur inquire about powders, please tell him that nitros are far ahead of the black article, if handled properly, and that there is not much choice between S. S., Schultze, E. C., or Du Pont; at the same time advise him to use chilled shot in conjunction with these smokeless explosives. But I am digressing; the subject of guns and powders is one on which I shall write more exhaustively anon.

While shooting during the forenoon we had an elegant shot at a flock of geese—some twenty in number—out of which we got four, but should have killed twice that number as they were nicely bunched and not more than thirty yards away.

The shooting was so good and continuous that we had no time to cook dinner. But who would leave a duck pass to eat, when birds are flying? All through the afternoon we shot, living in the meantime on tobacco smoke, and when we finished about 4 o'clock, let me tell the reader we had some birds to pick up. How many did we kill? No, dear reader, I will not answer that question point blank and thereby give you a chance to call us game-hogs, pot-hunters, or some other such pretty name. While I shall maintain a dignified silence as to the exact number, I will, however, say that we shot more ducks that day than I ever again expect to shoot. I will also add that we did not sell a single bird, but each one did its share in testing the gastronomic abilities of some hungry Mic Mac. Whose eye got wiped out? Bill and I have been boon companions for years, have slept together by many a campfire, and shared the pot luck of the woods many a time and oft. We are both men of peace, and modest to a degree, and to stop any complicating arguments that a direct answer might cause, I will simply say, I forget.

After our birds were secured we dressed two each of wood and black ducks and broiled them. These, with fixings, furnished a supper to which we paid our hungry respects. That night we slept the sleep of the just, and when we awoke next morning the sun had just arisen, giving promise of fine weather, during which there was no use of prolonging our stay.

After breakfast (we are good feeders) we loaded the canoe with our traps. Taking a lingering leave of surroundings we should probably never again see, we headed down-stream for camp. The river from the recent rains was full to overflowing, and on its consequently swiftly running current we reached the reservation early in the afternoon, satisfied with our journey to Spirit Lake, and with a memory to last as long as life, beating the wondrous ducking stories of the far-famed Horicon marshes, or widely celebrated Chesapeake Bay.

Boston, Mass.

BLACK POWDER AND WADDING

AUBURN, N. Y.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Not long since you kindly gave me space in your most excellent paper in which to say my say about nitros in general and my favorite Walsrode in particular. Now I want a talk with that small but select body of shooters who stick to hammer guns and black powders, and will, God bless 'em, to the end of the chapter.

Let me say to them, to begin with, that I was long one of their number, and one of the last to desert. It was only when, as local agent for guns and ammunition and expert shell loader to one of the crack cup-winning clubs of New Jersey, it was made a decided object for me to change, that with much hesitation and many misgivings I laid aside my dear, old hammer gun, victor in many a hard fought match, and took to guns without "ears" and powders without smoke. The change, by the way, didn't do a thing but raise me from the 75 to the 90 per cent. class, just as it has served many another old fogy before me, but that's another story. What I'm coming to is this. Why will the black powder cranks insist on punishing themselves with excessive loads and thus [illegible]tion? Time and again I have [illegible] and pound away at targets [illegible]s of rifle powder until shoulder and head were so jarred with the rapid firing that they flinched and missed everything, splendid shots though they were. Then these men went home vowing vengeance, and carefully loaded up a lot of shells with 4 drams of some fine-grained powder, and came back only to make a bigger string of "goose eggs" than before. How could they do otherwise? For, to start with, they had so opened the pattern of their gun by such a load that a target could slip through the entire charge unhit, or only dusted, and it was more luck than skill that broke an occasional target for them. Moreover, the recoil soon broke their nerve, whether they realized it or not, and then they failed to get even the occasional. "'Fess up," boys; you've been there, you know you have.

Now for the remedy. The nitro people haven't all the plums (though you'd never guess it from their advertisement). There is such a thing as an elegant and comfortable black powder trap load; and if men would use less powder, of a suitable kind, properly wadded. they might find it out for themselves. But that takes time; so let me give them a load within the reach of every man who can afford to shoot at all, which is a proved success. I don't know with whom it originated; certainly not with me. Will Ferris of Franklinville, N. Y., inventor of the economical and useful little "A B C" gun cleaner, put me onto the load after Ed. Andrews, Kelsey and Koch had won the Dean Richmond cup and pretty much everything else with it at the New York state shoot in 1890. Perhaps I owe the above mentioned gentlemen an apology, but as they long ago changed to nitros, I think they will forgive me.

To begin with, get the American Powder Mills' "Dead Shot" FFFG. Load in U. S. Climax conical base shells (the best black powder shell for all-around use ever made), using not a grain over 2¾ drams; if one is in the habit of catching his birds quickly, 2½ drams will do; then put on a 12-gauge cardboard wad, two 11-gauge and one 12-gauge blackedge wads, using a B. G. I. Barclay loader with inside springs, so as not to bulge or break end of shell. The cardboard wad prevents the lubricant on felt wads from spoiling any of the powder charge, the 11-gauge wads hold all the gas generated by it, and the 12-gauge wad makes a level seat for the shot charge. If the last blackedge wad fills the shell too full, a 12-gauge cardboard may be used in its place, since it will answer the same purpose. Then put in a scant 1⅛ ounces—1 ounce is as good in a full choke gun (Annie Oakley tells me that she never uses more for birds or targets)—of No. 7, 7½ or 8 chilled shot, according to amount of wind, and a thin top wad, leaving one-fourth inch for a square crimp. This makes an almost perfect target load; clean, quick, close, far-reaching, with little smoke and light recoil. For live birds and field shooting 3 drams of the FF grain, wadded as above, is all that could be desired. Now please do not think that I am in any way under obligations to the American Powder Mills, of Boston. To the contrary I owe them a personal grudge. A year ago when making a series of tests of all powders, black and nitro, and when the manufacturers of all the other trap brands of black powder had kindly furnished me a one-fourth keg for trial, I approached them on the subject and was courteously informed, by circular, that they would send me a one-fourth keg of "Dead Shot" for $1.65, and I might pay my own freight. Later, when at least four prominent powder manufacturers had, at my solicitation, sent each twenty-five pounds of their trap brands, freight paid, to be competed for as prizes by the members of my club, and I tackled the American Powder Mills for a donation, they gently but firmly sent another price list! No, I don't like them. They have a good thing and unfortunately they know it. But that isn't going to stop me from giving the facts.

Du Pont's "Superfine Sporting," 2½ drams, and "Crystal Grain," 2 drams, and in fact most of the high grade black powders in moderate charges and wadded as above make good target loads; but the price is against them, and they are but little better in results than "Dead Shot," which costs no more than rifle powder. Of course with the new guns, bored "true to gauge," the larger wadding above recommended is not so necessary. But then the man with such a gun will use some one of the nitros, so that doesn't count. Meanwhile, so long as I see men overloading, I shall hammer away at them until they die, move away, or use less powder and more wadding; and that is why they call me

WADS.

DEER SHOOTING

BY C. L. WRIGHT

About sixteen years ago I went to Oregon to see a cousin of mine and make him a visit. When I arrived at the nearest railroad station to his ranch I was met by him as I had written him I was coming. He had a one-horse spring wagon and, after some provisions had been procured for the ranch, we started, and after a long, rough ride we came in sight of a large log house. As we drew up in front of the house out came a dozen or more deerhounds, and following them came one of the ranch hands. He took the horse and wagon, and after my cousin had a play with the dogs, of which he was a great lover, as he was a bachelor 39 years old, we went into the house, where the other ranch hand was getting supper—beans, bacon, greasy biscuits and coffee. Although it was not quite as good a meal as I had been used to, after that long, rough ride it tasted as good to me, I thought, as any I had ever eaten.

After supper my cousin and I took a walk and he gave me a little description of his ranch, and if he wasn't situated as a sportsman so as to be happy, I never saw a man who was; and his love of gun, dog and farming was what caused him to be located as he was. His frontier home has ever since been a picture in my eye. He had a large tract of land running from a navigable river across a valley and up into the mountains. The valley was a splendid grain country and he and his two farm hands would prepare the land and sow the grain and then go off and hunt until time to come back and tend the grain. They cut, thrash and sack the grain at one round in that country and also in California, and then at that time they took it to the river and sold it to the first boat that came along, up river, for $1 per bushel; and then with dogs and guns they again went after game. If that wasn't profit and pleasure for a sportsman I don't know where one would find it, for game was plenty there then.

After our look around the farm we returned to the house, and after listening to some stories about deer hunting, and the farm hands saying that the night before the deer had been down close to the house, I said to my cousin that I wanted to have a deer hunt at once, and he said "all right, in the morning, if that will be soon enough," and that I should have a chance to shoot a deer by 8 o'clock. They got out their guns, which I was surprised to see, for they were 8-gauge muzzle-loading shotguns. I remarked that they could not kill deer with a shotgun, when one of the farm hands said that I would think they would kill after I had tried one of them, and I have never forgotten that remark, and when I yet think about it it causes me to shudder. I was at that time a slim, tall young man just out of school and had never shot anything larger than a .22-caliber rifle, and I did not know one had to hold a shotgun close against his shoulder. The school of experience is a dear one, but an impressive one.

I noticed that they used large loads of powder and buckshot and two wads quite a bit larger than the bore of the gun. I asked why they used such large wads, they could hardly get them in the gun, and they told me that they made the gun shoot harder. After the guns were loaded we sat around and listened to deer and bear stories until midnight, and when I was called at 4:30 the next morning I didn't think I had been asleep five minutes. But after breakfast I felt all right. We shouldered the guns and my cousin took the hound horn down and blew it and told the farm hand to take the hounds up to the head of a cañon several miles away and turn them loose, and we went down near the river and took our stands where he thought the game would be sure to come. We secreted ourselves and it was not long until we heard the bay of the hounds. As they came nearer to us my heart beat with great force and my breathing was short and fast. Finally out jumped a deer not over thirty feet from me, in an open spot, and my cousin said "shoot!" I took deliberate aim and pulled the trigger, and the next thing I knew, when I came to, I was some feet from where I was when I fired the gun, and my shoulder felt like it had been run into by a freight train, while my cousin was standing by the dead deer laughing as if it was great fun; but I could not see where the fun came in for some time; but after I got straightened up I thought it was all funny enough, provided some other fellow was there to push against the recoil of an 8-gauge gun loaded as they loaded theirs. After that I never doubted the killing power of an 8 gauge gun, at short range, at either end. But I took it like a ratter puppy of mine did the first rat he tackled. It bit him through the nose and I did not suppose he would ever tackle another one, and supposed he was ruined as a ratter. But not so. In about an hour he came to me lugging a big rat by the nape of the neck as much as to say, now I know where and how to take hold of them. So with me; the more I got of it the better I liked it, and since then I have hunted over most of the West, though I never after that used an 8-gauge gun. For a rough and tumble gun a .40-82 Winchester or a 12-gauge Remington suits me very well.

Knoxville, Ia.

AN IDEAL TURKEY HUNT

BY EDISTO JR.

At 12 o'clock on the night of March 26 last, a weary disciple of Esculapius might have been seen entering his home to enjoy a few hours' rest before the buzzing of the alarm clock at 3 a. m. should warn him to roll out of bed and betake himself to the swamp of Green County where dwells an old gobbler of local fame. I am almost ashamed to say that for eight consecutive seasons the writer has hunted that same turkey with no other result than that each of us has gained some diversion and valuable experience. He (the turkey) squatted in a brushpile once, and let me walk within twenty steps of him, when he took to his heels and dodged six hasty bullets pumped at him from my Winchester, and I then determined to catch him the next time he gave me a similar opportunity and not trust to the vanity of powder and shot.

Having arranged everything for the morning I resigned myself to the arms of Morpheus. Presto! The gentle morning zephyrs kissing into lips the swelling buds of Nature's flower garden; the horned owl complaining to the moon of some blighted affair of the heart; the redbird whistling his welcome to the Springtide that filled his little heart with visions of love or worms; the gentle ripplings of swirling water wafted from the neighboring creek, suggesting the overhauling of rod and tackle, with the accompaniment of the frantic rush of the outwitted trout in its vain rush for liberty; the roseate hue of the eastern horizon—the virgin blush of the maiden day—soon to be replaced by the brazen visage of the king of day, all combined to efface from my mind for the moment the insatiate desire for blood that lurked in my heart.

But hark! What was that jarring, bass viol, drumming, indescribable sound that pervaded the air, coming from everywhere in general and nowhere in particular? There it was again! To hear it once is never to forget. His majesty was strutting on his roost; with feathers all erect, tail full spread and dangling snout he gobbled his challenge to the world to meet him on the greensward at sunrise.

Now was my time to get as close to him as was compatible with silence and secrecy. With stealthy tread and bated breath, and pulse bounding and the perspiration streaming down my face, the chosen position was reached and a blind constructed. Then followed the seductive "put! put!" ending up with a yelp. My! what a fit the old fellow did have, and it seemed to me the whole world could hear the throbbing of my heart.

A precautionary thought flitted through my mind: "Now do not overdo that yelping business, my boy, so put your collar up and wait for him to fly down."

A few minutes were passed in silence when a dark body pitched downward. I gave another yelp, very low and careless-like, and then grasped my gun and raised both hammers. My eyeballs ached from the strain. A gobble succeeded a strut, and the grand old fellow walked around a patch of cane to within thirty steps of me, all aglow with a thousand scintillations of bronze tints and looking as large as a barrel. But this was no time for vaporizing. The finger pressed the responsive trigger, and with a report like a cannon and the smoke of Mt. Vesuvius—I sat straight up in bed with a jerk, to find that daylight was streaming into my room through the window blinds.

How sad to think what might have been had I not failed to wind up the alarm attachment of my clock.

Forkland, Ala.

UNFRIENDLY LEGISLATION

CHICAGO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Replying to Mr. Mathews' article in your last week's issue permit me to say that we are not so much at variance in our opinions that much further need be said on either side. Wherein we differ, why, we simply differ.

Sportsmen did not pass the North Dakota law. True sportsmen, unless thoughtless, I think, would not have even favored its passage. I have no doubt there is as large a percentage of sportsmen in that state as in any other state. Of course there is very much about that state that I do not know, as Mr. Mathews says, but I do know that the courtesies extended to myself and others by its citizens justify the belief that all have one characteristic of true sportsmanship, and that is that they take great pleasure in granting every facility for the success of those who go there for an outing; and in no case was selfishness shown to myself and others by exorbitant charges for services rendered. Still the legislative act was hurtful, and sportsmen there, I think, regret its passage. Possibly citizens are over-tender, hence do not stop the trapping and sending out of the state birds killed during the close season. It is fair to think that way, at least. Open market at Chicago, during open season, would not deplete Dakota game if Dakota people enforced their own laws as to killing and shipping game. We will help them at this end of the line, of course, if any slips through their hands.

It is very wrong to kill birds and throw them away. Many years ago, however, I was one of a party that lost more than a hundred prairie chickens, killed, I think, August 15, in this state, the first day of the open season. They spoiled before we reached the depot, on our way home. The lesson was never to kill prairie chickens at that time of the year, even if the law did say one may.

My friend says "that although North Dakota has had a non-export law for the past four years, there has been no ojection raised to a sportsman carrying game out of the state; that law was not made for sportsmen, and it is so understood." But he is in error. Law knows no favorite. Besides, knowing the law, visiting sportsmen will not violate it.

About Minnesota laws I am not fully informed, but if the carloads of carcasses of deer which were said to have been shipped from that state to this city last Fall did come from that state, then I fear that Minnesota sportsmen were not a little careless in the enforcement of their excellent laws. Please do not wait until game has reached an Eastern market, my friend, but punish violators at home. But I know that Mr. Mathews wants just what every true sportsman wants, hence, good-bye to further discussion by CHAS. E. FELTON.

GUNS

MAHANOY CITY, PA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I have read very many interesting articles relative to guns in your valuable paper, and am very glad to see that a better article is now being placed on the market by the American gun manufacturers than formerly, which is doubtless owing to the fact that Americans who can afford to pay big money for guns are now giving their orders to home manufacturers, while formerly all these "long prices" went abroad, and in this respect, price considered, American manufacturers did not have the same opportunity to turn out a gun to compare with foreign guns costing $400 and upward.

I attended the shoot of the Interstate Association at Willard Park, Paterson, N. J., and there had a very good opportunity to compare guns, and I examined with considerable care a gun made by the Parker Bros. of Meriden, Conn., and I must in justice say that for beauty, style of handling, fine workmanship and symmetry throughout, this gun would be hard to duplicate, I imagine, by any foreign gun manufacturer. The cost of this gun was $400 list. I suppose it could be bought for $275, and at that price I look upon it as a wonder.

The well-known Smith gun, now manufactured by the Hunter Arms Co., was there, as at all the shoots in this country, and for perfect shooters, perfect construction, and for durability, where is there a gun to-day that compares with it?

But the gun that takes my fancy, and which is a new one on the market, though the maker is well known to the shooting world, as he has served many years with the best American manufacturers, and for the last five years has been superintendent of the Wilkesbarre Gun Co., is the "A. J. Aubrey hammerless," made by the Elmira Arms Co., Elmira, N. Y. I understand this company intend making a specialty of strictly fine hand-made guns, and if the gun which I examined is a sample of what they will make, then I predict for them a full share of trade. The gun has all the good points of other guns, with many new ones added, and for beauty of finish is comparable with the high grade Francotte, and that to my mind is praise indeed for any gun.

M. M. MACMILLAN.

INDORSE SENATOR LUNDIN'S GUN TAX BILL

OAK PARK, ILL.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—We the undersigned, sportsmen of Oak Park, Cook County, Ill., heartily indorse Senator Lundin's bill No. 324 taxing guns fifty cents each for payment of game wardens. We want game protected.

HENRY A. MARTIN,
WM. EINFELDT,
W. S. SMITH,
F. M. TETER,
A. A. MATHEWS.

NOTES

A NUMBER of sportsmen from Sunbury, State College and Philadelphia, Pa., have organized what is known as the Central Pennsylvania Game Association, and secured, by purchase or lease, control of over 15,000 acres of land in Center, Mifflin and Union counties. The land secured is naturally adapted for a game preserve, as it has been a dense mountainous forest recently cut off, leaving only a thick growth of underbrush. A stream running the entire length of the preserve is heavily stocked with trout, and some of the largest catches of the speckled mountain fish have been made in its waters. A game warden is retained by the association to protect the game against trespassers. This is the largest preserve in the state. A "dinkey" railroad connecting with the Lewisburg Railroad at Paddy Mountain renders it accessible. The members of the association are Robert Whitman, Roanoke, Va.; Thomas Slaymaker, Philadelphia; Charles Steele, Sunbury; H. J. Waters, State College; Dr. Leonard Parson, Philadelphia; Louis E. Reber, State College, and M. C. Ihlseng, State College.

THE members of the Tacoma (Wash.) Rifle, Rod and Gun Club are just now very much interested in the introduction of Mongolian pheasants into Pierce Co[illegible] surrounding country. They are not only p[illegible] the birds in different localities, but are plac[illegible] the hands of farmers who will protect th[illegible] slaughts of ignorant and vicious hun[illegible] shipments of these birds received by th[illegible] containing fourteen pairs, which wer[illegible] and Gun Club of Portland, all of them arriving in excellent condition. Instead of turning the birds out promiscuously, the club selects such places as will furnish the best protection to the birds, and where they can be guarded by those interested in their propagation.

CAPITALISTS and sportsmen of Leavenworth, Kan., it is said, contemplate either buying or leasing the land in Platte County, that state, on which is located Duck Lake, and by the expenditure of a few thousand dollars to again make it what it was a few years ago, one of the finest duck and fish lakes in the state. In its present condition the land is worthless, being unfit for cultivation, and the lake is gradually drying up, so that in a year or two more it would neither contain fish worth taking nor be a resort of any consequence for ducks; while by the expenditure of a little money it could be made one of the finest hunting and fishing resorts in Kansas or the Missouri valley.

A MOVEMENT is on foot among the sportsmen of Aberdeen, S. D., to organize a local association for the protection of game. They claim that every year local shooters kill the prairie chickens before the open season, commencing as early as July 1, and that by doing this they not only exterminate the birds, but destroy the sport for those who respect the law, and they propose to put a stop to such work. Prairie chickens, they say, promise to be plentiful next Fall, if they are protected during the close season from the guns of those who have no respect for the law or the size of the birds.

RECENTLY an express messenger informed me that game was being shipped from Armstrong and Spirit Lake, Ia., on almost every train and that fish were shipped out of the state from Waterville by the barrelful. If this is true it is a shame and the guilty parties ought to be made to pay dearly for it.

Albert Lea, Minn. J. S. HOWARD.

IT is reported that Attorney General Childs of Minnesota, who recently said that the new game and fish laws of his state legislated all the old members of the Game and Fish Commission out of office, has changed his mind and now decides to the contrary.

GOVERNOR HASTINGS of Pennsylvania has vetoed the Focht bill, which prohibited the hunting of quails, woodcocks and phesants for the purpose of selling the game. The Governor claimed that the bill was special legislation and therefore unconstitutional.

NEW PATENTS

The following patents in the sporting goods line have just been issued and are reported especially for the AMERICAN FIELD by Joseph H. Hunter, Attorney at Law and Solicitor of Patents, Washington, D. C.:

Cartridge clip, Roswell F. Cook, Ilion, N. Y.

Weed guard for fish hooks, William P. Shattuck, Minneapolis, Minn.

Practice cartridge, George D. R. Aikin, Louisville, Ky.

Sight for firearms, Anders G. Carlson, Rico, Colo.

Revolver, Daniel B. Wesson, Springfield, Mass., and Joseph H. Wesson, Springfield, Mass.

Magazine firearm, William Mason, New Haven, Conn.

Breakdown firearm, George D. Potter, Wallace, Idaho.

Gas check for breech-loading guns, Gregory Gerdom, Sandy Hook, N. J.

Hunting

FIXTURES

Brunswick Fur Club's annual foxhound trials, October 28, ——. B. S. Turpin, secretary.

Dixie Red Fox Club's first annual meet, Rowland, Ala., October —. J. H. Wallace Jr., secy.-treasurer.

National Fox-Hunters' Association's second annual meet, ——, November 18, etc. H. L. Means, secretary.

THE LUTTRELL—GARRETT CONTROVERSY

WAVERLY HALL, GA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I noticed in your issue of April 20 a letter written by Mr. Garrett, making a bitter attack on me. Your readers are familiar with the points at issue, and have read all the letters from myself and Mr. Garrett in regard to these hounds. In reply to this letter I will confine myself to facts without any abuse.

It is a well-known fact, acknowledged by Mr. Garrett, Andy Jordan and the Milners that he (Mr. Garrett) obtained the first hounds he ever owned from [illegible] young men; and that they were from my old M[illegible] hounds. I stated in my previous letters to the A[illegible] FIELD that this was so; and that his first fox-hunt[illegible]

this country that anybody knows of was done here in this county with these young men and their hounds ten or twelve years back. Every dog man in Georgia knows this to be true, and no man knows it better than Mr. [illegible] himself. I also stated in my previous letters that I had given up hounds and hunting, and that I gave my [illegible] to these young men; also that I suggested to [illegible] hounds, etc.

Mr. Garrett hunted foxes with the Milners and Jordans one whole Winter here, within three miles of me, before he bought any hounds from them; then he bought a lot of these hounds, namely, Luck, Wheeler, Luce and Traveller. The others he bought later the following year. This was all done before I made up my mind to hunt any more, and during all this time I had taken Mr. Garrett into my confidence and had gone hunting a few times with him. I gave him the pedigrees of all the old Maryland hounds that I bought; also the pedigrees of the Milner and Jordan hounds, never dreaming that he would go back on me, or that he would be so cruel as to write such a letter against me. Soon after he got these hounds he became a subscriber to the AMERICAN FIELD. (Mr. Editor, by referring to your books you can see dates; also you can see when I became a subscriber.)

I gave him the pedigrees of these hounds or helped him to get them, and even gave him the addresses of Dr. Hardy and all the men I bought the hounds from in Maryland, Messrs. Gosnell, Linthicum and Winters. I did it, hoping that Mr. Garrett would perpetuate the blood, as he was fully able (financially) to push them, and retain the glorious name they had won. I never then thought of owning hounds or hunting foxes any more; neither did Mr. Garrett think I would. Soon after he bought these hounds he made a trip to East Georgia, and bought from Mr. Harvey Dennis and other hunters a lot of hounds that were descendants of the famous old July, which Col. Miles Harris got from Mr. Gosnell in 1860, and which they crossed on the Henry pack that Mr. Birdsong bought from Dr. Henry of Virginia; later on, crossed on the two red dogs, Butler and Low, which Mr. Birdsong bought of Dr. Butler of Virginia and which Mr. Hamp Ridley speaks of in his letters (Nos. 1 and 2) written for the AMERICAN FIELD. After getting these hounds Mr. Garrett crossed them on the Jordan and Milner hounds that he bought first, viz., Old Luce, Luck, Wheeler and Traveller. This cross produced my Luce, that I have now, and Music and Flee, which came from old Luce and Luck. Mr. Garrett gave Jess Milner two bitch puppies, gray in color, Music and Flee. They were the result of the first cross. Jess raised them and bred Music to old Traveller, the old opossum dog he speaks of my buying from a negro, and got Willis, which Mr. Spears owns now. Then Mr. Garrett bought Music back from Mr. Milner. The next cross was made on old Luce. This cross produced the Lucy bitch I own now and which he says I took away from Joe and Jack Jordan, which I will explain later on. The next cross he made was with Wheeler. This gave him quite a lot of these young hounds of this cross, and then he began to let himself be known to the fox-hunters of the United States as an old breeder and a hunter of long standing, selling these hounds under cover, never advertising them, but drawing other hunters to his interest to speak of them and "blow" them. These hounds gave him what reputation he has as a fox-hunter. But when I dared to come into the field again, to own and hunt hounds, and bought up the balance of what hounds Milner and Jordan had left, he at once became my enemy, got mad with me, got mad with the Jordans and Milners, and would not hunt up here any more or have any thing to do with me or the Milners any more; claiming some of the young hounds I bought were his and that I knew it. It was then that I heard of his abusing me, which caused me to buy up more of them just to keep him from getting them.

I have gone over the history of the whole thing and stated facts from beginning to end. I will turn to his jealous and envious letter, in which he undertakes to make the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD believe that I am a rascal and a pedigree forger, trying to build himself up by pulling me down. Such a scheme as he tries to stuff down the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD will fail, and truth and honesty will prevail in the end. His first charge is that I forced a pair of his puppies from Zack and Joe Jordan. Joe is dead now, but Zack is living yet. They loaned Mr. Garrett old Luce, before he bought her, to breed to his Hunt dog, with a promise of half the puppies. When they came, Mr. Garrett sent them only two puppies, Lucy and Tom (not Wheeler, as he says) as their half. I bought Lucy, but would not have Tom, and I paid Joe Jordan his price for her. Twelve months after I got Lucy Joe sold Tom to Mr. Eberhart of Columbus, Ga., right under Mr. Garrett's nose and he knew all about it, for he tried to buy the hound from Mr. Eberhart time and again, but Mr. Eberhart would not let him have it and told me all about it. This shows the puppies were not his. He was to return [illegible] when she had weaned her [illegible] never would give her up, but [illegible] her so long a time.

I want to say to the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD that on account of my trouble with Mr. Garrett I never did try to get the breeding in detail of the hounds Mr. Dennis sold Mr. Garrett; hence I could only give the breeding of my old Maryland hounds' side, except to state that they were from Old July and the Dr. Henry dog and Birdsong. In doing this it made Mr. Garrett still madder with me because I did not say they were "Garrett hounds." Major G. V. Young, W. C. Goodman, W. N. Ramsey and many other hunters will bear me out in this. His claiming to know so much about my hounds and his calling on the men that I have sold hounds to to write to him and he will give them the percentage of July blood in them, if they will send stamp, is the cheekiest thing I ever read, and in itself shows that he is going desperately crazy, jealous and envious.

How he dwells on the sworn certificates that he produces in his letter to give strength to his assertions! Now, I propose to show their value, and how they were procured by Mr. Garrett, by simply letting these young men answer for themselves. They all have written open letters to the AMERICAN FIELD denying them. Mr. Berry, who signed them as notary public, is Mr. Garrett's own bookkeeper. They were manipulated by Mr. Garrett to suit his case. Read them carefully and see if he is not, and has not been all the time, trying to breed out the blood of the Jordan and Milner hounds and substituting something else.

Mr. Garrett says I am a dog trader and buy every cheap dog I can from farmers, and sell them for a profit, by which means I manage to make some smutty dollars. This is not true. I never have bought but five or six hounds since I commenced to hunt again, and those were from Jordan and Milner, or of their breeding, just to keep Mr. Garrett from getting them. Let us see who has the best chance to make a smutty dollar. I own and make a living on a little farm and raise, train and sell a few foxhounds of this July blood every year. Mr. Garrett lives in the city of Columbus, Ga., and is a whisky seller, a dog seller, a dog buyer; he has grown quite rich selling whisky, but not so rich by selling dogs, for the demand from him has been limited. Now who has the best chance to make a smutty dollar?

He says he has been waiting two years for me to hang myself. He is mistaken. He has been scheming and planning for two years to ruin my name. Every negro he meets from this section he pumps in regard to me and my hounds. Even my friend Storey has had to go through his pumping machine. He pumps and manufactures evidence enough, as he thinks, to damn me. He says Storey's foxhounds have been catching all the foxes for me, when the truth is Mr. Storey has only two foxhounds, which I gave him when they were puppies. Mr. Garrett knows this to be true.

Mr. Garrett is a strange man. He has had a fuss with every man he has had anything to do with about these same foxhounds. He fell out with his partner in dogs, Jatson Willis—they will not speak—the Rich Bros., the Bowdens and the Pritchards. I feel sorry for Garrett. I hate to see him make a mule of himself. I think I speak the sentiments of every hunter in Georgia when I say it is a great pity that these hounds ever fell into his hands, for he has done them more harm than any living man. He will not take care of them, and wherever he has sent them they have been outclassed, which shows he does not know how to breed or handle them.

I have a forgiving spirit and desire to get along with all mankind. I have made two efforts in the last two years to settle this thing; once through Capt. Ridley and once through young Garrett.

As to my trying to "hoodoo" Capt. Johnson by getting Winters to send him out out a pair of "plug dogs," so I might get the agency for them, it is as untrue as can be. Capt. Johnston is living, his postoffice address is Hamilton, Harris County, Ga., and if any man wants to hear the truth from him he can write to him about the hounds—Brag and Jipps were their names—as fast a pair of hounds as ever put foot on Georgia soil. There was no agency about it. I bought the whole twenty-three hounds from Maryland and paid for them myself. Probably I would have been better off if I had never seen them, for I spent a plantation on them and hunting.

Now, I will say to the editor of the AMERICAN FIELD that I will never trouble him again by replying to Mr. Garrett's slanders through the press. If this is not satisfactory to him, he can find me at Waverly Hall any day.

W. H. LUTTRELL.

CLEOLA, HARRIS CO., GA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I notice in the AMERICAN FIELD a certificate of mine published in the AMERICAN FIELD by George G. Garrett of Columbus, Ga., in regard to foxhounds. I will state the certificate, as published, does not state the facts in the case. The certificate that Mr. Luttrell published two years ago I did not sign, but Mr. Luttrell came to my house and read it to me and I told him to sign my name to it; that it was correct that the hounds we boys raised came direct from Mr. Luttrell's old Maryland hounds, through the Lem Davis Till and old Foot and Boston.

The crosses we made just before we quit hunting and sold our old hounds to Mr. Garrett were made on the hounds that Mr. Garrett got from Mr. Harvey Dennis of Putnam County, Ga., at least Mr. Garrett told us so.

We have no interest in the controversy more than to state facts as they are, for they are both our friends and we exceedingly regret that the two gentlemen don't agree about their hounds. Mr. Luttrell is as truthful and honorable a man as is in the state and he has done more to improve and bring up foxhounds in this part of the state than any man I know and has spent more money on hounds than any man in our county.

I ask you to publish this letter in justice to all concerned.

Z. T. JORDAN.

CLEOLA, HARRIS CO., GA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I notice an affidavit published in AMERICAN FIELD of April 20, which does not state the facts in the case. In the first place I never went before a notary public to make any statement under oath. The foxhounds that I hunted and run were directly from Mr. Luttrell's old Maryland hounds, Tin, Della, Sailor, Wheeler and Thom, and were as good as I ever saw. Jordan's foxhounds came direct from Mr. Luttrell's old Maryland dogs, on the sire's side, old Luce, Traveller, Forest, Luck and Tucker. According to my own judgment there are no dogs that could improve them. I had rather have them than any dogs on earth.

Brother Hop sold Luck to Mr. Garrett. Mr. Garrett bred Luck to old Nip (from Mr. Dennis' dogs) and got Flee and Music, and they were above an average red fox foxhound. I sold Music back to Mr. Garrett and Wheeler. The old Traveller that I gave our Hamil was as good a foxhound as ever I saw; while he was not as fast as some we had, he was always there.

I have no interest in this controversy. Mr. Luttrell and Mr. Garrett are both my friends. I have hunted with both of them. I have known Mr. Luttrell twenty-five years. He is as truthful and honorable a man as I know.

J. H. MILNER.

CLEOLA, HARRIS COUNTY, GA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I notice in the AMERICAN FIELD of April 20 a certificate from Mr. George J. Garrett, in which the facts are not represented. I never went before Mr. Barry, N. P., to make any statement in regard to any foxhounds. I saw Mr. Garrett and he asked me to give him the pedigree of my old Jenny. I gave her breeding to him, which was correct. I failed to tell him the Jordans' hounds came direct on the sire's side from the old Maryland hounds that Mr. Luttrell shipped here, through old Boston, Lem Davis, Till and old Foot.

I have no interest in the controversy between Mr. Garrett and Mr. Luttrell in the world. Mr. Luttrell is a neighbor and friend of mine. I have known him ever since I was a boy, and there is not a more honorable or truthful man in the county. Also I am a friend to Mr. Garrett, and I regret that the two men cannot agree about dogs. I have written what I have merely in the interest of justice to myself and all parties concerned.

J. T. MCLEROY.

NOTES

FOXHOUNDS are offered for sale this week by Mr. G. W. Pierce, Brattleboro, Vt.

Fish and Fishing

FIXTURES

Chicago Fly Casting Club's open to the world tournament, August 24. F. B. Davidson, secretary.

NEW ENGLAND FISHING NOTES

NEW YORK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Late reports fully confirm the prospects for an unusually good season's sport with rod and line in the far Eastern states. In Maine the catches already made of trout and landlocked salmon have been excellent, at many places, and experts have captured many very large trout in the Rangeleys, Moosehead, Lookmeguntic and Richardson lakes.

On May 19 a party of prominent gentlemen—Mr. J. R. Marble of Worcester, Mass., Mr. W. A. Marble of New York, and Mr. Richard Olney of Leicester, Mass.—returned home from a ten days' fishing trip in Maine. They went first to Pine Point Camps, on Lake Webb, but made a short stay there, however, as the fishing proved poor. Their next stop was at the Rangeley House, on Rangeley Lake, where one day's fishing secured a goodly string of small trout. But they were after bigger fishes, and the next day they set out for Kennebago Lake, where only one other party had fished this year. That afternoon, at the lower end of the lake, they enjoyed fine sport as the spoils showed that evening when they reached the hotel. Sixty handsome trout, the largest of two pounds' weight, had rewarded their skill. Another angler, however, captured a trout the same day which weighed three and one-half pounds.

The next day and the day after that, the same grounds seemed entirely destitute of trout, as the anglers' utmost skill was exerted to no avail. The succeeding day the party visited Quimby Pond, which is famous for its yield of fine trout, and enjoyed fair success. On the whole they were well pleased as each fisherman landed his share of the trout and every man caught one or two big trout, that weighed two pounds or more apiece.

At Sebago Lake the landlocked salmon fishing has been immense. Five, six and seven pounders have been caught quite commonly, and some more lucky anglers have landed still larger ones. A few days since, Mr. E. W. Meserve caught a ten-pounder; a lad from South Naples—Walter Crockett—who has but just donned long breeches, caught one of ten and one-half pounds, and a proud boy Walter was as he strutted home with his piscatorial prize. A few days later, Scott McKenny caught a trout that weighed seven pounds, and a number of other good catches of salmon and trout have been made.

At the famous salmon pool, at Bangor, a number of enthusiastic fishermen from other states have tried their skill at luring the lordly salmo salar, among whom were Mr. Archibald Mitchell and Judge Willis Briscoe, both from Norwich, Conn. Some magnificent fishes have been landed from the pool, a few of them going nearly thirty pounds in weight.

Green Lake, Sebec and Moosehead lakes are all accessible from Bangor and yield fine sport to the patient disciple of Walton. At the former, a few days since, a party landed in one day nineteen landlocked salmon; and Mr. E. M. Hersey of Bangor was so fortunate as to catch a ten-pounder, one of the best so far this season, Near Waterville are found some of the best trout brooks in the state. Many are closed by law, but the unprotected streams are yielding fine sport. One of the best brooks is the Messalonskee, from which some fine specimens are taken. A three-pounder, a beauty, was caught there lately by a boy.

Bass have begun to take the spoon in the Belgrade Ponds, which, by the way, are the best bass waters in Maine, if not in all New England. The bass there will rise for the fly later, and three, four and five pounders can be taken, the latter, of course, being caught only occasionally.

In New Hampshire the fishing season has begun in earnest. The troutsmen and Summer boarders have invaded their favorite localities in the state and fishing is the daily pastime. At Bristol Mr. N. S. Wax and his son, from Boston, are among the lucky ones, they having had excellent success with brook trout and lake trout; of the former they have caught large strings, and one day they came home from a trip upon the lake with an eleven pound lake trout. A party from Malden, Mass.—Dr. A. G. Griffin, H. A. Miner, Geo. Minot, W. E. Barker and J. P. Litch—brought in the other day three lake trout and salmon which aggregated thirty-four pounds weight, besides a big lot of brook trout. The hotels and cottages are nearly full of guests, even at this early season.

Around Plymouth, in the Pemigewasset Valley, at Newfound Lake, in fact, at hundreds of places in New Hampshire, good fishing can be found; but a number of streams have been closed to public fishing, and the trout fisher should post himself upon their names and location. I will try to obtain a list of them soon, and send it to you for publication.

Pleasant Pond, or Lake Pleasant, which had been closed for five years past, during which time it had been liberally stocked with trout and landlocked salmon, was opened this season, and on May 1 a small army of enthusiasts were seen on its waters. Some very fine catches were made. Among the lucky ones were Chairman Wentworth, of the state fish and game commission; Mr. Beasom, of Nashua, who landed two fine salmon; two anglers from Westerly, R. I., who caught five brook trout and four salmon, which weighed two pounds each, on the average; and the veteran, Capt. Gordon, landed, among other good ones, a brook trout which weighed between three and four pounds.

One party of three caught eighty pounds of salmon and trout, one of the former being a seven-pounder.

One observer claimed he counted forty-one boats on the lake at ten o'clock the morning of May 1. The angler can hardly fail of obtaining good sport in New Hampshire if he will take pains to post himself a little on the fishing waters.

In Vermont one of the favorite sections to which troutsmen resort is Rutland County. At the latest reports, however, snow still lay upon shaded spots and in ravines on the sides and tops of the mountains, the water in the streams was as cold as ice, and the trout season, in consequence of these unfavorable conditions, was backward. Sport was better there last year than for ten years past, thanks to the work of State Fish Commissioner Titcomb, and the troutsmen who have been accustomed to fish Otter Creek, and the many other streams flowing down the sides of the Green Mountains, to say nothing of the beautiful lakes nestling on some of the mountain tops, undoubtedly will find ample results rewarding their efforts a little later.

From the mountain streams of Massachusetts the trout fishers are luring trout in sufficient numbers to keep up their interest in the sport. In the Berkshire hills the Pittsfield Rod and Gun Club has taken pains to restock many streams and already have been manifested the good results of their work. The streams flowing into the upper part of the Housatonic River are all natural trout waters, and the legitimate trout fishers of that section are earnestly trying to maintain the sport in that part of their state.

On the whole, the indications are that good fishing will be the rule, not the exception, this season, in New England.

KNICKERBOCKER.

NOTES

THE first club competition of the series of 1895, of the Chicago Fly Casting Club, was held last Saturday in North Garfield Park, Chicago. There was a good attendance of members, as well as many visitors, among the latter several ladies who take an interest in scientific angling. The members of the club appreciated their graceful compliment, and the contests had an added charm in consequence. Notwithstanding the wind was blowing strongly from the southwest, some excellent casting was done. Mr. B. W. Goodsell scored 91 feet in the long distance fly casting event, one fly, nine foot leader, D line, 9½ ounce, 11 foot split bamboo rod; platform one foot above water. Of course he carried off the medal. He had only two competitors who braved the adverse wind, F. B. Davidson, 73 feet, and G. W. Strell, 66 feet, the latter using an 8 ounce, 9½ foot rod, D line. The wind played havoc with the fly in the distance and accuracy event, but Mr. Goodsell was favored again, winning the medal with a score of 92 per cent. Mr. Davidson captured the dry fly casting medal with 94⅜ per cent. On a windy day it was natural that the largest number of entries would be in the half ounce bait casting event. Mr. Davidson, in a practice trial, made the unheard-of score of 171 feet, average five casts; in the record contest, however, he fell to an average of 107 2-5 feet; J. M. Clark's longest cast was 103 feet; Geo. W. Strell's 110 feet, B. W. Goodsell's 131 feet, F. N. Peet's 120 feet, J. E. Strong's 137 feet. Dr. Lauer and several other visitors were invited to cast, and all surprised themselves as well as others at what they could do. The next contest will be held at the same place next Saturday, June 8, at 2 p. m.

MR. C. C. HEIMBAUGH, who is fish warden along the Kankakee in Illinois, has been doing some good work there. His latest exploit is best related in his own words. He writes: "Regarding fishing prospects I will say the water is a little wet—at least I thought so a few nights ago. I have been doing all my fishing after night, and have made a fair catch—it was only one fish, though, and he weighed $10 and costs. It was not a black bass or a pickerel; it was a Logan. He was a game one, but I happened to have a good line. I have some more hooked up, and will land them before long. I was down to Waldron a few days ago, having a talk with the boys, as some had sent me word they would throw me in the creek, and I thought it a good time to go and tell them I was the fish warden that never gets 'ducked.' Fishing will be good, as all the dogfish have been speared and salted down. You see, 'the boys' were afraid to spear anything else." A warden made of this kind of "stuff" should receive the support of every angler, and if the Fox Lake region had a few of them located in that vicinity, that unequaled fishing resort would soon regain its name of the "angler's paradise."

AN angler of Philadelphia, Mr. H. R. Shoch, who has returned recently from Florida, spent some weeks there fishing for the gamy tarpon, and he gained quite a reputation as an angler for the "silver king." He landed twelve tarpons, which weighed a total of 1,356 pounds, during his stay. He used a heavy split-bamboo rod, made for tarpon killing, a Vom Hoffe "Star" reel, and a fifteen-strand braided linen line. The record of his catch is as follows: April 1, five feet two inches, seventy-five pounds; April 9, six feet, one inch, one hundred and ten pounds; April 11, six feet, one hundred and two pounds; April 12, five feet three inches, seventy-three pounds; April 16, six feet two inches, one hundred and thirty-eight pounds; April 26, six feet nine inches, one hundred and sixty-seven pounds; April 26, six feet three inches, one hundred and twenty-six pounds; May 1, six feet two inches, one hundred and thirty pounds; May 2, six feet five inches, one hundred and thirty-six pounds; May 2, five feet eight inches, eighty-seven pounds; May 4, five feet ten inches, one hundred and twelve pounds; May 4, five feet ten inches, one hundred pounds.

AT State College, Pa., a fish and game society has been organized to control a large preserve. The officers elected are as follows: President, Robert Whitmer, Roanoke, Va.; secretary and treasurer, Charles Ste[illegible]. The other members are: H. J. Waters, [illegible] Dr. Leonard E. Pearson, Philadelphi[illegible] State College; Thomas Slaymaker, P[illegible] Louis E. Reber, State College. The [illegible] about 15,000 acres of cleared woodland, [illegible] Treaster Valley. A stream rich in mountain trout runs the entire length of the preserve, offering either fly or bait fishing. The preserve is the largest and one of the best in the state, and preparations are being made to fence the land in. A game warden will be retained on the ground in the Fall, and a mountain lodge built for the accommodation of the owners and their friends.

ON May 16, W. S. Hayes, superintendent of the express department of the Northern Pacific Railway, issued orders to all the agents along the line north of Minneapolis, to the effect that no consignments of fish should be received for transportation until the consignor had filled out a certain blank form, which, when properly filled, is substantially an affidavit in which the shipper swears that the fish have been taken in a legal manner. The wardens think that if the instructions from headquarters are carefully carried out the result will be a marked falling off in the consignments of speared and netted fish, consequently there will be less of them taken in violation of the law, and the good effects were evidenced the very next day in almost entire cessation of the shipments.

THE Browder Club, of Montgomery, Ala., recently spent two weeks fishing and hunting at Navy Cove in the bay below Mobile, where the club takes an outing every season and has entertained some noted men, among whom Hon. H. A. Herbert and Hon. Amos J. Cummings of New York may be mentioned. The roster of the club on the trip was as follows: Messrs. J. H. Higgins, C. L. Ruth, W. W. Warren, W. S. Doron, John G. Lugenbeel, J. R. Sayre, J. M. Kennedy, G. M. Williams of Birmingham, William Irwin, W. T. Robertson, Dr. J. S. Stuart, S. L. Tyson, Robert Brown, J. H. Cook, T. J. Gaughan of Arkansas. Mr. C. R Wescott, who has been in Mobile attending the annual conclave of the grand commandery of Knights Templar of the state, joined the party.

THE Broome County N. Y. Fish Protective Association recently held a meeting at Binghamton, when the resignation of H. S. Vance as secretary was accepted and Prof. H. S. Fowler was appointed temporary secretary. Treasurer W. H. Hall reported the association had received eighty-six dollars in dues. President Cunningham was authorized to order painted signs warning anglers as to the seasons and the size limits prescribed by law. These will be hung in conspicuous places at the Rockbottom and Brush dams, and at the railroad bridges, also at the mouth of the Chenango and at other localities where there is illegal fishing. After these signs are in place, the members will see to it that all violations are reported and the association will push all prosecutions.

A RECENT dispatch from Hancock, Md., says that bass fishing has been excellent on the Potomac River. The Woodmont Rod and Gun Club, at Dam No. 6, ten miles west of Hancock, has entertained a number of fishermen from Washington. Col. Myron H. Parker, of that city, caught sixteen fine bass in two days, and Col. Richard Bright, sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, caught the same number in one day. Senator Hawley, who has been a guest at the club, has been making big catches, as has also General Ordway. One fisherman caught in the Potomac, in one day, between Weverton and Brunswick, seventy-two pounds of bass.

A FEW days ago, Deputy Game Warden Parpue, of Park Rapids, Minn., with Sheriff Moran, went to the Crow Wing River and made a raid on poachers. Four violators of the fish law were captured and taken before Justice Moody, where they were fined twenty-five dollars each. From the upper part of Minnesota River are received reports that large numbers of sturgeons, bass, and other fine fishes are being taken on "trot" lines, contrary to law. The report should be investigated at once, and the illegal fishers, if caught, should be punished.

THE Iroquois Boating and Fishing Club of Meadville, Pa., held its annual meeting the night of May 13, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, F. R. Shryock; vice-president, J. H. Stewart; secretary, John E. Reynolds; treasurer, H. H. Fuller; board of directors, Dr. E. T. Lashells, A. G. Church and Dr. A. Johnston. The club's comfortable box at the lake is open for the season, and has already entertained a number of members.

IN Maine President H. H. Hanson of the Lake Auburn Fish Protective Association, in company with a friend, took fifteen trout and a landlocked salmon from [illegible] on Wednesday, May 15. They only fished th[illegible] and claim that their luck was rare. Lake Aubur[illegible] to continue to furnish good fishing. P. G. Buckn[illegible] Charles Bolster of Lewiston took nine trout and a sa[illegible] from that lake the next day. The salmon weighed three and one-half pounds.

[illegible], the members of the Ocala Crystal River [illegible] are excited and indignant at hearing that a [illegible] sportsmen from Dunnellon have ex[illegible] cartridges in the stream and killed the fishes by thousands. Not only is this a wanton destruction but it will drive the tarpons out of the river. An effort will be made to secure the names of the violators of the fishing laws and make them suffer.

THE Canandaigua (N. Y.) Rod and Gun Club will hold its annual fishing contest on June 20. Lewis H. Adams and Walter H. Knapp have been chosen as captains of the opposing teams.

Natural History

THE REPTILES OF MICHIGAN—NO. 17

BY MORRIS GIBBS

Turtles and Terrapins

Spiney Soft-shelled Turtle; Leather-back — Trionyx spiniferus (Le S.).—This species is preëminently aquatic, and its anatomical structure indicates that it is most emphatically a water turtle. It is found in both streams and lakes, but never in roily situations or where vegetable debris is abundant. In fact, it seems to prefer clear water; and I think its choice is for good-sized lakes rather than streams, while it is rarely if ever found in small, muddy ponds and situations selected by the mud turtle. This turtle may be readily recognized by its attenuated snout, which is entirely different in form from all others. It may also be told by the markings on its shell, which consist of small, well defined rings. The name—soft-shelled turtle—may assist those to distinguish it who care to identify our turtles. The outside integument is radically different from the typical segmented turtle shell, being much like leathery skin, and hence its names. The carapace is nearly round in shape, the edges being filled or extended out very evenly by the cartilaginous or half-bony substance. The plastron is very small, leaving the under parts much exposed, as is also the case of strictly marine species.

The soft-shelled turtle has a graceful motion in the water, but looks flat and awkward on land from the depressed form of its shell. Nevertheless, it can scuttle along quite rapidly on the ground, and in a manner quite surprising, getting over the sand and gravel of the lake shore fully twice as fast as a land species can travel. Although the upper shell is so low and flat, yet the bony framework beneath disproves the supposition formed from our idea of the soft condition of the external integument. In fact, a dissection much surprises us, as regards the osseous structure and the strength displayed.

In May or June, or even later, the leather-back crawls upon the sandy shores of the lake and deposits its eggs after the manner of all other turtles with which I am acquainted. This is always done under the cover of darkness, or at least I suppose it is, as I have never seen an adult leather-back high enough from the lake to lead me to think that it was prospecting for a hole for its eggs. Nor does it ever wander far from the shore, but deposits its globular eggs nearly always within ten or twelve [illegible] within a yard of the water. [illegible] number of eggs that it lays, [illegible] egg-bearing female or taken [illegible] clutch of eggs. However, it is fair to judge that the number of eggs is large, as I have found over forty together; but this large number might have resulted from the combined efforts of two or more females.

This species has the unfounded reputation of being deadly poisonous, and I have heard most ridiculous stories in regard to the virulency of its bite. It has gained this bad name, perhaps, through its appearance, as its head and neck are decidedly snake-like. It is very active in its movements, and, as it can bite severely, its captor must use great care in handling an individual; but the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD may be assured that the creature is not poisonous in the slightest degree.

Once, when a boy, I kept a small leather-back as captive for several months. It was confined in the family cistern, and was taken from the water almost daily. It soon came to know me well but would never eat in my presence, although tempted by many articles both animal and vegetable. But I do not doubt that it ate angleworms when unnoticed. This little turtle could stay under water for several hours without apparent inconvenience. Professors S. P. and S. H. Gage have demonstrated that this species and the following enjoy a true aquatic respiration:

"While under water there are about sixteen movements of the hyoid apparatus each minute, and by means of this the mouth and pharynx are filled with water and again emptied. The mucous membrance of the pharynx is closely beset with filamentous processes which have the appearance of the villi of the intestines and are abundantly supplied with blood."

Improbable as it may seem, this question of double respiration is not without able advocates, and there is scarcely a doubt that, in time, it will be fairly demonstrated that some turtles, particularly the representatives of the genus Trionyx, in America, will be shown to possess this double respiratory function; at least, at certain seasons. There is no doubt that these turtles can still live after being under water for a full day's time, and I have seen individuals which had voluntarily remained submerged for several hours. It is fair to maintain that, if a turtle can remain beneath the surface for a day, it can carry on the same process of aquatic breathing for a month or more.

It is generally supposed that this species, as with most other turtles of the United States, hibernates in the mud and water at the bottom of the lake from October till the following April. I cannot assert that it is so; but assuming that it is then it follows that, while these atmospheric-air-breathing reptiles are going into the state of torpidity which is to hold them for weeks or months, they must be gifted with a peculiar power to vitalize the blood, which must continue to circulate as long, at least, as the animal is still conscious. Allowing that it takes a day or two, at least, for the lethargic creature to pass fully into torpidity, then we must account for the aeration of the blood by some system aside from that which generally followed during the Summer.

But does the turtle burrow in the mud and water of the bottom of the lake and stream? And does it pass into a state of torpidity? Is it utterly inanimate and in the condition of a chrysalis which holds the spark of life—the caterpillar, butterfly—yet does not breathe? To the last I judge not. I believe the turtle at the bottom of the lake—and that is where most aquatic species stay, I feel sure—continues to breathe as steadily though probably not as rapidly as the hibernating groundhog, arctomys monax. Most of our aquatic turtles, especially Malaclemmys, Chrysemys and Chelydra, undoubtedly do burrow and hibernate, as they have never been seen by me when cold weather prevailed; but where they secrete themselves I do not know, and, strictly speaking, the habits of hibernation in the box tortoise have been studied alone. The leather-back, which we are discussing, may, in the main, hibernate as well as the other species; but this is not always a necessary condition, even in the coldest weather, as I can prove. I have repeatedly observed individuals in November, when duck hunting, at times when portions of the lake were covered with ice, and I get it on good authority, from a friend, that several of these turtles were seen beneath the clear ice in the month of December, at about the forty-second parallel.

On one occasion, late February or early March, when fishing through the ice at Gull Lake, Kalamazoo County, I saw an active individual of this species beneath the ice. It was during a very severe Winter, or just after it, and the ice was still at least fifteen inches thick over most of the lake. There were no airholes within three hundred yards of the spot where this turtle was seen, and the only other chance for air was at the holes cut for the set-lines. This would tend toward proving that this species is supplied with a system for aquatic respiration. It would be an interesting test to secure a large leather-back turtle and experiment with it regarding its ability to remain below the surface of the water.

It has been fully demonstrated that the bowfin, Amia, and the gars, Lepidosteidæ, fishes, are to a limited degree supplied with a power of breathing atmospheric air, and it does not seem unlikely that some of our turtles should possess variations from the accepted standard, more particularly when we know that several species of salamanders possess the true amphibious nature—possessing both gills and lungs throughout their existence.

MC DONALD LAKE, MONTANA—NORTH END OF MC DONALD OR GLACIER LAKE

MC DONALD LAKE, MONTANA—LOVERS OF NATURE

Travel

McDONALD LAKE, MONTANA

(Illustrated)

BY F. A. JOHNSON

It may be safely assumed that a vast majority of the friends and readers of the AMERICAN FIELD, scattered over the entire country, have similar tastes—have longings for the forests, streams, lakes, plains or mountains, an intense love of nature and of rejuvenating open air sports with rod and gun, and that they labor under the same difficulty in gratifying their desires. They do not know where to go. The exact landing place must be determined, and arrangements made in advance for getting out into good grounds. Every sportsman can readily recall three or four trips which resulted in disappointment, as to game, to one in which the measure of his anticipation was filled. But he has learned that every outing with the right companions has been a success; that he has had the incomparable pleasure of anticipation and preparation; in the realization, if trout did not rise or he failed to find the game he sought, he saw new scenes, had new experiences, renewed his acquaintance with nature, increased his appetite, nerve and muscle, and returned a better man. Soon forgetting the supposed want of success, he ever afterward enjoys the trip in retrospection. The genuine hunter and fisherman is thus the happiest man in the world, and he is generally a good man to "tie to."

MC DONALD LAKE, MONTANA—MOUTH OF OUR CAMP STREAM

The more successful trips, however, stand out in his recollection like the peaks of the greater mountains, radiant with the glory of the rising sun. We have all learned the worthlessness of hearsay information, of estimates of game from those who never hunt; and know that local sportsmen are apt to keep their valuable knowledge to themselves unless they are prepared to serve as guides, and then the tendency in them is to exaggeration. The woods, lakes and streams of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota have until recently furnished good sport, but the market butcher has left them nearly tenantless, and the time has come when we must change our mode of recreation and, instead of taking numerous short trips during the year, condense them into one or two longer and more satisfactory excursions.

It is my purpose to give the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD some facts learned during a month of personal experience last Summer at McDonald Lake, Montana. Through correspondence with Mr. F. I. Whitney, General Passenger Agent of the Great Northern Railroad, we obtained reliable information of the country—based upon his personal knowledge—and by correspondence with Frank Geduhn, a trapper and guide via Columbia Falls, we arranged in advance for such assistance as we needed.

In forty-eight hours from St. Paul we stepped from a Great Northern train at a section house and switching station called Belton, just at the foot of the main divide of the Rocky Mountains, after several delightful hours spent upon the rear platform while going through a pass abounding in scenery of indescribable beauty and rugged grandeur through which the Middle Fork of the Flathead River, starting as a tiny rivulet near the summit and developing into a torrent sixty yards in width, rushes down into the valley westward.

There we found Frank, the hardy and faithful boatman and trapper, waiting for us with a large pirogue—sharp pointed at both ends—into which our camping outfit and supplies were soon stored. Passing down the Flathead two miles, then north up the outlet for four miles, we arrived at the foot of the lake and learned at once that the geographers were all in error in describing its form and size. We had three of the latest and best maps, and not one of them approached a correct description. It is about four miles in nearly uniform width, about eighteen miles long, lies in a deep valley extending nearly north and south and bordered on the east and also on the west side by a heavily timbered ridge gradually rising to a height of about two thousand feet at each crest four miles from the lake, and within twenty feet from the water line pitching down into a depth of blackness, although the water is as pure as crystal.

Two small trout streams flow in from the west, two small and two larger ones from the east; and at the north end McDonald River, thirty yards wide and three or four feet deep, enters with a rushing volume of icy coldness, forming whirlpools and eddies in the lake in which three varieties of trout are always abundant. These streams create a current in the lake which keeps it absolutely free from weeds and driftwood.

The lake heads among snow capped mountains which extend down about one mile on each side, and a tapering valley, heavily timbered, crossed by rocky ridges and containing ponds and swamps, extends about eight miles northward to the narrow gorge through which the main river has worn its way and formed its grandly picturesque passage through cañons and over falls to the lake.

At the upper end of the valley Goat Mountain stands out, cone-shaped and apparently alone though it is the south end of a chain, and on the east Mt. Brown towers far above the clouds, rugged and grand above the timber line and crowned with eternal snow and ice. Between these the east branch of the river flows from a point far northeast, and from the same general source Chambers Creek passes along the east side of Mt. Brown, around its south end, and tumbling down one thousand feet in four miles by a multitude of cascades rushes into the lake. It has formed a rocky point and a curved, sandy beach, and there we pitched our tents and lived for three glorious weeks, condensing into that brief time more of the ecstacy of existence, appreciation of the sublimity of nature and gratitude for such companionship and surroundings than any year of life had ever given us.

Facing northward our view extended more than a mile over the silvery lake in which a world of forest and snow-clad mountains were mirrored, its surface enlivened by the leaping trout, and the scene at times toned to sadness by the mournful notes of the loon. One day with such a scene, in that sunlight and in that vitalizing air, was worth the expense of the entire trip; and it may be safely stated that if genuine lovers of grand scenery knew what our own country contains western trains would be more crowded and German and Swiss innkeepers would have fewer American guests. To maintain our reputation for boastfulness every American should visit this region and "stock up" before going abroad.

As the north end of the lake is only about forty miles from our northern boundary line, it is an easy entrance to a vast wilderness of forests and mountains, extending to Alaska and crossed only by the Canadian Pacific, and without a settlement or sign of civilization for hundreds of miles. Its elevation is understood when we recall that on the east side of the divide the waters of St. Mary's Lakes flow into the Saskatchewan and Hudson Bay, the headwaters of Marias River into the Missouri, on their way to the Gulf, and the waters of McDonald Lake into the Columbia and thence to the Pacific Ocean.

The practical reader will say that he could not live on scenery, and will want to know what we were able to obtain there fit for the stomach. Let me say the stomachs were as well supplied as the minds. I do not speak of the number of trout or deer or grouse, as the members of our party never take more game than we need. As an indication of abundance: One of our party caught forty-two ordinary brook trout in about one hour of fishing down the little stream at our camp. At the mouth of the same stream, in the lake, we caught the larger Rocky Mountain trout; and in the deeper waters of the lake and at the whirlpools at the head we caught the pink salmon trout; and we continually kept a box full of live trout in the lake near our tents. One man could supply our party of seven by one hour or less of fishing each day.

In the forests and on the mountain sides we found grouse and "fool hens" in quantities to supply our needs, and many times left coveys of them in the trees with their heads on because we had all we required. At the upper end of the valley signs of deer and bear were abundant, but though we heard bears we were only fortunate enough to get a glimpse of one.

There are few deer around the borders of the lake, and as to hunting the lake is chiefly valuable as a base for side trips into the finest hunting grounds in the country; side trips for the fat, the lazy, elderly or frail hunter, or most enticing trips for the vigorous and enthusiastic hunter who will "rough it" with only rifle, hatchet, tin cup, bacon, flour and salt as his outfit, and his [illegible] legs as a conveyance, into the unexplored [illegible] eastward. Mr. Geduhn has two neat log [illegible] in the woods, at each end of the lake, where [illegible] fortably quartered and furnished with [illegible] and he will be able to furnish packhorses [illegible] the mountain, seven miles westward [illegible] Valley, which is probably the finest [illegible] in the country. At the upper end of the valley are three small lakes filled with trout, which were never fished until last Summer, and from the lower lake a fine stream flows through the forest and then by serpentine curves through a series of prairies, bordered by thick clumps of alders and willows where deer are always at home, and where we saw the fresh track of a moose and watched nearly all night to see the animal itself but without reward. A family of young beavers sported in the stream in front of our descending canoe apparently for our amusement as well as their own, but we refrained from shooting them.

An old Indian trail passes through the Camas Valley north to the Blackfoot Pass near the border line, and also along the base of the divide into British America, and we were informed is easily followed and readily passable for packhorses accustomed to mountain work. One day of travel north on this trail brings the hunter into a bear country where he is sure to have some exciting experiences. The mountains also abound in "big horns," and the lucky hunter may also find a goat, the only place within our borders, as I am informed, where goats still remain. Our wonderful fortune in securing seven of them was detailed in the AMERICAN FIELD of September 29, 1891.

With such facilities for getting into the heart of the wilderness, the hunter's wife may share in the sport provided she has nerve and enthusiasm. While we were at the lake a gentleman from Chicago, with his wife and brother, outfitted with packhorses and went north on the Camas Valley trail into the heart of the wilderness; and I afterward saw a goatskin, three bearskins and several deerskins which they had sent in to be dressed. This lady was voted by our party the "queen huntress," dressed as she was in short skirts, moving with the freedom of a deer, armed with a telescope .38-55 Marlin, a sure shot, enthusiastic in the sport, and with nerve and muscles fitting her to endure the hardships of such a trip. Her name, address and photogravure in hunting costume should be published to encourage other ladies to make similar trips, and she would do a great service to her sex if she would publish an account of her experiences.

Few hunters or fishermen have as yet entered this region, for the railroad was built through the mountains less than four years ago. The divide east of the lake is a vast wilderness of peaks, snow banks, cañons and timbered valleys, unknown and unexplored, but accessible by hunters having endurance. It is probably forty miles in width, possibly more, and two of our party penetrated about five miles and found game signs abundant.

It is also a field for another kind of exploration. I have recently read an extract from a Montana paper regarding an unsuccessful attempt to penetrate the mountains eastward to a glacier. A trapper informed us that he had seen the glacier from the side of Goat Mountain, at the head of the valley, looking eastward, and that he believed the east branch of McDonald River flows from its base. We can add a trifle to the small fund of information concerning that wonder, as we observed it with a telescope from the top of Mt. Brown, the highest peak in the vicinity, near the northeast corner of the lake. The glacier is situated nearly due northeast from this peak, apparently about fifteen miles away, and we could clearly see a very large field of deep snow, the face of an immense wall of ice, in some parts clear, in others dark colored or dirty, and seams and chasms worn by the water from melting snow; and we became satisfied that the stream on which we camped, passing Mt. Brown on the east and south, has its head in the glacier valley though we could not trace it to that point by reason of a projecting crag which shut off our view on the left. We were also satisfied that the glacier can be reached through the cañon east of this mountain, and if the fates ever give us a chance to spend another supremely delightful month in that region we will make a desperate effort to reach that glacier, and will certainly explore the fastnesses of the unknown mountains.

Chicago.

MC DONALD LAKE, MONTANA—'THE JUDGE" ENTRANCED

THE well-known operatic stars, Edouard and [illegible] Reszke, have placed an order with a Chicago architect

J. Sidney Villere—for the construction of an elaborate country house to be erected upon their estates in Poland. The contract specifies that every part of the building shall be constructed in Chicago and shipped to Europe in [illegible] while being brought to completion under the [illegible] a skilled mechanic who will go to Poland [illegible]se. The owners of this projected Summer [illegible] not it is to have halls, balustrades, [illegible]s, verandas and columns, covered balcony and tower, wine cellar, pillars of porphyry granite, niches for rare tapestry, tympana by master hands, grates for logs of fragrant applewood, ten suites of rooms for host and guests, and all else to make an ideal retreat for people who live for art, and for whatsoever of friends the owners may have whose minds and tastes are congenial. As a compliment to America and the architect, the owners will call their palatial Summer residence "Cottage Americaine," and they assert it will prove the most charming and delightful place in Europe. The brothers will feast their guests in a great banqueting room trimmed in red pine. Here the wainscoting and panels are heavily carved and molded, as is also the wooden cornice of the ceiling, with the rich work in Sevres blue. Personal friends of the brush are to contribute four hunting scenes for the walls, showing the chases of the bear, wolf, boar and reindeer. While the entire structure will consist of curious rooms most elaborately decorated, and of strange passageways, the apartment to be designated as the "hunters' den" will be most conspicuous. This will be entered by an archivolte in the dining-room, passing through a gallery, from a porch and private vestibule, and a spacious fireplace, where, Mr. De Reszke says, he will burn nothing but logs of applewood. There is also a sideboard and a duke's table in the center for luncheons and the like. Around all sides of the den are voluptuous divans for lounging as the sportsmen tell the stories of the days in the woods. All the walls here are covered with stamped Russia leather. The entire scheme is the outcome of years of extensive travel, and the selection of a Chicago architect and American workmanship exclusively for its consummation is the highest compliment the talented De Reszke brothers could pay this country.

"Three in One" Compound Exhibit

At the Sportsmen's Exposition in space 51 G. W. Cole & Co., 111 Broadway, New York, with branches in Chicago and San Francisco, exhibited their "Three in One" Compound. This exhibition has brought to light many new meritorious articles, but none that meets a long felt want to the gunner, fisherman and bicyclist as this "Three in One." It thoroughly cleanses a gun after shooting and prevents sweat of the hand, water and salt air from rusting the nickel and steel parts and, strange to say, it is an excellent lubricant for the lock, as it does not gum or harden. "Three in One" is unique in that one article cleans, prevents rust and lubricates, and it is entitled to a thorough trial by all sportsmen who will appreciate the advantage of protecting their guns, reels, fishing tackle, and bicycles with a transparent compound that contains no acid, that cannot be seen, yet does the work required, as numerous testimonials they distribute show. It is clean to handle, and will not soil the clothing. The liberal distribution of samples at this exhibition will no doubt increase the already great demand for it and make it as necessary to the sportsman on his gun and fishing tackle as it has become to the bicycle riders of this country on their bicycles. (Messrs. G. W. Cole & Co. will mail a large oiler filled with "Three in One" Compound upon receipt of five 2-cent stamps for trial and send testimonials of many sportsmen, some of them may be residents of the city of the applicant, for personal reference.)

Improved Service to Washington

The Baltimore & Ohio R. R. (Royal Blue Line) under the new schedule which went into effect on May 12, has a greatly improved service between New York, Baltimore and Washington, having two 5-hour trains in each direction, leaving New York at 11:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. The other trains, of which they have six, are now making the run of 226 miles inside of six hours. Owing to the completion of the Baltimore Belt R. R all trains now enter Baltimore via the new line, avoiding the transfer by boat across the Patapsco River. The service on the main line to Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis has also been greatly improved, both as to time and equipment.

Important Change of Time

The new service on the Nickel Plate Road goes into effect on Sunday, May 19. Three trains will be run in each direction, leaving Chicago going east at 8:05 a. m. daily except Sunday, 1:30 and 9:20 p. m. daily. No change of cars between Chicago and New York in either direction. Also through sleepers between Chicago and Boston. Superb dining cars are a feature of the new service. Rates always the lowest. City ticket office, 111 Adams Street, telephone Main 389. Advt. 62.

The Amateur Trainer

The following letter received by Mr. E. B. Haberlein, author of "The Amateur Trainer," gives some idea of the practical value of the book to any person owning an unbroken dog.

ROCHESTER, IND., Jan. 22, 1895.

MR. E. B. HABERLEIN, McPherson, Kan.

Dear Sir:—I purchased one of your books, "Amateur Trainer," through the AMERICAN FIELD, and can say for you it is the best book I have ever read on the subject, and I have several dollars invested in books on the subject of training. Every person owning a bird dog should have a copy of this work. Yours truly,

C. COOPER.

In Effect May 19

Remember the new service on the Nickel Plate Road goes into effect May 19. Afternoon train will leave Chicago at 1:30 p. m., arrive Cleveland 11:30 p. m., Buffalo 6 o'clock a. m.; evening train will leave Chicago at 9:20 p. m., arrive Cleveland 9:50 a. m., affording business men an excellent train service to those cities. Through trains between Chicago, New York and Boston without change. Superb Dining Cars. City Ticket Office, 111 Adams Street. Telephone Main 389. Advt. 63.

The American Field Score Book

Contains 150 score sheets, the Hurlingham, Long Island and American Shooting Association rules; shows a proper form of constitution and by-laws for gun clubs, and contains also a set of field and club house rules. Sent by express, prepaid, on receipt of $1. Address the American Field Publishing Co., Chicago, Ill.

Kennel

FIXTURES

SHOWS

[illegible] show, Montreal, May 31 and June [illegible]

[illegible]'s seventh annual dog show, [illegible] 13. C. A. Stone, superintendent.

Orange County Fair's dog show, Newburg, N. Y., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. Robert Johnston, secretary.

Omaha Kennel Club's second annual show, Omaha, Neb., September 18, 19, 20 and 21. E. L. Marston, secretary.

New Englaud Kennel Club's second annual terrier show, Brookline, Mass., September 24, 25, 26 and 27. D. E. Loveland, secretary.

FIELD TRIALS

Continental Field Trial Club's inaugural trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 2. P. T. Madison, secretary.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 10. Entries close July 1 and August 15. John Wootton, Secretary.

United States Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C., November 7. Derby entries close June 10. W. B. Stafford, secretary.

International Field Trial Club's trials, Mitchell's Bay, near Chatham, Ont., November 5. W. B. Wells, secretary.

Eastern Field Trial Club's trials, Newton, N. C., November 18 W. A. Coster, secretary.

Contiuental Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C November 25. Derby entries close June 1. P. T. Madison, secretary.

BEAGLE TRIALS

New England Beagle Club's trials, Oxford, Mass., November 5 W. S. Clark, secretary.

National Beagle Club's fifth annual trials, Hempstead, Long Island, November 11. Geo. W. Rogers, secretary.

CLUB MEETINGS

Northwestern Field Trial Club's meeting, Winnipeg, Man., Monday, June 10. Thos. Johnson, secretary.

Canadian Kennel Club's executive committee meeting, Queen's Hotel, Toronto, Friday, June 7, at 3 p. m. H. B. Donovan, secretary

OHIO HUMANE SOCIETY'S DOG SHOW AT CINCINNATI

(Special Report.)

A city that can give two dog shows inside of five months has something to feel proud of. Our show last week was decidedly a great success, the attendance averaging 3,000 visitors daily for five days, the last day being best of all. The benching was of new pine lumber, aisles were 20 feet wide. Austin's dog bread was fed and the dogs ate it. Not a sick dog in the show. Dr. J. R. Daniels came on from Cleveland with some pointers, Roger D. Williams was on hand with his bloodhounds, J. E. Dougherty of Lotus, Ind., had with him Nabob, his English bobtail (sheepdog), and J. Taylor Williams showed his kennel of English setters. Judging was done each afternoon and evening; this, published in the papers, helped to draw the crowds. An innovation was the exhibit from the dog pound, showing twenty dogs in as good condition as could be desired; they were then offered for sale and a dozen were sold and good homes provided for them. The display of cats was good. Ponce de Leon, the trick poodle, and W. H. Rowe's trick Yorkshire terrier performed twice daily. On Thursday night Scioto King, Mr. Lewis Gilgen's winning fox terrier, was stolen from the show. A detective was put on the case at once and he hopes to find the dog. An additional attraction was Mr. C. W. Zinn's exhibit of two and three legged dogs, happy and smart little fellows who do many tricks and are very intelligent; not, perhaps, desirable as pets, but certainly wonderful curiosities. Mr. Zinn says he breeds like from like, excepting that two of the seven are born with three legs, in place of two. These dogs walk on their hindlegs as well as other dogs do on four. The dog show was the money drawing feature of the bazaar, and a nice profit has been turned over to the Humane Society toward establishing a fund to provide a dog farm, where dogs will be cared for and homes secured for them, and not killed as has been done heretofore. Other cities should follow the example. The judging gave general satisfaction; the judges were: R. D. Williams for greyhounds, deerhounds, wolfhounds and foxhounds; J. Taylor Williams, for pointers, Gordon setters and Irish setters; Geo. H. Hill, for English setters and beagles; J. E. Dougherty, for collies, dachsunde and Irish water spaniels; R. I. Carter, for poodles and bulldogs; J.W. Mack, for pugs, Yorkshire terriers, black and tan toy terriers, Scotch terriers and Irish terriers; W. Gale, for toy spaniels and Al. G. Eberhart for other breeds.

MASTIFFS.—Clifford, well known, was an easy first in open dogs; he is good in all respects, except too long in head. Roger, second, is only a puppy of fourteen months, of great size and bone, good in head, body and legs, and will mature into a good one. Grover, third, is better in head than Roger, but was shown too fat. Rex, fourth, is only a youngster yet; good in coat, legs and body, but too snipy in muzzle. Vulcan, reserve, is a fairly large dog, but a cripple behind. In the novice class, Sampson, good in body, coat and head, won equal first with Roger, already described. Jack, second, is a brindle with a good head, but shown too fat. Lion, a much improved puppy, since our last show, won.

ST. BERNARDS.—Open, rough dogs, had five entries. Eden Justice, another greatly improved dog, rightly won; good all around, color not just right, but a large, massive dog of good type. Mardo, second, was shown in poor form or might have done better; a dog of good type. Eden Aristocrat, third, shown too thin, is good in coat and well marked, and in condition can do better. Lord Richmond, equal fourth with Rover Rice, is of good type and markings, but under sized. The best bodied dog, and very fine back of his head, was Rover Rice, equal fourth; he has a bad eye and not a good head or expression. In open, rough bitches, Lady Adelaide II was by all odds the best; she is well known and deserved her blue ribbon; was shown in nice condition. Fernwood Rose, second, shown in good shape, has a good head, fair markings and good expression, is good in body and legs, and was a good second. Silverton, third, is a good one back of her head, which is faulty. Aurilla T, fourth, was put right; a nicely marked bitch, and of good expression. Venus, reserve, is fair but too light in color. In novice rough dogs, Eden Justice, already described, again won. Sir Edendale, second, is nicely marked, and rightly deserved his place. Cicero, third, is good in head and coat, has good legs and body, but was shown light in flesh. King Botley, fourth, is of good size and body, but lacks markings. In novice rough bitches, Lady Adalaide II and Fernwood Rose were placed as in open class. Chequasset Lucretia, third, a fair bitch but undersized, is nicely marked and of good color. Queen Bess, a puppy, was fourth. Eden Trilby, the winner in the puppy class, is a good one of five months, large, and of good color and markings. The balance were very moderate.

In the challenge class for smooths, Alton II, well known and in good condition, won. Lord Keeper, the winner in open dogs, is of good size, body, coat and legs, but poor in head. Uno and Dr. Jekyl, equal seconds, are fair specimens. Major, third, deserved his place. In the bitch class, Princess Rose, a nice one in fine condition, won. Clytie II, second, is well marked and good in body and legs, but head too small. In the novice class, Lord Keeper won from Princess Rose. Mr. Gustave Fox won the kennel prize.

GREAT DANES.—Hector had a walkover in the dog class; he can stand some competition. Garda, the only bitch, is a black of fair quality.

BLOODHOUNDS.—Five were present and formed one of the attractions of the show. Jack Sheppard, Vigilant and Lady Marjorie are well known. King Alcyemist, alone in open dog class, is plain but has good size and substance and proper color. Cymbeline, a well developed puppy of nice quality, had no opposition in novice and puppy classes. Mr. Williams won the kennel prize.

POINTERS.—An entry of eighteen with three absent; all shown in good condition. In open dogs (55 pounds and over) Royal Flush won; a very handsome liver and white, with good head, feet and loin and stands up nicely on good legs. General Scott, second, is a large dog with fair head and tail and good legs and feet. In bitches (50 pounds and over) Lady Norrish II won very easily; she has splendid feet and legs and is a good one all over; a little too fat on account of being in whelp. Nova Scotia, second, a nice, racily built bitch with good head; tail docked. Dogs under 55 pounds had three entries, all good ones. Plain Sam, first, is above the average, clean cut at every point, with good head, deep chest, good feet and legs and stands up as if he could go fast and stay. Rex, second, is a very promising youngster with lots of pointer character, and if nothing happens him he will be heard from again. Ebbert, third, is plain all over. In the class for bitches under 50 pounds Belle of Lancaster, a nicely marked and splendid bitch all over, won without any trouble. Fanny, second, is plain at all points. The novice class had three entries. Plain Sam won, General Scott was second, and Nova Scotia third; all have been mentioned. There were three dog puppies, all good ones. Ridgview Drake, the winner, is a good bodied puppy, with good head, loin, feet and legs; a very catchy little fellow. King of Meteor, second, is a fair one, a little short in muzzle, loin not quite arched enough, but will improve as he gets older, good feet and legs Third went to Beppo's Baxter, good in head, feet and legs but rough in hips, eyes too light but will get darker. One bitch puppy, a very poor specimen. Dr. Daniels won the kennel prize.

ENGLISH SETTERS.—In five classes there were eighteen entries; two absent and two not for competition. They were a fair lot all through. J. Taylor Williams and Biddle & Wallingford secured almost all the prizes, Mr. Williams getting the kennel prize also.

IRISH SETTERS.—The open dog class had three entries. Ned, a good one, had no trouble in winning; he is large, has good head, rich color, and good feet and legs. Sargeant, second, is coarse at all points. Sport, third, has nothing to recommend him. Nellie G is a good-looking bitch but was shown too fat. The novice class had two entries. Nellie G won from Sargeant. In puppies, first went to Beau Brummell, and second to Bruce Minor; neither has much Irish type.

SPANIELS.—Two cockers, Cola and Cute, won in their respective classes; they are of good type, but Cola was shown too fat. The only field spaniel, Happy Nig, was a very fair one. He was chained too long and hung himself on Wednesday night; he was owned by George Hill, who had refused an offer for him the day before. In the class for spaniels not otherwise classified Sport won rightly; a good one, but being clipped like a poodle was closely pressed by Babe. The balance were fair.

BULL TERRIERS.—Dick, a very fair one, was alone in the dog class; and Rose likewise had no opposition. Toby the only puppy, is only moderate.

COLLIES.—In open dogs Mack won. This dog has a typical head, good expression, good body, legs and feet, good carriage; he might be better in coat. Second went to Westminster Thorn, a good coated dog with fair head, faulty in carriage, with a bad set of legs. Rip, third, is a good bodied dog with fair coat, but is thick in head and carries his tail over his back. Fourth in this class was Westminster Wonder, a wonder only in name and has little to recommend him except his coat. The only entry in the bitch class was Grange Nellie, a bitch showing considerable quality but shown out of coat and in bad condition; she was awarded first. Novice class had two entries. First was won by Winton Dash, a giant among collies; and in that respect might be considered a wonder. His weight is seventy-eight pounds, and he has bone to carry it. Considering his weight and size he is a good mover, and symmetrical. In coat he is well provided for, with good mane and frill, and of the desired texture; has a good head but is faulty in expression, and might carry his ears higher to advantage. Second in this class was given to Westminster Lass, plain and soft in coat.

DACHSHUNDE.—One dog, one bitch, and one puppy. Each had a class to itself, but they should have had competition as all are of right type.

BEAGLES.—There were six of these little hounds. Rattler had the dog class to himself, but rightly shown can be in the money in good company. Lady Keene was a good first in the bitch class, with Millie H a close second. Dolly Varden, third, is well known and was rightly placed in this class. Jennie, fourth, is well bred but not a show bitch. Duke, the winning puppy, is promising.

FOX TERRIERS.—Twenty-two entries. In open dogs Hillside Domo was placed over Scioto King, which I think was due to the latter being in poor coat, as it is a close thing between these two. Domo was shown in fine shape. In the bitch class it was easy work for the imported bitch Cowthorpe Gem to get the blue ribbon; she went through the circuit and is well known. Scioto King won in novice dogs, and deserved it. Tags, second, might have given way to Hillhurst Nailer, third, had the latter, a seven-months-old puppy, shown well. Nailer is a promising puppy whose main fault is a too generous ear. There were five in the novice bitch class. Rhoda rightly won from same owner's Tutsey. Surrey Splash, fourth, I would have placed over Daisy, third. The kennel prize went to Mr. Geo. Ewald.

POODLES.—An entry of nine made a good showing. In corded dogs Ponce de Leon won from two others, and was in good condition and is well known. A good second was Muggins, who is young but shows quality and has a good coat coming. Pudel, third, is coarser, too leggy and too long in body. Nellie, a brown, was alone in the bitch class; she has the making of a good one. In curly dogs Black Jack Jr had to take second place to Pommery Sec, better in coat; a nice pair, however, and both of good type. In the bitch class Queen Zip was absent, and Toodle Woodle won. Madame Bernard showed three toy poodles. Finette is a nice little bitch. Poli, the dog, is now ten years old, but was shown in elegant shape. Nico is a promising puppy.

YORKSHIRE TERRIERS—Bess, a fair puppy, won in open, novice and puppy classes. The other two, Dize and Rosa, were an indifferent pair.

TOY SPANIELS.—Five entries. One was absent and three were for exhibition only, being owned by the judge; among them was the well-known Roscius. The solitary competitor was a poor one.

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.—Seven entries in four classes. The well-known Adonis had a walkover in the challenge class; he was in nice shape. Little Beauty, a new one, and I think the best bitch I ever saw, won in the open class; she is not quite a year old, and very small. Bonnie II, second, is also a good one, and can hold her own in good company. Little Beauty was alone in the novice class. Adonis II, second in dog puppies, is young but bids fair to turn out all right; is good color. Prince Jr beat him, but it was a close thing. Hilma, the bitch puppy, is a nice youngster, and has a future. The kennel prize went to W. G. Benham.

PUGS.—Patsy Bolivar, heard of before at many shows, was looking his best and won in open dogs, second going to Sir Douglas. Queen Zitka, the winning bitch, was in nice shape and is hard to beat. Cashier's Daughter, second, is a nice one. Sir Douglas was alone in the class for novice dogs. Fanchon, first in novice bitches, is a trifle too large but a good one all round. Cashier's Daughter was second again. Lady Fannie, third, is very small, and fine in body, coat and color; her main fault is being pinched in muzzle. Earl of Rossmore, the only dog puppy, has a good head. Trilby, a sweet little bitch puppy, beat Bessie Bonehill, better in head but not in as good condition. Al. G. Eberhart won the kennel prize.

There was one Newfoundland; two nice greyhounds; a good Mexican hairless; one bulldog, the well-known Lorna Doone, looking well; one so-called toy black and tan terrier; and one bobtail sheepdog.

OFFICIAL LIST OF AWARDS

MASTIFFS.—Open Class—1st, H. Assel (Clifford); 2nd, Dr. E. M. Green (Roger); 3rd, W. Bankamper (Grover); 4th, L. M. Kleinmeyer (Rex); V.H C., Mrs D. W. Thrasher (Vulcan). Novice Class—Equal 1st. Dr. E. M Green (Roger) and J. M. Hoffner (Sampson); 2nd, H. Tuch (Jack). Puppy Class—1st, Mr. A. Frank (Lion).

ST. BERNARDS.—Rough—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. Hartig (Eden Justice); 2nd, Zoölogical Gardens (Mardo); 3rd, G. Fox (Eden Aristocrat); equal 4th. Miss Lizzie Newhaus (Lord Richmond) and M. Rice (Rover). Bitches: 1st, D. E. Waters (Lady Adelaide II); 2nd, Inwood Kennels (Fernwood Rose); 3rd, Zoölogical Gardens (Silverton); 4th, W. M Thompson (Aurilla T); V.H.C., H. Fisher (Venus). Novice Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. Hartig (Eden Justice); 2nd, G. Fox (Sir Elendale); 3rd. P. A. Schaefer (Cicero); 4th, W. H. Botley (King Botley); Res., J. M. Hoffner (Brnin). Bitches: 1st D E. Waters (Lady Adelaide II); 2nd, Inwood Kennels (Fernwood Bose); 3rd, G. Fox (Chequasset Lucretia); 4th, N. J. Edwards (Queen Bess). Puppy Class—1st, G. Fox (Eden Trilby); 2nd, N. J. Edwards (Queen Bess); 3rd and 4th, J. Sweeney (Belle and Dolly).

Smooth—Challenge Class—1st, D. E. Waters (Alton II). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, A. Van Bihher (Lord Keeper); equal 2nd, B. Erkenbrecker (Uno) and T. G. Slater (Dr. Jekyl); 3rd, S Lowenthal (Major). Bitches: 1st, Miss Lillian M. Wilkins (Princess Rose); 2nd, E. P. Rogers (Clytie II). Novice Class—1st, A. Van Bihher (Lord Keeper); 2nd, Miss Lillian M. Wilkins (Princess Rose); 3rd, B. Erkenbrecker (Uno).

BLOODHOUNDS.—Challenge Classes—Dogs: 1st, Rookwood Kennels (Jack Sheppard). Bitches: 1st, Rookwood Kennels (Vigilant). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st. T. Barklay (King Alchemist). Bitches: 1st, Rookwood Kennels (Lady Marjorie). Puppy Class—1st, Rookwood Kennels (Cymheline). Novice Class—1st, Rookwood Kennels (Cymheline).

GREAT DANES.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, E. C. Bucks (Hector). Bitches: 1st, R. Lloyd (Garda).

NEWFOUNDLANDS.—Open Class—1st, M. Simon (Flora).

GREYHOUNDS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. Ohler (Sanco). Bitches: 1st. W. W. Hadley (Menthol).

WOLFHOUNDS.—Absent.

DEERHOUNDS.—No entries.

FOXHOUNDS.—No entries.

POINTERS.—Heavyweights—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, W. Predhomme (Royal Flush); 2nd, W. M. Thompson (General Scott). Bitches: 1st, Dr. J. R. Dantels (Lady Norrish II); 2nd, L. Ricking (Nova (Scotia). Lightweights—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Dr. J. R. Daniels (Plain Sam); 2nd and 3rd, H. J. Casey (Rex and Elbert). Bitches: 1st, Dr. J. R. Daniels (Belle of Lancaster); 2nd, H. J. Casey (Fanny). Novice Class—1st, Dr. J. R. Daniels (Plain Sam); 2nd, W. M Thompson (General Scott); 3rd, L. Ricking (Nova Scotia). Puppy Class—1st, Dr. J. R. Daniels (Ridgeview Drake); 2nd, Dr. H. L. Retter (King of Meteor); 3rd, S. L. Randolph (Beppo's Baxter).

ENGLISH SETTERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st and 3rd, Biddle & Wallingford (Ben Lemon and Ben Hur Jr); 2nd, J. T. Williams (Merrimac). Bitches: 1st and 2nd, J. T. Williams (Belle of Riverview and Flight of Riverview). Novice Class—1st, J. T. Williams (Merrimac); 2nd, H. M. Klein (Spike Wakefield); 3rd, Biddle & Wallingford (Ben Hur Jr); 4th, W. M. Thompsou (Queen Bess). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, J. T. Williams (Merrimac); 2nd. Biddle & Wallingford (Buckeye's Rodhur). Bitches: 1st, J. T. Williams (Nellie Hill); 2nd, Dr. H. G. Heywood (Trilby).

IRISH SETTERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, E. McClintock (Ned); 2nd, W. T. Hill (Sargeant); 3rd, E. Krapp (Sport). Bitches: 1st, J. H. Grosse (Nellie G). Novice Class—1st, J. H. Grosse (Nellie G), 2nd, W. T. Hill (Sargeant). Puppy Class—1st, O. R. Streit (Beau Brummell); 2nd, J. A. Jones (Bruce Minor).

SPANIELS.—Cockers—Open Class—1st, J. Landy (Cola), and H. H. Ayers (Cute). Field—Open Class—1st, E. Floreuce (Happy Nig). Any other variety—Open Class—1st, W. M. Thompson (Sport); 2nd, M. A. Frank (Baby); 3rd, D. Krug (Nero); 4th, P. de Ronde (Trix); Res., B. H. Vorkamp (Coxie).

COLLIES.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, 2nd and 4th, Groesbeck Kennels (Mack, Westminster Thorn and Westminster Wonder); 3rd, A. G. Falk (Rip). Bitches: 1st, Groesheck Kennels (Grange Nellie). Novice Class—1st. Dr. K. Scudder (Winton Dash); 2nd, Groesbeck Kennels (Westminster Lass). Puppy Class—1st, R. W. Hill (Fanny Armstrong).

BULLDOGS.—Open Class—1st, Eberhart Kennels (Lorna Doone).

BULL TERRIERS.—Open Class—1st, W.Hall (Dick). Novice Class—1st, V. J. Hocket (Rose). Puppy Class—1st, R. Wells (Toby).

DACHSHUNDE.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st. F. Schmiesing (Blucher). Bitches: 1st, V. Gluchowsty (Fanny). Puppy Class—1st, F. Rust (Sport).

BEAGLES.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Norwood Kennels (Rattler). Bitches: 1st, J. Banahan (Lady Keene); 2nd, Dr. D. H. Heywood (Millie II); 3rd, Norwood Kennels (Dolly Varden); 4th, E. L. Fox (Jennie). Puppy Class—1st, Norwood Kennels (Duke).

FOX TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, G. Ewald (Hillside Domo); 2nd, L. P. Pilgen (Scioto King). Bitches: 1st G. Ewald (Cowthorpe Gem); 2nd, F. J. Vincent (Madge II). Novice Class—Dogs: 1st, L. P. Pilgin (Scioto King); 2nd, F. A. Longshore (Tags); 3rd. F. J. Vincent (Hillhurst Nailer). Bitches: 1st and 2nd, G. Ewald (Rhada and Tutsey); 3rd, D. H. Evans (Daisy); 4th. F. J. Vincent (Surrey Splash). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st and 2nd. G. Ewald (Tanner and Grant II); 3rd and 4th, F. J. Vincent (Raby Trooper and Hillhurst Nailer). Bitches: 1st, F. J. Vincent (Surrey Splash); 2nd, F. A. Longshore (Trix); 3rd, L. Flommer (Nettie); 4th, H. B Pohlman (Innocent).

POODLES.—Corded—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Eberhart Kennels (Ponce de Leon); 2nd, L. Finch (Muggins); 3rd, I. Kugel (Pudel). Bitches: 1st, V. P. Wormwood (Nellie). Curly—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Miss Louisa McCormick (Pommery Sec); 2nd, Eberhart Kennels (Black Jack Jr). Bitches: 1st, Eberhart Kennels (Toodle Woodle). Toy—Open and Puppy Classes—1st, Madame Bernard (Poli, Finette and Nico).

YORKSHIRE TERRIERS.—Open Class—1st, O. Elzeman (Bess); 2nd, W. H. Rowe (Dize); 3rd, E. Wise (Rosa). Novice and Puppy Classes—1st. O. Elzeman (Bess).

TOY SPANIELS—Open Class—1st, J. C. Ulch (Nellie).

TOY TERRIERS—Open Class—1st, Miss A. M. Morris (Brownie).

MEXICAN HAIRLESS.—Open Class—1st, H. Koppman (Beppo).

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.—Challenge Class—1st, W. G. Beuham (Adonis). Open Class—1st, J. W. Mack (Little Beauty); 2nd, W. G Beuham (Bonnie). Novice Class—1st, J. W. Mack (Little Beauty). Puppy Classes—1st, J. W. Mack (Prince Junior); 2nd, W. G. Benham (Adonis II). Bitches: 1st, W. G. Benham (Hilma).

PUGS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st and 2nd, Eberhart Kennels (Patsy Bolivar and Sir Douglas). Bitches: 1st and 2nd, Eberhart Kennels (Queen Zitka and Cashier's Daughter). Novice Classes—Dogs: 1st, Eberhart Kennels (Sir Douglas). Bitches: 1st, 2nd and 3rd, Eberhart Kennels (Fanchon, Cashier's Daughter and Lady Fanny). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, Eberhart Kennels (Earl of Rossmore). Bitches: 1st and 2nd, Eberhart Kennels (Trilby and Bessie Bonehill).

MISCELLANEOUS.—Dogs: 1st, J. Kohlsaat (Bismarck). Bitches: 1st, W. Hulvershorn (Daisy Belle).

WHOSE WAS THE ERROR?

PAINESVILLE, O.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—It seems to me that Mr. T. A. Howard is unduly exercised over the little item which appeared in the Pittsburg Dispatch of April 11. It is hardly probable that it would have been noticed by a dozen persons interested in dogs had not Mr. Howard spent the last two days of the Pittsburg show calling the attention of fanciers present to it, while he now gives it the widest possible publicity by printing it in a technical journal of great circulation and influence. If the article had done him any injury, as claimed, this action on his part has certainly made him an accessory after the fact. While I was as much surprised as Mr. Howard at the appearance of the item, for reasons stated to him personally, I admit my full responsibility for it, and submit to the kennel world whether it was not entirely justifiable. If the reader will open Volume XI of the American Kennel Club Stud Book, and turn to Page 47, he will find the pug Al Von credited with the following wins in 1894: "1st, New York; 1st, Chicago; 1st, Columbus; 1st, Louisville." The same wins were duly and officially promulgated in the Kennel Gazette last year, and if this does not qualify a dog for the challenge class what does? I do not know that it is incumbent upon anyone to throw the official records of the American Kennel Club overboard, and go digging about the country to unearth the incompetency of judges, or the possible errors of others, which might, could, would or should have affected something or other in some other way. If the record of a stud book is unworthy of credence, what can we depend on?

As a matter of fact, in this case an egregious blunder was made by the Columbus judge, just as Mr. Howard explains; and although an effort was doubtless made to correct it, by disqualification, the win was reported to the American Kennel Club as made, and so printed in the Gazette. In a communication published in the AMERICAN FIELD of June 16, 1894, I invited attention to this apparent discrepancy, and then dismissed the matter from my mind, supposing of course that such action as was warranted would be taken. I was therefore somewhat surprised, upon receipt of the stud book for 1894, just previous to the late Pittsburg show, to find that the wins were credited therein as stated, the inference to be drawn therefrom being that the Columbus award as made had been held valid. Naturally my first impulse was to seek to have the injustice done other dogs remedied by protesting the awards to Al Von at Detroit, Chicago and Pittsburg this season, that being the only course open to me on the face of the returns, and this intention was mentioned to a few parties at Pittsburg, including Mr. Howard. Upon reaching home, however, reflection led me to feel that, as Mr. Howard was not personally at fault in the premises, and as my sentiments toward him were most friendly, I could not willingly be the means of adding to his discomfort. I therefore have not referred to the matter since, either in or out of print, have taken no steps looking toward a protest, and do not expect to do so in the future. The situation is beyond my control, however, and I do not see how the American Kennel Club can avoid its arbitration. If it shall then be found that notice of the error, and the necessity for its correction, was served upon the club, doubtless adjustment can be made theoretically by publishing in the 1895 stud book the disqualification of the win given in the 1894 stud book, and the corresponding advancement of the other dogs in the class. There will always be more or less question, however, whether such action would adequately rescind a record which had been printed and circulated for a year. On the other hand, should it be held that the facts will not justify such reversal, I suppose Mr. Howard will have to suffer for the mistaken zeal of his friend; in which case I fail to see wherein any greater injustice will be done him than his competitors will have to endure in the other event.

With regard to Finsbury Duke. It is no secret that he has fared badly in the show-ring; and he has been most cheerfully "blackguarded" in certain quarters, as intimated by Mr. Howard. In this he has shared the fate of many good dogs before him, as well as of others to follow. Were he less flighty in carriage of ears, he would press the best of them closely, and perhaps in other hands faithful jockeying would have helped him to overcome this fault. However, he is still a nice little dog, elegantly bred, and a good sire. Whether others fancy him or not, he has a friend in me and I will stay by him to the last.

I cordially indorse Mr. Howard's appeal for harmony among pug breeders, and would add that, in my opinion, such a desideratum can be attained when merit is acknowledged wherever it exists, when all receive equal consideration and justice, and when fairness and honesty constitute the standard for our transactions.

F. C. NIMS.

BUYING AND SELLING

BROOKFIELD, [illegible]

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—In reading over the experiences of some of your subscribers as told in [illegible] I find that I am not the only one who has been out of good hard dollars by disreputable dealers. Early last Fall I read an ad in the AMERICAN FIELD representing a thoroughbred setter for sale, stanch and an exc[illegible] I wrote to the owner requesting price and [illegible]. In reply he told me that his dog Don was without doubt the grandest field dog in his county, and if I wished to try him I could do so by sending one-half the price ($50) in advance. He gave me excellent references, and was very particular to ask me for references. I sent him $25 by a New York draft, and in a few days received the dog.

I smelled a rodent as quickly as I laid eyes on the dog, for a blind man could see that he was not what he was represented to be before taking him out of the crate. I took him home, got acquainted with him, and took him out to see how he worked. He worked all right. In fact he did his work too well. He certainly thought that the whole responsibility of that hunt rested on him. He would set a bird, flush it, run it half a mile and then sneak back to repeat the performance. He was as deaf as a stone. He would retrieve sticks and hats, but when birds were around his time was solely occupied by running them. I boxed him up and expressed him back to his owner, writing to him and stating full facts, etc. In a few days I received an answer from Mr. McB—, stating that he had lost the sale of his dog while fooling with me, and that he considered himself damaged at least $25. He positively refused to return a cent.

I took a trip to Mr. McB—'s town to see him. I saw him, and found that he was not reliable and that I could not make a cent off of him, as he had nothing but the dog I returned and another about like it. I wanted to get satisfaction some other way, but as he weighed about two hundred and twenty-five pounds, and I about one hundred and forty-five and was at least nine inches shorter, I concluded that discretion was the better part of valor and got on the next train and came home, a sadder and wiser dog fancier.

I had another experience later in the season that was about as bad as the first, only it was bad luck and not a swindle.

I read an advertisement of Mr. W. B. Brown of Shelbina, Mo., advertising dogs for sale; so I wrote him, and he sent me catalogs and called my attention in particular to a setter dog, no pedigree, no fine blood, but, as Mr. Brown stated it, "just a good, reliable, seven-days-in-the-week dog." I asked him to send the dog up for trial, and he did so. It did not look to be a thoroughbred, but had a look that meant business. I tried the dog for two days, and then sent Mr. Brown a draft for $35. This was on the eighteenth of August. On the morning of the twentieth I returned home from the office about eleven o'clock and asked my wife where Ben was. She told me that he had been howling for five or ten minutes, but had just stopped and gone out to the front gate. I looked for him, but no dog. I hitched up my road wagon, scoured the town and country roads until dark, and from that time to this I have never seen "hide nor hair" of that dog. He did not go back to Shelbina; and he was not stolen, for I advertised for several weeks, offering a reward, but all to no good.

Mr. Brown wrote me, telling me that he sympathized with me, and saying if I would accept her he would make me a present of a pedigreed English setter bitch, six months old. In a few days she came to hand and was a little beauty. I killed numbers of quail over her when she was six and a half months old.

This shows the difference in men. I am not doing this to boom Mr. Brown's kennels, but simply to show my fellow-readers that there are some dog handlers who will do the clean thing by their patrons.

L. W. RUMMELL.

SPANIEL CLUB MEETING

A meeting of the executive committee of the American Spaniel Club was held at 110 East Twenty-second Street, May 21; present: Messrs. E. M. Oldham, R. P. Keasbey, Marcel A. Viti, James Watson and J. S. Bradbury. President Oldham in the chair.

The minutes of last meeting were approved.

Moved and seconded that no challenge prize be offered at any show unless the same has been accepted by the executive committee, and all such prizes must be donated in trust to the American Spaniel Club and placed in competition by it in accordance with terms governing the gift. Carried.

Mr. George R. Preston Jr. offered to donate, in trust, a silver bowl, value $250—to be known as the Brace Challenge Bowl—under the following conditions: To be competed for by braces of all American-bred spaniels over 28 lbs.; to be placed in competition at least twice a year and only at shows adopting classification No. 1; at least three braces to compete; to be won five times by the same exhibitor before becoming his property. Accepted with thanks.

Moved and seconded that no persons can compete for prizes offered by the Spaniel Club in a kennel name unless the same has been registered with the secretary of the American Kennel Club, and provided also that each member of the kennel is a duly qualified member of the American Spaniel Club. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the secretary be instructed to send notice to members on August 1, notifying them that entries to sweepstakes close on September 1, and requesting them to make nominations on or before that date. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the executive committee extend to Mr. R. P. Keasbey the thanks of the American Spaniel Club for his donation of the Saybrook Challenge Cup. Carried.

Moved and seconded that all shows adopting classification No. 3 the club's donation of $10 be divided as follows: $5 for best brace over 28 lbs. and $5 for best brace under 28 lbs. That at shows adopting class[illegible] 2, a donation of $15 be offered as follows [illegible] of Irish water or Clumber spaniels; $5 for best brace of field, and $5 for best brace of cockers. And that at shows adopting classification No. 1, a donation of $20 he offered as follows: $5 for the best brace of Irish water, Clumber, field and cocker spaniels. Carried.

Mr. Wm. West's resignation was accepted.

Moved and seconded that in the case of challenge prizes [illegible] trust to the club, the stipulation "donor not to [illegible] allowed.

Moved and seconded that, the late E. Bardoe Elliott [illegible] elected member of the club, resolutions [illegible] during his untimely demise, and that the same be spread upon the minutes, and a copy be sent to his widow—the committee to draft the same to be the executive committee. Carried.

Adjourned.

THE NORTHWESTERN FIELD TRIAL CLUB

WINNIPEG, MAN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I had thought that I should never again be identified with field trials, hut Fate seems to have tangled me up in them once more. This was brought about by Mr. A. P. Heywood-Lonsdale having donated to the Northwestern Field Trial Club a cup, similar to the one given hy the Messrs. Galt two years ago, as a champion cup. Those who saw that trophy will remember that It was one any person might envy. Mr. Lonsdale suggested in a letter I had from him some time ago that, whenever it was competed for, a thorough test should be given the competitors, and that the heats should be at least one hour each. This, however, he said, was only a suggestion and our club should arrange the details in any manner it saw fit.

I have called a meeting of the members of the club to decide what action they will take re field trials this season, hut from conversation and correspondence the feeling seems to lean to the club having only one trial—to take place at Morris at the conclusion of the other prairie chicken trials—to be on the lines of the International Champion Stakes just coucluded in England, viz., to be open to winners of a first or second prize in any field trial in the world; the cup to become the absolute property of the winner. I purpose suggesting at our meeting that a nominal entry fee of $5 he charged, which will include everything; or, if prospective competitors care about putting up, say, $25 each—that is ahout the same amount as is usually charged for entry and starters' fees in field trials—our club would give the total amount so received In stakes. There should be at least ten starters, which would give, say, the cup and $100 to the winner, $100 to second, and $50 to third.

I have called the meeting for June 10, so that the club can get the views of intending competitors, as I am sure the cluh will be guided by and will base the conditions on the advice of those directly interested.

THOS. JOHNSON,
Hon. Secy.-Treas. Northwestern Field Trial Club.

A CHAMPION STAKE

WAVERLY, MISS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The following is a letter from Captain C. E. McMurdo, in reply to my call to members of the Association of Field Trial Handlers. I have not received the encouragement I expected, but have several nice letters from parties who were not members of the old association, promising their support and hearty coöperation.

I sincerely hope all the handlers will become alive to the importance of the stake proposed, and by their assistance make the successful carrying out of the same a certainty.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.

Dear Mr. Titus:—In reply to your letter calling upon the members of the Association of Field Trial Handlers to write you on tbe subject of the getting up of a cbampion stake as you propose, I can only say that I think it is a very good idea, and hope that it may be successfully carried out.

For breeders who are capable of appreciating tbe immense value it would be to them to have such a good opportunity of judging for themselves what stud dogs are tbe most desirable to breed their bitches to, it would be a great boon.

No dog can run for four hours in a good bird country without showing what he amounts to, and wbether he wins or not he will have the chance of establishing a reputation for himself.

I cannot think of anytbing in particular to suggest except that as the trial must (owing to the necessity of having long heats) be a protracted one, it will be desirable to make such rules as will prevent auy unnecessary loss of time. For instance, in case any duffers should be started, that as soon as all the judges are agreed that they are such, they should be ordered up and out.

Separate trials for pointers and setters would, of course, be most satisfactory, but if they would protract the trial considerably, I think it would be well to have the question considered.

If the competition is composed of nothing but really high class ones it will be intensely interesting, but if any number of them should be ordinary, the spectators would get sick of it and quit.

You see my idea is, that it will be most important to prevent wbat must be a long business being unnecessarily so. I am yours sincerely,

C. E. MCMURDO.

W. W. TITUS.

JUDGES FOR THE UNITED STATES TRIALS.

TRENTON, TENN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The committee on judges for the United States Field Trials Club's trials desire to announce that the judges for the club's trials to be held at Newton, N. C., Novemher 7 next. will be as follows: For poiuters, Messrs. W. S. Bell, Jno. King and A. M. Young; for setters, Messrs. W. S. Bell, J. L. Adams and Jno. King.

W. B. STAFFORD, Secy.-Treas.

FOR SALE.—Mr. G. Klieves, Wheeling, W. Va., offers English setters ...Mr. A. D. Heald, West Chester, Pa., offers beagles....Mr. W. G. Hansen, Minneapolis, Minn., offers English setters ...Mr. J. E. Jewett, Buffalo, N. Y., offers bulldogs and Boston terriers....Mr. J. W. Ross, Calumet, Mich., offers St. Bernards....P. O. Box 125, Indianapolis, Ind., offers collies ...G. W. Pierce, Brattleboro, Vt., offers foxhounds and coon hounds.... Lock Box 427, Odell, Ill., offers pointers ...Mr. G. E. Seay, Chillicothe, Mo., offers Irish setters....Mr. C. W. Harris, Mattoon Ill. [illegible] nglish setters ...Mr. F. W. [illegible] ers Great Danes....Mr. G. [illegible] ers English setters....Mr. J. Hargreaves, Stotville, N. Y., offers fox terriers....Mr. T. E. Duncan, Albia, Ia., offers St. Bernards....Dr. W. H. Slater, Armour, S. D., offers Irish setters ...Mr. T. Barklay, Cincinnati, O., offers pointer, English setter and bloodhounds ...Mr. J. F. Curly, Fitchburg, Mass., offers coon dog... Glenrose Beagle Kennels, Orland, Me., offer beagles....Mr. A. Berg, Chicago, offers black and tan terrier, pugs, Great Dane and Scottish terrier.... Criterion Kennel, Odell, Ill, offers pointers and setters.... Mr. G. Kemp, Zanesville, O., offers pointer....Mr. C. McDuffee, Allegan, Mich., offers English setters....Mr. G. G. Williamson, Muncie, Ind., offers English setter.... Mr. George H. Kunkel, Mexico, Mo., offers Irish setter.... Mad River Fox Terrier Kennels, Springfield, O., offer fox terriers....Mr. C. W. Hughes, Fostoria, O., offers pointer and English setters....No. 6142 Greenwood Ave., Chicago, offers Irish setters....Mr. G. W. Hardin, Verdon, Neb., offers St. Bernards....Mr. C. W. Harris, Mattoon, Ill., offers pointer ...Mr. J. H. H. Maenner, Baltimore, Md., offers Great Danes....Box 778, Worcester, Mass., offers English setters....Mr. R. West, Grenada, Miss., offers deerhounds....Mr. W. C. Hickox, Chicago, offers St. Bernard ...Mr. S. H. Price, Maud, Pa., offers Irish setters.

IN THE STUD.—Mr. C. F. Tretbar, New York, offers the services of the English setter Count Featherstone.... Mr. J. E. Jewett. Buffalo, N. Y., offers the services of the hulldog Wehh's Monarch....Eldred Kennel, Philadelphia, Pa., offers the services of the English setters Antonio and Brighton Tohe and the pointer Gamester....Mr. A. A. Runge, Burlington, Ia., offers the services of the pointer Victor Kent, the English setter Iowa Prince and the Irish setter Shabona Sam... Mr. T. Barklay, Cincinnati, O., offers the services of the bloodhound King Alchymist.... Mr. J. H. H. Maenner, Baltimore, Md., offers the services of the Great Danes Moreau, Victor, Harras and Nero ... Box 778, Worcester, Mass., offers the services of the English setter Rod's Rival.

NOTES

THE bloodhound, as an agent in the detection of crime, forms the text of an interesting contribution to the April number of the Windsor Magazine, an English publication. The writer is Mr. Croxton Smith, who, as an ardent admirer of the breed, argues that its capacity for running down criminals is to-day as well developed as ever. Indeed, Mr. Smith is convinced that even at the present time bloodhounds would prove invaluable auxiliaries to the police in tracking criminals, especially in rural districts, where the scent would lie well. Mr. Edwin Brough has proved this, most of his hounds being trained to hunt the clean boot with ease. Moreover, it is not so long since they were instrumental in detecting poachers and similar "wild fowl." Forty or fifty years ago there were bloodhounds that could hunt the scent of a man twenty-four or even thirty-six hours old, and since then breeders have vastly improved the characteristics which denote scent; the long, narrow, peaked head and immense flews always associated with this faculty having been developed to an extent never known before. Mr. Brough advises that puppies intended for this class of work should be entered early for the work, beginning first lessons when only three or four months old, and in no case should they he allowed to hunt anything but the clean boot. He suggests that the runner should caress and make much of the puppies. Let them see him start away and then he should get out of sight as quickly as possible, and run a few hundred yards up wind on grass land In a straight line. The man who hunts the puppies should take them over the exact line, encouraging them in their work until they come up to the runner, who should reward them with pieces of meat. A prettier sight cannot be imagined than seeing two or three couples of hounds accurately following the trail and giving tongue to the loveliest music as they hunt. Very little practice teaches the hounds to try back themselves if they overrun the line, and so keen are their noses that on a good scenting day some inmates of the Wyndyate kennels have been seen running hard fifty yards or more to leeward of the line taken. Not long ago prizes were given at Warwick, England, for bloodhound trials, and they might as well have been continued in order to encourage proprietors of hounds to train them. John Naylor, of "diehard" fame, has some young ones in training, and he tells us the puppies referred to hy Mr. John W. Broyles in the AMERICAN FIELD of May 18 were bred by him. The stock he is breeding might not he accepted as pure bloodhounds, for he states that his brood bitches are some that he "got from down South." "I wanted workers, you know," he explains; and in this respect no doubt he will achieve satisfactory results.

AFTER looking through a marked catalog of the successful little show held last week by the Ohio Humane Society, at Cincinnati, we feel inclined to recommend secretaries and superintendents of all such affairs to forego novice classes. A man acting in either capacity cannot be expected to keep tab on all wins at all shows not held under A. K. C. rules, and there is nothing to prevent a dog from winning in a novice class at such minor exhibitions two or three times, or even after having won in an open class. The marked catalog referred to above furnishes instances of both cases. Thus, the smooth St. Bernard Lord Keeper won premier honors in both open and novice classes at the Cincinnati January show (when 30 per cent. was said to mean 15 per cent.), and last week he again won in the novice class as well as in the open: the English setter, Ben Hur Jr, won in the open class at the January show, and last week he competed in the novice class, where he only got third place; the fox terrier Scioto King was first in the open dog class at the show given last March at Columbus, O., for the benefit of the local humane society, but that did not deter him from carrying off first prize in the novice class at Cincinnati last week; a similar case is that of the Yorkshire terrier bitch puppy Bess, who won in the open class for dogs and bitches at Columbus in March and won in the novice class last week; then again, the Irish setter Nellie G has scored twice in the novice class, and both times at Cincinnati; for she was first in the novice class at the January show and occupied a similar position last week. There may be other instances, but the foregoing are sufficient to indicate that novice classes at such exhibitions do not fulfill the purpose for which they are intended, and, furthermore, open the way for sharp practice with—some of these days—consequent lodging of objections and wrangling.

A CORRESPONDENT of the London Spectator relates a good story of a retriever named Turk. One day, when a boy, he was walking with his father, with Turk at their heels, when they were joined by the hailiff of the farm. In the course of the walk Turk discovered the presence of a rabbit concealed in a dry stone dike, and after the men had removed some of the stones it was killed and handed to the bailiff, who put it in his coat pocket. "Soon afterward we separated," he says, "the hailiff going to his house in one direction, and we to ours in another. By and by we noticed that Turk was not with us and spoke of the fact with surprise, as he was always a good follower. When we had been at home for perhaps an hour I saw a strange, puzzling object up the road. It raised a cloud of dust as it moved along, so that it was some time before I could make it out. It was Turk dragging a man's shooting jacket, which proved to be the bailiff's with the rabbit still in the pocket. We learned afterward that the dog quietly followed the bailiff home, and lay down near him. Presently the man took off his coat and threw it on a chair. Instantly Turk pounced upon it, and dashed out of the door with it in his mouth. He was pursued, but in vain, and dragged the coat home, a distance of a mile and three-quarters. The rabbit belonged to his master, he thought, and he set himself to recover the stolen goods." This story reminds us of the one about the poachers' greyhound, which followed the gamekeepers and waited for an opportunity to grab and make off with the confiscated hare.

MR. JOHN P. HAINES, president of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has written a letter to some of the New York dailies in relation to a story published by them, that he had caused the arrest of a young man for leading a puppy through the streets of New York without having a license for it. In the story it was said that Mr. Haines approached the boy and offered to buy the puppy; that he had the boy take the dog to his office, and there arrested him and confiscated the dog. Our attention was called to the item, and we immediately communicated with Mr. Haines, with the object of arriving at the truth of the matter. As we expected, the item in the dailies proved to be distorted and misleading, and Mr. Haines, after satisfying us on that point, says: "The dog was an English setter, about six or eight months old, with a handsome collar on its neck, and was being led through the street with a piece of rope attached to the collar, and offered for sale. I have had many dogs seized under similar circumstances and returned to their rightful owners, and in doing so I think I am not only protecting the animal itself but protecting the owners of dogs. There have been many dogs stolen recently in this city, and I propose to break up that unlawful business." Such behavior as was attributed to Mr. Haines hy the New York daily newspapers could not but injure, if true, the good cause of the society he presides over, and we believe his refutation should be made as public as possible.

WE desire to call attention to one feature of the nominations to the Derby stakes in the several field trial clubs for the last year or two, and that is the small number of dogs that are entered by individuals and owners of small kennels. Owners seem to have forgotten the fact that the published lists of the Derby nominations of field trial clubs are most valuable advertisements of their dogs. An owner thinking well enough of a puppy to enter him in a Derby stake can readily find a purchaser for him, if he is a promising dog, and he feels disposed to sell him. Many a young dog that had the quality in him to make a high class animal, and a field trial winner, has remained unknown, owing to his owner not entering him and fitting him for competition. Our advice to owners of small kennels would he to enter any promising puppy that they may have, and by next Fall, if they do not feel disposed to have it handled for the trials, dispose of it to someone who would. .There are always buyers on the lookout at that time for dogs that possess the right quality and that are eligible to run in the Derbys. Several of the noted dogs in years past have been brought into public notice In this way, and if more of the nominations were from the class mentioned, the three or four large kennels of the country would not produce as many of the winners as they have been doing of late years.

ABOUT the first of March last Dr. Keller, of Hot Springs, Ark., sent a very fine Gordon setter bitch on a visit to my kennel. For some days prior to shipping, in fact as soon as the febrile condition appeared, the bitch was kept under lock and key until placed in the crate for shipment. On her arrival at my kennels she was placed with my dog, a very finely marked Gordon setter, and there remained until long after febrile condition ceased, when she was sent back home. From that time until she whelped she was the constant associate of an Irish setter belonging to the doctor. On May 17 the bitch whelped thirteen puppies, seven of which are ideally marked Gordon setter puppies, while the remaining six are a pure light tan without the sign of a black hair upon them. It is positively certain that no dog but mine had access to her; and both my dog and the bitch are perfectly marked Gordons. The question now is how to account for the peculiar markings of the six pure tan puppies. Is it possible that the association of the bitch with the Irish setter during the period of gestation is responsible for the color of the six puppies? I would like some explanation of the phenomenon by some of your readers who are experienced In such matters.

St. Louis, Mo. MARSHALL F. MCDONALD.

IN our issue of April 20 we published the bill introduced in the Illinois legislature by Mr. Crawford, at the request of Mr. Bryson, president of the Mascoutah Kennel Club, entitled, "A Bill for an Act for the better Protection of Lost and Strayed Animals, and for Securing the Rights of the Owners Thereof." This bill was specifically worded for the protection of dogs, and empowering and authorizing the Illinois Humane Society to carry out its provisions, instead of political pound-keepers and dog-catchers, as prevails at the present time. From all indications the bill seemed to have enough supporters to pass it, but when brought up for final reading, last Thursday week, it was defeated by a vote of twenty-one nays to six yeas. The principal objection was that it took, as Senator Mahoney expressed it, $40,000 from the Chicago police and firemen's fund and gave it to a private corporation, viz., the Illinois Humane Society. Senator Mahoney wanted the bill amended, and after giving notice of a motion to reconsider, the bill was ordered brought up Tuesday, May 26.

THREE weeks ago we drew attention to a plan proposed by a sub-committee of the English Kennel Club to effect some improvements in the naming of dogs to be registered in the English Stud Book. At a meeting of the Kennel Club, held in London on May 7, the sub-committee's report was read and discussed, and finally the following resolutions were passed: (1) That on and after January 1, 1896, the practice of distinguishing by the affix of numbers in Roman numerals be discontinued, and that no name with such affix be accepted for registration. (2) That on and after January 1, 1896, no name shall be registered without the affix of the two last numerals of the year of birth of the dog, as declared on the registration form; such affix to be used on all occasions, as forming a portion of the name so registered. (3) That in cases where, at the time of registration, the date of a dog's birth is declared to be "unknown," the last two numerals of the year of registration, with prefix of the letter R, shall be used.

I THINK if the score card system was used in the judging of dogs at bench shows it would be more satisfactory than the present way. The disqualification of every dog entered would be shown on the cards furnished each entry. This would do away with such mistakes as I saw at a recent show, where the judge commended a bitch in the fox terrier class in his report, as being "perfect in feet, legs and body, but lacking in neck." Our judges are always "sitting" on our judgment of a dog as he should be; why should we not sit on the judges? If we, who bench dogs, become dissatisfied and refuse to enter our dogs, the shows would cease being profitable and consequently the judges would not have any employment. Where there is a large entry of any particular breed of dogs I think we should have a judge who is well posted on that particular breed, and allow him to judge on that alone.

Glenoiden, Pa. NEMO.

MR. THOS. JOHNSON'S announcement of renewed activity on the part of the Northwestern Field Trial Club will, we feel sure, be received with general pleasure, and we are glad to see him once again in harness. We must congratulate the club on its double good fortune, and on behalf of all interested in field trials tender hearty thanks for the proffered cup to its English donor. In view of the number of sportsmen that will be gathered together for the trials of the Manitoba and Continental clubs the quality of the competitors for the champion cup, such as proposed by Mr. Johnson, should be undeniable, and we should much like to see the Pacific Coast and Texas, as well as all other sections of the United States, and Ontario and the Northwest Territories represented in the contest.

THE New England Kennel Club's terrier show last Autumn was such a decided success that it is not surprising to learn a similar exhibition will be given again this year. We are glad to hear it, and so will be the great body of fanciers, for there are few, no matter what their special fancy may be, who have not a warm corner in their hearts for the game and cheerful terrier in its many varieties. Mr. D. E. Loveland, the club's secretary, advises us that September 24, 25, 26 and 27 have been claimed as dates for the second terrier show, and that it will follow the Providence, R. I., show, but as yet we have received no information concerning dates for the latter. Mr. Loveland does not say so, but no doubt the terrier show will be held at the Country Club, Brookline.

WE have received the following letter from a correspondent at Sparta, Ill., with a request to withhold his name from publication; but the owner of the lost dog, if such it is, can be put into communication with him: "I believe there is a stolen dog in this neighborhood. It is a setter dog, almost white with just a little red or liver on its ear or ears, am not sure about both, but it is entirely white with that exception, is a fine looker and must be a well bred dog, and about three years old more or less—I would guess him under three. I believe he was stolen from Belleville, Ill. Has such a dog been reported lost or stolen? I will be glad to do anything I can to help any brother sportsman. I think the dog has been stolen some little time."

THE English Stock-Keeper publishes a portrait of a dog with an artificial foreleg—the left, or "nigh 'un." The appearance of this unfortunate, or fortunate, canine at the pet dog show created a good deal of interest. The limb, a metal one, is the invention of the owner of the dog, who has ingeniously devised a leg possessed of two joints which bend so that the leg can move, while the danger of concussion is obviated by the presence of a small spiral spring fixed just above the shoe. The shoe itself has a gutta-percha sole, and the leg is fixed in position by means of laces which go up the back. Our cotemporary says the dog is apparantly by no means inconvenienced by the artificial limb, but, on the contrary, uses it freely when set at liberty.

THE following gentlemen have been invited to judge at the international dog show of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition Association, to be held at Toronto in September: Messrs. James Mortimer, C. H. Mason, John Davidson and J. F. Kirk. The following gentlemen compose the dog show committee: Messrs. C. W. Postlethwaite (chairman), Robt. Junor (vice-chairman), J. H. Dilworth, C. B. Sweetnam and Robert Wilkie. Dr. F. A. Campbell and Dr. Mole have been appointed veterinary surgeons, and, as we have announced before, Mr. C. A. Stone is secretary and superintendent again.

AT the last moment we have been favored with a copy of the premium list for the Montreal Kennel Association's show, to be held Friday and Saturday of this week. We are not disposed to grumble much at a new secretary of a new association, and will be content with a general reminder to show secretaries and superintendents and chairmen of dog show committees that if press notices (for which nothing is ever charged) of premium lists are to be of material value to all parties concerned—the show, our readers and the AMERICAN FIELD—proofs of the lists should reach us before copies are mailed to individuals.

WE have been favored with a copy of the International Field Trial Club's profit and loss statement for 1893-94, signed by Messrs. C. R. Atkinson and I. L. Nicholls as auditors. The important feature is the balance on hand of $159.65, consisting of $114.65 in cash and $45 in unpaid membership dues. This balance is not so large by $52.50 as the previous year's, but the latter included assets which have been ruled off the books as not being realizable, whereas the cash in hand in the current statement exceeds the previous year's amount by $13.50.

IN the AMERICAN FIELD of May 11 was a communication by W. W. Titus that should interest all field trial handlers. Mr. Titus' undertaking to organize a club for the purpose of adding such a stake as he has mentioned to the field trial circuit is very much needed. Being in favor of the proposed organization, we hope to see all handlers who are interested in field trials get in line and join us in making the proposed champion stakes a success.

Stewart, Minn. FRANK RICHARDS, G. W. RICHARDS.

A YELLOW and white setter dog, to all appearances a well-bred animal, was picked up on the streets of this town by the police, one day last week. The dog was plainly lost, and had evidently traveled some distance, as its feet were sore and it had a jaded look. Its owner may have been traveling and lost it, or it may have escaped from a dog thief, and, perhaps, was endeavoring to find its way home. The dog appears to be a valuable animal, and these few lines may be the means of restoring it to its rightful owner.

Waterloo, Ia. CLARK.

A PLEASANT visitor to our desk is the April number of The Ladies' Kennel Journal, published by the authority and under the patronage of the Ladies' Kennel Association, of Great Britain and Ireland. It is a monthly magazine devoted, as its title implies, to the canine interest of the fair sex in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. Interesting articles are supplemented with excellent illustrations, the most attractive of which are portraits of a few charming patronesses of the fancy.

AT a meeting held here last week by the directors of the Cotton States and International Exposition it was decided to erect a large building for a pet stock show, including a dog show. Twenty thousand dollars were appropriated for prizes. Mr. Will Wilson, of this city, and myself have offered our services, in helping to push it along, but as yet nothing definite has taken place. I will keep the AMERICAN FIELD posted if I hear anything later.

Atlanta, Ga. EMMET BOSTICK.

MONDAY, May 13, Fritz, my black corded poodle, died. He was a most clever canine and a typical specimen of his breed; was born April 1, 1887, and was by Styx, the property of Mr. John Sanford, out of Juliet. His prize winnings were: 1st, Troy, 1888; 1st, Albany, 1889; 1st, Troy, 1889; 1st and bronze medal for best poodle, New York, 1892; 1st, Brooklyn, 1892; 1st and special Saratoga, 1894.

Schenectady, N. Y. GEO. A. RORA.

MR. E. A. WOODWARD, secretary of the Bull Dog Club of America, informs us that quite an interest is being taken in the club's second Produce Stakes for 1895, which are open to all comers, whether members of the club or not. The fees are $5 for each bitch nominated and $5 for each puppy entered. Mr. Woodward would be pleased to hear from all bulldog fanciers, to whom he will send full particulars and entry blank, by addressing him at 60 Wabash Avenue, Chicago.

MR. CHAS. S. HANKS, whose intention to sell out prior to a prolonged stay abroad we mentioned lately, informs us that he has sold his kennels to Mr. J. C. Weeks of Baltimore, Ohio, and his (Mr. Hanks') former kennelman, T. W. Turner. Turner will remain at the Seacroft Kennels for the present, but eventually the kennels will be in the suburbs of Baltimore, where Mr. Weeks has leased a large farm and is now putting up kennel buildings.

ENTRIES for the Continental Field Trial Club's Autumn Derbys close on Saturday of this week; pointers and setters will run separately. It is said there is to be issued a program of social events for the evenings of the club's week at Newton, in November; also that a wealthy gentleman will probably donate pieces of silver plate for the winning dogs at these trials.

MR. C. A. PRATT has purchased the rough-coated St. Bernard bitch Chesterford Lady, the property of the late E. B. Elliott. She will not materially strengthen his grand lot of show dogs, but as she is only three years old and is of excellent breeding, being by King Regent—Princess Hepsey, we hope she may, as a brood bitch, repay him in full measure for the kindly spirit in which the purchase was made.

THE English Stock-Keeper says there were no less than four rough-coated pugs benched at the club pug show, and a very pretty breed many visitors considered them. There is evidently material to work on. They are said to spring from the King of Diamonds strain.

I HAD the pleasure of meeting Capt. Marion P. Maus of the U. S. Army from Governor's Island, last week. He is on his way to the Pacific Coast. He had with him [illegible] fine English setter, Paul Gladstone.

Laramie, Wyo.

A GENTLEMAN in Reading, Pa., who h[illegible] of pointers in the hands of C. W. Tway, [illegible] dogs have been returned to him in g[illegible] well broken and are a credit to the yo[illegible]

MR. F. W. CHAPMAN informs us he has purchased all of the beagles owned by Mr. Geo. W. Proctor of West Gloucester, Mass.; finding he has overloaded himself he advertises some stock for sale this week.

THE judges for the Montreal show are Mr. P. G. Keyes for spaniels, Mr. F. S. Wetherall for terriers (except bull and black and tans), and Mr. Alfred Geddes for all other breeds.

PLEASE stop my advertisement. It will take me a week to answer the letters received from all over the country.

Lafayette, Ind. FRED ERB JR.

SALES

SALES.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Sales. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MR. HOMER SAYLOR, Kokomo, Ind., has sold
——, lemon and white rough St. Bernard bitch puppy, by Prince Malo (33216) out of a bitch by Chequasset Prince (16220), to Mr. L. J. Burge, North Manchester, Ind.

DR. F. H. HOYT, Sharon, Pa., has sold
BILLY MACK (35987), Irish terrier dog, by Irish Paddy—Myrtle (31233), to Mr. N. S. Kalme, St. Louis, Mo.
BLUE RIBBON JACK (36384), Irish terrier dog, by Jackanapes (27802) out of Chancery Lass (27804), to same.
KEYSTONE SIS, Irish terrier bitch, by Killaloe (18493) out of Annie Rooney (22290), to Mr. Wm. Pugh, Sharon, Pa.
PSYCHE II, fox terrier bitch, by Woodale Driver—Trixie H, to Mr. J. A. Buckner, Pleasant Hill, Mo.
REX OF SHARON, fox terrier dog, by Wilton Splinter—Psyche, to same.
KEYSTONE BELLE, fox terrier bitch, by Rex of Sharon—M'liss, to same.
M'LISS (15646), fox terrier bitch, in whelp to Woodale Driver, to same.
KEYSTONE BOB, fox terrier dog, by Woodale Driver—Ethel H, to Mr. J. R. Naylor, Sharon, Pa.
KEYSTONE DAN, fox terrier dog, by Rex of Sharon—M'liss, to Mr. Wm. Dooré, Sharon, Pa.
KEYSTONE KATE, bull terrier bitch, by Keno—Spotless, to Mr. H. Woodside, Pittsburg, Pa.
BELLE, Italian greyhound bitch, by Tony—Idiom, to Mr. J. Ed. Caldwell, Delaware, O.
TACCO (32289), Italian greyhound dog, to Mr. T. P. Owens, Old Fort, O.
VITO (28842), Italian greyhound bitch, to same.
□INFANTA (30277), Italian greyhound bitch, to same.
VELVET, Italian greyhound bitch, by Byron—Marguerite, to Mr. J. Findley, Findlay, O.
——, Italian greyhound dog puppy, by Byron—Vito, to Mr. J. C. Mahler, Pittsburg, Pa.
VILLI, Italian greyhound bitch, by Byron—Marguerite, to Mr. W. W. Hodley, Parkersburg, W. Va.
——, Italian greyhound dog puppy, by Taceo—Idiom, to same.
——, Italian greyhound dog puppy, by Byron—Vito, to Mr. S. S. Halliday, Cairo, Ill.
——, Italian greybound bitch puppy, by Tacco—Idiom, to same.
——, Italian greyhound dog puppy, by Byron—Marguerite, to Mrs. Kate C. Moore, Sharon, Pa.
MARTHA, English greyhound bitch, by Master Rich—Wild Parsley, to Mr. Wm. Gale, Canton, N. Y.

CONCORD KENNELS, Detroit, Mich., have sold
CONCORD MAJOR, cocker spaniel, to Mr. K. W. Parsille, Bay Mills, Mich.
CONCORD MACK, cocker spaniel, to Mr. Dobels, Dayton, O.
CONCORD CHARLIE, cocker spaniel, to Mr. A. M. Lemke, Saginaw, Mich.
——, black cocker bitch, by Champion Pickpania—Gipsy, to Mr. J. J. Lynn, Port Huron Mich.

MR. N. G. HANSEN, Minneapolis, Minn., has sold
——, English setter dog, by Cincinnatus—Lillie Blade, to Mr. Chas. K. Brown, Erie, Pa.
——, English setter dog puppy, by Mack's Monarch—Dashing Mamie, to Mr. W. L. Smith, Minneapolis, Minn.
——, bitch, same litter, to Mr. H. A. Tuttle, Minneapolis, Minn.
——, dog, same litter, to Mr. J. McCrossen Jr., St. Paul, Minn.

MR. J. H. H. MAENNER, Baltimore, Md., has sold
ALMA, Great Dane bitch, whelped May 30, 1894, by Moreau—Cora, to Mr. A. Braunreuter, Gettysburg, Pa.
——, Great Dane dog puppy, whelped December 7, 1894, by Moreau—Flora, to Mr. H. Wenzing, Baltimore, Md.

DR. H. D. DANFORD, Trimble, O., has sold
VERA, pointer bitch, by King of Kent (6264)—Vera Bang (11218), to Mr. J. J. Odorn, Birmingham, Ala.

WHELPS

WHELPS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Whelps To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MR. J. H. MAENNER'S
CORA (27788), Great Dane, whelped, April 4, six dogs and five bitches, by his Moreau (31162).
CORDELIA (34241), Great Dane, whelped, April 7, four dogs and three bitches, by his Harras (29298).
DIDO (34242), Great Dane, whelped, April 7, eight dogs and five bitches, by his Moreau (31162).

MR. L. F. BARTELS'
OLICANA, greyhound, by Miller's Rab—Slander, whelped, March 18, five dogs and three bitches, by Border Ruffian.
BLISTER, greyhound, by Glenkirk—Innocence, whelped, May 10, ten puppies, by Border Ruffian. Four dogs and three bitches living.

MR. R. L. COX'S
EMMETT'S NOKO, St. Bernard, whelped April 13, eight bitches and six dogs, by imported Grover.
PRINCESS NIKITA, St. Bernard, whelped, May 3, six bitches and three dogs, by Alton Boy.

CONCORD KENNELS'
ELSIE, cocker spaniel, whelped, April 27, five dogs and three bitches, by Plekpania.
MISS MAE, cocker spaniel, whelped, May 7, two dogs and two bitches, by Red Justice.

MR. E. O. DAMON'S
IGHTFIELD TEION, pointer, whelped, April 9, five puppies, by Strideaway.
BECKY NOBLE, pointer, whelped, May 3, six puppies, by Strideaway.

SOUTH BEND KENNELS'
BONITA (31574), rough-coated St. Bernard, by Sir Eldred (26024) out of Lady Godiva (Prince—Lady Snowdrift), whelped, May 15, nine dogs and four bitches, by Tramp (32559).

MR. B. V. WHITE'S
LUCILLE W (36481), English setter, by Count Roy (19148)—Queen of Counts, whelped, May 13, five dogs and five bitches, by Sandy Gladstone (25915).

MR. S. A. NOFTZGER'S
MAY BANG, lemon, white and ticked pointer, whelped, May 14, five dogs and three bitches, by Colonel Kent (King of Kent—Bang's Mollie).

MR. J. QULIGAN'S
CECIL, fox terrier, whelped, May 14, three dogs [illegible] by New Forest Billy (36507).

MR. J. KRONESTER'S
Rose (36355), Great Dane, whelped, April 3, two dogs and one bitch, by Harras (29298).

MR. W. J. LOVE'S
Fritz Jay, pointer, whelped, May 12, five dogs and one bitch, by Love's Kent.

MARK LEWIS JR.'S
[illegible] whelped May 2, three dogs and five bitches, by Little [illegible]

VISITS

VISITS.—We [illegible]ze for inserting notices of Visits. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. J. E. BEAMER'S
Daisy Bondhu Furness (29486), English setter, by Monk of Furness—Blade's Dart. April 14, to Kansas Rod (Roderigo—Lady Gladstone).

MR. J. H. H. MAENNER'S
Stella (24259), Great Dane, March 30, to his Moreau (31162).
Juno, Great Dane, by Moreau—Stella, April 13, to his Harras (29298).

MR. N. G. HANSEN'S
Lillie Blads, English setter, by Toledo Blade—Jessie Gladstone, May 2, to Count Lucifer (Prince Lucifer—Annie Gladstone II).

LAWN GORDON SETTER KENNELS'
Lawn Hazel (34730), by Pilot of Loraine (18490)—Challenge Hilda (23416), May 12 and 14, to Lawn Chieftain (34729).

DR. F. M. EDWARDS'
Shenstone Daisy, English setter, by Shenstone—Fanny B, May 10 and 11, to his Prince Warwick Foreman (21309).

MR. J. P. LEAMING'S
Grissy, black and tan terrier bitch, May 16 and 17, to Mr. C. Wilson's Chicago Spider.

MR. C. V. McLEAN'S
Yelpie, bull terrier, by Spotless Prince—Blossom, May 6, 7 and 8, to Champion Cardona.

LARCHMONT KENNELS'
Larchmont Rose (23049), fox terrier, May 15 and 18, to Blemton Rasper (19660).

MR. J. DUKEHART'S
Flora, Great Dane, by Pedro (20425)—Minca (20746), May 15, to Moreau (31162).

MR. C. SEE'S
Nellie L (28255), English setter, May 13, to Snapper Garrison (34324).

MR. G. HAY'S
Topsy, black cocker, April 18, to Champion Pickpania.

MR. W. CAMPBELL'S
Jet, black cocker, April 23, to Champion Pickpania.

MR. C. A. BACKUS'
Lady La Force, red cocker, May 19, to Red Justice.

MR. C. THURMAN'S
Reda, red cocker, May 15, to Red Justice.

NAMES CLAIMED

NAMES CLAIMED.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Names Claimed. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. J. P. CARTWRIGHT, Augusta, Ga., claims the name
Rosa's Gussie, for orange ticked pointer bitch, by Fritz—Rosa.
Louise Foster, for lemon and white English setter bitch, by Chester (14800)—Belle Foster (24926).
Laura Cartwright, for Irish setter bitch, by Jack Frost (19188)—Miss Swiveler (18930).
Gold Button, for lemon and white pointer dog, by Button H (11008)—Young Rosa May (37019).
Young Rosa May, for lemon ticked pointer bitch, by Spot Sting—Rosa May.

MR. J. F. CARR, Ridgetown, Ont., claims the name
Forest Tobe, for black, white and tan English setter dog by Jean's Boy (Jean Val Jean—Rowey B), out of Little Nell (Lark—Canadian Nellie).

MR. N. G. HANSEN, Minneapolis, Minn., claims the name
Great Northern Kennels, for his kennel of English setters.

Coursing

FIXTURES

California state meeting, May 30,. Ocean View Park, San Francisco. J R. Dickson, secretary.

Aberdeen Coursing Club's Autumn meeting, Aberdeen, S. D., October 1. J. H. Davis, secretary.

American Waterloo Cup meeting (first), Huron, S. D., October 8 etc. F. B. Coyne, secretary, American Coursing Club.

Altcar Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 16, etc. T. W. Bartels, secretary.

Kenmore Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 22, etc. C. F. Weber, secretary.

Cheyenne Coursing Club's first meeting, Great Bend, Kan., October 29, etc. Ira D. Brougher, secretary.

THE TRANSFERRING OF NOMINATIONS

Denver, Colo.

Editor American Field:—Can you tell me where to find the great demand for nominations for the American Waterloo Cup? I have a nomination therein, on which I have made first and second payments, and I will sell it for just what I paid on it, i. e., $15.

One thing that I cannot understand about this controversy between Coyne and X. Y. Z. is why nominations were offered by Coyne for $35. Now, if there were a number of people after these nominations, as stated by Coyne, why did he not sell mine, or let someone have it, when he knew I wanted to sell it for just what it cost me? Under date of March 23 I wrote Coyne as follows:

I note in American Field of this date that you have more entries than the limit. I will be pleased to have you return my $5 and let someone have my nomination. Upon receipt of $5 from you, I will return receipt.

By complying with above request you will greatly oblige yours very truly, L. F. Bartels.

It seems to me that it was Coyne's duty as secretary to notify those desiring nominations that this one could be had at original cost, instead of trying to sell the two nominations of the Columbns Kennels at an advance of $10.

Anyone desiring the nomination for what I have paid in can step into my shoes by sending me the amount of the first and second payments.

I do not wish to be drawn into the controversy now being carried on between Secretary Coyne and X. Y. Z., but as the former has seen fit to refer to some letters from me, a word or two will not be amiss. As stated by Mr. Coyne, I wrote him a letter under date of February 18, asking him to endeavor to get some of the Dakota people to make some entries in the Altcar Produce Stakes, and I inclosed a [illegible] blanks. But why he should [illegible] out the circular letter referred to, without consulting any member of the executive committee or any officer of the Altcar Coursing Club, I cannot comprehend. Certainly there can be no reason why it was justified by my letter asking for entries. I received the circular letter, as stated, a few days after it was issued, and I replied thereto on the day of its receipt. But in my reply, I did not thank him for the letter. I quote from my letter: "As to running our meeting at Huron. Many thanks for the invitation, but I must on behalf of executive committee and club decline the invitation." I have no doubt that Mr. Coyne intended his letter for the good of coursing, but it certainly seemed to me to be ill-advised.

L. F. Bartels.

THE ALTCAR PRODUCE STAKES

We are indebted to the secretary, Mr. T. W. Bartels, for the following particulars of the entries for the above event. In the American Field of March 16 we published a list of the sires and dams and the number of representatives of each; also a list of those who had taken entries, and their addresses. From the latter list we accidentally omitted the names of Mr. D. C. Luse of Great Bend, and Mr. W. J. G. Massey of Chicago; also Mr. M. F. Smith's address, which is Houston, Tex. The table below gives all the interesting features of a produce stake, and will be valuable for reference.

The Altcar Club, and those who made entries, must be congratulated on the wonderfully large number upon which second payment has been made. It would not have been surprising if distemper and other causes had cut the numbers down to three dozen or less, but as it is only six have fallen by the wayside, and of these only one is a voluntary declaration. Nothing has ever been heard of Mr. Chas. Barrow's two lost saplings, and, consequently, he had to forfeit on them. The two saplings, by imported Glenkirk—imported Nettlefield, that Dr. Norman bought from Mr. Luse, died of distemper, as did one of the imported Trales—Miss Lotties that Dr. Moore purchased from Mr. Vidler: and Mr. Luse increased the total to six by declaring out the youngster by Lord Mac Pherson—imported Belle of Eltham, partly because it was whelped so late in the year (August) and partly because he expects to run it in the Kenmore Derby, relying upon his two elder saplings to represent him in the Produce Stakes. Should no worse luck befall the entries between now and October, the running for these stakes will repay a long journey to see, and they will be unusually well worth winning.

No.	Name of Sire	Name of Dam	Date of birth '94	Nominator	Breeder
1	Twister	Lady Emma	March 21	G. Macdougal	Ben Colin.
1	Twister	Colorado Belle	August 5	G. Macdougall	M. Davey.
3	imp. Royal Crest	Wasted Time	August 21	G. Macdougall	Owner.
1	Boomerang	Irish Lass	June 1	C. A. Robinson.	Chas. Barrow.
1	imp. Miller's Rab.	imp. Scandal	May 17	C. A. Robinson.	E. H. Mulcaster.
3	imp. Lord Neversettle	imp. Verdure Clad	April 7	Q. Van Hummell	Owner.
1	Vans Peter	Valkyrie	April 18	Q. Van Hummell	Owner.
3	Boomerang	Pearl of Pekin	May 7	T. W. Bartels.	Owner.
1	Boomerang	Irish Lass	June 1	T. W. Bartels.	Chas. Barrow.
A-2	Boomerang	Irish Lass	June 1	Chas. Barrow.	Owner.
1	Boomerang	Pearl of Pekin	May 7	Chas. Barrow.	T. W. Bartels.
1	Boomerang	Pearl of Pekin	May 7	J. G. Massey.	T. W. Bartels.
1	Boomerang	Irish Lass	June 1	L. F. Bartels.	Chas. Barrow.
1	imp. Lord Neversettle	Irish Lass	June 1	Dr. J. M. Norman.	Chas. Barrow.
B-2	imp. Glenkirk	imp. Partera	February 27	Dr. J. M. Norman	H. C. Luse.
3	imp. Trales	imp. Nettlefield	May 24	Dr. J. M. Norman	D. C. Luse.
C-2	imp. Babazoun	Miss Lottie	July 9	S. W. Vidler.	Owner.
1	Boomerang	Bonnie Belle	July 31	A. C. Lighthall.	Owner.
3	King Lear	Pearl of Pekin	May 7	P. J. Donahue	T. W. Bartels.
2	imp. Lord Neversettle	Kentucky Belle	June 10	E. H. Shaw.	Owner.
2	imp. Trales	imp. White Lips	March 16	H. C. Lowe.	Owner.
D-2	imp. Trales	imp. Partera	February 27	H. C. Lowe.	Owner.
1	imp. Patrick	Miss Lottie	July 9	J. A. Parrott.	S. W. Vidler.
1	imp. Royal Crest	Miss Lottie	July 9	Dr. F. R. Moore.	S. W. Vidler.
1	imp. Miller's Rab.	imp. Colleen	January 15	John Egan	Capt. Alt.
1	imp. Glenkirk	imp. Dry Time	August 19	J. H. Watson	Owner.
2	imp. Glenkirk	imp. Scandal	May 17	M. Allen.	E. H. Mulcaster.
1	imp. Lord Neversettle	imp. Innocence	May 12	M. Allen.	N. P. Whiting.
2	imp. Glenkirk	imp. Partera	February 27	M. F. Smith.	H. C. Lowe.
E-1	Lord McPherson	imp. Nettlefield	May 24	D. C. Luse.	Owner.
2	imp. Glenkirk	Lady Dell Glendyne	August 11	D. C. Luse.	Owner.
—			May 12	W. J. G. Massey	Owner.
50		A, both lost or stolen. B, both dead. C, one sold (with entry) to Mr. Robert L. Lee. D, one dead. E, declared out.

NOMINATORS FOR THE AMERICAN WATERLOO CUP

Huron, S. D.

Editor American Field:—Inclosed please find list of nominators that have made their first and second payments on nominations for the Waterloo Cup.

Mr. M. Allen, Chicago	3	Mr. A. C. Bradbury, Jersey City, N. J.	1
Mr. J. H. Rew, Artesian, S. D	3	Mr. Alfred Haigh, Cable, Ill	1
Mr. A. P. Slocum, Oakes, N. D.	3	Mr. John Charlton, Minneapolis	1
Mr. J. H. Watson, Brooklyn	2	Mr. John Grace, San Francisco	1
Dr. Q. Van Hummell, Indianapolis	2	Mr. W. C. Peyton, San Francisco	1
Messrs. Warren & Fish, Fox Lake, Wis	2	Mr. T. J. Cronin, San Francisco	1
Messrs. Melrose & Durbin, Hawarden, Ia	2	Mr. J. R. McNickle, Hawarden, Ia	1
Mr. D. O. Miller, Oxford, Kan.	2	Mr. John Perigo, San Francisco	1
Mr. L. C. Whiton, New York	2
Columbus Coursing Kennels, Huron, S. D	2	Total	32
Mr. L. F. Bartels, Denver	1

Those who dropped out are Mr. J. A. Parrott of Helper, Utah, with 2; Mr. C. H. Vinton of La Fayette, Ind., with 1, and Mr. Geo. Macdougall of Butte, Mont., with 1. Messrs. Cronin, Peyton, Whiton and Perigo have filled their places with one each.

Mr. J. H. Watson has transferred two of his nominations to Dr. Q. Van Hummell, and Mr. C. H. Waterhouse has transferred his nomination to Mr. A. P. Slocum, which are all the transfers that have taken place up to date. F. B. Coyne, Secy. A. C. C.

NOTES

It has been some time since I have written upon the subject of dogs and coursing, and with your permission I will drop you a few bits of the same. For six weeks I have been away from home and have not had the pleasure of reading the American Field, consequently I am not quite up with the times; although my correspondence with dog men never ceases, and in this way I am not altogether in the dark. My interest in coursing has not altogether left me, and I still have a warm feeling toward all coursers; although I am some what disheartened. I lost my poor old dog Norwegian by poison, and Lady II through the rupturing of a blood vessel, while running a hare. You remember her, as she took quite an active part running byes last Fall. I have sold quite a number within the last year, and have but two of the Glenkirk—Nettlefield litter left, and they are entered in the Altcar Produce Stakes. And by the way, the Altcar folks seem to think the Cheyenne club has the best dates, and they are negotiating with me for them. I am trying to, and I think I can, arrange things satisfactorily by discontinuing our meeting altogether for the present year. Also I think within a short time the executive committee will be able to announce the location for the Kenmore club's meeting. I think it will be in Kansas, and somewhere near the center of the state; and about three meetings will be the limit this year. I still have the Colonel and Fascination, and they are still fast enough to make the "boys" do a whole lot of running for first money; although I may not be able to attend a meeting next Fall.

Great Bend, Kan. D. C. Luse.

Everyone will feel pleased because the nominators have been given out, but Mr. Coyne need not think I feel hurt, because I have not been throwing any mud or cold water; only asking questions. He need not fear that I don't exist. Times are pretty hard but I manage to exist. He seems to have got me mixed up with a presidential candidate, or something on that order. I would like to say that the nominations would better be more scattered, instead of some gentlemen having so many, but I hope I won't be jumped on for saying so. Mr. Coyne need not feel mad because I had a little fun with him, for things have been dull here since the "push" got the boys out of the coursing park. Anyhow we all know the nominators at last, and, as Mike Walsh, our worthy chief of police, would say, they make a proud array.

East St. Louis, Ill. X. Y. Z.

[In justice to Mr. Coyne we might observe there never has been any reason to doubt that he would publish the names, etc., of the nominators; and, further, we would suggest that the duties of the honorary secretary of any active club are often sufficiently tiresome, and consume quite enough of a business man's spare time, without others having "a little fun with him."—Ed.]

While Mr. Chas. Robinson is congratulating himself on the arrival of a litter of eleven, by Border Ruffian (imp. Dingwall—imp. Miss Kitten) out of Diana (imp. Lord Neversettle—imp. White Lips), another St. Louis owner, Mr. Edward J. Brown, is feeling bad over the untimely death of the young bitch Lady Alko, which he purchased from Mr. H. C. Lowe last December. It will be remembered she ran in the Kansas Stakes at La Crosse, and was beaten by Butterflies in the second round. Friday evening, May 17, she got out of the yard and was run over by an electric car. "My brother," writes Mr. Brown, "followed her only in time to see her breathe her last; also to see conductor and motorneer speeding away as though nothing had happened, and with broad smiles on their miserable countenances, congratulating themselves, seemingly, on having performed a neat job. We have several such heartless brutes here, who seem to think it fun to run over a poor unfortunate dog, unawares. I had a license on her collar, have several witnesses who saw it occur, and the car was going double its legal speed, but I guess I can't do anything with them. Had she got the least warning she would never have been run over."

I thoroughly indorse your comments on the Dakota (save the mark) American Waterloo. If it has come to such a point that a non-member of the American Coursing Club cannot criticise its officials' actions I want none of it. Doubtless Mr. T. W. Bartels has notified you that second payment has been made on 44 entries for the Altcar Produce Stakes. We sent Ralph Taylor down to Las Animas to report on grounds, etc., and find cacti in too great abundance. Goodland will, I presume, be our next camping ground. In view of your notice of the Fair Future litter, I am more than ever pleased I bred Miss Lottie to old Trales. Dr. Moore lost one of his entries by distemper, or else seven out of the litter of eight would have gone to slips next Fall.

Colorado Springs. Sam W. Vidler.

Rifle

FIXTURES

Ninth tournament of the Westlicher Schuetzen-Bund, Milwaukee, Wis., June 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

National Sharpshooters' Union's first tournament, Glendale, L. I., June 30 to July 8.

Since my last report to the American Field, another society, the Morgantown Rifle Club, of Morgantown, W. Va., has become a member of the Western Sharpshooters' Union. Word has also been received from members of the San Francisco Schuetzenverein, that the delegation which will represent that society at the New York tournament will, on its way thither, stop over at Milwaukee and attend the Western Sharpshooters' tournament. The committee on donations has continued in its good work and has now secured cash subscriptions of over $2,000. Reports from the different societies show that all are taking great interest in the coming tournament, and will, without exception, be represented by strong delegations. Twenty-six targets will be in readiness and large additions to the shooting hall of the Milwaukee Sharpshooting Society will provide ample accommodations for our visitors.

Milwaukee, Wis. WM. FINGER, Secy.

A NEW National Rifle Association was formed at Washington, D. C., on May 16, by the members of the National Guard. A constitution was adopted and the new organization placed on a permanent footing. Major G. H. Harries, inspector general of the guard, was declared ex officio president. It was decided that the association should be open to all members of the National Guard on a small monetary basis, and also to civilians on somewhat different terms. The object of the organization is to afford men who have now no opportunities to indulge their tastes for rifle shooting a chance to exercise at the ranges, and to enter into competitions. The range to be used is that which is now being established at Tuxedo, on the Baltimore & Potomac Railroad, a few miles out of Washington.

THE first tournament of the Schutzenglide Rifle Club of Rochester, N. Y., on its new grounds, will take place on June 5 and 6. The club is making very elaborate preparations for the event, and it is believed that it will turn out to be the most notable and successful tournament ever held by the club.

AT the recent tournament held by the Arnoult Rifle Club of New Orleans, La., the old reliable Expectation Club, also of New Orleans, after a hard struggle with the Arnoults, came out victorious. The scores were: Expectation 3477; Arnoults 3468.

REVOLVER SHOOTING IN ENGLAND

LONDON, ENG.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—At the North London Rifle Club on Saturday, May 4, the first score of 41 for the present season in revolver shooting at 20 yards was made by Mr. Winans. Below are details of the shooting.

May 4, 20 yards, stationary target: Walter Winans 41, Clementi-Smith 38, Major Munday 37, Gould 36, Major Jones 34, Luff 33.

May 8, 20 yards, stationary target.

Comber	6	7	7	7	7	6—40	Clementi-Smith—
Major Munday	6	7	6	7	6	7—39		7	7	6	4	4	6—34
Chicken	6	7	7	5	5	7—37	Luff	5	5	7	7	5	4—33
Knapp	7	7	6	6	5	5—36	Ricketts	7	6	5	7	5	5—32
Lieut. Richardson—							Frost	7	3	7	2	6	7—32
[illegible]	4	7	6	7	6	5—35	Thompson	6	5	6	4	5	4—29
Carter	7	5	4	7	7	5—35	Capt. Evans	3	5	2	5	7	7—29

At the South London Rifle Club scores as below were made in revolver shooting, Mr. Winans' score at 20 yards being the highest made this year at the club:

May 2, 20 yards.

Walter Winans—							C. F. Lowe	7	7	4	5	7	6—36
	7	7	5	7	7	7—40	Capt. T. W. Heath—
Lieut. Varley	5	7	7	6	5	7—37		6	6	6	6	6	5—36
E. Howe	7	6	6	6	5	6—36

May 2, 50 yards.

Walter Winans—							C. F. Lowe	4	5	7	7	6	5—34
	7	6	5	7	6	6—37	E. Howe	5	5	6	4	5	6—31
Lieut. Varley	5	7	5	7	4	6—34

PISTOL GRIP.

DENVER, COLO.—The first scores made at the Denver Rifle Club's range, at 200 yards, off hand, on the American standard target were made:

J. N. Lower	7	9	5	9	9	8	10	9	10	10—86
J. A. Ricker	10	7	5	5	9	10	8	8	8	4—74
F. Speth	4	6	5	7	6	9	10	9	8	9—73
G. C. Schogen	5	3	7	8	8	6	9	8	4	8—66
A. W. Peterson	5	5	7	5	4	6	9	9	8	6—64
O. E. Adamson	6	7	5	9	7	8	5	6	6	4—63
H. B. Gilbert	2	10	4	8	4	3	8	8	4	5—56
J. H. Dean	6	3	4	9	4	6	6	0	5	7—50

At 500 yards, Creedmoor target:

H. B. Gilbert	5	4	5	4	5	5	5	5	4	4—46
J. N. Lower	4	3	5	4	4	5	5	5	5	4—44
G. C. Schogen	3	5	3	4	4	5	3	5	4	5—41
F. Speth	5	5	2	4	4	5	5	5	0	4—39
O. E. Adamson	4	3	4	4	3	4	5	4	4	3—38
J. H. Dean	4	4	4	4	5	2	3	4	3	5—38
A. W. Peterson	3	4	4	2	5	4	4	5	3	3—37

DENVERITE.

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y.—Three prizes were offered at the Woodvale rifle range in the tournament which closed on Saturday, May 18. First prize, a .22-caliber Marlin rifle; second prize, $5 cash; third prize, a Harrington & Richardson revolver. Michael Hines won first on a score of 28. E. C. Reynolds captured second with 25, and Wm. Carpenter walked off with third on a score of 24 made within two minutes of closing time. A remarkable fact about the leading score is, that it was made with open sights. Scores of over 25 are seldom made except with peep sights, and a score of 28 with open sights is phenomenal.

G. S. MEST.

Trap

FIXTURES

JUNE

Illinois State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Chicago, week of June 3, 1895.

Kewanee Gun Club's Summer tournament, Kewanee, Ill., June 4 and 5.

Wabash Gun Club's all-day tournament at targets, Wabash, Ind., June 5.

Emmetsburg Gun Club's tournament, Emmetsburg, Ia., June 5 and 6.

Camp Point Gun Club's tournament, Camp Point, Ill., June 6 and 7.

Kelly Gun Club's tournament, Kelly, Ia., June 11 and 12.

Janesville Shooting Club's fifth annual tournament, Janesville, Wis., June 12 and 13.

Memphis Gun Club's annual tournament, Memphis, Tenn., June 11, 12, 13 and 14. $2,000 added money.

North Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's first annual tournament Fargo, June 13 and 14. W. W. Smith, secretary.

Eleventh annual tournament Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest, under the auspices of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club, Portland, Ore., June 13, 14 and 15. D. L. Williams, secretary, Portland.

Nebraska State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Omaha, Neb., June 13, 14 and 15. $500 added money. F. S. Parmelee, secretary.

New England Shooting Association's seventh tournament, Worcester, Mass., June 14.

Wilmerding Gun Club's tournament, Wilmerding, Pa., June 15.

Chamberlin Cartridge & Target Co.'s second annual tournament, Cleveland, O., June 19, 20 and 21.

Flour City Gun Club's tournament, Minneapolis, Minn., June 20, 21 and 22.

Interstate Association's tournament, Vicksburg, Miss., under the auspices of the Vicksburg Gun Club, June 26 and 27.

New York State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Saratoga, N. Y., under the auspices of the Saratoga Gun Club, June 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28.

JULY

Wood Powder Gun Club's tournament, Orangeville, Baltimore County, Md., July 4.

Palmetto Gun Club's tournament, Charleston, S. C., July 4.

J. F. Schmelzer & Sons Arms Co.'s second annual midsummer shooting tournament, Kansas City, Mo., July 9, 10, 11 and 12. Open to amateurs only; $1,500 in prizes.

Altoona Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Wapsononock Park, Altoona, Pa., July 11 and 12. W. G. Clark, secretary.

Belfast Gun Club's second annual tournament, Belfast, Me., July 17 and 18.

Interstate Association's tournament, Macon, Ga., under the auspices of the Macon Gun Club, July 17 and 18. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Macon Gun Club.

Lafayette Gun Club's annual tournament, Lafayette, Ind., July 23, 24 and 25.

AUGUST

Interstate Association's tournament, New Orleans, La., under the auspices of the Louisiana Gun Club, August 9 and 10. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Louisiana Gun Club.

Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association tournament, Philadelphia, Pa., August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Interstate Association's tournament, Charlotte, N. C., under the auspices of the Charlotte Gun Club, August 27, 28 and 29. Amount of added money will be announced later.

SEPTEMBRR.

Limited Gun Club's tournament, Indianapolis, Ind., second week in September.

OCTOBER

West Newburg Gun Club's Fall tournament, West Newburg N. Y., October 9, 10 and 11. First two days at targets, last day at live birds.

NOVEMBER

Kewanee Gun Club's regular annual tournament, Kewanee, Ill., November 5, 6 and 7.

HANDICAPPING THE 10-GAUGE GUN

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I noticed an article recently in the AMERICAN FIELD from a gentleman signing himself Plain John, who complains of the manner in which the 10-gauge gun is and for some time has been treated. Plain John speaks of the Cleveland, O., tournament, where the 10-gauge is handicapped.

Now, I ask this question. Who is responsible for this move? In cases of crime we often look to see who would profit by the commission of a certain act. The same in this case, partly. As near as I can remember, it first occurred to the American Shooting Association. Afterward, by tacit consent, the 10-gauge and 12-gauge shot for the same score, at 16 yards. Now as to the difference in the use of the two gauges. At the time when the rules of trap shooting required the shooter to keep the butt of his gun below the elbow until the bird was in the air, a person was selected to stand by to see that the rules were complied with, and authorized to challenge if the rules were violated; and the numerous challenges that were made so handicapped and annoyed the shooter that he was seldom at his best during a match, and therefore it was determined to change that rule, and the shooter was allowed to hold his gun in any position that suited him providing he did nothing to endanger property or life. I need not tell the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD of the lifelong enemies that were made by the old rule permitting the challenging of the shooter; all, no doubt, have had more or less experience.

I use a 10-gauge gun that I have used for years, and I see by the AMERICAN FIELD that the New York Association for the Protection of Fish and Game has decided to recommend that the [illegible] be placed at 18 yards and be required to shoot by the [illegible] state events, but that they are permitted to shoot [illegible] the same rise as 12-gauge.

Now Mr. Editor, a thing is either right or [illegible] proper and just to place the 10-gauge at 18 yards [illegible] the same injustice extends to the sweepstake [illegible] majority of the people who made those rules, [illegible] them shoot 12-gauge guns chambered for a [illegible] why does the 12-gauge man desire his gun c[illegible] inch shell? Simply that he may use more am[illegible] to say that as almost all trap shooters shoot nitro powder, an ordinary shell will hold all the ammunition, properly loaded, that the rules of the American Shooting Association allow. For several years I have not heard a challenge at the state shoot when shooting inanimate targets, and the consequence is harmony and a general good time. Now the wrangle about 10 and 12 gauge guns comes up, and the inconsistency and the reason for this, to the knowing ones, are apparent. For my part I cannot see why a man shooting 1¼ ounces of shot from a 10-gauge gun should be obliged to stand two yards further back from the trap than the man who shoots the same amount of shot and the same amount of powder from a 12-gauge gun. There is not sufficient difference in the target pattern under the conditions to be noticeable. If the 12-gauge gun used 1⅛ ounces of shot, then the killing center of the 10-gauge might be a little larger than the 12-gauge, but everything being the same I cannot see the sense of stirring up an unpleasantness on the bore of the guns that will be used. I do not want to say I believe these men intend to profit by this rule, but it does seem to me that until I have better evidence than I now have that the 10-gauge should be handicapped, I shall oppose it to the best of my ability.

I know that many who shoot 10-gauge guns will not go near the shoot if this rule prevails. God may be merciful enough to permit me to attend the next state shoot, and if he is I shall raise my voice to defeat that portion of the rules which handicap the 10-gauge gun, for if those rules are not adopted by the association the rules of the previous year must prevail, which for peace, harmony and equity I hope will be the case.

W. C. HADLEY.

PARTICIPANTS IN THE KNOXVILLE TOURNAMENT, MAY, 1895

NOTES

THE Memphis Gun Club of Memphis, Tenn., has issued a very attractive program for its tournament which is to be held on June 11, 12 and 13. This club was organized only about a year ago and held its first tournament last year, which, owing to the great energy displayed by the club members and its tournament committee, was a decided success. Stimulated by the grand results of its first tournament the club this year presents one of the most inviting programs that has ever been placed before the shooters of the South, adding $2,000 in cash to the purses and barring no one. The special feature of this year's program is the donation by the club of $500 in cash to be pro rated among all shooters—barring members of the Memphis Gun Club and manufacturers' agents—who shoot through all the events in the three days' program. All purses will be divided into six moneys, so that although the experts and professionals are invited to participate in the tournament on equal terms with the amateur, they cannot "scoop the platter clean," as the amateur will have a good show to get back at least a part of his entrance money. Special railroad and hotel rates have been secured for those wishing to attend, and those intending going can send their guns and shells in advance, if they wish, to J. G. Schmitt & Son, who will care for same and deliver them at the shooting grounds free of charge. The tournament committee announces that the referee's decision shall be final in all cases, and that a dead square deal will be given everyone. Eight events are announced for each day, $50 in cash added to each event, and $100 donated each day to the twenty high guns shooting in all program events. As a matter of course all the experts will attend this tournament, but, under the arrangement of the program, the divisions of the purses and with the cash that is added and that donated for best averages, even the 80 per cent. man ought to shoot one or two days without losing much; and it will be worth something to any amateur to attend and participate in a tournament of the magnitude this one is certain to be.

MR. T. H. KELLER, representing the United States Cartridge Co., of Lowell, Mass., and Mr. J. W. Schultz, a well-known hunter and guide of Montana, made the AMERICAN FIELD a pleasant call on Tuesday morning of this week. The former was just from the big shoot at Knoxville and was en route for Urbana, Ill., to attend the tournament of the Crystal Lake Gun Club, while the latter was traveling with Mr. Keller to become more intimately acquainted with the sportsmen of the country. Mr. Schultz was one of the guides the U. S. Cartridge Co. had present at the Sportsmen's Exposition at Madison Square Garden, New York, a couple of weeks ago, and is a gentleman of quiet mien and pleasant, agreeable manners. To meet him in citizen's attire one would never, from first acquaintance, take him for a guide or a hunter of big game, but we are assured that he is as familiar with the forests of his section of the country and the habits of big game as the average sportsman is of the county in which he lives.

THE La Vergne Gun Club, of La Vergne, Cook County, Ill., was recently organized with a membership of thirty-five. The club has a neat club house and splendid grounds for trap shooting. The club shoots will be held every Saturday afternoon the year round. An all-day shoot will be held May 30—Decoration Day—and friends and strangers alike will be welcome. The club has a set of five expert Blue Rock traps, and anyone attending is assured of plenty of shooting. La Vergne is on the C., B. & Q. Railway, and only twenty-five minutes' ride from the city, and the club grounds are only four blocks from the La Vergne station. Trains leave the Union Depot as follows: 8:30 a. m., 9:30 a. m., 10 a. m., 11:05 a. m., 12 m., 1:10 p. m., 2:25 p. m. and 3:25 p. m., therefore the grounds can be reached almost any time of the day. Lunch is served on the grounds.

THE Camp Point Gun Club of Camp Point, Ill., announces a tournament under the management of Mr. N. C. Booth, for June 6 and 7. The program issued for this tournament announces separate events for experts and amateurs and handicaps the professionals by requiring them to shoot unknown traps, unk[illegible] and any amateur making a straight score will be requir[illegible] the experts. All guns will be required to shoot fro[illegible] 17 yards. All ties will either divide or shoot off in t[illegible] event. Eleven cntries or more, the purses will be divided into three mo cys, ten or less, two moneys. Ten events are scheduled f[illegible]r e c[illegible] class each day, all at targets.

At our tournament in June we have handicapped the manufa[illegible]rers' agents in part of the events, and have barred them from [illegible] the first of the averages. The question has been [illegible] at many times who we will class as manufactnrers' [illegible] ask the use of the columns of the AMERICAN FIELD to [illegible] on. [illegible] definition is as follows: Any person who [illegible] ny [illegible] of trap shooting supplies any re[illegible] for his services, whether in the form of [illegible] of any kind, is a mauufacturer's agent. We [illegible] our position, and trust it will meet the approval [illegible].

Cleveland, O. THE CHAMBERLIN CARTRIDGE & TARGET CO.

MR. W. H. SKINNER, representing the American Smokeless Powder Co. of No. 18 Broadway, New York, is on his Western trip and will he prescut at the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association's tournameut at Burnside, next week. Mr. Skinner is well known to the sportsmen of the country and is always welcome at auy t urnament. Mr. Skiuuer was wiuuer of the L. C. Smith cup at the Illinois State shoot last year, aud therefore has a special interest in the contest for the trophy this year.

MR. H. D. SWARTZ, of Scranton, Pa., who a few weeks since was beaten quite hadly by Dr. Carver in two 100-bird races, is reported as saying that he is not a man to take defeat to heart, and if Dr. Carver, or any other man in the world, in a series of five matches, the winner of three out of the five to take the stakes, will allow him to shoot at 115 hirds to his opponent's 100, the man who will give him this odds can get a race for from $500 to $5,000.

MESSRS. VON LENGERKE & ANTOINE of Chicago have just issued their catalog of guns, rifles, fishing tackle, sportsman's clothing, loaded aiumunition aud other goods needed hy the sportsman. The catalog is very complete, and heside other goods for sportsmen's use they list an elegant line of very fine cutlery. Anyone who has not already received a copy of the catalog will be supplied by sending his address to the firm. Their advertisement will be found in our business columns.

THE Interstate Association will hold a tournament at New Orleasn, La., on August 9 and 10, under the auspices of the Louisiana Gun Club; $200 will be added to the purses by the gun club. The association will also give a tournament at Charlotte, N. C., on August 27, 28 and 29, under the auspices of the Charlotte Gun Club. Amount of added money will be announced later.

ELMER E. SHANER,
Pittshurg, Pa. Manager Interstate Association.

ILLINOIS sportsmen should uot forget that the twenty-first annual tournament of the Illinois Sportsmen's Association is to he held at Watson's Park, Burnside, next week, beginning Monday morning and continuing the entire week. The business meetings of the association, which should he largely attended, will be held at the Sherman House, Chicago, on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

THE excellent photograph of the participants in the great Knoxville shoot, which we this week preseut to the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD, was kindly furnished us by Mess s McCrary & Branson, of Knoxville, Tenn. The original photo is 11x14 inches, extra copies of which can be had by addressing the above firm at Knoxville.

MR. A. W. ADAMS, who spent the past Winter and Spring in San Antonio, Tex., returned to his home in Chicago last week, reaching the City by the Lake on Wednesday evening. He enjoyed his stay in San Antonio very much aud will probahly make his home there each Winter hereafter.

MR. JAS. MILLER of Carhondale, Ia., and Mr. Peter Barker of Mystic, Ia., recently shot the first of a series of three matches at 25 birds per man, for $50 a side cach match, the former winning by three birds. The scores were: Miller 21, Barker 18.

PRINCETON and Yale gun clubs will shoot a friendly match for supremacy on the morning of June 8, the day of the Yale—Princeton base hall game. The match will be shot on the grounds of the Princetou cluh.

MR. J. C. BANDLE, father of the late Al. Bandle of Cincinnati, O., and the pioneer gun dealer of Cincinnati, died at his home in Mt. Auhurn, O., on May 17, of Bright's disease, He was 65 years of age.

IN a race shot recently at Neponset, Ill., between Mr. Huckins of Kewanee and W. T. Irwin of Peoria, 100 targets per man, Mr. Huckins proved the victor, scoring 92 to Irwin 87.

IN consequence of the great amount of space taken up hy the large tournaments this week a number of cluh shoots are unavoidably held over until next week.

THE Ingram Gun Club of Ingram, Pa,, is a uew trap shooting organization that starts out with a membership of twenty.

THE Kelly (Ia.) Guu Cluh will hold a two days' tournament at live hirds and ina imate targets on June 11 aud 12.

THE Belfast (Me.) Gun Club will hold its second anuual tournament on July 17 aud 18.

THE KNOXVILLE TOURNAMENT

The fourteenth annual tournament of the Knoxville Guu Club, the largest during the cluh's existence, is over and the boys are en route home, one and all wondering why they have left the records they have hehind them, for it is a singular fact that of the one hundred cntries on the first day, in the opening event, and a high average of entries throughout the shoot, but oue of them, Rolla Heikes, could reach the 90 per cent. mark, and he harely got within the limit. Certain it is that the boys, with all the experience of four days, did little hetter in the closing oues, and a good idea of the difficult shooting can be formed when it is stated that out of the two 25-bird events each day, eight in all, but six straight scores were made, with a total of 616 entries in the eight events. In all events 2,511 attempts were made with only 63 straights. A large number of twenty-fours and nineteens were made, hut the missing one reduced the receipts immensely for special good scores in the different events, making a difference of one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars. Work as hard as they might there was always a large number that failed to get in the money, either in the twenty or twenty-five bird events, with five moneys, and in many instances a day's shooting would pass and many were never in once. The record of each shooter is given in a specially prepared table, the first time ever presented in this form, which will enable our readers to see at a glance the record of each, giving the score in each event, the number of targets shot at daily, the daily totals and final totals, with the per cent. of each, and guns, powder, shells and shot used by each.

Now to the arrangements, management, etc. Fifteen Blue Rock traps were used, with North's electric pull, set in a straight line about three and a half yards apart with no additional difference of distance hetween each set of five. The ground from right to left had a rapid fall as well as a rapid descent in front of the extreme left. On the right there was a rise of the ground. The targets were thrown low, too low and swift, making it very hard to shoot low enough to hreak them. At times there was little margin to reach the target above the emhankment screening the traps. This with the wind, which was strong on the first day, lasting until the afternoon of the second, rendered it the more difficult. The traps did not give the best service and were a source of much complaint and annoyance to many individual shooters who are disturhed hy constant failures; others did not mind it. The traps were set so close together that the coustant crossing of targets was an additional annoyance, and number five of one set so close to number one of the next that there was a constant waiting [illegible] a shooter at one or the other to take his turn. This [illegible] the referee, scorer and trap-puller, [illegible] who said pull or who fired. In a [illegible] were broken by one shooter and a number scored when one had not shot at all, the shooter usually passing to the next trap accepting the aunouncement of "dead bird," for one additional target meant in a number of instances one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars. The work of the referees in general was good; that of the scorers imperfect on the first day or two until experience improved their work. The work of the squad hustlers was, as it always is here, excellent. The most complaint was at the office and was wholly because of insufficient space and numbers to do the work. No men could have done more than Messrs. Burwell and Carter. They were courteous, exact and persevering, and uot one word of censure can be placed on them, hut the work of so large a shoot was too much for two men hampered as they were for accommodatious. Mes rs. R. and S. Van Gilder, Jno. Conner, F. Mead, T. W. Eldridge and the president, S. B. Dow, were courteous in listening to the complaints and adjusting them. They were iu constant attendance and all will remember them pleasantly for their efforts.

Various theories are advanced as to the causes for the scores made, many taking the view that the shooting was not hard shooting. But really there is no room for argument, for when you look at the list of one hundred shooters—the majority of them among the best in the land—and then analyze the scores for four days, not one, there can be but one conclusion, and that that the shooting was not only hard shooting hut very hard.

The weather conditions, while trying, were good. On the first day the wind, quite strong, was directly in the face of the shooter and caused uneven flight of the targets. On the second day the wind had shifted and came from a quarter striking the right cheek, and was yet strong until the middle of the afternoon. Ou Thursday the conditions were more favorahle, hut little wind—a slight rain falling in the moruing—and better scores were made. On Friday the same conditions prevailed. A table given in connection with this report shows that the opening event had one hundred entries and the average in the eight events ninety-one. Ou the second day the average was eighty-six; on the third seventy-five, and on the fourth sixty-two. Fifty-three thousand three hundred targets were thrown in the regular program events.

The grounds were attractive in the arrangement of tents and were in line as follows: First, Geo. Brown's, a local dealer who received consignments of cartridges from all sections aud delivered them on the ground, a pleasant arrangement and which was appreciated. Next was the tent of the Du Pont Powder Co., in charge of Mr. Waddell, a pleasant gentleman who looked after the interests of the Du Pont smokeless and was energetic in making friends for it. Next came a general tent for the use of the shooters. Next was the E. C. Powder Co. Both Captain and Noel Money were present and it is needless to say that the "boys" were well cared for here, for both these men are very popular wherever known, and they added many friends by their visit to Knoxville, for it was the Captain's first appearance here. Farther along was a large tent where hot dinners and ice cream, with the most delicious of strawberries, were served. Dixie water, a recent discovery here, and closely resembling the Appollinaris, many thinking it better, was extensively used. It will soon be advertised and shipped abroad.

Summed up the shoot was the largest ever held here, but was not so thoroughly satisfactory. A change of grounds aud manner of throwing targets, with a larger office force, would be improvements for the future.

Among those present from ahroad and taking part in the tournament were R. O. Heikes, E. D. Rike, W. Scott McDonald, C. W. Raymond, "Shorty" Bacon, H. Dando, Chas. Grimm, "D ck" Merrill, S. Glover, C. W. Budd. H. McMurchy, H. B. Hill, A. Gambell, Andy Meaders, John A. Flick, Ralph Trimhle, Ferd Van Dyke, B. A. Bartlett, "Le Roy," J. D. Gay, Wm. Wagner, Wm. Tell Mitchell, L. V. Byer, H. M. Stewart, Paul North, Frank Parmalee, T. H. Keller, E. D. Fulford, Noel Money, John Parker, Capt. A. W. Money, G. W. Lomis, Thos. Jenks, "Redwing," C. A. Young, D. A. Upson, A. L. Ionis, "Plummer" Reed, J. A. Ruble, Irby Bennett, Justus Von Lengerke, Seth Clover, Col. J. T. Anthony, G. S. McAlpin, J. A. R. Elliott and a number of others whose names will be seen in the scores appended and are as familiar to the trap shooters of the country as the multiplication table is to a schoolhoy. The company was fast enough for any; in fact it was a battle for supremacy between the giants of the world in trap shooting. Not all the hot ones were there, hut many of them were as good as ever faced a target trap at a tournament, and the man who held his own in such company had to he a shooter and a stayer. The gathering was a jolly, good-natured one and none present will soon forget the Knoxville tournament of 1895. The tahles which follow, though a deviation from the ordinary report of a tournament, will give the reader a more complete idea of the shooting done than the ordinary style of a report, and they ought to for they have required an endless amount of hard work to present the facts in such condensed form.

Day	No. Targets	Scored	Shot at	Average	Gun	Shell	Powder	Shot
	20 20 25 20 20 25 20 20
	Rolla Heikes, Dayton, O.
1	18 18 21 18 19 22 19 17	152	170		12-ga.
2	14 15 21 19 19 24 17 20	152	170		Win-
3	20 19 25 18 18 22 19 19	160	170		ches-
4	18 19 22 14 18 24 17 18	150	170		ter	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
Total		614	680	90.30
	Ed. Rike, Dayton, O.
1	15 14 20 15 14 22 13 13	126	170		12-ga.
2	14 9 20 13 13 19 14 16	118	170		Smith.	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
3	19 13 19 16 17 .. 13 16	113	145
4	18 12 .. 17 17 18 15 17	114	145
Total		471	630	74.76
	C. W. Raymond, Dayton, O.
1	13 18 18 18 15 23 16 15	136	170		12-ga.
2	14 15 16 15 15 21 13 16	125	170		Win-
3	16 16 20 16 14 20 19 17	138	170		ches-
4	17 16 18 18 13 22 11 16	131	170		ter	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
Total		530	680	77.94
	W. S. McDonald, Daytou, O.
1	17 19 24 14 17 22 17 19	149	179		12-ga.
2	18 18 21 14 16 24 16 17	144	170		Lefe-
3	15 17 21 15 14 19 18 19	138	170		ver	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
Total		431	510	84.51
	H. Dando, Dayton, O.
1	11 12 15 15 16 20 13 15	117	170		12-ga.
2	12 12 12 13 13 16 16 13	107	170		Smith.	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
3	14 17 20 17 19 16 15 19	137	170
4	18 17 17 15 18 18 19 17	139	170
Total		500	680	74.36
	"Shorty" Bacon, Miamisburg, O.
1	17 19 21 16 17 19 18 17	144	170		12-ga.
2	15 12 22 15 19 21 16 18	138	170		Green-
3	17 16 20 19 19 22 15 17	145	170		er	Smokl	Wood	1⅛-7
4	19 16 22 20 16 21 18 17	149	170
Total		576	680	84.70
	Chas. Grimm, Clear Lake, Iowa.
1	18 18 22 16 17 22 19 18	150	170		12-ga.
2	20 18 22 17 18 19 16 18	148	170		Smith.	Smokl	E. C.	1¼-7½
3	17 17 24 18 18 22 18 17	151	170
4	16 18 24 10 14 22 17 15	136	170
Total		585	680	86.03
	Rich. Merril, Milwaukee, Wis.
1	18 13 12 16 14 13 17 17	120	170		12-ga.
2	15 12 16 16 14 16 13 18	121	170		Green-
3	17 12 21 17 18 14 15 17	131	170		er	Smokl	Du Pont	1¼-7
4	.. ..	...	...
Total		372	510	72.94
	S. Glover, Rochester, N. Y.
1	20 18 22 18 20 25 18 18	159	170		10 ga.
2	18 16 24 17 17 21 19 17	149	170		Grecn-
3	17 18 23 20 17 25 18 17	155	170		er	Smokl	Wood	1¼-7
4	19 18 22 14 18 22 16 15	144	170
Total		607	680	89.26
	C. W. Budd, Des Moines, Iowa.
1	17 19 19 17 20 24 18 19	153	170		12-ga.
2	17 15 20 15 19 23 18 19	146	170		Smith.	Rapid	E. C.	1¼-7
3	20 18 22 15 15 23 17 16	146	170			Smokl.
4	18 17 20 18 17 24 17 20	151	170
Total		596	680	87.65
	H. McMurchy, Syracuse, N. Y.
1	16 18 22 18 17 23 19 18	151	170		12-ga.
2	19 18 22 16 18 22 14 17	146	170		Smitb.	Rapid	E. C.	1⅛-7
3	19 18 24 19 19 21 19 20	159	170				Wood
4	18 19 21 19 17 21 20 20	155	170				Du Pont
Total		611	680	89.85
	R. Van Gilder, Knoxville, Tenn.
1	13 14 20 12 17 13 9 13	113	170		12-ga.
2	16 16 20 18 17 19 18 15	139	170		Smith.	Leader	E. C.	1¼-7½
3	14 15 22 16 14 20 14 15	130	170
4	15 19 21 16 17	88	105
Total		470	615	76.42
	H. B. Hill, Aurora, Ind.
1	16 15 12 14 13 20 14 13	117	170		12-ga.
2	16 12 20 17 14 19 17 15	130	170		Parker.	Smokl	Du
3	17 15 18 19 17 19 17 14	136	170				Pout	1¼-8
4	16 15 18 15 18 21 19 17	139	170
Total		522	680	76.76
	Andy Meaders, Nashville, Tenu.
1	9 11 20 16 15 14 15 17	117	170		12 ga.
2	16 14 23 14 14 18 15 15	129	170		Smith.	Smoki	Du
3	16 18 18 16 16 20 17 16	137	170				Pont	1¼-7
4	16 15 16 16 15 22 15 16	131	170
Total		514	680	75.58
	A. Gambell, Aurora, Ind.
1	14 14 19 14 11 19 16 17	124	170		12-ga.
2	16 17 19 19 19 21 17 18	146	170		Parker,	Smokl	Du
3	17 18 21 16 18 21 17 17	145	170				Pout	1¼-8
4	17 11 20 17 14 17 16 17	129	170
Total		544	680	80.00
	Ralph Trimble, Covington, Ky.
1	15 14 19 19 19 21 17 19	143	170		12-ga.
2	17 17 25 17 16 22 18 19	151	170		Parker.	Smoki	Du
3	17 19 23 18 18 25 18 18	156	170				Pont	1¼-7½
4	18 19 22 12 16 21 16 17	141	170
Total		591	680	86 91
	Jno. A. Flick, Ravenua, O.
1	17 19 21 14 16 22 16 16	141	170		12-ga.
2	14 18 18 14 15 21 15 16	131	170		Smith.	Light-
3	17 18 18 12 18 20 19 17	139	170			ning	Schtze.	1¼-7½
Total		411	510	80.59
	L. M. Boykin, Orlando, Fla.
1	16 15 17 17 15 19 15 18	132	170		12-ga.
2	13 15 17 14 15 .. 14 18	106	150		Smith.	Light-
3	17 16 .. 13 15	61	80			ning	Schtze.	1⅛ 7½
Total		299	400	74 75
	F. Van Dyke, Dayton, N. J.
1	18 19 18 14 17 20 14 16	136	170		12-ga.
2	16 16 21 15 16 22 16 16	138	170		Win.	Win	E. C.	1⅛-7½
3	19 17 22 17 15 23 19 18	150	170
4	14 17 21 15 18 21 16 15	137	170
Total		561	680	82.00
	B. A. Bartlett, Buffalo, N. Y.
1	16 19 22 20 15 14 15 17	138	170		12-ga.
2	16 14 19 11 17 21 18 18	134	170		Bur-
3	17 19 23 19 17 22 19 18	154	170		gess	Smokl	Wood	1¼-7½
4	16 17 24 19 20 20 16 18	150	170
Total		576	680	84.70
	"Le Roy," Campello, Mass.
1	19 17 19 16 20 21 18 17	147	170		12-ga.
2	15 18 23 18 17 22 16 16	145	170		Scott.	Leader	Wcod	1⅛-7
3	18 18 22 17 19 23 20 17	154	170
4	17 18 24 18 19 21 17 16	150	170
Total		596	680	87.65
	J. D. Gay, Pine Grove, Ky.
1	14 18 17 16 17 18 14 ..	114	150		12-ga.
2	.. ..	...	...		Smith.	Victor	E. C.	1⅛-7½
Total		114	150	76.00
	Wm. Wagner, Washington, D. C.
1	19 17 23 15 16 23 16 14	143	170		12-ga.
2	15 15 21 14 15 23 17 18	138	170		Parker.	Leader	E. C.	1⅛-7
3	14 14 19 18 18 23 19 17	142	170
4	20 19 22 18 16 20 16 18	149	170
Total		572	680	83.53
	Jno. W. Conner, Knoxville, Tenn.
1	18 18 20 19 15 21 16 17	144	170		12-ga.
2	19 13 23 16 16 19 13 18	137	170		Daly.	Rival	E. C.	1¼-7
3	17 19 21 19 18 20 19 18	151	170
4	18 13 21 18 18 19 16 17	140	170
Total		572	680	84.11
	W. T. Mitchell, Lynch's Statiou, Va.
1	15 20 22 18 16 22 17 16	146	170		12-ga.
2	14 14 19 19 18 19 20 16	139	170		Rem.	Smokl	Wood	1¼-7
3	20 9 18 15 15 17 19 19	132	170			Rapid.
4	19 14 21 17 16 24 13 19	143	170
Total		560	680	82.35
	L. V. Byer, Rochester, N. Y.
1	13 19 19 16 10 22 13 19	131	170		10-ga.
2	15 13 23 17 18 21 16 14	137	170		Sm'th.	Rival	Wood	1¼-7
3	19 17 22 16 17 20 16 19	146	170
4	17 18 17 17 14 19 16 20	138	170
Total		552	680	81.17
	H. M. Stewart, Rochester, N. Y.
1	17 15 21 17 15 20 16 18	139	170		12-ga.
2	14 16 20 19 14 19 18 18	138	170		Lefe-
3	20 17 22 16 20 20 18 19	152	170		ver	Smoki	Wood	1⅛-7
4	15 18 24 19 17 23 17 19	152	170
Total		581	680	85.44
	Paul North, Cleveland, O.
1	16 17 21 16 19 21 17 19	146	170		12-ga.
2	17 16 24 15 18 21 16 18	145	170		Smith.	Rival	Du
3	15 19 22 17 18 18 17 16	142	170				Pont	1⅛-8
4	18 13 20 15 15 21 16 17	135	170
Total		568	680	83.53
	F. C. Etheridge, Macon, Ga.
1	15 16 14 16 17 18 13 17	126	170		12-ga.
2	17 14 20 18 12 19 14 16	130	170		Parker.	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
3	17 15 17 12 15 17 11 14	118	170
4	15 16 19 12 18 23 15 18	136	170
Total		510	680	75.00
	E. D. Fulford, Utica, N. Y.
1	19 19 19 17 17 21 19 16	147	170		12-ga.
2	17 13 18 14 19 21 16 16	134	170		Grecn-
3	18 17 21 16 19 18 20 18	147	170		er	Trap	Wood	1¼-7
4	18 17 19 18 16 19 16 18	141	170
Total		569	680	83.56
	F. S. Parmalee, Omaha, Neb.
1	20 18 21 19 19 23 18 18	156	170		12-ga.
2	18 15 22 19 17 24 16 14	145	170		Green-
3	17 14 21 20 20 24 19 14	149	170		er	Smokl	E. C.	1¼-8
4	15 12 24 16 18 22 19 18	144	170
Total		594	680	87.35
	T. H. Keller, Plainfield, N. J.
1	14 15 23 15 17 16 18 17	135	170		12-ga.
2	13 15 19 17 16 13 16 17	126	170		Smith.	Rapid	Wood	1¼-7
3	14 16 19 16 16 20 15 11	127	170				E. C	1⅛-7
4	18 11 18 17 17 17 20 14	132	170
Total		520	680	76.47
	Noel Money, Oakland, N. J.
1	20 13 19 17 16 20 16 17	138	170		12-ga.
2	16 20 22 20 15 22 18 20	153	170		Smith.	Smokl	E. C.	1¼-7
3	19 16 20 16 17 24 16 19	147	170		12-ga.
4	16 19 24 20 18 22 17 18	154	170		Parker.
Total		592	680	86.47
	Jno. Parker, Detroit, Mich.
1	15 16 22 14 16 17 19 15	134	170		12 ga.
2	13 14 15 15 14 20 16 16	123	170		Win.	Rival	E. C.	1⅛-7
3	19 13 19 16 17 24 19 18	145	170
4	15 17 24 14 19 21 18 17	145	170
Total		547	680	80.44
	Capt. Money, Oakland, N. J.
1	17 11 21 16 17 16 14 14	126	170		12-ga.
2	15 14 22 14 14 22 18 16	135	170		Green-
3	15 13 14 16 17 21 19 15	130	170		er	Smoki	E. C.	1¼ 7
4	15 13 23 17 19 21 17 16	141	170
Total		532	680	78.23

Geo. Loomis, Omaha, Neb.
1..17 19 22 16 17 17 18 15 141 170 12-ga.
2..13 15 22 19 17 23 16 18 143 170 Parker.Smokl.. E. C ...1¼.c
3. 1· 20 22 17 20 21 18 18 154 170
4..17 19 22 18 18 23 15 17 149 120
Total..............587 680 86.32

Chas. B. Ross, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..11 15 17 12 14 .. .. .. 69 105 12-ga.
2..15 15 11 .. 8 .. .. .. 49 85 Smith..Leader..Wood..1¼-7½
4.. .. .. .. 16 .. .. .. 16 20
Total 131 210 63.80

E. Shaner, Pittsburg, Pa.
1..14 14 19 15 14 19 14 14 123 170 12-ga.
2.. .. .. Parker.Trap.....E. C....1¼.7
Total..............123 170 72.35

Norman Pruitt, Washington, D. C.
1..15 18 21 13 10 16 12 12 117 170 12-ga.
2..16 14 18 18 15 20 15 17 133 170 Parker.Rival....Wood..1¼-7
3..17 14 20 20 17 19 17 14 138 170
4..13 16 23 12 16 21 10 16 127 170
Total..............515 680 75.73

"U. M. C." Thomas, Bridgeport, Conn.
1..16 15 18 14 15 19 16 14 127 170 12.ga.
2..18 18 18 15 16 20 16 13 134 170 Scott..Smokl...E. C....1¼-7
3..17 18 20 13 15 15 .. .. 98 130 Nitro.. ...Schtze.
4.. .. .. 16 .. .. 12 .. 28 40 Du Pont
Total..............387 510 76 00

Chas. Lane, Philadelphia, Pa.
1..16 11 16 15 13 18 16 14 122 170 12-ga.
2..15 13 .. 14 16 .. 16 13 87 120 Parker.Leader..Du
3.. .. .. Pont...1¼-7
Total..............209 290 72.08

W. Fieles, Christiana, Pa.
1..13 16 20 15 13 19 16 18 130 170 12-ga.
2..13 13 19 9 12 22 17 9 114 170 Green-
3..13 17 17 18 17 21 16 18 137 170 er......Wals....Wals...1¼-7
Total...... ....381 510 74.70

R. M. Cleveland, Sweetwater, Tenn.
1..14 8 11 12 13 .. .. .. 48 105 12-ga.
2..10 14 11 .. .. 35 65 Win....Leader.E. C....1¼-7½
Total 83 170 48.82

J. C. White, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..15 17 16 15 10 17 11 6 107 170 12-ga.
2.. . 10 17 9 16 19 13 9 95 150 Parker.Smokl...Du
3..15 15 19 18 13 15 12 12 119 170 Pont...1¼-7½
Total..............321 490 65.51

T. W. Eldridge, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..15 14 16 15 16 18 17 11 125 170 12-ga.
2.. .. .. Smith..Leader. E. C....1¼-7½
3.. .. .. 15 18 19 .. 15 67 85
Total..............192 255 75.29

S. B. Dow, Knoxville, Tenn.
1.. 9 9 .. 11 8 .. .. .. 37 80 12 ga.
2.. .. .. Read....Rival. .Wood..1¼-7½
Total.............. 37 80 46 25

A. W. Du Bray, Louisville, Ky.
1..10 13 .. 18 17 .. 15 .. 73 105 12-ga.
2..11 8 .. 15 11 .. .. .. 45 80 Parker.Smokl...E. C....1⅛-7
3..13 12 .. .. 25 40
Total..............143 225 63.56

F. Mead, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..14 18 22 15 18 11 .. .. 98 130 12-ga.
2..15 15 20 11 13 22 15 15 126 170 Parker.Leader..E. C....1¼-7½
3..11 16 14 12 .. .. 54 85
4..16 11 19 14 16 20 .. .. 96 130
Total..............374 515 72.62

"Jenks," Monroeville, O.
1..19 17 22 19 16 20 14 16 143 170 12-ga.
2..13 14 21 17 20 24 17 17 143 170 Smith..Smokl....E. C....1¼-7
3..18 19 23 18 20 24 18 15 155 170
4..15 17 23 17 18 24 16 18 150 170
Total..............591 680 86.91

"Red Wing," Cleveland, O.
1..16 18 23 16 16 22 14 19 144 170 12-ga.
2..17 17 18 19 16 23 16 18 144 170 Green-
3..18 16 24 18 18 23 19 17 153 170 er......Smokl....E. C....1¼-7½
4..15 19 22 15 19 23 19 18 150 170
Total..............591 680 86.91

Chas. A. Young, Springfield, O.
1..19 20 21 16 16 20 20 15 147 170 12-ga.
2..16 14 22 15 17 18 18 15 135 170 Smith..Smokl....E. C....1¼-7
3..17 14 20 18 16 25 16 17 143 170
4..19 17 23 18 14 23 20 17 151 170
Total..............576 680 84.70

D. A. Upson, Cleveland, O.
1..18 16 21 15 16 18 17 18 139 170 12-ga.
2..16 16 22 14 19 23 17 18 145 170 Green-
3..20 15 23 16 20 22 19 19 154 170 er......Smokl....E. C .. 1⅛-7½
4..18 19 20 20 18 23 18 19 155 170
Total..............593 680 87.20

F. D. Alkire, Woodlyn, O.
1..12 17 19 12 9 15 13 7 104 170 12-ga.
2.... 12 .. .. 15 .. 16 17 60 80 Smith..Smokl....Du
3..16 14 16 .. .. .. 17 .. 63 85 Pont...1¼-7½
Total..............227 335 67.75

A. L. Ivins, Red Bank, N. J.
1..19 17 21 14 17 19 10 .. 117 170 12-ga.
2..11 15 18 10 .. 17 18 16 105 150 Smith..Rapid....E. C....1¼-7
3..10 17 23 17 17 20 15 17 136 170
4..16 17 21 16 16 20 15 12 133 170
Total..............491 680 72.20

"Plummer," Omaha, Neb.
1..16 12 16 14 12 14 8 9 101 170 12-ga.
2..16 14 18 10 10 16 13 7 104 170 Green-
3..10 10 14 12 11 16 12 13 98 170 er......Smokl....E. C ...1¼-7½
4..13 9 10 8 .. .. .. 11 51 105
Totsl.......... ....354 615 57.56

W. W. Watson, Louisville, Ky.
1..19 16 22 18 19 21 17 17 149 170 12-ga.
2..17 17 22 16 19 22 15 18 146 170 Parker.Smokl....Du
3..12 17 20 17 17 19 19 18 139 170 Pont...1¼ 7½
4..18 17 18 16 18 22 16 17 142 170
Total..............576 680 84.70

J. H. Gulick, Washington, D. C.
1..14 17 15 13 16 19 14 12 120 170 12-ga.
2. 13 13 17 14 .. .. 57 85 Fran-
3..15 15 17 .. .. 47 65 cotte...Leader..E. C....1¼-7
Total..............224 320 70.00

Wm. Clegg, Louisville, Ky.
1..17 18 21 15 17 19 16 .. 123 150 82.00 12-ga.
Scott...Smokl...E. C....1¼-8

Sam Hutchins, Louisville, Ky.
1. 12 17 23 18 13 20 15 12 130 170 12-ga.
2..17 15 20 14 14 21 15 12 131 170 Green-
3..18 17 23 19 17 19 14 14 141 170 er......Smokl....E. C....1¼-7½
4..18 16 19 13 16 20 13 18 133 170
Total..............535 680 78.67

Joe Hunter, Washington, D. C.
1..17 15 22 18 18 20 14 12 136 170 12-ga.
2..14 14 17 13 10 16 16 18 118 170 Green-
3..17 17 19 16 14 22 10 10 131 170 er......Smokl....Du
4.. .. .. 18 18 36 40 Pont...1¼-7½
Total..............421 550 76.54

G. W. Hughes, Hot Springs, Ark.
1 16 15 20 16 16 17 15 .. 115 150 12-ga.
2 .17 14 19 15 15 .. 17 15 112 145 Smith. Smokl...Shltze..1¼-7
3..19 15 .. 15 16 . 18 17 100 120
4. 12 18 23 20 19 22 17 18 149 170
Total... .. ..476 585 81.36

Jno. J. Sumpter Jr., Hot Springs, Ark.
1..19 17 23 16 15 19 12 .. 121 150 12-ga.
2..16 14 20 11 12 22 14 9 118 170 Smith...Rapid...E. C....1¼-7
3..11 15 21 12 15 .. 18 14 106 150
4..16 19 20 17 18 21 17 13 141 170
Total..............486 640 72.81

H. B. Troutman, Mason, Ga.
1..16 17 18 17 14 17 17 12 128 170 12-ga.
2.. .. .. Parker.Leader..Wood..1¼-7½
3.... 14 .. .. 16 .. 30 40
4..15 16 17 15 14 23 18 15 133 170
Total..............291 380 76.60

J. H. Mooney, Orlando, Fla.
1..11 13 . 16 14 .. .. .. 54 80 12-ga.
2.. .. .. .. 16 .. 12 9 37 60 Smith...Lightning....E. C ...1¼-7½
Total.............81 140 57.80

J. W. Hoffman, German Valley, N. J.
1..17 16 20 13 14 19 15 17 131 170 12-ga.
2..13 14 23 15 16 21 16 17 135 170 Parker.Smokl....Wood..1⅛-7½
3..18 20 21 17 17 24 18 15 150 170
4..19 17 22 17 18 22 18 15 148 170
Total..............561 680 82.94

W. N. Drake, South Orange, N. J.
1..18 11 18 18 16 19 14 16 130 170 12-ga.
2 14 13 22 19 16 19 15 17 135 170 Smith...Leader..E. C....1⅛ 7
3..16 12 .. 17 18 21 16 16 116 150
4..17 15 21 18 17 20 18 17 143 170
Total..............524 660 79.40

Maurice Kauffman, New Orleans, La.
1..15 15 23 18 16 21 18 15 143 170 12 ga.
2..10 9 .. .. 19 40 Parker.Smokl....Du
3..16 16 18 15 17 21 18 17 138 170 Pont...1⅛ 7
4..16 17 20 .. .. 53 65
Total.............. 353 445 79 32

Theo. Cleotte, Delray, Mich.
1..15 11 20 13 12 .. 14 .. 85 125 12-ga.
2..13 13 15 12 13 19 16 11 112 170 Win-
3..14 .. .. 14 20 ches-
4..16 .. .. .. 15 .. .. 12 43 60 ter.....Rival....E. C. .1⅛-7
Total..............254 375 67.73

J. F. Cherry, Lancaster, O.
1..17 17 20 16 15 18 16 16 135 170 12.ga.
2..10 13 .. 18 12 21 18 14 106 145 Lefe-
3..15 15 20 12 .. .. 62 85 ver.....Smokl....Du
4.. .. .. Pont...1¼-7½
Total..............303 400 75.75

J. T. Buker, Rockford, Ill.
1..17 19 23 18 19 19 16 18 149 170 10-ga.
2..19 17 19 15 18 22 16 17 143 170 Lefe-
3..16 16 21 19 17 23 20 18 150 170 ver... .Smokl....Du
4..17 15 24 18 19 24 17 18 152 170 Pont...1¼-7½
Total..............594 680 83.35

Wm. Gerst Jr., Nashville, Tenn.
1..17 14 16 14 11 .. 15 15 102 145 12-ga.
2..15 18 18 16 12 .. 14 16 109 145 Smith..Rival....E. C....1¼-7½
Total..............211 290 72.75

F. Legler, Nashville, Tenn.
1..18 14 20 17 17 19 17 17 139 170 12-ga.
2..16 18 18 17 13 .. 18 14 114 145 Parker.Rival....E. C....1¼-7
Total..............253 315 80.03

J. T. Anthony, Charlotte, N. C.
1..15 16 15 15 11 16 12 19 119 170 12 ga.
2..10 13 22 14 11 22 15 15 122 170 Scott...Smokl.. E. C... 1¼ 7½
3..14 18 20 15 16 17 16 18 134 170
4..16 16 19 17 14 21 14 13 130 170
Total..............505 680 74 26

G. S. McAlpin, New York
1..16 15 21 17 18 15 12 .. 114 150 12-ga.
2. 12 16 19 13 17 21 17 19 134 170 Fran-
3..16 18 18 18 17 .. 17 15 119 145 cotte .Smokl...Shltze.1¼-7½
4..12 14 22 17 19 20 14 18 136 170
Total..............503 635 79.21

John M. Ross, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..11 14 17 13 13 15 13 .. 96 1 0 12-ga.
2.. .. .. 13 11 .. 24 40 Scott...Smokl...Wood..1¼-7½
3.. .. ..
4.. 6 13 .. .. .. 14 .. .. 33 65
Total..............153 255 60.00

L. B. Reeder, Ft. Madison, Ia.
1..16 17 .. .. .. 18 .. 51 60 12-ga.
2..17 11 19 16 18 17 10 .. 108 150 Lefever Wals....Wals...1⅛ 8
3..18 16 .. 18 14 .. .. .. 66 80
4..16 15 21 14 17 22 16 .. 121 150
Total ... .346 440 78 63

W. B. McKelden, Washington. D. C.
1..17 15 19 14 19 22 14 14 134 170 12-ga.
2..19 12 22 20 14 20 17 17 141 170 Parker..Climax.Wood..1¼-7
3..16 18 22 19 18 22 15 15 145 170
4..17 18 17 18 18 15 18 17 138 170
Total..... ....558 680 82.05

B. L. Osborn, Washington, D. C.
1..14 11 17 14 16 .. .. .. 72 105 12-ga.
2..w .. .. Parker.. Climax.Wood..1¼-7
3..14 14 17 15 14 19 13 10 116 170
Total..............188 275 68.36

Seth Clover, Fredonia, N. Y.
1..16 14 12 16 14 19 12 .. 103 150 12 ga.
2..17 16 23 16 15 20 17 17 141 170 Smith...Rapid...E. C...1¼-7½
3..16 17 19 17 17 18 14 14 132 170
T.tal..............376 490 76.73

J. P. Haddox, Winchester, Va.
1..14 15 15 16 15 16 9 15 115 170 12-ga.
2..17 17 21 15 15 21 17 17 140 170 Smith ..Smokl...Du-
3..16 16 18 14 17 17 19 13 130 170 Pont.1⅛-7
4..15 17 18 15 14 16 9 18 122 170
Total..............507 680 74.56

J. L. Brown, Sweetwater, Tenn.
1..17 17 18 16 18 17 13 .. 116 150 12-ga.
2..13 14 .. 14 .. .. 41 60 Winches-
3.. .. .. ter....Smokl...E.C...1¼-7½
4.... 14 .. .. 13 27 40
Total.......... ...184 250 73.60

F. A. Morris, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..16 17 21 16 13 .. .. .. 83 105 12-ga.
2..20 17 21 18 16 21 14 16 143 170 Scott....Leader.Wood..1¼-7½
3..16 19 22 15 20 18 18 15 113 170
4..14 17 19 13 .. .. .. 15 78 105
Total.... ....447 550 81.27

H. B. Lindsay, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..15 17 14 14 17 19 11 13 120 170 12-ga.
2..12 14 15 15 14 13 15 15 113 170 Burgess.Leader.Wood..1¼-7½
3..16 14 22 15 16 18 15 18 134 170
4..16 15 20 16 18 21 14 17 137 170
Total......... ... .504 680 74.11

S. Van Gilder, Knoxville, Tenn.
1..16 18 17 14 15 21 13 .. 114 150 12-ga.
2..17 15 20 16 18 21 16 16 139 170 Smith...Leader.Wood..1¼-7½
3..19 19 17 14 17 .. 16 16 118 145
4..16 14 .. 19 10 .. .. .. 59 80
Total......... .430 545 79.08

T. J. Desmond, Stillmore, Ga.
1..16 15 22 17 14 15 18 .. 117 150 12-ga.
2..12 13 18 14 12 21 14 15 119 170 Smith...Trap....E. C...1¼-7½
3..14 18 22 12 16 19 18 17 136 170
4..18 17 20 19 14 20 16 17 141 170
Total..............513 660 77.72

C. D. Linderman, Adams, Neb.
1..14 18 19 18 18 17 16 18 138 170 12-ga.
2. 14 15 21 15 15 24 16 18 138 170 Greener.U.M.C.
3 .17 16 22 18 15 23 17 17 145 170 Wals-
4..19 19 22 17 19 19 19 18 152 170 rode...Wals-
rode..1¼ 7
Total........... .. 573 680 75.44

Ed Taylor, Cincinnati, O.
1..12 14 20 12 16 16 .. .. 90 130 12-ga.
2..13 10 20 11 .. .. 51 85 Smith...Nitro ...T[illegible]
3.. .. .. Leader [illegible]
4.. .. ..
Total............. .144 215 66.97

J. Von Lengerke, New Yor[illegible]
1..13 17 18 11 7 .. .. .. 66 105 12-ga.
2..17 17 20 16 11 21 17 13 132 170 Fran-
3..15 17 17 10 .. .. 59 85 cotte
Total 277 360 76-94

F. H. Woodworth, Chattanooga, [illegible]
1..16 14 19 20 16 16 17 16 134 170 12 ga.
2. 13 16 20 17 17 22 16 17 138 170 Smith ..Smokl...Du-
3..17 18 24 18 19 23 18 18 155 170 Pont..1¼-7½
4..16 17 22 18 16 21 13 .. 123 150
Total....... ....550 660 85.45

John A. Ruble, Chicago, Ill.
1..17 19 21 18 19 18 17 19 148 170 12-ga.
2..17 17 23 20 16 22 16 16 147 170 Lefe-
3..19 19 23 19 19 22 19 20 160 170 ver......Nitro...Du-
4..19 17 22 16 18 20 17 18 147 170 Pont..1⅛-7
Total..............602 680 88.53

J. R. Livingston, Chattanooga, Tenn.
1..16 15 21 18 18 22 18 13 141 170 12-ga.
2..17 16 22 20 14 23 18 17 147 170 Smith...Smokl...Du-
3..16 16 15 17 .. 19 17 16 116 170 Pont..1¼-7½
4..13 17 18 18 18 23 13 20 140 170
Total..............544 680 80.00

Bland Ballard, Louisville, Ky.
1..16 15 14 15 13 16 12 .. 101 150 12-ga.
2..13 11 .. 13 16 18 17 .. 88 125 Greener.Smokl...E. C...1¼-7½
Total..............189 275 68.72

W. A. Fawcett, Louisville, Ky.
1..15 16 19 13 .. .. 10 .. 73 105 12-ga.
2..12 10 .. .. 14 .. 9 .. 45 80 Greener.Smokl...E. C....1¼-7
Total..............118 185 63.78

P. French, Columbus, O.
1..14 13 20 16 18 17 15 .. 113 150 12-ga.
2..16 14 16 14 13 20 17 17 127 170 Lefe-
3..16 17 24 15 18 20 16 14 140 170 ver....Smokl...Schltze.1⅛-7½
4..13 11 10 .. .. 22 15 .. 71 105
Total.......... ....451 595 75.29

Thos. Callender, Nashville, Tenn.
1..14 11 18 11 9 15 .. . 78 130 12-ga.
2..12 6 13 11 10 18 11 13 94 170 Smith...Climax.Trols-
3..14 15 13 15 .. .. 57 85 dorf..1¼-7
Total..............229 385 59.48

Irby Bennett, Memphis, Tenn.
1..13 13 19 13 15 18 .. .. 91 130 12-ga
2..13 13 19 15 14 20 14 14 122 170 Winches-
3..16 14 19 12 .. .. 61 85 ter....Leader..E. C...1⅛-7
Du Pont
Total..............274 385 71.17

M. A. Keller, Batavia, N. Y.
1..11 13 17 12 11 16 13 93 150 12-ga.
2.. 7 9 16 4 13 18 15 12 94 170 Smith..Smokl...E. C 1¼-7
3..16 12 23 12 13 17 13 11 117 170
Total................304 490 63.82

J. A. R. Elliott, Kansas City, Mo.
1..18 17 20 17 18 20 15 16 144 170 12-ga.
2..15 11 21 14 18 20 15 17 131 170 Win....Leader...E. C.....1¼-7½
3..17 11 21 17 13 21 17 17 134 170
4..16 28 21 14 17 21 11 15 133 170
Total.......... ....542 680 79.72

Of the ninety-eight shooters whose records are given above only one, Rolla Heikes, exceeded 90 per cent. and he by only a small margin. Thirty-eight were between 80 and 90 per cent.; forty-three between 70 and 80; eleven between 60 and 70; three between 50 and 60, and two between 40 and 50. Other records are as follows: Guns used, Smith 32; Parker 21; Greener 12; Winchester 9; Lefever 8; Scott 6; Francotte 3; Burgess 2, and one each of Remington, Daly and Read. Of the shells used forty-two used Smokeless; twenty-two Leader; nine Rapid; nine Rival; three trap; three Walsrode; three Climax; three Lightning; two Nitro; one Victor; one metal-lined Winchester.

The following tables will be found very interesting as showing the number in each tie in the four days' events and the amount received by each, a table never before given. It shows who the lucky ones were in getting in places alone and the amount received by them. It also shows that it is not always the largest scores that get the best division. The upper number in each place above shows the numbers in the tie, the other shows the amount received by each. Below all will be found mention of those receiving the largest sums daily. It is a remarkable fact that out of the eight 25-bird events in which there was a total of six hundred and sixteen entries there were but six straight scores of 25 targets, for which these shooters received five hundred and fifteen dollars. Thirty-four scored twenty-four, or within one of it. Other very interesting records are found in the table as follows:

FIRST DAY

Event No.	No. targets	25	24	23	22	21	20	19	18	17	16	15
1	20						3 / 31.50	10 / 7.75	8 / 7.75	14 / 2.75	18 / 2.25
2	20						2 / 46.50	11 / 7.00	15 / 4.00	20 / 2.00	9 / 4.25
3	25		1 / 1.50	7 / 17.75	13 / 7.50	16 / 4 00
4	20						2 / 46.00	4 / 19.25	14 / 4.25	10 / 3.75	24 / 1.50
5	20						3 / 30.75	8 / 9.50	8 / 8.00	17 / 2.25	18 / 2.00
6	25	1 / 140.00	1 / 117.00	6 / 15 50	8 / 7.50	8 / 7 50
7	20						1 / 85.00	5 / 14.00	10 / 5.50	12 / 3.00	14 / 2.25
8	20							8 / 9.25	10 / 6.00	14 / 3.50	9 / 3 25	8 / 3.75

SECOND DAY

Event No.	No. targets	25	24	23	22	21	20	19	18	17	16	15
1	20						2 / 42.50	4 / 17.50	4 / 14.	16 / 2 25	14 / 2.50
2	20						1 / 86.50	.....	8 / 9.00	8 / 6.25	9 / 4.00	16 / 2.25
3	25	1 / 135.00	3 / 37.25	7 / 12.75	13 / 4.25	9 / 7.00
4	20						4 / 20.50	8 / 8.50	6 / 9.25	9 / 3.75	9 / 3.75
5	20						1 / 63.00	7 / 9 25	9 / 6.25	9 / 3.75	15 / 2.50
6	25	......	6 / 21.00	6 / 17.50	13 / 6.50	18 / 3.00	9 / 6.50
7	20						1 / 63.00	1 / 69.00	12 / 4.50	16 / 2.00	24 / 1.50
8	20						2 / 40.00	3 / 22 50	15 / 3.50	17 / 2.00	17 / 2.00

In event No. 1, Glover, Parmalee and Money won the $31.50 each. In event No. 2, Mitchell and Young got $46.50 each. Scott McDonald of Dayton, O., took $150 alone on 24, no score of 25. [illegible] lett and Young got $46.50 each. In No 5, Glover, B[illegible] $30.75 each. In No. 7, Young alone took first $85. In N[illegible] there was no straight. Eight dividing on 19 $9.25 each.

The two getting $12.50 in event No. 1 were Grimm and [illegible] event No. 2 Noel Money alone took $86 50. There was no score of 19, and eight took $9 each on 18. In the third event, 25 birds, Ralph Trimble of Covington, Ky., took first alone, $135. Heikes, Glover and North took second, $37.55 each, on 24. The four in event No. 5, first place, were N. Money, McKeldon, Ruble and Livingston, taking $22 50 each. "Jenks" was alone, on 20, in fifth event and took $83. In seventh event Mitchell first alone got $83 Glover alone second [illegible] Heikes and Money got $40 each for first in eighth [illegible] Budd, Trimble and McAlpin $22.50 each in second place

THIRD DAY

Event No.	No. targets	25	24	23	22	21	20	19	18	17	16
1	20						5 16.25	9 7.50	8 6.75	19 1.75	17 2.00
2	20						2 10.00	9 7.25	13 4.00	16 2.00	13 2.50
3	25	11 126 00	5 20.00	10 8.50	13 4.00	10 5.25				15 2.25	14 2.25
4	20						2 40 00	9 7.25	13 4.00	14 2.00
5	20						6 12.50	7 9.00	3.50		4.50
6	25	3 38.00	5 19.25	8 9.50	8 6.00	9 5.25
7	20						3 25.00	18 3.25	14 3.50	10 3.00	11 2.75
8	20						2 34.50	8 7.75	13 3.75	18 1.75	16 4.25

FOURTH DAY

Event No.	No. targets	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
1	20	1 69 00	7 19.00	18 3.25	8 3.50	17 1.75	16 1.75
2	20	1 63.00	11 5.25	8 5.75	17 1.50	7 4.00
3	25	8 5.75	5 11.25	13 2.50	11 2.50	8 3.50
4	20	5 13.50	8 7.00	21 2.00	9 3.00	11 2.50
5	20	1 68.50	9 4.25	8 5.50	16 2.75	15 2.25
6	25	3 21.50	5 11.00	4 3	11 2.25	14 2.00
7	20	4 16.25	18 10	13 2.75	15 2.00	6 4.50
8	20

In the third event, 25 birds, Heikes was alone and received $126; five in second place getting $20 each. In the second event Loomis and Hoffman got $40 each for a straight on 20. In the fourth, Glover and Parmalee drew $40 each for a straight 20. In the sixth, Glover, Young and Trimble got $38 each for 25 straight. In the seventh event Le Roy, Fulford and Buker took $25 each on a straight 20. In the eighth McMurchy and Ruble got $36.50 each on 20.

On the fourth day, Wagner started with 20 straight alone in first event and got $69. McKeldon followed in the next event alone on 20, getting same amount. Bartlett in fifth event got $68.50 for 20 straight in being alone. These were the principal winners.

The shooters' averages out of a possible 170 were:

On the first day: Glover first, with 159; Parmalee second, with 156; Budd third, with 153; Heikes fourth, with 152; McMurchy fifth, with 151; Grimm sixth, with 150.

On the second day: Noel Money first, with 153; Heikes second, with 152; Trimble third, with 151; Glover fourth, with 149; Grimm fifth, with 148; Ruble and Livingston sixth, with 147.

On the third day: Heikes and Ruble first, with 60; McMurchy second, with 159; Trimble third, with 156; Woodworth, Glover and "Jenks" fourth, with 155; Upson, Le Roy, Loomis and Bartlett fifth, with 154; Redwing sixth, with 153.

On the fourth day: McMurchy and Upson first, with 155; Noel Money second, with 154; Stewart, Buker and Linderman third, with 152; Young and Budd fourth, with 151; Bartlett, Heikes, Jenks, Redwing and Le Roy fifth, with 150; Hughes, "Shorty," Loomis and Wagner sixth, with 149.

Best average for four days out a possible 680: Heikes first, 614, 90.30 per cent., winning $20; McMurchy second, 611, 89.85 per cent., winning $18; Glover third, 607, 89.26 per cent., winning $16; Ruble fourth, 602, 88 53 per cent., winning $14; Budd and Le Roy fifth, 596, 87.65 per cent., divided $10; Parmalee and Buker sixth, 594, 87.35 per cent., divided $10.

The following table shows the number of entries in each event each day and the average for the day, as well as the number of targets thrown each day, with the total of 53,300 for four days.

Event Nos	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Days' average
First day	100	98	94	97	97	87	87	68	91
Second day	89	89	84	85	86	88	86	80	86
Third day	82	81	76	79	74	68	72	71	75
Fourth day	65	65	60	63	62	59	59	60	62

Targets thrown, first day, 15,465; second day, 14,600; third day, 12,780; fourth day, 10,455. Total 53,300.

By a casual estimate made by one interested, the value of the guns on the ground was found to amount to over $10,000. A table above shows the various kinds and number of each in use.

THE TEXAS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Your valuable journal of May 18 published a statement from Mr. W. L. Simpson of this city, to the effect that the San Antonio Gun Club had nothing to do with the nineteenth annual tournament of the Texas State Sportsmen's Association, which was held in this city recently. That the announcement was altogether superfluous is obvious from the fact that the tournament was in every way a most brilliant success, and the nineteenth annual tournament of the Texas State Sportsmen's Association was, in many respects, the most remarkable in the history of the association. The most perfect arrangements had been made by "Texas Field," under whose auspices the shoot was given, and the whole affair was conducted without a hitch of any sort. The traps worked as though they wanted to advertise their manufacturers, and not a complaint from any source was heard during the entire shoot. This is as it should be, and speaks volumes for the untiring energy of the management. The attendance was not as large as had been hoped, but shows a notable increase over affairs of the same kind in the last two or three years. Among those who participated were O. C. Guessaz, A. B. Critzer, George Chabot, J. M. George, John Epp, H. M. Dyer, J. N. Rothwell, Abe Samuels, A. W. Piety, J. M. McCormack, Chas. Hummel, Dennis, McVicker, Lockhart, Steves, and Mickeljohn, San Antonio; W. H Wbeeler, 'Hempstead's Pride," Register and Sparks, of the same place; Holzapfel and Dietz, Cuero; Moore and Hope, Farmersville; Haney and Saunders, Houston; Brown, Burton and Barrow, Wellborn; Ambold, Garland and Forsgard, Waco; Heard, Taylor; Cornett, Palmyra, Mo.; Adams, Lanning and Shaw, Chicago; Tibbier, San Diego; Fritz Miller and "my brudder Wallace," Austin; and J. A. R. Elliett, Kansas City, Mo.

Now that Mr. Elliott is safely out of the way I am going to make a few remarks concerning him. This was his first visit to San Antonio and he expressed himself as being very much in love with the place; and this feeling, so far as the writer has been able to learn, from all who had the pleasure of meeting him here, is reciprocal to the very last degree. There may have been those in attendance who were not looking for such company as Mr. Elliott's in a shooting contest, but any uneasiness on this score was quickly dissipated, as that gentleman seemed content with pulling out even, and it was not long before he had made fast friends with everybody. He had guns to loan to those who were not supplied, and in every way possible did his utmost to popularize himself and the company which he represents with our shooters, with the most happy results. If Jim Elliott is a fair sample of the traveling expert, let's have more of them. [illegible] one and all meet with a hearty [illegible] him two Winchester repeating shotguns, [illegible] supervision for trap purposes, which speak loudly for the man who designed, as well as the company which manufactured them. They had rather longer stocks than the standard arm; were made without pistol grip, and with considerably less drop than the regular weapon. There are manifest advantages accruing to the use of the single-barrel gun, and there is every reason for believing that the Winchester is destined to become an important factor in trap shooting. And now, "Don Santiago," as the chocolate-bued sirens of the chile stands soon got to calling Jim, here's the best of luck to you. Come again, and as often as you can.

For some years past, at these tournaments, our small bore guns have generally managed to secure a very fair proportion of the boodle, but at this shoot all previous records were easily discounted, and their prevalence around first and second moneys in every event became most obnoxiously monotonous. Some people advocate barring the 10-gauge gun. It seems to me that the small bore people need looking after. There's no use wasting time on a dead horse like the 10-bore gun anyway. For explanation, see the average column. Gus Critzer, locally known as 24-gauge, Guswoodpowder, etc., made a grand average for the entire tournament, of 95 per cent. with a 20-bore gun. He simply had one of his shooting fits, and couldn't miss anything. First it was a target event, then live birds, or an event with pairs, both targets and live birds mixed in. It made no difference. He shot at 616 targets and live birds, scoring 586. "Texas Field," with a 20-gauge gun, made an average of 87.8; McCormack, with a 16 gauge, made 87.9 per cent. The team target medal, open to teams of two shooters each, was won by McCormack and Morgan on a total score of 46 out of 50 targets. The shooting throughout the entire tournament was something phenomenal. Holzapfel of Cuero took home with him about all of the city that he could handle on one trip, and will get the rest of it the next time he comes up here. He won the individual challenge diamond medal on a score of 49 out of 50, with Critzer close behind him with 48. The conditions governing this medal are, that it shall be subject to challenge not oftener than once every thirty days, and the party issuing the challenge must put up $50 against the medal. There are two railroads running into Cuero, which is the lair of Von Holzapfel, and it is quite likely that the regular trains on both these roads will supply ample accommodations in the way of transportation to all shooters who become ambitious to wear that medal. I shall not be at all surprised if the present owner holds it unchallenged until the next annual meeting.

The individual diamond medal for live bird shooting was won by Hope of Farmersville, on a straight score. We had better turn over the whole place to these men from the cotton districts. We can't stand everything.

The association met at the parlors of the Maverick Hotel at 8:30 p. m., May 17. The meeting was called to order by President Rogers. Very little outside of routine business was transacted.

Ben. S. Rogers of Brenham was reelected president of the association for the coming year and A. B. Critzer was reelected vice-president, while Mr. E. Saunders of Houston was elected secretary and treasurer.

President Rogers in a very neat speech reviewed the events of the past year, mentioned that he had succeeded in getting a bill through the legislature for the preservation of game, which while not all that had been expected was a great improvement over the old law which exempted certain counties in the state. (Ben has a seat in the leg slature, and should be able to do some valuable work in getting game laws through.)

A committee of three was appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of C. C. Chambers of Gainesville, one of the charter members of the association, who was murdered last year.

The conditions governing the contests for the two individual medals were changed as follows: Live bird medal, 20 single live pigeons, instead of 20 singles and 2 pairs, as heretofore; and the target medal $3 entrance, birds extra. Houston was chosen for the next tournament, after which the meeting adjourned.

Following are the scores, together with the averages:

SHOOT No. 1.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $20 added, three moneys.

Texas Field	010111111111111-13	Elliott	111111111111111-15
McGinty	101111101011110-11	Dietz	111111111111111-15
Holzapfel	111111111111111-15	Piety	110101111111111-13
Miller	111111111111111-15	Shaw	010111111111111-13
Fritz	011100111011111-11	Forsgard	111111111111110-14
24-gauge	111111111011001-12	Ellis	101111111110110-12
Morgan	011011111111101-12	Cornett	111101111111111-14
Hope	110110111011110-11	Barrow	110111111111111-14
St. Hubert	011010111110111-11	Sparks	111111111011100-12
A. W. Adams	011111111111111-14	Saunders	111111111111111-15
E. Brown	111010111001011-10	Moore	011111111111111-14
McCormack	011111111101111-13

All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 2.—20 singles, four moneys, entrance $3, merchandise added: Texas Field 20, 24-gauge 20, E. Brown 20, McGinty 19, Holzapfel 19, Piety 19, Morgan 19, Elliott 18, Dietz 18, Adams 18, Barrow 18, Cornett 18, Moore 17, Haney 17, McCormack 17, Forsgard 17, Shaw 16, Ellis 16, St. Hubert 16, Miller 12, Fritz 14, Saunders 14, Steves 13. All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 3.—20 singles, entrance $3, four moneys, $20 added: E. Brown 20, 24-gauge 19, Forsgard 19, Texas Field 19, Saunders 19, Holzapfel 18, Elliott 18, Morgan 18, McCormack 18, Cornett 18, Barrow 17, Steves 17, Dietz 17, Adams 17, Moore 16, Piety 16, Fritz 16, Miller 14, Sparks 15, Shaw 11, Ellis 16, St. Hubert 12, Haney 16. All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 4.—10 live pigeons, entrance $7.50, four moneys, $20 added.

Texas Field	1112111111-10	Elliott	1202220222—8
McGinty	1111111122-10	McCormack	1100221111—8
24-gauge	1222111221-10	Saunders	2120222021—8
E. Brown	1111211111-10	Ellis	0111222020—7
Holzapfel	1022111111—9	Moore	0120102121—7
Forsgard	1122102211—9	Adams	0010112101—6
Dietz	0112211112-9	Fritz	1100011120—6
Cornett	1211201121—9	Shaw	1210021002—6
Hope	1212210112—9	St. Hubert	1020201011—6
Miller	1111121210—9	Barrow	0001021012—5

All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 5.—15 singles, entrance $3, four moneys, $20 added: 24-gauge 15, Holzapfel 15, Fritz 15, Piety 15, Steves 15, Texas Field 14, Adams 14, Haney 14, Moore 14, Cornett 14, Shaw 13, Morgan 13, Dietz 13, Miller 12, Ellis 12, Saunders 12, McGinty 11, Forsgard 11, Elliott 11, McCormack 11, St. Hubert 11, Sparks 11, Heard 10, Epp 10, Barrow 9, Chabot 8. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 1.—10 singles, entrance $1, three moneys: Texas Field 8, Holzapfel 10, Adams 10, Shaw 8, Morgan 9, St. Hubert 7, McCormack 9, Saunders 10, Ellis 9, Elliott 8, Fritz 9. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 2.—15 singles, three moneys, entrance $2: Texas Field 13, McGinty 11, Holzapfel 15, Miller 12, Fritz 14, 24-gauge 14, Brown 15, Heard 12, Barrow 12, Piety 15, St. Hubert 12, McCormack 12, Hope 12, Moore 13, Dietz 12, Ellis 12, Cornett 14, Sparks 14, Epp 11, Saunders 13, Elliott 13, Adams 12, Steves 11, Chabot 11, Forsgard 12, Haney 13. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 2.—15 singles, entrance $2, three moneys: Texas Field 12, McGinty 13, Holzapfel 12, Miller 15, Fritz 14, 24-gauge 14, Piety 14, Sparks 11, Brown 14, Moore 15, Ellis 14, McCormack 13, Cornett 14, Steves 14, Elliott 15, Forsgard 13, Heard 12, Barrow 11, Haney 11, Saunders 12, Dietz 12. All ties divided.

SECOND DAY

SHOOT No. 1.—20 singles, entrance $3, four moneys, $20 added.

24-gauge	11111111111111111111-20	Haney	11110111011101111111-17
Dietz	11111111111111111111-20	Barrow	11110111011101111111-17
McCormsck	11111111111111111111-20	Heard	10101101111111111111-17
Holzapfel	11110111111111111111-19	Piety	11101111111110111101-17
Elliott	11111111011111111111-19	Ellis	11110111110111111110-17
Brown	01111111111111111111-19	Saunders	11100111111111011011-16
Adams	11111111011111111111-19	Forsgard	11101111101111101001-15
Texas Field	11111111111111011110-18	Morgan	01111101111101100111-15
McGinty	11111111111111011101-18	Miller	11011111110001101111-14
Moore	11111111101111011111-18	Fritz	01110111111010011001-13
Sparks	00111111111111111111-18	Shaw	10010111111100010011-12
Hope	11111111111110011101-17	St. Hubert	11100100000101111111 12
Cornett	11011101111111011111-17

All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 2.—7 live pigeons and 10 single targets, entrance $5, four moneys: 24-gauge 17, Barrow 17, Holzapfel 16, Brown 16, Hope 16, Adams 16, Forsgard 16, St. Hubert 15, Texas Field 14, McGinty 14 Morgan 14, Cornett 14, Fritz 14, Moore 14, Sparks 13, Red 13, Saunders 13, Elliott 13, Ellis 13, Miller 13 McCormack 12 Ambold 12, Dietz 10, Shaw 10, Hotz 12, Red 12, Barrow 12 All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 3.—State team dlamond medal contest; open to teams of two shooters each, 25 single targets per man. Entrance $5 per team.

SAN ANTONIO TEAM NO. 1.

J. Morgan	1111111111	1111101111	11101—23
McCormack	1111111111	1111011111	11101—23—46

SAN ANTONIO TEAM NO. 2

Texas Field	1111100110	1111101011	11011—19
24-guage	1111110111	1111111111	11111—24—43

AUSTIN TEAM.

Miller	1111001111	1111111111	01110—21
Fritz	1111000111	0101101101	01110—16—37

CUERO TEAM.

Holzapfel	1111111111	1111110111	11101—23
Dietz	1111111111	1111011111	11110—23—4

BURTON TEAM.

Brown	1111111111	1111100111	11111—23
Barrow	1111011111	0101111111	11111—22—45

WACO TEAM.

Ambold	1111011101	1100111111	11111—21
Forsgard	1111011111	1101111111	10000—19—40

FARMERSVILLE TEAM.

Hope	1010111101	0111101110	01111—18
Moore	1111111101	1111111101	11111—23—41

HOUSTON TEAM.

Saunders	1111111111	1110111110	10111—22
Haney	0111111111	1011110111	11111—22—44

HEMPSTEAD TEAM.

Red	1011011101	1100001111	10111—17
McGinty	1111111111	0101111111	11101—22—39

Ties between San Antonio and Cuero teams:

San Antonio—McCormack 5, Morgan 5. Total 10. Cuero—Holzapfel, 4, Dietz 4. Total 8.

SHOOT No. 4.—20 singles, entrance $4, five equal moneys, $25 added: Piety 20, Brown 20, Forsgard 20, Holzapfel 20, Saunders 20, Adams 20, McGinty 19, McCormack 19, Heard 19, Cornett 19, 24-gauge 18, Morgan 18, Elliott 18, Modoc 17, Haney 17, Steves 16, Moore 17, Ellis 17, Miller 17, Dietz 16, Sparks 16, Shaw 14, Fritz 9, St. Hubert 10, Ambold 10.

SHOOT No. 5.—10 singles and 5 pairs, entrance $3, four moneys, $20 added: 24-gauge 20, Texas Field 14, McGinty 18, Holzapfel 18, Miller 17, Fritz 8, Dietz 14, Ellis 14, Sbaw 13, Adams 16, Brown 12, McCormack 16, Moore 16, Elliott 15, St, Hubert 12, Piety 18, Heard 17, Forsgard 17, Sparks 14, Steves 15, Modoc 12, Red 13, Barrow 16, Cornett 19. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 1.—15 singles, entrance $2, three moneys: Texas Field 12, McGinty 11, Holzapfel 9, Miller 14, Fritz 11, 24-gauge 15, Brown 13, Cornett 15, Heard 8, Steves 8, Dietz 12, McCormack 15, Sparks 14, Chabot 9, Saunders 14, Forsgard 12, Moore 11, Barrow 14. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 2.—20 singles, entrance $3, three moneys: Texas Field 17, Holzapfel 19, Adams 20, Fritz 19, Moore 17, Morgan 17, Miller 18, McCormack 19, Ellis 19. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 3.—10 singles, $1 entrance, three moneys: Morgan 6, Holzapfel 9, Dietz 8, Hope 9, Cornett 10, Fritz 8, Piety 10, Forsgard 9, Brown 8, Sparks 9, Barrow 9, Heard 6, Ellis 10, Texas Field 9, St. Hubert 3, McCormack 10, Adams 8, Miller 8, 24-gauge 9, McGinty 7, Moore 8, Saunders 10, Haney 8, Steves 8, Elliott 8. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 4.—20 singles, $3 entrance, $20 added, four moneys: Texas Field 18, McGinty 16, Holzapfel 19, Miller 18, Fritz 15, Dietz 13, 24-gauge 19, Ellis 16, Shaw 14, Moore 19, Elliott 20, McCormack 20, St. Hubert 11, Brown 15, Adams 19, Saunders 16, Lockhart 12, Heard 17, Cornett 17. All ties divided.

THIRD DAY

SHOOT No. 1.—20 singles, entrance $3, four moneys, $40 added: Texas Field 19, McGinty 13, Holzapfel 19, Fritz 14, Miller 15, 24-gauge 20, Elliott 15, Ellis 16, Heard 17, Dietz 15, Morgan 16, McCormack 18, Adams 18, Sparks 17, Haney 13, Forsgard 13, Saunders 13, Brown 16, Barrow 12, Moore 17, St. Hubert 14, Shaw 12, Red 10, Cornett 15, Chabot 13. All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 2.—20 singles, entraunce $4, four moneys, $25 added: Texas Field 17, Miller 17, Holzapfel 19, Brown 16, Adams 18, 24-gauge 20, Elliott 17, Ellis 17, Fritz 13, Cornett 19, Moore 19, McCormack 19, Samuels 15, Saunders 18, Dietz 17, Rothwell 16, Ambold 13, Red 11, Morgan 14, Forsgard 17, McGinty 16. All ties divided.

SHOOT No 3.—20 singles, entrance $2, four moneys: Texas Field 17, Miller 16, Holzapfel 18, Elliott 18, Ellis 18, 24-gauge 19, Fritz 17, Samuels 13, Adams 18, Brown 16, Red 8, McCormack 16, Sparks 17, Morgan 15, St. Hubert 9, Modoc 16, Shaw 12, Moore 15, Cornett 17, McGinty 11, Dietz 17, Rothwell 18, Dennis 8, Haney 18, Saunders 17, Ambold 12, Forsgard 17. All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 4.—Live bird diamond medal championship of Texas. 10 single and 2 pairs live pigeons; entrance $13.50. First prize, diamond medal; second prize, $50; third prize, $30; fourth prize, $20.

	Singles	Pairs		Singles	Pairs
Texas Field	2112111121	*0	11-12	Chabot	0100102001	00	11—6
Miller	1222121122	00	01-11	McCormack	1001211222	10	10-10
McGinty	1012111112	11	11-13	St. Hubert	1122220011	11	00-10
Brown	1211122211	10	11-13	Hope	1212111222	11	11-14
24-gauge	2021222111	11	11-13	Forsgard	1211111211	10	00-11
Fritz	0112210120	11	11-11	Moore	2212222010	00	10—9
Ellis	0110012221	00	00—7	Ambold	1222121011	01	10-11
Morgan	2112211110	01	01-11

Hope won diamond medal on a straight score. Ties for second, third and fourth divided.

SHOOT No. 5.—20 single targets, entrance $3, five equal moneys, $20 added: Morgan 12, Holzapfel 19, Dietz 16, Cornett 18, Fritz 17, Brown 17, Sparks 18, Ellis 15, St. Hubert 17, McCormack 16, Adams 16, Miller 17, 24-gauge 19, McGinty 15, Steves 20, Elliott 18, Red 12, Modoc 17, Saunders 16, Haney 15, Rothwell 13. All ties divided.

FOURTH DAY

SHOOT No. 1.—10 singles and 3 pairs targets, entrance $2.50, four moneys, $20 added: Morgan 10, Holzapfel 14, Cornett 12, Fritz 14, Piety 14, Ellis 15 Texas Field 13, McCormack 13, Miller 13, 24-gauge 15, McGinty 11, Moore 13, Elliott 13. All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 2.—20 singles, entrance $3, five moneys, $25 added: Morgan 18, Holzapfel 19, Cornett 18, Fritz 15, Piety 20, Ellis 20, Texas Field 17, McCormack 19, Miller 15, 24-gauge 18, McGinty 18, Moore 18, Adams 14, Saunders 19, Elliott 16, Shaw 18. All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 3.—20 single targets, five moneys, $3 entrance, $25 added: Morgan 18, Holzapfel 20, Hope 15, Cornett 18, Fritz 19, Piety 17, Brown 17, Sparks 15, Ellis 18, Texas Field 14, McCormack 19, Adams 17, Miller 17, 24-gauge 18, Moore 18, Saunders 19, Elliott 16, Shaw 16. All ties divided.

SHOOT No. 4.—10 single live pigeons, entrance $7.50, three moneys, $25 added: Morgan 9, Holzapfel 7, Hope 8, Ellis 10, Texas Field 9, St. Hubert 8, McCormack 7, Adams 9, Miller 10, 24-gauge 9, McGinty 9, Moore 7, Saunders 8, Elliott 9, Shaw 5. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 1.—Miss and out at live pigeons, entrance $2: Holzapfel 1, Brown 3 Ellis 1, Miller 2, McGinty 1, Moore 2, Texas Field 3. Brown and Texas Field divided.

SHOOT No. 5.—Special shoot for individual championship diamond medal, 50 single targets, entrance price of birds. Subject to challenge, party challenging holder of medal to put up $50: Morgan 39, Holzapfel 49, Hope 35, Fritz 44, Piety 47, 24-gauge 48, Forsgard 44, Brown 45, Texas Field 44, Miller 45, McCormack 45, McGinty 42, Moore 45, Saunders 46, Steves 40, Dyer 45, Modoc 41, McVicker 43, Micklejohn 42 Holzapfel won medal on score of 49.

SHOOT No. 6.—Special shoot, 5 live pigeons, use of one barrel, entrance $5, three moneys: Morgan 4, Holzapfel 5, Dictz 3, Fritz 4, Brown 5, Ellis 4, Texas Field 4, St. Hubert 3, McCormack 4, 24-gauge 5, McGinty 5, Moore 5, Saunders 3, Steves 2, Elliott 5, Red 4, Rothwell 4, Samuels 5. Ties divided.

FIFTH DAY

EXTRA No. 1.—10 single targets, $1 entrance, three moneys: Texas Field 8, Holzapfel 10, Adams 10, Shaw 8, Morgan 9, St. Hubert 7, McCormack 9, Saunders 10, Ellis 9, Elliott 8, Fritz 9. Ties divided.

EXTRA No. 2.—20 singles, $2 entrance, four moneys: Texas Field 16, Holzapfel 19, Adams 19, Morgan 15, St. Hubert 14, 24-guage 19, Ellis 17, Saunders 18, McCormack 18, Fritz 16, Saunders 19, Dyer 17, Elliott 15, Miller 19. Ties divided.

EXTRA No 3.—20 singles, $3 entrance, four moneys: Texas Field 16, Holzapfel 20, Adams 19, Ellis 17, Cornett 19, 24-gauge 17, Fritz 14, McCormack 17, Miller 19, Saunders 17, Morgan 19, Dyer 17. Ties divided.

EXTRA No. 4.—20 singles, $3 entrance, four moneys: Adams 19, Texas Field 20, Holzapfel 18, Morgan 19, Ellis 18, 24-guage 19, Saunders 18, McCormack 19, Miller 17, Fritz 17. All ties divided.

EXTRA No. 5.—Same thing over: Texas Field 17, Holzapfel 19, Adams 20, Fritz 19, Morgan 17, Miller 18, McCormack 19, Ellis 19.

AVERAGES

Name	Shot at	Broke	Average	Name	Shot at	Broke	Average
A. B. Critzer (24-gauge)—	616	586	95.0	St. Hubert	381	252	66.1
A. Holzapfel	628	581	92.5	Moore	535	436	85.
Texas Field (Guessaz)—	635	562	87.8	Saunders	552	497	90.
McCormack	642	564	87 9	Haney	247	198	80.
A. H. Piety	306	282	93 8	Steves	266	214	80.
A. W. Adams	507	453	89.2	Elliott	498	431	86.
Miller	645	531	82.3	Shaw	327	234	71.6
McGinty	514	420	81.2	Red	170	100	58.8
Dietz	398	321	85.8	Modoc	90	70	77.7
Hope	236	197	83.5	Chabot	79	57	71.6
Cornett	428	382	89.2	Rothwell	85	70	82 2
Fritz	622	483	77.6	Lockhart	20	12	60
Forsgard	391	327	83.3	Dyer	90	78	86.6
E. Brown	499	425	80.1	Epp	31	21	67.7
Sparks	332	265	82 8	Ambold	54	36	66.6
Barrow	287	228	79.5	Samuels	127	89	70.3
Heard	207	161	77.7	Dennis	20	8	40.
Ellis	544	453	83.3	Micklejohn	70	56	80.
				McVickar	70	58	82.8

H. M. DYER.

NINTH ANNUAL TOURNAMENT OF THE AMATEUR TRAP SHOOTERS' ASSOCIATION OF MISSOURI AND KANSAS

WEIR CITY, KAN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Here at Weir, away down in the southeastern corner of Kansas, was held the ninth annual tournament of the Amateur Trap Shooters' Association of Missouri and Kansas. Weir is a busy little city of about 7,000 inhabitants, and is the center of the great coal and zinc industries of the state. Aside from the prominent part that Weir City plays in the history of the Sunflower State in the production of minerals and metals, she is known for the aggregation of gentlemanly "sports" who are proud to claim the little city for their residence. In years gone by Weir City has been known among men for her base ball team, for her fool racers and her boxers, but to-day she is better known throughout the southwest for her gun club. The Business Men's Gun Club of Weir is composed of the leading business and professional men in the city. Dr. D. W. King, its president, and mayor of the city, is a man of sterling qualities, a thorough gentleman, and a sportsman throughout. When the writer reached Weir he found the Doctor fulfilling his duties as mayor by spending the night in person at the mammoth works of the Cherokee Zinc Co. where his presence was needed in the interest of law and order arising from the recent labor troubles here. At daylight the next morning the Doctor was making the rounds of his profession; during the day the Doctor was on the shooting grounds, working and shooting in the interest of his club, while at evening, as chairman of the entertaining committee, he best showed the royal traits of a cultured gentleman and jolly companion.

Secretary W. W. McIlhany, one of Weir's rising young business men, was probably the busiest of the local shooters. He found time during the usual rush of business incumbent upon the cashier to help fill up a squad, and while not always at the top, sustained his reputation, under trying circumstances, as a target smasher. C. H. Calhoun, vice-president of the local club, shot in great form, and aside from winning the individual championship trophy, he made the only straight in the Owl team contest.

On Tuesday afternoon, previous to the opening day of the tournament, the shooters began to arrive and some little practice was indulged in. Wednesday morning about thirty shooters were on hand, which number during the day was increased to forty or more, making a nice shoot.

Among the visiting shooters was C. F. Reust, of Frankfort, Kan., who last year won the state trophy; M. F. McDonald. C. D. Taylor and H. M. Davis of Richmond, Mo., who made the score of 59 out of 60 in a team shoot at Atchison, last month; J. J. Cornett (L. C. Smith), of Linneus, Mo., who is one of the best target shots in Missouri; J. W. Barre, of Louisiana, J. W. Sexton, of Leavenworth, and the irrepressible Lon Erhardt, of Atchison, than whom there is no more popular man in the West. Lon is the life of every shoot he attends, and none throughout the southwest would be complete without his smiling face and jolly laughter. Numerous other shooters, formerly unknown to the writer, were on hand, and among them were those who could set a pace hard to keep at target shooting.

Blue Rock traps and targets were used, and Paul North's new electric pull fully demonstrated that it was the King of all devices for "slinging the pies." John Parker, "Des Chree-Chos-Ka Jack," of Detroit, Mich., representing the Winchester Repealing Arms Co., the E. C. Powder Co. and the Chamberlain Cartridge and Target Co., managed the tournament and, as usual, everything went off smoothly. Jack commenced by thoroughly organizing the local force, and never throughout the shoot was there a hitch or a balk of any duration. The expert traps and electric pull of the Blue Rock people were especially effective, and even Jack himself was compelled to admire their perfect behavior. About 16,000 Blue Rocks were thrown and none were easy. Still the high scores made at unknown angles and at unknown traps and angles proved beyond question that they could be broken even by amateurs.

On Thursday evening the annual meeting of the association was held. Joplin, Mo., was selected as the place to hold the shoot in 1896. Dr. D. W. King was elected president of the association, with A. Dixon, of Joplin, vice-president; Tim Malloy of Joplin, secretary, and E. L. Fay of Springfield, treasurer. The dates for the next tournament will be announced by the Joplin club.

Our local papers boomed the shoot in great shape and the citizens turned out in flocks to witness the sport. Ample arrangements were made at the ball park to accommodate both shooters and spectators, and the visitors all united in the opinion that the grounds were perfect for trap shooting.

Kansas City, Kan., won the great "Owl" contest, with Weir City a close second. Dr. King in a few well chosen words presented the winners each with a handsome owl pin, donated by Manager Parker. The Kansas first team won the state contest of Missouri vs. Kansas, with a score of 139 out of 150 (six men). The individual championship contest was the most exciting of the shoot, and was won by C. H. Calhoun of Weir City, who shot out A. L. Bennett of Kansas City, Mo., on a score of 27. McIlhany of Weir City and Reust of Frankfort were a close second on 26.

One noticeable feature of the tournament was the entire absence of black powder Not a single load was fired throughout the three days. Below are the scores:

EVENT No. 1.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $10 added: Reust 11, Sexton 14, Erhardt 13, Barre 13, Clas 12, McIlhany 13, Jones 10, Pugh 13, Sowers 14. Calhoun 14, Taylor 12, L. C. Smith 15, Menefee 10, Marshall 13, Hamilton 13, Green 13, Hughes 8, Bennett 13.

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Experts—L. C. Smith 11, Sowers 11, Calhoun 12, Sexton 12. Amateurs—Clas 15, Barre 13, Reust 12, Erbardt 10, Pugh 15, Jones 10, Taylor 12, Hamilton 10, Hughes 5, Menefee 13. Green 14. Marshall 10, Thornton 13, McIlhany 13, Allison 13, Morrison 7, Price 9.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles: Experts—Pugh 13, Clas 12, Green 13. Amateurs—Smith 14, Barre 14, Taylor 13, Sowers 13. Jones 14, Reust 12, Hamilton 9, Marshall 9. Menefee 15, Sexton 11, Thornton 14, Erhardt 14, McIlhany 13, Best 12, Timberlake 5, Calhoun 12, Hughes 8.

EVENT No. 4.—Same again: Experts—Barre 12, Smith 13, Jones 11, Menefee 13, Thornton 15, Erhardt 12. Amateurs—Pugh 14, Allison 11, Sowers 13, Reust 10, Sexton 13, Clas 10, Calhouu 14, Taylor 11, Green 14, Best 13, Timberlake 12, Price 15, McIlhany 14, Abbott 8, Bennett 11

EVENT No. 5.—Same as before: Experts—Thornton 11, Pugh 13, Green 9, Calhoun 13, Price 14, McIlhany 12. Amateurs—Barre 10, Marshall 12, Menefee 12, Hamilton 8, Hughes 9, Taylor 12, Smith 13, Jones 12, Best 11, Reust 15, Sexton 12, Erhardt 10, Clas 13, Sowers 13, Bennett 13, Timberlake 6, Allison 11, McDonald 13, Mackie 8, Morrison 13.

EVENT No. 6.—Same: Experts—Reust 11, Green 12, Allison 7. Amateurs—Barre 12, Sexton 15, Erhardt 11, Clas 12, Calhoun 14, McIlhany 15, Best 13, Pugh 11, Thornton 13, Menefee 13, Marshall 13, Smith 14, Sowers 12, Hamilton 13, Jones 14, Taylor 14, McDonald 11, Price 12.

EVENT No. 7.—Same: Experts—Sexton 11, McIlhany 14, Calhoun 13, Smith 13, Jones 14, Taylor 11. Amateurs—Barre 13, Marshall 13, Menefee 13, Green 13, Hughes 6, Pugh 12, Allison 12, Morton 10, Hamilton 13, Reust 14, Erhardt 13, Clas 13, Thornton 12, Bennett 11, Sowers 10, Best 11, Timberlake 10, Campbell 12.

EVENT No. 8.—As before: Experts—Jones 12. McIlhany 13, Reust 13, Barre 12, Marshall 11, Menefee 9, Green 13, Calhoun 14. Smith 9, Hamilton 8, Erhardt 12, Clas 12. Amateurs—Price 11, Allison 12, Leeman 12, Sowers 14, W. G. Beck 15, Pugh 14, Sexton 9, Campbell 11, Thornton 10, Bennett 10.

EVENT No. 9.—Same again: Experts—W. G. Beck 8, Calhoun 14, Pugh 11, Sowers 11. Amateurs—W. C. Beck 9, Sexton 14, Menefee 13, Hughes 10, Green 14, Taylor 12, McIlhany 14 Allison 11, Leeman 13, Reust 15, Timberlake 9, Smith 10. Hamilton 9, Marshall 10, Campbell 14. Jones 13, Thornton 10, Barre 13, Bennett 13, Clas 14, Erhardt 13

EVENT No. 10.—15 singles: Experts—Reust 14, Calhoun 14, Sexton 9, Green 12, McIlhany 14, Leeman 13, Campbell 13, Clas 14. Amateurs—Menefee 13, Taylor 12, Pugh 12, Hamiliou 10, Marshall 11, Hughes 8, Norton 14, McDonald 8 Barre 10, Jones 15, Morrison 10, Smith 15, Mackie 11, Holmes 9, Best 13, W. G. Beck 9, Sowers 14, W. C. Beck 11, A. Dixon 13, Liles 11, Edmision 5, Thornton 12, Erhardt 14, Beunett 15, B. A. Fay 13, C. Dixon 9.

After the conclusion of the regular program, as above, twelve extra events at singles and doubles, to suit the visitors, were shot off.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—15 singles each man: Sexton 12, Jones 14, E. L. Fay 12, Green 10. Clas 12. Barre 11, Reust 14, Menefee 10, Pugh 12, Campbell 9, Leeman 14, McIlhany 13, Best 13, Erhardt 8, B. A. Fay 10, Hamilton 11, Marshall 13, Taylor 13, Thornton 12, Liles 12, King 10, Norton 14, C. Dixon 11, Smith 12, Bennett 14, Calhoun 14.

EVENT No. 2.—Same: Experts—Jones 14, Leeman 12, Norton 14, McIlhany 12, Best 10, Bennett 13, Marshall 12, Taylor 13, Calhoun 15, Reust 14. Amateurs—Sexton 13, Clas 14. Pugh 14, Green 15, Menefee 13, King 10, A. Dixon 11, E. L. Fay 12, Liles 9, Barre 11, Smith 13, Erhardt 11, Thornton 14, Hamilton 9, B. A. Fay 12, Campbell 12

EVENT No. 3.—Same again: Experts—Green 12, Clas 10, Pugh 11, Jones 10, Reust 13, Norton 12, Calhoun 13, Thornton 13. Amateurs—King 7, Best 14, E. L. Fay 14, Sexton 15, Campbell 13, Smith 13, Leeman 10, Erhardt 11, B. A. Fay 9. Edmiston 12. Taylor 12, Menefee 12, Marshall 9, Barre 8, Liles 15, Histed 10, A. Dixon 15.

EVENT No. 4.—Same as before: Experts—Sexton 12, Best 12, E. L. Fay 11, Liles 12, Bennett 14, A. Dixon 13. Amateurs—Jones 15, Reust 12, Clas 13, Green 11, Menefee 12, Pugh 12, Campbell 13, Leeman 10, Erhardt 13, Taylor 9, B. A. Fay 10, Edmiston 13, Calhoun 15, Marshall 14, Hamilton 10, Smith 12. Thornton 10, McIlhany 12

EVENT No. 5.—Same: Experts—Joues 13, Bennett 13, Calhoun 14, Marshall 12. Amateurs—Pugh 12, Edmiston 10, Erhardt 14, Clas 14, Reust 14, Menefee 13, Norton 11, Best 13, King 7, Taylor 11, Liles 12, Hamilton 9, Sexton 15, Hughes 12, E. L. Fay 11, Green 14, Campbell 11, C. Dixon 12, Smith 13, B. A. Fay 10, Barre 4, McIlhany 13, Thornton 15, W. G. Beck 14.

EVENT No. 6.—Kansas vs. Missouri, 25 singles, six men to a team.

KANSAS TEAM NO. 1

Reust	1111111101 1111111110 11111	—23
McIlnany	1111111110 1111111111 11111	—24
Calhoun	1110111111 1011011111 11111	—22
Pugh	1111011111 1111011111 11011	—22
Sexton	1111111111 1111111101 11111	—24
Bennett	1111111110 1111111111 11111	—24—139

MISSOURI TEAM NO. 1

E. L. Fay	1111111111 1110111110 01101	—21
Clas	0111111111 1111111110 11111	—23
Thornton	1011011101 1111111111 00111	—20
Liles	1111011111 1011111111 11111	—23
A. Dixon	0111111011 1110111110 11111	—21
Jones	1111111101 1111111011 11011	—22—130

KANSAS TEAM NO. 2

Erhardt	1111111111 1111111111 11111	—25
Campbell	1111111111 1111111111 11111	—25
W. C. Beck	0111111111 1111111010 01111	—21
Edmiston	0111111110 1111011111 10111	—21
Sowers	1011111111 1111111111 01110	—22
W. G. Beck	0011111111 1110111111 01110	—20—134

MISSOURI TEAM NO. 2

Green	1111111111 1001101111 01111	—21
Marshall	1111100101 1111111111 11111	—22
Menefee	1110111101 1111111111 11111	—23
Taylor	1111110101 1111110101 11111	—21
Smith	1011111101 1011111111 11111	—22
Norton	1111111111 1111111111 11111	—25—134

Second Missouri defeated second Kansas by one bird in the shoot off for first place.

EVENT No. 7.—The "Owl" shoot. Teams of three men members of same club, 10 singles, everything known, 10 singles, unknown angles, 10 singles unknown traps and unknown angles, $50 added.

KANSAS CITY (KAN.) TEAM

Bennett	1111111111 1111111011 1111101011	—27
Pugh	1111111111 1111111111 0101011111	—27
Norton	1111111111 0100111111 1101111101	—25—79

WEIR CITY TEAM NO. 1

Calhoun	1111111111 1111111111 1111111111	—30
Best	1111101011 0110110111 1011011111	—23
McIlbany	1011111111 1111011110 0101011111	—24—77

RICHMOND (MO.) TEAM NO. 1

Marshall	1110111111 1111111111 1111111111	—29
Menefee	0111111100 1101111111 1000111111	—23
Green	1111111111 1001100111 1111101101	—24—76

PITTSBURG (KAN.) TEAM

W. C. Beck	1111101110 1101110111 1
Campbell	1011111111 1011110111
W. G. Beck	1111111011 10111110

LEAVENWORTH (KAN.) TEAM

Sexton	1111011110 1110011
Erhardt	1111111111 1101011
Reust	1100111111 1111

SPRINGFIELD (MO.) TEAM NO.

B. A. Fay	1101111111 1011101101 1111101011	—24
Clas	1101001111 1111010101 0101111111	—22
Jones	1111011111 1111110010 0110110110	—22—68

JOPLIN (MO.) TEAM

E. L. Fay	1111111111 1011101111 1101101110	—25
A. Dixon	1101111001 0011111111 0110000111	—20
Thornton	1101010110 1111111111 0011011111	—23—68

RICHMOND (MO.) TEAM NO. 2

Taylor	1101111111 1011011111 0111011011	—24
Hamilton	1110110101 1010001001 0011101011	—17
L. C. Smith	1111111101 1011111001 0011101111	—23—64

GALENA (KAN.) TEAM

Horn	1111111111 1111111101 1001100110	—24
Stice	1101001001 0110000101 0011100101	—14
Grantham	0110101111 0111101101 0011010100	—17—55

WIER CITY (KAN.) TEAM NO. 2

Hayden	1110101111 0110000100 1101100110	—17
S. W. Marshall	1110110111 0010010101 0101101000	—16
J. H. Hamilton	1100111110 1111011011 0100111110	—21—54

Nine extra events were shot after the regular program had been finished, which were well filled from the ranks of the 75 per cent. shooters as well as by those whom the mediocrity were pleased to call "the cracks."

THIRD DAY

EVENT No. 1.—15 singles per man: Sexton 14, Reust 14, Erbardt 12, Bennett 12, Calhoun 13, Grantham 10, McIlhany 14, Barre 10, Best 15 Parker 14, Marshall 13, Green 14, Smith 15, Menefee 13.

EVENT No. 2.—Same as before: Experts—Smith 14, Sexton 13, McIlhany 13, Reust 15, Best 14, Parker 13, Green 11. Amateurs—Erhardt 12, Calhoun 15, Bennett 11, Barre 13, Marshall 14, Menefee 14, E. L. Fay 11, C. Dixon 12.

EVENT No. 3.—Same: Experts—Smith 9, Reust 13, Calhoun 13, Best 13, Marshall 13, Menefee 14. Amateurs—E. L. Fay 13, Barre 14, Erhardt 13, Sexton 11, Green 14, C. Dixon 14, McIlhany 15, Parker 12, Grantham 7.

EVENT No 4.—15 singles: Experts—C. Dixon 10, McIlhany 11. Amateurs—E. L. Fay 7, Reust 12, Calboun 15, Erhardt 14. Sexton 12, Bennett 14, Best 13, Parker 14, S. W. Marshall 15, Morrison 7, Abbott 14, Beadle 5.

EVENT No. 5.—Individual championship of Missouri and Kansas. Conditions same as "Owl" contest.

Menefee	1111111111 0001101111 1001101110	—22
Marshall	1101111110 1111111111 1101110100	—24
Green	1111111011 1101011111 1111110110	—25
Barre	0101100101 1101011110 1110110011	—19
Erhardt	0111110110 0111010111 1101010111	—21
Rensl	1111111110 1110111111 1111101110	—26
C. Dixon	0111111100 1111111111 1011111101	—25
E. L. Fay	0010101111 0101011110 1 11111110	—22
Sexton	1101010111 1111111111 1100101111	—24
Best	1111101111 1111110010 1011110111	—25
Calhoun	1111111111 1101011111 1111111110	—27
McIlhany	1111011111 1011101111 0111111111	—26
Bennett	1111111111 1111111011 1011011111	—27
Abbott	0111110100 1100010111 1101101111	—19

Calhoun and Bennett tied for first place, and shot off as noted below, Calhoun winning. Second money was divided by McIlhany and Reust, third going to Green, C. Dixon and Best.

Tie for trophy, 15 birds per man.

Calhoun 111111111011101-13 | Bennett 111111001001001—9

EVENT No. 6.—15 singles: Experts—Sexton 12, King 10, Best 14, Reust 14, McIlhany 15. Amateurs—Allison 11, Bennett 13, Parker 14, Erhardt 12, Calhoun 12.

EVENT No. 7.—Same: Experts—McIlhany 12, Best 13, Reust 14. Amateurs—Sexton 14, Erhardt 12, Calhoun 14, King 9, Abbott 8, Bennett 12.

EVENT No. 8.—Same again: Experts—Reust 14, Sexton 13, Calhoun 14, Parker 14, Best 15 Amateurs—Erhardt 13, King 12, Bennett 11, Abbott 8, McIlhany 15, Morrison 10.

This concluded the program for the day, but sweepstake shooting was continued in all its phases from common "singles" through unknown doubles to Jack Parker's "Des-Chree-chos-Ka game," and only the darkness of the closing day put an end to the greatest tournament ever held by the "Owl" association.

The Joplin boys were loud in their praise of the tournament, as in fact were all visitors, and Vice-President Allen Dixon prophesies even a more glorious meeting in the thriving city of Joplin in 1896, while all alike will hope to meet that prince of good fellows, Jack Parker, again in the capacity of manager.

NO. 3 PRIMER.

PARTICIPANTS IN THE TEXAS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT, MAY, 1895

THE INTERSTATE ASSOCIATION'S LYNCHBURG TOURNAMENT

LYNCHBURG, VA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—If the tournament of the Interstate Association which was held at Lynchburg, Va., on May 17 and 18, under the auspices of the Lynchburg Gun Club, is any criterion of what the remaining tournaments will be like, the s[illegible] grand success. The season of 1895, as far as it has gone, conclusively proven that there is no waning in the popular[illegible] shooting, and the indications are that at the majority of tournaments this will be one of the best seasons there has been [illegible] time.

The Lynchburg tournament, both in its management by the local gun club, and the character of the shooting of contestants [illegible] different events, fully justified the promises of its promoters. It is not overstating the case to say that the tournament was the best representative affair of its kind in the history of the local gun club. It is true of the executive management of the tournameot, including all preliminary arrangements made by Messrs. Chas. W. [illegible] R. S. Terry and Thomas N. Nelson of the [illegible]b,and also of the general movement of the [illegible]der the management of Elmer E. Shaner. On the [illegible] was altogether commendable.

[illegible] by the competing shooters, local and [illegible] standard of excellence was quite low; [illegible] of the local shoots, and remarkable in the [illegible]mber of straight scores made. Some individual exhibitions were notably first class, and, of course, some of the best men of the country at large should make exceptional showings as against the stars of this particular community. All things considered, Lynchburg held her own.

The shooting ground is a model spot for the purpose. By almost insensible gradations it slopes downward to the foot of a small hill. The slope was of purest emerald, and, with the sapphire and white sky beyond, and the Blue Ridge Mountains looming up like a shadow in the distance, looked like a vast blue, green and white ribbon, and spreads out before one like the ancient field of the cloth of gold, where knightly fraters once held tourneys and reviews. The landscape is hemmed in by slopes and sky in every direction but the drive, which makes an enigmatic turn just there around Rivermont Park. The club owns fourteen acres outright, and these grounds excel any similar grounds the writer has ever seen. All details have been carefully looked after with a view to meet the purposes of the club. The club house is a beautiful structure, arranged in the most modern style for the conveniencs of the shooters. The building is 40x20 feet on the ground floor, with the the addition of a storeroom for the various paraphernalia of the club. The interior of the main building is handsomely furnished and fitted up solely for the comfort of the shooters and their friends. The grounds are easily accessible from the city by means of the Lynchburg and Rivermont electric cars.

The morning of the openiog day was fair as anyone could have wished, and the tournament was of a character which left all the home officials and visitors congratulating each other, the former that they had done so well the latter that they had seen the fact demonstrated. Fair as were the skies in the morning, the wind sweeping from the south brought rain just as the last regular programed event was being finished. The constant drizzle of rain and gloom so thick you could almost cut it with a knife, put an end to the shooting for the day at four o'clock, after one extra event had been shot.

Among those present the first day, either looking on or taking part, were Chas. Tatham of New York, president of the Interstate Association; Capt. A. W. Mouey of the American E. C. Powder Company; Wm. Wagner, Norman Pruitt, W. B. McKeldon and B. L. Osborne of the Capitol City Gun Club, Washington, D. C.; George McAlpin of the Climax Guo Club, New Jersey; E. L. Gilmer, J. L. Fonda and J. Jordan of the Greensboro Gun Club, Greensboro, N. C.; Col. J. T. Anthony of the Charlotte Gun Club, Charlotte, N. C.; H. Bridgers of the University Gun Club, Chapel Hill, N. C.; W. Tell Mitchell, Lynchs, Va., and Messrs. Terry, Nelson, Doroiu, Empie, Scott, Moorman, Taylor, Cleland, Stearoes and Clark of the local gun club. General J. H. Smith, assisted by J. M. Otey, filled the cashier's office very acceptably, and W. N. Wellford was official scorer.

The second day of the tournament began under very favorable conditions, the weather being all that the most exacting could have asked. During ths day spectators were numerous, among them being many ladies, and very few of them left the grounds until the shooters were through. Both days, about noon, the shooters enjoyed an elegant lunch, which was served by Mr. A. D. Wright of the Arlington Hotel, shooters' headquarters. This courtesy on the part of Mr. Wright was greatly appreciated by the gun club and its guests.

The handicap system which is being given a trial by the Interstate Association seems to afford an advantage to the amateurs over the experts, as the amateurs have made au unusually creditable showing under the present plan. While a number of good shots were present, fully 90 per cent. of the money went to the men in the amateur division. At the close of the tournament a meeting of the shooters present at the tournament was called to order by Col. J. T. Anthony, and resolutions were passed indorsing the handicap. A full account of this meeting, and the resolutions passed, will be sent to the AMERICAN FIELD by the Lynchburg Gun Club at an early date. But little, if any, dissatisfaction was manifested, and the tournament closed with good feeling all around. The scores follow:

EVENT No. 1.—15 targets, entrance $1.50.

Capt. Mouey...101111110101111—12	Taylor.....001011100011110— 8
Wagner .....010111111110011—11	Jordan.....010111111101111—12
McAlpin.....111111100001110—10	Anthony.....1101110001101 1—10
Mitchell.....111110011111101—12	Fonda.. .....111011100110100— 9
Rastus.....100101000100100— 5	Cleland.....000100001100101— 5
Moorman .....111111101111011—13	Pruitt.....011111101111110—12
Amateurs—	Bridgers..... 1000010101111011— 8
Nelson.. . ...000111111101011—10	Empie.... .....111001100111010— 9
Terry.....011101101010110— 9	Osborne.....111011111110011—12
Doruln.....110010101101111—10	McKeldon .... 1100111011111101—11

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Expert—Moorman 4. Amateurs—Capt. Mouey 11, Waguer 12, McAlpiu 12, Michell 13, Rastus 8, McKeldou 8, Nelson 12, Terry 11, Dornin 10, Taylor 9, Jordan 9, Authony 12, Scott 7, Guthrie 5, Williams 5, Fonda 8, Cleland 11, Pruitt 12, Bridgers 10, Empie 9, Osborne 10.

EVENT No. 3 - 20 singles, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys: Expert—Mitchell 12 Amateurs—Money 15, Wagner 17, Rastus 14, Moorman 12, Nelson 13, Terry 9, Dornin 11, McAlpin 16, Taylor 10, Jordan 13, Anthouy 15 Fonda 11, Cleland 12, Pruitt 15, Bridgers 14, Empie 14, Osborne 9, McKeldon 14, Scott 8.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added, four moneys: Expert—Wagner 14. Amateurs—Money 11, McAlpin 13, Mitchell 14, Rastus 9, Moorman 11, Nelson 12, Terry 13, Dornin 11, Taylor 11, Jordan 11, Anthony 9, Fonda 9, Cleland 11, Pruitt 13, Bridgers 10, Empie 12, Osborne 10, McKeldon 10, Scott 10.

EVENT No. 5.—20 targets, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys: Experts—Wagner 14, Mitchell 11. Amateurs—Money 13, McAlpin 18, Rastus 14, Moorman 13, Nelson 16, Terry 11, Pruitt 13, Bridgers 11, Empie 14, Osborne 10, McKeldon 19, Scott 14, Dornin 18, Taylor 15, Jordau 16, Anthony 15, Fonda 12, Cleland 11, Stearnes 15.

EVENT No. 6.—15 targets, $1.50 entrauce, $10 added, four moneys.

Expert—	Jordan.....111101101011111-12
McKeldon .....011010011011010—8	Anthony.....101111110111111-13
Amateurs—	Fonda 111111111011101-13
Money 110111111001111-12	Cleland.....101110011101111-11
McAlpiu 111101111111111-14	Pruitt.....111011100010101—9
Mitchell.....111111011110111-13	Bridgers 110101010101011-10
Rastus.....110001110111110-10	Empie.... 011111011111101-12
Moorman.....001011111001111-10	Osborne.....011011001111101-10
Nelson.... 110011111010111-11	Scott.....110111100111101-11
Terry.....,011101111011101-11	Wagner.....111110101000111-10
Dornlu.....111110111111101-13	Stearnes.....111000111101010—9
Taylor..... 101100100111010—8

EVENT No. 7 —20 targets, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys: Expert—McAlpin 14. Amateurs—Money 9, Wagner 19, Mitchell 16, Rastus 10, Moorman 12, Nelson 14, Terry 6, Dornin 17, Taylor 8, Jordan 16, Anthouy 19, Fonda 11, Cleland 11, Pruitt 18, Bridgers 8, Empie 17, Osborne 12, McKeldon 16, Scott 8, Stearnes 14.

EVENT No. 8.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added, four moneys: Experts—Wagner 9, Anthony 11. Amateurs—Money 11, Stearnes 12, Mitchell 14, Rastus 5, Moorman 12, Nelson 15, Terry 11, Dornin 9, Taylor 9, Jordan 10, Scott 5, Fonda 9, Cleland 8, Pruitt 10, Bridgers 5, Empie 11, Osborne 8, McKeldon 10, McAlpiu 11, Price 5, Clayton 10.

EVENT No. 9.—20 targets, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys: Experts—Nelson 7, Anthony 11. Amateurs—Money 11, Wagner 12, McAlpiu 12, Mitchell 17, Rastus 9, Moorman 8, Stearnes 10, Terry 14, Dornin 15, Taylor 11, Jordao 16, Fonda 11, Cleland 12, Pruitt 14, McKeldon 15, Empie 14, Osborne 12. Scott 9, Bridgers 5, Clark 9.

EVENT No. 10.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added, four moneys: Expert—Mitchell 6. Amateurs—Money 10. Stearnes 10, Wagner 15, McAlpin 10, Rastus 12, Moorman 5, Nelson 12, Terry 11, Dornin 7, Taylor 9, Jordau 11, Anthony 11, Fonda 10, Cleland 8, Pruitt 11, Empie 10, Osborne 9, McKeldou 10, Scott 7, Williams 8, Guthrie 6, Clark 8, Miller 7.

EXTRA No. 1.—15 targets per man: Stearnes 12, Empie 13, Mitchell 12, Miller 8, Moorman 5, Money 10, Rastus 11, Wagner 12, Fonda 9, Anthouy 11, Doruin 9, Nelson 10, Pruitt 7, Terry 8, Jordan 11.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance.

McAlpin.....101011111100110-10	Stick.....101101010100011—8
Jordan.....111011111111101-13	Anthony.....101111101111011-12
Wagner.....001011111011011-10	Merrill .....010010111001111—9
Money..... 110011011001111-10	Miller.....100011100110011—8
Rastus.....011111111110111-13	Fonda.... .....001111110001001—8
Mitchell.... 111111111111011-14	McKeldon 111111111111111-15
Nelsou.....101101011110010-10	Pruitt.....111110100111111-12
Terry....

[illegible]ance $1.50: Expert—McKeldon (w) [illegible]n 12, Wagner 10, Money 14, Rastus [illegible]6, Pruitt 9, Anthony 10, Fonda 10, [illegible]am 12.

[illegible]ntrance, $15 added, four moucys: Expert—Mitchell 15. Amateurs—McAlpin 11, Jordan 16. Wagner 13, Money 18, Rastus 15, Nelson 16, Terry 12, McKeldon 14, Pruitt 15, Osborns 17, Fonda 10, Moorman 9, Anthony 16, Doruln 15, Tatham 12, Empie 13, Scott 10.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added, four moneys: Experts—Money 8, Mitchell 11. Amateurs—McAlpin 12 Jordan 10, Wagner 13, Rastus 7, Osborne 13, Nelson 11, Terry 8, McKeldon 14, Pruitt 13, Fonda 13, Moorman 11, Merrill 7, Anthooy 13, Tatham 10, Miller 9, Stick 11, Scott 11, Bridgers 10, Dornin 14, Empie 12.

EVENT No. 5.—20 targets, $2 entrancs, $15 added, four moneys: Experts—McKeldon 11, Mitchell 17, Dornin 11. Amateurs—McAlpiu 9, Jordan 16, Wagner 14, Mouey 19, Rastus 12, Nelson 16, Terry 11, Pruitt 14. Fonda 13, Moorman 14, Tatham 15, Empie 17, Anthony 18, Osborne 13, Stick 14, Scott 14, Bridgers 14.

EVENT No. 6.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added, four moneys: Experts—Money 7, Mitchell 15. Amatsurs—Jordan 14, Wagner 13, Rastus 9, McAlpin 12, Nelson 12, Dornin 9, Miller 10, Tatham 9, Osborne 12, Bridgers 10, Stick 10, Empie 12, Terry 11, McKeldon 15, Pruitt 13, Scott 11, Fonda 11, Moorman 9, Anthony 14, Merrill 9.

EVENT No. 7.--20 targsts, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys.

Experts—	Osborne... 1111110111000011111-14
Mitchell...11100011110111011110-14	Pruitt.....11111111111111110101-18
McKeldon.11101110101111111001-15	Fouda.....01100111101000011111-12
Amateurs—	Moorman..11101011111111111110-17
Jordan... .11111011111111110101-17	Dornin.....11101110101111111111-17
Wagner....11111011111011111111-16	Anthony...01111111101111101010-15
Money.....11111111110111111111-19	Empie.....11110011101111110000-13
Rastus.....11001110111011010101-13	Tatham....11010101111000001011-11
McAlpin...11111111111111110111-19	Scott.....11111011100111001111-15
Nelson.....00011111010110110011-12	Stick..... .00011111111110010101-13
Terry.....11111010111111010111-16

EVENT No. 8 —15 targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added, four moneys: Experts—Money 11, McAlpin 10. Amateurs—Jordan 12, Wagoer 12 Rastus 9, Mitchell 14. Nelson 6, Terry 11, McKeldon 13, Pruitt 12, Fonda 10, Moormau 11, Dornin 14, Empie 13, Osborne 9, Miller 11, Stick 12, Scott 11, Cleland 7, Anthooy 13

EVENT No. 9.—20 targets, $2 entrance, $15 added, four moneys: Experts—Mitchell 10, Dornlo 9, McAlpin 16, Mouey 10. Amateurs—Jordan 15, Wagner 19, Rastus 16, Nelson 5, Terry 13, McKeldon 17, Stick 10. Pruitt 15, Anthony 15, Fonda 11, Moormau 9, Empie 15, Miller 11, Osborne 15, Scott 17, Tatham 13.

EVENT No. 10.—15 targets, $1.50 entraoce, $10 added: Experts—Wagner 9, McAlpin 9. Amateurs—Jordan 12, Tatham 8, Money 13, Rastus 11, Mitchell 13, Nelson 12, Terry 13, McKeldon 15, Pruitt 13, Anthony 12, Fonda 10, Moormau 9, Dornin 13, . mpie 8, Clelaod 10, Stick 6, Miller 7, Osborne 12, Scott 10.

EXTRA No. 1.—10 targets, entrance $1: Jordan 8, Fonda 8, Wagner 10, McAlpin 7, Mitchell 9, Terry 6, Anthony 10, Stick 8, Nelsou 6, Rastus 5, Money 7. Bridgers 6, W. G. Merrill 5.

EXTRA No 2.—15 targets, entrance $1.50.

McAlpin..... 101111101111101-12	Cleland..... ..0101111110110001-10
Wagner.....111111111111111-15	Empie.... 111111111111111-15
M ney 011011001111111-11	Osborne ... .0110.0101100010—6
Mitchell.....011110111110111-12	Pruitt.....001111010001011—9
Nelson.....110010111111011-11	Anthony. 101111111111101-13
Fonda..... 101101111111110-12	McKeldon 111101101111111-13
Rastus..... . 100111001011111-10	Dornin.....110010101110100—8
Terry.....011011110111111-12	Miller 110110101101011-10
Scott.....011101111001011-10	Moorman..... .111011010100011-10

EXTRA No. 3.—15 targets, entrance $1.50: McAlpin 9, Nelson 5, Money 13, Fonda 11, Wagner 12, Anthony 13, Mitchell 11, Osborne 8, Terry 11, Tatham 6, Empie 11, Miller 12, Pruitt 11, McKeldon 14.

EXTRA No. 4 —15 targets, entrance $1.50: Money 11, Fonda 11, Rastus 12, Anthony 11, Mitchell 10, Empie 13, Terry 12, Osborne 9, Miller 11, Pruitt 11, Wagner 11, Dorniu 11, McKeldon 10, E. P. Miller 7.

EXTRA No. 5.—15 targets, entrance $1.50: Money 13, Anthony 12, Fooda 9, Rastus 11, Mitchell 12, Empie 12, Terry 9, Moorman 10, Prultt 11, Dornin 11.

EXTRA No 6.—15 targets, entrance $1.50: Money 11, Anthony 13, Mitchell 13, Fonda 11, Rastus 12, Empie 8, Terry 10, McAlpin 12.

EXTRA No. 7.—10 singles and 5 pairs: Fonda 10, Anthony 13, Stick 16, Money 14, Empie 14, Terry 15, Rastus 11.

H. HALL.

THE GALESBURG SHOOTING CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

GALESBURG, ILL.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The tournament held in this city on April 22, 24, 25 aud 26, by the Galesburg Shooting Club, was a success, generally speaking, but the attendance was not as large as was anticipated; neither was it as large as has been seen here at former meetings of this kind; yet notwithstauding this more targets were thrown than at any tournament ever before held here. Peoria Blackbirds were used throughout and 12 500 were trapped.

Among the visitors present were Dr. W. F. Carver and Hon. Tom Marshall, who shot a live bird match for $100, and in which the latter was the victor; Rolla Helkes, the great target shot from Ohio, who broke 63 targets without a miss in 2½ minutes, and who made a run of 125 straight the first day of the tournament; Capt. A. H. Bogardus and W. T. Irwin, who shot a match at live birds under the Bogardus rules, which was won by the latter. In this match both men used 7½-pound Francotte guns and used ths same loads; Ed. Bingham of Chicago; R. Cook and Mr. Lewis of Davenport, Ia.; Al. Miller from New Boston; Ed. Rike of Dayton, O., another dangerous Buckeye; Mr. Gilbert of Philadelphia; Mr. Harding of Bsardstown; Mr. Wilson of Astoria: Mr. Deterline of Keithsburg; Dan Day of Oneida; E. D. Ramsdo of Burlington, Ia.; Alvin Famulener of Salada; Huckins, Baker and Sharp of Kewanee; Samuelson of Alexis; Robertson and son of Gilson; Brown of Quincy; and Hsilman of Pekin. The scores made are appended, all moneys being divided.

EVENT No. 1.—10 single targets. $1.50 entrance.

J. P. Hickey .....1101110111—8	Day.. ..... 0111110011—7
Rike.... .....1011111111—9	Tramp..... .....1111111101—9
Gilbert..... .1111111111-10	Heikes..... .....1111111110—9
Robertson Jr.....0111111111—9	Wilson 1111111111-10
Jones .....1111110111—9	Brechwald .....0110110010—5
Robertson Sr... ....1111100011—7	Miller.....1111111111-10

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $2 entrancs: Hickey 9, Rike 14, Jones 15, Gilbert 14, Day 12, Miller 14, Heikes 14, Wilson 13, Tramp 12, Samuelson 13, Famulener 8, J. W. Henry 12.

EVENT No. 3.—10 targets, $1.50 entraucc, unknown angles: Hickey 7. Rike 6, Joues 8, Miller 7, Gilbert 7, Samuelson 8, Wilson 7, Heikes 8, Marsh 9. Day 7, Tramp 9, Robertson Jr. 10.

EVENT No. 4.—5 pairs, $1.25 eutrance: Hickey 6, Deterline 9, Marshall 6, Rike 10, Heikes 8, Miller 6, Dr. Carver 7, Dr. Aldrich 4.

EVENT No. 5.—15 targets, $2 entrance: Hickey 12, Deterline 14, Miller 12, Helkes 15, Marshall 13, Dr. Carver 13, Rike 14, Samuelson 12 Jones 14, Wilson 11, Gilbert 13, Day 15.

EVENT No. 6.—12 targets, $1.50 entrance, unknown angles: Hickey 7, Rike 11, Jones 11. Deterline 12, Heikes 12, Gilbert 10, Rambo 8, Wilson 11, Tramp 10, Marsh 8, Samuelson 8, Kelsey 6.

EVENT No. 7.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance: Hickey 7, Deterline 9, Coldwell 5, Henry 8 Gilbert 10, Jones 9, Rike 10, Wilsou 9, Heikes 10, Robertson Sr. 8, Robertson Jr. 4, Rambo 8, Day 9, Miller 7, Marsh 7, Breckwald 8, Famulener 10, Kelsey 7.

EXTRA No. 1.—Match between Dr. Carver and Tom Marshall, 50 live birds per man for purse of $100.

Marshall..... 1111101011 1111111111 1101111111 1111111110 1111101111—46
Dr. Carver....1111111111 1111111110 1111101101 0111011110 1111111111—44

EVENT No. 8 —15 targets, $2 entrance, unknown angles:

Hickey.....111101011011101—11	Wilson.....011111111111110—13
Heikes.....111111111111111—15	Samuelson.....111101111101101—12
Gilbert.. .... .111111111111111—15	Famulener ....011011011111111—12
Deterliue .....111110111111111—14	Rambo .....110001111011011—10
Jones.....111111111111110—14	Day. .... ..1010101111111111—12
Rike .....111101001011111—11	Marshall.....011110001011111—10

EVENT No. 9.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance: Hickey 7, Heikes 10, Bingham 9, Jones 9, Wilson 7, Rike 6, Haskins 7, Gilbert 8, Huckins 9, Deterliue 9, Miller 9, Brechwald 9, Dr. Aldrich 7, Henry Gardt 5, Harrington 5, Marshall 10, Day 9, Rambo 8, Famulener 8, Currey 7, Robertson Sr. 7, C. A. Cook 5, Tramp 9, Marsh 7.

EVENT No. 10.—15 targets, $2 entrance: Hickey 11, Heikes 15, Bingham 15, Deterline 13, Miller 15, Jones 15, Wilson 12, Marshall 14, Dr. Aldrich 7, Harrington 8, Garat 7, Rike 14, Famulener 8, Huckins 14, Kelsey 10, Gilbert 14, Day 12, C. A. Cook 8.

EVENT No. 11.—10 targets, $1 50 entrance, unkuown angles: Hickey 6, Deterline 9, Heikes 10, Miller 8, Bingham 9, Huckins 8, Marshall 7, Brechwald 9, Wilson 9, Faull 4, Hodge 4, Haskins 3, Pierce 7, Larson 7, Rike 10, Jones 10, Glibert 9, Famulener 7.

EVENT No. 12.—15 targets, $2 entrance: Heikes 15, Bingham 14, Marshall 14, Huckins 14, Deterline 13, Marsh 13, Wilson 10, Day 9, Rike 14, Hickey 11, Joues 15, Gilbert 13.

EVENT No 13.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance.

Marshall...11111111111111111111-20	Bingham...10111111111101111111-18
Deterline.. 11111111101111110111-18	Rike.....11111101010011101110-14
Huckins....11111111111101111111-19	Wilson.....11101111011101110111-16
Miller.....11111111111111110110-18	Hickey.....01011111111101111001-15
Heikes 11111111111111111111-20

EVENT No. 14.—10 targets, $1 entrauce, unknown traps: Bingham 10, Marshall 9, Deterline 8, Marsh 6, Gilbert 5, Huckins 10, Rike 10, Miller 6, Hickey 2, Henry 6, Famulener 5, Tramp 8.

EVENT No. 15.—5 pairs, $1 entrance: Hickey 2, Bingham 8, Deterline 8, Huckins 10.

EVENT No. 16.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance: Marshall 9, Bingham 10, Heilman 10, Wilson 9, Jones 8, Hickey 9.

EVENT No. 17.—15 targets, $2 entrauce: Marshall 13, Bingham 11, Heilman 15, Wilson 13, Jones 13, Hickey 10, Brown 11, Deterliue 14, Gilbert 12, Tramp 7, Miller 14, Samuelson 12.

EVENT No. 18.—Team shoot, $3 entrance.

TEAM NO. 1	TEAM NO. 2
Marshall.....1101111110—8	Deterline.... ....0110001000—3
Bingham.....1111111111-10	Heikes ... .1111111101—9
Hellman..... ...1111111111-10	Brown. ....1111010111—8
Wilson.....1111011110—8	Tramp.... .....0111111110 -8
Jones..... 1001111101—7	Miller ....1110111111—9
Gilbert ... .1111110111—9—52	Hickey.....1011111101—8—45

In sweep, but not in team.

Rike..... ...1111111111-10	Rambo .....1010111001—6

EVENT No. 19.—12 targets, $1 50 entrance, unknown angles: Marshall 11, Bingham 11, Hellman 10, Wilson 8, Jones 9, Heikes 7 Deterline 9, Rike 9, Gilbert 7, Brown 7, Miller 9, Hickey 7, Day 10, Henry 8, Samuelson 8, Moffatt 11, Tramp 10, Hodge 4.

EVENT No. 20.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance: Marshall 9, Bingham 10, Hellmau 8, Wilsou 9, Joues 8, Heikes 9, Hickey 4, Deterliue 8, Brown 6, Rike 8, Tramp 10, Henry 6, Gilbert 7, Miller 9.

EVENT No. 21.—5 pairs, $1.50 entrancc: Marshall 9, Bingham 6, Hickey 7, Wilson 8, Brown 7, Heikes 9, Deterline 7, Rike 7.

EVENT No. 22.—15 targets, $2 eutraucc: Marshall 14, Bingham 11, Hellman 15, Wilson 10, Jooes 13, Heikes 13, Hickey 10, Brown 10, Rike 10, Moffatt 10. Miller 15, Tramp 13

EVENT No. 23.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance, unknown angles: Marshall 15, Bingham 17, Heilmau 18, Wilson 11, Jones 15, Helkes 18, Hickey 13, Rike 14, Miller 18. Deterline 16, Day 10, Brown 13.

EVENT No. 24.—10 targets, $1.50 entrauce, unkuown angles: Marshall 10, Bingham 9, Heilman 7, Joues 8, Wilson 7, Heikes 8, Brown 4, Rike 9, Deterline 8, Robertson Sr. 6, Day 7, Hickey 8.

EVENT No. 25 —10 targets, $1.50 entrance, unknown traps and unkuown angles: Marshall 10. Bingham 10, Wilson 5, Heilman 9, Deterline 7, Heikes 10, Rike 3, Moffatt 5.

EVENT No. 26.—10 targets, $1 entrance.

Bingham ... .1111101101—8	Deterline..... 0111010111—7
Harrington .....0100100100—3	Samuelson..... .....1101000111—6
Chas. Grubb.....1000100010—3	Henry..... .....0110011111—7
Hellman .....1111110111—9	Tramp..... 1111111111-10
Marshall.....1111111111-10	Day.....0011111011—7
Phillipps. ....1000000010—2	Brechwald..... ....1000111101—6
Wilson.....1001110101—6	Heikes..... .....1111111111—9
Robertson Sr.....1101011111—8	Brown . .. .1111111011—9
Hodge.....1111011010—7	Baker.....0101110111—7
Miller.... . .....1111101110—8	Gilbert.....1110101111—8
Famulener.....1001101101—6	Rike..... .....1001110011—6
Hickey.....1011111111—9	Jones.....1111101111—9

EVENT No. 27.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Brechwald 5, Deterline 7, Samuelson 5, Heilman 8, Miller 10, Wilson 10, Marsh 3, Hodge 3, Bingham 9, Marshall 9, Baker 8, Day 7, Gilbert 10, Robertsou Sr. 8, Hickey 3, Phillipps 3, Harringtou 1, Gardt 4.

EVENT No. 28.—10 targets, 50 cents entrance. Amateur: Moffatt 9, Day 6, Gardt 4, Harrington 6, Phillipps 3, Harries 3. Marsh 3, C. A. Johnson 4, Sears 4, Cummins 5. Ph. Hickey 0, Baker 8.

EVENT No. 29,—15 targets, $1.50 entrance: Heilmau 13, Brown 13, Wilson 11, Marshall 14, Biugham 12, Jones 13, Deterlioe 12, Hodge 9, Miller 15, Famulener 7, Gilbert 12, Robertson Sr. 10, Hickey 10, Baker 15, Day 14, Tramp 15, Dr. Aldrich 4, Rike 15.

EVENT No. 30.—10 targets, 50 cents entrance. Amateur: Moffatt 9, Day 5, Gardt 0, Harrington 7, Phillipps 4, Harries 7, Marsh 3, C. A. Johnson 4, Cummins 4, Ph. Hickey 1. Baker 7, Dr. Aldrich 8, Hickey 8, Brechwald 7, Hodge 7, Famulener 8, Seacord 4, O. Aldrich 3.

EVENT No. 31.—10 targets, $1 entrance, unknown angles: Deterline 9, Miller 8, Wilson 6, Marshall 9, Heilman 9, Famulener 5, Hodge 5, Henry 5, Jones 8, Bingham 9, Brechwald 6, Hickey 6, Tramp 8, Baker 7, Rike 8, Dr. Aldrich 8.

EVENT No. 32.—5 pairs, $1 entrance: Marshall 8, Bingham 10, Deterline 8, Wilson 7, Hickey 3, Brechwald 7, Miller 8, Dr. Aldrich 6, Baker 10.

EVENT No. 33.—12 targets, $1 entrance: Harrington 6, Bingham 11, Phillipps 5, Moffatt 10, Hodge 7, Brechwald 12, Baker 9, Day 7, Hickey 11, Famulener 4, Henry 10, Tramp 11

EVENT No. 34.—10 targets, $1 sntrance: Marsh 7, Famulener 7, Henry 8, Bingham 9, Joues 9, Heilmau 8, Hickey 7, Wilsou 8, Tramp 8, Bogardus 7, Day 9.

EVENT No. 35.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance: Jones 9, Wilson 7, Famulener 7, Bingham 10, Heilman 9, Cook 7, Hickey 7, Lewis 8, Johnson 3, Tramp 8, Day 7, Henry 4.

EVENT No. 36.—15 targets, $2 entrance.

Jones. 1101010111111111-12	Lewis.....1101110111111111-13
Hellman..... 1111011111101111-13	Samuelson 1111011111111111-14
Bingham . ..1111110011111111-13	Hickey.....1111101111111111-14
Wilson.....1110111111111111-14	Day.....1110101011101101 10
Cook. 0111011101011111-11

EVENT No. 37.—12 targets, $1.50 sntrauce, unknown angles: Bingham 11, Heilman 10, Jones 9, Cook 9, Lewis 11, Wilson 9, Hickey 10, Tramp 9, Samuelson 9, Famulener 8.

EVENT No. 38.—10 targets, $1.25 entrance: Wilson 10, Bingham 8, Heilman 9, Lewis 10, Cook 10, Marsh 8, Jones 7, Hickey 9, Tramp 10, Kelsey 4.

EVENT No. 39.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance: Wilson 10, Cook 8, Lewis 8, Jones 9, Bingham 10, Heilman 7, Marsh 5, Famulener 8.

EVENT No. 40.—15 taigets, $2 entrance: Cook 15, Lewis 8, Wilson 12, Bingham 15, Heilman 14

EVENT No. 41.—5 pairs, $1.25 entrance: Cook 8, Lewis 7, Bingham 9, Heilman 5, Wilson 7, Hickey 8, Moffatt 5, Kelsey 3.

EVENT No. 42.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Heilman 7, Wilson 10, Jones 10, Lewis 9, Cook 9, Bingham 9, Samuelson 5, Hickey 8.

EVENT No. 43.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Wilson 6, Jones 10, Cook 8, Lewis 7, Bingham 8, Marsh 3, Famulener 5, Hickey 6, Tramp 7, Kelsey 8.

EVENT No. 44.—10 targets, $1.25 entrance, unknown traps and unknown angles: Bingham 8, Cook 9, Lewis 5, Wilson 5, Jones 9, Tramp 9, Hickey 7, Harrington 2, Famulener 3, Henry 5

EXTRA No. 2.—Match betweeu Captain Bogardus and Tramp Irwin, 50 live birds, 15 yards rise, one barrel, Bogardus rules.

Tramp .....1110111111 1011110101 1111111111 1111011101 1111111111—44
Bogardus ....0110111110 1111110111 1011011110 1111111111 1111000111—41

EVENT No. 45.—10 targets, $1 entrancc: Wilsou 8, Jones 9, Davis 2, Lewis 7, Cook 8, Marsh 7, Baker 5, Rike 9, Sharp 6, Famulener 8, Moffatt 8, Hickey 9.

EVENT No. 46.—10 targets, $1 entrauce: Lewis 8, Brechwald 7, Jones 9, Wilson 8, Cook 6, Harrington 3, Baker 9. Famulener 7, Rike 10, Sharp 7, Davis 1, Hickey 7.

EVENT No 47.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Lewis 8, Wilson 9, Cook 8, Brechwald 9, Marsh 5, Jones 9, Baker 8, Rike 9, Sharp 10, Harrington 5, Henry 9, Hickey 10.

EVENT No. 48.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance.

Wilson.....1111111111111—15	Hickey.... .....1111111111110—14
Cook.....1111111111111—15	Rike.... . ... 1110111111111—14
Lewis .....1100111111011111—12	Harrington.... 1010111001000001— 7
Brechwald.....1111001111111—13	Gardt.....0010100000010100— 4
Baker.....0110101110010111— 9	Kelsey.... ... 1011101111111110—12
Sharp .....1111101111111110—13

EVENT No. 49.—5 pairs, $1 entrance: Henry 5, Brechwald 5, Sharp 7, Famulener 9, Baker 6, Hickey 5, Cook 8, Lewis 6, Rike 10, Kelsey 2.

EVENT No. 50.—Team shoot, 10 targets, $1 entran e.

Team No. 1.—Sharp 8, Famulener 7, Baker 7, Marsh 8, Harrington 5, Moffatt 7. Total 42.

Team No. 2.—Hickey 5, Day 9, Wood 2, Henry 9, Gardt 4, Harries 4. Total 33.

EVENT No. 51.—10 targets, 3-man team shoot, $1 entrance:

Team No. 1.—Sharp 8, Baker 8, Day 10. Total 26.

Team No. 2 —Hickey 7, Marsh 3, Famulener 9. Total 19.

EVENT No. 52 —12 targets, $1 entrance: Hickey 9, Sharp 8, Baker 9, Marsh 6, Moffatt 7, Day 9, Famulener 9.

EVENT No. 53 —10 targets, $1 entrance: Marsh 6, Dr. Aldrich 6, Hickey 7, Gardt 4, Lounsbury 2, Harrington 8, Ferris 4, Harries 6, Miller 7, Rike 10, Stilson 5, Tryon 5.

EVENT No. 54.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Hodge 5. Marsh 7, Brechwald 6, Lounsbury 2, Stilson 4, Harrington 6, Hickey 7, Miller 10, Dr. Aldrich 7, Harries 6, Tryau 6, Gardt 4, Rike 10, Kelsey 5, Clute 6, Heikes 7.

EVENT No. 55 —10 targets, $1 entrance: Stilson 5, Gardt 9, Hickey 5. Harrington 3, Brechwald 6. Harries 4, Tryon 4, Rike 9, Miller 8, Hodge 6, Dr. Aldrich 3, Lounsbury 4.

EVENT No. 56.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Marsh 4, Brechwald 7, Gardt 4, Harries 5, Stilson 8, Hickey 7, Clute 7, Tryou 6, Harrington 3, Miller 6, Lounsbury 4, Bigelow 2, Rike 9, Heikes 8.

EVENT No. 57.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Stilson 7, Brechwald 6, Harries 7, Hodge 9, Gardt 4, Tryon 6, Lounsbury 6, Hickey 7, Rike 10.

EVENT No. 58.—10 targets, $1 entrauce: Brechwald 7, Hodge 6, Harries 8, Lounsbury 6, Henry 7, Gardt 3.

EVENT No. 59.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Hodge 5, Gardt 3, Henry 6.

A. B. C.

THE BALTIMORE SHOOTING ASSOCIATION

BALTIMORE, MD.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Baltimore Shooting Association, a new organization, though one already having an active membership of over eighty, opened its shooting grounds on Saturday, May 18, under very auspicious circumstances and with about fifty shooters in attendance.

The association's grounds are conveniently and accessibly located on the Pimlico Drive, just outside the corporate limits of the city, on a beautiful, elevated plateau; electric cars pass within a stone's throw of the grounds, and it would appear that nature, hand in hand with the ingenuity of man, had exerted herself to present the sport to its Baltimore votaries in its most seductive garb.

A handsome two-story club house has been erected, provided with gun racks, lockers and all the other paraphernalia necessary to the comfort convenience and pleasure of the members. Large and commodious piazzas grace the front of the club house, where, reclining in comfortable ease, the members may watch the work of the men at the traps, discuss their various shooting qualities, tell how they would have caught that left-quarterer which had just managed to elude the aim of the shooter, and at the same time explaining how it was simply one of those unaccountable freaks of nature that in the 15-bird event in which they had just shot there were eight "lost birds" called out, and in fine performing with their "air guns" some of those marvelous feats which the best of shooters find it impossible to measure up to when before the traps.

The club house faces the east and is situated at the southern, or lower, portion of the grounds. To the left of the club house, and connected with it by a board walk, is the shooters' platform, sixty-five feet long by ten feet wide. In front of this platform, and at a distance of 16 yards, is located the screen covering five traps. While this screen may not be termed exactly a work of art, it certainly shows the hand of an expert. On the side next to the shooters' platform it is two and one-half feet high, sloping up to a height of three feet on the farther side. It is roofed over, handsomely painted, and has large, plain numbers designating the position of each trap. Within this screen is a trench, three feet in depth and three feet in width, in which stand the trappers. Directly in the rear of each trap is an electric button connecting with a large electric bell located exactly in the center of the screen. When a trap happens to throw a bird at a wrong angle, or breaks a bird, there is no calling back and forth between referee and trapper to find out if the trap is ready. The shooter stands in his position and as soon as the trap is ready the trapper touches the electric button behind him, ringing the bell, which notifies the shooter that he can say "pull," and the bird will be on the wing. The screen is provided with doors and locks and within it there is room for a carload of targets.

To the left of the shooters' platform is situated the cashier's office, and adjoining the office, in full view of the shooters' platform, is the blackboard upon which all scores are kept. Connected with and running out from the shooters' platform are small platforms, equidistant apart, running to the 12-yard mark for the handicap men. Directly in front of the club house and connected therewith by a board walk, are the live bird traps.

The shooting background is clear sky. This is very desirable for the men who can point a gun straight, but a terrible handicap to those who do most of their killing while sitting on the piazza talking reminiscently with their friends. If you have a partly wooded background or a background of water, upon which the sun can play occasionally, dazzling the eyes once in a while, the fellow who does not shoot so well with his gun as with his mouth can manufacture a seemingly valid excuse for his poor score, but with the blue vault of heaven as a background, against which the bird stands out in clear and distinct silhouette, he has no alternative but to refrain from shooting or "come down."

A very noticeable feature of the opening day's shoot was the absence of all noise other than the report of the guns, with the exception, of course, of once in a while an expression of disgust from a shooter who had "led a little too far" and had not even "dusted" his bird. Instead of the usual cry from the referee of "dead bird" or "lost bird," there was brought into requisition a product of the ingenuity of Mr. H. A. Penrose, president of the association, in the shape of a horn and bell. When the bird was "dead," there was a squawk of the horn; when "lost," a ring of the bell. This method, in addition to facilitating accuracy upon the part of the scorers, also inures to the benefit of the shooter, for the reason that if the bird is not stone dead from the load, it is very liable to finish the job instanter, of its own volition, when it hears this horn. The sound produced is a cross between the "honk, honk" of a wild goose and the braying of a wind-broken mule. Nevertheless, the scorer is never at a loss as to whether or not it is a "lost" or "dead" bird, and the rapidity with which events are run off under this system precludes the possibility of a return to the old methods.

The officers of the association for the current year are as follows: President, Mr. H. A. Penrose; vice-president, Mr. John Willlar; secretary, Dr. S. J. Fort; treasurer, Mr. Jas. R. Malone. The ground officials are: General manager, Mr. H. A. Penrose; assistant general manager, Mr. Bert Claridge; captain, Mr. Jas. R. Malone; assistant captain, Mr. Wm. A. Field.

Mr. Penrose was in charge on the opening day and had everything on the move in his usual aggressive and business-like manner. The shooting began about 3 o'clock. There were two events shot off, one of 10 birds and one of 15 birds, prior to the regular club event of 25 birds. There were twenty-nine entries in the club shoot. This event is to be shot every Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, during the season, twelve scores being necessary for an average. Below are appended the scores of the men, together with their respective distance handicaps. After the club shoot there were several other events shot off; in all about 2,200 targets were used during the afternoon.

The occasion was a very enjoyable one in every respect. Among the members of the association are numbered not only our best shots in Baltimore and vicinity, but our best citizens as well. I do not mean to intimate that all of our good citizens are good shots, as I do not believe I could break more than a possible 12 out of 25 if I should shoot, but all of our good shots as well as those not so good are first-class citizens and ardent lovers of the gun. Applications for membership are coming in rapidly and we anticipate having an association in the near future that will be second to none in the country. Scores:

EVENT No. 1.—10 single targets: Brown 10, Hall 9, Thomas 8, Hartner 10, Claridge 8, White 9, Evans 8, Coe 7, Hawktns 7, Woodward 8, Lupus 6, Tracey 4, Jack 9, Thomas 4, Malone 8, Storr 6, Field 6, Vance 6.

EVENT No. 2.—15 singles: Brown 10, Hall 12, Thomas 12, Hartner 13, Claridge 14, White 12. Cox 10, Lupus 13, Hawkins 13, Evans 11, Field 9, Stewart 13, Coe 14, torr 10, Woodward 8, Vance 13, Thomas 5, Jack 14, Thomas 7, Jackson 7, Williams 12, Hawktns 11, Parker 11, Hamilton 10.

EVENT No. 3.—Club shoot, 25 targets per man.

12 YARD MEN

Thomas	1111111111 0011111101 11111—22
L. D. Thomas	1101111110 0110111111 01111—20
Harrison	1111110001 1101101110 10011—17
Goldsboro	1111101110 1111110111 00111—20
Evans	0111011111 1011101111 11111—21
Field	0011111110 1110101110 10101—17
Parker	0110010101 1111110111 01111—18
Henry	0110100001 0110101000 11100—11
Herbert	1111111101 0110011011 10010—17
Baker	1001000100 1111101000 10100—11
Woodward	1011111100 1011111110 11011—19

14-YARD MEN

Vance	0111101111 1011011111 11111—21
Williams	0111111111 1111111111 11111—21
Zollinger	1111111111 1110111100 01110—20
Dr. Brown	1111111111 1111111111 11110—24
Hamilton	0101101101 1111011111 11111—20
Antique	0111111111 1111111111 11111—24
White	1111111011 1111111111 11111—24

16-YARD MEN

Lupus	0110111101 1110101110 10110—17
Hawkins	1100100111 0011111111 11110—18
Hall	1111110001 1111111111 11111—22
Hartner	1111011110 1111111101 11111—22
Claridge	1111111111 1101111111 11111—24
Storr	1011110111 1110111111 10111—22
Malone	1101111111 1111111111 01111—23
Bird	1011111111 1111101101 11111—22
Coe	1010011110 1111001101 11001—16
Stewart	1110101011 0111001010 00111—15
Ed. Coe	1101111110 0101111011 11111—20

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles: Brown 13, Hall 13, Zollinger 10, Malone 14, Thomas 8, Lupus 11, Williams 15, White 13, Hamilton 13, Thomas 8, Tracey 11, Hawkins 14, Vance 11, Claridge 15, Jack 8, Storr 13, Thomas 8, Hall 15.

EVENT No. 5.—10 singles: Vance 8, White 9, Lupus 7, Williams 5, Thomas 8, Bird 9, Henry 5, Parker 4, Hubert 2, Hawkins 8, Storr 9, Law 7.

EVENT No. 6.—Same as preceding: Parker 9, Jones 6, Stewart 7, Hawkins 10, Thomas 5, Antique 10, Evans 5, Bird 7, Thomas 7, F. Thomas 7, Vance 8, Baker 4, R. Coe 7, E. Coe 6, Parker 8, Henry 3, James 4, Woodward 6, Jones 8, Law 9, Antique 6, Parker 8, Thomas 8, Woodward 7.

EVENT No. 7.—25 singles, reverse traps, semi-professional: White 10, Williams 14, Malone 18, Claridge 19, Hall 19, Bird 16.

EVENT No. 8.—10 singles: Goldsboro 8, Harrison 5, Thomas 8, Bird 0, Hall 9, Baker 2.

STANLEY.

TRAP AT MONTGOMERY

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Montgomery Shooting Club held its twenty-third annual barbecue and shoot at the club's grounds at Jackson's Lake, on May 8, when the following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Jno. H. Clisby; vice-president, J. C. O'Connell; secretary and treasurer, W. E. Ledyard; directors, F. B. Fisk, M. P. Le Grand and W. R. Taylor.

The attendance was good, though not as large as we have had, as we sometimes have as many as seventy entries. Four events were shot, the greatest interest centering in the medal contest. All the shooting on this occasion was at live birds, consequently fewer events were run off than would have been had we been shooting at targets. The scores:

EVENT No. 1.—Medal contest, 7 live birds per man, $3.50 entrance, three moneys; American Shooting Association rules to govern.

E. S. Armistead	0100101—2	Ed Smith	0110100—3
Henry Barnes	1011111—6	H. D. Long	1111000—1
Taylor Roberts	1111110—6	Ed Holt	1101111—6
Bob Jones	0111110—5	C. P. Anderson	1011010—1
Tom Westcott	0111111—6	R. A. Fitzpatrick	0111000—3
S. L. Tyson	1001100—3	Dr. Cook	1011010—4
W. T. Robertson	1110101—4	McD. Cain	1000100—2
W. J. Booth	0010000—1	J. T. Stuart	1011110—5
S. T. Westcott	1110100—3	Dan Frazer	1111101—6
Jas Andrews	1101100—4	Judge McClelland	0001000—1
Lee Rogers	0110100—3	J. P. O'Connor	1011111—6
J. H. Clisby	0111111—6	W. A. Ledyard	1111001—5
J. C. Virden	1001001—3	F. B. Fisk	0101010—3
Jno. Crommelin Jr.	0111101—5

Ties for the diamond medal and first money shot off at 3 birds per man, and Messrs. Barnes, Roberts, Westcott and Holt, each killing all three of his tie birds, divided the money and Mr. Barnes won the medal. The ties for second and third moneys also shot off, Mr. Jones winning second money on his sixth tie bird, and Messrs. Robertson, Westcott and Long divided third. Judge McClellan won the leather medal.

EVENT No. 2.—5 live birds, $2 50 entrance, three moneys: Robertson 2, Clisby 4, Jones 1, Roberts 5, Cook 3, Fisk 5, S. T. Westcott 3, Barnes 4, Smith 3, Booth 3, Armistead 5, Long 4, Rodgers 5, Le Grand 1, Stuart 4, Fitzpatrick 3, Holt 2, Birch 2, Andrews 3, Frazer 5, Tyson 3 O'Connell 4, Hart 4, Tom Westcott 4, Crommelin 3, Virden 4, Williamson 2. Ties for first money divided; ties for second shot off, Long and Stuart dividing. Third money was won in the shoot off by S. T. Westcott.

EVENT No. 3.—Same as preceding:

Crommelin	00000—0	Oliver	10001—2
Frazer	01110—3	Roberts	11111—5
Cook	11111—5	Armistead	01011—3
Shaeffer	00111—3	S. T. Westcott	11111—5
Fisk	11001—3	Birch	00000—0
Stuart	01110—3	Tom Westcott	11101—3
Robertson	10101—3	Booth	10000—1
		Smith	10110—3
		Barnes	11111—5
		Holt	11110—4
		Rodgers	01111—4
		Anderson	01011—3

Ties for first money divided; ties for second and third shot off, Holt winning second and Frazer third money.

EVENT No. 4.—Another of the same kind: Tom Westcott 5, Holt 5, Stuart 4, Roberts 5, Cook 2, Anderson 1, S. T. Westcott 4, Armistead 3, Barnes 5, Robertson 4, Frazer 4, Booth 0, Smith 5, Fisk 4, Rodgers 3, W. R. Taylor 3, Wilcox 3, Barnett 2. All ties shot off, Barnes and Smith dividing first, Westcott and Robertson second, and Armistead and Rodgers third.

W. E. LEDYARD, Secy.

FOREST GUN CLUB VS. WILMINGTON ROD AND GUN CLUB

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—On Saturday, May 18, the Wilmington (Del.) Rod and Gun Club shot a friendly match with the Forest Gun Club on the grounds of the latter at 27th Street and Lehigh Avenue, in this city.

The shoot was at 25 targets each man, known traps, known angles, rapid fire, fourteen men to each team. The Forest Gun Club's team won the race by 24 points. Scores 242 to 218.

This is the first of a series of three matches, and on Saturday, June 8, the Forest club's team will go to Wilmington to shoot the return match. The scores of the first match are appended

FOREST GUN CLUB'S TEAM

Fabiger	1111110101 0100111101 00011	—16
McDaniel	1101111011 1111001110 01110	—18
Beuder	1011111111 0011110101 01101	—19
Woolcott	1100011001 0111111111 01000	—15
Van Nort	0110101000 1101011101 00111	—14
Hancock	1010010101 0010001100 00000	— 8
Irvin	0110101111 1111010011 10110	—17
Landis	0111111011 1111110101 11111	—21
Buckwalter	1111110111 1011101111 11111	—22
Bancroft	1111111011 1011111111 11101	—22
Thurman	1111111101 1001111011 01111	—20
Morison	0110110111 1011100111 11111	—19
Hathersall	0110101110 0110011001 00001	—14
Whitcomb	0111101101 1111011001 00111	—17—212

WILMINGTON ROD AND GUN CLUB'S TEAM

Clark	0000001011 0011100101 00001	— 9
Creedon	1111010011 1101101010 10011	—16
Bilderback	0001010110 1010001110 11100	—14
Burroughs	1111011011 1111101111 10110	—20
Williamson	0000010000 1100000010 00001	— 5
Grubb	1111100010 0110011001 01101	—14
Gaughen	1011111101 1111101111 01110	—20
Hartlove	0111001101 1011011101 11010	—16
F. Henry	0101100101 1111111100 10000	—13
Cleaver	1110111111 1110101111 11111	—22
Evans	0111110011 0101111111 10111	—19
Felis	1011001010 1111111111 11111	—20
Marshall	1011111111 1111011101 11110	—20
Jersey	1000010001 1010010100 11001	—10—213

WM. MORISON,
Secretary Forest Gun Club.

MACALESTER AND WELCH WIN

The great two-man team race between Macalester and Welch of Philadelphia and Work and Knapp of New York, which was shot on the Rivertou Gun Club grounds on May 25, was won by the Philadelphians by a score of 175 to 168. The conditions of the match were 100 live birds per man, 30 yards rise, 50 yards boundary, for $200 a side. The day was reasonably good for trap shooting. The birds were a fair lot for this season of the year, but so mixed in quality that it made the shooting quite difficult. Many of them were incomers to the right or left while others were slow to start and difficult to judge as to speed. A big crowd witnessed the race and at times excitement ran high among the spectators, many of whom were especial friends of the participants while others knew them only by their reputation as trap shots. Macalester made the largest score, Work next, Welch third, while Mr. Knapp, who can usually be looked to for fine work, did the poorest shooting of them all. Scores.

C. Macalester	2002112222 1121122222 2212021111 1112221100 2211121222
	2022221212 2212222221 2020122121 2221102202 2220221222	—89
R. Welch	2022120221 1220121220 1122222222 2221210222 0212212222
	2020220122 1022222210 2222220222 2221222222 2222220012	—86
Team total		—175
Geo. Work	2202222101 2202022200 2022222222 2222222222 1221212211
	2222220212 2222221222 2020222222 2021202121 2212212112	—87
J. Knapp	2220221222 2202221020 2202222222 2222020120 2212220202
	2220221222 2022220202 2222202222 2202022222 1222222002	—81
Team total		—168

BRADEN VS. CANON

HARRISBURG, PA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The shooting contest between W. S. Canon of Newark, N. J., and D. C. Braden of Beaver Falls, Pa., at Hummelstown, Pa., on May 23, under the auspices of the Fulford Gun Club, attracted a large crowd. Special significance was attached to the match, as both gentlemen are one-armed shooters, Canon being minus his left and Braden his right arm. The match was for $250 a side, 50 live birds each, American Shooting Association rules.

The birds were a very indifferent lot, a great many refusing to fly when the traps were sprung, while others were holy terrors. The match was refereed by Harry A. Dill of the Harrisburg Gun Club, and J. J. Boltou's Irish setter Shot retrieved the birds in fine style. Both men were dissatisfied with their scores, each [illegible] that he is capable of doing much better work.

Mr. Canou asked for another match for $500 a [illegible] Mr. Braden replied that he would be accommodated [illegible] would come to Beaver Falls. Following are the [illegible]

Braden.....1020101111 0012001020 1001001221 01[illegible]
Canon.....2002210100 2220120012 1022020222 0[illegible]

Mr. Braden used an L. C. Smith 12 gauge [illegible] grains Walsrode powder, 1¼ ounces No. 7 chi[illegible] shells.

Mr. Canon shot a Francotte 12-gauge hamm[illegible] grains [illegible] C. powder, 1¼ ounces No. 7 chilled shot in U. M. C. Trap shells.

C.

BOILING SPRINGS GUN CLUB WINS THE TROPHY

RUTHERFORD, N. J.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed please find the scores made in the recent contest for the state team trophy, the conditions being five men to a team, 30 singles and 10 pairs of targets per man. The Boiling Springs team won by 4 birds.

Union Gun Club—Sickley 39, Seigler 37, Williams 35, Quimby 40, Jackson 31. Total 182.

Climax Gun Club—Dutchy 39, Brantingham 37, Ivins 35, Money 39, Terry 28. Total 178.

Endeavor Gun Club—Lindsley 25, Creveling 39, Duston 28, Heritage 31, Percy 23. Total 146.

Boiling Springs Gun Club—Hall 38, Simpson 36, Richmond 40, Collins 41, Huck 31. Total 186.

WM. H. HUCK.

PRINCETON VS. HARVARD

The intercollegiate team contest recently between teams from the Princeton and Harvard gun clubs for the championship cup—the Yale team, for some reason, declining to participate unless the contest was postponed until a later date—was won by the first-named club. Each team was composed of five men and each man shot at 30 single targets. The work of neither team was particularly good, Dove, of the Harvard team, with a score of 25, being high man. The scores made were as follows:

Princeton Team—Cresson 18, Paine 21, Farr 20, Wadhams 19, Lewis 22. Team total 100.

Harvard Team—Lawton 18, Du Pont 15, Dove 25, Sargent 20, Sterling 13. Team total 91.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Inclosed please find our most recent scores. The members are extremely regular in their attendance, and the scores continue to improve. We probably have shoots as often as any gun club in the country, regular prize shoots being scheduled for each Wednesday and Sunday, the attendance fully justifying same. It may appear strange, but in this section Sunday is our most popular day, both for trap shooting and all other outdoor sports. In the first shoot Mr. P. N. Nott won first, score 24; second and third were divided by Messrs. Jung, Benedict and Macmurdo on 23. In the second shoot there were three ties for first and second moneys, all 23. The tie was shot off under our rules, to determine heat for trophy, and resulted as shown in Mr. Saucier winning the heat with a creditable score. Scores:

SHOOT No. 1.—25 single targets per man, dead bird handicap added, high guns to win, three moneys.

	Targets added
Nap	0..0111011110 1110111101 11111	—20
Kaufman	0..1011111111 1111101111 01110	—21
Jefferson	1..0010111101 1111101101 10111	—19
Jung	1. 1001111111 1111111111 01111	—23
Thornhill	1..1111011010 1101111111 10111	—21
More	3..1011111001 1011110011 11011	—21
W. F. Miller	3..1100111110 1011000011 10111	—19
Benedict	3..1111111111 1101111100 11010	—23
Macmurdo	4..0101111111 0011111110 10111	—23
Faure	5..1110011010 1011100110 11110	—21
E. P. Cousin	8..1111001001 1110011100 01000	—21
P. N. Nott	4..0011101111 1011110111 11110	—24

SHOOT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Kaufman 21, Nap 19, Jung (1 added) 20, P. N. Nott (4 added) 22, Faure (5 added) 23, Edg. Nott (2 added) 19, J. De Blanc (3 added) 23, G. Miller (8 added) 22, Saucier (4 added) 23.

Tie shot off as follows, 25 birds per man: Faure (5 added) 24, De Blanc (3 added) 24, Saucier (4 added) 25.

PERCY S. BENEDICT, Secy.

ALBERT LEA, MINN.—Members of the Albert Lea Gun Club had a very pleasant shoot on May 16, though owing to the rain not many out-of-town shooters were present. The scores made were as follows:

SHOOT No. 1.—10 single targets per man: Howard 10, Voigt 9, Swenson 4, Emery 10, Chamberlain 8, Skinner 9, Pfeffer 7, True 8, Fay 7, Selbig 9, Kahler 4, Morgan 6.

SHOOT No. 2.—12 singles per man: Howard 11, Voigt 10, Morgan 8, Joslin 7, Selbeig 11, Skinner 10, True 5, Swenson 8, Emery 6, Pfeffer 9, Chamberlain 10, Peabody 7.

SHOOT No. 3.—15 slugles per man.

Howard	111011111111111—14	Naldon	110110010100011—8
Voigt	101001101110100 -8	True	111111111011110-13
Joslin	101011101001101—9	Stenerson	111111011101010-11
Swenson	111111111111101—14	Kahler	111101111100011-11
Pfeffer	110010111011011—10	Emery	101001101110100—8
Skinner	011011110111011—11	Selbeig	111111101111100-12
Chamberlain	010111010100010—8	Fay	111010010110100—8
Morgan	101111110100101-10

SHOOT No. 4.—10 singles, unknown angles: Selbeig 6, Joslin 8, Emery 7, Howard 8, Swenson 8 Voigt 5, Skinner 3, True 9.

SHOOT No 5.—12 singles: Emery 10, Selbeig 8, Howard 8, Pfeffer 6, Fay 5, Chamberlain 9, Skinner 8, True 11, Swenson 6.

SHOOT No. 6.—10 single targets per man: Howard 9, Emery 9, Voigt 3, Selbeig 8, Pfeiffer 5, Skinner 7, Swenson 10, Fay 8, True 8, Joslin 7.

SHOOT No. 7.—12 singles: Howard 12, Emery 8, Joslin 4, Swensou 10, Voigt 9, Skinner 11, Selbeig 8, True 11.

SHOOT No. 8.—15 singles: Howard 14, Emery 12, True 15, Swenson 11, Voigt 12, Skinner 12, Selbeig 14, Fay 12, Campbell 9, Gates 11, Morgan 11.

SHOOT No. 9.—6 singles and 3 pairs: Howard 9, Emery 9, True 8, Swenson 9, Selbeig 9, Morgan 7, Gates 5.

SHOOT No. 10.—15 singles: Howard 15, Emery 16, Selbeig 11, Morgan 10, Voigt 11, Campbell 12, Skinner 12, Gates 10, True 11, Swensou 13.

J. D. HOWARD.

NEWARK, N. J.—Inclosed please find scores made recently by members of the Walsrode Gun Club in nine 10-bird sweeps, one 15-bird sweep and two sweeps of 5 pairs each.

Ludecke	10	8	8	10	9	8	6	7	9	12	..	..
Hilfers	7	5	8	8	6	7	..	..	..	..	..	..
Perment	9	6	8	7	6	10	7	8	9	12	7	8
Huff	5	5	6	5	7	7	7	8	5	..	..	..
Leuthaeuser	8	9	10	8	8	3	7	6	6	11	9	1
Winters	7	5	7	7	6	8	7	8	6	9	4	3
Reiboldt		5	7	5	7	3	7	4	9	13	6	3
Patschek					4	2	4	4	..	..	..
Schork					5	5	6	..	..	..	..	..
Neigert						7	6	4	8	13	..	..
Baar					10	9	8	10	14	10	9
Schaefer									10	8	5
Hassluger									8	9	5
Fareley									7	..	..
Reinhardt									7	..	..
Alexander									10	..	..
Fraenzel									3	..	..

The club shoots hereafter will be held on the first Wednesday and third Saturday of each month, but there will be sweepstake shooting every Saturday afternoon. Mr. Schrafft, a member who has not attended any of our shoots for a long time, will now be a regular attendant and try and make up for lost time.

ENGLISH SNIPE.

SAGINAW, MICH.—I inclose herewith scores made by members of the West Side Gun Club on May 19. As our club shoots only twice a month the scores are not what they would be if we were shooting every week, like most clubs. Each man [illegible] inanimate targets.

A. H. Delonjay	1111111111 1111[illegible]
J. M. Brechtelsbauer	1111111111 1111[illegible]
Geo. Wirth	1110101001 1111111111 1[illegible]
Ed. Carpenter	1111011110 1111111111 1[illegible]
F. Bastian	1011011011 1111[illegible]

J. Hermann.....1011111111 1110111111 11011—22
J. Wilmore.....1101111111 0111010111 11111—21
C. Schoeneberg.....1011111111 1111111111 11101—23
B. Bem.....1101111111 0100101011 01100—16
.....0111110101 1011110001 00101—15
.....1101001001 0110111010 10111—15
.....1001101100 0110100011 01010—12
.....1110010010 1011011000 00100—11
.....0110110110 1000010100 10010—11

[illegible] and Schoeneberg tied on 23 each. They [illegible] man, Deloujay making a clean score [illegible].

J. M. BRECHTELSBAUER.

HINGHAM, MASS.—Members of the Hingham Gun Club in a recent shoot for club medals, each man shooting at 40 singles, unknown angles and 5 pairs of targets, made the following scores:

CLASS A

Allison.....1111111011 1111110110 1111101110 1111101011 11 10 10 10 10—39
Breen.....0110001111 1000111111 0000000110 1111111010 01 00 10 10 00—26
Howe.....0011111001 1011111101 1101110011 001 111110 11 10 10 11 01—35
Henderson.....1111111011 1111111111 1011111111 1111111101 10 10 11 10 10—43

CLASS B

Spalding.....1011000000 1011100011 0110001100 0001110010 01 00 00 00 00—18
Higgins.....0010111110 0111011111 1011110101 0111100001 10 01 11 00 10—31
Lincoln.....0100111110 0001111101 0010011101 0110110001 10 10 01 00 10—26

Henderson won Class A medal; Higgins won Class B medal.

H.

HELENA, MONT.—I inclose herewith scores made by members of the Helena Rod and Gun Club at a recent club shoot, each man shooting at 25 single targets:

Crouln.....1111011111 1011111111 11100—21
Bryan.....0010311111 1111110111 11001—18
Bickett.....1111111111 1011111100 11110—21
Haag.....1011110111 1101110110 01010—17
Bellmaine.....1011111101 1011111111 11011—21
Fashbaugh.....1110101100 0011001101 11010—14
O'Connor.....1010010111 1010000100 00000— 9
Norris.....0100011110 1101011011 10101—15
Farmer.....1101111111 1111111111 11111—24
Hewes.....1110101110 0110111011 11111—19
Ellis.....0011011110 0001001101 10100—12
Kennett.....1111001111 1011000001 01101—15
Manuel.....1111111111 0111111111 11101—23
Yaeger.....1111 110110 0010001001 01111—15

Farmer won Class A medal; Bryan won Class B medal.

J. H. FARMER, Secy.

HASTINGS, NEB.—Members of the Hastings Gun Club in their trophy shoot, on May 17, each man shooting at 30 targets, with an added handicap, made the following scores:

	Targets added
Kinney	5	1101011111 1111000011	0110011111—26
Fleming	1	0111111100 1111111001	1111111111—26
Lawson	5	1110111111 0010100111	0101101111—26
Pratt	9	0110010110 1100111000	1010111011—26
Bernhard	6	0100011010 1001101111	1011111101—25
McKinney	9	0110111011 1110100111	1111000011—29
Brown	3	1011111110 0000001110	1010111001—20
Hayden	3	1111111111 1011001111	1100101111—27

SECRETARY.

Answers to Correspondents

We are willing always to answer any question that we can answer, and prescribe for dogs or other animals in these columns, but we can not answer questions or prescribe by mail. In all instances where it is necessary that a sick animal should be prescribed for by mail, we refer the owner to Professor R. J. Withers, No. 627 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Cal., to whom one dollar must be inclosed to pay for his services.

KENNEL

C. A. S., Toronto.—Ans.—(1) The minutes of the annual meeting of the St. Bernard Club, published in the AMERICAN FIELD of March 2, do not show that a secretary was elected. (2) The secretary of the Great Dane Club is Mr. Clifford Wood, 59 Wall Street, New York. (3) Mr. H. W. Huntington is temporary secretary of the National Greyhound Club; his address is 148 South Eighth Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. (4) The Bloodhound Club's secretary is Mr. C. H. Innes, 23 Court Street, Boston. (5) Mr. W. D. Brereton, 66 Third Ave., Pittsburg, Pa., is secretary of the recently organized Bull Terrier Club. (6) The Pet Dog Club has not shown any signs of life lately. Miss Marian E. Bannister, Springfield, N. J., was secretary, and may be still. (7) The Fox Terrier Club's annual meeting was announced for the Boston show week, but we have never heard of it being held. Mr. H. W. Smith, Worcester, Mass., is still secretary, we presume. (8) Mr. Wilson Fiske is secretary of the English Setter Club; we believe his address is still 102 Chambers Street, New York. (9) Mr. Geo. H. Thomson (West Park Station, Philadelphia) is secretary of the Irish Setter Club.

J. L. B., No. Manchester, Ind.—Ans.—(1) Feruwood Cleopatra (14199) is by Knight out of Ursula III. Knight (9748), by Tell (4423) out of Mona (4436). Ursula III (11947), by Champion Valentine out of Convent, by Bayard (Bosco—Juno) out of Monica (no ped. given); Valentine, by Bayard (Bosco—Juno) out of Vesta (Oscar—Lottie). (2) Prince Malo (33216) is by Folko out of Queen; Folko, by Rollo (Bruno—Silverhorn) out of Ouida (Barry—Blenda); Queen, by Le Roy (Chequasset—Tella) out of Neisse (Merchant Prince—Lys). (3) We cannot find Chequasset Prince in the stud book; and the number (16220) given by you is Chequasset Peer's. In the foregoing we have given the numbers of such dogs as appear in the stud book.

W. E. W., Lakewood, N. J.—Ans.—In 1891 Josie Bracket was V.H.C. at Chicago; in 1892 she won at Toronto and Omaha; in 1893 she won at New York and Detroit; last year she was in the challenge class, and got 2nd at New York, reserve at Detroit and 2nd at Chicago. Her record for the current year you are aware of.

G. M., Hackensack, N. J.—Ans.—(1) Modesty (4207), by Croxteth (2871) out of Trinket (3115). (2) Baug Bang (4022), by Price's Bang (Baog—Vesta) out of Princess Kate (Ponto—Sappho). (3) Clifford (7840), by Donald (2879) out of Devonshire Lass (Lord Dartmouth's Don—his Lady). (4) Tess E, not registered.

W. C. H., Saginaw, Mich.—Ans.—This is due to his not being in condition to work. For five consecutive days give one ounce of castor-oil and twenty drops of the fluid extract of cascara segrada; feed but once daily, then at night, and allow enough exercise to keep him in working condition.

G. E. S., Chillicothe, Mo.—Ans.—(1) Ned K (32717) is by Zip out of Flora, she by Snipe (Berkley—Lou II) out of Vic (Erin II—Fan II); Zip, by Moutclare (Snipe—Fan II) out of Lou III (8468). (2) Bessie S (31448) is by Red Duke (26711) out of Harte's Sally (29928).

F. W. C., Omaha.—Ans.—(1 and 2) We do not find either in the stud book. (3) You will find such information in "Modern Dogs," in three volumes. Vol. I treats on pointers and setters, and all other sporting breeds; price $6. We can furnish it.

F. W. G., Chicago.—Ans.—Pertha (29196) was whelped June 11, 1892, and was bred by Mr. John E. Thayer, Lancaster, Mass.; she is by Bran (6209) out of Scotch Mist, by Robber Chieftain (6218) out of Juno, by Bran out of Mercia.

POINTER, Reading, Pa.—Ans.—For six consecutive days apply the following, giving a bath on the seventh day: Oil of tar four ounces, sulphurous acid two ounces, fishoil to make one quart; repeat treatment if necessary.

DR. C. H. R., North Manchester, Ind.—Ans.—(1) We do not know of any such book. (2) Teach him in a common-sense way. You must not expect a St. Bernard to perform all manner of tricks.

O. B., Opelika, Ala.—Ans.—For six consecutive days give one ounce of castor-oil and thirty drops of the fluid extract of cascara segrada; feed but a limited amount once daily, then at night.

J. W., New York.—Ans.—The bull terrier bitch Little Maggie (9121) was imported from England; breeder, Mr. Hinks, of Birmingham. Her first win in this country was at Lowell in 1883.

J. O., Sioux City, Ia.—Ans.—He was imported in May, 1886, by the Graphic Kennels, Netherwood, N. J., but whether they still own him, or, indeed, whether he is living, we do not know.

W. A. H., Wichita, Kan.—Ans.—It would do if accompanied by the proper white blaze and collar and dark markings. The St. Bernard should not be whole-colored.

H. B. H., Bancroft, Mich.—Ans.—If you will repeat your query, stating which are dogs and which are bitches, we will endeavor to comply with your request.

E. B., Montgomery City, Mo.—Ans.—Cleanse the ears with warm water and apply the tincture of iodine.

T. N. G., Kansas City, Kan.—(1) Yes, Buck N (21044). (2) King Noble (4502). (3) Miss C (7240).

A. I., Tampa, Fla.—Ans.—Apply the iodine with a camel's hair brush internally and externally.

S. B. D., Bale Shed, Miss.—Ans.—For five consecutive days give suitable doses of castor-oil.

P. A. H., Chicago.—Ans.—Tumor; consult a veterinary surgeon.

COURSING

LEASH, St. Helena, Mont.—Ans.—(1) No, Yonder He Goes was not of the same litter as Lady Barton, Lady in Black and Lord Macpherson: in fact he was from a different dam, being by imp. Trailes—Arthur Massey's Gypsy, while the three others were by imp. Trales—imp. Dick's Darling. (2) Both Trales and Dick's Darling are dead. (3) We do not know what became of Arthur's Gypsy. (4) Mr. George Macdougall. (5) From D. C. Luse, who got the dog from Arthur Massey. (6) Do not be deceived by the fallacy that an imported greyhound must be a good one; and unless you are prepared to import a really good dog at a high price we should advise you to select from the best stock in this country. (7) We do not know of any imported greyhound for which a big figure was paid; in fact several of them cost absolutely nothing—they were given away by their English owners. (8) We do not recommend stud dogs.

READER, St. Louis.—Ans.—(1) Van's Peter and Van's Richard were half brothers, not brothers; the former was out of imp. Carmine and the latter out of imp. Verdure Clad, imp. Babazoun being the sire of both. (2) Dr. Q. Van Hummell. (3) Van's Peter won and Living Yet was the runner-up; Van's Richard was third.

X. Y. Z., East St. Louis, Ill.—Ans.—We do not know. You seem to be unduly exercised about the matter.

TRAP

MULT, Portland, Ore.—B shoots at a live bird with first barrel and scores a clean miss, and is prevented from using his second barrel by reason of some spectators being in on the boundary about five feet. Bird was a swift right-quartering incomer and referee was of the opinion that, had the second barrel been used, owing to the bird's nearness to the boundary when first barrel was fired had he killed it with second barrel he would have lost it dead out of bounds. Referee called "no bird" and instructed B to draw shot from shell in the first barrel and shoot both barrels at bird. B hit the bird with shot out of first barrel and killed it with load from second barrel in bounds. Referee called it a "lost bird." Was he right? Ans.—If the man intentionally did not comply with the instructions of the referee it was right that he should lose the bird, but if a pellet or two of shot stuck to the shell or wad and these were what wounded the bird as the first barrel was discharged, the man should have been required to still shoot at another bird with a blank in first barrel.

FISH

S. J. B., Albion, Ill.—I wish you would please give me the address of the state fish commissioner, as he is wanted here very badly. Some person or persons have built a dam across the Little Wabash River, and have set a fish trap there; and no fish have come up the river this Spring. Ans.—Address Col. George W. Langford, secretary Illinois State Fish Commission, Manito, Ill.

HUNTING

A. P., Montreal.—Ans.—A full account of the doings at Olympian Springs, Ky., where the National Fox-Hunters' Association's first meet was held last November, appeared in the AMERICAN FIELD of December 1; supplemented in the following issue by a list of visiting sportsmen.

G. W. G., Pratt City, Ala.—Ans.—Write to Mr. Granville Smitha, Winchester, Ky., who bred Logan, by Logan out of Star.

E. J. C., Decorah, Ia.—Ans.—Address Mr. H. L. Means, Box 477, Louisville, Ky.

GAME AND SHOOTING

M. C. B., Pittsburg, Pa.—Ans.—(1) Address the Secretary of State, Harrisburg, Pa. (2) There are no national laws, each state enacting its own.

Club Elections

CLUB ELECTIONS.—Secretaries and other officers of clubs not having previously done so will confer a favor by sending us the names of all such organizations, with a list of the officers elected for the current year.

AT the recent reorganization of the Boonesboro (Ia.) Gun Club the following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Wm. Morgan; secretary, Wm. Brunton; treasurer, O. J. Halliday; trustees, N. A. Ellis and D. M. Parks; committee on arrangements, Jas. Kiddie, J. W. Halliday, Ed. Galpin, the chairman of this committee to act as captain at all shoots.

AT the recent organization of the Ingram (Pa.) Gun Club, which has a membership of twenty, the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, James L. Cravens; vice president, J. A. Evans; secretary-treasurer, W. C. Wallace; captain W. A. Kimmell; directors, Jno. A. McCracken and Wm. S. Gilmore.

THE following gentlemen have been elected officers of the Wauzeka (Wis.) Gun Club for the ensuing year: President, M. Chapek; vice-president, W. A. Vaughan; secretary, W. H. Thomson; treasurer, Theo. M. Markle.

THE Kegonsa (Wis.) Gun Club, at a recent meeting, elected the following gentlemen as officers of the club for the ensuing year: President, F. A. Turner; secretary, O. O. Melaas; treasurer, H. A. Everest.

THE officers of the Cedar Island Gun Club of Babylon, L. I., for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Alexander Mackey; vice-president, Frank Fitzsimmons; treasurer, Jas. Briscoe; secretary, Frank Berry.

THE officers of the Iroquois Gun Club of Rensselaer, Ind., for the ensuing year are as follows: Captain, Ira Yeoman; secretary, Geo. Goff; treasurer, T. F. McCoy.

THE Paper City Gun Club of Holyoke, Mass., has organized for the season of 1895 with the following officers: President, John R Blanacy; treasurer, Fred Baker; secretary, David C. Downing.

Amusements

MCVICKER'S THEATER.—The new sensational drama, "The Cotton King," has proved a drawing card, and will be continued for another week, or perhaps longer. The great scene of the cotton mill running, in the third act, is one of the greatest mechanical effects ever staged; and Gus Reynolds' personation of the character of Shillinglaw is a finished bit of acting. Usual matinees.

COLUMBIA THEATER.—Last chances to see Miss Fanny Davenport in Sardou's great "Gismonda," with Melbourne McDowell and supported by a fine company. The season closes Friday night, May 31, and the Columbia will remain closed until June 2?, opening with Canary & Lederer's latest production, "The Mimic World."

HAYMARKET THEATER.—The closing week of the season and the prince of comedians, the incomparable Peter F. Dailey, will appear in the great comedy, "A Country Sport." Grand closing performance, with a big bill, Sunday night, June 2.

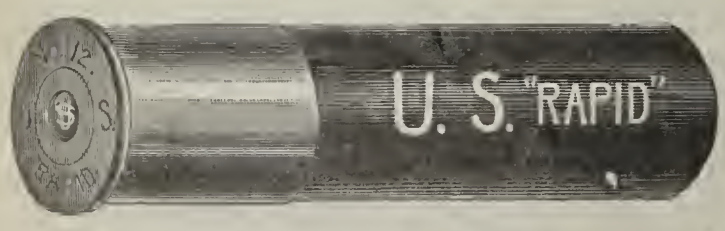
CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—Two hundred and fifty people in the production of the new version of "Aladdin Jr.," which is "better, brighter and more artistic than ever." Usual matinees.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Seventh week of Hoyt's mirth-producing farcical drama, "A Black Sheep;" Otis Harlan as "Hot Stuff;" second week of the Trilby dance.

THE LINCOLN.—Miss Effie Ellsler in "A Woman's Power," until Wednesday; "Hazel Kirke," for the three succeeding performances; "Doris," the rest of the week.

MADISON STREET OPERA HOUSE.—"Adam and Eve." Two big shows daily.

U. S. RAPID



SHOT SHELL

FOR NITRO POWDERS.

Penetration increased with pattern 15 per cent improved. Results same with every shell. None so regular ever produced before. Head of shell and battery cup one piece of metal. No gas escape, no balling of shot, no upsetting of charge.

AGENTS:
[illegible] York City.
San Francisco, Cal.

U. S. CARTRIDGE CO., Lowell, Mass.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Advertisers are respectfully requested to observe the following rules governing the insertion of advertisements in these columns:

CLASSIFICATION.—Strictly kennel advertisements—those which relate exclusively to dogs and to nothing else—cannot be placed under headings of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange," but are subject to classification only under their proper kennel headings. When two or more breeds of dogs are mentioned in one advertisement, it destroys the possibility of giving it a distinctive heading and it is therefore classified under "Miscellaneous." For this reason it is well to advertise each breed separately.

If stud notices are included in advertisements of dogs for sale the classification given will be "Miscellaneous." Stud notices should be separate and distinct from other advertisements so as not to conflict with proper classification.

The departments of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" are reserved for advertisements relating in some way to sportsmen's goods or other articles of merchandise.

RATES.—The rate for advertisements under 'Wanted," "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" is 3 cents per word each insertion. The name, address, initials and abbreviations are included and count as words.

The rate for advertisements under kennel headings is 25 cents per line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each additional consecutive insertion. Estimate seven words to a line unless the words are unusually long. If display type is used the rate is $3.50 per inch for the first insertion and $2.50 per inch for each additional consecutive insertion. Special rates are given for displayed advertisements running three months or longer. Schedule will be mailed on application.

Remittances to cover full cost should invariably accompany advertisements. If too much is remitted we will refund you what is overpaid.

Advertisers will favor us greatly by writing their advertisements plainly, using separate sheets of paper. Copy should reach us by Tuesday of each week to insure insertion in that week's issue.

WANTED

Advertisements under this head inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement. See "Notice to Advertisers."

WANTED—An English setter dog not over three years old, a first prize field trial winner, royally bred and a good looking individual. W. H. McQUOID, Middletown, N. Y. 22*

WANTED—Job by thoroughly competent man, to prepare puppies for the Fall shooting. PROFESSIONAL, care AMERICAN FIELD, New York office. 22

SKYE TERRIER, nearly one year old, don't care for breeding; want a dog for child. H. M. ORLADY, Durand, Wis. 22*

WANTED—A well bred, evenly marked orange and white pointer puppy, bitch preferred. DR. DANFORD, Trimble, O. 23*

WANTED—Live pigeons; must be old birds; squabs not wanted. Address JOHN WATSON, Grand Crossing, Ill. 23-21-tf

WANTED—Sportsmen who want an outing to send for pamphlet of Nimrod Hall, Va. Apply MANAGER. 3*

WANTED—A Chesapeake puppy from 6 to 9 months old. Address RUBE TAYLOR, Davenport, Ia. 22*

FOR CASH, coach dog puppy 8 months old; must be cheap. G. G. BRAGG, Huntsville, Mo. 22*

LIVE foxes wanted. Address H. F. WARNEKE, Aiken, S. C. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

SETTERS—Albert's Grouse, large handsome white dog with b., w. and t. head, yard broken, very wide ranger, by Albert's Beau, dam Albert's Ruby; $35. Ned Gladstone, 16 months, dark b., t. and ticked, a fast, stylish, small dog, Gladstone Druid—Ruby blood; $20. Albert's Bessie, 5 months, b. and w. ticked bitch by Albert's Beau, is fast, stylish and fit to exhibit; $15. Bob Antonio, 3 years, a whirlwind, stanch and retrieves; sire Ch. Antonio, dam Fanny San Roy, dam of Derby winner Bob; is valuable south or west, too fast for our shooting; $50, not half value; one or all for 16-gauge hammerless equal value; must go DR. HAIR, Bridgeport, Conn. 22*

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a pointer brood bitch, liver and white and ticked, cream of breeding and good enough to win; now in whelp to Ch. Pommery Sec. will sell or exchange for a 12-gauge hammerless or a high-class setter dog, black, white and tan, from 12 to 15 months old. WM. H. HYLAND, North Tarrytown, N. Y. 22

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a thoroughly trained Irish setter dog, nearly 4 years old, trained on ruffed grouse, quail and woodcock; a fine retriever, good nose, steady and fast; $65 cash, or a first-class bicycle or camera as part payment. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia, Pa. 22

FOR SALE—Fine Francotte trap gun, 12-gauge, 7-30-1¼-2⅞-14½, full choked, in perfect condition, almost new; cost $100, sell for $75 cash; also will trade fine road mare, well broken, kind and gentle, for high-grade hammerless gun. DR. T. S. MAXWELL, Columbus, Wis. 22

SALE OR EXCHANGE—Fine pointer bitch by Rip Rap Jr and two of her three-months-old puppies; also dog 1½ years old, all O. K; want pit games or light hammerless; photo and pedigree on application. W. H. FOLK, Mahanoy City, Pa. 22*

I WILL sell cheap, or exchange for hammerless 12 or 16 gun or bicycle, some finely bred and good looking young bitches; they are strong in Gladstone and Count Noble blood; inclose stamp. J. W. SHRIVER, Wartrace, Tenn. 22

FOR SALE—English pointer Spotwood (No. 35280), 16 months old, or will trade for a good bicycle. Send for full pedigree and description to W. W. COLES, Kokomo, Ind. 43-21-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, modern marine engines and boilers, both new and second-hand. Address THATCHER A. PARKER, Terre Haute, Ind. 43-13-tf

YOUNG Irish setter, pedigreed and broken Gordon setter, for breech loader or offers. CRONIN, 450 Webster Ave., Chicago. 22*

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Francotte hammer pigeon gun, 12-ga., 30-inch Siemans-Martin steel barrels, weight 7 lbs. 14 oz., drop at butt 2½ inches, at comb 1⅛ inches, stock 14¾ inches; cost $275, price $150. L. C. Smith hammerless ejector, two sets Damascus barrels, 12 gauge, 30 and 28 inch barrels, weight 7¼ and 7¼ lbs., 2⅞ at butt, 1⅞ at comb, stock 14⅛, field barrels cylinder; cost $200, price $100, in double leather muttonleg case. E. C. Green hammerless. 10-gauge, 32-inch Damascus barrels, weight 9¼ lbs., 3 inches at butt, comb 1⅞ inches, stock 14 inches; cost $175 to order, price $60. These are high grade guns, in first-class order and practically good as new; there is more value for the money than can be had anywhere. J. O'H. DENNY, Ligonier, Pa. 24

LINNDALE STOCK FARM AND GAME PRESERVE—Eggs for hatching from pure Mongolian pheasants, fresh and fertile; golden and silver pheasants, the most beautiful birds living for yards and lawns, $5 per setting; only a limited number to spare; pure brown Leghorns and Plymouth Rock eggs $2 per setting; the only fowls worth keeping; Jersey cattle of the finest strains; fresh cows of superior milk and butter strains always on hand at moderate prices; we keep the Pekin bantams in large numbers; the only artificial mother for pheasant eggs, $1.50. W. L. GARDINER, Norwalk, Ohio. 22

BEAGLES—Have now ready for mailing cabinet size photographs of Ch Frank Forest, Ch. Roy K, Lee III, Directum, Base, Buckshot, Ch. Lonely, Ch. Lou, Norah K and Trillah at $1 per set; extra large photo "Dinner Hour at Rockland Beagle Kennels," $1 extra; price is cost; beagles for sale. H. L. KREUDER, Nanuet, N. Y. 23

HIGH-GRADE MAYNARD, .22 and .25, target and hunting sights, case, tools, $28; Remington gun, twist, 12-7¾, new and perfect, wool-lined case, tools, shells, $22; Stevens pistol, special sights, extension stock, $10. C. LATHROP, 429 Broadway, Indianapolis, Ind. 22*

NOTHING like Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure; keeps your dog's coat in prime condition; not greasy or poisonous; ask your dealer; kills fleas, etc.; 50c. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia. Pedigree blanks for the asking. 43-12-tf

FOR SALE—18-foot cat boat. 6½ feet beam, 225 feet canvas, complete with all rigging, ballast, air chambers, cushions, oars, sail cover, etc.; built in 1894; good as new; boat is now at McHenry, Ill. HERBERT OLIVER, Hastings, Neb. 23*

GUNS RESTOCKED—Guaranteed equal to factory work; muzzle and breech loaders; best wood $8, second best $7, delivered. W. B. LAWTON JR., Estill, S. Carolina. 22*

14-POUND, 8-gauge Greener hammer gun, leather trunk case, 500 shells; cost $600; write for full particulars; price only $75. E. L. BURNS, Elkhart, Ind. 22*

LEFEVER HAMMERRLESS, $100 grade, new, bored for nitro powder, 12-8-30-1¾-2½-14, with leg of mutton case, $55. S., 704 Grand, Milwaukee, Wis. 22*

MONGOLIAN PHEASANT EGGS for sale, $2.50 per 13, carefully packed, with instructions. MISS SUSIE CROSBY, Washington, Pa. 23

12-BORE Smith ejector, two sets barrels, $125; two Gladstone puppies, 9 months old, $10 and $5. JOHN DONLEY, Sharpsburg, Pa. 22*

PHEASANT EGGS (English and Mongolian). Address PHEASANT RIDGE PHEASANTRY, Pheasant Ridge, O. 24

WINCHESTER express repeater, half octagon, .50 95, new, loading tools and special sights. BOX 184, Reading, Pa. 22*

HIGH-CLASS pedigree blanks, 7 generations, bond paper. CHAUTAUQUA KENNELS, Box 914, Chicago. 42-19-tf

PEDIGREE BLANKS — J. S. C. THOMPSON, Manhattan, Kan. 40-17-tf

FOR SALE—Live red foxes. ROBERT WOODS, Aberdeen, S. D. 21*

FOUR large red foxes. L. WERNER, Edwardsville, Ill. 22*

WHERE TO GO

ATTENTION
Bass Fishermen!
THE ST. CLAIR FLATS

Is conceded by all to be the only place where the "gamy small mouth" can be caught during the whole Summer months. STAR ISLAND is right in the midst of these famous fishing grounds, and is the most delightful Summer Resort on the Great Lakes. Hotel accommodations for 300 guests. Special rates for families. For illustrated 32-page book address JAMES SLOCUM, Prop., Star Island House, via Detroit, Mich. 44 16

Warren White Sulphur Springs,

C. W. CULLEN & SON, Owners and Prop'rs,

Cullen Post Office, Virginia.

On top of the mountains; elevation 2,100 feet. Variety of waters. Only one mile from the Southern Railroad, and convenient to others. Good shooting and trout and bass fishing.

Moderate terms. Season opens May 15. 6

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

I HAVE three beautiful bitch puppies for sale, $5 each, two with black heads and one orange and white, out of as fine a bitch as ever lived and by Fritz; he by Gunner's Beppo, out of Belle R (22095); any man getting one of these puppies and it not proving a good dog can call on me for his money or another puppy; object for selling so cheap is simply to establish a reputation for my dogs; I will bank on them for fielders. GEO. CATLETT, Princeton, Ky. 22

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

MUST BE SOLD at once as I have moved to the city, Rod's Rival (34032), b., w. and t. (Roderigo—Field's Vick), four years next August, thoroughly broken, large, handsome, very stylish, perfect fielder and A1 stud dog; fee $20; price $150; Sue Gladstone (Dan Gladstone—Nellie S), whelped June 13, 1892, b., w. and t., broken, fine mother, handsome; $10, worth $100; Lemon Rose (36593), (Gladstone's Boy—Peggy Dortch), whelped November 25, 1894, very handsome and smart; will make a beauty; price $20; am obliged to sell or would not take double price asked. BOX 778, Worcester, Mass. 22

AT $10 each, one dog and bitch puppy, whelped December 19, 1894, chest w. and t., blood of Roderigo, Paul Gladstone and Dashing Berwyn, large, healthy and intelligent; have been shot over afield, show good range and retrieve well for six-months-old puppies; if not satisfactory upon receipt they can be returned, less express charges; a few black, white and tan puppies, whelped March 28, by Rigo's Rod (36908)—Lula W; $5 each if taken at once. KEY CITY KENNELS, Dubuque, Ia. 43-21-tf

FOR SALE—Three English setter puppies, b., w. and t., yard broken, sire by Roderigo—Lee Gladstone, dam by Boss Gladstone—Vell; three whelped April 7, 1895, sire by Tramp—Buechner's Nell, dam by Gladstone's Boy—Kate Gladstone. Send for photos and pedigrees; satisfaction guaranteed. E. R. COLE, Battle Creek, Mich. 22*

I HAVE for sale setter puppies by Count Roderigo out of Ben Hill, Paul Gladstone, Antonio and Roderigo bitches, ranging from 8 to 12 weeks of age; price $20 for dogs, $15 for bitches, subject to the usual conditions upon which I sell. OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 42-25-tf

FOR SALE—Puppies and young dogs by Gladstone's Boy out of my best brood bitches. Also several high-bred brood bitches and broken dogs. Write for what you want. No trouble to answer letters and furnish information. J. SHELLEY HUDSON, Covington, Ky. 42-17-tf

FOR SALE—English setters, Gladstone's Boy—Speckle Gown (mother of Tremont), 75 per cent. Gladstone Sue and 25 per cent. Count Noble; best bred puppies in the world at panic prices. J. D. POSTON & CO., 853 Champion Ave., Columbus, Ohio. 24

SIX dogs and one bitch, whelped February 3, all black, white and tan, evenly marked, by Count Lucifer (Prince Lucifer—Annie Gladstone II), Dashing Mamie (Count Noble Jr—Dashing Flora); finer puppies never lived, $10 each. N. G. HANSON, Box 590, Minneapolis, Minn. 22*

CH. ANTONIO—A young bitch by this celebrated sire and from an equally well-bred dam, age most suitable for work coming season. For a low price and full particulars address G. G. WILLIAMSON, Muncie, Ind. 23*

CHOICE, perfectly healthy puppies by Papillion (Ch. Antonio—Lilly Burges), out of Vic, an elegant, well-bred field bitch, $10 each; these are bargains. A. G. SOISTMANN. Nicetown, Philadelphia, Pa. 22

FOR SALE—Three bitches by Ruddy—Nat's Hazel, she Royal Gladstone—Fanny D, she Cincinnatus—Rod's Queen; whelped March 13, 1895. GEO. KLIEVE, Wheeling, W. Va. 23*

FOR SALE—English setter puppies whelped March 27, 1895; also a high-bred brood bitch and broken dogs. For pedigrees, etc., address LOT L BAIRD, Parsons, Kan. 23*

FOR SALE—Puppies whelped March 14, by Dashing Count—Rod's Fanette, she Roderigo—Fanette, she by Sportsman; price $15 each. WM. NEW, Philipsburg, Mont. 44-3

FOR SALE—B., w. and t English setter puppies, whelped March 2, by King Rea (35705)—Bessie Ray (19361). Address ADEMAR RUFLE, No. Manchester, Ind. 23

THOROUGHBRED English setter puppies, sire Clive B (36438), dam Thistle's Florence (36831); dogs $8; bitches $7. E. L. IVES, Manning, Ia. 24*

FOR SALE—English setter, stanch to point and shot, a tender retriever; price $25. THOS. BARKLAY, 1887 West 6th St., Cincinnati, O. 22*

MUST SELL—Registered setters, just right for Fall shooting, cheap; write for pedigree. C. McDUFFEE, Allegan, Mich. 22*

BROKEN and unbroken setters at bargain prices to close them out. C. W. HUGHES, Fostoria, O. 23

A BARGAIN—Trained b., w. and t. English setter dog and bitch. C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill. 24

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of English setters. New Castle, Pa. 43 18-tf

ST. BERNARDS

WILL SELL, on account of going away, one of the most promising female St. Bernard puppies in the state, by Lawrence Garza—Alton Judith Litter, dam by Fernwood Bruce and Imported Nell II; this puppy is six months old and cannot be improved upon in color, markings, shadings, disposition or build; will make a sure winner. Address W. C. HICKOX, 810 Old Colony Building, Chicago. 22*

FOR SALE—Some grand big puppies by Ch. Melrose, the famous sire, and out of splendid dams; also the famous prize winning bitches Alta Berna, Columbia Venus, by Ch. Keeper, Lady Alton II, by Saladin; all winners, and several young ones equal to the best living; some bred to that winning sire Melrose; a grand young stud dog for sale. A. C. SHALLENBERGER, Alma, Neb. 22

FOR SALE—Two St. Bernard bitches, Plinlimmon stock. F. C. SCHLEICHER, 2 Gilmore Lane, Baltimore, Md. 22*

FOR SALE—A registered St. Bernard brood bitch and litter of puppies. JAS. W. ROSS, Calumet, Mich. 24*

FOR SALE—Large St. Bernard dog very cheap; no place to keep him. T. E. DUNCAN, Albia, Ia. 22*

6 BEAUTIFUL. high-bred puppies at $15; good ones. G. W. HARDIN, Verdon, Neb. 22*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under [illegible] cents a line for the first insertion [illegible] each subsequent insertion. If [illegible] inch for first, and $2.50 for [illegible] tion.

POINTE[illegible]

CH. TRIBULATION—Cora [illegible] er puppies of this breeding, strong and handsome; also Cora C. a beautiful young bitch of choice breeding and a field dog that it is a pleasure to shoot over. For extended pedigrees, terms and references, address F. P. COPERS, Greenville, S. C. 22*

FOR SALE—I still have a brace of Strideaway—Hops II pointer puppies, born January 4; great Derbys for next year; Hops was a sister to Rip Rap; I sold the other litter at $100 each; will sell these at $50 each as I have no room for them. P. T. MADISON, Indianapolis, Ind. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE—My double-nosed English pointer Joe Brandt, winner of third at Cincinnati Bench Show; perfectly broken, stanch to point and shot and a tender retriever; price $35. THOS. BARKLAY, 1887 W. 6th St., Cincinnati, O. 22*

FOR SALE—Or exchange, the l. and w. pointer stud dog Col. Kent (31054), three years old, by Ch. King of Kent—Bang's Mollie, a winner on the bench, sires grand puppies. S. A. NOFTZGER, North Manchester, Ind. 43 21-tf

AT $10 each, two as finely bred pointers as live, 9 months old, liver and white, just right to break, by Beppo III (7832)—Belle of Ossian (31895); field and bench winners on both sides. C. A. PAETZEL, Hope, Ind. 43-18-tf

FIRST CHECK for $15 takes beautiful pointer bitch by Ch. Lord Graphic, a litter sister to two first prize winners; will be in season soon; no use for her. LOCK BOX 427, Odell, Ill. 23

CH. ANTONIO—Monk's Twilight puppies, b., w. and t., whelped March 11; only $15, worth $50. J. A. STAGG, Harris, Ind. 21*

FOR SALE—Dell D (25769). black and white pointer bitch 3 years old, by Osborne Ale. GEO. KEMP, Zanesville, O. 23*

POINTER BITCH Maud Kent, full sister to Ch. Duke Kent II, at a great bargain. C. W. HUGHES, Fostoria, O. 23

WRITE C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill., for bargain in thoroughbred pointer dog. 25

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of pointers. New Castle, Pa. 43-18-tf

TERRIERS

FOR SALE—Cheap, first-class smooth-coated fox terriers: Bitch, 4 years, Chinquipin Chink (24 81), Regent Tippler—Mona, prize winner and good breeder; dog, 13 months, Poverino's Prince (35121), Lansdowne Poverino—Adelioa, both white bodies, black and tan marked heads. JOHN HARGREAVES, Stottville, Columbia Co., N. Y. 22*

FOR SALE—The high-class Irish terrier stud and show dog Hazard, winner of over thirty prizes in England; also an imported brood bitch by Irish Ambassador. HUGUENOT KENNELS, New Rochelle, N. Y. eow-43-25*

FOX TERRIER brood bitches and puppies for sale, the property of Messrs. L. & W. Rutherfurd. For stud cards, etc., address DONALD MUNRO, Manager, Allamuchy, Warren Co., N. J. 39 7-tf

FOR SALE—At greatly reduced prices, several highly bred fox terriers, including two bitches in whelp to champion bred dogs. MAD RIVER FOX TERRIER KENNELS, Springfield, O. 23

WIRE-HAIRED fox terriers and black and tan terriers, best breeding; mature stock and puppies. ROCHELLE KENNELS, New Rochelle, N.Y. 43 18-tf

BULL TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. F. L. DEVER, 316 Illinois Ave., Peoria, Ill. 43 17 tf

FOR SALE—Skye terriers $10, for Christmas; Yorkshires in February. SEEBACH, Peru, Ill. tf-e-o-w

FOX TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. AUDUBON KENNEL, Lockport, Ill. 22*

ONE black and tan year old. A. BERG, 68 Beethoven Place, Chicago, Ill. 22

SCOTCH terrier year old. A. BERG, 68 Beethoven Place, Chicago. 22*

IRISH SETTERS

FOR SALE—Brace of choice Irish setters of best breeding in America (Dick Swiveler blood), registered, solid red, 2¼ years old, broken to signal and whistle, retrieve over land or water, fast and stylish workers; dog will make money for anyone at stud, as he is an ideal specimen; dog $45, bitch $30, or bitch can be bred if desired for $5 extra; also brace six months old, fine healthy specimens, solid red, sired by above registered dog; price per brace, $20, or dog $15, bitch $10. Address care of BOX 156, Port Dover, Ont. 22*

IRISH SETTER PUPPIES for sale, by Ch. Kildare (champion Irish setter dog of America and sire of Queen Vic, champion Irish setter bitch of America), stud fee $25. Also English setter and Chesapeake Bay puppies of the finest strains Send for catalogue containing photos of celebrated stud dogs and bitches. OAK GROVE KENNELS, Moodus, Conn. tf

FOR SALE—Irish setter puppies by Elcho III (Ch. Elcho—Floss), out of Nellie Brush (Ch. Brush—Lady Friend); also broken dogs. Address DR. W. H. SLATER, Armour, S. D. 22*

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred Irish setter puppies, whelped February 22, two dogs and one bitch; full pedigree. Address S. H. PRICE, Maud P. O., Bucks Co., Pa. 22*

FOR SALE—Two Irish setter bitches and puppies (registered), Elcho stock; half price on account of removal. 6142 GREENWOOD AVE., Chicago. 22

FOR SALE—Fine large pedigreed red Irish setter 2½ years old, broken on [illegible] re triever land or water. GEO. H. [illegible] co, Mo.

FOR SALE—Three Irish setter [illegible] K (32717) and Bessie S (31448). G E S[illegible] licothe, Mo. [illegible]*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

BEAGLES

...ar ... as trotters and muskrat ... n calico is as good as silk and other pa... of the FIELD; when curs are as good as thoroughbreds, and this you will not allow, then other strains of beagles may be as good as the Glenrose strains are now. Several superb bitches of these strains in whelp to our celebrated studs; also young stock for sale cheap. GLENROSE BEAGLE KENNELS, Orland, Me. 43-19-tf

HAVING just purchased from Mr. Geo. W. Proctor his entire kennel of beagles we are enabled to offer some of the grandest bargains ever made; have 9 grand bitches in whelp and 14 others due in season, besides five good stud dogs and puppies and young stock galore; prices right and satisfaction guaranteed; state wants. GLENROSE BEAGLE KENNELS, Orland, Me. 23

A HANDSOME litter sired by Geo. F. Reed's Jock (Flint M—Pride), dam Zoe Reed (Buckshot—Haida); all evenly marked b., w. and t., and are guaranteed to make first-class hunters. For prices and particulars address C. J. PROUTY, Scituate, Mass. 22*

BROKEN BEAGLES, 1½ to 3 years old, registered. from the best blood, straight in every particular; no time to hunt them; prices low; write me. A. D. HEALD, West Chester, Pa. 23

FOR SALE—Beagles, good hunters, strong, healthy stock; puppies cheap if taken soon. OAKLAND BEAGLE KENNELS, Pontiac, Mich. 22*

GREAT DANES

HERE THEY ARE!

I have a fine, healthy litter of Great Dane puppies, 6 weeks old, out of champion bitch by Earl of Wurtemburg's litter brother (Count Frederick), and if taken at once will sell for $35 and $10 each. F. W. WHITE, Box 880, Worcester, Mass. 23

FOR SALE—Two stud dogs and three beautiful litters of brindled, black and fawn puppies, all whelped first week in April by Moreau (31162) and Harras (29298), out of Cora (27788), Cordelia (34241) and Dido (34242); price $30 to $40: expect two more litters in June. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 S. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22-tf

THREE very fine one-year-old Danes—Chlg. Neverzell, by Earl of Wurtemberg. OSCEOLA KENNELS, Troutmere, Wis. 25

BLUE Great Dane 5 months old. A. BERG, 68 Beethoven Place, Chicago. 22*

FOXHOUNDS

REGISTERED Goodman and Avent hounds for sale; also New England bred hounds not registered; orders now taken for puppies; one litter now ready to ship, sired by Driver, who took first prize at New England Kenuel Dog Show, Boston, 1894, and out of Fanny; my hounds have had twenty-five foxes killed before them the past Winter; they are great workers and stayers; two grand coon dogs for sale; all dogs sold are as represented. G. W. PIERCE, Brattleboro, Vt. 22

FULL-BLOOD and half-blood English and pure American foxhounds for sale at all times, all ages and sizes. STRODES VALLEY KENNEL CLUB. Address J. M. Hodgkin, Secy, or W. N. Ramsey, Winchester, Ky. 1

FOR SALE—My entire kennel of foxhounds, including six of the shaggy strain; also four black and tans, Pennsylvania strain. Address M. G. PLIMPTON, Box 502, Medfield, Mass. 24*

PURE Goodman foxhounds for sale at all times. BOURBON KENNELS, North Middletown, Ky. 40-20-tf

POODLES

MEADOWMERE KENNELS

MILO (30101)
Champion of America.

Southampton, L. I., N. Y., breeders and importers of

French Poodles

(Black curly coated only); first prize winners New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, 1893–4.

A GRAND LOT OF DOGS FOR SALE

For catalogues price lists and stud cards apply to NEW YORK CITY AGENCY, 13 William St., Room 1006.

SPANIELS

COCKERS—A grand lot of young puppies and young stud dogs: also several young brood bitches, prize winners, in whelp to Ch. Black Duke and other noted sires. GEORGE DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ontario. 24

COCKER SPANIELS—Special sale of young stock and brood bitches; prices low. HANDSOME BROOK KENNEL, Franklin, N. Y. 42-12-tf

CHAMPION strain cockers, stud dogs, puppies, bitches, almost given away; stamp. REHAM KENNELS, Omaha, Neb. 43-19-tf

COCKERS, champion stock, year old, jet black, $30. M. B. MELLOR, Plainfield, N. J. 24*

GREYHOUNDS

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a handsome Gordon setter bitch, 3½ years old, perfectly trained on ruffed grouse, quail and ...odcock, steady, good nose and fast ... ...ience; $65; this is ...ISTMANN, Nice- 22

DOG ... ...aron, Pa 43-20-tf

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

COLLIES

FOR SALE—The crack collies, Seldon Wallace and Chesterford Hero. For particulars address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

COLLIES AT $10—Puppies from Champ Christopher, Ch. Metchley Wonder strain, also older stock. J. L. LINCOLN, Union Club, Chicago. 43-tf

COLLIES—Choice litter, whelped April 4, sired by Scotilla, dam by The Squire; $10 each. P. O. BOX 125, Indianapolis, Ind. 23*

DACHSHUNDE

SIX rough-coated Dachshund puppies, four dogs and two bitches, out of prize winners at Detroit and Chicago 1895; also some very fine smooth-coated Dachshund puppies and older dogs for sale, pedigreed and prize winners. ARTHUR FROEMBLING, 715 Farwell Ave., Rogers Park, Ill., or office, Putnam Clothing House, Chicago. 23

4 EXTRA GOOD deerhounds; will sell cheap. BOB WEST, Grenada, Miss. 22

BLOODHOUNDS

FOR SALE—Bloodhounds, man trailers, well broken: two dogs 2½ years old, $50 each; one female 1½ years old, $75; the dogs are natural man-trailers and guaranteed. THOS. BARKLAY, 1887 W. 6th St., Cincinnati, O. 22*

DEERHOUNDS

FOR SALE—Scotch deerhound bitch, three years old, well bred, prize winner; price reasonable, and dog from first litter taken in part payment. F. E. B., care AMERICAN FIELD. 22*

PUGS

PEDIGREED pug puppies 2 months old. A. BERG, 68 Beethoven Place, Chicago. 22

MISCELLANEOUS

St. Bernard Puppies

Three litters of blue bloods for sale, quality the finest in America.

DOGS IN THE STUD—Alton Jr, Altoneer, Melrose King, Jim Blaine.

MELROSE KENNELS,
E. H. Moore, MELROSE, MASS. 43-15-tf

We have a fine litter of

Collie Puppies

For sale by Ch. Christopher (21675), out of Dorcas (27756), she by Ch. Wellesbourne Charlie; also some fine

Irish Terriers

By our new stud dog, John Briggs (35584). CHRISTOPHER and WELLESBOURNE CHARLIE at stud. CHESTNUT HILL KENNELS, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED!

Any sportsman wanting first-class broken and unbroken setters or pointers can get what they want from me; new list now ready.

T. C. DAVEY, London, Ont.

DOGS FOR SALE—St. Bernards, mastiffs, Newfoundlands, pointers, setters, spaniels, pugs, all kinds of terriers. I make a specialty of game pit and show bull terriers and Yorkshire terriers; dogs and puppies of the above on hand at prices to suit the times; satisfaction and safe delivery guaranteed. EXCHANGE KENNELS, office 2312 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 44-6

MOREY KENNELS have several litters of black curly-coated French poodles for sale; also grown stock, including brood bitches and stud dogs from imported stock and prize winners; CHAS. D. BERNHEIMER, 21 W. 4th St., New York City. 43-20-tf

BULLDOG and Boston terrier puppies from best blood; at stud, the grand young bulldog Webb's Monarch, a grandson of Ch. British Monarch and Ch. Rustic King: under 50 pounds, solid brindle. JOHN E. JEWETT, Buffalo, N. Y. 25*

FOR SALE—Pointer and setter puppies bred from thoroughly trained registered stock; also my setter bitch Day's Belton (25401), thoroughly trained on quail, partridge and woodcock. R. W. SMITH JR., Tate, Ga. 25*

ST. BERNARDS AND PUGS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and fine puppies. Fair prices. Established 1877. CHEQUASSET KENNELS, Lancaster, Mass. 33 20-tf-eow

GUARANTEE and trial given of high-class pointers and setters; thoroughly trained by professional; prices right. CRITERION KENNEL, Odell, Ill. 43 22-tf

BLUE BELTON SETTER brood bitch and a beagle dog, both finely bred, for sale cheap or exchange. CECIL HARRIS, Kalamazoo, Mich. 22

TRAINED dogs on bears, coons, rabbits. Also English bloodhounds, man trailers. GREENDALE KENNEL, Kensington, Ohio. 42-22-tf

QUICK first-class coon dog, hunts only coons, $10. J. F. CURLY, Fitchburg, Mass. 22*

DOG TRAINING

THE Timber Lake Kennels, located in Henderson County, Ill., on the Timber Lake Hunting Preserve, consisting of 1,000 acres of timber and prairie, marshes, wild rice ponds, cornfields and stubble; a paradise for duck and snipe shooting; also woodcock, quail and prairie chickens; dogs boarded, yard broken and exercised, $5 a month; full line of Dent's medicines used if necessary without extra charge; dogs trained at reasonable rates. A. A. RUNGE, Manager, Burlington, Ia. 22

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

DOG TRAINING—The finest training ground in the world for developing range and speed is Dakota. We have 5,000 acres protected chicken cover. Send on your dogs and shoot with us in season. NED FAY, Valley City, N. D. 26*

K. 9 KENNELS—Pointers and setters, educated for practical field work; kennels located in a game country, and but 2½ hours from Philadelphia; twenty years' experience; best reference. W. G. SMITH, Marydel, Md. 43-26*

GEO. BATTISON—Professional bench show handler. Dogs boarded and put in condition for shows. Youngstown, Ohio. tf

BOARDING

DOGS BOARDED—Yard broken, best facilities for care, best care guaranteed; beagles preferred; good hunting, plenty of game. Address J. J. DEMAREST, Mont Vale, N. J. 22

STUD DOGS

AT STUD, $35.—CH. DUKE OF KENT II

Field trial winner; only pointer in U. S. winning title of champion in one year, 1893. First challenge, 1st field trial class; also special for best sporting dog in show, Louisville, 1894.

AT STUD, $35—IMP. MOLTON BANNER

One of the best pointers living; has beaten his sire, Saddleback, champion of England, Sandford Graphic and Sandford Bang, England's best. Puppies—Dogs $25; bitches $15; from the best of field trial and bench show blood bitches. GLEN ROCK KENNELS, 2 N. Market St., Boston, Mass.

ELDRED KENNEL

AT STUD. (Setters) FEE $50.

CH. ANTONIO

Sire of Rodfield, Tony's Boy, Tony's Gale, Lady Mildred, Dash Antonio, Daisy Hunter II, Nellie Fox and Antoinette; 8 winners out of 17.

BRIGHTON TOBE

FEE $35. 1st Manitoba and International All-Age stakes 1894.

GAMESTER

(Pointer). Fee $25. Duke of Hessen—Woolton Game, bench and field winner.

Circular and shipping directions of C. H. PHELPS JR., 13 Dock St., Philadelphia, Pa. 43-22-eow-tf

AVENT & THAYER KENNEL

STUD DOGS.

Count Gladstone IV	Fee $50
Topsy's Rod	50
Orlando	30
Chevalier	30
Cassio	25
Juno's Rod	20

Broken and unbroken foxhounds and puppies for sale. Broken deer, fox and opossum hounds and English setter puppies for sale.

AVENT & THAYER KENNEL
HICKORY VALLEY, TENN.
42-7-eow-tf

Westminster Kennel Club.

KING OF KENT

In the Stud. Fee $50.

ALSO

Sandford Druid

FEE $35.

Apply to F. O. DELUZE, Treasurer, 18 S. William St., New York.

WILLOWDALE KENNELS,
CROWN POINT, IND.

ALAN-A-DALE—A. K. C. No. 28135, collie dog, by Ch. The Squire—Stonehurst Lassie, by Ch. Roslyn Dandy, a magnificent dog and image of his sire; V.H.C. Chicago 1894. See comment AMERICAN FIELD. Alan is a born cattle dog.

DANDY DAVY (A. K. C. No. 36097), by Moray—Clover, the handsomest and most intelligent collie I ever bred; sable with white collar and ruff.

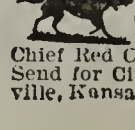
TACONY, smooth-coated fox terrier (A. K. C. 28136), white with tan marked head; inbred Prince Result; game as a pebble.

I will sell at reasonable price Moray, prize winner; Don Cameron and other A. K. C. collies; also book orders for young dogs. Address WILL J. DAVIS, Columbia Theater, Chicago. 39-4-tf

AT STUD,
ST. BERNARDS and COCKER SPANIELS

Four St. Bernards and eight cocker spaniels including Ch. Middy at $15 stud fee. Send stamp for illustrated catalogue.

SWISS MOUNTAIN KENNELS, Germantown Philadelphia, Pa.



Irish Setters at Stud.—Imported Claremont Patsy, Flash of Claremont, (Ch. Elcho Jr. x Nino), and Chief Red Cloud. Great Prize Winning Blood. Send for Circulars. G. W. Hamilton, Centreville, Kansas.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

Rodfield

Black, white and tan English setter, winner of both of the U. S. F. T. Club's All-Age Setter Stakes at Bicknell, Ind., and West Point, Miss., 1894 and 1895. Catalog free.

STUD FEE $50.
P. T. MADISON,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

COUNT BEAUFORT

Moss Wind'em—Primrose, bred by and recently imported from Mr. R. Ll. Purcell Llewellin, Shrewsbury, England. Here is a chance for setter breeders to obtain the pure Count Noble blood, Moss Wind'em being a litter brother to that noted sire of field trial winners. This is an opportunity that owners of Gladstone and Druid—Ruby bitches should not lose sight of. Fee $25. Count Beaufort is a handsome, well built blue belton and is thoroughly field broken, keen nose and wide range, having been well shot over by Mr. Llewellin. For pedigree, etc., address W. STEWART DIFFENDERFFER, 113 Commerce St., Baltimore, Md. 44-8

AT STUD. FEE $25.

BRADLEY

(Rowdy Rod—Breeze Gates).

Bradley is an all-day tireless hunter and one of the best English setters in New England; he won 3rd in the N. E. F. T. Derby 1892. 2nd in the sweepstakes November, 1894. Address D. A. GOODWIN JR., Newburyport, Mass. 43-8-eow-tf

WIRE-HAIRED FOX TERRIERS
BROWN FRENCH POODLES.

For stud cards, list of produce stakes ($175 annually offered in prizes), price lists and full particulars, apply to HILL HURST KENNELS, Wellesley, Mass. 45-7

At Stud, Fee $25.

WHYTE B.

I offer the services of this highly bred setter; he is by Roderigo—Florence Gladstone. He won the A.-A. Stake in the Southern trials, beating such dogs as Antevolo, Novelist, Eugene I, Tremont, Bettye S and Bob Cooper. I candidly believe Whyte B has more endurance than any dog living, and is a combined field trial and shooting dog; his equal would be hard to find. H. S. BEVAN, Somerville, Tenn.

ADONIS
ITALIAN GREYHOUND

In stud, fee $10; winner of many first prizes in A. K. C. shows; a typical dog in weight, in color, in form, in points; pronounced by the leading experts the best Italian greyhound alive to-day. Princess Bonnie, my crack brood bitch, has a litter of three fine puppies by Adonis 8 weeks old; healthy and in fine condition; will sell two bitches. W. G. BENHAM, 77 Wilson Ave., Columbus, Ohio. 18-22

COCKER SPANIEL
CH. BLACK DUKE

Stud $25. Bitches for breeding purposes admitted free of duty in Canada. GEO. DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ont. 23

STRIDEAWAY FEE $50
Meadow City Kennels, Northampton, Mass.
43 21-tf

COUNT FEATHERSTONE (No. 29535, Vol. X), lemon and white, whelped March 3, 1890, by Count Noble—Florence Gladstone, she Glads one—Flounce, she Druid—Ruby; Count is at present located in Warren County, N. Carolina, and will be bred to a few approved bitches; stud fee $25. Address CHAS. F. TRETBAR, P. O. Box 2920, New York. 26

STUD FEE $35—Bloodhound King Alchymist, by Alchymist (33752)—Sappho (26295), the acknowledged champions of the world; King is a perfect type of his sire Alchymist and won 1st at the Humane Bazaar at Cincinnati, the only time shown. Write for photo. THOS. BARKLAY, 1887 W. 6th St., Cincinnati, O. 22

BREED TO THE BEST—At stud, $15, imported English setter Carleton Pero (16291), (Sir Tatton—Princess Charlotte II), color black and white, very handsome, winner on the bench, field broken by N. B Thomas (deceased). Address DR. J. W. COTTING, Swathmore, Delaware Co., Pa. 44 9

AT STUD—Victor Kent, pointer (33511 A. K. S. B.), fee $10; Shabona Sam, Irish setter (33911 A. K. S. B.), fee $10; Iowa Prince, English setter (35818, A. K. S. B.), fee $10, at the Timber Lake Kennels. Address A. A. RUNGE, Burlington, Ia. 22

AT STUD—Smooth fox terriers, Hillside Royal (Starden's King—Hillside Freda); fee to approved bitches, $10; Raby Prince (Raby Pallisy—Richmond Jesmine); fee to approved bitches, $10. WAWASET KENNELS, Wilmington, Del. 44-5

AT STUD—Four first-class Great Danes, viz.: Moreau (fawn), Victor and Harras (brindles), and Nero (black), fee $25 to $50 J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 So. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22 tf

AT STUD—Christopher Columbus, the finest collie in the West, by Ch. Christopher; fee to approved bitches, $20 Address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

AT STUD—Legerdemain (9378), Mainspring—Merrylegs; fee $15. For winnings and full particulars apply to F. A. WAGNER, Seacliff, L. I., N. Y. 23*

AT STUD—The imported foxhound Abelard, to a few choice bitches at $10 each. J. M. HODGIN, Secretary Strode Valley Kennel Club, Winchester, Ky. 2

AT STUD—The golden brindled Great Dane King William (34279), winner of three first prizes; fee $25. HIGHLAND KENNELS, Topeka, Kan. 23*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

DR. N. ROWE, President. NORVIN T. HARRIS, 1st Vice-President. J. L. ADAMS, 2nd Vice-President.

United States Field Trial Club's Fifth Annual Field Trials

Fall Meeting at Newton, N. C. Spring Meeting at West Point, Miss.

POINTERS.....
$150 to First
$125 to Second
$100 to Third
$ 75 to Fourth
$ 50 to Fifth

PURSES, $4,000.00

SETTERS.....
$150 to First
$125 to Second
$100 to Third
$ 75 to Fourth
$ 50 to Fifth

DERBY STAKE, to be run at Newton, N. C., November 7, 1895

For pointers and setters whelped on or after January 1, 1894. Each breed to run separately. Entries close June 10, 1895.

TOTAL STAKE $1,000. { First forfeit $10, which must accompany nomination. $10 additional forfeit, payable Sept. 10. $10 to start. } W. B. STAFFORD, Secy.-Treas., Trenton, Tenn.

For entry blanks, rules, etc., apply to Secretary-Treasurer.

THE

Continental Field Trials Club's Inaugural Field Trials

To be run on Quails at

Newton, N. C., beginning with the Derby, Monday, November 25, 1895,

Providing the Eastern Field Trials Club's trials are through, otherwise as soon as the Eastern trials are concluded.

For Pointers and Setters born on or after January 1, 1894.

Each breed to run separately.

SETTERS:
$150 to first
$125 to second
$100 to third
$ 75 to fourth
$ 50 to fifth

POINTERS:
$150 to first
$125 to second
$100 to third
$ 75 to fourth
$ 50 to fifth

Entries close June 1, 1895. Forfeit, $10, which must accompany nomination. $10 additional forfeit, payable September 1. $10 additional to start.

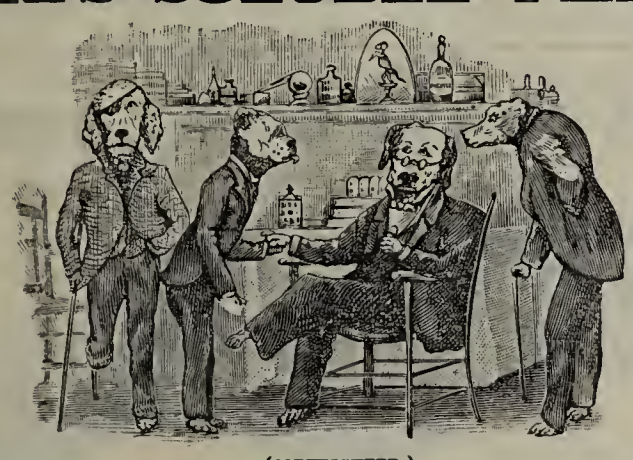
TOTAL STAKE, $1,000.

P. T. MADISON. Secretary-Treasurer, Lock Box 4, Indianapolis, Ind.

LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE

LITTLE'S PRIZE MEDAL PHENYLE DOG SOAP

Cleanses the skin and improves the coat.



Superior to any now before the public. Beautifies, cleanses, and gives a healthy glow to the skin.

LITTLE'S SANITARY PHENYLE DOG SOAP.

(COPYRIGHTED.)

DOCTOR—There is no doubt, my friends, but that you are suffering from a most severe case of Mange. My advice is that you procure at once LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE, a sure cure, which will also keep your kennels nice and sweet.

PATIENTS (all together)—We will send to our druggist for it at once.

Used by the principal kennels and bench shows in America and Europe. No keeper of valuable dogs, horses, etc, should be without it. Pronounced by the highest authorities the best and most effective disinfectant in the market. For full particulars of its various uses, send for pamphlet to

MORRIS LITTLE & SON, 175 to 177 N. 10th Street, Brooklyn, E. D., N. Y.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's

Patron: C. C. Chipman, Commissioner Hudson Bay Co., Winnipeg.
President: F. G. Simpson, Winnipeg.

Ninth Annual Trials { ON PRAIRIE / CHICKEN }, Morris, Man., September 10, etc., 1895.

DERBY—For setters and pointers whelped on or after January 1, 1894. Purse $250. First $100; second $75; third $50; fourth $25. Entries close July 1. Forfeit $5, starters $10 additional. Forfeit money must accompany each entry.

ALL-AGE STAKES—For setters and pointers which have never won first place in an all-age stake in any previous year Purse $250. First $125; second $75; third $50. Entries close August 15. Forfeit $5, $10 additional for starters. Forfeit money must accompany each entry.

JOHN WOOTTON, Hon. Secy.-Treas., P. O. Box 109, Manitou, Man.

eow-21

"OUR DOGS"

The Popular English Doggy Journal.

Published every Saturday. Price One Penny.

Contains all the latest news and the best information relating to doggy subjects. It is written in chatty style; is contributed to by the best known writers; is well illustiated; enjoys a large circulation, and is a splendid medium for the sale or purchase of dogs. Subscription 8s. 6d per year post free to any part of America. SPECIMEN COPIES FREE.

Our Dogs Publishing Co., Ltd.,

10 Gore St., Piccadilly, Manchester, Eng.

STUD DOGS

AT STUD—The famous smooth fox terrier, Blemton Stipend, to approved bitches; $10. J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43 20-tf

RED COCKERS—Champ. Red Jacket and Red Roland at stud; red puppies. BRANT COCKER KENNELS, Brantford, Ont. 43-14-tf

BEAGLE—Tony W (Ch. Tony Weller—Topsy S), in stud. LOUIS STEFFEN, 781 3rd St., Milwaukee, Wis. 22

CHESAPEAKE MARK (35914); fee $10. L. K. MASON, Hastings, Ia. 43-15-tf

---

R. J. WITHERS, M. D.,

VETERINARY SURGEON,

627 So. Main St., LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Treatment of dogs a specialty. Good hospital accommodations. Advice by mail $1.

NEW BOOK ON DOG DISEASES

And How to Feed

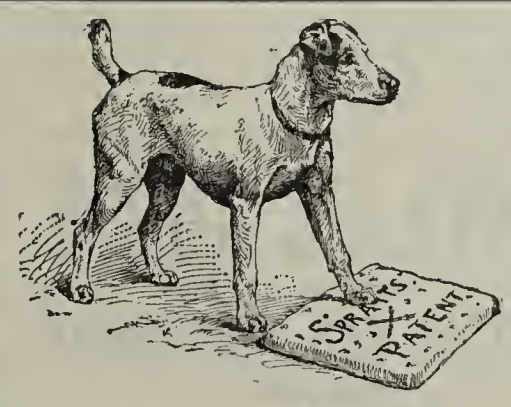
Mailed FREE to any address by the anthor.

H. CLAY GLOVER, D.V.S., 1293 Broadway, N. Y

McGILL UNIVERSITY, MONTREAL

Faculty of Comparative Medicine and Veterinary Science (late Montreal Veterinary College). Calendars sent on application, giving full information toi ntending students. Lectures commence first Wednesday in October in each year Apply to CHARLES McEACHRAN, D. V. S., Registrar, Veterinary College, 6 Union Avenue Montreal, Canada. 37-1-tf

In answering advertisements, please mention that yon saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD



SPRATTS PATENT
DOG, PUPPY, POULTRY, GAME
Foods, Medicines, Soaps and Furnishings.

Send for pamphlet to

SPRATTS PATENT, LTD.,
239-245 E. 56th Street, New York.

HEALTH FOR ANIMALS

Of the many skin diseases that animals are subject to there are none which cannot be brought under control and speedily cured by the use of

GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP

Its perfect reliability in all forms of

MANGE

From which dogs suffer has been attested by innumerable testimonials from the highest kennel authorities and the grateful acknowledgment of thousands of dog owners.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Home of the Tarpon

AND

Ducks by the Million

AT

Aransas and Corpus Christi Bays

REACHED BY

San Antonio and Aransas Pass Ry.

Twelve tarpon caught in one day, November 4, 1894, by Messrs. Bull, Lewis and Wallis of Racine, Wis., aggregating over 800 pounds.

Tarpon season March 15 to December 1; duck shooting December to March.

Send for maps, etc. Address

E. J. MARTIN, Gen. Pass. Agt., San Antonio Tex

MISCELLANEOUS.

3 IN 1 TRADE MARK REGISTERED

COMPOUND FOR BICYCLES AND GUNS.

PREVENTS RUST, CLEANS, LUBRICATES.

MANUFACTURED BY

G. W. COLE & CO. 111 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

SEND FIVE TWO CENT STAMPS FOR SAMPLE.

HUNTING GROUNDS

ALONG THE LINE OF

The Southern Railway

The Southern Railway is endeavoring to furnish every facility to sportsmen to reach its territory, especially Virginia and the Carolinas, where game is abundant and game laws lenient.

Most convenient schedules are operated from all junction points.

For additional information apply o

S. H. HARDWICK,
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Atlanta, Ga.
C. A. BENSCOTER.
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Knoxville, Tenn.
W. A. TURK,
Gen. Pass. Agt., Washington, D. C.
R. D. CARPENTER,
Gen. Agt., 271 Broadway, New York
HENRY HIDEN,
Commercial Agt., 10 Rookery, Chicago.
L. S. BROWN,
Gen. Agt., 1300 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.

TROUT, BASS, PIKE,
PICKEREL, PERCH, DUCKS,
GEESE, SNIPE, CHICKENS,

Are all to be found contiguous to the line of

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

SEND FOR

Natural Game Preserves of North America.

CHAS. S. FEE,

Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt., ST. PAUL.

PLOVER, ANTELOPE,
MOUNTAIN LIONS, CARIBOU,
WHITE GOATS, ROCKY MTS. SUNSET

$7 NEW RAPID MACHINE LOADER $7

Adapted for Nitro and Black Powders.

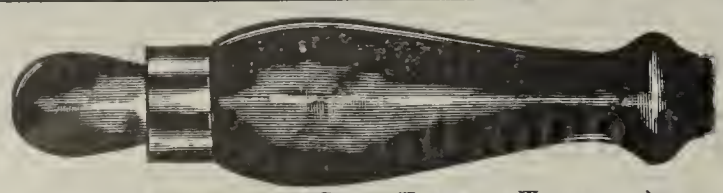
What we claim for "The New Rapid Loader."

Seats wads squarely and with even pressure. No chance for the error of getting shot loaded in place of powder. The manipulation of charges and forcing in wads requires the use of one hand only, leaving the other hand free to handle shells and wads—a decided advantage over loaders which require the use of both hands and feet to accomplish this. Can be changed to [illegible] one minute. Powder and shot can be emptied from machine without removing the [illegible] Send for illustrated catalogue. SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

THE BRIDGEPORT GUN IMPLEMENT CO.

313-315 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

DUCK CALLS, 55c & $1
GOOSE CALLS, $1
SNIPE CALLS, 40c
TURKEY CALLS, 75c



GRUBBS' PERFECT DUCK CALL. (EVERY ONE WARRANTED.)

Gruhhs' Improved Illinois River Duck Call. The most natnral toned call made; easy to hlow; not easy to get out of repair, having a fine tempered reed; makes it so you can call teal, woodduck and hluebill, as well as maliard. This is the only call you can do this with.

Same as above, made of red cedar, silver-mounted, with silver reed which gives it perfect tone, $1. Every one warranted. Address

CHAS. W. GRUBBS; 56 Alice Place, Chicago

WHERE MAY I FIND GOOD SPORT?

IN Kansas

PRAIRIE CHICKENS, quails, jack-rabbits and ducks abound. The Arkansas Valley and its tributaries afford most satisfactory hunting grounds. In southeastern Kansas there is a fair supply of bass and catfish.

IN Colorado

HERE the fishing rod should be unpacked. Enough trout to keep your rod and line busy may be found in hundreds of mountain streams along the Colorado Midland line. Away from the railroad larger game exists—bears, rocky mountain sheep, elk, blacktail deer, etc.

IN Indian Territory

WILD TURKEYS, prairie chickens, quails and deer are the favorite game in Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A party of three to ten, with guide, will find great sport thirty miles or so from railroad lines.

IN Texas

ANYWHERE on the Gulf Coast several days can be enjoyably spent angling for the deep-sea fish that swarm the Gulf waters. You cast the line; the fish do the rest. Wild fowl are also prevalent in the marshes.

IN New Mexico

UP in the mountains are clear streams where the possible catch of trout may exceed your biggest story—which is saying a good deal. Enough wild game in the wooded wilderness to satisfy the most ardent hunter.

Address G. T. NICHOLSON, G. P. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R., Monaduock Building, Chicago, for detailed information respecting any one or more of the above localities.

ALL ALONG THE SANTA FE ROUTE.

Modern American Pistols and Revolvers.

By A. C. GOULD ("RALPH GREENWOOD").

An account of the development of pistols and revolvers in America; description of the varieties manufactured; manner of shooting them; work accomplished with these arms; departments of pistol and revolver shooting; impressions formed by studying these arms, and rules governing pistol and revolver competitions. Profusely illustrated 222 pages, cloth bound.

PRICE $1.50.

Address AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO., Chicago, Ill.

SPORT WITH GUN AND ROD

Edited by Alfred M. Mayer

Is a magnificent volume of 892 pages—"the finest volume abont American sports and outdoor life," says the Hartford Courant, "that has ever been published in this country." The book contains fifty separate and distinct articles, each hy an expert sportsman, and is embellished with several hundred Illustrations. Over $30,000 was spent in the preparation of this work. "In every respect the work is thorough and must become standard," says the Spirit of the Times. In one royal octavo vo ume, cloth, $5. An édition de luxe in two volumes is also published. Price, in embossed leather binding, $18; cloth, $12.

The American Field Pub. Co., Chicago.

SHOOTING TOURNAMENT

AT MEMPHIS.

For the tournameut at Memphis, June 11 and 14, take the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

It is the only line having double daily service to Memphis from Cincinnati and Louisville with Pullman Buffet Sleeping Coaches through. All principal cities in the South are reached by the through Pullman service of this line from its northern terminals at Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis. Write to C. P. ATMORE, General Passenger Agent at Louisville, Ky., for folders and other information. 23

Please mention the AMERICAN

Chicago & Alton R.R. AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR RAILROAD.

PERFECT PASSENGER SERVICE.

The direct, best and only rock-ballasted dustless line between
CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY,
CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS,
ST. LOUIS AND KANSAS CITY.

Through Pullman Service Every Day From

CHICAGO TO COLORADO

JAMES CHARLTON, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

The Webster Studio

Of Expert Taxidermy

(F. S. WEBSTER, MANAGER).

Owing to extensive orders for zoölogical preparations, and the necessity for more room and better facilities we will remove the manufacturing part of our business to our NEW MUSEUM AND LABORATORIES, just completed at MT. VERNON, N. Y. We retain our main office and salesroom at the old address, 106 E. 23d STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

All materiai for preparation should go direct to Webster's Museum, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

THE DAVIS HAMMERLESS

Has Best of Workmanship and Best of Material Throughout.

Shooting Qualities Unsurpassed in all Grades. Price Lists and Descriptive Circulars of Hammer and Hammerless Guns sent on application.

N. R. DAVIS & SONS, - Freetown, Mass.

WE have decided to meet the requirements of sportsmen for a medium priced, reliable Ejector and are now ready to accept orders for all of our grades of guns fitted with Automatic Shel Ejector.

Guaranteed to give satisfaction.

Lefever Automatic Ejector Gun at a price within the reach of every Sportsman.

Our new Ejector Movement has
ONLY TWO PIECES,
ONE IN FRAME, ONE IN HAMMER.

At the last convention of New York State Sportsmen's Association, Lefever Guns with Nitro Powders won three highest averages. We could fill the columns of this paper with records of its triumphs at trap and in field. Send for Cataiogue.

LEFEVER ARMS CO., Syracuse, N. Y.

Mention AMERICAN FIELD.

Having purchased the entire stock of guns of the

WILKESBARRE GUN COMPANY

We offer them at the following low prices:

	List	Our Price
Hammer Gun, fine twist barrels	$35.00	$17.50
Hammerless Gun, fine twist barrels	50.00	31 50
Hammerless Gun, Damascus barrels	60.00	35.00

Bored for nitro powders, latest model, 12-gauge, 7 to 8 pounds. EVERY GUN GUARANTEED. If you need a good gun cheap order one of these at once.

SCHOVERLING, DALY & GALES, 302 Broadway, New York.

THE AMATEUR TRAINER

FORCE SYSTEM WITHOUT THE WHIP.

BY ED. F. HABERLEIN (a practical trainer of thirty years' experience).

SECOND EDITION. Revised and illustrated with full-page portraits of typical hird dogs.

Has just been published and should be in the hands of every owner of a bird dog, whether trained or untrained.

"The Amateur Trainer" is a plain, practical and concise yet thorough guide in the art of training, handling and the correcting of faults of the bird dog subservient to the gun afield. The manual has been written especially for those who may possess a puppy hut cannot afford the high charges of professional trainers to have the same broken for field work. By following the instructions plainly given in the book, every shooter possessed of a little common sense and patience can train his own dog to perfection.

If you have a broken dog who is faulty in some respects, you will find ample advice in the manual how to overcome any fault thoroughly. If your dog does not retrieve, or if so, is hard mouthed, and unsteady to point and shot chases rabbits, etc., etc., is whipshy, watershy or gunshy, etc., then don't fail to get this hook and eradicate the annoyances.

The book is written in a comprehensible, popular form, devoid of long-spun theories, and is based upon practical experience throughout. Each chapter alone on the correction of faults of matured dogs is fully worth the price of the book to anyone owning a dog so afflicted. Dogs of any age can be taught to retrieve readily—soft mouthed and in perfect style—by following the plain instructions given therein.

To the novice, who may aspire to perfect his own dog in the usefulness afield, it will prove an invaluable aid, giving clear instructions from the beginning with a puppy up to the training of the bird dog to a high degree.

It is not INTENDED NOR PROMISED to give a large volume of PASTIME READING MATTER, but the publisher guarantees the book to contain the most practical information on the subject, in a plain, concise form, for the price. It contains 99 pages. Price, paper cover, $1; cloth, $1.50.

Address

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

THE SPORTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

Vol. XLIII—No. 23. NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1895. PRICE, Ten Cents $5.00 Per Year.

Published by the American Field Publishing Co.

TERMS.—Five dollars a year; two dollars and seventy-five cents for six months; Club rates, three or more four dollars a year each; strictly in advance.

REMITTANCES.—Money should be sent by American Express Co.'s Money Order, Postal Order, Draft on Chicago, or by Registered Letter.

NEWS DEALERS.—The Trade supplied by the American and Western News Companies.

COMMUNICATIONS.—Manuscript intended for publication should be written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith and all communications, upon any subject, or for any department, must be addressed,

N. ROWE,
Editor and Manager American Field.
245 and 247 State St., Chicago, Ill.

EASTERN OFFICE.—19 Park Place, New York.

Game and Shooting

FIXTURES

North Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's first annual convention, Fargo, June 14.

DUCK SHOOTING ON LAKE BISTENEAU

BY COL. GEO. D. ALEXANDER

I was enjoying the hospitality of my friends, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lay, of Koran, La., while busily engaged in putting up a cabin for my future home on Lake Bisteneau.

Korean is some four miles from Catfish Point on the lake. My cabin is built on the lake, four miles east of Koran, opposite Bird Island, eight miles above Catfish Point. Bird Island, next to Peggy's Island, is the most noted of all the good shooting places on this famous lake for ducks and geese.

I had just returned from Haughton, a railroad village on the Vicksburg & Shreveport Railroad, distant some ten miles, with my little Greener gun. It had arrived from Birmingham, England, where I had sent it to Mr. Greener to have an extra pair of barrels, at a cost of $76.79, fitted to the same stock, and to be bored on a principle I discovered for shooting buckshot, and was guaranteed to shoot as well as my big Greener. The old barrels were rebrowned and looked as nice as when I first got the gun fourteen years ago. The extra pair of barrels seemed to be just what I wanted, and I was most anxious to try them. I will state here that six months elapsed before I could use the gun.

When I returned from Haughton, Mr. Lay informed me he had sent invitations to several of his friends to join him in a two days' camping at Catfish Point, and he hoped I could spare the time to go with him. I replied that it would afford me the greatest pleasure to do so, but it was necessary for me to supervise the construction of my cabin, and I could not be one of the party. "I will do the next best thing," said I. "I will send my little Greener to represent me, and you, Mr. Lay, shall shoot it." Mr. Lay had invited C. B. Hodges, A. J. Moss, Will A. Huey, Tom Herron and W. B. Graham to be of the party. He had sent his camping equipage in care of John Lott and Bill Hogan, two of the most experienced colored men on the lake. The services of a good cook were secured and the tents were pitched on Spring Creek where it empties into the lake at Catfish Point, where there was plenty of timber to shelter them from storms and to supply fuel, as it was then quite cold weather, being about the middle of November in 1894.

The shooting was to commence in the afternoon. John Lott was to take some of the party to stations on Peggy's Island, Goose Island, and places opposite the camp. He was to spend the time in rowing the skiff around the bends of the lake to keep the ducks flying to the shooters.

"Where will you put Mr. Huey and myself?" said Mr. Lay to Bill Hogan.

"I will take you both to Fairview Bay; that is the best point for this evening's shooting," replied Bill. "The wind will be severe; it is now growing cold very fast, and the ducks will be certain to come to shelter in the bay."

"All right, Bill; you take the skiff with the guns and ammunition there, and Mr. Huey and I will ride our horses, so that we can return quickly after the shooting is over. It is a long way to camp by water, and I guess we will be about froze up when we get to land, after standing in water by the side of those stumps for several hours."

Both of these gentlemen were posted by Bill in front of two very large cypress stumps. The water and mud were not over a foot deep around these particular stumps, which were about twenty feet high above the water. It was dangerous, however, for one to move more than a step or two from the stump, as the mud and water became at least six feet deep. Here they had to remain until Bill should come with the skiff to take them to land.

"You take the left stump, Mr. Huey, and I will place you, Mr. Lay, at the right one," said Bill. They stood about sixty yards apart.

"Bill, anchor out the decoys about forty yards from us," said Mr. Lay, "and then you row up and down the bay and keep the ducks stirred up. When we blow the horn for you, you come to us with as little delay as possible."

Bill obeyed the order, and was soon engaged in driving the flocks of ducks in the direction of the shooters.

"Lay, you shoot the right hand duck and I will take the left one, when a flock comes to the decoys. Should but one duck fly to them, you shoot first; if you do not kill I will then shoot. The next single duck I will shoot first, and you next, if it is not killed," said Mr. Huey.

This was the agreement. Lake Bisteneau is very remarkable in having many and very large cypress stumps standing where once was the channel of the Dorcheat Bayou. Perhaps a thousand years ago an earthquake may have occurred, and the land sunk for fifty miles or more, and the lake now known as Bisteneau resulted. From time immemorial these stumps have stood there, with no more appearance of decay now than when first viewed by the white man.

"Look out, Huey! I see a small flock rounding the bay, and I think they will see the decoys and come to us. You give a call with the Grubb call, and I will answer with the Allen. Perhaps that may attract them," said Mr. Lay. The calls were made, the flock turned and circled once around the decoys, but too far away to shoot at. A second turn, and with slow motion and wings set they dropped down. Two guns cracked, two ducks fell, and as the flock rose almost perpendicularly, two more reports quickly followed, and three ducks fell, two of them dead and the third with a broken wing. It is a fact known to all duck shooters on this lake, that a duck with a broken wing attempts, when it strikes the water, to rise high above it. Finding that to be impossible it sinks so that nothing but the head appears above the water, and a quick shot must be made or the duck will escape, swimming as fast as possible in the opposite direction from the shooter. The head of a duck fifty to sixty yards distant is a very small object to shoot at. In this case the hunters fired several shots before the duck quivered in the agonies of death.

"This is a fine beginning," remarked Huey. "If we do as well, and the wind holds, I think we will load the skiff."

Flock after flock of mallards, some flocks with many in them, others with but few, and occasionally a bunch of the swift flying bluewing teals came to the decoys. The water was literally covered with dead and wounded ducks. A number of misses were made by both men. Hogan was kept busy all the time driving, picking up the dead and catching the cripples. Heavy and constant firing was heard from the posts below. It is a very great advantage on this lake to have every good point occupied by a shooter; it prevents the ducks settling down in one place, and thus gives each man a chance to show his ability as a shot.

"Look out!" were the shouts of both these gentlemen as a solitary old greenhead seemed to be coming to them. As it came within shooting distance, four shots in rapid succession were fired, but the aerial wanderer went on untouched.

"Well! That beats anything that has happened to us this evening," said Mr. Lay.

"Do not get discouraged," exclaimed Mr. Huey, "I see three geese away down the bend toward Peggy; perhaps they may take a notion that this is the best place for protection from the high wind."

Sure enough, they came directly toward us.

"Wish I had the Allen goose call," shouted Mr. Lay.

"No use for one," replied Mr. Huey, "they will give us a shot. Put in the BBs. Who knows but that we will have goose meat for tomorrow's dinner?"

"Take the leader. Huey, with your far-shooting Lefever," said Lay, "and I will let the little Greener tell its tale on the rear one, and, if we are successful, both of us can fire on the middle goose."

Simultaneous were the two shots, and down plunged gander and goose. Again two more barrels sent forth their leaden rain, but Mrs. Goose continued her flight across Goose Island, to the very great mortification of both hunters. However, Bill Hogan said he saw it fall into the channel of the lake on the other side of the island.

Night was rapidly approaching, shells were getting scarce, and it was too far to send Bill back for more ammunition. Every shell was soon fired and nothing left to do but summon Bill to recover the dead ducks and get ready to leave for camp.

"I would give fifty dollars," shouted Huey, as the great flocks of ducks dropped into the lake all around them, "if we had a hundred more shells!" Sometimes the ducks were so close, as Mr. Lay assured me, that he could have touched them with his gun. Never before had such a thing happened to these gentlemen, and, in my opinion, never will such shooting occur to them again.

Early next morning both of them took the same positions, and they had grand success. Bill Hogan counted down for them, as the result of the evening and morning's shoot, two geese and two hundred and twenty-five mallard and teal ducks, and there is not the shadow of a doubt but what at least a fourth of the ducks they shot down were lost by floating away in the waves caused by the furious wind of the evening previous.

I heard all the shooting, and oh! how it distressed me that I could not have been one of the party when I learned of their grand success. The other gentlemen, posted at stations below, bagged only seventy-five ducks. They said the flocks flew too high for successful shooting.

Three days after this hunt Mr. Lay took the extra pair of barrels of the gun to the lake with him. He shot thirty-five times, killed his game every shot, and made eight doubles. That is, he killed a duck with each barrel as the flocks flew by him. He said he did not doubt, had he had those barrels on the stock the day he was shooting with Mr. Huey, but what he would have killed twice as many ducks as he did. He said he was satisfied that several times he killed ducks dead at least a hundred yards with No. 3 shot.

I missed the sport altogether, but if the good Lord spares my life to see another Winter I will certainly be present on every camping excursion. I have settled on Bisteneau for no other purpose but to spend a good part of the remainder of my life hunting and fishing. I am now rearing a flock of ducks very much like the wild mallard so as to have live decoys, and I am anticipating a world of pleasure next Fall, such as I never before enjoyed on this lake. In half an hour from the time I leave my cabin I can be seated in the blind with a dozen or more live decoys in front of me.

Koran, La.

A DAY AFIELD IN GEORGIA

BY P. F. A.

It was not an ideal day for hunting, nor can I claim it as a "red letter day"—December 24, 1894—and yet it will linger long in my memory as one of the most enjoyable days ever spent afield.

It had been over two years since I had heard a quail whir or seen a dog range, so the reader, if he be a sportsman, can imagine how I yearned for the day when I might don my hunting coat again. Long before the time came for me to leave the busy city I had drawn vivid mind's-eye pictures of doubles. [illegible] aways and wiping my companion's eye. But alas! The realization is rarely what we anticipate. Many a night I have wakened with a start from dreaming of the whir of the birds and the firing of the guns, to regret that I could not fall asleep and dream it all over again. After the pleasure comes when, after a day's toil the shadows softly fall, memory carries us back to the glorious days spent with gun and dog. When I arrived at home, Cartersville, Ga., Saturday night, Sunday was a long day to me, and it was with a feeling of pleasure and relief that I at last turned into bed. Just before retiring I took up the gun from its corner and aimed at the door knobs and various articles around the room, thinking how I was going to knock the birds over the next day. Oh, but I killed them that night. I made doubles, triples, and maybe even a few quadruples, but they were in my dreams.

Next morning about daybreak I awoke and got out of bed to see what sort of a day I was to have for hunting. As I looked over the eastern hills and saw the first faint light of dawn, I exclaimed:

"The gray-eyed morn smiles on the frowning night Checkering the eastern clouds with streaks of light," and with a "thank goodness for the promise of a fair day," I jumped into bed again and had my morning's sleep out. At last all was ready to start. The buggy was at the gate, we had guns, lunch, dogs and all that was necessary for a good day's sport. The party consisted of my brother, whom I shall call W—, myself two dogs, an old pointer, Rye, and a young setter named Sidney (Col. Sidney), and last but not least a diminutive negro, whose duty it was to carry the shells and game, to be cussed at when W— missed two or three birds he should have killed, and to mark the birds down. He performed all these offices very well exeept the last, in which he was sadly defieient. If either of us failed to mark the birds down we had to take the ehances of finding them again, for if we asked my "body guard" where they went he would say "right there," probably pointing thirty or forty yards from where they rose.

After a drive of five miles we came to a farmhouse where we put up our horse. After inquiring if there were any birds and where we could find them, we started out. W. was shooting a hammerless 12-gauge L. C. Smith, 26-inch barrels, cylinder bore, a fine gun for quails, while I had a hammerless 12-gauge Colt, 30-inch barrels, choke-bored. Taking it all around I never saw a better gun; not so good for quails in that country as they go to the woods as soon as flushed, but far-reaching in its range.

But before I proceed further let me say a word or two about the dogs. As I have remarked, Rye was an old pointer with no training whatever; just naturally full of bird sense. If there were any birds anywhere in his neighborhood he would find them. But Sidney! I suppose he thought there was no use in hunting when there was another dog along that would do it. At any rate he would not. W. had just gotten him from a trainer who had been handling him for the past year and had given glowing accounts of him. Sidney was a grandson of Toledo Blade and should have been a first-rate dog. During the first part of the hunt he ranged about ten feet in front of us; in the evening he was behind us about the same distance. We found our first bevy about three hundred yards from the house. W. was hunting on top of a hill in a cornfield, while I was at the foot of the hill. Rye pointed, but there was scarcely any cover and the birds flushed wild. W. was within shooting distance and fired twice; he always does that, makes no difference if the birds are a mile away, and got one bird. It did not take me long to get up to him and then we followed them. The birds went to a small piece of wood. Rye pointed when he was within about ten feet of the woods, but the birds flushed wild again. As one started for the other side I started a load of No. 8 shot after it. They may both be going right on now for all I know. All the birds got up when I fired, so we had to go for another bevy. In a small grassy cover about fifty yards from where we had flushed the birds, I started a cottontail and sent a load of shot after it without visible stopping results; but a quail flushed when I fired and I had the satisfaction of dropping it. As we could find no more birds there we came to the conclusion that my "first fruit" must have come from the old bevy. We missed Rye about this time, and after calling and whistling for him for half an hour he came to us, but immediately started back in the direction from which he had come, soon commenced roading and finally pointed in the middle of a road that ran through the field. We started to him, but the birds again flushed wild. W. and I both shot twice, and certainly scared them. We marked them down in a thick wood a considerable distance away. Rye worked beautifully, only a trifle too fast. We each got several shots but no birds. To our surprise Col. Sidney suddenly made a beautiful point. We both went in. I told W. I would ri[illegible].

"[illegible]m," he replied.

[illegible] W— scored a miss and I "wiped his eye." I asked W— if he got him. I only heard a mumble for an answer, but he looked enough, so I concluded I would not ask him again. We went on through a broomsedge field and at its far end Rye came to a point in the edge of some pine woods, Sidney backing him nicely. We kicked the birds out and each of us got one. Siduey stood steady to shot—I think it was because he was too lazy to move. We followed the birds and got several more.

As W— had killed two or three out of that bevy and had made one or two pretty kills, he was regaining his spirits, so I thought I would joke him about "wiping his eye;" but it was no go; he would not be joked. My "body guard" smiled once and I heard W— say something about "shooting his head off" and "kicking him into the middle of next week," all the time looking straight at me, so I took the hint and wisely concluded to keep still.

We went over to a well near there and ate our lunch and, after giving my "body guard" his share, and also some to the dogs, we started on. It was a long time before we found another bevy. Rye found it, as usual, in the corn, and Sidney backed him. That is one thing Sidney can do well. After admiring the dogs a moment we flushed the birds. W— scored a single and I got one right and left. As we failed to mark the birds down we asked my "body guard" how many there were in the bevy and where they went. He replied, "about twenty, and they lit right there," pointing about sixty feet away. I thought W— would surely put his threat about shooting somebody's head off into execution, but he relented.

I will not bore the readers—if I am so fortunate as to have any—longer. Suffice it to say that we found two more bevies and had some right nice shooting, and when we got home that night we had a fair bag; enough for our family and some of the neighbors. So ended a happy day afield.

Washington, D. C.

THE CONVENTION OF THE ILLINOIS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The twenty-first annual convention of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association was held at Chicago last Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 3 and 4. The first evening was devoted entirely to the discussion of game and game preservation matters, and the second evening to the regular business meeting of the association.

Heretofore, at its annual meetings, all the work of the associatiou has been rushed through in one evening, thereby preventing that deliberation so necessary to the furtherance of the objects of the association, aud perforce depriving many members of the privilege of giving expression to their views and the association from being benefited by the same. The innovation is an excellent one and should never be abandoned The direct result of this first meeting in the interest of game protection will be felt before the next legislature meets, for all the guns of the association will be cocked and primed, ready for action on the first day of the legislative session instead of the last, and equally as effective as at the tournament traps. President Shepard, the board of directors and the law committee are to be commended for the steps they have taken in this matter and their firm determination to persist in carrying out all the objects of the association.

The proceedings of the first session follow:

President W. L. Shepard called the convention to order promptly at 8:30 p. m. Secretary H. B. Meyers called the roll, fourteen clubs responding, and others coming in shortly after. President Shepard then stated he took great pleasure in announcing that the annual convention would be divided into two sessions, making it much easier for all members to discuss the matters coming before the convention, and not prolonging the sessions until after midnight, as heretofore, and that this evening would be devoted exclusively to the question of game preservation.

The readiug of the minutes of the previous meeting was postponed, on motion, until the succeeding evening. Secretary Meyers then read the minutes of the various meetings of the board of directors held during the year, showing in consecutive order all the work done, the compiling of which required much labor and for which the Secretary was commended. On motion the minutes were approved as read. (The various meetings have been detailed from time to time during the past Winter in the columns of the AMERICAN FIELD.)

Mr. Shepard: Gentlemen, you have heard the reading of the minutes for a period covering the entire year of our practical life. It also stands as the report of the board of directors. What is your pleasure with it?

Mr. Baird: I move that the report be adopted unanimously as read, which was duly seconded and carried.

Mr. Shepard: Coming under the report of officers, and wishing to be brief, I will not detain you. Mr. Mott, the chairman of our law committee, whom I will call upon, will enlighten you as to the bill drafted and presented to the legislature by himself and associates.

Mr. Mott: Mr. President and gentlemen of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association: They say that a stream can rise no higher than its source, and as most of you have left off your coats, I will offer that as my excuse for doing likewise. I have no writteu report, your secretary having encompassed all in his record. The law committee has little to show, except the killing of the Blow bill, which you have already learned through the sporting press and the minutes as read to you this evening by our secretary. This bill was prepared by Chas. H. Blow, our game warden. Mr. Blow has appeared before us on several occasions for the last two or three years, and before the National Game, Bird and Fish Protective Association as one in heart and soul for the protection of game and its best interests. He has done a great deal of work in the field in the way of enforcing the game and fish laws, and can show a larger line of couvictions than any other game warden. He believed in the theory of traveling from place to place and prosecuting all those who were killing game out of season regardless of the game laws, and not in apprehending the dealers who were selling this game. He prepared a bill which was supposed to be all right. When this bill was handed to the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association, they looked upon it quite favorably, striking out a few clauses not to their liking, and the bill was presented to the committee on fish and game legislation, and was in a fair way of going through, when, by good fortune, Mr. Baird, who was at that time at Springfield, chanced to meet a friend of his, an attorney, who is also somewhat of a shooter and sportsman, and speaking about game legislation, he informed Mr. Baird that he had just examined a bill prepared by the South Water Street merchauts. Mr. Baird asked him if it was a good bill, and he replied that "if the interests of the South Water street merchants was the make-up of a good bill it certainly was worthy of attention, and more especially so as Mr. Blow was the author of it." Mr. Baird being thoroughly interested in game protection and quite alarmed at this information, quickly notified the law commitee of the same, which resulted in its condemnation, aud the drafting of a bill by this association to offset the Blow bill. This brought about several conferences between the South Water Street merchants and this association, with the hopes of amicably adjusting matters all around. The state of facts, as brought out by these conferences, so far as the South Water Street merchants were concerned, was this: They wanted to sell Illinois game as long as it could be shot. They said this association was for the protection of game in this state, and should have nothing to do or say with game killed in other states. We told them that the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association could not be selfish, and that we would have to be fair and protect our sister states as well. We want to protect their game, and we want them to protect ours. If we will not allow the South Water Street merchants to sell Illinois game, we will not allow them to sell game from sister states, for were we to allow them to sell game from other states after the expiration of our game laws, game would be for sale at all times in our Chicago markets. The matter was fought on that line at Springfield, and the result was that the House committee adopted the bill prepared by this association, rejecting the Blow bill, and every other bill, with a few slight changes to conform with the wishes of members in the southeru part of the state. That bill was reported back by the committee and is now on the calendar, but, I am afraid, not likely to be passed, and the reason for it is that this association has not money to spend, if it would, for securing the passage of that bill at Springfield. The legislature is uot specially interested iu it. What have the members outside of the officers of this association done toward urging the passage of this bill? Very little. If every member of this association would, by letters to their friends throughout the country, urge upon them the importance attached to the passage of this bill and request them to bring to bear all the influence they may have at their command upon their representatives at Springfield for the passage of this bill, it would do far more good than a whole delegation going down and talking to them; and I feel certaiu that we would have no trouble in gratifying the wish of all true sportsmen. Mr. Blow had a strong argument that this association had indorsed his bill; and he also had strong influence, and in the overthrow of that bill and in the introduction of the bill as drafted by your law committee we had a bill there which was a death blow to the South Water Street merchants. They, too, had their representatives down there looking after their interests. The Senate committee said it would do whatever the House would do; but there was no interest in the House whatsoever. Now I wish to state, gentlemen, you can never get your bill through if you leave it to a few men in Peoria and Chicago, but each individual member should bring to bear all the influence he may possess by writing to his friends throughout the country and at Springfield; then we shall pass our bill. That, gentlemeu, is practically all we have done. If we want to protect game and be a game protective association and not a trap shooting association as Game Warden Blow termed us, you must not leave it all to your officers. After Game Warden Blow found his bill was defeated, he came up to Chicag,o and I met him one day in the office of the AMERICAN FIELD, where we drafted a bill together, he promising his hearty support to it, which I have every reason to believe he carried out. I believe he has become a game protectionist, and I believe he went down to Springfield and urged the passage of this bill with all his energy, and I would take great pleasure in presenting him as our first convert.

Mr. R. B. Organ: I move that a vote of thanks be extended to the law committee for the great work it has done.

Mr. Shepard: Mr. Organ, I will take great pleasure in presenting your motion, but with your permission I would like to call upon a few gentlemen here whose remarks are likely to be of the same tenor and who are members of this committee. I now take great pleasure in calling upon Mr. F. S. Baird.

Mr. Baird: Mr. President and gentlemen: You have listened with a great deal of attention to the report of the chairman of our committee. He has given you a great deal of information of the work of this committee and the officers of this association; also the difficulties this committee came near getting into, which they afterward were so fortunate as to get out of, and remedy the evil done. In all my experience I know of no bill presented which allowed the destruction of all game in the United States so much as this bill of Mr. Blow's, which would wipe out all game laws. It was an accident that we really found the true meaning of the bill, for we looked upon Mr. Blow in an entirely different light, but when our attention was drawn to it we started out to undo the evil. The bill now before the legislature I have no reason to believe will go through. A member of the Senate said "if we take that bill out of the House and present it to the Senate it will go into a pigeon hole and never come out." In talking with the members of the House and Senate I found a great many of them were in favor of game protection, and if we had a few energetic members down there I believe we would have passed our bill. Mr. Barnett made a statement that one firm made a shipment of 40,000 pieces of game to the East and another firm $30,000 worth from cold storage warehouses. Gentlemen, we never will have game protection until you kill the storing of game in cold storage warehouses, for there lies the danger. Let us commence right now, and when we meet next year, let us adjourn until the Fall and with unanimity wipe out this great evil. Gentlemen, I thank you.

Mr. F. A. Johnson: Mr. President and gentlemen: So far as the bill now pending before the legislature is concerned, all credit is due to the members of the law committee, who drafted it and passed upon it. By request of the committee I examined it with a great deal of care and believe it is the one to be adopted. Very little can be said after what has already been told you as to the nature of the bill. The cold storage warehouse is a thing that every sportsman in every state and every territory in the Union ought to fight against, and draw a fine bead upon and hit exactly in the center. On my way West I learned that one firm in Kansas City had made a contract for 100,000 prairie chickens and 80,000 deer to go in cold storage. The fires in Southwestern Minnesota and Northeastern Wisconsin have driven the game into small quarters, where they are butchered and shipped to Chicago and put in cold storage. We ought to set the example in this city, that no game be allowed to be sold from cold storage after the close of the open season, and it is hoped that every member of this association will be actively at work before the meeting of the next legislature, and lend his influence to the adoption of this bill.

M. R. Bortree: Mr. Chairman and gentlemen: I have found great pleasure attending these annual meetings. I have also looked forward to this meeting with a hope that I might see a new departure in things. What we need in this great state of Illinois is more interest in the subject of game legislation and game protection. I have had considerable correspondence from all over the states during the past year in regard to this great subject of game protection. I know the people look to Chicago, the state of Illinois and its legislature to see good laws enacted on this subject. As to the future, this question of cold storage warehousing of game is something that is agitating a great many people throughout the country. A gentleman in Washington wanted to know if our people would assist their association. As to game legislation in other states I believe you gentlemen are pretty well informed through the sportsmen's papers. In North Dakota they have passed, the present year, one of the most stringent game laws in the country, and the state of Texas has waked up and passed quite a good game protection law; and if I understand rightly, they have passed a law prohibiting the shipping of game out of the state. During the next few months there will be violations of the game laws all over the state which we hear of and read of, and which we should see are reported to this association. Each member of this association should look after such violations in his locality, and should act as a committee sent out from this association and prosecute all violators of the law, so that by the next meeting we may hear what each man has done toward game protection.

Mr. Mott: There were two committees that went down to Springfield in regard to our bill and legislation. We did not hear from our second committee which, I believe, accomplished a great deal of good, and we would like to hear from the President of this association as to the same.

Mr. Shepard: As to the workings and doings of this second committee I can only give as a postscript. The work done by the first committee is well known to every one of you who have read the papers; as to the second committee I wish to say in regard to Mr. Blow, and give him credit for his good intentions, that he worked faithfully and hard to carry out the purposes and intentions contained in that bill. At Springfield I had an interesting interview with Gov. Altgeld. He asked for a great deal of information as to the association and its doings. He assured me that he was in deep sympathy with this bill as it now stood, but added: "As to Section 4, regarding the rights of South Water Street merchants. I do not know just exactly how I feel on that subject, but if the representatives and senators at Springfield approve of this measure, I will sign the bill and will be only too glad to see it become a law." Since that time I have been in receipt of communications from various members of the legislature. There was a direct hint that if we had money enough we could get our bill through. Those exact words were not coupled in the communication, but I certainly placed that construction on it. I was told that it would be necessary to see the Speaker of the house; and in addition to that the writer named fifteen or twenty senators that would have to be seen or ought to be seen. That letter was not replied to, for I believed that this association did not wish to entertain it, knowing what it implied. This ended the matter.

Mr. Shepard: There is a motion before the house that the thanks of this association be tendered our law committee for the services rendered by its members in drafting and presenting the bill now before the House.

An amendment was offered to include in the vote of thanks the officers and board of directors of the association. Amendment accepted and carried.

Mr. Geo. W. Strell then offered the following resolution, and moved that it be adopted as the sense of the convention:

TO THE HONORABLE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF ILLINOIS.

WHEREAS, The Illinois State Sportsmen's Association is in annual convention assembled, this 3d day of June, 1895, and

WHEREAS, The said association views with apprehension the rapid depletion of the game of the state, and

WHEREAS, The utter annihilation of the game of the state is not far distant unless immediate action is taken to prevent same, and

WHEREAS, This association presented to your honorable body an acceptable bill to all, providing the remedy prayed, and which has been put on its passage and favorably acted upon, and known as H. B. 715, therefore,

Resolved, That the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association unanimously and respectfully begs your honorable assembly to pass immediately House Bill No. 715.

Mr. Strell: In moving the adoption of these resolutions I would state that the legislature will adjourn next week, and that immediate action is necessary; and further, if the bill does not pass, the members of this association will know who to support when next they are asked for their franchises.

Mr. Baird seconded the resolutions as read, and that they be forwarded at once by the Secretary to the legislature now in session at Springfield. Carried unanimously.

The resolutions were mailed to the Illinois legislative committees on game and fish, and to Governor Altgeld last Tuesday.

Mr. Mott: Last year, in the spirit of game protection, we levied an assessment of $10 on every club toward assisting the game warden. We discovered this Winter that we needed money to carry on the fight against the South Water Street merchants. The legislature will meet again in 1896, and unless we levy an assessment now, payable next year, we will have no money in the treasury to defray any expenses for printing or work for the passage of any bill at Springfield; and to provide for that emergency, I move you that an assessment of $5 per club, payable at our annual meeting in June, 1896, be levied for the purpose of game protection, anticipating action at the next legislature; and if this present bill goes through the legislature the assessment be withdrawn. Motion seconded by Mr. R. B. Organ.

Mr. F. S. Baird: If we are going to raise a little fund to prepare for action at the meeting of the next legislature, if we put it off now, it will be too late to act on the same at our next meeting. We are interested in the subject of game protection, and will have to send a delegation to Springfield to explain matters and talk it over with the representatives, which will require a fund. Let us be in shape for the fight at the next legislature.

Mr. Harbaugh: Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention: I think of no better way for raising this money than that a per capita tax be levied on the members of each club. I move an amendment to the motion before the house, that a per capita tax of 50 cents a member be levied on each club.

Mr. Shepard: I am compelled to rule the amendment out of order on constitutional grounds, as our constitution provides that the annual dues from each association or club shall be an amount not exceeding $10.

Mr. Mott's motion was then put and carried.

Secretary Meyers, in answering a question as to the probable cost of printing three thousand copies of the Illinois game laws, stated that when in Boston last Summer he learned that the game protective associations there printed the laws on cloth, making them proof against weather and wear, and he believed this plan should be followed in Illinois.

Mr. Baird: I make a motion that the Secretary be instructed to have printed five thousand copies of our game laws and forward fifty copies of the same to each club belonging to the association, and more if requested. Motion duly seconded and carried.

There being no further business before the house the meeting adjourned to assemble Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Sherman House, for the regular annual business meeting and election of officers.

The regular annual business meeting of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association was held last Tuesday evening, President W. L. Shepard in the chair.

Sixteen clubs responded to the roll call.

After several matters in relation to the tournaments of the association were settled, full particulars of which will appear in our next issue, the election of officers followed, resulting as follows:

President, W. L Shepard of Chicago.
First vice-president, Wilson H. Doe of Elgin.
Second vice-president, Wm. Harbaugh of Chicago.
Secretary-treasurer, H. B. Meyers of Chicago.

Chicago was selected as the place for holding the twenty-second annual convention and tournament, and the first Tuesday in June as the time.

MICHIGAN'S NEW GAME AND FISH LAWS

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The present sesssion of the Michigan legislature has made some very radical changes in the game and fish laws of the state, all in the line of better protection for our game and game fish. The open season for hunting deer is made uniform throughout the state (November 5 to November 25 inclusive). The law also provides a license feature, and as I think it will be of interest to every reader of the AMERICAN FIELD I give below the sections in full regarding the licensing of non-residents and residents.

SECTION 26. Every non-resident of the state of Michigan who engages in the hunting or killing of deer in any county in the state of Michigan shall be required to take out a license from the county clerk of the county where he proposes to locate his hunting during the open season. Each and every person non-resident of the state of Michigan shall pay a fee of twenty-five dollars. Such license shall entitle the person to hunt or kill deer in any county in the state during the open season of the calendar year for which the license bears date. One-half the fee received by the county clerk shall be by him paid over to the county treasurer to be used in enforcing the provisions of this act as the board of supervisors may direct, the balance to be paid into the state treasury to be used to pay the state game warden and his deputies.

SEC. 27. Every resident who has resided in the state of Michigan for six months, who proposes to hunt or kill deer in the state, shall take out a license from the county clerk of the county where he resides, which license shall be certified to by two witnesses or by the county clerk of said county, showing that the person to whom it is issued is a bona fide resident of the county where the license is issued. The fee for the issue of such license to a resident of the state of Michigan shall not exceed fifty cents Such license shall continue in force only for one year from the date of issuing the same, and no person shall be allowed to kill more than five deer in any one year, and there shall be attached to each deer or part of deer shipped one coupon from said license, which coupon shall be signed and detached by the person to whom the license is issued, in the presence of the shipping agent at the point of shipment.

SEC. 28. Every person engaged in the hunting or killing of deer in the state of Michigan, who is not properly licensed to hunt or kill deer under the provisions of this act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be liable to arrest by any game warden, deputy game warden, sheriff, deputy sheriff or constable of the state of Michigan, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a sum not less than fifty dollars and not to exceed five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail where such offense was committed for the term of one hundred days, or both, in the discretion of the court. Any game warden or deputy game warden, sheriff or deputy sheriff or constable of the state of Michigan is empowered and authorized to examine the license of any person engaged in the hunting or killing of deer in the state of Michigan, and the failure or refusal of such person to exhibit his license to such authorized officer when demanded shall be deemed prima facie evidence that such person is engaged in the unlawful hunting and killing of deer: Provided that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to permit the hunting or killing of deer in any county of this state where such hunting or killing is now prohibited by law.

SEC. 29. All acts and parts of acts contravening the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

The open season for trout is made fifteen days shorter than under the old law, reading from May 1 to August 15 inclusive.

The state warden, Mr. Osborn, is given an appropriation of $4,000 per year for compensation of state deputies at large, instead of $2,000 as formerly. Mr. Osborn is making a very lively campaign against violators of the game and fish laws, and is verifying the predictions of his friends that he would make the best warden Michigan ever had. During the month of April he secured the conviction of seventy violators and collected over $600 in fines.

Reports from the different counties show a marked improvement in the trout fishing over that of last year, especially gratifying results being reported from Lake and Manistee counties. Mr. Geo. W. De Haven the general passenger agent of the C. & W. M. R. R., has issued a neat little book giving the names and location of the best trout and grayling streams in the state. They will be furnished anyone upon request, and will prove of real benefit to sportsmen contemplating an outing in our state. The game warden or any of his deputies will also give any information asked for in this line.

REX.

NITRO POWDERS

PITTSBURG, PA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I always have been and am now very much interested in the correspondence in the AMERICAN FIELD in relation to shotguns and explosives. Some of the articles, however, are misleading; others are entertaining and amusing, while still others contain much valuable information for the sportsman.

In an article written by Wads, and published in the AMERICAN FIELD on March 16, the writer calls the attention of sportsmen generally to a point of excellence in Walsrode powder that he has never seen claimed either by the manufacturers of the powder or any of its admirers. He says: "I find that it has a power, possessed by no other powder, of sustaining velocity, penetration and accuracy when shot against a heavy wind," etc.

Wads has certainly got his theory badly mixed in this case, as a powder never has been and never can be made that will have a power, not possessed by any other powder, of "sustaining velocity." Sustaining velocity sounds well, but it is an impossibility, and I am not surprised that no one except Wads has made such a claim. Take a dozen charges of shot and a number of different makes of powder and fire them each charge of shot the same velocity, and each will continue throughout its course at the same rate of speed, each decreasing gradually and equally.

Wads also tells how the 29-grain Walsrode load pulverized targets when the 42, 45 and even 48 grain loads of other smokeless powder were powerless, and that they had a tendency to "drift" in a strong wind with other powders, but with Walsrode he claims [illegible] to allow for drift at 40 yards." I wonder what Capt. Brewer and other experts thought of that statement. That they have been using the wrong powder, I suppose. Wads also says that the "results of his tests coincide with the claims thus far made by Mr. Armin Tenner." If this be so I cannot see how Wads can claim for Walsrode a power for "sustaining velocity," for Mr. Tenner condemns the 29-grain load for pigeon shooting as giving too low a velocity. The 29-grain Walsrode load will give nearly 800 feet velocity, too low certainly for live pigeon shooting, whereas 42 grains of E. C. or Schultze will give 850 feet velocity; consequently these are much better loads for either targets or pigeons, even if they did prove "powerless" with Wads. The 31-grain Walsrode load will give about 850 feet velocity, but it will also give many wild patterns.

Like Wads, I wish to call the attention of sportsmen generally to one fact that cannot be denied, and that is that E. C. and Schultze powders are among the standard powders of the world to-day. That this is true is proven by the fact that a great majority of the best shots all over the world use them. During international week at London in 1894, in the principal event, sixty-two entries, twenty-eight used E. C. twenty-one used Schultze, four used Schultze and black powder, and four used French J, hardly any using Walsrode, and E. C. won more money than all the other powders put together. E. C. powder won first, second and third at both grand American handicaps. In the chief event at Monte Carlo this year, E. C. won first, second and third; Schultze fourth. In the event next in importance at Monte Carlo, Schultze won first and second, French third and fourth, while at the recent 100-bird, $100 sweepstakes, E. C. won first and second. Many more instances of success could easily be pointed out, but this is enough to show which are the successful powders.

Why is it that such crack shots as Geo. Work, Fred. Hoey and Tom Morfey use E. C., and how does it come that they can make such wonderful scores with it, if it is "powerless," as Wads says? I rather think the birds do the drifting in this case, whether the powder has the power of "sustaining velocity" or not. Sportsmen may rest assured that they will make no mistake if they use E. C. or Schultze powders, for they are standard and will give the best results.

OLD HOSS.

THE SHOCEO GAME ASSOCIATION OF NORTH CAROLINA

BALTIMORE, MD.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Shoceo Game Association, composed principally of Baltimore and New York gentlemen, is one of the most important of recently organized hunting clubs. The officers are: President, Thos. C. Pugh; vice-president, B. Holly Smith; secretary and treasurer, Perry Lee Downs; all of Baltimore. The directors are, in addition to the gentlemen named, L. Levering and E. M. Mitchell, of Baltimore, and William Stanley, of Pittsfield, Mass. The association is a stock company with thirty as the limit of membership, which is not yet quite filled.

The members being men of means and standing, the enterprise is in every way a success. They have one of the finest game preserves in the country, in Warren County, North Carolina, where deer, foxes, rabbits, squirrels, wild turkeys and quails are found in great numbers. Besides 2,000 acres, which the association owns outright, it has a twenty-year lease on 17,000 acres and expects to yearly increase the amount.

Warren County, situated in the northern central portion of North Carolina, is one of the oldest settled and most aristocratic counties of the state, long noted for its fine plantations and men of wealth. The population being entirely rural, however, and much land being covered with virgin forests, it has always been a favorite haunt of game birds and animals; indeed the plentifulness of game, particularly deer, wild turkeys and partridges, is surprising. With dogs a deer can be jumped at any time and within an hour or so of the start. Four or five turkeys and thirty or forty quails are a fair day's sport. A fox chase before breakfast will almost certainly bring at least one brush. A very successful attempt has been made to raise English pheasants and English partridges by hatching imported eggs under bantam hens. This year about 3,300 partridges, bought in North [illegible] were liberated after the [illegible] association should stimulate the formation of other clubs. The Autumn and Winter months in North Carolina are unfailingly delightful, and the game is much more plentiful than elsewhere in the Eastern states. The Shoceo Game Association was particularly fortunate in purchasing along with this land one of the handsomest plantation mansions in the state, built in the good old colonial style and embowered in a grove of magnificent oak trees.

B. D.

GUNS

SHERIDAN, ARK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I noticed some time ago in your valuable journal the question asked which is the best gun? To this question I answer unqualifiedly that the L. C. Smith gun, in my opinion, is the best gun made. I commenced shooting partridges when I was fourteen years old, with a very fine Westley Richards muzzle-loading shotgun. I have shot partridges more or loss every year since. I am now fifty years old and I enjoy a good day's shooting in the field over a good setter or pointer, as keenly as I ever did. During this long period I have owned some fine guns of different makes, and have shot guns of all the most noted makers, and I have never shot a gun that I consider the equal of the L. C. Smith hammer gun I now shoot. I have seen its superior shooting qualities shown day in and day out in the field at partridges and at the ponds at ducks.

One evening, a short time ago, I went, with two friends, to a lake to shoot ducks. My friends were shooting high grade hammerless guns of a very noted make. We had located ourselves at the lake when we noticed the ducks were passing continually through an opening some fifty yards away. We were shooting No. 5 shot (our shells being all taken from the same box), and we had about decided that the distance was too great to successfully kill the ducks, when an old mallard came whizzing through the opening. Bang! went the gun of one of my companions and down came the mallard limp and lifeless. Then the fun commenced and for about an hour and a half, as some darkies near by expressed it, it seemed that the "secesh war had commenced again." We soon noticed that my little L. C. Smith gun was not only dropping more ducks than either of the other two, but a far greater proportion of them were killed dead, very few of them swimming away. One of the party suggested that it might be the way the Smith gun was being handled. I then exchanged guns with one of the party, and the result was he killed more ducks than I or our other companion.

I see that someone urges as an objection to the L. C. Smith gun that it cocks hard. This may be so, but I have no failures to explode the primer, and what sportsman would let this stand in the way when he knew he had a gun that could be relied upon on all occasions?

While there are good guns of all makes, and I would not detract from the merits of any of them, I take my hat off to the manufacturers of the L. C. Smith, and give them all praise for putting such a gun withiu the financial reach of nearly every sportsmen.

X.

NOTES

THE unprecedentedly hot and dry weather makes the possibilities for woodcock shooting extremely bad. All damp places where birds are wont to breed and feed are dried up so that boring is out of the question, consequently they will have to locate in other quarters. Quails are unusually scarce, more so than ever before. The extreme cold of the past Winter and the greed of the rabbit hunters have well nigh exterminated them. Unless something is done to stop this illegal killing there will be very few Bob Whites in Ohio, in a year or two hence. It certainly looks blue hereabouts. Last November, while working a brace of puppies, I got nine points; out of this number I caught seven birds. I brought them home and caged them. Afterward at different times I caught one on a brace until I had gathered up quite a little bunch. They all wintered well and did splendidly until April 1, when I turned them out. These are the only birds I know of near here. Last year from my plant I had ten bevies to work on and as the ground was all wheat stubble I had quite a nice time with them and the puppies; but the first snow settled the business—not a bird escaped. Whole bevies were wiped out at a single shot.

Wooster, O. JOHN BOLUS.

A CURIOUS sight was to be seen at the Central Park menagerie, in New York, last week Thursday. There were two large wire cages in one of the inclosures, and one was tenanted by a hen which had a strange family, composed of ducklings and three little pheasants of the golden breed but a few hours old. The other inclosure contained a group of silver pheasant chicks about three weeks old, and in still another quarter was a lonely Lady Amherst pheasant chick of the same age. The pheasant chicks are fed upon chopped hard boiled eggs and finely chopped grass.

WHEN a sportsman learns of anything of general interest to the lovers of gun or rod, I believe it but right and proper that he should tell it far and wide, that others too may know of it, hence I wish to say that the new crimper made by the Ideal Manufacturing Company of New Haven is by all odds the very best I have ever used, as it crimps all lengths of shells with equal regularity and keeps the shot wad plumb and straight.

Louisville, Ky. GAUCHO.

A RECENT dispatch from Anoka, Minn., says the present season promises to be one of the best for game which has been known for some years. It is no uncommon sight to see large coveys of prairie chickens almost as tame as the barnyard relatives. Sportsmen, and those who know, say that prairie chickens, ruffed grouse and quails were never so abundant.

I AGREE with Mr. Frost most heartily in what he says regarding Amicus' remarkable shooting. It is strange that people will write such fairy tales and expect them to be believed by anyone who has ever handled a gun.

Chama, N. M. CO.

FROM present indications there will be a larger number of prairie chickens in this vicinity, this season, than for many years past, which will make better shooting for the sportsmen.

Spirit Lake, Ia. M.

THE AMERICAN FIELD, ever ready to please and benefit its readers, greets them this week with a new dress.

Hunting

FIXTURES

Brunswick Fur Club's annual foxhound trials, October 28, ——. B. S. Turpin, sceretary.

Dixie Red Fox Club's first annual meet, Rowland, Ala., October —. J. H. Wallatce Jr., secy.-treasurer.

National Fox-Hunters' Association's second annual meet, Owingsville, Ky., November 18, etc. H. L. Meaus, secretary.

THE NATIONAL FOX-HUNTERS' ASSOCIATION

"Owingsville is selected," came flashing over the wire last Saturday evening, and the people of Bath County are to be congratulated on having secured the next meet of the National Fox-Hunters' Association, while of course all Kentucky is rejoiced that this important annual event is to be held within its borders

The decision was reached at the meeting (adjourned from May 2) of the committee held in the famous old Phœnix Hotel, Lexington, Ky., on the first day of the month, and after other localities had been investigated. In regard to the committee's decision Mr. Williams, the chairman, writes us: "I wrote every fox-hunter of prominence in the United States, asking for information. I am personally acquainted with a number of fox-hunters about Owingsville, and they assure me that red foxes are more than plentiful; they actually have located no less than sixteen dens this Spring, and they will be preserved. The country they propose to hunt is totally unlike the country we were in last year, being largely blue grass pastures and woodlands. We have the affidavit of every fox-hunter that red foxes are there in abundance; also a petition from all the prominent citizens and landowners in the county urging us to come and offering to preserve the game and to do everything in their power to make it a success. Hotel accommodations are good and any number of saddle horses can be had." Mr. John L. Bosley of Winchester, Ky., also writes us: "The hunters of central Kentucky are overjoyed that the executive committee of the N. F. H. A. has given them a chance to again entertain the association, and an opportunity to wipe out the mistake and consequent failure of last year, by selecting Owingsville, Bath County. I have the most positive assurances that at least a dozen dens of foxes are now being carefully guarded and protected, so that there will be no lack of game. The accommodations are ample and reasonable, the country to be hunted is open and rolling, and the hunters will have carte blanche to ride as they please." All of which is very good news.

In the course of our report of last year's meet we had this to say: "The executive committee elected to arrange for next year's trials might with advantage add to the program an event for local hounds, with, say, $50 added. The money would be well spent, for hunting grounds would not then be likely to be run over at night, it would arouse local interest, and would help to gain and hold the good will of those whose land was being hunted over—always a great consideration in fox-hunting." And we take it as a compliment to the AMERICAN FIELD that the committee has accepted the suggestion and decided to offer, in addition to the two stakes arranged last year, an event for local hounds that would otherwise be barred from taking part in the trials; and if we might be permitted to offer a suggestion to the committee in connection with this addition to the program, it would be that one of its conditions should require competing hounds to have been owned in the district for a stated period—two or three months at least—prior to the meet.

The committee has some important matters to look after yet, but there need be doubt about them receiving capable and careful attention. What the great body of fox-hunters have to do is to make up their minds to be present, each with his best hounds; not bringing such a number as to make the meet a cumbersome affair, but carefully selecting the pick of the pack. The ladies, God bless 'em, are sure to attend; foxes will be plentiful, we are assured, and the country of a desirable character; last year's lesson will be profited by, and all arrangements are in the hands of a committee composed of experienced gentlemen and sportsmen. What more, then, is needed to insure a successful meet? Nothing. Yes, one thing, and a very important factor it will be in success or the reverse—scent. Let the N. F. H. A. offer up a sacrifice to the Weather Bureau, and prevail upon that mysterious body to divert all drouths and hot winds from Bath County, Kentucky.

NOTES

MAKING mention a few weeks ago of the Duke of Richmond and Gordon's announcement that the Goodwood Hounds would be discontinued at the end of the season lately closed in Great Britain, we expressed a belief that this is about the oldest hunt of which there is record, which is borne out by the following interesting sketch of this famous old hunt's history in our English cotemporary, Land and Water: "The Goodwood 'country' is one of the oldest in the kingdom, and a recent writer in Baily gave some interestiug particulars as to the early days of the hunt. This, it appears, is of great antiquity, the records—such as they are—suggesting that there was a hunting establishment at Charlton just about 200 years ago. Charlton is a pretty little hamlet, which nestles in the hollow immediately to the north of the Goodwood racecourse, and, being the nearest village to the stands, is nowadays the headquarters of a large contingent of trainers during the race week. As far as we know, there are no traces of the old kennels or stables, but the Charlton Hunt was for many years one of the largest and most important establishments of Southern England, and it is quite certain that its confines were much larger than those of the later Goodwood Hunt. Mr. Roper, of Eltham, came to Charlton about the middle of the seventeenth century (or a little later), and for many years he was master, though it is possible that he held office under the Duke of Bolton of that time, who was, as far as one can gather, the real owner of the establishment. During his mastership Mr. Roper spent a period of exile in France, but on the accession of William III he went back to Charlton, and shortly afterward the hunt rose to great distinction, its visitors including William III, the Grand Dukes of Tuscany, the Duke of Grafton and Montrose, and many other celebrities of the day. Charlton was headquarters, and for a long period the hunt held undisputed sway in Sussex, though for a time the Duke of Somerset was in the field with a rival pack at Petworth, which, however, was only in existence for a few seasons. Mr. Roper died in the saddle in 1715, and a year or two later the hounds were presented by the Duke of Bolton to the first Duke of Richmond, since which time they have remained in the Lennox family. About 1790, in the time of the third Duke of Richmond, the hounds were removed from Charlton to new kennels, close by Goodwood House, and there they were kept until about 1813, when the fourth Duke gave them to the Prince of Wales on his (the duke's) appointment as Governor-General of Canada. During the middle of the present century there were no hounds at Goodwood, but Lord March revived the pack a dozen years ago, and has since brought it to a high state of perfection, having introduced, among other blood, that of the Belvoir, Lord Zetland's and Lord Galway's packs. The product of these crosses has lately been in considerable demand in other kennels."

"NOW is the Summer of the fox-hunters' discontent," writes a friend. On that, as on all other things, opinions differ. For our part, we think most fox-hunters do not rebel against laying aside the horn for a portion of each year. A majority of the fox-hunters in this great country own hounds, and when that is the case a man can find many matters inseparable from the great sport of hunting the fox to claim his attention during the long Summer months. Besides, hounds and horses are all the better for a period of comparative rest, and their owners enter upon the succeeding season with more zest after a respite during the days of Sirius. Fox-hunting, like racing, or for that matter any other sport, palls on one when pursued unremittingly all the year round, so let not the bold fox-hunter harbor discontent. Rather should he turn his attention to the great equine contests which each Summer brings forth, to navigating neighboring waters in cutter or canoe, to the time-honored gentle art of Izaak Walton, or even to the modern and featureless occupation of breaking "mud saucers." These and many other pursuits and pastimes may be followed with profit to body and mind, and a change of recreation will insure all the more keenness when the Autumn tints begin to creep into the landscape and bring with them a growing desire in the fox-hunter to have a "race."

IN the British Isles the horn is never quite stilled. For at this season of the year otter hunting, a capital sport almost unknown in the United States, keeps a number of packs busy. In fact otter hunting is enjoying a revival, after having been rather neglected, except by a few ardent spirits, for some years. It appears to be rather slow to the hard riding Britishers, most of whom hunt to ride, but to those who delight in the hunting itself, love to see hounds work, and take more than a passing interest in their quarry and its habits, etc., its very genuineness commends it, and we are glad to note its present steady increase in favor as a popular and invigorating diversion. In the "good old days" hunters enjoyed hours of sport before the modern hunting man sits down to breakfast.

> "For the sound of his horn brought me from my bed,
> And the cry of his hounds which he ofttimes led," sang the poet of famous old John Peel. And otter hunting still encourages the much commended practice of early rising, to which the fact of its being a Summer sport makes it the more agreeable.

MANY widely different crosses have been given by old writers as to the origin of the otter hound—bloodhound and water spaniel, southern hound and deerhound, southern hound and rough terrier, etc., but probably the more modern writers are correct in suggesting that the otter hound is the result of selection on account of fitness for the work; for modern practice proves that any hounds can be trained to hunt the otter, and different packs exhibit variety of physical characters.

AS to the antiquity of otter hunting, there is on record a command, seven hundred years old, from bad King John to the sheriff of Somerset, "to provide necessaries for Ralph the huntsman and Godfrey, his fellow, with two men and two horses and twelve otter hounds, as long as they find employment in capturing otters in your shire."

THE Strodes Valley Hunt Club sold last week to Mr. A. Ware of Washington C. H., Ohio, an English foxhound, eighteen months old, by imported Abelard out of imported Bracelet. The price, we are informed, was fifty dollars.

Fish and Fishing

FIXTURES

Chicago Fly Casting Club's open-to-the-world tournament, August 21. F. B. Davidson, secretary.

EASTERN FISHING NOTES.

NEW YORK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The anglers of the Eastern states, as a rule, are enjoying good luck in their favorite sport. In Pennsylvania many good catches of trout have been made. In Huntingdon County, one of the remote and hardest to fish streams is known as Licking Creek, and a party of troutsmen who visited the creek lately caught over 400 very fair sized trout.

Some years ago a number of young trout were liberated in the settling pond of the West Chester water works, and the fact apparently was forgotten; but, one day last week, the water in the pond was drawn off for some purpose, and about sixty or seventy fine specimens of Salvelinus—some of them eighteen inches in length—were captured; the largest trout catch of the season in that vicinity.

A nice little mess of trout, including one of twelve inches in length, was recently caught in the Little Lehigh River by County Treasurer John D. Gossler, of Allentown. On May 24, Al Mitzel, of York City, caught the first trout ever known to have been taken from Codorus Creek. It was a beauty, too, and measured over thirteen inches in length. The lucky angler caught it at the old furnace dam, about one mile below Trout Run, with rod and line and angleworm bait. On May 23, Ed. S. Young, the general ticket [illegible] of the Northern Central Railway, in company with Hiram Hause, fished a portion of Deer Creek, Harford county, and the two fishermen made a heavy catch of fair sized trout. The same day three [illegible] vania anglers passed the day on one of the famous trout streams—Sixpenny [illegible] over fifty very fine trout. Henry Gardener and Oscar Seiberling of Tamaqua, were a-stream the same day, and made the champion catch this season for that part of Carbon County; they brought home that evening 120 fine specimens of the speckled Salvelinus, which were all over ten inches in length.

Dr. W. B. Shaner, of Pottstown, is an ardent troutsman. He made a trip recently to Berks County and brought home a fine creel full of trout; two of the largest were one foot long, a few more were eleven inches in length, and many were ten inches long. Eigh t of the largest of his catch averaged three-quarters of a pound in weight.

But the attention of anglers now has turned upon the black bass season recently opened. The prospects for grand sport with the gamy bronze-backers never was better than the present season promises. The Susquehanna River, Brandywine Creek, the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal, the Schuylkill and Juniata rivers and the Raystown branch, and many other waters, all are either furnishing good sport or show indications that good luck will soon attend the patient angler.

A number of Oxford bass fishers have already made trips to the Susquehanna, at Peach Bottom, Haines' and Octoraro Junction, and have returned with fine strings of bass.

The great sensation at present, however, among Pennsylvania fishermen, is the prospect of casting the fly for the lordly Salmo salar, in the upper part of the Delaware River. According to reports gathered from the shad fishermen who had nets set between Chester and the Delaware Water Gap, during the shad season, hundreds of salmon have been taken in the shad nets. These salmon are grilse, running from nine to fifteen pounds in weight, and are the first, undoubtedly, of those planted in the Upper Delaware in 1890, by the Pennsylvania State Fish Commission, which have returned to their native waters with the object of spawning in the cool, shallow headwaters.

Should it be proved later, by the success of salmon fishers with rod, line and the fly, that the state fish commission has succeeded in making a salmon stream of the Delaware—which was not a natural home of that lordly fish, although its waters would seem most fitting—the fact will be one of the greatest arguments possible against the promulgations of many people who deride the idea of scientific fish-culture and disbelieve in its efficacy. The Pennsylvania law permits fishing for salmon from March 1 to August 15, but none can be taken under three pounds weight; the penalty for violation is twenty-five dollars fine for each salmon illegally taken.

In New Jersey the principal fishing now is in the salt water, and the sport is better along the South Jersey coast than for many years. Weakfish, kingfish, flounders, porgies and black drum are caught along shore; and, on the fishing banks, in deeper water, sea bass are being taken.

But the freshwater anglers of New Jersey are having an innings, too. At Greenwood Lake, a few days ago, two fishermen caught 110 pickerel in one day, at the lower end of the lake; and that lake, Hopatcong, Echo and Pompton lakes, to say nothing of numerous streams and other waters, have rewarded with good catches the efforts of the bass fishermen. White and yellow perch fishing has proved fine sport to many who have visited the tidewater streams where those varieties abound.

The saltwater anglers of New York and the vicinity are having grand sport blackfishing, down on Long Island, at Sheepshead Bay, Dead Horse Channel, Rockaway Beach and numerous other places. But the experts do not waste time fishing for the tautog when the steamers are splashing around the docks; within a half hour afterward, however, the tautog will bite again as voraciously as he did before.

Bluefish and weakfish are running, too. At Bay Shore, on the Great South Bay, weakfish are reported more plentiful than ever before. All saltwater fishes are feeding; striped bass—one of the most gamy of the finny tribe—porgies, flounders, sea bass and kingfish are all being taken in quantities by the rod and line fishers. Striped bass fishing has been unusually good at Hell Gate, for the end of the Spring season, and one four and three-quarter pounder has been taken.

The boats to the fishing banks are doing good business, and a day's trip on one of them will give the fisherman some good sport. The continuance of the present warm weather will surely send in reports from many quarters of heavy runs of bluefish and [illegible] for these favorites of the angler delight[illegible] weather.

KNICKERBOCKER

NOTES

THE fishing season has opened most auspiciously in Wisconsin and Michigan. The Chicago anglers have [illegible] the fishing resorts of those states and [illegible] most excellent prospects for the [illegible]her and the mascalonge enthu- [illegible] men—Assistant Postmaster Hubbard, Fra[illegible]mith, John Matter and Ed. C. Hale—spent some days recently at Johnson's Ranch, on the North Oconto River, in Wisconsin, and reported fine takes of trout. Two men who went to Manistee County, Mich., fished the Little Manistee and Big Pine rivers and Pine Creek; they reported they caught 900 trout on the trip, the largest being a two and one-quarter pounder. For bass fishing the Turtle waters probably are not excelled in the state of Wisconsin, and a number of fishermen who style themselves the Musky Mushy Mellows are assiduous casters in those favored haunts of the gamy Micropterus. Among the members of this guild are such well-known Chicago anglers as Col. Robert Hill, E. C. Heywood, J. C. Winship, Ford C. Allen, J. W. Donnell, A. J. Cooper and Charles Haskins. Many a gamy black bass and sullen mascalonge has fallen victim to the angling skill of these enthusiasts. From the near-by town of Buchanan, Mich., only eighty-eight miles from Chicago, on the line of the Michigan Central Railway, recently came the report that grand bass fishing was to be found in Clear Lake, near that town; and a number of other lakes, adjacent, also furnish fine sport with bass. Two men, J. C. Wenger and H. A. Hathaway, recently captured nearly fifty large bass in Clear Lake, in one morning's fishing; and just below the dam across the St. Joseph River, at Buchanan, a few days since, in five hours' fishing, I. G. Holmes caught 145 pounds of bass with hook and line.

MR. J. EDMUND STRONG, vice-president and chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago Fly Casting Club, returned last Monday from Dudley's resort, on Prairie River, eighteen miles from Merrill, Wis., where he had been spending several days fly fishing for trout. Mr. Strong had a royally good time, filling his creel with the spotted beauties every time he went out, and he was soon dubbed "the expert at Dudley's;" this title he modestly denies, but admits he did some splendid casting—a feat made easier by his membership in the Chicago Fly Casting Club—and creeled his beauties in approved manner. The water in the river was in many places four to five feet deep, owing to heavy rains, but this did not prevent wading, as the river is wadable throughout its course in that vicinity, and is full of trout, guaranteeing sport at all times. Henry Dudley is a most accommodating host, keeps a good house, serves good meals and provides comfortable beds. Mr. Strong had a peculiar experience and one which surprised him. Late one evening, while casting with his five-ounce rod, and the light so dim he could not see his flies, he felt a sting on his forehead, but paid no further attention to it and kept on landing a trout now and then. While thus engaged a fellow angler approached him and said: "Why, Mr. Strong, there's a fly sticking in your forehead!" No one ever knew any flies to be on Mr. Strong, yet when he put his hand up to feel he discovered that the sting he had felt was one of his flies, which proved to be the dropper; the snell had broken close to the shank when it hit him, the barb being well imbedded. A local storekeeper, who is somewhat of a surgeon with a sharp penknife, had to cut it out and a scar only the size of a pinhead now marks the spot, though Mr. Strong declares he imagined his head was being cut open.

THE government of the dominion of Canada has refused to enter into the arrangement proposed by a deputation from the Anglers' Association of the St. Lawrence River, which asked that the five dollar license fee for fishing in Canada waters at the Thousand Islands be withdrawn, promising in exchange for the concession that the alien labor law of the United States would not be enforced against Canadian boatmen who ply their trade of rowing tourists in the American waters of the St. Lawrence. It is said the position taken by the Canadian government is that it cannot take cognizance of unofficial representations in international matters. If the offer were made in such way that it would be binding, it might be considered, but, coming as it does from private parties, nothing can be done. This will be a disappointment to the association, as the deputation was courteously received, and the members thereof had hoped their errand would result differently.

GOOD fly-fishing has commenced in the Sierras, and anglers who wish fine sport can now find it in Cañon Creek, about five minutes' walk from Towle's Station says the San Franci[illegible] Chroniele, in a recent issue. The [illegible] leaves San Francisco at 5:30 p. m. [illegible] Towle's at 3:08 the next morn- [illegible] fir[illegible]t of the coming day illumines the eastern sky hundreds of hungry trout can be seen leaping for the early flies. Trolling is good on the big lakes, and a few days will bring good fly-fishing on the McCloud and the headwaters of the Sacramento River. On Friday night, May 24, State Fish Commissioners Murdoch and Harry Emeric started for Baird Station, where they anticipated great sport on the McCloud River. One of the biggest catches of the season was made on the south branch of the Gualala, a few days since, by four anglers who landed in one day between 400 and 500 good sized trout. Many fine trout are being taken by trolling in Tahoe and Independence lakes, but the wily fishes will not rise for the fly as yet. The state fish commission has been gratified by the announcement that the United States Fish Commission has been collecting a shipment of black bass, and that the California commission may depend upon receiving ere long about 2,500 yearling bass for distribution.

THE black bass fishing at Put-in-Bay and the adjacent islands in Lake Erie was superb this Spring, the best known in years, it is claimed. In six hours, one day, two Sandusky, O., anglers caught 143 bass, all of good weight, at Kelley's Island. No such run of bass has been known of late years. The following are some of the catches claimed: Four Cincinnati anglers came back from Put-in-Bay with 653 black bass, which they caught in three days. C. Martin, John Feick, John Smith and August Fettel, of Sandusky, returned from Old Hen Island, near Put-in-Bay, with 461 large bass, caught in a day and a half. Mr. George Beebe of the Beebe House, Put-in-Bay, and a friend from Cincinnati caught 118 bass in one day. The prize catch of the season thus far, however, was made by Reuben Turner, ex-treasurer of Erie County, Mayor Stoaker of Milan, and two other gentlemen, who, in four days, caught 1,327 bass, averaging in weight from two to five pounds each.

DR. S. P. BARTLETT, the superintendent of the Illinois State Fish Commission, recently investigated the strange disease which has been killing off hundreds of fishes in the Fox River above and below Elgin, in that state. Dr. Bartlett declares that during an experience of over twenty years, in fish-culture, he never has seen a similar disease affect fishes in running water, although common to them when inhabiting stagnant waters. It is a kind of fungus and suckers constitute nearly all the dead. Specimens of the diseased fishes have been sent to Washington and to the state university at Champaign, where the disease will be scientifically considered. It seems the game fishes have not been affected as yet, at least not to any extent; but it will be wise to run down the cause of the disease lest it should attack the better varieties.

FISHING is splendid here now; pike (wall-eyed), pickerel, perch, bass and the like are taken in large quantities every day. There are a good many sportsmen here now, and they are having exceptionally grand success. These lakes will soon be surrounded by cottages, some very fine ones, too. This is bound to be a great resort; in fact, it is now, the number of lakes making it possible to fish in most any wind by changing fishing grounds. The authorities have taken it in hand to raise the lake about two feet, which will give more surface for the fishes to spawn in shallow water, and deepen the channels for the steamboats, of which there are some fifteen or twenty. Accommodations are ample for all comers; our people are enterprising and will keep abreast of the times.

Spirit Lake, Ia. M.

FISHING is excellent at many points in Minnesota. On May 19, on the north arm of Minnetonka Lake, Dr. O. P. Sutherland and Wm. R. Miller caught a fine string of black bass, several of which weighed four and one-half pounds. It is said that so far this season the bass have not bit at the lower lake; all the catches have been made in the upper lake. At Lake Charles, one of the seven or eight beautiful lakes near Elysian, in that state, a party recently caught a twenty pound pickerel as the big fish of their string. Fishing parties are numerous there, and grand catches are made daily at some of the lakes mentioned.

NEAR Auburn, N. Y., the bold acts of piratical fishers have so depleted the waters, especially those inhabited by brook trout, that in self-protection the law-abiding anglers have organized "The Cayuga County Anglers' Club." The officers elected for the ensuing season are: President, George B. Wright; treasurer, George Snyder; secretary, Gus S. Baker. The club will lease about five miles of brooks in the vicinity of Auburn, and will see that the trout therein are properly protected. The club also intends to attempt the punishment of all violators of the fish laws who may be detected within its reach.

AT Marinette, Wis., was held recently a meeting of the Wau Che Weusche Club. The club now numbers the following members: A. C. Merryman, W. A. Brown, J. E. Case, W. S. Herman, Will Steinle, A. D. Curtis, Ned Dafter, Fred Baker, Wm. Smith, Chas. Greene, C. O. Josslyn and W. F. Overbeck. The club controls about six hundred acres of land on the Thunder River in which are several lakes, all of the lakes and streams teeming with trout and other varieties of fish. It will be incorporated and improvements will be made converting the property into a permanent fishing and hunting preserve.

THE largest lake trout ever taken from Newfonnd Lake, N. H., was captured on May 20 by G. W. Cross, a lad aged fifteen years. The fish weighed twenty pounds six ounces, and measured thirty-five inches in length and twenty-one and one-half inches girth. Newfound Lake has been long noted for its excellent early fishing. On the same day that young Cross hooked his fish, a fifteen and one-half pounder was captured by E. C. Paige, of Alexandria, and other fishermen who were present during the last week of May landed a number of large trout and landlocked salmon.

A SHORT time ago the Pennsylvania State Fish Commission received information that parties were illegally netting black bass and wall-eyed pike at the mouth of the Juniata River, and placing the fishes in live boxes, whence they could be taken and sold during the open season. A fish warden was sent there, with instructions to capture and prosecute the offenders; but he misunderstood his duty, merely liberated forty-three bass and 100 wall-eyed pike, destroyed the nets and the live boxes, and allowed the fish pirates to escape.

A RECENT dispatch from Wilkesbarre, Pa., says a man named Luboch was arrested last week at Butzbook's Landing, and convicted of taking black bass from the Susquehanna River in the close season. He paid a fine of twenty dollars and costs of three dollars and ninety cents. The Luzerne County Sportsmen's Club is sharp after all violators of the fish laws, and keeps a standing offer of a fifty-dollar reward for the arrest and conviction of any violator.

THE fishermen of Oshkosh (Wis.) and vicinity, numbering 100 or more, have formally decided to fight the Buckstaff game law passed at the last session of the legislature, which they claim puts an end to net fishing in the state. F. W. Houghton, an attorney, has been hired. Active operations will begin and the fishermen will not rest until the constitutionality of the law is decided by the Supreme Court.

ON Thursday, May 30, two anglers of Syracuse—Messrs. Peter Pfohl and Robert Gorhes—made a fishing trip to Oneida Lake. They enjoyed great sport and brought home a big mess of fish, consisting of seven pike, twelve black bass and fourteen pickerel. The total catch weighed sixty pounds, and Mr. Gorhes captured one bass of four and three-quarters pounds.

A MERRY party of Sedalia, Mo., anglers, Frank Monroe, Ben Blair, Bouldin Bowers, Tom Fletcher, Walter Morey, Joe Hoffman, Walter Ott and Rudie Frank, left home a few weeks ago bound for Deer Creek, where they intended to spend two weeks in camp. They carried a full outfit for fishing and hunting and anticipated a grand outing.

RECENT reports say that for many years past the trout fishing on the upper Sacramento and Mc Cloud rivers has not approached the sport now promised fly-fishers in those waters this season. Trout are very abundant in those streams and their tributaries, and with continued warm and pleasant weather the trouting will prove excellent.

THE Old Terre Haute (Ind.) Fishing and Hunting Club recently filed articles of incorporation in the recorder's office for Vigo County. The following gentlemen are directors for the ensuing year: August Ohm, August Fromme, Joseph Mauck, D. W. Moody and C. H. Goldsmith.

MR. N. C. BRUCE and Geo. Brown, of Oshkosh, Wis., caught last Friday week six hundred brook trout in the Evergreen waters near Antigo, Wis. This is the largest catch so far this season. We are informed, also, that the trout fishing will be good there the entire season.

A PARTY of Boston anglers recently returned from a ten days' fishing trip to Lake Winnipiseogee, N. H., and reported a catch of eighty-nine fine lake trout, although they claim the fishing this season is not up to the average of other years.

IN Illinois Gov. Altgeld has appointed, as fish wardens, I. B. Toomey, of East St. Louis, and Henry H. Sweet, of Chicago.

Natural History

THE REPTILES OF MICHIGAN NO. 18

BY MORRIS GIBBS

Spineless Soft-Shelled Turtle—Trionyx muticus (Ll. S.).—I have met with one individual which was undoubtedly of this species. It was taken in the river in Allegan County at about the forty-third parallel. I know nothing of the habits of this turtle, but from what I can learn it is judged that the nature of the creature is quite similar to that of the last species. Dr. Miles, in the State Geological Report of 1861, says:

"This species seems comparatively rare. I have seen but a few specimens, which would indicate that its range is confined to the southern portion of the state."

Though often rated as poisonous by the ignorant, these two species are undoubtedly excellent as a food article, and are known to be considered as choice for soup by capable judges in some quarters.

Snapping Turtle—Chelydra serpentina.—Someone has said that all turtles snap, and, therefore, the name snapper should be applied to all. But this is not so, for although most turtles are quick in their motions of head and jaws, there are many which are very deliberate in their movements, and some which cannot be irritated so that they will bite. The species under consideration, however, is known to all from its exceedingly pugnacious disposition. It will make every effort to escape to its deep pool or miry retreat when assailed, but when cornered it will fight with a ferocity and hang on with a bulldog tenacity that are as amusing as curious. Nothing daunts it, and in its blind rage it will seize a red hot iron, the sharp edges of any instrument or any object presented to it. Nor does it learn by experience, but will continue to snap at everything which moves near it, when the futility of its attack ought to be apparent even to its dull brain.

Its movements in striking are so rapid that one wonders how the sluggish creature can possess such quick motions. The manner of darting at an object is not remarkably different from the principle of a snake's striking, only that the snake strikes from the slack allowed from the lateral curvature of the neck and forepart of the body, while the snapper obtains its slack from its neck which it depresses and draws into its shell. Its accuracy in striking is remarkable, and greatly excels the, at best, uncertain movements of the snake; for while a snake will often, when excited, miss an object the size of the hand, the snapping turtle rarely fails to seize the object aimed at, even if it should be a small twig. Like the snake, too, the snapper immediately recovers its guard, so to speak. The instant it strikes it jerks back its head. If it misses, it generally darts forward again and again; but if it secures its hold it hangs on with a grip that nothing will shake, and from which it can only be loosened by a direct pull, or by the twisting method sometimes employed in separating bulldogs.

Years ago we boys used to secure some good-sized turtles and make them fight. There was a sunken pen where the farmers washed sheep. It was situated between two ponds and was fed by a small stream which was often dry in the hot months. The snapper is much given to travel, and in going from pond to pond specimens would often fall into this pen-trap. We would get them out on the grass, and two of us, each with a big turtle controlled by their long, easily held tails, would advance them toward one another. When they had come within six inches or a little more, they would strike out at each other, securing holds wherever opportunity offered, generally maintaining their grips until they cooled off for the time unless we tore them apart by main force. Immediately after losing their grips they would go at it again as hard as ever. Three times out of four they would get jawed and could be separated only by twisting.

It is not my intention to advocate this kind of amusement, on the contrary, our thoughtless, boyish acts were reprehensible in the extreme; I wish simply to show the blind, unconquerable desire to bite which these creatures possess. Moreover, allow me to say that the snappers were not injured to any extent in these encounters, and were apparently as fresh after a half-hour's engagement as if they had just been taken from the water. Their leathery, almost bony heads are proof even against the horny mandibles, while their little sunken eyes are so situated that injury cannot reach them. An engagement between worst belligerents of the pond cannot possibly result as disastrously as an afternoon's contest at the college game of football often does to the applauded contestants.

The snapping turtle is largely carnivorous and feeds on putrid as well as fresh food, but prefers a fresh flesh diet.* I have frequently observed it feeding at the bottom of a pond or stream, when it has been seen to be very deliberate. It is very partial to fish, and I doubt not that its food largely consists of finny prey. The strength of the animal is prodigious, and it secures food where other and weaker animals would fail. Not rarely it robs the angler of his string of fish, and does the theft so silently that the loss is not discovered until too late to be prevented. Once when I was with a party splashing for bass and floating down the river, we camped on the bank and left a string of fifty pounds of small-mouthed bass in the river to keep fresh. The next morning, when we started, there were but two perfect fishes left; most of them had been eaten, the heads alone remaining on the line. I have also been robbed in broad daylight by these turtles.

The snapper prefers deep pools in rivers, and is more frequently to be seen in the spring, basking on the overturned trees and river debris at the outside of the bends. In these situations it is not uncommon to see ten to twenty individuals perched about, ready to plunge into the water at the first intimation of danger. If one is anxious to secure a turtle for the table, or for a specimen, my advice is to shoot it with a charge of fine shot. If the turtle is shot with the largest-sized bullet the creature will escape, but fine shot, in its head, usually will keep it from sinking at once, and it may be captured readily if the attempt is made quickly.

The flesh is excellent when properly cooked, and the soup—when prepared by one who understands the culinary process—is "out of sight." When cooked poorly and the soup is thin and watery—as I have sometimes found it—the first impression with a novice is often fatal to a repetition of the experiment. We are informed that there are ten, twenty, and even up to ninety-nine kinds of meat in a turtle, but these figures are rather high. There are three kinds, or, rather, three flavors or grades of meat in this animal: The leg meat is the most abundant, and the poorest, if such a term can be applied where all is good and tender; the neck meat is still better; while the portion lying along each side of the spine, and which has to be cut out from its bony surroundings, is the best. The amount of nourishing material in a turtle is remarkably small for the weight of the creature, and, at best, we can secure but little from the boxed carcass. It is no wonder that cooks are so particular to waste nothing in preparing diamond-back terrapins for the table. I am informed that nothing is eliminated from the terrapin's internal anatomy excepting the gall bladder, when it goes to make the detectable soup.* I have seen snappers which would weigh nearly thirty pounds, but most of the large ones hereabouts will range from fifteen to twenty pounds. The meat for cooking, from a ten-pound turtle, will not go much beyond a pound in weight.

In the latter part of May, or, more often, in June, the females leave the water and deposit their eggs in light, dry soil. In order to secure proper quarters they have to travel frequently across a field or grove, and at these times may be found at quite a distance from water, and this, too, very often in the daytime. A hole is scooped much as in the same manner of other turtles, and the eggs are dropped therein. The eggs are almost perfectly spherical, perhaps we could say oblate as they are more or less compressed. They do not at all resemble the eggs of the smaller species, which are always, so far as I can learn, long and nearly elliptical. The eggs are, so far as my observations go, from sixteen to twenty-nine in number; but, as I am well satisfied that the larger snappers lay more eggs than the smaller ones, it is fair to suppose that this number is often exceeded. I am inclined to think the size of the egg increases with the size of the turtle, at least this was shown to be the case in one instance. In one case in which the turtle was only eight inches in length of carapace, the eggs were only about two-thirds of the size of those of much larger specimens. Some eggs are less than an inch in diameter and I have seen them nearly an inch and one-half in size.

Can a turtle be drowned in water? This is a question which has interested me for a long time, and, as yet, I have never been able to satisfy myself in regard to it. Of course, I understand that in time a turtle would succumb if compelled to remain below the surface, but what length of time would have to elapse I cannot tell. I have beheld a large snapper feeding at the bottom of the river, and saw it remain in [illegible] position for over an hour, during which time [illegible] moving its jaws and apparently was quite [illegible]. Twice during this time a small bubble of [illegible] from its nostrils and came to the surface [illegible] moved away and I lost sight of it. [illegible] large stone to a snapper's leg and [illegible] strength of the animal enabled it to [illegible] and the experiment was nil.

I decided to chloroform a large snapper and endeavor to learn something of the action of the lungs, and whether it could resist death in this form. At the first application of the saturated sponge to the snapper's nose, he darted and seized it in his strong mandibles and jerked it into his shell. Then I had him, and in due time, by constant attention and with an outrageous expenditure of chloroform, I completely subdued the old fighting mossback. At last the ludicrous sight of a thoroughly anæsthetized snapping turtle was presented. It was an amusing spectacle—this savage turtle, lying limp and apparently lifeless. I opened its sharp, hooked jaws, and freely handled his powerful, but now nerveless legs. This fellow, anæsthetized, with his flabby legs and lolling head, looked much like the old dead mossbacks which are found about the margins of ponds each Spring.*

Finally, after the application of the chloroform was discontinued for a length of time, his serviceable but ill-looking flippers began to vibrate spasmodically, very soon one of the closed eyes was exposed, and then the other, much after the manner of the opossum in emerging from one of its voluntary lethargic spells. In time it perfectly recovered, and again gave evidence of its innate viciousness by savagely biting at everything as before. It is probable that a snapping turtle could be ultimately killed by constant application, and the expenditure of large quantities of chloroform, but it is not readily done, as I convinced myself. The reason for this is evident. As soon as the turtle comes under the influence of the drug, it lapses into a state not inaptly comparable to the condition in which it passes the cold months. In hibernation it probably breathes much less frequently, and, also, when under the influence of chloroform ceases to breathe to a large extent. This the turtles and other reptiles can do, as they are cold-blooded and do not require the constant supply of fresh air that is indispensable to birds and other warm-blooded creatures.

We may say that the voluntary act of stopping the respiration when below the surface of the water corresponds to the involuntary cessation which spasmodically results from anæsthesia. Therefore, whether confined at the bottom of a pool or subjected to the continued effects of an anesthetic, it is reasonable to suppose that a water turtle—either the snapper or leather-back—could resist death for a long time. If the snapper and soft-shell spend the colder months in the mud and water, and this is stated as a fact by many writers, then the creatures must surely cease breathing during their hibernation, or else adopt an entirely different form of respiration from the one made use of when on land. Interesting experiments might be made to ascertain whether the snapping turtle takes its Winter sleep in the mud, dry earth or water. If anyone has ever met with a snapper in December, January or February, will notes kindly be given in the AMERICAN FIELD? If turtles can live continuously in water (can they?), why is it necessary for them to hibernate? Why can they not live in water, under the ice, like their cold-blooded companions the fishes? I have seen live frogs in midwinter and plenty of lively tadpoles, under the ice, in February. What do we know about it, anyway? For all that is proved to the contrary, swallows may hibernate in the mud, but few of us believe it.

Much space has been given to the snapping turtle because it is our best known species and is so generally distributed. It is known from Nova Scotia to Ecuador, South America.

*Nothing could be more ridiculous than the notion of fattening a snapper in a swill barrel. Because the creature continues to live in the reeking mass of garbage it does not follow that it eats the conglomeration, for it is hardly reasonable to suppose that a wild flesh-eating reptile is going to gain flesh by being confined and made to wallow in sour milk and kitchen accumulations. I have known of snappers dying in such quarters.

There is much less than a half pound of meat in a diamond-back terrapin, and at five dollars apiece the luxury comes high; therefore, epicures can be excused for eating everything. Moreover, fashion dictates and we follow; surely it is no worse than eating the raw oyster entire, a creature immeasurably below the insects and worms.

*I have never been able to satisfy myself in regard to the selected quarters of hibernating turtles. It may be that the dead turtles which we find along the shores have succumbed to starvation, but this is hardly probable in the case of so vigorous a creature. I prefer to think that the [illegible] severe Winter is the chief cause of this occasional [illegible] decimation; at least, more dead turtles are to be found [illegible] a rigorous Winter, as I have carefully noted.

NOTES

A SINGULAR story is told of a crane which carried a message from South Russia to the Upper Nile country. One day in December, 1892, Slatin Bey, a former governor of one of the Egyptian provinces, who was a prisoner at Omderman, was summoned to the palace of the Khalifa Abdulla. The Khalifa handed him a small metal capsule, which contained papers, and commanded him to open it and read the papers if he could. The capsule was opened and two papers, each about the size of a visiting card, were disclosed. Upon the papers, in French, German and English, was the statement that the capsule had been fastened to the neck of a crane that had been bred on the estate of Herr Palz-Fein, at Tskanea Nova, in the province of Tauric, Russia, and the finder was requested to [illegible] of the date and place of the capture [illegible] Palz-Fein. The bird, which was the [illegible] of the, Grus cinerea, was liberated [illegible] Mahdist hunter killed it in Dongola, in November, 1892, some 1,500 miles up the Nile River. This conveyance of a message from Europe to Central Africa, by a bird, is one of the few instances of the kind on record.

A RECENT issue of the European edition of the New York Herald says: "At a London sale rooms recently the skin of a great auk, a bird believed to be extinct, was offered from the collection of Sir Frederick Milner, M. P. The specimen in question is believed to have come either from the Orkneys or from the coast of Iceland, and is guaranteed genuine to a feather. There are about eighty known skins and only twenty-four of these are in Great Britain, ten being in museums and fourteen in private hands. The bidding started at 100 guineas, and slowly rose to 350 guineas. As, however, the reserve price was not reached, the specimen did not change hands. It is believed the bird will eventually go to one of our museums. At the same sale an egg of the great auk was offered. Other specimens have fetched as much as 300 and 260 guineas, but that in the market yesterday, though the bidding started at 100 guineas, only reached 180 guineas, at which price it was bought for a private museum in the neighborhood of Regent's Park."

THE managers of the New York Zoölogical Society held a meeting the night of May 22, at the residence of the secretary, Mr. Madison Grant. President Andrew H. Green presided. Charles T. Barney and Madison Grant were elected members of the board of managers. The powers of the executive committee were enlarged so as to give the committee entire control of the management of the affairs of the society during the interim between the meetings of the board. The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the president. Among those present were Andrew H. Green, Charles A. Dana, Andrew E. Parker, Hugh N. Camp, Charles E. Whitehead, Eugene Schieffelin, C. Grant La Farge, Winthrop Chanler, John L. Cadwalader, Wager Swayne, L. V. F. Randolph, Robert L. Miles, Austin Corbin and J. Seaver Page.

ON May 5, a homing or carrier pigeon, having an aluminum band around one of its legs upon which was marked C. H. C., 402, '94, was killed three miles west and four miles south of Beecher, Ill. Thinking that the owner would be glad to know what became of his pigeon I forward the above information.

Chicago, Ill. F. W. MYRICK.

A RECENT dispatch from Crockett, Tex., says that two young men who were fishing in the Neches River, twenty-seven miles below that place, were attacked by alligators which upset the canoe, and the unlucky fishermen were torn in pieces by the saurians.

IN the central portion of Iowa, the farmers are much alarmed at the discovery recently of small swarms of the seventeen-year locusts, which devoured everything in that state seventeen years ago.

NEAR New Paynesville, Minn., on May 31, a freight train on the "Soo" railroad ran into an army of caterpillars migrating across the track, and was delayed by the obstruction for three hours.

Travel

A DANGEROUS ENCOUNTER WITH A RHINOCEROS

The following narrow escape from death, when hunting a rhinoceros, was taken from a letter written by a sportsman at Fort Kikiyu, British East Africa, on December 22 of last year, and published in the Field of London:

"On the morning of the 11th the doctor got through the river, and I started to return here. We had marched about ten miles, the road terribly muddy and heavy, when I saw a rhinoceros close to the road, and determined to have him. I started off with two men, each with his Snider—one a Swahili who had been with me ever since I came out, and the other a Somali who unfortunately knew no lingo but his own, and turned out anything but useful in an emergency. Getting to within 100 yards, I put two bullets into him, when he went off at a great rate, we after him, and I managed to put a couple more into him on the journey; but these, of course, would be only minor details, though I made sure the first two would bring him down before long. After [illegible] mile, he stood, and we came [illegible] place—not even a stone or tuft [illegible] would have mattered if the men had [illegible] were about, and obeyed my orders; but directly after I had fired, instead of lying down flat, while the animal was looking to see where the shot came from, the fool of a Somali blazed off his gun and then ran for his life. The old rhino saw the smoke, and came down on us full steam ahead; this frightened the Swahili, and away he went, and I was left alone, for I knew it was hopeless to try to run away. I let him come to within about ten yards, and then made a rush to pass by him obliquely, trusting that he would not be able to turn sharp; but he doubled on me like a hare, and though I dodged all I knew he was too quick for me, and I soon found myself sailing through space. I no sooner touched ground than I was up and off like a tennis ball, shouting to the men to fire; the rhinoceros obeyed sharp and fired me up again, and hardly let me reach the ground before he repeated the operation. The last time I came down right on my head and was so dazed that I could not move, and the old beast stood nosing at me viciously, but could not get his horn into me as I was flat on the ground, so at last he smashed his foot down on my chest, which, as may be imagined, with about two tons of beef behind it, fairly stove all the breath out of me.

"Just as I began to think it was all up, he suddenly turned and left me, and at the same moment I made a final grand effort in the opposite direction. Whether he suddenly thought it was time to go and get his own wounds looked after or whether my Swahili managed to hit him with a random shot I do not know, but he left for good, and I was very thankful, for I only managed to get a few yards and my legs failed me. Thank goodness I never lost my senses for a moment, so that when my men came running up expecting to find me dead I was able to give all directions.

"I do not know how the beast managed it, but he tore my right boot, a shooting boot, tightly laced, clean off. He evidently missed my skin and hooked the boot off. My men carried me splendidly and only put me down twice in thirteen miles, and those I sent back to M. did some wonderful marching. They had traveled ten miles with me before the accident happened; they then went back and reached Dr. M—'s camp, twenty-three miles, at 1 a. m. He gave them two hours to feed and started off at 3 a. m., reaching here at 11 at night, thirty-eight miles, so these fellows had no sleep and very little food and marched seventy-one miles in thirty-eight hours over very muddy roads.

"It was awfully good of the Doctor to come back, for he has a sore foot and marched those thirty-eight miles right through in slippers. He found two ribs had been smashed off the breast bone on the right side and stove in, and a wound in the thigh, which is healing beautifully. I attribute my marvelous escape chiefly to a pair of leather breeches; these, being loose and strong, turned the beast's horn slightly and he never had a straight fair dig. One dig went through the right leg of my breeches and through the inside of the left, bruising the flesh badly; but the point of the horn did not enter. He also hooked the watch pouch off my belt and tore my shirt without wounding me. The whole affair was very marvelous.

"F. G. H."

NOTES

THE pleasure of a trip through the great lakes is to be enhanced this season by the opening of the palatial steamship line of the Great Northern Railway, which will run two magnificent, fast, twin-screw steamers—the Northwest and the Northland—between Buffalo, N. Y., and Duluth, Minn., where connection will be made with the trains of our most northerly transcontinental route. The Northwest was launched and put into service last Summer, but the twin ship—the Northland—was launched recently, and is now fitting out to go into commission for the season. These palatial lake steamers are modern culminations of everything for the speedy, luxurious and safe transit of passengers through the wonderful waterway of the great American lakes, and a trip from Buffalo to Duluth will be the very ideal of Summer travel. The boats are modeled after the "ocean greyhounds" of the present era. They are steel built vessels of 5,500 tons burden, 386 feet long, 44 feet wide and 33 feet in depth. They are propelled by twin screws, driven by quadruple-expansion engines of great power, and will average about twenty miles per hour when running. Each steamer will carry between 500 and 600 first-class passengers, between 200 and 300 second-class passengers, and a crew of 144 men. The boats are provided with a double line of staterooms on each side of the saloon cabin, all handsomely finished, elegantly furnished, well lighted and perfectly ventilated. Each has an elegant dining room which will accommodate 150 people at one time. The Northwest made a special trip to Chicago the past week, and was on exhibition to the public Wednesday and Thursday. On Friday, June 7, she left for Duluth, and upon arriving there will enter upon her regular schedule of trips between that place and Buffalo, alternating with her twin vessel—the Northland. Passengers at Chicago desiring to take the lake trip by these magnificent steamers can leave that city upon the boats of the old and favorably known Lake Michigan and Lake Superior Transportation Company, connecting with the Northwest and Northland at Mackinac. This sumptuous lake line, the Northern Steamship Company, is the consummation of a plan long conceived by Mr. J. J. Hill, the president of the Great Northern Railway, who certainly is to be complimented at the magnificent fruition of his great scheme. Parties desiring information regarding the running schedule of these steamers, rates of fare, etc., will be courteously received by Mr. Wesley M. Lowrie, the general passenger agent of the line, at his office, No. 220 South Clark Street, Chicago.

THE Woman's Building of the Cotton States and International Exposition which opens at Atlanta, Ga., September 18, is a complete and beautiful structure, being the choice of many competitive designs, submitted after wide advertising in architectural and other journals over the United States, and is entirely the work of Miss Elise Mereur, of Pittsburg, Pa., one of the rising architects of that section. Its location in the grounds of the exposition is admirable, being as it were a central figure, to which point the vast throng will surely gravitate. It overlooks the beautiful lake, and is near the Liberal Arts, Government and Electricity buildings. It will mark in the history of the South an epoch; the first occasion in which women participate, in a public way, in an affair of interstate and international scope. Among the finest exhibits in the Woman's Building will be one showing the work of aboriginal women in America. This exhibit, now at the Smithsonian Institution, will comprise all forms of this work, from the relics of prehistoric times down to the work of the Indian women of to-day. The collection of this exhibit, a large part of which is already at the Smithsonian, is in charge of Professor Otis T. Mason, who had charge of the exhibit of woman's work at Chicago, and is well known as the author of "Woman's Work in Savagery," recently published.

THE announcement of the opening of the Providence Line on June 3 was hailed with delight "by all lovers of comfortable travel." This line is without exception the route for all travelers desiring to visit Boston, Providence, Worcester and New England and the Maritime Provinces, combining the advantages of the longest water route and shortest rail ride, assuring passengers a full night's rest with an early arrival at destination, and the sail through Narragansett Bay and on the Providence River in the early morning or evening is a delightful feature and will well repay the early riser in the morning. A novel feature of this line, possessed by no other on the Sound, is the main deck café, where passengers may while listening to a superb orchestra enjoy the cuisine of a first-class club or restaurant. The most distinctive feature, however, of this line and one so often spoken of by travelers, is the uniform courtesy shown by its officers and employees to travelers, which is the more appreciated because so often denied the traveling public.

An Accomplished Fact

May 19 the Nickel Plate Road inaugurated a new train service. The new Summer schedule affords the same number of trains as before, including through service between Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston. The improvements also embrace the shortening of time of trains between all of the above cities. City ticket office, 111 Adams Street, telephone Main 389. Depot, 12th and Clark streets, telephone Harrison 200. Advt. 66

Facilities for Travelers

The Nickel Plate Road now offers greater facilities to the traveling public than ever, the improved service having been inaugurated May 19. No change of cars between Chicago, New York and Boston in either direction. Superb dining cars between Chicago and Buffalo in both directions. Trains leave Chicago 8:05 a. m. daily except Sunday; 1:30 and 9:20 p. m. daily for Fort Wayne, Fostoria, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; 1:30 p. m. train arrives New York 6:30 and Boston 9 o'clock the following evening. City ticket office, 111 Adams Street, telephone Main 389. Depot, 12th and Clark streets, telephone Harrison 200. Advt. 65

Kennel

FIXTURES

SHOWS

Canada's Industrial Exhibition's seventh annual dog show, Toronto, September 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. C. A. Stone, superintendent.

Orange County Fair's dog show, Newburg, N. Y., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. Robert Johnston, secretary.

Omaha Kennel Club's second annual show, Omaha, Neb., September 18, 19, 20 and 21. E. L. Marston, secretary.

New England Kennel Club's second annual terrier show, Brookline, Mass., September 24, 25, 26 and 27. D. E. Loveland, secretary.

FIELD TRIALS

Continental Field Trial Club's inaugural trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 2. P. T. Madison, secretary.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 10. Entries close July 1 and August 15. John Wootton, secretary.

United States Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C., November 7. Derby entries close June 10. W. B. Stafford, secretary.

International Field Trial Club's sixth annual trials, Mitchell's Bay, near Chatham, Ont., November 5. W. B. Wells, secretary.

Eastern Field Trials Club's trials, Newton, N. C., November 18. W. A. Coster, secretary.

Continental Field Trial Club's Annual trials, Newton, N. C., November 25. Derby entries close June 1. P. T. Madison, secretary.

1896

Pacific Coast Field Trial Club's thirteenth annual trials, Bakersfield, Cal., January 20. J. M. Kilgarif, secretary.

Southern Field Trial Club's seventh annual trials, West Point, Miss., February 3. T. M. Brumby, secretary.

BEAGLE TRIALS

Northwestern Beagle Club's third annual trials, Columbus, Wis., October 22. Louis Steffen, secretary.

New England Beagle Club's trials, Oxford, Mass., November 5. W. S. Clark, secretary.

National Beagle Club's fifth annual trials, Hempstead, Long Island, November 11. Geo. W. Rogers, secretary.

CLUB MEETINGS

Northwestern Field Trial Club's meeting, Winnipeg, Man., Monday, June 10. Thos. Johnson, secretary.

Canadian Kennel Club's executive committee meeting, Queen's Hotel, Toronto, Friday, June 7, at 3 p. m. H. B. Donovan, secretary.

HEALTH AND CONDITION

BY A. C.

When the time comes for your annual shooting trip, let me describe what may happen if your dog is not in condition. Your gun is tried and true; in the grip are your favorite cartridges; the farmer says, "I never saw so many birds;" and, above all, your handsome pointer is sleeping on your old shooting coat and dreaming of the morrow. Would you exchange places with anybody? Alas! "The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft agley." This time the trouble comes from an unexpected source. The two hundred and fifty dollar dog, the dog privately believed to be "one of the best in the world," fails you in time of need. He is a high-spirited fellow, and the first day, if the weather be cool, he does very well; should it be warm, however, he collapses at once. The long Summer's back yard "training" unfits him for such work as this, and covered with fat inside and out, his overworked lungs cannot stand the strain. Disgusted, you carry him to the nearest water hole, and then go home. Thenceforth you may be seen following the farmer's half-breed. It can hunt, at least, though not very stanch, and it is an out-and-out rabbit dog. Much of your pleasure for that season is gone, of course; so the next year, resolving that things shall be different, you possibly adopt one of the following courses: You exchange your high-priced dog for the farmer's; or, more wisely, send your own dog out into the country to run wild also.

As the trouble with the dog I have just described was entirely want of condition, I must say a word as to what condition is. A great many people consider any thin dog in good trim for work afield, but it is easy to be mistaken about this. The dog may be thin from illness or poor food, and be in just about the opposite of good condition. To be in condition a dog must be in the best of health and spirits, and must carry little flesh but all the muscle he can use to advantage. The amount of flesh each dog is to carry depends altogether upon the individual dog. Dogs of racy build may be allowed considerable flesh, especially if their stomachs are inclined to be weak, but a "beefy" dog ought to come down fine, as they have too much blood for their lungs. I have not found it advantageous to keep dogs at one weight all the time, as they are apt to become stale and lose spirit. It seems best to let them rest and fatten up at times, then, when they are feeling good and strong, gradually work them down to proper weight. How to have a dog in his best trim when the season opens is a question with most of us, and, as my own experience may benefit some, I will give it briefly.

Bear in mind that in getting our dog into shape physically we must not at any time spoil its education. I early recognized that, while old dogs, and some young ones, may be kept alive with good food, though little exercise, yet they cannot do much hunting unless allowed to stretch their legs in a good long run daily. When closely confined dogs are also subject to all sorts of canine diseases—mange, eczema, indigestion, distemper, etc. In the beginning of my kennel experience I turned my dogs loose, as most farmers do. A healthier set of dogs one need not wish to see. Rarely a case of distemper, indigestion or any other disease; and only quantity of food had to be considered, as anything would be eaten readily. That is the natural way of keeping dogs in health.

The plan, however, has serious drawbacks. One tricky dog will ruin a number; so first somebody's poultry will suffer from too much dog, and then somebody's dog will suffer from too much farmer. The dog also becomes a determined rabbit hunter, from which he is certain to acquire a bad carriage of head. Instead of searching for body-scent with nose well up, he drops his head to footscent, and perhaps trails half his time. Should you refuse to gratify him in the matter of rabbits, he works to the gun very indifferently, perhaps becoming a bolter. Often, too, he regards birds with indifference, greatly preferring the four-footed game. The bad habits mentioned are almost certain to be acquired by any dog sent into the country and turned loose. If you expect to see your dog on birds any more do not send him out into the country to run wild; but, if you simply wish the dog to enjoy itself in its declining years, the plan is a good one.

Recognizing that this state of things would not do, I next tied every dog to its kennel. One and two at a time, all of them were given long runs daily in charge of a handler. I could not keep them well, however, but lost my finest young dogs with distemper and other diseases. Concluding that something was wrong, I next built them a yard, inclosing about half a block, in which they were free to run at all times. From this on I did not tie up a dog, nor have I since had a case of distemper. My dogs, however, suffered from other diseases, principally indigestion. Believing myself on the right track, I now inclosed some five or six acres in a single yard, in which my dogs manage to find a large amount of solid enjoyment, with great improvement to health and spirits.

As I write, a little group of them are most industriously trying to catch a mole or a mouse; while another lot of old fellows, that ought to know better, are fairly howling in an attempt to chase a small bird out of a tree. Up and down one side of the yard a dozen of them go after swallows, yelling with delight; and off in a far corner a stanch youngster has secured a point on a meadow lark, with two of his companions backing him. "Bad habits," you say. But the dogs are not spoiled, and their appetites, coats and muscles scarcely need improvement.

Let me say here that to keep a dog in health he must have a good time. If he is having lots of "doggy fun," nothing short of poison or lead can kill him. Puppies are satisfied if they have human companionship and a chance to run or chase something. Older dogs are contented with the presence of their master, pleased when they can go hunting, even by themselves, but to accompany the master's gun is canine paradise. I have purposely put a kind master's presence as the first of the dog's pleasures; there are few ties in nature so strong as the attachment of a dog to its owner. Take a dog from its master, let it be punished, cowed and discouraged, and it will often lose appetite and die in spite of all the tonics you can give it. I recognize this principle in my treatment of sick dogs, spending as much time with them as possible, as my presence seems to do them more good than medicine. Gratifying a dog's passion for hunting also has much to do with his health. I will relate a little story in point:

I once knew an Irish setter, the highest spirited dog I ever saw of any breed; he would jump the highest fence, gnaw out of a house, break up a wire cage or a strong chain, for a chance to hunt. If tied up securely he would howl for hours, or until the hunting party returned. Finally, in a fit of anger, his handler gave him a very severe whipping for wanting to go—understand, the handler was not myself, and I have not forgiven the man to this day. The dog did not howl any more or try to get out, but he lost his spirit and his appetite failed. As he grew weaker the pathetic look in his speaking eyes and the faint wag of his tail, in contrast with his former high spirits, was something not to be forgotten. In two months he was dead. Poor old Irish Ned! He died of a broken heart. This case is by no means an isolated one, believe me.

Food has much to do with a dog's health and condition. I feed Graham bread and beef broth, fresh meat, vegetables, and, for a change, some of the patent foods, such as Spratt's. The best is not too good, so if anybody knows something better, I am willing to give it a trial; food is cheaper than medicine. It is every kennelman's special business to see that the food is good, and that every dog gets enough. I have found it wisest to feed mature dogs but once a day.

I will sum up as follows: Do not tie a dog up if you can help it. Do not keep one in a back yard too long at a time. Do not send him into the country to run wild after rabbits and lose his training. Do not expect a dog to work unless he is in condition. Give him as large a yard to run in as possible; a forty-acre field, kept free of rabbits, would be an ideal place for a large kennel. Give him the best food you can get. Make him your companion at all times when circumstances will permit. Gratify his passion for hunting at every opportunity, and treat your best friend with invariable kindness, for tradition names not the time when he was not man's faithful servant and loving companion.

Marion, Ill.

ENGLISH SETTER GENEALOGY

WINNIPEG, MAN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I read with much interest Mr. J. R. Hamilton's article on English setter breeding; it shows he has carefully studied the subject, but many of his conclusions are from inferences drawn from Volume I of the English Kennel Club's Stud Book, and those conversant with the breeding of certain strains previous to its issue—notably English setters—know that it teems with inaccuracies and incomplete pedigrees. This, however, is not to be wondered at, when, as its author says: "While it is intended to fill up a blank in the history of the canine world, yet the lapse of many years since the first show has made it difficult to obtain reliable information."

The object of this letter is not to go into the question of pedigrees generally, but to point out one or two errors of inference made by Mr. Hamilton, and to try to prove that our English setter of to-day owes none of his excellencies to any outside cross, and least of all to the so-called Gordon setter. In doing this, however, permit me to say to the admirers of the black and tan setters, known as Gordons, that no reflection is meant on that strain; my only desire is to show lovers of my own favorite breed that he stands out in bold relief on his own column an example of purity of breeding.

Mr. Hamilton says of Rake (E. 1403), the sire of Rhæbe, that his pedigree "shows some black and tan blood in him," and he falls into this error because Rake, his grandsire, and Brougham, his great-grandsire, have, through errors I will point out, been classed as Gordons. I have indisputable proof that Rake (E. 1403) was bred by a well-known English setter breeder (Mr. Calvert), and was by his English setter dog Grouse, winner of second prize in the English setter class at the Birmingham show of 1863, out of his English setter bitch Nell, winner of first prize at Birmingham in 1862 and champion prize in 1865 in the English setter class. Rake (E. 1403) won first prize at Birmingham in 1864 in the open English setter class.

It will be seen how readily anyone may err if he relies on the first volume of the English Kennel Club's Stud Book, when it is stated that Brougham is registered among black and tan setters (No. 1574), which very fact has caused so much satisfaction to those who tried to prove an infusion of Gordon blood. But no better exemplification of the inaccuracy of this registration need be stated than the fact that Brougham won first prize for best English setter at the first Birmingham show, in 1859. So much for the sire's side of Rhæbe's breeding.

I will now take her dam's side and try and prove that Mr. Hamilton's inference that, "instead of Psyche (E. 1537) being half Gordon and half South Esk, she is only one-eighth Gordon and one-eighth South Esk," is also an inaccuracy. I will in this case let her breeder speak; in a letter to myself he says: "I bred Psyche in 1859 and sold her to Thos. Statter of Stand Hall, near Manchester. She was out of a setter bitch of my own of the true Douglass strain by a black setter dog of the South Esk strain. The reason I parted with her was that she was black, white and tan. The strain has been in my possession for close on fifty years, and has only been in three hands for upward of one hundred years. They have always been bred with the greatest care for useful working dogs, and I have made it a point never to breed a litter unless sire and dam were first-class in the field. They are great goers and are full of dash and decision; all the dogs in the pedigree"—for full extended pedigree of Psyche see American Kennel Club's Stud Book No. 23368—"were bred by myself, except Taffy and Fan and Sultan and Dido. In the year 1850 I was looking for an outcross, and was recommended by the late Mr. Walsh (Stonehenge) to see some setters belonging to Major Douglass of Broughty Fenn, and it was while on that visit I saw and bought Taffy and Fan from the late Lord Douglass' kennel—in which black setters are known to have been bred for one hundred years—preferring them to anything I saw at Major Douglass' kennel. In answer to your query I may say that my dogs are in no way related to the Gordons."

I had a very courteous correspondence some years ago in the columns of the AMERICAN FIELD with Dr. Whitaker, in course of which he claimed that our English setters owed their tan markings to the Gordon setter, through Rhæbe. I think I proved conclusively at the time that the Beaudesart strain of black, white and tan English setters were a noted breed at the time the genuine Gordons (as owned at Gordon Castle) were black, black and white, and red and [illegible]. I mention this as a further contention that [illegible] nothing the English setter owes to any other [illegible] sporting dogs, but that there is strong [illegible] has transmitted to other breeds many [illegible] characteristics with which nature endowed [illegible].

Mr. Hamilton writes so courteously that [illegible] painful to disagree with him, yet I cannot [illegible] does concerning shooting dogs and [illegible]. My contention is that one is inseparable from the other. I must say right here that I have no inclination to discuss the subject further than this letter. I will admit that there has been a time when there was a tremendous difference between what was termed a field trial dog and what should be a good shooting dog. I cannot, however, explain my contention better than to say that any friends of mine—and I could give dozens of names in proof—who have once tasted the pleasure of shooting over a brace of dogs that had proved their ability in field trials would always concede that they never before experienced fully the poetry of shooting to dogs afield. One friend, an enthusiastic fisherman, made the comparison that shooting over slow pottering, sneaky (alleged) shooting dogs ("dubs" is the proper term), and then over dashing, daring, snappy flyers that were trained to hunt to the gun, was in the former case like fishing in a rain tub, and created so chilly a feeling that it made you hump your back like a hen seeking shelter on a wet day, but in the latter was like casting a fly on the waters of the glorious Nepigon; while a snappy, whirling point caused a sensation similar to hooking a six-pound trout. Speaking for myself, there is nothing affords me more gratification and delight than a day's shooting over a brace of field trial winners.

THOS. JOHNSON.

SEEN AND HEARD AT FIELD TRIALS

BY J. M. TAYLOR

If all the sayings and doings at each field trial meeting were written up they would form an interesting chapter of more than ordinary length, and a few such chapters a book which would not only interest the looker-on, but also those who can only read of them.

First are the judges. Some aggressive, watching every movement of the dogs; another worried if a dog gets out of sight a moment, feeling that he has to resort to spurs and not thinking, as he should, that it is the business of the dog to hold its point a reasonable time, which will allow him to come up, or that the dog will return after his cast, if not, that it should receive the necessary penalty incurred. Another has a "word to say" with a friend back in the crowd, and the conversation merges into many words and is only disturbed when a shout comes: "Point, Judge." But the bird is gone; dog down to wing. A reporter alongside says: "Was it a point or a flush, Judge?" (already having seen it himself). And the judge replies: "I hardly know; a close shave." Others are slow to get out in the morning and take advantage of the weather, though it may not be the best, regretting it afterward when worse comes. And yet others are active in planning the way to hunt the grounds to the best advantage, keeping the reserve dogs within hailing distance, running them all to show them to best advantage, not twisting or turning them here and there to hunt out a little corner, which is fatal if too much indulged in to many of the wide and good rangers.

Closely associated with the judges are the handlers. Among them men of many different temperaments, hard workers in nearly every instance and men of good judgment ordinarily. Yet some of them, when in competition, are always ready with an excuse for any action of one of their dogs that might be thought an error, some exclaiming: "My dog must be on a point, Judge." The dog is always thought to be when out of sight. Another says: "My dog is away over there on the hill." The distance is probably forty to sixty yards, and if two hundred yards away it is magnified into a quarter or half a mile. Another applies the "test whistle" once or twice as he approaches a point; if the dog is not positive it moves on, if it maintains its point it is considered safe to try for game, though at times it brings disappointment. Some are shrewd, working every vantage point to best advantage, carefully marking the location of every bevy, shrewdly marking the birds, after they are flushed, for single point work. Others never seem to consider either of these strong points. Again, watch another, when he is getting the worst of it, try the whistle on his dog when there is little use for using it; yet he may succeed in "breaking up" the other dog. Another will be seen with his dogs out for an "airing;" the dogs being led along over the ground, getting acquainted with it, as it were, and being better prepared for their trials when the time comes. Some are noisy enough to be offensive; others handle quietly and genteelly, and a majority of them are ready to give even an opponent's dog the credit of a good heat. Yet some even if they note the good work never give credit for it, but are quick to call attention to every error, even chuckling over them; but happily the numbers of this class are few. Few of them now ever bring a dog to trials without proper conditioning, and they are attentive to their dog's wants in every way, serving the best interests of those who have not misplaced confidence in sending a favorite animal to them. Finally see them, after the bickerings of a day, gathered around the fireside, pleasantly joking one another. One would think that there never was a difference between them. This is a happy reflection.

Owners and spectators now follow. Hear them. Few can see, or will acknowledge, the faults of the dogs they own or are interested in. Others, few in number, are ready to note and confess the faults of the dogs they own, as those of others; all of them enjoying a recreation, some a reunion that is pleasantly referred to as the years go by.

Then the reporters. Hard workers they [illegible] to see everything; but in many cases it is [illegible] will report only the good, for they are often told: "I never knew my dog to do so badly before," or "he is a better dog, really, then he showed to-day," or "please explain that he has been sick and is short of work." Then they are asked, "do you think I will get into the next series?" or "how do you think they will [illegible] and when placed, "what do you think of [illegible]sion?" And if expression is given to any [illegible] not recognize what you had said [illegible] treated a few times. If a favorable [illegible] a good dog he becomes "a pet of the reporters," and an attempt is made to convey the idea that nothing is true that is said of any other dog in the stake. If a single point is overlooked in the report the reporter is sure to hear of it. If his name is suggested as a judge he is "protested," for perhaps he has dared to give a correct report of someone's favorite; or he may not have awarded a prize, whether won or not. Well, I believe them a hopeful lot, and if not snatched away too early in life they may yet write a report that will please the majority. Wait and see if they can.

New York.

EFFECT OF HEAT ON DOGS

NEW YORK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—An experiment in France with dogs proves that sunstroke is not an effect due solely to solar radiation, though that is its ordinary cause. It takes place also under intense artificial heat.

The stokers of steamers shut up in the hold, where they are compelled to endure extreme temperatures, are subject to it, and it is a fact that the boats that ply on the Red Sea are obliged during the hot season to have recourse to negroes or Arabs as engineers and firemen, since these have been accustomed to bear enormously high temperatures. Similar effects are observed in gas works, where the heat is great.

Taking advantage of this fact, that solar heat is not necessary to the effect produced, two French scientists, MM. Laverau and Regnard, have recently performed some valuable experiments to clear up the cause of the disease, which has been much disputed.

Claude Bernard thought it was due to a direct action of the heat on the muscular system, causing the coagulation of the muscular fibers, particularly those of the heart, which were, so to speak, cooked as if roasted in an oven. Others have seen in it a sort of poisoning by the products of combustion that accumulated in the blood not being eliminated through the proper channels. Finally, some have thought that there was a direct action on the nervous system, causing a kind of abnormal excitement followed by reaction.

Messrs. Laverau and Regnard, being persuaded that heat was only the determining cause of the stroke, and that it must take place in a general state of fatigue, placed in a tightly inclosed metal box, heated progressively, two dogs; one was kept still near the side of the box, while the other was set at work in a wheel similar to those seen in squirrel cages. This wheel could be kept moving from the outside by the hand or by a mechanical device, so that the animal had no chance to shirk.

The temperature in the box rose gradually to 80, 90, 100 degrees and more. While one dog sat still, the other toiled with all his might, being forced to follow the movements of the wheel. The result seemed conclusive. While the first dog bore without discomfort a temperature of from 95 to 113 degrees Fahrenheit, the other became very ill at the end of thirty minutes; his temperature was 108 degrees and his respiration 260 to the minute, while his heart beat so rapidly that the strokes could not be counted.

When the sick dog was taken from the wheel at the end of half an hour he recovered little by little; when, on the contrary, the experiment was kept up and the temperature was raised still higher, the dog died several minutes after being taken from the wheel, while the one that had kept quiet seemed not to suffer in the least. At 140 degrees both animals succumbed, but the one that had not moved held out several hours.

These experiments seem to show without doubt that fatigue and exercise facilitate in a high degree the occurrence of sunstroke. This, however, does not go far enough; do they do this by raising the internal temperature of the animal, by preventing the elimination of injurious products and by thus poisoning it with its own excretions?

Messrs. Laverau and Regnard have investigated this point also, and they find that there is undoubtedly a very rapid rise of internal temperature. Examination of the muscular fiber of the heart shows that this is not in the least coagulated or cooked, but analysis of the blood shows also that there is no such accumulation of toxins as would result injuriously. There is, however, an excess of carbonic acid, which would cause a certain degree of asphyxia.

According to the Frenchman the most probable hypothesis is that death results from action on the nerves; first exciting them and then paralyzing them.

The obvious practical conclusion is that in hot weather or in any condition of extreme heat it is of vital importance not to become fatigued, and to abstain, as far as possible, from violent or prolonged exercise. Attention to this will doubtless save many lives, and if this result is attained the poor dogs who perished in Messrs. Laverau and Regnard's box will not have died in vain.

MEDICO.

BEAGLE TRIALS

NANUET, N. Y.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—We are now about midway between past and coming beagle trials. Those who have participated will always do so, and those who have not are prob[illegible]y now giving the matter an oc[illegible] with a strong tendency toward [illegible]or the first part of November [illegible]nts." Then one takes a critical look at one's dog and says, "will he be good enough?" or "I know I can win with him."

At shows an exhibitor has one of two objects in view when making his entries. It is either to win the prizes or dispose of his dogs. At field trials but one motive prompts in making entries, and that one is to win. Every dog has a chance at the game if he has the merit, and upon my own observation I will base the statement that at beagle trials the dog that has the merit wins the money; and yet the trials is not altogether devoid of chances and circumstances, as so many phases of merit are known to exist among beagles. Some come out and start in their heats with a snap and dash that key up your nerves at once, while another opens work modestly and eyes so many strange figures rather suspiciously.

The judges order "dogs down" and then all is anxiety for a start. At this stage the question is "will he be good enough to win?" After the first series has been gone through, and the judges announce the names and order of running for the second round, the sport begins in earnest and every point counts. I tell you quietly that your dog is in it, and you do the same for me, while both are intently trying to pick the dark dog. About this time we begin to watch our dogs' condition, avoid barbed-wire fences, draughts, local curs and other little things that may act as a detriment to our dogs' chances to win.

We reach the end of the second series, and now the wind-up among the winners. This particular act has always been disappointing to spectators, as it is found that rules and formalities are being carried out, but before he really comprehends it the newcomer finds himself one of a group facing the judges and their note book, and in another minute up goes his cap, hands and feet in an honest and sincere cheer for the winners. After a while he quietly lights his pipe and says to himself, "I am glad I came to the trials, as I now see how it is done and what is wanted, and next year I propose to be right in it." At the hotel in the evening, after an enjoyable dinner and a cigar, he begins to enter into the real sport, by taking part in the discussions to be heard on all sides about breeding field trial winners. Here is where the show winner that is not a hunter is not in it.

One would imagine that among so many billiards, cards or other games would be indulged in. But not so: it is hunting rabbits with beagles, from the first trial of the puppy to the run to death with a pack of twenty couples. These animated discussions in the evening are, however, not altogether carried on with parliamentary rules, as you will find that the hounds are frequently called in with horns, whose history is told in many ways and whose music is second in sweetness only to the merry blending cry of the eager pack. When finally the talk and noise have ceased you are gradually lulled to sleep by thought of the voices of the little hounds dying away in the distance, only to be sharply awakened a few hours hence with the pack in full cry again; and the second day at the trials has begun. This continues until the last day, when the order is given to break camp and march, which is really the only unpleasant feature of the week's sport.

It is simply touching to note the sincere ties of friendship that are created among beagle lovers in a short week at the trials. Strong, matured men actually have been seen to embrace each other at the last moment of saying good-bye, with large, honest tears trickling down their cheeks. This is no idle talk, but actual facts. I have myself witnessed it, and furthermore have been personally afflicted.

H. L. KREUDER.

MEETING OF THE NORTHWESTERN BEAGLE CLUB'S EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—A meeting of the executive committee of the Northwestern Beagle Club was held at Milwaukee on Tuesday, May 28, at 2 p. m. The members present were: F. F. Merrill, Chas. Niss Jr., Edward Bender, R. Engelmann, Louis Steffen. Vice-President Merrill was in the chair.

It was voted that the club's beagle trials be held at Columbus, Wis., beginning on Tuesday, October 22, and the following classes were made for the trials: Open class A, for dogs of all ages, 15 inches and over 13 inches, that have not been placed first in any all-age class at any beagle trials held in America; open class B, for bitches of all ages, 15 inches and over 13 inches, that have not been placed first in any all-age class at beagle trials held in America; open class C, for dogs and bitches of all ages, 13 inches and under, that have not been placed first in any all-age class at beagle trials held in America; Derby class D, for dogs and bitches, 15 inches and over 13 inches, whelped on or after January 1, 1894; Derby class E, for dogs and bitches, 13 inches and under, whelped on or after January 1, 1894; champion class F, for dogs and bitches of all ages, 15 inches and over 13 inches, having won a first prize at any beagle trial held in America; champion class G, for dogs and bitches of all ages, 13 inches and under, having won a first prize in any beagle trial held in America. Entries for classes A, B, C, D and E close October 5; fee to start, $5, of which $2 forfeit must accompany entry, balance to be paid prior to starting the class; the prizes for these classes are 35 per cent. of entry money to first, 25 per cent. to second, 15 per cent. to third. Entries for classes F and G close immediately before starting of class; fee to start, $5, which must be paid before the class is started; first prize, 30 per cent.; second prize 20 per cent.; the title of field trial champion will be awarded to the winners in classes F and G.

The secretary was authorized to correspond with the different judges for terms, etc.

Mr. Chas. B. Rice of Highland Park, Ill., was admitted to membership.

The following resolution was passed:

WHEREAS, It has pleased God Almighty to take from our midst E. Bardoe Elliott, and we are aware that we have lost in the deceased a true friend and amiable companion, who had proven himself in all his transactions with us a man and a gentleman, and who, by his winning and affable ways, had won our esteem and admiration, therefore be it

Resolved, That we deplore his loss as a friend and lover of Nature's beauty; that we are sorry to lose such an enthusiastic member of our club; and that a copy of this resolution be delivered to the members of his family and to the press.

Meeting adjourned.

LOUIS STEFFEN, Secy.

FOR SALE.—Rustic Kennels, Chicago, offer fox terriers....Mr. C. Wilson, Chicago, offers black and tan terriers....Standard Kennel, Georgetown, N. Y., offers beagles....Mr. A. L. Page, New York, offers greyhound....E. D. H., St. Francisville, Mo., offers coon hounds....Mr. E. Smallwood, Areadia, Neb., offers Great Danes....Mr. W. B. Allen, Bloomsburg, Pa., offers pointer....Mr. J. Lowe, Wheaton, Ill., offers St. Bernards....Mr. L. Stuehmer, Emmetsburg, Ia., offers pointers....Mr. W. M. Geiger, Catawissa, Pa., offers pointer....Mr. R. Gibson, Manassas, Va., offers pointers....Mr. P. F. Maguinness, Worcester, Mass., offers St. Bernards....Mr. A. A. Macdonald, Toronto, Can., offers fox terriers....Mr. F. L. Jennings, River Forest, Ill., offers Great Danes....Mr. C. A. Paetzel, Hope, Ind., offers pointers....Alta Kennels, Toledo, O., offer St. Bernard....Mr. C. Custer, Pontiac, Ill., offers English setters....Mr. C. Cooper, Rochester, Ind., offers English setters....Mr. J. W. Barre, Louisiana, Mo., offers English setters....Mr. G. A. Gesman, Knoxville, Ia., offers St. Bernard....Mr. W. L. Washington, New Castle, Pa., offers Irish setters....Mr. F. F. Merrill, Milwaukee, Wis., offers a Chesapeake Bay.

IN THE STUD.—Mr. C. Wilson, Chicago, Ill., offers the services of the black and tan terrier Chicago Spider ....Mr. W. L. Washington, New Castle, Pa., offers the services of the imported Irish setter Finglas.

NOTES

OUR remark that the American Kennel Club, while amending the 500-dogs rule for the benefit of the Pacific Coast fanciers, might as well extend the same privilege to those in Colorado and their neighbors, seems to have aroused a spirit of selfish jealousy in the Breeder and Sportsman, but it must not be supposed that the ill-feeling is shared by California fanciers, for we have reason to know that it is not. Our esteemed cotemporary says: "The purpose of the rule was to prevent second-raters from going round the circuit of small shows and winning championship honors without competition. Eastern dog owners with championship aspirations would flock to Denver if that town was exempt." And it further opines that "it is strange so many editors can only see one side of a question." It is indeed very strange; and the other side of the question, which the Breeder and Sportsman does not see, is why should Eastern owners with championship aspirations for their second-raters flock to Denver—such a journey, and made at terrific expense—in order to win with little or no competition when they can do that same right near home? Besides, if they were to flock to Denver it would be a very good thing, for then there would be considerable competition in the few challenge classes at that show, and a win would really be of more merit than the innumerable walkovers seen at shows of over 500 entries, with the exception of the New York show. Figures do not lie, and we will deal in a few; and as few as possible. Apart from the New York show what did competition amount to in the challenge classes at shows of over 500 entries last year? At Boston 26 challenge class winners got their blue ribbons without competition; in 24 other challenge classes there was more than one competitor, though not often more than two; in 2 others the entries were absent; in 3 they were not for competition; and in 8 there were no entries at all. At Chicago there were 19 challenge class wins without competition, and 10 challenge classes without entries. At Providence there were 44 challenge classes, with competition in only 21. At Philadelphia the proportion of "bloodless victories" was about the same. And at Louisville out of 34 challenge classes there was competition in 5 only! This year at Boston 24 challenge classes brought out competition, 27 did not, and 9 others had no entries. At Chicago there was competition in 18 challenge classes, in 28 the winner "walked over," and in 10 there were no entries. In the face of these figures is it reasonable to assume that "Eastern owners with championship aspirations would flock to Denver" with their dogs for a possible win in the challenge class? Eastern dogs that went to the last Denver show included Mr. Geo. J. Gould's excellent pointers, some of Messrs. Toon & Thomas' crack dogs, Ben Lewis' string and a number of good ones in Tom Blake's charge; fancy "flocking" to Denver to win against them with second-raters! The Breeder and Sportsman evidently is ignorant of the exorbitant figure charged by express companies for conveying dogs to Denver, and of the fact that over thirty Eastern entries were absentees from the last show on that very account. No, indeed, Eastern dog owners are not at all likely to flock to Denver at enormous expense on the off-chance of a second-rater qualifying for championship honors, but Denver is just as much entitled to the 300-dogs limit as is San Francisco or Los Angeles.

THE city council of St. Paul can be written down as having no use for "man's best friend," and the town evidently needs a few good dog shows to educate its ordinance makers. At a meeting of the board of aldermen on May 29 an attempt was made to have the dog tax increased to $5 for each dog or bitch, but it was not successful. A new dog ordinance was passed, and it contains some queer features. The license fee for bitches is placed at $4, except spayed bitches, for which only $1 need be paid, and no doubt the officials will be puzzled to know how they are going to tell whether a bitch is justly entitled to the $3 rebate

Section 4 compels muzzling all the year round, and a learned physician—it was he who advocated raising the license fees from $2 and $4 to $5—gravely informed the city fathers that "a muzzle does not prevent the dog from eating or drinking in the proper way." Section 3 enacts that "in case of failure by or on the part of such owner or keeper to pay the license upon any such dog such dog shall be surrendered up by owner or keeper thereof for the purpose of being killed," and Section 7 backs this up with "any person owning or keeping any dog, and refusing to surrender such dog to the person authorized to collect dogs upon which the license has not been paid, shall, upon conviction thereof before the municipal court of said city, be fined in a sum not less than $5 nor more than $25." In other words, if for any cause a citizen omits to pay his tax his property is to be confiscated and destroyed; and if said citizen objects to such a proceeding he is to be had up before the "beak" and fined. Truly a high-handed way of treating folks, and one apt to cause a lot of ill feeling if carried out. Section 5 compels every owner or keeper of a dog to "cause it to wear around its neck a collar distinctly marked with its owner's name and the number of the license for such dog," without considering whether a poor man can afford to have his name engraved on his dog's collar. Section 6 declares: "It is hereby made the duty of each and every police officer of the city of St. Paul to kill, or cause to be destroyed, all dogs running at large within said city or found upon any of the public grounds or streets of said city, that have not been licensed according to the provisions of this ordinance, or that have not been muzzled as is herein provided, or that do not wear collars as herein provided." According to the dog loving medico already referred to, who is said to be the real sponsor of this ordinance, this means "ordering the police to shoot every dog found at large without its muzzle." Possibly it has never occurred to this brilliant scientist that in all cities there are plenty of people ready to make up with a good-natured dog in order to "swipe" its collar, muzzle and license tag, and that this same little dodge is worked frequently and successfully; indeed we know of one trustful canine that allowed two muzzles, two license tags and three collars to be taken off it last Summer. A citizen whose valuable dog was shot to death under such circumstances would not be apt to submit quietly. Should the mongrel pet of a friendly saloonkeeper, a ward politician or anyone with a "pull" be found at large not equipped as this ordinance dictates, the St. Paul police officers, it is to be hoped, will not molest it. But any well-bred canine owned by an ordinary citizen must be shot to death if it is not in full regalia of muzzle, collar and license tag; to be sure it must, there is no getting away from that. It would save a lot of trouble all round if the St. Paul city council were just to pass an ordinance ordering all dogs in the city to be confiscated and killed.

MR. GEO. HENKLE of Flatonia, Tex., writes: "I have had an expensive experience with mange in my kennels, and in fact a very trying time with sickness, deaths and other disappointments, all this past Winter, with dogs, causing me to almost give up the dog business as a bad job; but every issue of the AMERICAN FIELD instilled new life, and I have once more 'gone at it' with a determination to make it a success. This was my first experience with mange, and a costly one, but I have now had all the ills that can befall a dog man, and hope from now on I will have easy sailing compared to what I have had. I can now see why so few people are engaged in the business here in Texas. Besides all the providential hindrances, I have also had some very trifling people to deal with, counterbalanced, however, by a few noble sportsmen who give encouragement to the poor mistreated dog trainer. Last Fall I began to call for the applicant's (the man that wanted his dog trained) pedigree rather than that of his dogs, asking such questions as: "What do you know about dogs? Do you know how to handle a dog after he is broken?" etc. This is more important than asking about the dog, for if the dog is no good he can be kicked out or, in other words, sent back. The finest pedigree of a sportsman I have had is that of Mr. Henry Miller of Louisiana. I asked him if I would have to come and train him after I got through with his dogs. Well, sir, that was one time I ran against a snag. He wrote me a five-page letter, in which he mentioned that he had at one time been connected with the AMERICAN FIELD, etc. Then I began to think that, 'maybe so,' I'd be the fool. Anyway he sent his puppies and I have seen him since, and I will say he is one of the kind of folks I am looking for. You can blame this long and windy note to E. M. Booker of San Antonio and R. W. Shaw of Galveston. They are the ones that got me into writing such long dog letters—talk's cheap, ink's cheap, time no object." With the revival of business which has set in all over the country, and the consequent greater indulgence in field sports, we feel sure that not only Mr. Henkle but all dog trainers and kennel owners will soon have plenty to do, and time will be an object, and printer's ink is cheapest when used in advertising in the AMERICAN FIELD, the sportsman's journal.

THE March number of the Nineteenth Century, an English magazine, contained an article, from the pen of a late chief of the British Army Veterinary Department, which includes an interesting historical review of the origin and development of the operation known as "worming" dogs. The operation is, it would appear, of great antiquity. So long ago as the time of Columella, the Roman writer on agriculture, the mutilation of the dog's tail was a popular and favorite procedure, the shepherds at that time believing that if, on the fortieth day after the birth of a puppy, the last bone of its tail were bitten off, the sinew (believed to be a worm) would follow the piece; after this the tail would not grow, and the dog could not become rabid. "Worming," for centuries deemed a necessary operation for the prevention of rabies, consisted in the excision of the frænum of the dog's tongue, under the impression that it had something to do with the genesis of that terrifying malady. The notion seems to have been entertained by the Greeks before Pliny composed his Natural History, for in that interesting book he mentions that there is a small worm in the dog's tongue, and if this be removed from the animal while a puppy, it will never become mad or lose its appetite. This worm, after being carried thrice round a fire, was given to persons who had been bitten by a mad dog as a prophylactic against hydrophobia. It is probable that for many centuries very few dogs of any value escaped this tongue mutilation, to judge by the frequent references to it in works on these animals; and Dr. Samuel Johnson, who tried to give a definition of "worming," says the worm is a substance, nobody knows what, extracted nobody knows why.

I HAVE just returned from a trip north of here, where I went for some dogs I am going to train this season. While there I found a party in possession of a finely bred English setter and I concluded to write you on the subject, as the publication of the facts in the case would be very apt to meet the eye of his owner, as most of the hunters who come up here shooting are readers of the AMERICAN FIELD. Several dogs were lost last year from Windsor, and as this one has been from fifteen to forty miles from there all Winter, going from one farm to another, he may prove to be one of them; or, he may have been lost by one of the many hunting parties that were here or in this vicinity, and I imagine his owner would be very much pleased to recover him. His description is black, white and tan ticked, mostly white, black marking the size of two hands on back at base of tail, also black marking from two inches behind ears to within three inches of the end of the nose, ears, and all of head except white stripe from between the ears to the nose, widens out three inches from end of nose and is ticked with black and tan blotch on each side of upper lip, where black and white join size of hand. The ticks on him are mostly black, a few tan. He should weigh in condition fifty-five or sixty pounds; is about one year old last Fall. I would assist owner all in my power. He had a touch of distemper. I gave the party having him citrate of iron and quinine with instructions to use it.

Valley City, N. D. NED FAY.

WE take pleasure in acknowledging receipt of the following subscriptions to the E. Bardoe Elliott fund, which kindly publish in your next issue: James L. Little, $10; F. W. Gilbert, $1; W. J. Higginson, $5; F. C. Nims, $10; A. W. Smith, $5; Wesley Mills, $1; Robert Leslie, $5; B. F. Lewis, $10; F. B. Kirby, $1; J. A. Long, $25; E. G. Basil Hayman, $5; Jas. Mortimer, $10; E. M. Oldham, $10; Dr. Sherwood, $5; W. E. Warner, $5; Forest and Stream, $10; John Finlayson, $5; James Robinson, $5; Henry Pape, $5; John Read, $5; Mail and Express Editorial Rooms (by James Watson), $25; Ethel and Hubert, 68 cents; Dr. Foote, $5; H. Clay Glover, $5; H. H. Hunnewell, $5; L. A. Burrits, $5; Edward Brooks, $5; C. F. R. Drake, $5; G. W. H. Ritchie, $5; a friend, $1; J. P. Willey, $5; George Bell, $5; Mrs. F. Smyth, $10; W. Tallman, $1; W. C. Ehrmann, $3; Mike Murphy, $1; C. A. Pratt, $20; A. Trickett, $5; E. W. Fiske, $5; a friend from Winnipeg, $3. The following amounts have been promised: Westminster Kennel Club, $25; H. W. Lacy, $5; J. T. Johnson, $2; Adrian C. Pickhardt, $25. The subscription list is still open.

JAMES MORTIMER,
Hempstead, Long Island.
EDWARD M. OLDHAM,
245 East 56th Street, New York.

IT is said that at certain points on the Spanish coast an ingenious and lucrative but illicit trade is carried on by means of dogs, which are taken on board smuggling vessels during the day, and at night are let drop over the sides of these vessels laden with some 20 or 30 pounds of tobacco fastened in waterproof packages round the body. The sagacious animals are trained to swim back to their respective homes in the Spanish fishing villages, and are even taught to evade the dreaded caribineros (military policemen) who patrol the beach; waiting the opportunity under cover of the darkness, when nearing land, the dogs rush past often under the noses of their enemy, invariably carrying their valuable booty safely to the smuggler's home at a profit to their masters of some five dollars a day per dog. The owners of the vessels, of course, earn an easy livelihood by charging a fairly high poll tax on each dog housed for this purpose; and it is by no means improbable that some of the caribineros conveniently overlook the dogs, and smoke free tobacco in consequence.

IN the AMERICAN FIELD of May 11 I find several statements in a communication signed "Reirret" about "very stringent, unjust city ordinances, inhuman citizens of Baltimore who have a few feet of grass around their houses, who object to dogs looking at it," of whom one said, "I am going to cover my grass with poison, I will not have a blade of my grass scratched," etc. The above assertions of your correspondent differ partly or perhaps totally from facts. It is not true that "a dog must be licensed for two dollars and a half" here. A dog license costs three dollars the first year, and a renewal one dollar a year, which I do not consider an "unjust ordinance." And the "inhuman citizens of Baltimore" never poisoned any of my dogs, nor threatened to do so, although I probably own more dogs than any other inhabitant of this good city. If Reirret "will spring a surprise later on, which is a secret now," I hope he will communicate facts.

Baltimore. J. H. H. MAENNER.

NEXT year's trials of the Pacific Coast Field Trial Club have been set for January 20 and following days, at Bakersfield, Cal., and the program includes three events: The Derby, for setters and pointers whelped on or after January 1, 1894; $20 to start, $10 for non-starters, or only $5 if declared out by October 1; the first payment of $5 must accompany all entries, which will close July 1. The All-Age Stakes, for pointers and setters, at $20 each; non-starters only $5, which must accompany entry; entries will close November 15, except that starters in the Derby can be entered at any time prior to the day of starting of this event upon payment of $20. Also the Amateur Stakes, open to amateur handlers only; entries, at $5 each, will close overnight. The stakes in all three events will be divided as follows: 50 per cent. for the winner, 30 per cent. for second, and 20 per cent. for third.

SEEING a communication from Mr. V[illegible] week regarding his Gordon setter bitch [illegible] pies of apparently different kinds rem[illegible] similar experience, which may be [illegible] readers of the AMERICAN FIELD. A[illegible] I was the possessor of a very fine l[illegible] which I myself took to Janesvil[illegible] until all signs of febrile conditions had ceased. When at home she was the constant companion of a young foxhound less than one year old. In due time she whelped six puppies, four of which were perfect setter puppies, while the remaining two were the facsimile of the young foxhound. It has always been curious to me how it can happen, as I am certain that no other dog had access to her.

Sheboygan, Wis. J. SCHIFFENEDER.

IT is customary to write and talk a good deal about American push and enterprise, but the folks on the other side of the Atlantic don't get left far behind. By following the plan outlined in the subjoined paragraph from the English Stock-Keeper some of our kennel clubs would undoubtedly turn a few honest dollars, which to some of the smaller shows might make all the difference as to "coming out whole:" "The Paris dog show opened with its customary éclat on Wednesday, or we should say Tuesday, as the happy thought of admitting the public to witness the arrival of the dogs was carried out again this year. It is striking evidence to the Parisians' love of the canine race that £80 were taken at the turnstiles from visitors who were highly delighted to be allowed to enter the show, and watch the unpacking of the dogs."

A GENTLEMAN named Reul has been contributing to our German cotemporary Hundesport a series of articles on docking schipperkes, in which he has introduced six different methods of effecting the operation, variously performed with scissors, a razor, an écraseur or a ligature. Personally he prefers a round pointed pair of scissors, and declares the operation, which only takes a few seconds, causes so little pain that the puppy never cries out! His treating the operation as the merest trifle may have an ulterior motive. The exportation of schipperkes from Belgium to England has attained considerable growth, and it is by no means improbable that the schipperke with its tail on would fall from grace among British fanciers and no longer coax the sovereigns from their pockets.

THE South Bend Kennels notify us of the death, from hemorrhage, on May 22, of their rough St. Bernard dog Tramp (32559), by Dick Koerner (20942) out of Lady Barry (12648). They never were fortunate with this dog, and it so happened he was never in shape at the time of the important shows. He was exhibited in open and novice classes at Chicago last year, when his length of leg and flatness of rib were somewhat emphasized by lack of flesh; nevertheless he suited Miss Whitney well enough to receive third honors in a strong open class, and occupied a similar position among the novices. Tramp was quite a young dog; he was whelped December 2, 1891, and was bred by Dr. Marks of St. Louis.

AMONG the various animals kept by a well-known English fancier are a pony, a goat and bobtailed sheepdog, all of which live together in one stable, and Mr. Fred Gresham thus describes their spheres of usefulness: "The pony's duty is to convey Mr. Dutton to the railway station every morning. The goat and the dog go, too. When another dog attempts to attack the goat, the bobtail rolls it over. If, however, the latter gets the worst of the encounter, the goat goes to the rescue and makes play with its horns." From which we should judge the owner of the animals gets more than his fair share of fun.

AN English exhibitor is quoted as saying he has had a lettter from the secretary of the Kennel Club stating that "a borzoi might compete as a sporting or non-sporting dog." This is very queer. To be sure the borzoi is nothing more than a show dog in the British Isles, but if that line of reasoning is followed out a deerhound might as well be put down as a non-sporting dog outside of Scotland, or the greyhound in this country be considered a non-sporting breed east of the Mississippi River.

NOT content with his generous donation of a cup to to the Northwestern Field Trial Club, Mr. Heywood-Lonsdale has entered a couple of young pointers in the Continental Derby and will in all likelihood send them out, together with some older dogs, in charge of Brailsford. Commenting on the above, a well-known Canadian sportsman writes: "We often hear of American energy, enterprise and pluck, but Mr. Lonsdale's enterprise and generosity coupled with Mr. Brailsford's pluck are noteworthy indeed."

OF the Pacific Kennel Club's late show the San Francisco Call says: "It is said that the club came out about $300 ahead. The new system of benching was very expensive, and owing to this fact the club did not realize as much gain as it would have accomplished under the old style, which, generally speaking, would have answered to the satisfaction of the exhibitors. The new system of benching was unquestionably a great improvement, however."

BULL terrier fanciers will please notice that the description and relative valuation of points of bull terriers, as set forth in the pamphlet containing by-laws, were not adopted by the Bull Terrier Club, but were simply set forth as a basis upon which to reach a final settlement by the fanciers interested. The whole matter is still open for suggestions, and is not to be considered as finally settled.

Pittsburg, Pa. W. D. BRERETON, [illegible]

THE next trials of the Southern Field Trial Club will be held at West Point, Miss., commencing the first Monday in February, 1896, on the grounds used by the [illegible] States club. The club will run this year special stakes for pointers, both in the Derby and the All-Age [illegible] will also run the regular setter stakes in the Derby and All-Age Stakes.

[illegible] T. M. BRUMBY, Secy. and Treas.

[illegible]M [illegible]OYD, who has been attached to various K[illegible] journals in Great Britain at one time and another and who has done much to promote whippet racing in the south of England during the last two years, is leaving that country for South Africa, where he has received an appointment as editor of Country Life, a sporting journal about to be started in that far away land. He will sail from England on the twenty-ninth of this month.

. HAVING seen the notice of the formation of the Bull Terrier Club of America and the correspondence connected therewith in the AMERICAN FIELD, I called upon the secretary of the club during a recent visit in Pittsburg, and I can assure you the club is very much alive. I believe they are considering the advisability of offering specials at the Toronto show in September.

Chicago, Ill. C. C. WARING.

MR. JOHN WOOTTON, the efficient secretary-treasurer of the Manitoba Field Trials Club, writes us that "applications have been received from every part of the United States, and we are looking for a very large entry." The arrangements with the customs officials are nearly perfected, and American owners will have no trouble in taking their dogs across the line.

A LITTER of eight by that good all-round young dog, Dash Antonio, out of Bly, winner in the open class for English setter bitches at Chicago last March, is apt to make one feel jubilant. We wish Mr. Warren Lusted the best of luck with the puppies, which were whelped May 5.

ALLOW me, through the AMERICAN FIELD, to thank Mr. Henry Waldecker of this city for the interest taken in and the replacing of my mastiff puppy, which I purchased from him and which was poisoned through the hand of some unknown miscreant a short time ago.

Ottawa, Ill. JULIUS HESS.

MR. R. LL. PURCELL-LLEWELLIN has had the misfortune to lose his valuable English setter Bruce Wind'em, winner in the All-Age Stakes at the recent trials of the National Club at Shrewsbury. The dog took sick at or soon after the trials, and succumbed in a short time.

A COUPLE of good terriers have crossed the Canadian border, and each is a well-known winner. They are the wirehaired Endcliffe Banker and the Irishman Brickbat Jr, which Messrs. Toon & Thomas have sold to Mr. W. B. Palmer of Hamilton, Ont.

WE are informed that the Bull Terrier Club of America has applied for articles of incorporation under the laws of Pennsylvania, and also intends applying for admission to the American Kennel Club; if admitted it will have a delegate at the next A. K. C. meeting.

SUBSCIBERS to the capital stock of the St. Louis Kennel Club are responding to the secretary's call for payment of the subscriptions, and the prospect for incorporation at an early date is very satisfactory.

MR. J. B. C. LUCAS of St. Louis has received his pointer dog Reswick III (King of Kent—Zero) from W. W. Titus, in whose charge it was placed for breaking.

IT must not be forgotten that on Monday next entries will close for the United States Field Trial Club's two Autumn Derbys, pointers and setters running separately.

THE AMERICAN FIELD greets its readers this week in a new dress, which, it trusts, will meet with their approbation.

VISITS

VISITS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Visits. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. F. H. ANDREWS'
KATIE A, English setter, by Vanguard—Georgia Belle, January 21, to White Boy (Gladstone's Boy—Floy W).
NANTUCKET, English setter, by Joe Pillow—Yum Yum, March 26, to White Boy (Gladstone's Boy—Floy W).

DR. J. A. HARTMAN'S
COUNT HOWARD'S BRIDE, English setter, by Count Howard—Fairy Gladstone, May 5 and 6, to Knight Templar.
TOPSY LAVERACK, English setter, by Tempest—Pebble, May 8 and 10, to Knight Templar.

MR. J. MOORHEAD JR.'S
STREATHAM MONARCH'S DAUGHTER, bull terrier, by Streatham Monarch—Queen of the Dale, May 3, to Streatham Monarch (22086).

MR. C. J. KELLY'S
FERNWOOD MELBA, St. Beruard, by Fernwood Bruce (17206)—Fernwood Nell (26609), April 10 and 12, to Cerberus (33259).

MAHONING KENNELS'
GUINEVIEVE, English setter, by Roger's Don Juan—Royal Albert's Feru, April 7, to their Knight Templar.

MR. FREEMAN BELL'S
SPRITE A, English setter, by Spottswood B—Beauty, April 16, to White Boy (Gladstone's Boy—Floy W).

ROCHESTER & PITTSBURG KENNELS'
LADY DINAH (26186), bull terrier, May 17, to Streatham Monarch (22086).

MR. H. F. WEBER'S
PRINCESS THELMA, rough-coated St. Beruard, April 24, to Grand Master.

MUSKEGON [illegible]'S
[illegible] foxhound, May 23, to Tickler.
[illegible] English setter, to Roy F.

WHELPS

WHELPS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Whelps. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MR. W. W. GIBBS'
VILLAGE ECHO (37110), fox terrier, whelped, May 11, two dogs and one bitch, by his Starden's Crown (34289). Bitch since dead.
LADY TEAZLE (30777), fox terrier, whelped, May 23, one dog and three bitches, by his Victor Shy (37109).

MR. E. B. BISHOP'S
GIBBES MAUD, pointer, by Rush of Lad—Topsy L, whelped, May 22, one dog and six bitches, by his Trinket's Don (Donald's Sensation—Triuket S).

MESSRS. TYRRELL & McCOY'S
ZETTIE BONDHU (34629), English setter, by Dick Bondhu—Field's Cossette, whelped, May 2, two dogs and six bitches, by Rodfield.

MR. I. O. CONVERSE'S
——, pointer, by Broncho Jr—Ric, whelped, May 23, seven dogs and two bitches, by Phil (Bang, 7028—Princess II).

HOLLYMERE KENNELS'
VIE HOLLYMERE (33609), English setter, whelped, May 24, three dogs and six bitches, by Beau Brummell (31002).

MESSRS. FISHBACK & BAUGHN'S
GATH'S BELLE (34159), English setter, whelped, May 10, two dogs and five bitches, by Gladstone Boy.

MR. W. LUSTED'S
BLY (33142), English setter, whelped, May 5, four dogs and four bitches, by Dash Antonio (30695).

SALES

SALES.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Sales. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MRS. JAS. McCROSSEN JR., St. Paul, Minn., has sold
DE WOLF HOPPER (33056), pointer dog, to Messrs. Seabury & Helfenstein, St. Paul, Minn.
KENT OF SYDNEY (33781), pointer dog, to same.

MR. CHAS. VELTON, Columbus, O., has sold
——, black, white and ticked pointer bitch, whelped November 7, 1892, by King of Kent—Daisy (Bang Bang—Zanetta), to Mr. L. Rausch, St. Louis, Mo.

HOLLYMERE KENNELS, New York, have sold
——, black and white English setter dog puppy, whelped March 6, by Roy F (26050)—Lady Clara (15260), to Mr. C. A. Claflin, Omaha, Neb.

NAMES CLAIMED

NAMES CLAIMED.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Names Claimed. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. JOHN BOLUS, Wooster, O., claims the name
ROYAL ROD, for black and white pointer puppy, whelped May 27, 1894, by Rip Rap out of Kent's Queen (King of Kent—Vera Bang).

MR. C. J. KELLY, Greenville, Miss., claims the name
FERNWOOD MELBA, for St. Bernard bitch, whelped March 5, 1894, by Fernwood Bruce (17206)—Fernwood Nell (26609).

MR. L. RAUSCH, St. Louis, Mo., claims the name
DELL OF KENT, for black, white and ticked pointer bitch, by King of Kent—Daisy (Bang Bang—Zanetta).

Coursing

FIXTURES

Aberdeen Coursing Club's Autumn meeting, Aberdeen, S. D., October 1. J. H. Davis, secretary.

American Waterloo Cup meeting (first), Huron, S. D., October 8, etc. F. B. Coyne, secretary, American Coursing Club.

Altcar Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 16, etc. T. W. Bartels, secretary.

Kenmore Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 22, etc. C. F. Weber, secretary.

Cheyenne Coursing Club's first meeting, Great Bend, Kan., October 29, etc. Ira D. Brougher, secretary.

TRALES AND THE GLENDYNES

CANNON FALLS, MINN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—In the Spring of 1888 Dr. Walter Iliffe of Kendal, England, wrote me offering four Glendyne bitches, two by Jester and two by London, and not having sufficient funds to make the purchase I presented the case to D. N. Heiser and G. N. Moses of Great Bend, the other two members of the executive committee of the American Coursing Club for that year. They took the matter under consideration and were to write me in a few days; but it dragged along for two or three weeks, and I got tired of waiting and went to Great Bend to urge up the matter. But not finding Mr. Heiser at home, I had to return from my business trip again to meet them. I spent twenty-five dollars in trying to get them interested, besides my time, and finally I wrote to Dr. Iliffe an acceptance of the offer, with the understanding that he was to substitute for one of the bitches a dog that could be bred with them. I took an equal interest with Messrs. Moses and Heiser in the four dogs, and I was to take charge of them on their arrival here. As my business was confined to the southwestern quarter of the state of Kansas and unfortunately the drouth hurt the crop that year, and I lost about a thousand dollars in notes and otherwise, I was a bit short-handed, and the agreement was that I should have time to pay my share of the purchase price of the dogs.

Arthur Massey was visiting in England, and I wrote him asking if he could bring the dogs over when he came back, and he consented to do so. In the meantime the dog that had been selected to send over died, and Dr. Iliffe substituted Trales in its place, writing me to that effect. The money was telegraphed to Dr. Iliffe after a delay that was nearly fatal, but I stayed by the transaction until it was consummated. Understand that no one but myself ever made one scratch of a pen in the deal. Arthur Massey very kindly went to Dr. Iliffe's place and got the dogs at my request, he never having had any interest in them in any other way, and his kindly care of them and safe delivery have always been fully appreciated by me. He paid their way over. The amount sent for the dogs included their passage money, but by a misunderstanding Dr. Iliffe did not give him the expense money that was sent; but he had the amount paid him on his arrival home.

Mr. D. C. Luse had given Arthur Massey money to purchase a good bitch with, and he brought over Dick's Darling in company with the others, and being in season, by accident, so stated, received service by Trales on the boat. The litter containing Lady Barton, etc., was the result, from which Mr. Luse received more benefit than anyone else, and I never heard of anybody receiving even thanks for the same.

Business in Western Kansas was still worse than the preceding year, and although I was intending to take the dogs in charge and locate at Great Bend, I was obliged to give up the project and let the dogs go into Messrs. Heiser and Moses' hands entirely; and although I had spent time and money to get them here I never received even an offer of a puppy. I lost at least two thousand dollars by trying to stay with Western Kansas and the American Coursing Club, and have been badly crippled financially ever since. Afterward I got possession of two of the best young dogs from the Glendyne bitches and Trales, viz., Major Glendyne and Lady Iliffe Glendyne, and proved their value, as the winnings of their produce will testify. But I would like to ask who imported Trales and the Glendynes? I have felt very sore over the transaction, the way it came out, but will leave the coursing public to judge the matter.

Another part of it that was not just the thing to my mind was that I arranged with Mr. Moses to take Trales for a year and use him in the stud on a percentage. I made it emphatic that I would not take him for less than a year, but after keeping him for a couple of months he wrote a very peremptory demand for his return to Great Bend, and I sent him to his defeat.

Had these dogs been properly handled and bred, this country would have had as strong or stronger strain of coming greyhounds than we have here at present. But they are scattered to the four winds, and but a trace of them exists in this country. I made the fatal mistake of letting in men that were interested in advancing the coursing interest only so far as it affected one small town. In other words they were not dog men. But I will ask again, who imported the dogs?

GEO. IRWIN ROYCE.

[When writing the notice of Trales' death we had no intention of depriving Dr. Royce of his share in the credit of importing the dog, but from his letter it is plain we should have included him with Messrs. Moses and Heizer as the importers of Trales.—ED.]

NOTES

IN an article entitled "Sport, a National Benefactor," in a recent issue of the Sportsman, an English cotemporary, an estimate is given of the annual expenditure in coursing in the United Kingdom. According to this statement, there are about 3,040 gentlemen who keep greyhounds to run in public, besides many others who keep a few for private coursing and small local meetings, about 3,500 greyhounds are entered annually in the stud book, and with the unentered ones the writer brings the total up to 20,000. Taken from the public sales of greyhounds, good, bad and indifferent, the average price seems to be £18, and gives a total of £360,000 as the amount invested, while the tax paid on greyhounds is put at £1,000. Most of the other items set down for keep of dogs, trainers and kennelmen, traveling and other expenses, are probably as near the mark as can be got in a calculation of this kind, the total investment being put down at £520,000, and the annual expenditure at £317,400! These figures will be a revelation to most people; but enormous as they are they do not seem to include such necessary expenses of meetings as the amounts paid to judge, slipper, gamekeepers, beaters, advertising, etc., which, when calculated for all the numerous meetings held in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, would amount to a considerable sum and increase the annual expenditure by a few thousand pounds.

AS I understand some people ascribe my not taking any nominations in the American Waterloo Cup to my objection to the judge appointed, I wish to state that this is not correct. When I made my application for nominations the committee had not then appointed a judge. When I found I was too late to get any nominations, unless I paid a high price for them, I partially made other arrangements and I can possibly lend a greyhound or two to a nominator for the American Waterloo Cup of 1895. I am not acquainted with Mr. Stevenson, the judge appointed, but I have not the slightest doubt he will do his best to give fair and impartial judging. I may as well take this opportunity to contradict a rumor that has reached me that I am X. Y. Z., the writer of some letters that have lately appeared in the AMERICAN FIELD on the sale of nominations for the Waterloo Cup, also criticising the actions of the secretary of the American Coursing Club. I beg to say I am not X. Y. Z., nor am I aware that I have the pleasure of that gentleman's acquaintance.

Lawrence, Kan. H. C. LOWE.

THE following paragraph in the Melbourne Leader, an Australian cotemporary, makes sad reading: "At Diggers' Rest, on Wednesday, was witnessed what practically amounted to the funeral of coursing as a sport in Victoria, when the famous Diggers' Rest Plumpton of a few years back was finally disposed of by the sale of all the fixtures and necessaries of the sport by Mr. John Munday. The caretaker's house fell for £36, while the refreshment shed and offices failed to realize more than £25; the six miles or so of fencing, however, attracted some reckless individuals to speculate from 5s. to 8s. a chain, but in all scarcely more than £100 was obtained for improvements which cost the Victoria Coursing Club over £3,500 to erect. The scene of the many Waterloo Cups of the past will now be stripped of all its grandeur, and return to its pristine bareness, and its original owner, Sir W. J. Clarke, for, according to the provisions of the sale, all purchases must be removed from the ground within one month of the date of the sale."

GREYHOUNDS are offered for sale this week by Mr. A. L. Page, New York.

Rifle

FIXTURES

Ninth tournament of the Westlicher Schuetzen-Bund, Milwaukee, Wis., June 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

National Sharpshooters' Union's first tournament, Glendale, L. I., June 30 to July 8.

RIFLES FOR BIG GAME

EUREKA SPRINGS, ARK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Men selecting a rifle for big game might do well to take a few lessons in natural philosophy before going afield. They could learn a few simple rules that would be of great benefit.

Motion is a continued change of place, with regard to a fixed point, and the power which puts a body in motion is called force. Velocity is the rate of motion at which a body moves. Velocity is independent of the weight of the moving body. Thus, a cannon ball and a rifle ball, both flying at the rate of a thousand feet a second, have the same velocities.

Momentum is the power with which bodies moving at the same rate overcome impediments, and is in proportion to the quantity of matter they contain. The momentum is found by multiplying its quantity of matter by its velocity per second.

These simple rules apply to rifle practice in many ways. A heavy bullet, given high velocity, overcomes impediments, therefore use all the powder and lead that the rifle will bear; pay no attention to what others say, but get a strong action, heavy barrel and long shell, and put in all the load you can stand to fire.

Example: A noted guide and hunter showed me his rifles, one a .32, one a .45-60, and then his old stand-by, or as he termed it, "old destruction." What was it? An old style Sharp's stock and action with a very heavy 40-caliber Remington barrel fitted, and a 4¼ inch straight shell; load 140 grains powder, 550 grain bullet. He had the barrel chambered for these special shells and had been to considerable trouble and expense to get this engine of destruction, but it was a good example of velocity and weight to overcome impediments.

Which will do the most damage—a cannon ball or a rifle ball, both flying at a thousand feet a second, on meeting an impediment? Apply the rule of momentum and you will see at once that the cannon ball would be the most destructive; but as an ordinary man could not handle a cannon very well in the presence of game, it behooves him to use as heavy a ball as his rifle will shoot.

Many writers misconstrue the name big game, and insist on putting deer and antelopes and mountain sheep in this list. Now, big game and dangerous game need altogether a different arm than these timid animals. Mountain lions and grizzly bears are the only dangerous animals in the United States, not including Alaska, where the polar bear is found. Of big game proper the buffalo, moose, caribou and elk are the only ones.

Such is the tenacity of the grizzly bear, along with its great bulk—impediment—it becomes clear that both weight and velocity are needed to meet the impediment. This same reason holds good as regards the mountain lion and the big game above enumerated.

From my experience the antelope is both the hardest game to kill outright and most difficult to hit of any of the game animals. From the nature of the country frequented by them, long shots are the rule.

Apply another rule and note the result: A man at 500 yards appears to the naked eye only one-fifth his real size, while a target 30 inches in diameter at 700 yards appears less than six inches square, so that a small fraction in the direction of the sight would miss. Figure out the chances of hitting an antelope at these distances in a high wind and glaring bright sunshine, not to say anything of the monotonous gray of the prairie blending perfectly with the color of the animal. It is safe to say that one antelope bagged in forty shots would not be out of proportion.

In conclusion: For big game and dangerous game get the biggest, most destructive rifle that you can afford and can handle, and one that is sure to work at a critical moment and one that is safe to the shooter. A .50-caliber shooting 140 grains powder and 550 grains express bullet would be a smasher.

CROCUS.

NOTES

IN the AMERICAN FIELD of April 6 I noticed an article by Mr. De Ricqle giving an account of how he killed a bear in Utah, using for the purpose a .50-95 Express. Now we folks down this way kill bears occasionally with a .40-60 Winchester, or even a .44 pistol cartridge, and I have just purchased a .38-55 to kill bears with next Fall, but after reading Mr. De Ricqle's article I do not know as I have the courage to try it on anything larger than chipmunks or prairie dogs. If a .50-95 sent "crashing through his brain" will not stop a bear, what on earth will? It appears to me that possibly this gentleman, in his excitement, got the brain of his bear located in the wrong place. I wish he would inform us where he hit when he supposed he struck the brain. Was it near the head, near the heart or in the region of the tail? If the former, I have a gun for sale.

Chama, N. M. CO.

ALL arrangements for the tournament to be held at Milwaukee, Wis., by the Western Sharpshooters' Union, from June 19 to 23, are progressing finely. Two more clubs, the Peoria Rifle Club, of Peoria, Ill., and the Milwaukee Rifle Club, have joined the union within the last week, and the union is now in as good, if not better, condition than ever. The illustration which we present in this department this week is of the executive board of the union, and gives the reader a good idea of the men who will have the management of the tournament. Indications are that the tournament will be very largely attended, and lovers of rifle shooting will have a chance to not only compare their skill with one another, but also to meet and make the acquaintance of many of the best rifle shots in America.

THE Lee magazine rifle has been adopted for use in the United States navy, in accordance with the recommendation of the small arms board, which has been engaged for several weeks at Newport, R. I., in testing the several mechanisms submitted in competition. Captain Sampson, chief of the bureau of ordnance, and Secretary Herbert have just approved the recommendation of the board. The new rifle possesses advantages which, it is said, make it superior to the Krag-Jorgensen rifle, with which the United States army is supplied. Naval experts regard the small caliber of the new navy arm as one of its best features, the diameter of its bore being only six millimeters (0.236 inches), the smallest caliber for a service rifle in the world.

THE new magazine rifle recently invented by Captain Cei, an Italian officer, fires twenty cartridges automatically, without requiring any change in position on the part of the soldier; the firing may be intermittent or continuous at will. At a recent trial at Florence, before the Prince of Naples, the twenty shots were fired in two seconds and all hit the target.

REVOLVER SHOOTING IN ENGLAND

LONDON, ENG.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—On May 11, the day of the North London Rifle Club's revolver competitions, the weather was very good for big scores, there being no wind, consequently the participants put up some scores that will count well in the championship totals,

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WESTERN SHARPSHOOTERS' UNION

both Major Munday and Mr. Winans getting into the forties. Below are the details:

Twenty yards, stationary target.

Walter Winans	7 7 7 6 7 7—41	Comber	7 3 7 7 7 6—37
Major H. Munday	7 6 7 7 7 6—40

On May 15 it was very windy, therefore no good scores were made, as will be seen by the following:

Stationary target, 20 yards.

Major H. Munday	7 6 7 5 7 7—39	Knapp	6 5 4 7 6 7—35
Major Palmer	7 5 7 7 6 7—39	Lieut. Richardson	6 5 3 7 7 6—34
Clementi-Smith	7 7 6 7 5 7—39	Gould	7 5 7 6 6 3—34
Frost	7 7 7 7 6 5—39	Carter	5 7 5 5 6 5—33
Comber	5 6 7 5 7 6—36	Hore	5 6 3 4 7 6—31
Lieut. Chitty	7 6 5 7 4 7—36	Franzmann	4 4 4 7 5 6—30
Capt. Evans	6 5 6 5 6 7—35

In the revolver competitions at the South London Rifle Club on May 9, Messrs. Rand and Winans both got into the forties, it being a perfect day for shooting. Mr. Rand's was the first highest possible made at the club this year at 20 yards, as follows:

F. Rand	7 7 7 7 7 7—42	E. Howe	5 7 5 7 7 5—36
Walter Winans	6 7 7 7 7 7—41	Lieut. J. Howard	7 7 5 7 4 7—36
Capt. T. W. Heath	6 7 6 7 6 7—39

At 50 yards Mr. Winans made 39, the highest yet made this year toward the championship at that range. His total for the two ranges—20 and 50 yards—is three points ahead of Mr. Raud. Stationary target, 50 yards.

Walter Winans	7 4 7 7 7 7—39	F. Rand	7 6 5 6 6 5—35
Capt. T. W. Heath	5 7 5 6 7 6—36

Wednesday, May 22.—At the North London Rifle Club the weather was very favorable for revolver shooting, but the club has this year made an innovation in the scores for the revolver championship of the club, by making one score have to be shot for with alternate hands, so as to give the poorer shots a chance. To-day was one of the days when alternate shots had to be made with the right and left hand.

It was amusing to see how the men who usually head the scores were unable to hold under these circumstances and Mr. Knapp, who usually is very low down in the scores, made a splendid 41, using a Smith & Wesson revolver for the first time.

Revolver Series 2 (alternate hands), 20 yards.

C. Knapp	7 7 7 6 7 7—41	B. Comber	5 7 5 6 6 6—35
Walter Winans	6 7 6 7 7 6—39	F. H. Frost	6 6 5 7 4 6—34
Major Munday	7 7 7 6 7 5—39	A. W. Carter	6 5 7 6 3 7—34
Major J. H. Cowan	7 7 4 7 7 7—39	Major R. T. Jones	5 7 6 5 5 5—33
H. Andrews	7 7 4 7 6 7—38	Capt. W. Evans	3 4 6 6 6 7—32
Lieut. C. Chitty	7 4 6 7 6 6—36	Clementi-Smith	5 5 5 5 4 7—31
Major H. Palmer	4 7 7 7 7 4—36

Lieut. Chitty, who shot in this competition, is said to be the best shot (revolver) in the English Indian army.

At the South London Rifle Club on May 16 there was a very stiff wind which made good shooting impossible. Below are [illegible] at 20 yards:

Clementi-Smith	7 7 7 4 7 4—36	E. Howe	[illegible]
Lieut. J. Howard	6 6 4 5 6 7—81	Lieut. F. E. Var	[illegible]

CINCINNATI, O.—The following scores w[illegible] of the Cincinnati Rifle Association at its ra[illegible] 200 yards, off hand, at the Standard target.

Gindele	9	7
	7	8
	7	10
	7	8	8	10	8	9	9	9	6	8—82
Weinheimer	10	6	6	7	8	7	7	8	10	8—77
	9	8	4	2	9	7	9	10	7	6—71
	6	6	10	9	6	6	5	9	9	8—74
	10	8	6	10	3	9	9	7	5	9—76
Payne	8	10	9	7	7	9	9	9	4	7—79
	8	9	5	7	8	10	9	9	5	8—78
	8	6	8	10	7	9	10	7	7	7—79
	10	5	10	7	8	8	7	10	5	8—78
Trounstine	10	4	1	8	7	6	7	5	8	7—63
	6	10	8	8	3	4	5	5	7	4—60
	6	7	7	5	5	7	7	6	1	5—56
	9	4	4	3	8	10	4	7	5	9—63
Hake	5	7	7	4	5	6	5	3	3	6—51
	3	5	10	6	5	5	5	6	3	3—51
	4	10	6	7	10	6	8	7	8	7—73
	9	9	7	8	10	6	6	9	6	3—73
Drube	10	6	7	7	10	9	10	7	8	10—84
	8	7	5	6	8	7	5	10	10	8—71
	9	7	5	10	8	8	6	8	9	6—76
	10	9	8	6	10	8	8	6	10	8—82
Hasenzahl	8	5	5	10	8	8	6	9	9	10—78
	10	6	6	5	6	8	10	7	9	8—75
	5	6	10	8	5	5	10	7	8	8—72
	6	5	9	5	9	5	9	8	9	8—73
Topf	6	5	9	6	9	5	5	9	8	7—69
	9	10	7	6	5	6	6	8	4	2—63
	9	5	5	7	5	7	9	3	5	7—62
	7	10	10	9	4	2	6	6	4	5—63
See	8	10	9	6	7	9	7	9	6	8—79
	10	6	10	8	6	9	5	9	7	8—78
	9	8	7	7	9	5	5	8	10	8—76
	10	7	8	8	8	7	9	9	7	5—78
Randall	8	6	10	7	5	7	7	7	6	7—70
	5	9	6	6	5	4	7	9	7	8—66
	6	10	6	8	7	6	9	7	7	8—74
	10	8	6	8	10	5	7	6	5	5—70

A. D.

CINCINNATI, O.—The Losantiville Shooting Association used the German ring target for the first time in practice at Central Shooting Park, Dayton, Ky., and did fairly well under most unfavorable weather conditions. The shooting was at 200 yards, off hand (no palm rests), open sights, three pounds trigger pull. Sighting shots and unfinished scores not allowed.

*Hasenzahl	19	25	23	24	21	19	21	18	22	22—214
	17	23	20	21	18	23	23	24	21	22—212
	23	20	19	15	25	19	18	20	21	25—208
	18	21	20	24	20	15	18	24	25	22—207
*Nestler	17	19	25	20	16	22	20	24	23	24—210
	18	23	22	17	24	19	24	22	20	20—209
	23	20	20	23	19	21	17	18	21	21—205
	18	19	20	17	23	23	17	23	18	23—201
Roberts	21	21	24	25	22	20	20	20	18	20—211
	23	20	15	17	16	23	25	22	22	23—206
	20	24	19	15	21	19	21	23	20	21—203
	25	19	23	24	13	21	23	20	15	20—203
Scherrer	19	25	17	16	23	21	14	25	15	20—195
	18	21	20	23	12	14	19	21	17	20—185
	12	20	25	18	25	0	19	16	17	16—168
	5	13	23	7	18	17	21	21	22	22—169
Lapp	21	16	20	17	19	21	19	20	22	13—189
	16	19	17	20	16	21	22	15	23	14—183
	21	14	18	21	16	12	21	21	17	12—179
	13	19	5	4	18	20	19	23	17	12—147
Heod	23	19	21	18	13	21	20	16	19	23—193
	24	20	9	16	19	25	11	7	19	13—163
	4	19	15	19	25	0	9	6	20	20—137
	10	9	16	18	16	16	16	12	11	15—137
*Gassman	18	19	15	17	12	18	16	20	20	19—174
	24	12	17	9	13	20	18	16	20	14—163
	8	21	18	16	13	16	17	14	19	21—163
	0	18	11	12	22	13	15	18	19	0—128
Emminger	20	13	18	21	21	12	18	10	21	18—172
Jonscher	4	9	14	8	21	11	16	0	15	14—122

*Globe and peep sights.

H. C. ROBERTS.

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y.—During the week ending May 25, four prizes were contested for at the Woodvale rifle range. The first prize was a .22-caliber Winchester repeating rifle with globe and peep sights; second prize $5; third prize $2.50; booby prize, for the lowest score, all shots within counting space, $2.50. At the close of the contest the scores stood as follows: E. C. Reynolds 27; Geo. Bryant and Dolor Knight, each 23; Wm. Carpenter, Jos. Bailey and Lloyd Smith, each 22; W. D. Lincoln 9. In shooting off for second prize Bryant won with a score of 21 against Knight's 14. Carpenter won third with a tie score of 21 over Smith's 17 and Bailey's 19. Reynolds took first prize without a tie, and Lincoln the booby prize.

G. S. MEST.

JOLIET, ILL.—The following score, made by Mr. F. A. Martin, a member of the Joliet Schuetzen Verein, at Sharpshooters' Park, Joliet, on May 26, is remarkable in the last five shots. It was made in regular competition, and that it was the last string of five shots for season's high score. The shooting was on the German ring target, 200 yards, elbow body rest, and I believe has never before been equaled. As the reader will see it only lacks one of being a possible —124 out of 125 points. The score:

Martin	24	22	23	16	21	25	25	25	24	25—230

RIFLEITE.

Trap

FIXTURES

JUNE

Kelly Gun Club's tournament, Kelly, Ia., June 11 and 12.

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., live birds and targets, June 11 and 12.

Janesville Shooting Club's fifth annual tournament, Janesville, Wis., June 12 and 13.

Memphis Gun Club's annual tournament, Memphis, Tenn., June 11, 12, 13 and 14. $2,000 added money.

North Dakota State Sportsmen's Association's first annual tournament, Fargo, June 13 and 14. W. W. Smith, secretary.

Eleventh annual tournament Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest, under the auspices of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club, Portland, Ore., June 13, 14 and 15. D. L. Williams, secretary, Portland.

Nebraska State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Omaha, Neb., June 13, 14 and 15. $500 added money. F. S. Parmelee, secretary.

New England Shooting Association's seventh tournament, Worcester, Mass., June 14.

Wilmerding Gun Club's tournament, Wilmerding, Pa., June 15.

Chamberlin Cartridge & Target Co.'s second annual tournament, Cleveland, O., June 19, 20 and 21.

Flour City Gun Club's tournament, Minneapolis, Minn., June 20, 21 and 22.

New York State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Saratoga, N. Y., under the auspices of the Saratoga Gun Club, June 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28.

Missouri State Amateur Association's tournament, Moberly, Mo., June 25, 26 and 27.

Interstate Association's tournament, Vicksburg, [illegible] the auspices of the Vicksburg Gun Club, June [illegible]

North Judson Gun Club's tournament, North [illegible] June 26 and 27.

Brainerd Gun Club's tournament, Brainerd, Minn., June 27 and 28.

Endeavor Gun Club's tournament, Marlon, N. J., June 29.

JULY

[illegible] Club's tournament, Prescott, Arizona, July 3,

[illegible]a, N. Y., July 4, live birds and targets.

[illegible] Association's second annual tournament,

[illegible]'s tournament, Orangeville, Balti-

Palmetto Gun Club's tournament, Charleston, S. C., July 4.

Altoona Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Wapsononock Park, Altoona, Pa., July 11 and 12. W. G. Clark, secretary.

J. F. Schmelzer & Sons Arms Co.'s second annual midsummer shooting tournament, Kansas City, Mo., July 16, 17, 18 and 19. Open to amateurs only; $1.500 in prizes.

Belfast Gun Club's second annual tournament, Belfast, Me., July 17 and 18.

Interstate Association's tournament, Macon, Ga., under the auspices of the Macon Gun Club, July 17 and 18. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Macon Gun Club.

Lafayette Gun Club's annual tournament, Lafayette, Ind., July 23, 24 and 25.

AUGUST

Interstate Association's tournament, New Orleans, La., under the auspices of the Louisiana Gun Club, August 9 and 10. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Louisiana Gun Club.

Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association's tournament, Philadelphia, Pa., August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Interstate Association's tournament, Charlotte, N. C., under the auspices of the Charlotte Gun Club, August 27, 28 and 29. Amount of added money will be announced later.

SEPTEMBER

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., live birds and targets, September 2 and 3.

Limited Gun Club's tournament, Indianapolis, Ind., second week in September.

OCTOBER

West Newburg Gun Club's Fall tournament, West Newburg, N. Y., October 9, 10 and 11. First two days at targets, last day at live birds.

NOVEMBER

Kewanee Gun Club's regular annual tournament, Kewanee, Ill., November 5, 6 and 7.

1896

Annual territorial tournament, Arizona Sportsmen's Association, Phœnix, Ariz., January 4 and 5, 1896.

Interstate Association's fourth annual Grand American Handicap at live birds, New York, April 1, 2 and 3.

Winona Gun Club's tournament, Winona, Minn., May 30.

South Side Gun Club's eleventh annual tournament, Milwaukee, Wis., May 30, 31 and June 1.

American E. C. Powder Co.'s tournament, New York, May 4 to 8, 1896.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE LYNCHBURG GUN CLUB

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—At a meeting held after the shoot given at Lynchburg, Va., on May 17 and 18, by the Interstate Association, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the handicap adopted by the Interstate Association for use at its tournaments during the season of 1895 is hereby approved by the Lynchburg Gun Club and by the visitors at its tournament.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Interstate Association and to each of the representative sportsmen's papers for publication.

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be accorded to Mr. A. D. Wright, proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, for his hospitality in furnishing a lunch in the club house, free of charge, on the two days of the tournament, to the members of the gun club and its visitors.

B. G. EMPIE, for Secretary.

NOTES

THE Pacific Coast Trap Shooters' Association will have a grand Pacific Coast Handicap shoot at live birds, at or near Portland, Ore., on June 22, open to the world. The association announces that first money will not be less than $250. Second not less than $150 and third not less than $100. This event is conditional, and should there not be 25 entries or more received on or before June 8, it will be optional with the association whether or not this particular event is shot. Should the event be shot it will be governed by the following conditions and rules: Twenty-five live birds, five traps, five birds down, using Indicator. Handicaps ranging from 25 to 33 yards; 50-yard boundary with a dead line at 33-yard mark. Five-yard circle to be placed around each trap; any bird killed inside of this circle to be scored "lost bird." Three highest scores to take the purse. Revised "Dick Swiveler" live bird shooting rules scoring system, to wit: 20, 35 and 50 yard circles to be placed around all traps, using No. 3 trap as the center of the circles. All birds killed inside of the 20-yard circle and without the 5-yard circle, to be scored 10 points when killed with the first barrel and 9 points when killed with the second barrel. All birds killed inside of the 35-yard circle and without the 20-yard circle and within the outside boundary, to be scored 8 points when killed with the first barrel and 7 points when killed with the second barrel. All birds killed inside of the outside boundary and without the 35-yard circle, to be scored 6 points when killed with the first barrel and 5 points when killed with the second barrel. Any shooter who intentionally misses a bird in order to obtain a certain place shall forfeit all his interest in the purse, and will be debarred from taking part in any future tournament given under this management. The Interstate Association's rules (Hurlington rules revised) will govern all points not otherwise provided for. No guns larger than 12-gauge will be allowed. The three highest scores will divide the purse; 50 per cent. to first, 30 per cent. to second and 20 per cent. to third. All ties must be shot off at the original handicap distances, at rounds of ten birds until only three high guns remain in. Messrs. W. L. Curry and Ivan Humason have been appointed a handicapping committee and they will handicap all contestants from 25 to 33 yards. Messrs. Curry and Humason will endeavor to ascertain the correct shooting form of all contestants, each entry will be carefully considered, and every shooter will be placed at a mark where he will have a chance to win. In order to place all contestants on equal footing, handicaps will not be announced until the evening of June 20. Mr. J. S. Reed will act as referee. All contestants will shoot their scores from the same set of traps. Positively no entry will be taken after the second round. In order to expedite the shooting, a contestant missing three birds shall drop out, with the privilege of reëntering in case he has a chance to win. Contestants will pay for the number of birds they shoot at; shooters calling "no bird" on birds slow to start will be charged for same, providing they prove good flyers. Arrangements have been made to provide the very best of birds. The management reserve the right to refuse any entry they may deem proper. Entrance $20. Regular entries must be made on or before June 8, and must be accompanied by $10 forfeit. The remaining $10 may be paid up to the last shot of the second round. Penalty entries may be made after June 18, and up to last shot of the second round, by paying $30. Entries will be received by and all drafts should be made payable to D. L. Williams, Secretary and Manager, 417 Abington Building, Portland, Ore.

RECENTLY, says a C[illegible]nnati paper, there was a shooting tourna[illegible]t ten miles above Cincinnati, in [illegible]prominent Cincinnati trap shots [illegible]ck," the champion double bird [illegible] was chartered to take the shooting [illegible] and was to leave at a specified time. "Wick's" home is across the river from where the boat was moored, and getting a late start from home, "Wick" was hot and nearly out of breath when he reached the boat, so he went on the lower deck, sought out a cool place and laying his gun down, stretched himself out on a bunk to rest up and cool off before reaching the shooting grounds. His hunk was so comfortable and the river breeze so refreshing that he was soon fast asleep, making up for the time he had lost the night before while picturing to his companions how he was going to win everything the next day. Many of the shooters on the boat noticed that he was asleep, but realizing that a good snooze would do him lots of good, did not disturb him. The shooting grounds were finally reached and "Wick" was still sleeping, and as he seemed to be getting so much comfort out of the nap, no one disturbed him. After the other marksmen had disembarked the boat returned to Cincinnati, and just as it had pulled up to the wharf "Wick" woke up, and, springing to his feet, inquired of a colored deck hand what time he thought the boat would start. The darky replied that he guessed it would go back after the shooters about 7 o'clock. "Wick" took in the situation at once; saw that his friends, as a joke, had allowed him to be carried back to the city without as much as seeing the shooting grounds, and now he is awaiting his chance to get even with the crowd, and declares that he is bound to do it if it takes until the first of January.

WE notice, in his report of the Knoxville tournament, your representative states that the traps did not give the best service, and were a source of much complaint and annoyance, but he does not give any reason for same. We feel that in justice to ourselves the conditions under which the traps were used at Knoxville should be given as a reason for their not working as satisfactorily as they ordinarily do. When it is taken into consideration that the targets were thrown from 80 to 125 yards, and the traps strung up to the highest possible tension that could be given them with extra strong springs, we feel that they gave most excellent results when the fine breaking qualities of the targets used at that tournament are considered. There is no trap made that can throw a properly constructed target over 55 to 60 yards and not have more or less breakage in the traps, and we feel that the Knoxville club itself, and the majority of the shooters present, will admit that the working of the traps under the conditions at Knoxville, instead of being unsatisfactory, was very satisfactory. It was entirely contrary to the advice and wishes of the writer that the targets were thrown so far and so low, and everything was done by me that was possible to induce the management to throw the birds a reasonable distance and save the annoyance mentioned. At the Du Pont tournament at Cincinnati the targets were thrown not to exceed 60 yards, and we doubt if anyone, anywhere, ever saw a more perfect working set of traps and pulls than at that tournament. We believe that in justice to ourselves the conditions under which the targets were thrown at Knoxville should be given as a reason for the breakage in the traps at that shoot.

THE CLEVELAND TARGET CO.,
Cleveland, O. PER PAUL NORTH.

As we go to press the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association's tournament is in progress at Burnside. The attendance is good, though not as large as in some years past and everything is passing off pleasantly and satisfactorily. The contest for the Board of Trade diamond badge was spirited and the shoot-off for the trophy was decidedly interesting, finally resulting in Mr. H. Dunnell of the Pistakee Gun Club proving the victor, Mr. T. P. Hicks of the Garfield Gun Club of Chicago, giving him a long, close race. Dr. Frothingham of the Eureka Gun Club won the Montgomery Ward & Co. diamond medal for the second time, scoring 25 straight, making it his personal property. He also won the L. C. Smith cup without a tie, scoring 20 straight over three unknown traps. At this writing the team contest is a little more than half finished, therefore it is impossible to tell what the result will be. Following the team shoot will come the race for the Montgomery Ward & Co. live bird diamond trophy, after which the rest of the tournament will be open to the world, letting in such men as Budd, Grimm, Merrill, Elliott, T. K. Keller and other cracks who are present. There is some little talk of a big live bird race later in the week between some of the best shots, and if so, there will be some fine sport.

THE Brainerd Gun Club will give a two days' tournament on June 27 and 28. This club has given some good two-day and three-day tournaments in other years, when there was a large attendance from other cities and a good time generally, but we expect to make this the best two-day tournament ever held in this part of the country. We have a complete outfit, and our shooting park is a pleasant place. Many of the shooters in the Northwest, who are now making good scores before traps having an electric pull, took their first lesson on quickly thrown birds at this place, as we were the first to use electricity in springing traps. Purses and special prizes will amount to over $500. Some guaranteed events will be sure to come off with a fat purse and some valuable trophies will be hung up for averages. The best of facilities are afforded for reaching the shooting park, and we can assure visitors a good time. Those who win will not go away empty-handed, and we will try to make the affair so pleasant that those who lose will not be heavy-hearted.

Brainerd, Minn. W. H. MANTOR, Secy.

THE programs for the Interstate Association's tournament at Vicksburg, Miss., June 26 and 27, under the auspices of the Vicksburg Gun Club, are now ready for distribution, and like all programs where the Interstate Association has anything to do with a tournament, is interesting. Ten events, all at targets, are scheduled for each day, the club adding $10 cash to each purse. In all tournaments under the management of the Interstate Association the shooters are classified, so as to give the amateurs something of a show for winning, and anyone dropping for place is debarred from participating in any future tournament held by the association. The people of Vicksburg have always taken a great interest in trap shooting and are now very much interested in the outcome of this tournament, while the members of the Vicksburg Gun Club, famous for their hospitality and chivalry, are leaving nothing undone that will assist in making the occasion both profitable and pleasant to all who attend.

THE eleventh annual trap shooting tournament of the Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest, which embraces Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia, will be held at Portland, Ore., under the auspices of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club, on June 20, 21 and 22. It is claimed that this association has the largest membership of any similar organization in the United States, and the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club will put forth every effort to make this meeting the best and most interesting of any ever held by the association. The programs for this event will be ready for distribution in a week or two, and those having this part of the work in charge say that it will be one of the most novel and attractive of any ever before issued. Further particulars of the tournament and programs can be obtained by addressing D. L. Williams, Portland, Ore.

THE Calumet Heights Gun Club opened its trap shooting season May 30, Decoration Day, on its grounds at Grand Calumet Heights, Ind., most delightful grounds, the traps being so placed that the shooters face the water. Seventy-four varieties of flowers beautify the grounds. Beside the original club house seven cottages have been built on the grounds, which are occupied by members during the Summer, the exhilerating lake breeze making it a most desirable resort. The shooting season ends on Thanksgiving Day each year. The winners of the Decoration Day shoot were A. Patterson 1st in Class A, A. P. Harper 1st in Class B, and Dr. Harland 1st in Class C. The full scores will be given in our next issue. The membership is made up mostly of professional men, and beside the shooting fishing is indulged in to a great extent.

WE are in receipt from Mr. R. S. Waddell of Cincinnati, O., of a very excellent photograph of the squad of six men who, at the Du Pont tournament, using Du Pont's smokeless powder, broke the world's record as a squad of six by scoring 119 out of a possible 120. The squad consisted of John Conner, E. D. Fulford, Ferd Van Dyke, Glover, Dando and C. A. Young, the latter being the only one missing a single target out of the 20 each shot at. Back of the squad, and so plainly photographed that every mark is distinct, stands the blackboard upon which the record was kept, with the gentleman who did the scoring standing at the end of the board ready to enter the first name in the next squad. The record is a remarkable one and certainly speaks well for the excellence of the powder used.

THE Missouri State Amateur Association will hold a tournament at Moberly, Mo., on June 25, 26 and 27, under the auspices of the Moberly Hunting and Fishing Club. Over $200 will be added to the purses, besides several valuable merchandise prizes will be offered. Both live birds and targets will be shot, and the management has arranged the program and the division of purses with a view to protecting the amateur and giving him some show to compete with the expert. The especial attractions of the tournament are the contest for the gold medal, valued at $100, and the team contest for the association badge.

T. K. KELLER is shooting in the open target events at the Illinois State shoot, and the scores he is putting up speak volumes for the U. S. Rapid shell and the ammunition he is using. He set the boys a lively pace on Monday and when he started for the grounds Tuesday morning he said Charlie Budd, Charlie Grimm, Dick Merrill and Elliott would have to hustle to get any of the pie, as he expected to show no favors to anyone, and if they kept company with him they would have to attend to business very closely.

A NEW gun club has been organized in this city with the following named gentlemen as charter members: J. H. Vernon, H. J. Hinson, W. E. Prior, Dr. Delamater, G. L. Springer, T. Dullard, Geo. McNah, A. S. Wold, W. E. Dunkleberger, C. A. Ferguson, S. S. Wold. Semi-monthly shoots will be held. Officers of the club for current year as follows: President, W. E. Prior; treasurer, A. S. Wold; secretary, John H. Vernon.

Rock Rapids, Ia. J. H. V.

W. FRED QUIMBY of New York, who is attending the Illinois State shoot, was a happy man on Tuesday last when he learned that E. C. powder had won the Smith cup, the target diamond medal, and had given the winner of the Board of Trade diamond medal a red hot race. His Empire targets and traps were also working nicely, and this fact helped to make him one of the jolliest men on the grounds.

THE fifth monthly contest of the New Jersey Trap Shooters' League will be held on Saturday, June 29, on the grounds of the Endeavor Gun Club, Marion, N. J. The club will hold an all-day tournament in connection therewith, beginning at 9:30 a. m.

THE Belfast Gun Club of Belfast, Me., will hold its second annual tournament July 17 and 18. There will be guaranteed cash prizes to the amount of $125, and merchandise prizes to the value of $150. The tournament will be open to all.

THE New York State Sportsmen's Association tournament, to be held at Saratoga, June 24 to 28, promises to be the largest held in years, and many shooters and clubs have already signified their intention of being present.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Eureka Gun Club will be held on its grounds, Saturday, June 8, at 4 p. m.; several matters of importance will come up for consideration.

Chicago. W. F. DE WOLF, Secy.

THE American "E. C." Powder Co. claim the four middle days of the first week in May, 1896, for a large tournament they will give in New York, with $2,000 added money.

THE North Judson Gun Club will give a two days' tournament at targets on June 26 and 27.

North Judson, Ind. BERT LIGHTCAP, Secy.

TRAP shooting tournaments at live birds and targets will be held at Utica, N. Y., on the following dates: June 11 and 12, July 4, and September 2 and 3.

THE E. C. Powder Co. announces in our fixtures this week that it will hold a tournament in New York on May 4 to 8, 1896.

THE Prescott Gun Club of Prescott, Arizona, will hold a tournament on July 3, 4 and 5, at live birds and inanimate targets.

THE Limited Gun Club of Indianapolis, Ind., will hold its first tournament the second week in September.

THE Norwalk Shooting Association will hold its second annual tournament at Norwalk, O., on July 4.

COLORADO STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT

PUEBLO, COLO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed I hand you scores made at the third tournament of the Colorado Sportsmen's Association held under the auspices of the Pueblo Gun Club. The Pueblo club, although containing less than twenty members, added $500 to the purses, thus making the moneys worth shooting for. The attendance was not as large as was expected, but those who did come enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.

The grounds of the Pueblo club are located at Lake Minnequa and are reached by electric cars every ten minutes. During the intermissions in the shooting the visitors were taken around the lake in the electric launch, or in one of the numerous boats of the lake company. There were plenty of refreshments for the inner man on the grounds, both solid and liquid, but nothing of an intoxicating nature was permitted.

Among the most prominent shooters present were B. Haywood, A. B. Daniels, D. L. Mechling, Ellis and A. E. McKenzie of Denver; O. Moore, C. F. Painter, Geo. Rohwer and Dr. H. C. Hall of Telluride; W. L. Thomas of Leadville; Jno. A. Lehritter of Salida; John Harms of St. Elmo, and E. H. Morse and Lawton of Colorado Springs.

The shooting was not up to the usual standard of the men present. The Pueblo boys in particular seemed to be unable to fix their minds on the work of shooting, as they were too anxious to make everything pleasant for the visiting shooters. They are in hopes, however, to give a better account of themselves at the Fall shoot. Mr. B. Haywood of Denver won the individual championship, and the Pueblo club and Mr. Chas. Otero of this city presented the association with a magnificent gold badge emblematic of this honor. The individual championship has been contested for three times. It was won last Spring at Salida, by Mr. O. Moore of Telluride, last Fall at Telluride, by Mr. L. G. Morse of Pueblo, and at this shoot by Mr. B. Haywood of Denver.

In the team championship contest for the Salida cup, the Telluride team was successful at Salida last Spring, but the Pueblo team won last Fall at Telluride and was again successful at this shoot. The place of the Fall meeting has not been decided upon, but it is thought that Leadville will get the meet.

At the annual business meeting of the association the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year; President, Peter Mulvany of Salida; first vice-president, A. E. McKenzie of Denver; second vice-president, J. M. Killin of Pueblo; secretary, W. L. Thomas of Leadville; treasurer, B. Haywood of Denver; game warden, John H. Lehritter of Salida; executive committee, O. Moore, H. E. Chubbuck, L. G. Morse, J. H. Lehritter and E. C. Redmon.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Chas. Otero for the handsome medal emblematic of the individual championship of the state which he donated to the association. A committee of five, consisting of the first officers, was appointed to draw up rules governing the contest for the medal, the by-laws were ordered printed, and it was voted that no one in the future shall participate in the shoot if delinquent in dues. The scores follow:

EVENT NO. 1.—10 single targets per man, $1 entrance, $5 added: Haywood 8, Shermau 9, Killin 9, L. G. Morse 6, O. Moore 10, Pink 7, Thomas 9, Harms 9, Belville 9, Mechling 8,

Beard 6, Dr. Hall 9, Armstrong 4, Rohwer 8, West 9, Painter 8, Daniels 10, Logan 6, Stone 3, Zed 8, Burrows 7, Ellis 9. First money divided, Moore and Daniels; second money, Hall, Sherman, Killin, West, Thomas, Harms, Belville, Ellis; third money, Mechling, Zed, Painter, Rohwer, Haywood; fourth money, Burrows, Pink.

EVENT No. 2.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Haywood 22, Sherman 14, Killin 21, Morse 19, Moore 21, Pink 16, Thomas 15, Belville 17, Beard 21, Harms 23, Dr. Hall 21, Armstrong 17, Rohwer 19, West 23, Painter 19, Daniels 22, Ellis 17, Burrows 19, Zed 21, Mechling 22. First money, Harms, West; second money, Haywood, Daniels, Mechling; third money, Hall, Killin, Moore, Beard, Zed; fourth money, Burrows, Painter, Morse, Rohwer.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: Moore 10, Hall 7, Killin 11, *Thomas 5, *Ellis 8, *Haywood 10, Burrows 12, Pink 11, Painter 10, Armstrong 15, D. W. Spencer 10, Stone 10, Chubbuck 11, Daniels 10, Sherman 9, West 7, *Belville 8, *Harms 8, *Mechling 13, Beard 13, Morse 15, Zed 9, Rohwer 14, Logan 7, C. A. Spencer 12. First money, Morse, Armstrong; second money, Rohwer; third money, Beard, Mechling; fourth money, C. A. Spencer, Burrows.

EVENT No. 4.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $25 added: Haywood 21, Sherman 20, Killin 24, Morse 21, Moore 23, Belville 21, Pink 20, Ellis 18, Beard 20, Thomas 16, Chubbuck 24, Hall 14, Armstrong 16, Rohwer 18, West 16, Painter 14, Daniels 23, Burrows 14, Harms 23, Zed 19, C. A. Spencer 16, Mechling 22. First money, Rohwer; second money, Zed, Daniels, Armels, Harms; third money, Mechling; fourth money, Haywood, Morse, Belville.

EVENT No. 5.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: *Moore 11, *Daniels 13, *Killin 11, *Haywood 13, *Harms 9, *Chubbuck 9, D. W. Spencer 9, *Morse 12, Zed 13, *Sherman 7, *Hall 11, *West 9, *Mechling 10, *Ellis 7, Logan 9, Pink 10, Painter 11, *Rohwer 14, *Armstrong 13.

*Shot under expert rules.

First money, Rohwer; second money, Zed, Daniels, Armstrong; third money, Morse; fourth money, Painter, Hall, Moore, Killin.

EVENT No. 6.—10 pairs per man, $2 entrance, $15 added: Thomas 11, Harms 11, Moore 15, Morse 13, Painter 9, Rohwer 11, Hall 14, Pink 11, Ellis 6, Zed 9, Armstrong 5, Killin 12, Mechling 12, West 11, Daniels 16, Haywood 18, Sherman 9, Chubbuck 10. First money, Haywood; second money, Daniels; third money, Moore; fourth money, Hall.

EVENT No. 7.—25 singles, expert rules, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Haywood 12, Armstrong 12, Rohwer 18, Morse 14, Moore 16, Pink 9, Mechling 15, Ellis 15, Spencer 6, Hall 15, Killin 17, Zed 10, West 9, Painter 17, Daniels 19, Harms 14, Sherman 11, Williford 12. First money, Daniels; second money, Rohwer; third money, Killiu, Painter; fourth money, Moore.

EVENT No. 8.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $25 added: Haywood 15, Armstrong 17, Rohwer 17, Morse 18, Moore 21, Daniels 21, Mechling 22, Pink 14, Sherman 20, Ellis 21, Burrows 13, C. A. Spencer 19, Hall 21, Killin 21, Zed 20, West 17, Painter 13, Beard 19, Belville 22, Black 26, Harms 22, Thomas 18, Williford 13, D. W. Spencer 17. First money, Black; second money, Mechling, Belville, Harms; third money, Killiu, Moore, Daniels, Ellis; fourth money, Zed, Sherman.

EVENT No. 9.—20 singles, $2 entrance, $15 added: Haywood 15, Armstrong 13, Rohwer 15, Morse 16, Moore 12, Daniels 15, Mechling 16, Sherman 16, Belville 11, Ellis 13, Burrows 13, D. W. Spencer 15, Hall 18, Killin 17, Zed 18, West 14, Painter 12, Beard 13, Pink 15, Black 14, Harms 17, C. A. Spencer 16, Thomas 18, Williford 12. First money, Thomas, Hall, Zed; second money, Killin, Harms; third money, Morse, Mechling, Sherman, C. A. Spencer, Painter; fourth money, Haywood, Rohwer, Daniels, Pink.

EVENT No. 10.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: *Moore 12, *Hall 13, *West 9, *Black 7, *Zed 12, *Harms 9, *Armstrong 10, Beard 10, Painter 11, *Daniels 12, Killin 7, *Haywood 12, *Mechling 8, *Rohwer 8, *Sherman 6, Logan 6, Pink 10, D. W. Spencer 13, Burrows 8, *Morse 14, *Haywood 8, Rohwer 4, Stone 10, C. A. Spencer 10, *Zed 12, *Ellis 9.

*Shot under expert rules.

First money, Morse; second money, Hall, D. W. Spencer; third money, Moore, Daniels, Haywood, Zed, Beard; fourth money, Painter.

EVENT No. 11.—7 live birds per man, $5 entrance; Sherman 5, Daniels 7, Haywood 4, Harms 6, Burrows 6, Mechling 6, Chubbuck 6, Hall 6, Moore 3, Killin 6, Morse 4. Daniels won first money; ties for second shot off, miss and out, Mechling and Killin dividing; third money, Sherman; ties for fourth divided.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—10 singles, $1 entrance, $5 added: Rohwer 7, West 9, Daniels 9, Morse 9, Moore 7, Black 8, Mechling 10, Killin 9, Haywood 7, Pink 7, Belville 5, Painter 5, Hall 9, Harms 10. First money, Mechling, Harms; second money, Morse, Hall, Killin, West, Daniels; third money, Black; fourth money, Moore, Rohwer, Haywood, Pink.

EVENT No. 2.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Haywood 23, Killin 22, Mechling 20, L. G. Morse 24, Moore 21, West 23, Pink 17, Hall 20, E. H. Morse 16, Thomas 20, Rohwer 20, Daniels 22, Black 22, Belville 19, Painter 15, Harms 23, Beard 17, McKenzie 22, Lawton 20, Zed 23. First money, L. G. Morse; second money, Zed, West, Harms, Haywood; third money, McKenzie, Killin, Daniels, Black; fourth money, Moore.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: *Haywood 7, *Hall 6, *West 8, *Mechling 7, *McKenzie 5, Sherman 10, Beard 13, E. H. Morse 13, Thomas 8, Burrows 11, *L. G. Morse 4, *Killin 6, *Daniels 9, *Zed 8, Belville 10, Pink 13, D. W. Spencer 12, Lawton 12, Black 11, Rohwer 13, Moore 12, Painter 12, McKenzie 11. First money, Pink, Beard, E. H. Morse, Rohwer; second money, D. W. Spencer, Lawton, Moore, Painter; third money, Black, Burrows, McKenzie; fourth money, Belville, Sherman.

EVENT No. 4.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $25 added: Haywood 22, Rohwer 20, Killin 20, Daniels 23, Mechling 21, Zed 23, L. G. Morse 17, Belville 21, Moore 18, Painter 21, D. W. Spencer 13, West 21, Pink 15, Black 19, Hall 21, McKenzie 22, Harms 24, Sherman 13, Thomas 17, E. H. Morse 22, Burrows 19. First money, Harms; second money, Daniels and Zed; third money, E. H. Morse, McKenzie, Haywood; fourth money, Mechling, Painter, West, Belville, Hall, shot off and Belville and Hall divided.

EVENT No. 5.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: *Haywood 10, *L. G. Morse 10, *Hall 8, *Killin 6, *Rohwer 9, *Daniels 10, *Mechling 9, *Zed 9, *Moore 10, *Painter 7, *Lawton 5, *West 9, E. H. Morse 5, *Harms 11, Black 14, Belville 13, Williford 11, Johnson 15, Thomas 10, McKenzie 14. *Shot under expert rules. First money, Johnson; second money, Black, McKenzie; third money, Belville; fourth money, Williford, Harms.

EVENT No. 6.—10 pairs, $2 entrance, $15 added: Haywood 14, Rohwer 13, Killin 12, Daniels 14, Mechling 15, Black 14, L. G. Morse 11, Thomas 15, Moore 16, Painter 10, Harms 12, Pink 14, Hall 13. First money, Moore; second money, Mechling, Thomas; third money, Haywood, Daniels, Black, Pink; fourth money, Hall, Rohwer.

EVENT No. 7.—Individual championship race, 20 singles, everything known, 10 singles, known trap, unknown angles, 10 singles, everything unknown, and five pairs per man: Killin 36, Zed 35, Black 27, Moore 34, Rohwer 32, West 32, Belville 38, Daniels 38, McKenzie 37, Harms 39, L. G. Morse 32, Hall 35, Haywood 41, Painter 24. First, Haywood; second, Harms; third, Belville and Daniels.

EVENT No. 8.—25 singles, expert rules, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Haywood 21, Rohwer 17, Killin 14, Daniels 12, Mechling 16, Zed 9, Morse 13, Burrows 16, Moore 17, Painter 12, West 15, Sherman 14, Black 16, Matthewson 14, Hall 19, Harms 17, McKenzie 12, Williford 10. First money, Haywood; second money, Hall; third money, Harms, Moore, Rohwer; fourth money, Mechling, Burrows and Black.

EVENT No. 9.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $25 added: Haywood 23, Rohwer 22, Killin 24, Daniels 22, Mechling 19, Harms 21, L. G. Morse 18, Belville 17, Moore 24, Painter 19, E. H. Morse 20, D. W. Spencer 19, Johnson 14, Lawton 20, Hall 21, Black 19, Beard 15, Thomas 24, West 21, Sherman 17, Zed 14, Pink 16, Matthewson 19, Parker 15, McKenzie 19. First money, Killin, Moore, Thomas; second money, Haywood; third money, Rohwer, Daniels; fourth money, Harms, Hall and West.

EVENT No. 10.—live birds, miss and out: Thomas 2, Daniels 4, Sherman 4, Haywood 4, Burrows 5, Hall 5, Killin 3, Spencer 2, Pink 5, Mechling 5, Belville 0.

EVENT No. 11.—Same thing over: Belville 4, Sherman 2, Pink 2, Haywood 2, Burrows 2, Mechling 4, Daniels 4, Thomas 0, Killin 4, Zed 0, Spencer 1, Hall 0.

EVENT No. 12.—Team contest for the Salida cup, three men to each team, 20 singles and 5 pairs per man.

Pueblo Team No. 1—Chubbuck 23, Harm 22, Killin 25. Team total, 75.

Pueblo Team No. 2—Belville 27, West 21, Morse 25. Team total 73.

Telluride Team—Moore 22, Hall 19, Rohwer 18. Team total 59.

Denver Team—Haywood 23, Daniels 27, Mechling 20. Team total 70.

THIRD DAY

Another day's fine sport was enjoyed and four extra events in addition to those postponed from Tuesday were shot. In events 3, 5 and 10, the men whose names are marked with an asterisk (*) shot under expert rules, having won a first or second in a previous event. The scores for the day were:

EVENT No. 1.—10 singles, $1 entrance, $5 added: Haywood 9, Rohwer 10, Killin 10, Daniels 9, Mechling 6, West 5, Morse 9, Belville 8, Moore 9, Painter 8, Harms 10, Parker 5, McKenzie 7, Thomas 6, Hall 10, Logan 4. First money, Rohwer, Killin, Harms, Hall; second money, Haywood, Daniels, Morse, Moore; third money, Belville, Painter; fourth money, McKenzie.

EVENT No. 2.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Haywood 24, Rohwer 24, Killin 23, Daniels 25, Mechling 21, West 21, Morse 17, Belville 21, Moore 23, Painter 19, Harms 23, McKenzie 22, Zed 24, Hall 23, Thomas 19, Burrows 20. First money, Daniels; second money, Haywood, Rohwer, Zed; third money, Killin, Moore, Harms, McKenzie, Hall; fourth money, Mechling, West, Belville.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: *Haywood 9, *Rohwer 9, *Hall 9, *Daniels 11, *Moore 11, *Morse 7, Parker 9, Belville 14, Hargood 6, Black 12, Mechling 12, McKenzie 12, Painter 11, West 13, Thomas 14, Burrows 12. First money, Thomas, Belville; second money, West, Mechling; third money, Burrows, Black, McKenzie; fourth money, Painter, Daniels, Moore.

EVENT No. 4.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $25 added: Haywood 25, Rohwer 19, Daniels 23, Mechling 22, Zed 24, Harms 21, Morse 21, Belville 20, Moore 24, Painter 18, McKenzie 21, Black 21, Killin 22, West 24, Hall 23, Thomas 20, Burrows 18. First money, Haywood; second money, Zed, Moore, West; third money, Daniels, Hall; fourth money, Mechling, Killin.

EVENT No. 5.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: First money, McKenzie, Armstrong,; second money, Rohwer, Moore, West, Parker, Penny; third money, Daniels, Mechling, Belville, Black, Hargood, Painter; fourth money, Kohlman, Ruddick, Teape.

EVENT No. 6.—10 pairs per man, $2 entrance, $15 added: Rohwer 16, Hall 13, Daniels 13, Zed 11, Morse 9, Thomas 13, Moore 16, Black 11, Holmes 12, West 8, Hargood 10, Williford 12, Belville 12, Burrows 12, Killin 14. First money, Rohwer, Moore; second money, Killin; third money, Thomas, Hall, Daniels; fourth money, Williford, Belville, Burrows, Holmes.

EVENT No. 7.—25 singles, expert rules, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Haywood 15, Rohwer 18, Armstrong 11, Daniels 19, Black 17, West 15, Morse 10, Kohlman 15, Moore 17, Painter 13, Ruddick 8, Hall 18, Zed 10, Penny 13, Mechling 17. First money, Rohwer, Daniels, Hall; second money, Black, Moore, Mechling; third money, Haywood, Kohlman; fourth money, West.

EVENT No. 8.—25 singles, $2.50 entrance, $25 added: Haywood 23, Rohwer 17, West 19, Daniels 24, Belville 22, Hargood 22, Morse 23, Ruddick 12, Moore 24, Painter 19, Armstrong 20, Hall 21, Kohlman 19, McKenzie 23, Burrows 21, Killin 21, Mechling 23, Parker 17, Zed 22, Black 19, Thomas 21, Hahn 13, Penny 19. First money, Moore, Daniels; second money, Haywood, McKenzie, Mechling, Morse; third money, Zed, Belville, Hargood; fourth money, Burrows, Killin, Hall, Thomas.

EVENT No. 9.—20 singles, $2 entrance, $15 added: Haywood 19, Rohwer 13, Zed 19, Daniels 20, West 12, Morse 20, Belville 18, Hargood 16, Moore 18, Painter 16, Ruddick 12, Hall 17, McKenzie 20, Burrows 16, Mechling 12, Killin 14, Parker 14, Teape 11, Armstrong 11, Thomas 14, Black 17, Holmes 10, C. A. Spencer 18, Penny 17. First money, Daniels, Morse, McKenzie; second money, Haywood, Zed; third money, Belville, Moore, Spencer; fourth money, Black, Penny, Hall.

EVENT No. 10.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: *Haywood 11, *Rohwer 10, Wert 9, *Daniels 9, Belville 11, *Hall 11, *McKenzie 8, *Black 12, *Minor 9, *Armstrong 12, Penny 10, Burrows 9, Kohlman 14, Teape 15, C. A. Spencer 6, D. W. Spencer 11, Ruddick 10, Hargood 6. First money, Teape; second money, Kohlman; third money, Black, Armstrong; fourth money, Haywood, Belville, Hall, D. W. Spencer.

Events 9 and 10 of Tuesday, which were postponed, resulted as follows:

EVENT No. 9.—20 singles, $2 entrance, $15 added: Morse 15, Belville 15, Moore 19, Killin 15, West 18, Harms 17, Daniels 20, Thomas 13, Hall 15, Parker 15, Rohwer 15, Logan 7, Haywood 16, Mechling 15, McKenzie 16, Painter 11. First money, Daniels; second money, Moore; third money, West; fourth money, Harms.

EVENT No. 10.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: *Haywood 12, *Rohwer 12, *Worth 4, *Daniels 9, *Mechling 6, *Thomas 9, *Morse 9, *West 10, *Moore 10, *Painter 12, *Harms 8, *Hall 11, Parker 11, Logan 12, Belville 11. First money, Haywood, Rohwer, Painter; second money, Hall, Parker, Belville; third money, West, Moore; fourth money, Thomas, Morse.

Four extra sweepstakes were shot. The first was at 15 birds and resulted: Moore 13, West 12, Hall 11, Zed 12, Rohwer 14, Black 10, Belville 14, Hargood 9, Killin 10, Morse 11, Thomas 13, Williford 14, C. A. Spencer 8. First money, Williford, Belville, Rohwer; second money, Thomas, Moore, Killin; third money, West, Zed; fourth money, Morse, Hall.

The second extra was at 10 birds, known traps, unknown angles: Black 6, West 8, Moore 8, Holmes 8, Rohwer 5, Zed 6, Killin 7, Belville 9, Williford 8, Morse 7, Hargood 3, Thomas 6, Burrows 6. First money, Belville; second money, West, Moore, Holmes, Williford; third money, Killin, Morse; fourth money, Black, Zed, Thomas, Burrows.

The third extra was at 10 birds: Morse 8, West 4, Black 7, Zed 6, Killin 6, Belville 8, Holmes 8. First money, Holmes, Morse, Belville; second money, Black; third money, Zed, Killin.

The fourth extra was also at 10 singles: Killin 9, Belville 8, Morse 7, Black 3, West 4. First money, Killiu; second money, Belville; third money, Morse.

Some pigeons being left an impromptu shoot at 12 live birds, miss and out, was gottten up. There were eight entries and Killin and Belville divided the money with a score of ten each.

L. G. MORSE.

KANSAS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT

KANSAS CITY, KAN.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The sixth annual tournament of the Kansas State Sportsmen's Association, which was held at Kansas City, Kan., on May 21, 22 and 23, was a complete success from every point of view. The weather was ideal; neither too hot nor too cold; the attendance was large and enthusiastic and comprised all of the best target shots in the state, as is evidenced by the scores. The tournament was given under the auspices of the Metropolis Gun Club of Kansas City, and was held at Kerr's Park, the traps being located in the racetrack inclosure with an excellent background and on a level with the score. Empire targets were used and gave perfect satisfaction.

The management was ably assisted by Mr. Al Bennett of Emporia, Kan., and the events were run off and the targets pulverized with the regularity and precision of clock work.

The annual business meeting and election of officers was held on Tuesday evening, May 21, and it was decided to hold the seventh annual tournament at Frankfort, Kan., in 1896. The following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Dr. M. A. Brawley of Frankfort; first vice-president, W. W. McIlhany of Weir City; Second vice-president, C. J. Wels of Frankfort; third vice-president, N. Snock of Kansas City; fourth vice-president, D. W. Edwards of Severance; fifth vice-president, E. L. Delbert of Topeka; secretary, W. J. Gregg of Frankfort; treasurer, Geo. W. Jenkins of Wamego.

An amendment to the by-laws relative to memberships and dues in the association was adopted, and is as follows: "Any regularly organized club in the state of Kansas may become a member of this association by paying a membership fee of $5; and any sportsman residing in the state by paying a membership fee of $1, if there be no club in or near the city where he resides, or the same be not a member of this association. Each club that is a member of this association shall pay as its annual dues the sum of $1 per annum, and in addition to such amount shall pay the further sum of ten cents per capita for each of its individual members; no club however, shall be subject to the payment of any [illegible] the year in which it becomes a member of this [illegible] The dues of individual members of this as[illegible] fifty cents per annum. All such moneys shall [illegible] fray the expenses of this association a[illegible] clubs in arrears for dues will be debar[illegible] leges thereof."

A partial list of the out-of-town sho[illegible] well be headed with Louis Erhardt o[illegible] out whose genial presence what K[illegible] called an entire success? E. Brewer [illegible] Mason, W. L. Beardsley, J. Elwell, W[illegible] J. R. Ingle and G. Gilgas of Ottawa, [illegible] Severance, Kan.; M. M. Detar of La Crosse, Kan. J. W. Sexton, S. H. McElroy and Geo. W. Goff of Leavenworth, Kan.; W. W. McIlhany, Dr. D. W. King, Ben C. Best and S. W. Marshall of Weir City, Kan.; C. P. Renst, J. M. Rhodes and C. J. Wels of Frankfort, Kan.; J. C. Clark (Canfield), L. O. S. Clary, E. L. Delbert and H. Hindmarsh of Topeka, Kan.; James Stevenson of Boulta, Kan.; W. S. Ferguson of Atchison, Kan.; Geo. W. Jenkins of Wamego, Kan.; Dr. J. F. Lesh (Lone Jack) of Seneca, Kan.; Rogers of Hiawatha, Kan.; Bailey of Valley Falls, Kan.; A. L. Bennett of Emporia, Kan.; W. R. Rhoades of Slater, Mo.; T. H. Cohron of Pleasant Hill, Mo.; W. W. Menifee of Richmond, Mo., and D. W. Edwards of Troy, Kan.

A goodly number of Kansas City (Mo.) shooters were also constantly on hand and helped to make the targets go, as were also some Sedalia shooters whose names I neglected to obtain. The home shooters nobly supported the management and stayed in like veterans. The events of principal interest were the contest for the handsome gold medal emblematic of the individual championship of the state of Kansas, and the team shoot for the Kansas City Times Cup emblematic of the team championship of the association for 1895. The Times cup was won by the Weir City team on a creditable score in a contest with teams representing the Leavenworth Gun Club, the Ottawa Gun Club, the Frankfort Gun Club and the Metropolis Gun Club of Kansas City, Kan.

The individual championship contest was spirited and resulted in a tie between W. W. McIlhany of Weir City and Geo. W. Jenkins of Wamego, on clean scores of thirty targets each. Ten more targets per man were then shot at, resulting in a second tie, when another ten targets per man were shot, Jenkins losing one bird and McIlhany breaking out straight and taking the medal on a clean score of fifty targets, which, taken together with scores in preceding events, made a run of something over one hundred straight. McIlhany used a Parker gun and E. C. powder.

Renst of Frankfort captured first money all alone in the $100 guaranteed event on the last day, on a clean score of forty.

After each day's program was shot out, extra events were run off until darkness put an end to the sport. Here are the scores:

EVENT No. 1.—15 singles, known angles, entrance $1.50: Shiras 12, Sexton 12, Edwards 10, Soward 9, Erhardt 13, Menifee 15, O'Rear 13, Martin 12, Lail 12, Detar 14, Elwell 7, Brewer 13, Floyd 12, Rhodes 15, Renst 13, Weis 7, Rhoades 14, Stevens 11, Gray 13, Cosby 15, Jenkins 13, Best 15, King 11, McIlhany 13, Pugh 12. First money was divided among Rhoades, Coshy and Best.

EVENT No. 2.—20 singles, known angles, entrance $2: Shiras 17, Sexton 18, Soward 19, Erhardt 17, Menifee 19, Pugh 18, Brewer 15, Martin 20, Detar 18, Edwards 17, Jenkins 19, King 16, Cosby 18, Rhoades 18, Renst 20, McIlhany 17, Wels 17, Best 20, Gray 17, Rhoades 19, Stevens 12. First money was divided among Martin, Renst, McIlhany and Best.

EVENT No. 3.—"Jack-rabbit," 15 singles, known angles, entrance $1.95: Shiras 12, Sexton 15, Erhardt 14, Menifee 13, Elwell 7, Pugh 13, O'Rear 14, Lail 11, Elliott 14, Soward 12, Hewitt 8, Cohron 9, Brewer 9, Edwards 12, King 11, Martin 15, Rhoades 13, Gray 14, Renst 15, Rhodes 12, McIlhany 12, Wels 11, Stevens 9, Cosby 14, Canfield 11, Diehert 14, Sexton, Martin and Renst divided first money.

EVENT No. 4.—20 singles, unknown angles, entrance $2: Sexton 19, Pugh 16, Menifee 19, Erhardt 19, McIlhany 19, Jenkins 18, Rhodes 18, Renst 19, Soward 10, Cosby 18, Brewer 15, Detar 19, Edwards 18, Gray 17, Martin 18, Rhoades 17, Lail 14, Best 15, Weis 16. First money was divided among Sexton, Menifee, Erhardt, McIlhany, Renst and Detar.

EVENT No. 5.—25 singles, known angles, entrance 75 cents: Shiras 18, Sexton 23, Erhardt 23, Pugh 23, Menifee 22, Hewitt 12, Coshy 23, Gilgas 17, Bowen 13, Floyd 22, Elwell 21, Elliott 23, Estep 7, Jenkins 23, McIlhany 24, Stevens 13, Norton 22, Edwards 23, Martin 19, Watson 15, Schmidt 21, Laidlaw 13, Canfield 20, King 20, Gray 24, Diebert 19, Detar 23, Rhodes 25, Renst 22, Weis 21, Cohron 16, Soward 23, Best 24, Bennett 25, Horton 22, Jones 17. First money was divided between Rhodes and Bennett.

EVENT No. 6.—20 singles, "jack-rabbit," entrance $2.60: Shiras 17, Sexton 17, Pugh 18, Erhardt 19, Menifee 19, McIlhany 19, Diebert 19, Laidlaw 10, Rhoades 19, Renst 20, Wels 15, O'Rear 20, Jenkins 19, Stevenson 16, Elliott 15, Cosby 19, Edwards 16, Canfield 14, Martin 16, Rickmers 18, Parsons 15, Rhodes 16, Soward 17, Best 20, Horton 20, Lail 19, Gray 20, Elwell 15, Brewer 18, Bennett 19. First money was divided among Best, Gray, Horton and Renst.

EVENT No. 7.—For cup, 25 singles, known angles and 25 unknown angles, team shoot. Entries: Weir City, Leavenworth, Ottawa, Frankfort and Metropolis. Weir City won. This team was composed of McIlhany, Best and Marshall. They scored 137 birds out of 150.

EVENT No. 8.—20 singles, unknown angles, entrance $2: Sexton 18, Pugh 18, McIlhany 18, Erhardt 15, Menifee 15, Cosby 19, Martin 18, Jenkins 16, Best 14, Horton 20, Wels 16, Soward 16, Rickmers 18, Detar 17, King 16, Norton 17, Brewer 15, Laidlaw 16, Rhoades 18, Stevenson 18, Diebert 18, Gray 15. "Lone Jack" 17. Horton took down first money.

EVENT No. 9.—$50 donated, 30 singles, known angles, entrance 90 cents: Shiras 25, Sexton 28, Erhardt 30, Scott 23, McIlhany 28, Menifee 28, Coshy 29, Rooney 28, Canfield 26, Diehert 26, Edwards 25, Parsons 15, Jenkins 29, Laidlaw 6, King 22, McElroy 25, Wels 21, Cohron 20, Elwell 24, Best 28, Martin 22, Pugh 30, Norton 27, Seymore 22, Brewer 27, Ratkin 23, Renst 28, Rhodes 28, Estep 11, Mount 26, Soward 27, Marshall 29, Floyd 27, Mills 27, Detar 25, Arends 19, Hickman 21, Horton 26, Elliott 26, Herman 23, Rickmers 25, Fernkas 29, Peck 24, Goff 25, Ferguson 13, Gray 27, Mason 21, Jack 26, Stevenson 28, Bennett 29, Grueninger 23, Schmidt 29, Smock 18, Wright 20. First money was divided betwen Erhardt and Pugh.

EVENT No 10.—20 singles, known angles, entrance $2: Shiras 16, Sexton 20, Pugh 18, Erhardt 20, McIlhany 17, Menifee 18, Cosby 15, Jenkins 20, Detar 20, Wels 15, Rickmers 19, Fernkas 18. Sexton, Erhardt, Jenkins and Detar divided first money.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—15 targets, entrance $1.50: Erhardt 15, Sexton 14, Jenkins 15, Best 13, McIlhany 15, Clary 15, Edwards 15, North 14, Pugh 15, Renst 14, Ingle 13, Rodgers 10, Cosby 13, Mount 10, Norton 13, Canfield 13, Johnson 11, Gray 13. First money was divided between Erhardt, Jenkins, McIlhany, Clary, Edwards and Pugh.

EVENT No. 2.—20 singles, entrance $2: Pugh 15, Sexton 17, Jenkins 15, Erhardt 18, Best 17, McIlhany 18, Cosby 17, Rodgers 19, Canfield 16, Renst 20, Clary 19, Norton 20. Norton and Renst divided first money.

EVENT No. 3.—"Jack-rabbit," 15 birds, entrance $1.95: Erhardt, Sexton 12, Jenkins 15, Best 12, McIlhany 13, Diebert 11, Cosby 13, Horton 14, Mount 9, Laidlaw 8, Edwards 15, Canfield 12, Renst 15, Elliott 12, Norton 12, Cohron 12. First money was divided between Renst, Jenkins and Edwards.

EVENT No. 4.—20 singles, entrance $2: Clary 18, Sexton 19, Jenkins 20, Erhardt 19, Best 13, McIlhany 17, Pugh 19, Rodgers, Rickmers 16, Renst 20, Horton 18, Fernkas 14, Cosby 20, Rhodes. First money was divided between Jenkins, Renst and Cosby.

EVENT No. 5.—25 singles, entrance 75 cents: Erhardt 22, Sexton 22, Jenkins 21, Best 21, McIlhany 23, Clary 23, Cosby 20, Seymore 17, Estep 12, Rodgers 24, Peck 19, Laidlaw 12, Elliott, Weis 22, Diebert 16, Mount 13, Rhodes 24, Edwards 21, Gray 23, Hubbard 18, Johnson 23, Norton 22, Stevenson 22, Bennett 23, Kerr 14, Pugh 21, Renst 22, Rooney 23, Horton 25, Fernkas 22, Ingle 25, Rickmers 21, Mills 22, Cohron 10, Bailey 20, Schmidt 24, Wing 19. First money was divided between Ingle and Cosby.

EVENT No. 6.—15 singles, entrance $1.50: Cosby 13, Sexton 14, Jenkins 14, Erhardt 12, Best 13, McIlhany 15, Hubbard 13, Rodgers 12, Rhoades 13, Weis 14, Clary 14, [illegible] 14, Rickmers 11, Pugh 12, Renst 14, Freidburg 7, [illegible] 14. McIlhany took first money.

EVENT No. 7.—15 singles, entrance $1.5[illegible] 12, Jenkins 15, McIlhany 14, Best 11, [illegible]

Rodgers 14, Pugh 14, Reust 13, Hubbard 9, Scott 12, Weis 8, Rhodes 10, Horton 14, Bennett 12, Rickmers 10. Fernkas, Jenkins and Cosby divided first money.

Event No. 8. "Jack rabbit," 20 singles, entrance $2.60; [illegible] 11, Sexton 17, Jenkins 20, Erhardt 18, Best 19, [illegible] 18, Horton 18, Cosby 18, Laidlaw 10, Scott 10, Nor- [illegible] 14. Jenkins took first money.

[illegible] $50 donated, entrance 90 cents; [illegible] Jenkins 29, Best 28, McIlhany 30, Clary [illegible] Rodgers 24, Seymore 16, Laidlaw 15, [illegible] 26, Reust 28, Pugh 27, Bailey 25, [illegible] Gray 27, Ingle 27, Norton 28, Mills [illegible] Herron 22, Marshall 25, Trower [illegible] Rickmers 26, Fernkas 22, Horton 24, Peck 26, Hubbard [illegible] les 28, Thomas 21, Weis 23, Hart 21, Elliott 24, Schmelzer 24, Bennett 29, Scott 28, Bailey 28, Lee H. McIlhany took first money.

Event No. 10.—15 singles, entrance $1.50 Cosby 13, Sexton 14, Jenkins 14, Erhardt 15, Best 15, McIlhany 14, Scott 14, Rodgers 13, Horton 13, Pugh 10, Clary 8, Rooney 13, Thomas 10, Trower 12, Ingle 15, Rhodes 13, Reust 15, Bailey 13, Norton 14. First money was divided among Erhardt, Best, Ingle and Reust.

THIRD DAY

Event No. 1.—15 singles, entrance $1.50: Cosby 12, King 12, Jenkins 12, Brewer 13, McIlhany 15, Sexton 13, Clary 13, Horton 14, Edwards 13, Reust 14, Ferguson 10, Norton 14, Best 12, Pugh 10, Bennett 19, Weis 14, Rhoades 14. McIlhany took first money.

Event No. 2.—15 singles, entrance $1.50: Cosby 15, Jenkins 14, Sexton 13, King 10, McIlhany 13, Brewer 11, Horton 12, Rickmers 26, Peck 22, Scott 11, Arends 26, Jones 26, Beardsley 20, Reust 12, Pugh 13, Rodgers 13, Norton 14, Weis 14. First money was taken by Cosby.

Event No. 3.—"Jack-rabbit," 15 singles, entrance $1.95: Cosby 11, Ferguson 12, Jenkins 15, Rhoades 14, McIlhany 15, Sexton 14, Edwards 14, Reust 14, Horton 12, Weis 10, Stevenson 10, Brewer 14, Rickmers 11, King 11, Norton 11, Bailey 10, Scott 14, Rooney 9, Diebert 12, Elwell 10, Hindmarsh 12. First money was divided between Jenkins and McIlhany.

Event No. 4.—20 singles, entrance $2: Cosby 16, Jenkins 17, Sexton 15, Rhodes 17, McIlhany 19, Pugh 15, Horton 18, Scott 18, Best 16, Ferguson 17, Rodgers 19, Reust 20. Reust took the money.

Event No. 5.—30 singles, entrance 90 cents, purse $50: Cosby 27, Seymore 26, Jenkins 27, Rhodes 28, McIlhany 29, Sexton 28, Rees 21, Reust 26, Rooney 23, Bailey 23, Laidlaw 13, Edwards 28, Mills 27, King 25, Weis 27, Ferguson 25, Brewer 20, Ritter 13, Ratekin 27, Herron 21, Marshall 24, Wing 20, Clary 24, Best 28, Horton 30, Willis 23, Orvell 19, Diebert 19, Hindmarsh 18, Rodgers 29, Smith 27, Pugh 29, Norton 28, Rickmers 26, Peck 22, Scott 11, Arends 26, Jones 26, Beardsley 20, Elliott 22, Watson 17, Bennett 25, Johnson 26. Horton won first money.

Event No. 6.—20 singles, entrance $2: Cosby 18, Jenkins 17, Sexton 16, Horton 20, McIlhany 17, Ferguson 15, Renst 17, Rhoades 18. Horton took first money.

Event No. 7.—15 singles, "jack-rabbit," entrance $1.95: Cosby 14, Wing 9, Jenkins 11, Horton 11, McIlhany 15, Sexton 14, Edwards 14, Rhoades 14, Reust 14, Brewer 13, Bailey 13, King 7, Ferguson 15, Johnson 14, Scott 13, Hindmarsh 12, Weis 13, Diebert 10, Rickmers 13. The first money was divided between McIlhany and Ferguson.

Event No. 8.—Medal shoot, 30 singles, known angles, entrance $3: Laidlaw 13, Jenkins 30, Rooney 26, McIlhany 30, Best 28, Scott 27, Mills 23, Edwards 27, Horton 28, King 24, Reust 27, Rhoades 26, Hindmarsh 29, Arends 23, Smock 17, Trower 23, Brewer 26 Estep 16, Bennett 29, Cosby 27, Thomas 18, Peck 24, Johnson 26. The tie for first place was shot off between McIlhany and Jenkins and resulted in McIlhany winning the medal.

Event No. 9.—40 singles, entrance $1.20, purse $100: Cosby 34, Rooney 35, Bailey 36, Jenkins 37, McIlhany 39, Sexton 37, Horton 38, Laidlaw 24, Mills 28, Seymore 30, Ratekin 37, Johnson 36, Edwards 36, Clary 34, Best 33, Norton 34, Rodgers 35, Reust 40, Rhoades 36, Trower 35, Arends 33, Smock 22, Brewer 29, Wels 35, Strand 35, Bennett 36, Pugh 31, Smith 36. Reust took the money.

Event No. 10.—15 singles, entrance $1.50: Cosby 11, Jenkins 12, Ferguson 13, Hindmarsh 12, McIlhany 15, Horton 12, Rodgers 15. The money was divided between McIlhany and Rodgers.

When the curtain fell on the last day of the big shoot the boys voted the tournament a grand success, put their guns in their cases and departed to meet again at Frankfort in 1896, the Weir City contingent sighing that there were no more cups or medals to be won.

A. W. P.

DR. CARVER AT MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—It was a large and enthusiastic audience that welcomed Dr. Carver, the champion shot of the world, to Milwaukee, and a thoroughly appreciative lot of shooters that witnessed his truly wonderful work with a shotgun. The many articles that have appeared in the AMERICAN FIELD in the last few years describing Dr. Carver's exploits with firearms have all been read with deep interest by the boys in our city, and I, as well as many others, have for a long time felt that if we could only get the Doctor to come to our town we would give him a lesson in shooting that would forever remain green in his memory; in fact we decided to just wipe the earth up with him; so a special meeting of our club was called, terms agreed upon and the Doctor secured to shoot against one or ten men of our club. Then the fun commenced in earnest. Ten men were selected from the club members, and such a lot of excuses, all shooters' excuses too, one never heard. While we all felt that we could beat the Doctor we wanted to see the other fellow do the shooting, and it was simply impossible to get ten men that would shoot; so we agreed to give all honor to our worthy cinhman Mr. Bosworth, and to him was given the exalted position of champion, and we all voted him the very best, most reliable and steady shot in the club; if he could not defeat the Doctor he would be forgiven and his courage ever remain as a monument of his determined earnestness in making the attempt.

It was two long weeks before the Doctor was to arrive, and we all encouraged our champion to get in good condition. Things worked as smoothly as possible until the morning of the shoot, when our man first showed signs of nervousness. He called all the boys around him and thanked them for the great distinction shown him, but if some other member would only play the game. Then we gave him the laugh. There was no avenue of escape; shoot he must. The morning of May 30 was a big, bright and beautiful morning, and old nature seemed to smile on her own loveliness and filled National Park with a warmth of sunshine cooled by a gentle breeze that blew across the traps and gave a spirit of animation to the shooter, while it filled the visitor full of life and spirit.

Two matches were on the program. The first was one of local interest. Dr. Williamson and Mr. Rusk, two of our champions, had a difference of opinion, and many a shoot they had during the long, cold days of last Winter; and on several occasions they had both killed a hundred straight (sitting around the stove), but at last they stood face to face; no joke this time, but a shoot to the finish. One of the contestants was a firm believer in progression; the other said what was good enough for my old dad to kill Injuns and bears with is good enough for me. So one of them used black powder and the other a nitro, but they were doomed to learn on that beautiful May day how terribly ignorant they both were in the evolution of the shooting world, and like two wayward children lost in the forests of nitro and black powder, they were to be rescued, old and well established ideas scattered to the wind, and they be made to stand face to face with stubborn facts and receive from the hands of the "Evil Spirit" positive proof of their wrong doing, welcome science, and learn by practical experience from the man they had invited to Milwaukee to defeat at his own game. The contest between the two local men was full of the old-time experiences; the boom of black powder, and the crack of a poorly loaded nitro shell.

At the fiftieth round the gate to the beautiful park opened and a carriage drawn by [illegible] of Cleveland bays came into the park [illegible] was the man who has been [illegible] lands, and who had shook hand went out on this day to welcome Carver for no other reason than to shake the hand that had grasped the hand of Royal Kaiser.

Dr. Carver was introduced to the large assemblage of people as the champion of the world, and our boys did nobly. The air was full of expressions of welcome. Then we sized him up. He looked every inch a New York swell, and not one in a thousand to meet the Doctor would suspect him to be anything more than a highly enltured, well-to-do business man. His modest, unassuming manner soon made him many friends, and the desire to see him shoot was so strong that he was forced to put on his shooting clothes and, without breakfast, shoot at fifty birds. When his man Muldoon opened the gun case there was a rush from all parts of the crowd; everyone wanted to see the Cashmore gun made famous by Dr. Carver and the writers to the AMERICAN FIELD. The gun is truly a beautiful weapon; no description I have ever read of it has really done it justice. While one admires the beautiful handling and finish of the gun, the shooters simply go wild over its shooting qualities, and I can honestly say that no gun has ever been seen in our city that would compare with the Doctor's Casbmore in any way.

The first bird shot by Carver caused a flutter of excitement. There was the strong, sharp report of a well-loaded nitro shell, the bird was simply mashed, and a cloud of feathers that looked like a miniature snowstorm floated away on the wind to tell the story of the Doctor's unerring aim and prove the truth of a fine gun and a big charge of nitro powder. Carver, his gun and his load are simply perfection in pigeon shooting.

During the excitement caused by Dr. Carver and his gun we all quite forgot that our friend Bosworth was mixed up with this new combination, and I thanked the stars that I had been permitted to escape. Carver soon took in the situation and was most willing to bandle Bosworth gently, and at the end of the fiftieth round the score stood Carver 46, Bosworth 40. They then stopped for dinner, and Mr. Bosworth and our genial visitor, Mr. Bush from Racine, took charge of the Doctor, while the race between the two local men was resumed.

Perhaps never in the shooting world has a greater compliment been paid to a gun than was paid to the Cashmore. Dr. Williamson, who had examined Dr. Carver's cartridges, came to the conclusion that his new Smith pigeon gun and his old Parker were not all that could be desired, so he got permission to use the Cashmore, and with it he killed the first twenty birds straight. Then his opponent acensed the Doctor of unfairness in using a seven-hundred-dollar gun and the well-loaded cartridges, and he called the attention of all present to the fact that the Cashmore gun made a Carver out of everyone who used it. The Doctor's modesty precluded the possibility of his shooting the gun longer under the circumstances, and he reluctantly put it down, picked up his new Smith and missed two out of the next three birds. Then he changed again and went from bad to worse up to the ninetieth round, when friend Bush told the Doctor he could use any gun he chose to. Then the Cashmore came into play again and he killed the remaining ten birds, making a straight score for the Doctor of 30 birds. He continued and killed 59 out of 60, the best score he ever made.

It is a well-known fact that Dr. Williamson has more guns than any man in Milwaukee, all made to his order, still with his vast experience he found the weapon of another marksman to fit him to perfection and transform him from an ordinary amateur to the rank of a professional. The gun is Dr. Carver's pet, and as he left the grounds with it tears almost came into Dr. Williamson's eyes. It was love at first sight on the Doctor's part; and how well did the gun respond to the gentle handling and touch of an amateur. It was the long-looked-for weapon, and came like a flash of light from heaven to show the Doctor a new path in the shooting world, burn from his brain the stale ideas of long ago and obliterate forever the teachings of the ignorant gun crank.

When Mr. Bosworth and Dr. Carver were again called to the score there was a marked change for the better on Mr. Bosworth's part. He shot well and made the Doctor bustle. It was a shooting match, and when the last bird was shot the score stood Bosworth 45 out of the last 50, Carver 48, two dying out of bounds. Dr. Carver gave a beautiful exhibition of shooting and was warmly applauded for his clever work. Every gun club in America should secure the Doctor to shoot against its best man and thus learn the practical shooting lesson he taught our boys. Some very wonderful shots were made during the contest. A hawk was seen coming over the meadow and up so high that no one on the ground thought of shooting at it. When the bird was almost directly over the shooters Dr. Carver raised his gun and sent a charge of shot up into the clouds and the next instant the hawk was seen tumbling through space while Carver received three cheers from the audience. On another occasion Mr. Bosworth missed a fast left-quartering pigeon, and as the bird reached the boundary line Carver, without rising from his chair, killed the bird stone dead. The shot was made so quickly that many thought it an accident.

One of the most amusing shoots of the day was a 25-bird race between Dick Merrill, Dr. Williamson and Mr. Deiter. They shot at 25 birds each for the birds. All three tied on 24 out of 25. They then shot off at five more and all tied again. It was amusing to hear the excuses. They all got out of shells at the same time, and if three boys were glad to be excused from finishing the race, they were. It was indeed amusing to the audience.

Then Bush from Racine came down from the target traps looking for trouble. When we got him quiet we learned that he dropped for place and had got in a tie with a 10-bore gun. Then he kicked because the 10-gauge man did not give his 12-gauge two yards. Then he appealed to the referee, who was a German, and this was the answer: "Vat is dat you say? Give you two yards? Vat for, because he has got a big 10-gauge gun? Ah! dot max nix anse. He vas going to buy him a 12-gauge gun some day, den he stands on the same place mit you, you vool!" It was decidedly a new argument on the 10-bore question. Some day all the boys will buy 12-bores, then they will shoot from the same place.

Mr. Brand, the proprietor of the park, did all in his power to give the boys a good time, and the day will long be remembered as the day when we went out to see Dr. Carver shoot. The Doctor told me that Cashmore had decided to make guns for this country, and, actig upon the Doctor's advice, he has cut his prices in half and will furnish guns for this country until they are thoroughly introduced here at such prices that every man who gets one will get a bargain. Dr. Carver is commissioned to furnish guns at cost, or will furnish all information a man wants and let the purchaser do business direct with England. This will enable anyone who wants a gun to get it at a most reasonable price, and as Carver says guaranteed a good one. The reason I mention this is, that after reading of the gun in the AMERICAN FIELD, I spent one whole day in Chicago trying to find a Cashmore gun, only to learn that they are only secured by special order. Followig are the scores:

Carver	...1011110111 1111111111 1111111111 1111111111 1111111100
	1111111111 1101111111 1111111011 1111111111 1111111111—94
Bosworth	.0110111110 1111111000 1100111101 1111111111 1111111011
	1111101101 1111101111 1111111111 1111111111 1110101111—85

Dr. Carver was unlucky, losing five dead birds out of bounds, while Mr. Bosworth lost eight. A thunderstorm came up and lasted for a few minutes. The sudden darkness was the direct cause of Carver losing one bird. Both men used the second barrel often for safety, Carver always shooting the second.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

MONTANA STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT

BUTTE, MONT.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The weather during the recent meet of the Montana State Sportsmen's Association at this place was all that anyone could wish, consequently the attendance of both shooters and spectators was good. The grounds where the tournament was held were admirably arranged for both live bird and target shooting and were in excellent condition. The grand stand was so located that both styles of shooting could be viewed from it, and both live bird and target shooting could be carried on at the same time without one interfering with the other.

There were quite a number of shooters present from other parts of the state, and some from adjoining states, among them the following: Messrs. M. S. Browing, John M. Browning, J. L. Beeker, A. P. Bigelow, A. L. Brewer and J. B. Twiford of Ogden, Utah; D. D. Twohy, Jas. Conley, H. Rockefeller, L. Dennison, Jas. Quane and C. A. Tuttle, Dr. Rockefeller and Mr. Bartlett of Anaconda; Dr. Pleasants, L. A. Walker, Harvy Barbour, A. J. Fisk, H. P. Kennett, E. H. Preuitt and J. D. Finn of Helena; J. M. Evans, R. E. Rogers, C. A. Searls, Frank Woody, J. Lemley, J. P. Menard, A. Sterliug, L. Williams and Mr. Clark of Missoula; Peter McGowan, Dr. Hymer and Mr. Nen of Philipsburg, and E. H. Johnson of Miles City.

At the annual business meeting of the association Missoula was seleeted as the place for holding the next annual meeting, and the following gentlemen were elected officers of the association for the ensuing year: President, A. J. Fisk of Helena; vice-president, M. Wright of Butte; secretary, C. H. Smith of Butte. Other routine business was transacted, though nothing worthy of special mention occurred.

The scores made during the tournament were as given below.

SHOOT No. 1.—10 single Blue Rocks, entrance $1.50: Conley 10, Dennison 9, Menard 9, Becker 9, Fisk 9, Johnson 9, Rogers 8, Brewer 8, Preuitt 8, Twohy 8, Barbour 8, M. Browning 8, Twiford 8, Clark 8, Jones 8, Jaeger 7, Pleasants 7, B. Williams 7, Tuttle 7, J. Browning 6, Paxson 6, Eastman 6, Hymer 6, L. Williams 6, Woody 6, Newbro 6, Bigelow 5, Rockefeller 5, Smith 5, Lemley 5, Neu 4, Walker 3.

First money, $14.80; second, $11.10; third, $7.40; fourth, $3.70.

SHOOT No. 2.—15 singles, entrance $2, $20 added: J. Browning 14, McGowan 14, Twohy 14, Smith 14, Twiford 14, Jones 14, M. Browning 13, Becker 13, Walker 13, Kennett 13, Neu 13, Wright 13, Rockefeller 12, Fisk 12, Pleasants 12, Bigelow 12, Woody 12, Dennison 12, Quane 12, Rogers 12, Conley 12, Paxson 11, Barlow 11, Jaeger 11, L. Williams 11, Searls 11, Johnson 11, Hymer 10, Sterling 10, Tuttle 10, Cowan 10, Lemley 10, Clark 10, Menard 9, Eastman 8, Preuitt 8, Evans 7, B. Williams 6, Brewer 6. First money, $26.75; second, $20; third, $13.35; fourth, $6.65.

SHOOT No. 3.—10 singles, entrance $1.50: Fisk 10, Conley 10, Wright 10, Twohy 10, Preuitt 9, Eastman 9, M. Browning 9, Rockefeller 9, Bigelow 9, Smith 9, Pleasants 9, Tuttle 8, Jones 8, Menard 8, Jaeger 8, Buck 8, Becker 7, Cowan 7, Searls 7, Quane 7, Hymer 7, Neu 7, B. Williams 7, Johnson 7, McGowan 7, Rogers 7, Kennett 6, J. Browning 6, Dennison 6, L. Williams 6, Brewer 6, Walker 5, Barlow 4, Paxson 4, Carter 4, Kearn 4.

SHOOT No. 4.—Three man team shoot for the championship of Montana; entrance $10 per team. First prize, cup value $250, given by the association; 50 Blue Rocks per man.

Butte Team No. 1—Smith 44, Wright 38, Cowan 36. Total 118.

Philipsburg Team—Neu 41, McGowan 40, Hymer 34. Total 118.

Anaconda Team No. 1—Conley 39, Twohy 41, Rockefeller 38. Total 118.

Butte Team No. 2—Jones 40, B. Williams 32, Jaeger 42. Total 114.

Missoula Team—Rogers 39, Searls 38, Menard 36. Total 113.

Helena Team No. 1—Fisk 41, Pleasants 32, Barbour 39. Total 112.

Helena Team No. 2—Finn 34, Preuitt 39, Kennett 38. Total 111.

Anaconda Team No. 2—Quane 31, Tuttle 33, Dennison 40. Total 107.

The tie between Butte Team No. 1, Anaconda Team No. 1 and Philipsburg Team was shot off at 10 birds per man. Result:

Butte Team No. 1—Smith 10, Wright 9, Cowan 10. Total 29.

Philipsburg Team—Neu 8, McGowan 8, Hymer 9. Total 25.

Anaconda Team No. 1—Conley 10, Twohy 7, Rockefeller 6. Total 23.

Thus the cup was won by Butte Team No. 1. The E. S. Paxson painting for the highest individual score was won by Smith.

SHOOT No. 5.—15 singles: Fisk 14, Rogers 13, Pleasants 13, Rockefeller 13, Conley 13, Hymer 13, Cowan 13, Menard 12, Jaeger 12, Smith 12, Twohy 12, Becker 12, J. Browning 12, Eastman 11, Barbour 11, Tuttle 11, M. Browning 11, Bigelow 11, Newbro 11, Finn 11, Brewer 10, Johnson 10, Wright 10, Kennett 10, Walker 9, McGowan 9, Neu 9, Preuitt 8, B. Williams 8, L. Williams 8, Clark 8, Jones 8, Paxson 6, Shattuck 6. First prize, Winchester rifle and $10; second, pair pants and $7; third, fishing rod and $5; fourth, silk hat and $5; fifth, pair shoes and $4. A. J. Fisk won first; H. Rockefeller second; D. D. Twohy third; H. Barbour fourth; E. H. Johnson fifth.

SHOOT No. 6.—15 singles and 5 pairs, $3 entrance, $75 guaranteed: Jones 21, Jaeger 20, Dennison 20, Twoby 20, Fisk 19, Menard 19, Becker 19, Rockefeller 19, Bigelow 19, Conley 18, Johnson 18, McGowan 18, Wright 18, Twiford 18, Clark 18, Hymer 18, Brewer 18 Barbour 17, Kennett 17, L. Williams 17, M. Browning 16, J. Browning 16, Neu 16, Sterling 15, Rogers 14, Finn 14, Searls 14, Pleasants 14, Newbro 14, Cowan 13, Tuttle 13, Smith 13, Eastman 11, Woody 11, Williams 11. First money, $25; second, $20; third, $15; fourth, $10; fifth, $5.

SHOOT No. 7.—16 singles, Novelty rule, $2.50 entrance, $15 added: J. Browning 16, Becker 15, Brewer 15, Paxson 14, Fisk 13, Wright 13, Jaeger 13, Preuitt 13, Clark 12, B. Williams 12, Jones 12, Rockefeller 12, M. Browning 12, Twohy 12, Conley 12, Smith 12, Barbour 11, Menard 11, Kennett 11, Hymer 11, Bigelow 11, Dennison 11, Rogers 10, L. Williams 10, Neu 10, Lemley 10, Cowan 10, McGowan 9, Walker 8, Searls 8, Pleasants 7, Woody 6, Bartlett 4, Tuttle (w) 5. First money, $29; second, $21.75; third, $14.50; fourth, $7.25.

Averages for the first day: Fisk and Twohy first, $7.50; Becker second, $5; H. Rockefeller and Conley third, $2.50.

SECOND DAY

SHOOT No. 1.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $15 added: Becker 14, Jones 14, Conley 13, Menard 12, Preuitt 12, Twohy 12, Bartlett 12, Barbour 11, Cowan 11, Pleasants 11, Dennison 11, Wright 11, Hymer 11, J. Johnson 1, E. Johnson 11, Fisk 10, Kennett 10 Jaeger 10, J. Browning 10, Smith 10, Rogers 10, Neu 9, McGowan 9, M. Browning 9, Twiford 9, Rockefeller 8, Finn 8, Walker 8, Brewer 8, L. Williams 8, Woody 7, Bigelow 7, B. Williams 6. First money, $21; second, $16; third, $11; fourth, $7.

SHOOT No. 2.—15 singles and two pairs, $3 entrance, $75 guaranteed: Becker 18, Menard 16, Dennison 16, McGowan 16, Smith 15, Paxson 15, Rockefeller 14, Wright 14, J. Johnson 14, M. Browning 14, J. Browning 14, Brewer 14, Rogers 14, Conley 13, Preuitt 13, Twohy 13, Bigelow 13, Pleasants 12, Neu 12, Jaeger 12, E. Johnson 12, L. Williams 12, Woody 11, Bartlett 11, Jones 10, Walker 10, Finn 9, Hymer 9, Fisk 9, Barbour 8, Cowan (w) 8, Kennett 8, B. Williams 8. First money, $25; second, $20; third, $15; fourth, $10; fifth, $5.

SHOOT No. 3.—Individual Blue Rock championship of Montana, 100 singles, entrance $10: J. Browning 93, Becker 92, Conley 90, Wright 86, M. Browning 85, Dennison 84, Hymer 82, Neu 82, Kennett 81, Cowan 81, Fisk 80, Preuitt 79, McGowan 79, Menard 78, E. Johnson 69, Barbour 65, Bartlett 48. Jas. Conley won the cup; M. Wright second, $10; Dr. Pleasants got $120, 60 per cent. of entrance, he having held cup during past year. J. Browning, Becker and M. Browning not being residents of Montana shot only in the side sweepstake. J. Browning first; Becker second.

SHOOT No. 4.—16 birds, Novelty rule, entrance $2.50: Preuitt 16, Neu 16, J. Browning 16, Tuttle 16, Hymer 15, Dennison 15, L. Williams 15 Rockefeller 15, Kennett 15, Becker 15, M. Browning 14, Jaeger 14, Paxson 13, Conley 13, Bigelow 13, Brewer 13, Wright 13, J. Johnson 13, Rogers 12, Knight 12, Twohy 12, Harrity 11, Finn 11, Barbour 11, Dr. Rockefeller 11, Smith 11, Walker 11, Fisk 11, Eastman 10, Menard 9, E. Johnson 8, Clark 7. First money, $20; second, $15; third, $10; fourth, sweater; fifth, one dozen decoys.

SHOOT No. 5.—Two man team shoot, 15 singles per man, $20 added, entrance $4 per team: M. Browning 15, Bigelow 13. Total 28. Becker 15, J. Browning 12. Total 27. Wright 13, Jaeger 13. Total 26. Dennison 13, Twohy 12. Total 25. Tuttle 12, H. Rockefeller 12. Total 24. Harrity 11, Conley 12. Total 23. Jones 11, Menard 12. Total 23. J. Johnson 10, Brewer 11. Total 21. Paxson 9, Smith 11. Total 20. Fisk 9, Preuitt 11. Total 20. Neu 8, Hymer 12. Total 20. Clark 12, Williams 8. Total 20. Finn 9, E. Johnson 4. Total 13. First money, $21; second, $15.75; third, $10.50; fourth, $5.25.

Grand averages for two days: Becker first, $20; Twohy second, $15; J. Browning and J. Conley third, $10; M. Wright fourth, one volume "Hoofs, Claws and Antlers;" H. Rockefeller fifth, one volume "Hoofs, Claws and Antlers;" Jaeger sixth, silk hat; Menard seventh, hunting knife; Smith eighth, pocket knife.

THIRD DAY

EVENT No. 1.—Championship live bird shoot for medal donated by association, 15 live birds, entrance $14.50.

Cowan	222222211222122–15	Kennett	222222222222222–15
Twohy	222202210222102–12	Reynolds	122112112002120–12
H. Rockefeller	222210022122102–12	Cummings	201100w——3
Conley	211122112122122–15	Barbour	0100w——1
Harrity	222022012120w——9	A. Walker	121122222011112–14
Tuttle	121110122012211–13	Trudgeon	021111112111011–13
Wright	212221121201222–14	F. Johnson	021222122221212–14
Dennison	021212022ow——7	Finn	00210w——2
Hanson	01022220w——5	Dr. Rockefeller	1201020w——4

Eastman	2222202101222121 2	Fisk	2010112101w—6
Menard	1111221022121201 2	McGowan	1112021120211112
B. Williams	21020120w—5	Bennett	1002210w—4
Pleasants	2202221111020w 10	Kulght	1010210w—1
Jaeger	1110201111211111 2	Rogers	0222212211220222
Jones	1122001211201w 9

Tie for championship, 10 birds.

Cowan	2012212222—9	Kennett	2222222222—10
Conley	2200201211—7

Kennett won medal.

Wright, A. Walker and E. Johnson divided second, $72.50; Tuttle, Eastman, Menard, Jaeger, Trudgeon, McGowan and Rogers divided third, $43.50; Cowan got 60 per cent. of entrance money, $174, as winner last year.

C. H. SMITH, Secy.

THE NEPONSET GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

KEWANEE, ILL.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—By request of the secretary of the above named club I herewith forward you the scores made at the tournament recently held by that club, and I trust you will do the club a favor by giving them publicity in the columns of your worthy sportsman's journal

EVENT No. 1.—10 single targets, $1 entrance, all ties divided.

Crain	0110010011—5	Huckins	1111011111—9
Studley	1111111101—9	La Frinier	0110111011—7
Norton	1101111111—9	Faulls	1011100110—6
Stuart	1001111111—8	Lyle	0110111111—8
Williams	0001001110—4	Robinson	1111110001—7
W. A. Bowen	1010100011—5	Kopp	1111111011—9
Livingston	1011111101—8	Irwin	1111011011—8
Baker	0110011111—7	White	1101110001—6
Miller	1101010011—6	Snow	1111101111—9

EVENT No. 2.—12 single targets each man, $1.25 entrance, four moneys: W. A. Bowen 4, Norton 10, Huckins 12, Crain 9, Snow 11, McClure 7, Miller 10, Baker 11, G. Bowen 6, Williams 7, Irwin 11, Lyle 9, Faull 11, Robinson 9, White 5, W. Humphrey 10, Stuart 8, Studley 9.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, unknown angles: W. Bowen 11, McClure 12, Baker 14, Crain 11, Alexander 9, Studley 11, Sharp 11, Lyle 14, Snow 12, Humphrey 8, Williams 9, Stuart 11, W. Humphrey 9, Battey 8, Robinson 13. All ties divided.

EVENT No. 4.—20 single targets each man, $2 entrance, four moneys: W. A. Bowen 14, Huckins 20, Crain 18, Lyle 13, Kopp 15, Baker 20, McClure 12, Studley 19, Snow 18, Alexander 16, Miller 16, La Frinier 14, Price 15, Faull 18, Irwin 18, W. Humphrey 17, Livingston 14.

EVENT No. 5.—Team contest, six men to a team, 25 single targets per man, $10 entrance per team, two moneys.

NEPONSET TEAM.

Norton	1111111111 1110111110 11111	—23
Lyle	1101111111 1111010011 00111	—19
Livingston	1111110111 1110110111 11001	—20
S. Stuart	0111101111 1111011111 11111	—22
Snow	1101111111 0111111111 11111	—23
Studley	1111111011 1111111110 11111	—23—130

KEWANEE TEAM.

Baker	1111110111 1111111111 11111	—24
Huckins	1111101111 1111011111 10111	—22
Crain	0101110110 1101001011 10111	—16
Faull	0110111101 0011110011 11110	—17
Sharp	1011010111 1111110101 11011	—19
T. Bowen	1111111110 1111101000 11101	—19—117

SHEFFIELD TEAM.

Alexander	1001111101 1011110111 10111	—19
W. Humphrey	1111111111 1111111100 11110	—22
Boyden	1110101101 1011111110 01111	—19
E. Humphrey	0001011000 1111111110 10101	—15
Reider	1110001101 1010101111 00111	—16
Battey	1100011101 1111111110 01111	—19—110

EVENT No. 6.—10 singles, unknown augles, $1 entrance: Studley 8, Price 6, Robinson 7, Snow 10, Lyle 9, Alexander 5, Baker 10, Huckius 10, W. Humphrey 8, Cralu 8, Livlugstou 5, W. F. Bowen 7, Battey 7, White 7, McClure 5, Norton 9, La Frinier 6, Irwin 9.

EVENT No. 7.—Team contest, two men to each team, 15 single targets per man, $3 entrance per team.

Norton	111110111111101 13	Studley	111111011110111–13
Lyle	011111111111101 13	Snow	111111111101110–13
	—26		—26
Alexander	0011111111110010–10	Baker	011111111001110–11
Humphrey	0111111101000011–10	Huckins	111101111111111–14
	—20		—25
Pine	0101110111111100–10	Crain	111110111011111–13
W. Bowen	1101111111101101–12	Robinson	111111111101111–14
	—22		—27
G. Kopp	111111111111101–14	Sharp	111011110101111–12
J. Kopp	111110110111100–11	Irwin	001001111110111–10
	—25		—22
Miller	011101110110010–9	Stuart	111011101011111–12
			—21

EVENT No. 8.—5 pairs of targets per man, $1 entrance: Alexander 6, W. A. Bowen 3, Snow 9, J. Kopp 4, G. Kopp 8, Livingston 4, Baker 5, La Friuler 5, Sharp 4, Faull 6, Custer 8, Huckins 9, Studley 7, Norton 7, Swerinser 6, W. F. Bowen 6, Price 6, Crain 6, E. Studley 6, Stuart 6.

EXTRA No. 1.—10 singles, entrance $1: V. Studley 9, Miller 9, E. Studley 7, Alexander 8, Baker 8, Price 8, Snow 9, Humphrey 9, Lyle 9, Crain 8, Huckins 10, Faull 7.

EXTRA No. 2.—10 singles, entrauce $1, four moneys: Norton 7, Robiuson 7, Carpeuter 5, W. Humphrey 8, Alexander 7, Battey 9, Lyle 8, F. Bowen 8, Baker 8, La Frinier 6, J. Kopp 9, Hucklus 10, Custer 5, White 7, V. Studley 8, Snow 10, Swerinser 6, E. Studley 7, Sharp 8, W. F. Bowen 6, Miller 10, Stuart 7, Irwin 5, G. Bowen 9. All tles divided.

SPECIAL MATCH.—W. T. Irwiu of Peoria, Ill., vs. Wm. Hucklns of Kewanec, Ill., 100 single targets each man for a purse of $50.

Huckins	0111011111 1111111111 1111011111 1111111101 1111111100 1111111111 1011011111 1011111111 1111111111 1111111111		—92
Irwin	0111101111 1111111100 1111011101 1111010110 0101110010 1111001110 1111011111 1010110100 1111000010 1111000010		—67

This was expected to he a very close race, hut owing to Irwin being in very poor form it did not prove as interesting as was expected, and, of course, did not push Huckins to do his best.

EXTRA No. 3.—10 singles, entrance $1, four moneys: Baker 9, La Frinier 6, Hucklus 9, F. Bowen 9, Suow 9, Custer 6, Studley 8, Lyle 6, Craln 8, Miller 8, J. Kopp 8, G. Kopp 9, Norton 7, Stuart 7, G. Bowen 7, W. F. Bowen 4, Carpenter 5, E. Studley 9.

EXTRA No. 4.—15 singles, entrance $1, two moneys: Hucklns 15, Baker 10, V. Studley 12, Custer 9, Snow 15, Lyle 14.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—10 siugle targets, $1 eutrance, three moneys:

Studley	1111111110—9	Miller	1111111101—9
Snow	1111110111—9	La Frinier	0110001001—4
Norton	1111111111–10	Lyle	1111111100—8
G. Bowen	1111111111–10	Irwin	1111110111—9
Stuart	1111011011—8	G. T. Bowen	1011000111—6

EVENT No. 2.—Mlss and out, 50 ents entrance: Snow 4, Stuart 1, Lyle 5, Studley 0, Norton 2, Kopp 4.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, $1.50 entrauee, four moneys: Snow 15, Kopp 12, Norton 13, Humphrey 15, Stuart 10, Robinson 13, Alexander 12.

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, unknown angles, four moneys: Snow 15, Humphrey 13, Bowers 7, Alexander 10, Studley 14, Irwin 12, Lyle 9.

EVENT No. 5.—Two-man team coutest, 25 singles per man for purse of $50.

SHEFFIELD TEAM.

Humphrey	1111111111 1111111111 11111	—25
Alexander	1110111111 1111111111 11111	—24—49

NEPONSET TEAM.

Snow	1111101111 1111111111 11111	—24
Studley	0111111111 1111111111 00111	—22

EVENT No. 6.—12 singles, $1.25 entrances: Livingston 7, Robinson 12, E. Studley 11, G. Bowen 11, Kopp 9, Lyle 9, Snow 11, Humphrey 9, Norton 11, Alexander 10, V. Studley 12, La Frinier 8.

EVENT No. 7.—Match at 25 single targets per man between W. T. Irwin of Peoria, and Max Lyle of Neponset, for $20 purse.

Irwin	1001111101 1011110010 11101	—17
Lyle	1100110011 0011010001 11111	—15

EVENT No. 8.—15 single targets, unknown angles, $1.50 entrance, three moneys: Snow 11, Studley 13, Alexander 11, Norton 13, Humphrey 14, Lyle 12.

EVENT No. 9.—20 singles, $2 entrauee, four moneys: Snow 18, Robinson 20, Norton 17, W. Humphrey 17, Alexander 7, Stuart 17, V. Studley 18, E. Studley 15.

EVENT No. 10.—5 pairs per man, $1 entrance.

Studley	11 10 11 00 11—7	Lyle	11 11 01 10 10—7
Snow	11 00 11 11 11—8	Norton	10 00 01 10 11—5
La Frinier	00 10 10 10 01—4	Alexander	10 10 11 10 10—6
Kopp	11 10 11 01 11—8	Custer	10 00 10 10 11—5
Robinson	01 11 11 11 11—9	Stuart	10 10 10 00 10—4

EXTRA No. 1.—5 pairs, $1 entrance: Studley 7, Snow 10, Robinson 4, Lyle 9, G. T. Bowen 6, Carpenter 8, Kopp 5, Norton 8.

EXTRA No. 2.—10 singles, entrance $1, three moneys: G. Bowen 8, Lyle 8, Alexander 7, Robinson 7, Miller 7, Snow 10, Humphrey 9, Norton 9, E. Studley 10, La Frinier 7, V. Studley 9.

SPECIAL.—Team Race; Stuart and Robinson vs. McIntire and Miller, 100 targets per man. Scores: Stuart 83, Robinson 85. Total 168. McIntire 83, Miller 72. Total 155.

L. C. HUCKINS.

THE HOUSTON CITY GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

HOUSTON, TEX.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I send you herewith scores of the Houston City Gun Club's first annual tournament, held on May 21, 22, 23 and 24. The weather was very unpropitious and the incessant rain spoiled what would have been, under favorable conditions, a very successful shoot.

The first day we had shooters present from San Antonio, Austin, Cuero, Hempstead, Farmersville, Waco and Kansas City, but with the exception of Miller from Austin, and McGinty of Hempstead, they all returned home next day on account of the incessant downpour of rain that lasted all day long. Miller, McGinty and Haney shot the program right through regardless of the weather. Miller of Austin won the gold medal, a thirty-five dollar basket of champagne and fifteen dollars in cash for best average; McGinty won second best average, twenty-five dollars cash, and Haney won third best average, twenty dollars cash. Haney also won the one hundred dollar Parker gun donated by Dunlay & Giesler. J. A. Miller of the Houston City Gun Club won the live bird diamond medal. The Blue Rocks were thrown low and very hard, and with the dark green background made the hardest kind of shooting. I only give the regular Blue Rock events. There were almost as many specials as regular events.

EVENT No. 1.—20 Blue Rocks, $2 entrance, four moneys: Piety 17, Saunders 19, W. R. Miller 17, McGinty 15, Holz 16, Haney 11, Roberson 10, Perl 17, Smith 13, Miller 13, Baine 19.

EVENT No. 2.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance, four moneys: Piety 16, Hancy 14, Baine 15, Smith 15, McGinty 14, Perl 13, W. Miller 16, Saunders 19, Fritz 15, Roberson 11.

EVENT No. 3.—20 targets, $2 entrance, four moneys: Perl 17, Saunders 13, McGinty 15, Baine 17, Haney 16, Smith 19, W. Miller 18, Piety 16, Fritz 12.

EVENT No. 4.—20 targets, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: Saunders 19, Haney 17, Baine 15, Perl 11, W. Miller 17, McGinty 18.

EVENT No. 5.—20 targets, $3 entrance, four moneys: McGinty 18, Baine 15, W. Miller 17, J. A. Miller 16, Saunders 16, Haney 17, Piety 15, Fritz 17, Perl 13, Price 5.

EVENT No. 6.—20 targets, $2 entrance, four moneys: McGinty 17, Haney 15, W. Miller 18, J. Miller 12, Saunders 18, W. Maser 5, Price 10, Perl 18.

EVENT No. 7.—10 live birds, $5 entrance, three moneys and championship live bird diamond medal, the latter open only to members of the Houston City Gun Club.

Haney	12112100—6	Dupree	*121012202—7
McGinty	1022121120—8	Saunders	11212121*0—8
Perl	20112*0100—5	J. Miller	2121210222*—8
Price	0100100102—4	W. Miller	1121101*10—7
Wise	1000*10200—3

In the shoot off J. A. Miller won the medal and McGinty won first money.

SPECIAL EVENT.—7 live birds, $7 eutrance, three moneys.

Saunders	22*120*—4	Price	0111112—6
McGinty	1211201—6	Baine	1210101—5
W. Miller	1210102—5	Haney	0211111—6
Perl	1121110—6

In shoot off for first, Haney won on 6 straight.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—20 targets, $2 entrance, three moneys: McGinty 20, Holz 17, W. Miller 15, Jefferson 15, Haney 18, J. Miller 15, Saunders 16.

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, three moneys: McGinty 15, Holz 13, Jefferson 12, W. Miller 13, Haney 11, J. Miller 3.

EVENT No. 3.—15 targets, $2.50 entranee, three moneys: McGinty 19, Jefferson 15, Haney 19, W. Miller 18, J. Miller 14, Holz 17,

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, entrance $2, three moneys: McGinty 12, Holz 15, Jefferson 11, W. Miller 9, Perl 9, Haney 14.

EVENT No. 5.—15 targets: McGinty 13, Holz 13, W. Miller 14, Jefferson 13, Haney 14, Perl 10.

EVENT No. 6.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance, three moneys: McGinty 10, Holz 7, Perl 10, Haney 8, Jefferson 5, W. Miller 9.

SPECIAL EVENT.—Miss and out at live birds, $2 entrance, one money: McGinty 7, Perl 1, Holz 3, W. Miller 7, Jefferson 4, Haney 6, Hernden 4. McGinty and W. Miller killed 7 straight and divided the purse.

THIRD DAY

EVENT No. 1.—15 targets, entrance $1.50, three moneys: McGinty 9, W. Miller 11, Perl 13, J. Miller 9, R. J. Roberson 9, Haney 14, J. G. Rhode 11, Jefferson 10.

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $2 entrance, three moneys; McGinty 14, Perl 11, W. Miller 15, Haney 11, Roberson 8, J. Miller 11, Jefferson 12, Rhode 13.

EVENT No. 3.—15 targets, $2.50 entrance, three moneys: McGinty 12, Jefferson 15, W. Miller 13, J. Miller 10, Haney 10.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, three moneys: McGinty 13, W. Miller 12, Perl 9, Haney 11, Hernden 11, Dupree 8.

EVENT No. 5.—15 targets, $3 entrance, three moneys: McGinty 15, W Miller 13, Duprce 8, Hernden 11, Perl 14, Haney 9.

EVENT No. 6.—5 live birds, $5 entrance, three moneys.

McGinty	11121—5	Perl	2*212—4	J. Miller	22210—4
W. Miller	11112—5	Jefferson	2*121—4	Haney	11100—3

McGinty and W. Miller divided first money; Perl won second in shoot off, and Haney won third.

FOURTH DAY

EVENT No. 1.—10 targets, $1 entrance, two moneys: McGinty 10, J. Miller 4, W. Miller 10, Haney 9, Saunders 10.

EVENT No. 2.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance, two moneys: McGinty 10, Haney 7, W. Miller 9, J. Miller 5, Saunders 9.

EVENT No. 3.—10 targets, $1 entrance, two moneys: McGinty 6, Haney 10, J. Miller 7, W. Miller 10, Saunders 9.

EVENT No. 4.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance, two moneys: McGinty 7, W. Miller 9, Haney 9.

EVENT No. 5.—10 targets, $1 entrance, two moneys: McGinty 8, Haney 6, W. Miller 8.

EVENT No. 6.—10 targets, $2 entrance, one money: McGinty 10, Haney 10, W. Miller 9.

At the recent meeting of the Texas State Sportsmen's Association at San Antonio, it was decided to hold the next annual tournament in this city and we expect to offer the best list of cash and merchandise prizes ever offered by the association. In all probability the tournament will he open to the world.

J. E. H.

TRAP AT DETROIT

DETROIT, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The seventh shoot for the Gittschlag diamond medals took place on the Rusch House grounds, Monday, May 27. The interest in these shoots for the medals is increasing, as was shown by the large attendance of shooters at this last shoot for them, there being no less than fifty shooters present. Fourteen teams entered the contest for them, three men to each team, 25 birds per man.

The shooting throughout the contest was spirited and the trophy was won by the Pastime Gun Club's team on a score of 64. Before the event of the day several sweeps were shot, unknown angles, the scores of which follow:

EVENT No. 1.—15 birds, $1 entrance: Brummitt 11, Parker 11, Cutchler 10, Brady 10, Fox 12, North 13, Walton 14, Cicotte 13, Hueston 13, Avery 14, Rennick 12, Osmun 12, J. Daniels 7, Procter 7, Schaffer 10, Donaldson 11, Hamilton 12, Webb 6, Windiate 10, Andrus 11, Gregory 8, Cooper 13, Berghoeffer 12, C. Daniels 12.

EVENT No. 2.—15 birds, $1 entrance: Klein 14, Schaffer 9, Webb 5, Windlate 9, Marks 12, Buesser 14, Brummitt 11, Wood 11, Groose 11, Weise 4, Donaldson 8, J. Daniels 7, Parker 14, Rennick 14, Fox 13, Walton 13, Avery 11, Brady 5, Osmun 13, Cicotte 12, Cutchler 6, Hueston 13, North 13, C. Daniels 6, Berghoeffer 12, Wolf 13, Andrus 11, Northmore 9, Smith 6, Fleischer 13.

EVENT No. 3.—15 birds, $1 entrance: Windiate 9, Cutchler 9, Avery 14, Walton 15, Buesser 9, North 11, Bortles 11, Osmun 12, Donaldson 10, J. Daniels 9, Andrus 10, Wood 12, Parker 12, Rennick 13, Hueston 8, Fleischer 11, Cicotte 8, Brady 10, Marks 12, Fox 13, Brummitt 11, Adams 12, Brossey 5, Northmore 10.

EVENT No. 4.—15 birds, $1 entrance: Cicotte 14, Parker 12, Fox 6, Rennick 13, Fleischer 12, Bortles 12, J. Daniels

EVENT No. 5.—Medal contest, 25 singles per man, 25 angles.

DETROIT TEAM NO. 1

Klein	1111110101 11
Parker	1011110101 11
Rennick	1111110111 10

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 1

Osmun	1111111110
Cutchler	0011100101
North	1011111011	1110110111	00011—19—56

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 2

Windlate	0101101010	1000111110	00111—11
Webb	0011010101	0010010110	11000—12
Gregory	0101101001	1110010110	11101—15—41

OLD RELIABLE TEAM

Avery	1101011110	1111011111	11011—20
Walton	1010111111	1101111111	11111—22
Marks	0101111110	1111101111	11111—21—63

KNOWN ANGLES

NORTHVILLE GUN CLUB TEAM

Simmons	1011111000	1011111111	11100—18
Hamilton	0101101101	1110101111	10111—18
Hueston	1111110011	1101111111	11011—21—57

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 3

Van Buskirk	1001111111	1011111110	11100—19
Brummitt	1110011111	1110111111	11101—21
Cooper	1011110101	1111111111	11101—21—61

RIVER ROUGE GUN CLUB TEAM

Cicotte	1111110111	1001111110	01110—19
Brady	0111111010	0111110100	10111—17
Donaldson	1011111110	1100111011	11111—20—56

MICHIGAN GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 1

Wood	1101111110	0111111101	11111—21
Gross	1100111111	0110111110	11101—19
Adams	0110111010	1001011110	00010—13—53

PASTIME GUN CLUB TEAM

Wolf	1011111111	1110111011	11111—22
Buesser	1110111111	1100110011	11111—20
Fox	1111111100	1011111111	11111—22—64

NORTH DETROIT GUN CLUB TEAM

Fleischer	1111011011	1111111111	11110—22
Berghoeffer	1111110011	1110111100	11001—18
Fourmer	1100101011	1100100111	10110—15—55

MICHIGAN GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 2

Procter	1110110101	1110111111	11111—21
J. Daniels	1011111111	0111101001	11011—19
C. Daniels	1011010111	1111010111	10011—18—58

MICHIGAN GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 3

Schaffer	0111111111	1111111111	10011—22
Wardell	0101100010	1010001111	10100—11
E. Adams	1111111010	0010110111	10001—16—49

GROSSE POINTE GUN CLUB TEAM

Brossey	1000011011	1000010000	01011—10
Northmore	0010101101	0111111111	11111—19
Michie	1011110111	0001101111	11101—18—47

TRILBY GUN CLUB TEAM

Tristum	1110111111	1111100100	10111—19
Habst	0000100101	0011101000	11111—12
Andrus	1111111111	0010111111	11111—22—53

J. K.

SHEFFIELD GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

SHEFFIELD, ILL.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed please find scores made during the three days' tournament recently held by the above-named club. There was a good crowd the first day, both of shooters and spectators, but owing to the weather the attendance was lighter the second and third days. Everything went off very smoothly; no kicking nor accidents to mar the pleasures of the tournament. Expert traps with electric pull were used and worked to perfection, although it rained all day Wednesday. The scores are given in as compact form as possible so as not to absorb too much of the valuable space in the columns of the AMERICAN FIELD:

Shoots No.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15
No. Targets	10	12	10	15	13	12	10	15	20	12	15	10	10	12	10
Alexander	8	10	9	14	12	8	8	12	18	12	12	7	8	10	7
Crain	5	6	8	10	12	7	6	10	13	..	..	5	..	6	..
Meeks	7	6	8	8	11	9	8	10	16	10	11	6	5	9	5
Faull	7	..	5	..	10	..	..	..	..	..	8	..	..	..	..
Spickler	3	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Baker	8	9	7	11	11	7	7	12	17	11	13	8	6	12	6
Snow	9	11	6	12	10	10	8	14	13	8	11	8	3	11	..
Pierce	7	10	10	12	6	9	5	11	14	..	..	4	..	..	..
Kemmerling	..	6	7	6	12	9	..	..	12	13	..	..	..	..	..
White	6	6	7	8	10	11	6	9	12	..	..	4	..	7	..
Battey	7	6	..	..	11	..	..	11	13	12	12	..	..	10	..
Huckins	8	8	7	13	9	10	6	9	16	7	7	5	7	11	8
Studley	8	9	9	12	11	10	6	12	16	10	12	7	5	11	..
Humphreys	10	10	8	12	13	8	6	14	19	11	13	6	7	11	6
Bowen	5	8	..	..	6	..	..	13	14	10	12	..	..	..	..
Boyen	..	..	..	14	9	..	..	9	..	8	..	..	..	..	..
Norton	..	..	..	..	..	..	7	14	15	9	..	4	6	..	..
Houghton	..	..	..	..	..	..	7	8	..	..	..	..	7	..	3
Klock	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	11	8	..	6	..

Shoots No. 12 and 15 were at 5 pairs.

Team contest, Kewauee vs. Sheffield, six men to a team, 25 slugle targets per man:

Kewanee Team—Baker 18, Crain 20, Faull 17, Huckins 21, Bowen 21, Pierce 22. Total 119.

Sheffield Team—Humphreys 22, Boyden 21, Alexauder 19, Mose 15, Stapleton 13, Battey 22. Total 112.

Team contest, two men to each team, Snow and Studley of Neponset vs. Humphreys and Alexander of Sheffield, 25 targets per man: Snow 24, Studley 23. Total 47. Humphreys 23, Alexander 20. Total 43.

SECOND DAY

Shoot No	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
No. targets	12	10	10	10	10	12	12	10	10	10
Norton	9	4	9	8	7	..	..	8	..	5
V. Studley	11	8	9	10	8	9	10	9	9	9
Battey	7	7	6	7	..	11	9	10	7	8
Bowen	10	6	7	9	8	7	9	9	..	..
Humphreys	9	8	3	8	7	9	11	10	8	9
Alexander	12	10	6	9	8	10	12	6	9	10
Houghton	8	5	5	..	..	..	7	6	4	5
Snow	8	7	7	8	5	5	8	8	6	7
E. Studley	..	6	..	..	..	..	8	7	..	..
Meeks	..	..	6	8	5	9	6	..	7	10
Lyle	..	..	..	..	6	8	8	7	8	8
Miller	..	..	..	..	7	4	..	5	.	8
Stuart	..	..	..	..	5	10	6	..	5	6
Parchen	..	..	..	..	6	9	10	9	7	8
Livingstou	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	8	..	7
Klock	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	8	8	7
Boyden	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	9	5	8

Team contest, Neponset vs. Sheffield, ten men to each team, 25 single targets per man.

Neponset Team—Norton 18, Livingston 20, Lyle 24, Miller 16, E. Studley 13, Stuart 21, Snow 17, V. Studley 21, McIntire 16. Total 166.

Sheffield Team—Humphreys 23, Alexander 20, Battey 19, Boyden 19, Klock 19, Stapleton 18, Reider 20, Meeks 19, Prior 12. Total 169.

THIRD DAY

Shoot No	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15	16
No. targets	10	15	12	10	10	12	10	12	15	12	12	15	10	10	12	12
Battey	10	12	10	4	6	9	7	10	10	7	8	10	5	6	8	7
Meeks	7	9	5	7	8	8	7	6	13	7	8	11	6	8	6	11
Skinner	4	8	11	10	9	7	7	7	9	8	9	10	6	6	6	9
Meisenhelmer	9	9	12	8	8	10	8	9	14	8	8	12	5	7	7	8
Wagner	8	14	11	9	9	10	8	7	12	8	10	14	9	8	7	11
Humphreys	8	13	10	9	8	9	8	11	11	..	..	..	..	..	6	10
Parchen	8	10	6	8	9	8	6	11	9	6	..	..	..	..	..	..
Houghton	7	11	7	8	8	6	5	9	10	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Alexauder	6	12	8	6	7	6	9	11	12	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Fox	..	..	..	..	..	..	4	6	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..

Team shoot, two men to each team, Skinner and Wagner of Princeton vs. Humphreys and Alexander of Sheffield, 20 single targets per man: Waguer 14, Skinner 13. Total 27. Humphreys 15, Alexander 15. Total 30.

WALTERS.

VALLEY CITY GUN CLUB'S SCORES

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—At the last two practice shoots of the Valley City Gun Club scores as appended [illegible]

EVENT No. 1.—25 single targets, semi-expert rules.

Walton	0101111110 1110110111 11111—20
Widdicomb	1111011011 1111101111 11010—20
Wharton	1000010011 1111111110 11111—18
Karstens	1010110011 1001110101 00011—14
Coleman	1011010010 0101011111 00011—14

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Walton 21, Widdicomb 2, Wharton 20, Karstens 20, Coleman 18, Calkins 19.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, semi-expert: Gilmore 8, Widdicomb 13, Walton 14, Wharton 14, Karstens 14, Coleman 13.

EVENT No. 4.—10 singles: Norris 7, Widdicomb 9, Calkins 8, Gilmore 7, Gould 9, Plant 6, Wharton 7, Gilmore 3, Walton 8, Kelsey 8, Norris 6, Karstens 9, Coleman 7.

EVENT No. 5.—20 singles, reversed traps.

Kelsey	00111100101111001010—11	Widdicomb	11101111101101111111—17
Gilmore	00101110101000001100 8	Wharton	11011111111110111110—17
Porter	01100300301000111000—6	Karstens	00011100110100110111 11
Norris	00010000100101000010—5	Calkins	00010001110001001011—8
Walton	10010001110111001110 11	Gilmore	1101011100w—6
Gould	00111111000111000110—11	Hughart	0101101111w—7
Coleman	10100011111111101111 15

EVENT No. 6.—20 singles, semi-expert rules: Kelsey 17, Gilmore 13, Karstens 12, Norris 11, Walton 19, Gould 19, Widdicomb 11, Wharton 18, Coleman 17, Hughart 9, Young 8.

EVENT No. 7.—10 singles, semi-expert rules: Kelsey 8, Gilmore 6, Porter 7, Norris 6, Walton 9, Gould 6, Wharton 8, Coleman 8, Hughart 5, Karstens 9, Kelsey 7, Widdicomb 6.

EVENT No. 8.—10 singles, five unknown traps, one man up: Kelsey 3, Hughart 5, Wharton 7, Walton 8, Widdicomb 7

EVENT No. 9.—10 singles, jackspipe system: Kelsey 8, Widdicomb 8, Walton 9, Karstens 7, Wharton 9, Kelsey again 10, Widdicomb again 8.

EVENT No. 10.—15 singles, semi-expert: Walton 14, Wharton 11, Widdicomb 12.

EVENT No. 11.—15 singles, semi-expert: Karstens 11, Woodworth 12, Gilmore 10, Brown 6.

EVENT No. 12.—Same as preceding: Widdicomb 6, McDonell 5, Elkerton 6, Gilmore 7, Karstens 8, Brown 7.

EVENT No. 13.—Same as before: Widdicomb 7, McDonell 7, Elkerton 8, Woodworth 2, Gilmore 4, Brown 6.

EVENT No. 14.—15 singles, same conditions.

Widdicomb	011111111111111 14	Elkerton	000111011011000—7
Karstens	10110111100100O—8	McDonell	10100011000101l—7
Woodworth	10111011001100O—8	Gilmore	10010011111111l—11

EVENT No. 15.—Same conditions, 20 singles: Widdicomb 17, McDonell 14, Elkerton 12, Fox 15, Karstens 15, Brown 9, Woodworth 16, Gilmore 11, Wharton 13, Holcomb 13, Fox 17, Elkerton 12.

EVENT No. 16.—10 singles: Kelsey 8, Temple 5, Fox 6, Gilmore 8, Coleman 8, Karstens 7, Brown 8, Elkerton 6, Woodworth 4, Holcomb 9, Gould 10, Widdicomb 10.

EVENT No. 17.—Same as before: Widdicomb 7, McDonell 6, Elkerton 3, Fox 8, Karstens 8, Brown 3, Woodworth 7, Gilmore 7, Wharton 7, Holcomb 8, Coleman 8, Elkerton 7.

EVENT No. 18.—Miss and out: Widdicomb 4, Wharton 5, Elkerton 2, Fox 0, Karstens 0, Woodworth 4.

EVENT No. 19.—10 singles, reversed traps.

Temple	1111011100—7	Kelsey	1011111111—9
Gould	1111111101—9	Widdicomb	10111·0111—8
Wharton	1011111110—8	Coleman	0111011011—7
Holcomb	0111101111—8

EVENT No. 20.—10 singles, known angles, unknown traps: Temple 5, Gould 7, Wharton 6, Holcomb 5, Widdicomb 8, Kelsey 7.

EVENT No. 21.—10 singles, semi-expert rules: Kelsey 7, Gould 7, Widdicomb 7, Temple 6, Holcomb 8, Wharton 4.

EVENT No. 22.—Same as preceding: Wharton 7, Widdicomb 9, Holcomb 10, Kelsey 9, Gould 9, Temple 8, Coleman 8.

EVENT No. 23.—Same conditions: Wharton 8, Holcomb 7, Temple 8, Widdicomb 7, Kelsey 10, Coleman 8.

EVENT No. 24.—Once more the same: Wharton 8, Kelsey 9, Coleman 9, Temple 6, Holcomb 8.

LOST BIRD.

THE PACIFIC GUN CLUB

SEATTLE, WASH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Pacific Gun Club is the name of a gun club organized in this city on April 24 last. The membership roll contains twenty-eight names, all highly respected citizens of Seattle, and it is thought that before long the membership will reach fifty. Following are the officers elected for the ensuing year: President, A. B. Chamberlin; vice-president, A. B. Maple; secretary and treasurer, S. T. Kelsey Jr.; captain, C. H. Dablem.

The shooting grounds of the club are those known as the Seattle Field Club grounds, located on the Rainier Avenue car line, and are well adapted for either live bird or target shooting. Regular club shoots are held on the first and third Saturday and Sunday of every month throughout the season, and the certificate plan of shooting has been adopted. Twenty-five targets will constitute the club shoot and the following system of handicapping the men will be tried: An A Class man, that is, a man killing a certain per cent. of his birds, said per cent. to be decided on by the handicapping committee, will shoot at 15 singles, known trap, unknown angle, and 5 pairs; a B Class man will shoot at 25 singles, known trap, unknown angles, and a C Class man at 25 singles, known trap, known angles. There are really no distinct classes, all competing for the same certificates, the idea being to place the men on as nearly an equal footing as possible by handicapping in the above manner.

The certificate system of shooting is, I presume, understood by most of the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD who are acquainted with trap shooting, but for the benefit of those who are not I will try and explain it in as few words as possible: One, two, three or more certificates are issued to the men making the highest scores in the club shoot; any possessor of a certificate can challenge any other man who has one to shoot for same; if the challenged party does not accept he forfeits his certificate to the challenger. The matches for certificates must be shot at the first regular shoot after the challenge is issued and under the same handicap. Thus it will be seen that match shooting will be the inevitable result, and this is what we consider of great value, as it will nerve the men up and make them used to shooting matches. The man who shows the highest number of certificates at the end of the season is awarded first prize—medal or money, or whatever is lining up for competition. The man who has second highest number gets second, and so on.

Our first shoot was held on May 5, and although we were not favored by the weather a pleasant time was had and pool shooting was continued till well along in the afternoon. It must be remembered that the participants in this, the first shoot of the Pacific Gun Club, were, a majority of them, men who had never faced a trap before, and the scores are consequently nothing to boast of. The new club promises to become one of the most active clubs of its kind in the state and will very likely be well represented at the tournament of the Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest at Portland, Ore., this month. The scores of the first shoot follow:

SHOOT No. 1.—Club contest, Class A, 15 singles, known trap, unknown angles, and 5 pairs. Class B, 25 singles, known trap, unknown angles. Class C, 25 singles, everything known.

CLASS A

Maple	1101011010 01000	10 00 00 11 10	—11
"Kendall"	1101111011 11100	11 10 10 10 10	—16
Fox	1111100111 11011	10 11 10 00 10	—17
Scott	0001001011 01101	11 10 00 10 00	—11
Dahlem	1011001000 00111	00 10 11 10 10	—12

CLASS B

Hunt	0110001000	1001001000	11000— 8
Marbett	1000000000	1110001000	10000— 6
Knukler	0001000101	1100110001	10010—10
Lowman	1001101011	0100010011	00010—11

CLASS C

	0000000000	0000000w	— 0
	1111110111	1110101110	10100—18

Fox second, Kendall third.

SHOOT No. 2.—10-bird sweepstake, three moneys: "Kendall" 5, Maple 4, Hunt 9, Dahlem 3, Fox 7, Kunkler 5, Marbett 3. Hunt won first money, Fox second, Kunkler third in shoot off.

SHOOT No. 3.—Same as before: Maple 7, Dahlem 3, Kendall 5, Fox 5, Knukler 5, Hunt 5, Lowman (birds) 3. Maple won first money; ties for second shot off, miss and out, Kendall winning; Dahlem won third.

C. F. GRAFF.

AMATEUR GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

CINCINNATI, O.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I forward you herewith the scores made at the Amateur Gun Club's recent tournament at Macke's Five Mile House, Reading Road. The shoot was under the direct management of Henry Goodman, to say which is to assure all who know Mr. Goodman that things were all in good shape and run as smoothly as a full jeweled watch. Not the least enjoyable part of the outing was the excellent country dinner served by Mr. Goodman and his most excellent wife; a dinner that to think of it even now "almost makes my mouth water." The attendance was not large, yet large enough for all to have a jolly good time, and they had it. The scores:

EVENT No. 1.—15 single Blue Rocks, $1 entrance, three moneys.

Harmon	111001011111111-12	John R	01101100001110—7
Gamble	010010110101111—9	J. H. Steinman	111111110011101-12
Verges	111011111111101-13	H. E. Pitze	00011000100011—6
Will	101101101101011-10	Williamson	00111011001010l—8
Doughman	101110000111110—9	Hanauer	111110010101101-10
Felix	111111100101111-12	R. Trimble	011111111111110-13
Randell	010110000101000—5	Jones	01100111010000O—6
E. Steinman	101100110011111-10	Hosea	00000110010000O—3

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Harmon 12, Gamble 10, Verges 10, Will 10, Doughman 10, Felix 13, Randell 13, E. Steinman 7, John R. 4, J. H. Steinman 7, Hanauer 13, R. Trimble 15, Jones 9.

EVENT No. 3.—20 single targets, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: Harmon 15, Gamble 14, Verges 16, Will 10, Jones 14, Felix 17, John R. 9, Doughman 12, Hosea 7, Jack 13, Harry 17, Randell 15, Murphy 15, W. J. 17, R. Trimble 18, Hanauer 14, E. Steinman 13, J. H. Steinman 14.

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles, $1 entrance, three moneys.

Harmon	111110111001011-11	Harry	001011111111101-11
Gamble	111111110011101-12	Randell	110110010101011—9
Verges	001110101111111-11	J. Steinman	110100111011101-10
Will	011011101010110—9	W. J	011111100101101-10
Jones	010111010011111-10	R. Trimble	111111111111115
Richard	111110110111111-13	Hananer	010010101110101—8
Felix	100111111101111-12	E. Steinman	110001001110011—8
John R	010000001101101—6	E. Trimble	101010001100111—8
Donghman	011101001000010—6	Murphy	111111100000111-10
Hosea	011000100110001—6	Pitzer	010010010110011—7
Jack	110011111100000—8	Williamson	000111110011010—8

EVENT No. 5.—Same as before: Harmon 15, Gamble 11, Verges 13, Jones 11, Richmond 12, Felix 13, John R. 10, Doughman 10, Hosea 11, Jack 7, Harry 12, Randell 9, W. J. 11, R. Trimble 15, Hanauer 8, E. Trimble 10, Murphy 14, Williamson 9.

EVENT No. 6.—20 single targets, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: Harmon 15, Gamble 15, Verges 16, Jones 13, Richard 18, Felix 16, John R. 15, Doughman 16, Hosea 12, Jack 12, Harry 16, Randell 12, W. J. 17, R. Trimble 20, E. Trimble 13, Murphy 14.

A few days later a number of the members of this same club visited the Five Mile House again, when scores as below were made:

EVENT No. 1.—15 single targets, $1 entrance, three moneys, rapid fire system.

Harmon	111110111111111-14	C. Tip	101110001101110—9
Charley	111101111111110-13	Felix	101101011101110-10
Gamble	111111111111011-14	C. R	101101100100111—9
Harry	011110011100101—9	Williamson	101100101111101-10
R. B. John	001101010100110—7

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Harmon 18, Charley 14, Gamble 13, Harry 14, C. R. 11, C. Tip 8, Felix 11, R. John 5, Williamson 8.

EVENT No. 3.—20 single targets: Harmon 19, Charley 16, Gamble 18, Harry 18, C. R. 11, C. Tip 8, Felix 15, R. John 7, Williamson 13, Hosea 9.

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles: Harmon 14, Charley 11, Gamble 12, Harry 9, C. R. 11, C. Tip 7, Felix 12, R. John 6, Hosea 7.

EVENT No. 5.—Same as before: Harmon 14, Charley 15, Gamble 14, Harry 9, C. R. 14, C. Tip 5, Felix 12, John R. 8, Hosea 2.

EVENT No. 6.—20 singles per man: Harmon 17, Charley 15, Gamble 19, C. R. 18, C. Tip 9, John R. 10, Felix 18, C. R. 13, Williamson 13.

RICHARD.

TRAP AT KNOX

KNOX, IND.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—A very fair attendance and good shooting marked the recent amateur shoot of the Knox Gun Club. The day was perfect and everything passed off in the most pleasant manner.

The following visitors honored us with their presence: Geo. Elliott of Rochester, Ind.; J. W. King and Mr. McColly of Rennselaer, Ind.; Messrs. Lightner, Bullock, Smith and Arnold of Hobart, Ind.; C. F. Schultz and C. Simon of La Porte, Ind. From Union Mills came Dr. R. B. Short, Messrs. Allison, Gruver, Turner, Carpenter, and Mills; and last, but by no means least, were A. T. Hetfield, Dick, Devor, Bert Lightcap and Dunkelberger from North Judson. The score:

EVENT No.1.—10 single targets, entrance $1: King 9, Elliott 9, Allison 10, Lightcap 6, Dunkelberger 6, Short 9, Devor 8, McColly 8, Warren 9, Schultz 8, Gruver 7, Townsend 9, Mill 7, Carp 9, Hetfield 8, Henderson 10.

EVENT No. 2.—10 targets, entrance $1: King 10, Hetfield 6, Dunk 8, Elliott 9, Lightcap 6, Short 10, Schultz 10, Mill 8, Devor 8, Carp 8, Kinneger 5, Henderson 6, McColly 8, Warren 9, Allison 10, Gruver 4, Townsend 8, Simon 5.

EVENT No. 3.—Same again: King 8, Elliott 10, McColly 10, Lightcap 8, Dunk 5, Simon 8, Schultz 9, Allison 10, M. Anderson 6, Kinneger 5, Short 8, Carp 9, Devor 9, Gruver 10, Henderson 9, Hetfield 10, Mill 7, Warren 8.

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles, entrance $1.50: Allison 14, Townsend 14, Schultz 10, Elliott 14, McColly 15, Lightcap 11, King 15, Carp 13, Lightner 12, Bullock 14, Short 14, Gruver 15, Dunk 6, Mills 9, Hetfield 12, Devor 15, Simon 12, Warren 14.

SHOOT No. 5.—5 singles and three pairs, entrance $1: King 10, Lightner 7, Bullock 9, Townsend 9, Mills 7, Elliott 8, Short 9, Allison 10, Gruver 10, Henderson 5, Carp 10.

EVENT No. 6.—10 singles, entrance $1: Townsend 9, Schultz 8, Carp 7, Short 9, Elliot 8, Allison 8, Devor 8, King 9, Smith 8, Lightner 6, Henderson 7, Bullock 9, McColly 7, Simon 6, Lightcap 9, Gruver 7, Weis 1, Arnold 9, Mills 5, Myers 9, Dunk 6, Warren 10, Hetfield 8.

EVENT No. 7.—5 singles, five unknown traps, entrance 50 cents: Mills 2, Bullock 4, Lightner 5, Smith 4, Short 5, Carp 3, Lightcap 4, Elliott 4, McColly 4, King 5, Arnold 3, Schultz 1, Devor 2, Townsend 4, Allison 5, Simon 2, Henderson 1, Hetfield 5, Myers 2.

EVENT No. 8.—15 singles, entrance $1.50: Elliott 15, Devor 14, Short 9, Carp 13, McColly 14, King 14, Dunk 12, Henderson 10, Lightcap 13, Allison 13, Townsend 14, Warren 14.

EVENT No. 9.—10 singles, entrance $1: Lightner 8, Bullock 8, Devor 7, Townsend 10, Elliott 9, Arnold 8, Allison 10, McColly 6, Lightcap 6, King 7, Carp 10, Dunk 6, Smith 5, Warren 9, Gruver 10, Hetfield 9.

EVENT No. 10.—10 birds, entrance $1: King 7, Lightcap 7, Dunk 6, Elliott 8, McColly 3, Bullock 10, Smith 7, Devor 6, Short 9, Townsend 8, Lightner 8, Arnold 8, Allison 10, Gruver 7, Carp 10, Henderson 3, Hetfield 6, Warren 9.

EVENT No. 11.—Same thing over: Devor 9, McColly 9, Elliott 10, Townsend 10, King 8, Warren 9, Lightcap 9, Hetfield 7, Dunk 7, Gruver 9.

EVENT No. 12.—Same thing: Elliott 10, King 10, Lightcap 6, McColly 7, Townsend 8, Dunk 2, Devor 9, Gruver 8.

EVENT No. 13.—Same as before: Lightcap 8, Elliott 9, Townsend 10, King 10, McColly 5, Henderson 7, Devor 9.

Guns and powder used as follows: King, Ithaca hammerless, E. C.; Elliott, Burgess, E. C.; Allison, Smith hammerless, black; Warren, Winchester, black; Gruver, Winchester, black; Carp, Winchester, American Wood; Townsend, Smith hammerless, American Wood; Schultz, Smith, black; Short, Lefever hammerless, E. C.; Devor, Lefever hammerless, American Wood and E. C.; Smith, Parker, E. C.; Lightner, Parker, E. C.; Henderson, Parker hammerless, S. S.; Bullock, Parker, black; McColly, Remington, E. C.; Simon, Smith, black; Lightcap, Lefever hammerless, E. C.; Arnold, Parker, black; Mills, Smith, black; Myers, Parker hammerless, black; Dunkelberger, Manton, E. C.; Hetfield, Winchester, black.

A division in case of ties being a rule of the shoot, no one was much ahead of the game. No matter how hard one shot he found company in his place. The club hopes to give another shoot in the Fall when we expect a larger attendance than on this occasion, and those who fail to be with us will miss a "good thing," as Knox tournaments are always well attended.

C. M. TEE.

TRAP AT MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The recent contest between teams from the Jolly Gun Club and the South Side Gun Club, both of this city, was very interesting and quite exciting. Both clubs were represented by their strongest men, though the South Side team was doubtless weakened a few points by the absence of Mr. Deiter, one of their best shots, and also one of the best shots in our city. As the scores show the Jolly Gun Club team was victorious by five points, and the whole club feels proud over the work of its team, believing that it has established a record as a team that will be hard to overcome during the season.

There was a large number of representative trap shots present to witness the contest, including several from Waukesha, who entered the sweepstake events that followed. The scores are given below:

Team contest, Jolly Gun Club vs. South Side Gun Club, 25 birds per man, five men to each team.

Jolly Gun Club—G. L. Kurtz 23, F. H. Connelly 23, T. Thomas 21, J. L. Farber 19, F. Meixner 25. Team total 111.

South Side Gun Club—J. H. Johnson 23, Dr. Williamson 21, Dr. Morrison 22, J. F. Burnham 18, Dr. Carmichael 22. Team total 106.

The regular scores of the South Side Gun Club, out of a possible 30, were as follows: Lewis 28, Friese 27, Johnson 27, Anderson 24, Carmichael 23, Bosworth 20, Burnham 20, Seefeld 19, Rock 18, Dwight 18, S. Mennler 17, Mirgler 24.

Several sweepstakes events followed, with the scores as follows:

EVENT No. 1.—10 birds: Friese 9, Thomas 9, Kurtz 9, Meixner 9, Himmelstein 9, Johnson 8, Carmichael 8, Scefeld 8, Foster 8, Estberg 8, Williamson 8, Morrison 7, Burnham 7, Meunier 7, Rock 6, Farber 6, Hobbs 6, Connelly 4, Stone 4.

EVENT No. 2.—20 birds: Friese 11, Williamson 18, Burnham 12, Dronght 12.

EVENT No. 3.—10 birds: Friese 10, Williamson 10, Connelly 9, Burnham 8, Meunier 8, Stone 7, Thomas 6, Dronght 6.

EVENT No. 4.—15 birds: Johnson 14, Meixner 14, Kurtz 14, Seefeld 13, Friese 12, Connelly 12, Thomas 12, Stone 12, Carmichael 12, Meixner 12, Williamson 11, Farber 11, Estberg 11, Himmelstein 11, Morrison 11, Burnham 9, Foster 8, Hobbs 8, Drought 8, Machus 5.

EVENT No. 5.—10 birds: Farber 10, Friese 9, Williamson 9, Kurtz 8, Meixner 8, Johnson 7, Himmelstein 7, Burnham 7, Carmichael 7, Thomas 6, Estberg 6, Thomas 6, Stone 4.

EVENT No. 6.—10 birds: Friese 9, Hensen 9, Anderson 9, Seefeld 8, Drought 8, Johnson 8, Mirgler 7, Thomas 7, Rock 7, Burnham 8, Bosworth 6, Greengo 6.

EVENT No. 7.—10 birds: Greengo 10, Kurtz 9, Johnson 9, Anderson 9, Bosworth 8, Estberg 8, Seefeld 8, Carmichael 8, Foster 7, Mirgler 7, Hensen 7, Thomas 7, Friese 6, Meunier 6, Burnham 6, Wolstencroft 6.

EVENT No. 8.—15 birds: Greengo 15, Anderson 15, Johnson 13, Mirgler 13, Friese 12, Thomas 12, Kurtz 12, Burnham 12, Hensen 11, Meunier 11, Estberg 10, Bosworth 9, Foster 9.

EVENT No. 9.—15 birds: Estberg 13, Johnson 11, Thomas 11, Anderson 11, Greengo 10, Mirgler 10, Kurtz 10, Foster 6.

CREAM CITY.

MARION GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

MARION, IND.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The tournament of the Marion Gun Club was held on May 8. On account of the Du Pont tournament the attendance was not what we had expected, yet we had a very nice shoot.

Among the visiting shooters present were Wm. Jones, A. W. King, C. Anderson, J. Bruner, M. Haas, W. Thompson, E. Wright and D. B. Morgan of Wabash, J. Calvert and Anderson of Mt. Etna, and Forest and Evaston of Warren.

One of the most interesting events of the day was the race between Wm. Jones of Wabash and C. C. Hiatt and J. C. Whisler of this city, entrance $5, two moneys, 25 Blue Rocks. Result: C. C. Hiatt 23, Jones 16, Whisler 16. In the shoot off Jones scored 9 out of 10, Whisler 8.

EVENT No. 1.—10 targets, entrance $1: Whisler 9, C. Hiatt 9, Adkins 10, Jones 9, O. Wright 10, King 8, Morgan 8, N. W. Hiatt 7, E. Wright 4, Rigdon 5, W. Thompson 5.

EVENT No. 2.—Same as above: C. C. Hiatt 8, J. C. Whisler 9, Adkins 10, Calvert 3, King 7, Rigdon 5, Creviston 5, Bruner 9, N. W. Hiatt 10, Jones 7, Forest 7, Thompson 6.

EVENT No. 3.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance: C. C. Hiatt 11, J. C. Whisler 12, Anderson 4, O. Wright 11, Calvert 13, Rigdon 13, N. W. Hiatt 12, Jones 11, King 10, E. Wright 7, Adkins 11.

EVENT No. 4.—15 singles, entrance $1.30: N. W. Hiatt 15, Rigdon 11, J. C. Whisler 12, O. Wright 12, C. C. Hiatt 11, Jones 13, King 8, Adkins 14, Creviston 5, D. B. Morgan 7.

EVENT No. 5.—20 singles, entrance $2: Jones 18, C. Hiatt 19, Whisler 17, O. Wright 13, N. W. Hiatt 14, Rigdon 18, Calvert 9, Anderson 10.

EVENT No. 6.—10 Blue Rocks, entrance $1: C. C. Hiatt 10, Jones 8, Whisler 7, Rigdon 9, O. Wright 7, Bruner 9, Haas 7, Barnes 3, E. Wright 7.

EVENT No. 7.—10 Blue Rocks, entrance $1: Whisler 8, Jones 9, E. Wright 7, King 6, Morgan 5, Adkins 8, C. C. Hiatt 8, Rigdon 7, Thompson 6, O. Wright 7, N. W. Hiatt 6.

EVENT No. 8.—10 Blue Rocks, entrance $1: Bruner 8, C. C. Hiatt 8, Adkins 9, Forest 6, Whisler 9, King 3, Jones 5, Rigdon 7, Morgan 6, Evaston 1, O. Wright 5, E. Wright 6.

EVENT No. 9.—Same as above: Jones 8, Hiatt 8, Adkins 10, O. Wright 6, Whisler 8, Bruner 8, Haas 5, Rigdon 5, Sweetser 4, Creviston 2, Thompson 7, E. Wright 6.

EVENT No. 10.—Same: C. C. Hiatt 9, Whisler 8, Jones 6, Rigdon 10, N. W. Hiatt 7, King 4, O. Wright 7, Morgan 6, Thompson 6, Adkins 7, Calvert 5.

EVENT No. 11.—Same: O. Wright 6, N. W. Hiatt 6, Whisler 7, Rigdon 2, King 4, Jones 9, Anderson 6, Thompson 5, Creviston 4, Calvert 4, C. C. Hiatt 9, E. Wright 8, Morgan 6.

EVENT No. 12.—Same: Jones 7, Whisler 9, Adkins 8, C. C. Hiatt 9, O. Wright 8, Bruner 6, Rigdon 7, Forest 5, E. Wright 9, Haas 7, King 4, Calvert 5.

EVENT No. 13.—10 Blue Rocks entrance $1: O. Wright 6, N. W. Hiatt 6, Whisler 7, Rigdon 9, King 5, Jones 8, Anderson 5, Creviston 5, Calvert 6, E. Wright 7, C. Hiatt 8, Morgan 5, Thompson 5.

EVENT No. 14.—Same: Echelman 8, Jones 8, Hiatt 9, Rigdon 9, Bruner 6, E. Wright 8.

RIGDON.

TRAP AT SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Since my last report to the AMERICAN FIELD, the members of the San Antonio Gun Club and also the members of the Powder Hill Gun Club have been doing quite a little work at the traps. Prior to May 5 we had an unusual amount of rain and as a consequence getting to the club's grounds with improvised conveyances was not as pleasant as it might have been. However, when the day for the regular club shoot arrived thirteen enthusiasts faced the traps and made the following scores:

SHOOT No. 1.—Club contest, 30 single targets per man, for club medal.

Rothwell	1111101010	0100110111	1111011011—21
Piety	1111110110	1111110111	1111111111—27
France	1011101101	1111101110	0111111111—24
Smith	1111101011	0111001000	1110100111—19
Learn	1110011111	0111111001	1111101111—24
Prescott	1010101010	0010010101	1101111011—27
Chabot	1000111111	0110111010	1111000111—20
Epp	1111011011	1111011111	1111111011—26
Davidson	0011100000	0000000000	0110000000— 5
Shields	0111000110	0110011101	1101011111—19
Velth	0101001101	0011111111	1110111101—21
Grossman	0111111101	0001110101	1110010001—18
Vollbrecht	1001001101	1110111111	1011111011—22

SHOOT No. 3.—15 singles per man: Shields 10, Grossman 7,

Chabot 10, Davidson 4, Rothwell 12, Vollbrecht 4, France 10.

SHOOT No. 4.—Same as preceding: Rothwell 9, France 12, Davidson 4, Shields 9, Biesenbach 11.

On the next regular club day the following scores were made:

SHOOT No. 1.—Medal contest, 30 singles per man: Shields 19, Piety 26, France 20, Samuels 18, Davidson 3, Learn 24, Epp 25, Grossman 12, Vollbrecht 16, Dr. Phillips 23.

SHOOT No. 2.—10 singles: Shields 7, Piety 9, France 11, Samuels 8, Davidson 4.

SHOOT No. 3.—15 singles: France 9, Epp 9, Grossman 12, Vollbrecht 12, Shields 10, Learn 1, Samuels 6, Piety 15, Davidson 3.

SHOOT No. 4—15 singles, expert rules: France 9, Shields 11, Phillips 14, Grossman 8, Vollbrecht 6.

The members of the Powder Hill Gun Club in practice made the following scores:

SHOOT No. 1.—15 single targets per man: Critzer 12, Show 7, A. W. Adams 12, Ellis 11, Ohnesorge 9.

SHOOT No. 2.—Contest for club medal, 30 singles and 5 pairs per man: Critzer 34, Show 24, Adams 31, Leut Foster 28, Ohnesorge 30, Ellis 31.

SHOOT No. 3.—25 singles per man: Critzer 21, Adams 22, Ellis 21, Ohnesorge 23.

Mr. Ellis did very well, I might say especially well, for he uses a 12-guage Winchester repeating shotgun and always holds the butt of his gun below the elbow until the bird is sprung from the trap.

G. A. CHABOT.

TRAP AT HAY SPRINGS

HAY SPRINGS, NEB.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Five members of the Chadron Gun Club met in friendly contest five members of the Hay Springs Gun Club, on the grounds of the latter, on Friday, May 3, when the following scores out of a possible 15 to each man were made:

HAY SPRINGS TEAM	CHADRON TEAM
D. Connor...011101101110011-10	J. W. Boyd..111110110111011-12
T. J. Thompson—110111110111011-12	J. Ellenwood—111001111010100—9
Dr. Sheffner—110111011111011-12	E. Erway....010010111101111-10
P. N. Serbousek—110111111011011-12	J. Kemery..111101111111011-13
B. E. White..010110101111111-11—57	J. Wilson...110111001101001—9—53

After the team contest a series of sweepstakes were shot with the following results:

SHOOT No. 1.—10 single targets per man: Boyd 7, Ellenwood 7, Erway 7, Kemery 10, Waterman 4, Wilson 10, White 8, Serbousek 9, Sheffner 5, Connor 8, Thompsou 6.

SHOOT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Boyd 9, Ellenwood 10, Erway 8, Kemery 7, Wilson 8, White 8, Serbousek 6, Sheffner 10, Connor 7, Thompson 7.

SHOOT No. 3.—10 singles each man.

Boyd.................1111111111-10	White................1111110111—9
Ellenwood...........1110111111—9	Wilson...............1110111111—9
Kemery..............1111111111-10	Serbousek...........1010011110—6
Erway................0101011110—6	Thompson............1111111110—9
Connor...............1101111110—8	Sheffner..............1110110111—8

SHOOT No. 4.—Same as before: Boyd 7, Ellenwood 7, Kemery 4, Sheffner 5.

SHOOT No. 5.—5 singles and 3 pairs per man: Boyd 5, Kemery 8, Wilson 7, White 10, Sheffner 6.

SHOOT No. 6.—10 singles: Boyd 8, Kemery 9, Wilson 9. White 10, Sheffner 8, Ellenwood 9, Erway 6, Serbousek 6, Waterman 8.

SHOOT No. 7.—Same again: Boyd 6, Ellenwood 9, Erway 5, Connor 7, Serbousek 6, Bristol 8, Wilson 8, Kemery 7, White 7, Thompson 8, Sheffner 9, Watermau 8.

SHOOT No. 8.—Another of the same kind: Boyd 9, Ellenwood 10, Erway 9, Connor 8, Serbousek 7, Bristol 7, Wilson 9, Kemery 9, White 10, Thompson 7, Sheffner 8, Waterman 8.

SHOOT No. 9.—Same as last: Ellenwood 6, Connor 8, Serbousek 7, Kemery 7, Wilson 8, Erway 7, Boyd 8, Bristol 8, Thompson (w) 2, Sheffner 7, Bowman 5, White 8.

W. B. MCQUEEN, Secy.

TRAP AT PORTLAND

PORTLAND, ORE.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed you will find score of a live bird shoot held here recently. The shoot occasioned a good deal of interest, from the fact that the four gentlemen taking part in it were well-known duck shots and have been shooting on the same preserve all the past Winter. Mr. Bills feels a little bit sore over his defeat, inasmuch as he had picked himself out as the winner and had put his friend Malcom down as a "rank amateur" at the live bird trap. He had been joking Malcom for the last week or so before the shoot with such remarks as these: "How will yon feel, Malcom, getting up before a crowd and missing bird after bird?" "There is the winner, Malcom" (referring to an old, sawed-off 10-guage Clabrough, occasioned through the owner's desire to spatter mud over ducks in addition to shot), etc. Mr. Bills is a fair duck shot, and his forte is on overhead birds, as the low-flying pigeons seem to keep perfectly clear of his gun's killing circle. Malcom is a good average shot at the trap, but he and Bills were very greatly outclassed by both Montieth and Thorn. Mr. Montieth is a new man at the live bird traps, having shot but ten pigeons at the traps before, but his well-earned reputation as a field shot was vindicated at this shoot, as twenty birds out of twenty-five, with a strange gun, and one that was hammering him in the nose at every shot, is not a bad score by any means with a five-yard circle around the trap and a brisk breeze blowing over the field. Thorn shot in his usual good form, but used too light a load in his first barrel, this accounting for most of the birds lost by him being scored "dead out of bounds." A similar match to this will probably be shot soon between about half a dozen of our field and marsh shots.

Conditions of match: 25 live birds per man, five ground traps, indicator to be used, five-yard circle around trap aud all birds killed inside of the circle to be scored lost. Otherwise than above American Shooting Association rules to govern. Scores:

Monteith	112222*212 1102221*11 111—20
Thoru	1*2111211* 2112*1*012 11*22—19
Malcom	00*020121* 1212002221 01011—15
Bills	2*00000100 0022101021 12012—12

Monteith, Thorn and Malcom each used a 12-guage Parker gun, while Mr. Bills used a 10-guage Clabrough. The rise was 30 yards for all except Malcom, who stood at 25 yards. All four men used the Smokeless cases, E. C. powder and No. 7 chilled shot. Monteith used 3¼ drams of powder and 1⅛ ounces of shot; Thorn 2¾ and 3¼ drams of powder and 1⅛ ounces of shot; Malcom used 3¼ drams of powder and 1¼ ounces of shot; Bills used 3¾ drams of powder and 1¼ ounces of shot.

The flight of the birds for each mau was as follows: Straight away, Monteith 0, Thorn 1, Malcom 0, Bills 1; right-quartering, Monteith 9, Thorn 1, Malcom 8, Bills 3; left quartering, Monteith 3, Thorn 4, Malcom 2, Bills 5; straight to right, Monteith 2, Thorn 5, Malcom 4, Bills 7; straight to left, Monteith 0, Thorn 0, Malcom 1, Bills 2; direct incomers, Monteith 0, Thorn 1, Malcom 1, Bills 0; right quartering incomers, Monteith 4, Thorn 5, Malcou 5, Bills 5; left quartering incomers, Monteith 5, Thorn 3, Malcom 4, Bills 2; hoverers, Monteith 1, Thorn 2, Malcom 0, Bills 0; towerers, Malcom 1, Thorn 1, Monteith 1, Bills 0. Killed inside the five yard circle, Monteith 0, Thorn 1, Malcom 0, Bills 0; dead out of bouuds, Monteith 4, Thorn 4, Malcom 2, Bills 1; killed with first barrel, Monteith 11, Thorn 12, Malcom 8, Bills 6; killed with second barrel, Monteith 9, Thorn 7, Malcom 7, Bills 6.

MULT.

TRAP AT BURLINGTON

BURLINGTON, IA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I Inclose herewith the scores made in a recent coutest for the American Field handicap trophy. Also the scores of a number of sweepstakes. The contest for the trophy between Brockway and Scott was very interesting, Scott finally winnlug the much coveted prize by one bird.

SHOOT No. 1.—10 single targets per man: P. Bouquet 6, J. Hassel 8, C. Krieg 5, C. E. Drey 7, O. Heil 9, T. Bouquet 7, J. H. Cable 7, C. Slingluff 7, Geo. Woods 8, J. Melcher 9, J. F. Breitenstein 9, G. Hobensifken 9, C. Leopold 6, G. H. Prenzier 9, R. Senn 8, H. Krieg 4, C. Wedertz 5, Geo. Eberhard 6, C. Sehlapp 9, Goldthwaite 8, C. Enders 7, J. P. Chaplane 5, E. Theanes 10, A. Dehner 10, D. Melcher 5.

SHOOT No. 2.—Team contest, 15 single targets per man.

TEAM NO. 1	TEAM NO. 2
Capt. Sehlapp...001011111111101 11	Capt. Enders....110111111101110 12
P. Bouquet......011101101111010-10	J. Hassel........011111111110011-12
C. Kreig.........010010000100001 4	C. E. Drew......111111111101011 13
O. Heid..........101011110111101-11	T. Bouquet......111101101111110-12
J. H. Cable......111101111111111 14	C. Slingluff......111011110111011 12
Geo. Woods.....001110000001110-6	J. Melcher.......111111111011100 12
J. F. Breitenstein—100101100111111-10	G. Hobbysiefbln111101011110111 12
C. Leopold......111111111111111-15	G. H. Prenzler..111101111101111 13
R. Senn.........010011010011111—9	H. Krieg.........111111111111110 14
C. Wedertz......100100010000010—4	G. Eberhard....010100111011001—8
Goldthwaite ....100110110101011—9	J. P. Chaplane..010100001100000—4
E. Theanes......101101110111111-12	A. Dehner.......111111111111101-14
D. Melcher......011111010001011—9	W. Hasford.....101001111011111-11
Team total............... 121	Team total.................. 119

SHOOT No. 3.—30 singles per man: P. Bouquet 19, John Hassel 24, Audy Dahner 21, C. Krieg 8, C. E. Drew 22, O. Heil 27, T. Bouquet 24, J. H. Cable 23, C. Slingluff 24, Geo. Woods 24, J. Melcher 21, J. F. Breitenstein 26, G. Hobbysiefblu 23, C. Leopold 17, G. H. Prenzler 24, R. Senn 15, H. Krieg 21, C. Wedertz 21, Geo. Eberhard 15, C. Sehlapp 22, Goldthwaite 25, C. Enders 14, J. P. Chaplane 13, E. Theanes 24.

SHOOT No. 4.—50 single targets per man: Sowden 39, C. Keeher 40, Foote 34, W. Keeher 33, Hosford 43, Rhelu 27, Walbridge 31, Anderson 46, Dewein 28, Haerr 45, Ober 35, Rundorff 44, Taylor 36, Schramm 33.

SHOOT No. 5.—Trophy contest, 50 targets per man.

Rolla Ebner	0100010111 1111111111 1101111111 1101111111 0111110101—40
T. Bennett	0110111111 1111111111 1111011111 1111111101 1111111010—44
J. Brockway	1111111111 1111111011 1011111111 1011111111 1111111111—47
J. Avery	1011111111 1111011111 1111111111 1011101011 1111111111—45
C. Haerr	1001111111 0101111011 1111111111 1011111101 1111110111—42
C. Dixie	1111010101 1101111101 1111111101 1110011111 1111111111—13
L. Gemmett	1111111111 1111111101 0111111101 0111111101 1111110111—45
J. F. Scott	1011111111 1111111111 1011111111 1111111111 1111111111—47
A. Henry	1101110011 1111110111 0111110111 1111111011 1111111111—44

Brockway and Scott tied for the trophy on 47 each and agreed to shoot the tie off on 15 birds per man. Each scored 13, making another tie, and this time it was decided to settle the matter by each shooting at 10 birds. In the second shoot off Brockway scored 8 out of his 10 and Scott 9, the latter winning by one bird after a stubborn fight.

SHOOT No. 6.—5 pairs each man: Brockway 4, Ebner 6, Bennett 3, Scott 6, Avery 9, Dixie 8.

SHOOT No. 7.—10 singles per man: Drew 6, Theanes 8, Woods 5, Wedertz 8.

SCOTT.

TRAP AT HOLSTEIN

HOLSTEIN, IA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed I hand you the scores made at a tournament held here last month. I am a little late in getting them to you but I hope they are not so far behind but what they will be given room in your excellent paper.

SHOOT No. 1.—10 single targets per man.

Trotter..............1111111111-10	Jameson.............1111101111—9
Higgins..............1100100111—6	White.................1010101010—5
Wilcox...............1111100101—7	Mohr..................1111010101—7
Buehler..............1010011110—6	Gummow.............1111011111—9
Philips...............1001011000—4	Huss..................1111111011—9
Sneghaugh..........1111011011—8	Cizek..................1101100000—4
Craig.................1010101010—5	Burgess..............1101101011—7

SHOOT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Trotter 8, Jameson 8, Mohr 9, Wilcox 8, Gummow 8, Huss 8, Cizek 8, Craig 7, Burgess 7, Sneghaugh 6, Higgius 4, Miller 4.

SHOOT No. 3.—Another of the same kind: Wilcox 10, Jameson 9, Trotter 9, Gummow 8, Cizek 8, Mohr 7, Sneghaugh 6, Burgess 6, Gries 6, Higgins 5, Craig 5.

SHOOT No. 4.—15 single targets.

Trotter.........111111111111111-15	Burgess.........101110111011011-11
Cizek...........111111111101111-14	Wilcox..........110111000111011-10
Craig...........111111101110111-13	Mohr............111001011011001—9
Jameson........111011110111011-12	Higgins.........100110101110101—9
Wilcox.........101111110111011-12	Huss............110101011010110—9
Gummow....... 110111110110111-12	Gries............100011000101100—6
White..........111001110011111-11

SHOOT No. 5.—10 singles: Trotter 9, Higgins 9, Wilcox 8, Cizek 8, Gummow 7, Sneghaugh 5, Gries 5.

SHOOT No. 6.—10 singles: Trotter 9, Jameson 9, Higgins 9, Cizek 10, Sneghaugh 8, Huss 8, Gries 8, Burgess 7, Pelton 9, Wilcox 5, Craig 5, Gummow 7.

SECOND DAY

SHOOT No. 1.—15 single targets per man.

Jameson.........111111110110111-13	Gummow........110111011011011-11
Sneghaugh......111111011101111-13	Huss.............111011110101001-10
Mohr............111011111111011-13	Kartenman 101101111010101-10
Bealers.........111111101101101-12	Pelton..........111011101101111-12
Burgess.........111101110111011-12

SHOOT No. 2.—10 singles: Gummow 10, Kartenman 10, Mohr 9, Pelton 9, Sneghaugh 8, Jameson 8, Huss 8, Burgess 6, Cizek 3, Bealers 5.

SHOOT No. 3.—15 single targets: Pelton 14, Cizek 13, Jameson 12, Huss 12, Burgess 10, Kartenman 9, Sneghaugh 11.

SHOOT No. 4.—12 targets: Kartenman 11, Jameson 10, Sneghaugh 9, Mohr 11, Gummow 10, Huss 10, Bealers 9, Burgess 9, Glow 8, Pelton 8, Cizek 8.

SHOOT No. 5.—10 targets: Jameson 8, Sneghaugh 8, Gummow 8, Huss 8, Pelton 7, Burgess 8, Mohr 6, Cizek 7, Miller 8, Kartenman 3.

SHOOT No. 6.—10 singles: Jameson 10, Sneghaugh 8, Huss 9.

SHOOT No. 7.—Same again: Sneghaugh 9, Huss 10, Jameson 9.

SHOOT No. 8.—8 singles: Sneghaugh 8, Jameson 7, Huss 7.

B. D. JAMESON.

VERNON ROD AND GUN CLUB

NEW YORK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Attached please find scores made by members of the above named club at the club's monthly live bird shoot held a few days since at Dexter Park, L. I. The day was pleasant but cloudy, giving a bad light to shoot in, and a gusty wind blew across the traps, making now and then a hard left-quartering driver. The birds, on the whole, were a fair lot. "V. L. & D." John Wright was shooting a new Francotte gun for the first time, consequently he did not put up his usual score. Mr. C. A. Damon, the Western representative of the Burgess repeating gun, dropped in on us and gave an exhibition with that arm, and was the only man to make a clean score. Frank Lawrence, late of Chicago and of grass blind fame, shot with us too. The scores, each man shooting at 10 live birds:

	Yards			Yards
*H. S. Welles	28	0212211122—9	F. A. Thompson	28	1001100102—5
J. L. Bishop	26	2100121102—7	Mulchey	28	0120222222—8
K. Allen	25	2110100222—7	McAdams	25	2011012101—7
J. Wright	25	0110110001—5	*F. Lawrence	25	1211101201—8
W. H. Thompson	28	1211202211—9	Kallies	25	1110101212—8
C. C. Beveridge	25	1120102212—8	Wischerth	27	0021221222—8
J. H. Sanger	26	*221211022—8	Dr. Lanadrich	27	0111000111—6
*C. A. Damon	28	2222212211-10

* Not members of the club.

H. S. WELLES, Acting Secy.

EMERALD GUN CLUB

NEW YORK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Notwithstanding the disagreeablo, rainy weather on the day of the Emerald Gun Club's recent contest at Dexter Park, L. I., eleven men out of the thirty that participated made clean scores of ten each, and that too on good birds, which shows that the members of this club when it comes to shooting live pigeons at the trap are competent to hold their own in almost any company. The members were classified according to their proficiency, the Class AA men shooting at 30 yards rise, Class A men at 28 yards and Class B men at 25 yards rise. Each man shot at 10 single birds and the records made were as follows:

CLASS AA—30 YARDS

E. Doelnck..........2222212212 10	R. Woods........ [illegible]
J. H. Voss...........1102121112—9	J. Blotz.......... [illegible]
M. Herrington.......0022212210—7

CLASS A—28 YARDS

H. P. Fessenden....2221211122-10	G. A. Vroom [illegible]
J. Richmond.........0102222222 8	Wm. Levar [illegible]
J. Woelfel............21*2022120 7	P. Butz [illegible]
C. Washington.......1121111212-10	J. H. Moor [illegible]
Gus Nowak...........2212122112 10	F. W. Pl [illegible]
Tom Short............2112111110—9	E. Bell [illegible]
Dr. G. V. Hudson....2212022111—9	Gus Plun [illegible]
J. Maesel.............1122*11211—9	Wm. Wis [illegible] ..1010102211—7
T. Purcoll.............2111211202—9	Thos. Codey..........2212111222 10

CLASS B—25 YARDS

C. Charles...........2202001122—7	N. Maesel............0121212111—9
C. Maesel............1220012211—8	W. Amend............0201112211—8
R. Regan.............2212211121 10	B. Amend.............0111011020—6
Col. Hamilton........2021111102 8

SCOTT HAMMERLESS.

LEVENGSTON JR. VS. SWENY

Recently Harry M. Levengsion Jr., the well-known trap shot of Saratoga, N. Y., quite unexpectedly dropped in upon the Rochester (N. Y.) boys as they were having a little club shoot, and before the afternoon was far gone a quiet little race at 100 targets per man was arranged between Mr. Levengston and Mr. Sweny, the latter a member of the Rochester club. At the end of the first 25 birds the visitor was one ahead, and as both men were shooting a steady gait, excitement ran high among the Rochester contingent that had been instrumental in making the match. At the end of 50 birds Mr. Levengston had increased his lead one, and at the finish of 75 each the conditions were unchanged. The question was, could Sweny catch his opponent in the last 25 and tie the scores? All prospects of this, however, were soon blasted, for while Levengston broke his first 20 of his remaining 25 without a skip, Sweny scored only 18, which placed him four behind at the ninety-fifth round. The scores as made follow:

Levengston Jr.—
1110111101 1101111111 1111101111 1011011011 1111111111
1111111110 1111111111 1111111111 1111111111 1111111101—91

Sweny 1111111011 0111111111 0111011111 1000111111 1111111001
1111111111 1111111111 1110111111 1101111111 1111011011—87

MAHANOY CITY, PA.—The Farmers' Gun Club held its semi-monthly shoot on May 18, with the following members present: James Quirk, Harrison Ball, M. M. MacMillan, Frank Noonan, Dr. L. Weber, M. T. O'Connor, Horace Hagenbuch, Harry Krebs, B. Labows, John F. Houser, Prof. John Jones, George Goodman, Baird Snyder, Thos. Gorman, George S. Seligman, and Major Guss. The day, for trap shooting, could not have been more perfect; the sky was perfectly clear, with a gentle breeze just sufficient to carry away what little smoke is made by E. C. powder, and as the members of this club all shoot this very popular powder, we are never very much troubled with smoke. Our club is one for pleasure only; no profit to anyone, as each man pays for his targets, and a shoot for money is not allowed by the rules of the club. We find just as good an attendance, in fact better than when we shot regular sweeps. I have never known a small club yet, nor in fact a large one, that some one or two did not always rake in the pot, and when those particular ones were absent there was just a little bit of quiet rejoicing. Now this, to my mind, takes away the enjoyment of the shoot. I think the more clubs of this kind (each man pay his own bills) the better for the pleasure of the "hobby," for if any man cannot go out to the ground and enjoy himself without pocketing some other member's money, then the earlier that member associates with gamblers, the sooner he will be among his kind. But to the scores, all of which were at 25 Empire targets. We were sorry we did not have some of those on exhibition in New York, showing the faces of the "crackerjacks," but we contented ourselves with the thought that W. Fred Quimby was present in each one, hoping it would break when struck with two pellets of shot, and he had his wish, for none were picked up with more than two shot marks that were not broken. It looks to me as if the Empire people were fast reaching the top notch.

EVENT No. 1.—25 Empire targets, unknown angles: James Quirk 23, Harrison Ball 21, M. M. MacMillan 19, Frank Noonan 20, Dr. L. Weber 20, M. T. O'Connor 25, Horace Hagenbuch 17, Harry Krebs 18, B. Labows 24, John F. Houser (Uncle John) 1, Prof. Jones 16, Geo. Goodman 18, Baird Snyder Jr. 22, Thos. Gorman 15, Geo. Seligman 20, Major Guss 23.

EVENT No. 2.—Same as before: Quirk 20, Ball 19, MacMillan 24, Noonan 17, Weber 18, O'Connor 20, Hagenbuch 18, Krebs 20, Labows 18, Jones 19, Goodman 24.

EVENT No. 3.—Same again: Quirk 23, MacMillan 21, Ball 23, Gorman 24, Goodman 25, Snyder 24, O'Connor 20, Jones 25, Weber 19, Hagenbuch 25.

EVENT No. 4.—Same and last.

Quirk	1111110011 1110111111 11111—22
Ball	1111101111 1101111100 11111—21
MacMillian	1111111111 1111111100 01101—21
Noonan	1111110110 1101110101 11111—20
Weber	1010101111 1111111100 11101—19
O'Connor	1111111011 1011101010 11110—18
Gorman	1111111110 1111110111 11111—23
Snyder	1111111111 1111111111 11111—25

The guns used were the Smith, Greener and the A. J. Aubrey hammerless. And by the way this latter is a new gun on the market, and a very fine one made by the Elmira Arms Co., Elmira, N. Y., by Mr. Aubrey, formerly superintendent of the Wilkesbarre Guu Co. Speaking of guns brings to my mind the remark of a veteran recently: "There has never been, and I do not believe ever will be, made a gun that will stand wear and tear like the L. C. Smith," and I believe he hit the mark very nearly right, too, for they have been subjected to much more severe tests than any other gun of American make.

M. M. MACMILLAN.

PADUCAH, KY.—I herewith inclose scores made a few days since by members of the Paducah Gun Club. The shooting was over five traps and governed by National Shooting Association rules.

SHOOT No. 1.—25 single targets, $1 entrance, two moneys.

R. A. Brudas	0111111011 1111110111 01110—20
H. E. Craft	1111111010 1011111101 10110—19
Rawleigh	1011011010 1101111110 11101—18
Jas. Lang	0101111001 1101111111 11111—20
C. L. Robertson	1111001011 1111111111 11101—21
C. K. Wheeler	1111011011 1010111101 11010—18
M. Ingram	1101110111 1110111111 01111—21
Robertson	1111111101 0111111100 10111—20

C. L. Robertson and Ingram shot off tie for first money on 5 birds each: Ingram 5, Robertson 4; Brudas, Lang and Geo. Robertson shot off tie for second money on 5 birds each: Robertson 5, Lang 4, Brudas 4.

SHOOT No. 2.—25 single targets, $2 entrauce, two moneys: R. A. Brudas 20, I. Young 18, M. Ingram 22, C. L. Robertson 20, H. E. Craft 20, Jas. Lang 20, Geo. Rawleigh 22, Geo. Robertson 22, Ingram, Geo. Robertson and Rawleigh shot off tie for first money on 5 birds each: Ingram 5, Robertson 5, Rawleigh 4. Ingram and Robertson then shot at 5 birds each: Robertson 5, Ingram 4. Owing to the lateness of the hour second money was divided.

SHOOT No. 3.—Same as before: W. E. Cochran 21, J. M. Lang 18, Clem Whitimore 16, I. Young 19, Fred Halley 18, S. A. Fowler 22, Geo. Robertson 19, C. L. Robertson 20, T. J. Moore 17, M. Ingram 20, J. C. Piper 19, L. P. Ogg 16.

SHOOT No. 4.—Same again, $1 entrance, two moneys: Geo. Robertson 21, S. A. Fowler 21, M. Ingram 23, J. C. Piper 18, T. J. Moore 18, W. E. Cochrane 22, C. L. Robertson 22, I. Young 19, Jas. Lang 19, Whitimore 18.

T. J. MOORE, Secy.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—At the recent monthly shoot of the Brunswick Gun Club, each man shooting at 25 single targets, known traps, unknown angles, scores as follows were made:

T. Fisher	1110111011 1111111101 00101—19
H. H. Stevens	1111110101 1101111111 11111—22
A. L. Mundy	001100101 [illegible] 17
W. E. Sperling	1010111110 111 [illegible]
V. S. Voorhees	1111111110 111 [illegible]
I. Hoagland	0110111110 111 [illegible]
E. Reynolds	1110001110 0 [illegible]

H. B. Smith.....0111110111 0101100001 10101—15
C. Oakley.....1111111111 1111110111 11111—24
S. Randall.....1110111001 1110111011 10010—17
R. C. Nicholas.....0001000101 1000010001 11011—10
[illegible].....1101101000 1101100101 01100—13
[illegible] Carpenter Jr.....1011100100 0111101001 11011—15
[illegible].....1100100111 0001101111 10001—14
[illegible].....1101000000 0010101011 00100— 9
[illegible].....0011010000 0111101111 10100—13
H. H. STEVENS, Secy.

N. [illegible] I inclose herewith the scores made in h[illegible] members of the Louisiana Gun Club, and [illegible] club is making gradual and very satisfactory [illegible]

SHOOT NO. 1.—Trophy contest, 25 single targets, dead bird allowance given to the less proficient shooters.

	Targets added
Jung	1..	1011111111 1011110110 11111—22
Nap	0..	1110011101 0111111110 11111—20
Miller	3..	0110100010 0000111110 11111—17
P. N. Nott	4..	1100101011 1101111011 11011—22
Faure	5..	1001111111 0011011010 10111—22
Macmurdo	4..	0110011010 0111101101 10111—20
Ed Nott	2..	1111000111 1111111111 11111—24
De Blanc	3..	0010110011 0111111001 10111—19
Saucier	4..	0101011101 1001100101 11111—20
Benedict	3..	1111111101 1101110111 10111—24

Messrs. P. N. Nott and Benedict tied for first and second prizes under rules, and divided. In the shoot off for trophy heat, Mr. Nott scored 24 to Mr. Benedict's 21.

SHOOT NO. 2.—25 singles per man, added handicap: Jung 21, De Blanc 23, Saucier 19, P. N. Nott 25, Consln 21.

PERCY S. BENEDICT, Secy.

ALEXANDRIA, MINN.—The scores appended were made recently by members of the Park Region Shooting Club, each man shooting at 15 single targets, American Shooting Association rules to govern:

Wright	110101011001111-10	Danda	001100111111111-11
Lundgreu	111001101110111-11	Nelson	011011010111111-11
Ward	011110011001011—9	Stiern	111111011111011-13
Johnson	110111111011111-13	Mitson	100111101111011-11
H. Whitcomb	010011101111111-11	Cowing	001001110101101—8
Van Dyke	011001011001001—7	Good	010100011100101—7
Tenger	111011110101101-11	Al Lundgren	110101001100001—7
Unnmh	101010001101000—6	G. F. Whitcomb	100000001001001—4
McNiel	111111101011011-12	Campbell	111111011111000-11

SHOOT NO. 2.—Contest for club medal shot at a later date, 15 single targets per man: G. G. S. Campbell 6, J. E. Lundgren 12, E. P. Wright 4, H. Whitcomb 4, A. C. Tenger 2, A. V. Lindquist 6, R. J. McNiel 2, J. B. Cowing 10, Nick Stiern 11, C. Johnson 11, A. O. Nelson 9, W. B. Mitson 6, J. H. Van Dyke 7, P. O. Unnmb 4, Fred Campbell 3, G. B. Ward 7, D. G. Walker 5.

J. E. L.

BRAINERD, MINN.—The regular shoot of the Brainerd Gun Club on May 22, at 15 singles per man, resulted in the following scores:

Smith	111101101011111-12	McCabe	000001000000000—1
Keene	111001101001011—9	McIntosh	000000000100000—1
White	111100111000111-10	Westfall	111110011011111-12
Mantor	110111101110110-11	Casey	000111000001001—5
Veon	101111010000011—8	Kirkwood	100100010101110—7
Tache	000010000100101—4	Courtney	011011100001111—9
Ingersoll	000101101000010—5	Groves	011010011000111—8

Owing to a variety of reasons but a small portion of the members of the club appeared at the club grounds in time for the regular shoot on May 29. A much larger attendance was visible later in the day, however, for practice and fancy shooting. The following scores were made at the regular shoot, each man shooting at 15 single targets: Veon 9, Carey 11, Tache 2, Mantor 14, Smith 15, La Bar 7.

SECRETARY.

DUNKIRK, N. Y.—I send herewith the scores made recently by members of the Lake Erie Rod and Gun Club. The day was perfection for trap shooting, being 75° in the shade, and as a result the shooting was some better than in the past. The attendance also was good and everybody was in a pleasant frame of mind. Several prominent sportsmen from neighboring counties were present on this occasion and were so well pleased with everything that they added their names to the club roster. As a result of the organization of this club shooting matters have taken on new life in this section, while two new clubs have been organized in Chatauqua County during the past week. The scores made during the day were as follows:

SHOOT NO. 1.—75 single targets: Ware 51, Green 44.

SHOOT NO. 2.—50 singles: Schumacker 26, Clark 24, Porter 23, Breslin 21.

SHOOT NO. 3.—Sisson 14, Barnum 10, Johnson 9, Sackett 9, Cochran 6.

SHOOT NO. 4.—5 pairs per man: Ware 8, Green 7, Schumacker 5.

D. W. B.

MICHIGAN CITY, MISS.—Scores as given below were made by members of the Michigan City Gun Club in practice, the less proficient members being given a dead bird allowance.

SHOOT NO. 1.—Medal contest, 25 single targets per man.

	Targets allowed
Chas. W. Tway	0	0101111111 1110111110 10111—20
Hardaway	3..	1000111000 1110001001 00101—14
Brewer	5..	0011110110 0111011011 00011—20
Aldrich	5..	1101101111 0001111101 01110—22
Dr. Phillips	5..	1000000001 1001001100 00000—11
McCauley	7..	0001101011 1100101011 10111—22
Brown	7..	1110000000 0001010010 01000—14
Love	7..	0000000000 0000000000 00000— 7

SHOOT NO. 2.—25 singles, sweepstakes: Hardaway 18, Brewer 17, Aldrich 10, Dr. Phillips 17, McCauley 20, W. P. Mason 14, H. W. Hardaway 8.

CHAS. W. TWAY, Secy.

OLNEYVILLE, R. I.—I inclose herewith scores recently made by members of the Rhode Island Trap Shooting Association.

SHOOT NO. 1.—25 single targets per man, everything known.

J. F. Russell	1111111111 1111111101 11101—23
S. F. Wilson	0011111101 1110111110 11110—20
W. H. Sheldon	1010110101 1111111111 11111—21
W. H. King	0111001101 0001110011 11011—15
H. Swindell	1011110010 1110001100 11101—15

SHOOT NO. 2.—7 singles, all straightaway: W. Richards 7, Wilson 4, P. H. Randall 6, Sheldon 5, F. Dickerson 2.

SHOOT NO. 3.—7 singles, unknown angles: Wilson 6, Richards 6, Sheldon 5.

SHOOT NO. 4.—7 targets, "walk-up:" Richards 4, Sheldon 4, Randall 4, Wilson 1.

SHOOT NO. 5.—25 singles each man, unknown angles: Swindell 16, W. H. King 11, J. F. Russell 22, S. F. Wilson 14.

RHODA.

PUEBLO, COLO.—Scores as follows were made by members of the Pueblo Gun Club in a recent contest for the Otero prize:

	Birds shot at
Belville	27..	1010001011 0001100100 1000100.....—10
West	28..	1111101111 1111010011 11111101....—23
Killin	28..	1011101011 1111111001 01011101....—20
Sherman	31..	0010011100 1011000001 0001100111 0—13
Morse	29..	1111101111 0111111110 111111111...—26

L. G. Morse won the prize.

In a subsequent contest for the club medals, each man shooting at 15 singles and 5 pairs, scores as follows were made: H. E. Chubbuck 20, J. M. Killin 16, C. F. Belville 21, H. M. Morse 11, L. G. Morse 19, "Henly" 13, "Early" 10, "Shorty" 13. C. F. Belville won medal.

SECRETARY.

UTICA, N. Y.—Herewith please find scores made by members of the Oneida County Sportsmen's Association at a recent weekly shoot, each man shooting at 25 single targets and each, according to his proficiency in the use of the scattergun, being given a dead bird allowance:

	Targets added
Bremer	4..	1111011111 0111100111 10111—24
Pfeiffer	3..	1111101101 1110111111 11111—25
Hayes	3..	0110101110 1111111111 11101—23
Smythe	0..	1100101111 1111111001 01111—19
Smith	3..	1100010011 1111111111 11110—22
Scott	1..	0111111010 1110101110 01011—18
Dexter	3..	1110110101 0w.....—10
Cummings	8..	1110110111 1110110111 11010—25

A. C. SIEBOTH.

WARREN, O.—Scores as follows were made by members of the Warren Gun Club in a regular club contest, each man shooting at 25 single targets, known trap, unknown angles:

C. L. Schoonover	1111011100 1011111101 11111—20
E. A. Blery	0000000001 0010000000 01000— 3
G. H. Jones	1111111111 1111110101 01111—22
R. H. Ewalt	1111111011 1111011010 10101—19
W. H. Abel	0001000001 1011011001 10111—12
A. J. Sutcliffe	1011110111 0100101101 11111—18
W. A. Neracher	1101111111 1111011111 11110—22
Z. F. Craver	1110110110 1001000111 11011—16
H. B. Perkins Jr.	0111000111 1000011011 01110—14

H. B. PERKINS JR., Secy.

ASHLAND, WIS.—The following scores were made recently by members of the Ashland Gun Club, each man shooting at 25 Empire targets: Leo Braun 19, Sebe Malmberg 16, Thorne 21, Geo. Briggs 19, Wm. Heim 13, Dr. Brann 25, Mathews 15, Fred Perrin 13, Chas. Griffiths 16, Sam Ranwick 22, Wm. Briggs 20, Ed Kepler 21, Con Niederhofer 13.

E. M. KEPLER, Secy.

FANWOOD, N. J.—A match race was shot on the grounds of the Climax Gun Club on May 30 between Geo. Squires and John Bonner, at 25 live birds, $50 a side. Neaf Apgar was the referee and D. Darby scorer. Squires won by the following score:

Geo. Squires	1010201110 1011112011 21102—18
John Bonner	2212121002 2210*11000 21101—17

Answers to Correspondents

We are willing always to answer any question that we can answer, and prescribe for dogs or other animals in these columns, but we cannot answer questions or prescribe by mail. In all instances where it is necessary that a sick animal should be prescribed for by mail, we refer the owner to Professor R. J. Withers, No. 627 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Cal., to whom one dollar must be inclosed to pay for his services.

KENNEL

J. F. C., Ridgetown, Ont.—Ans.—(1) A fistulous condition due to constipation; open the abscess on either side of the rectum and wash out with three grains of sulphate of zinc to one ounce of water; give one ounce of castor-oil and twenty drops of cascara segrada for five consecutive mornings. (2) Probably due to rheumatism; give one half ounce of castor-oil and five drops of the fluid extract of cascara segrada for six consecutive days; also give one dessertspoonful of the following, three times a day: Iodide of potash fifty grains, fluid extract of colchicum five drops, water to make four ounces.

J. J. S., Detroit, Mich.—Ans.—It would depend upon whether any such agreement was made beforehand. Your bitch may be barren, and the owner of the stud dog having permitted the return service it cannot be said that you are "entitled" to the use of the dog for a third time. If the owner of the dog is generously inclined and his dog is not used much he might perhaps allow you to send another bitch free of charge, but you cannot claim any right to do so unless such an arrangement had been agreed upon in the first place.

E. L. B., Atlanta, Ga.—Ans.—(1) It does not follow that a cur got at your bitch, but if the puppies are mongrels you will know it by this time. If they are not it is certainly strange that all the puppies should be solid black, though one or two such in a litter would cause no comment. (2) If the puppies are all right in other respects you might rear them if you feel so disposed, but their color would be very much against them. We regret the delay in answering your questions, which accidently got mislaid.

W. G., Seaford, Del.—Ans.—It looks very much like a case of malignant distemper, if so treatment is of but very little benefit. Liberal doses of quinine, with alcoholic stimulants, are the remedies that give the best results. The patient must be supported with raw eggs and milk, beaten together and fed three or four times daily; after each feeding give three to five grains of goldenseale pepsin. In your case give three grains of quinine every six hours.

C. B. G., Ypsilanti, Mich.—Ans.—(1) The secretary, Mr. H. W. Smith, Worcester, Mass., will give you the information about membership fee, etc. (2) Not in this country. There is in England; the Fox Terrier Chronicle, published monthly.

W. E. B., Findlay, O.—Ans.—There is a famous English setter named Rowdy Rod, but there is no pointer dog of that name in the stud book.

D., Augusta, Ga.—Ans.—(1) It is possible that the shavings caused death. (2) From seven to ninety days.

S. C., Allegheny, Pa.—Ans.—It is impossible to say what the result will be.

TRAP

12-GAUGE, Boonesboro, Ia.—In shooting at live birds, American Shooting Association rules, I see by the AMERICAN FIELD score hook the dead line is thirty yards straight back from the center trap, and that that is also the shooting stake for 10-gange guns, and if a man shooting a 12-gauge gun enters he stands at 28 yards. Must the man using the 12-gange gun kill the bird inside of the 28 yards, or is his dead line 30 yards, the same as the man shooting the 10-gauge? Ans.—The dead line is the same for all guns, 30 yards distant from the center trap.

GAME AND SHOOTING

ITHACA HAMMERLESS, Koro, Ind.—(1) What are the dimensions of the gun Dr. Carver generally uses in his big pigeon matches, his Cashmore especially? (2) Is the Cashmore gun superior to our best American-made guns? Ans.—(1) The Cashmore gun that Dr. Carver has shot most of his matches with is a 12-gange weighing 7½ to 7¾ pounds, about 2½-inch drop and 14¼-inch stock. (2) Dr. Carver evidently thinks it is or he would have an American-made gun, for he prides himself on having as good as the next man in anything going.

Club Elections

CLUB ELECTIONS.—Secretaries and other officers of clubs not having previously done so will confer a favor by sending us the names of all such organizations, with a list of the officers elected for the current year.

AT the recent annual meeting of the Norwalk (O.) Shooting Association the following officers were elected for one year: President, G. F. Titus; secretary, C. F. Stewart; treasurer, C. A. Paul; assistant secretary and captain of the trap shooting contingent, Frank Reilly; assistant secretary and captain of the rifle team, W. H. Cleveland.

THE Wessagussett Fish and Gun Club was organized at South Weymouth, Mass., on May 22, and the following gentlemen elected officers for the ensuing year: President, F. C. Blanchard; vice-president, W. T. Simpson; secretary, C. H. Tinkham; treasurer, G. W. Conant; directors, E. H. Belcher and B. B. Burbank.

Information Wanted

WILL some reader of the AMERICAN FIELD please inform me through these columns where I can find good woodcock shooting and fishing during the month of August, either in Michigan, Wisconsin or Minnesota?

Cincinnati, O. CINCINNATI.

Amusements

SCHILLER THEATER.—This week, commencing June 8, Harry B. Smith's great Summer spectacle, "Little Robinson Crusoe," by a large and talented company, with Eddie Foy, Marie Dressler, Adele Farrington, Sadie MacDonald, Frank H. White, Douglas Flint, Babette Rodney, Ollie Redpath and the Crawford brothers in the cast.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—Crowded houses greet the continued success of the new extravaganza, "Aladdin Jr." This week, the first appearance here of the "London Idol," Miss Vesta Tilley, in a selection of character songs.

McVICKER'S THEATER.—Fourth week of the great scenic melodrama, "The Cotton King;" usual matinees. A good reserved seat for fifty cents.

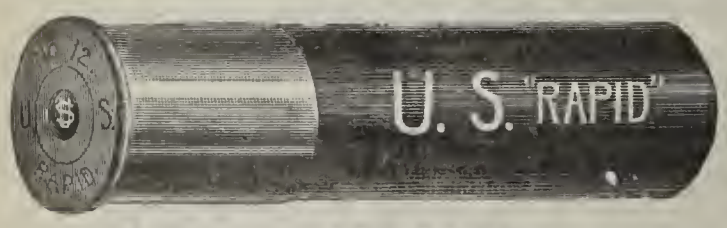
GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Last week but two of Hoyt's latest success, "A Black Sheep;" Otis Harlan as "Hot Stuff:" usual matinees.

MADISON STREET OPERA HOUSE.—The great Stanley Burlesque Co.; two big shows daily.

HAYMARKET THEATER.—Great attraction; "The Birth of Venus;" usual matinees.

THE LINCOLN.—"Chris and Lena." Next week—"An American Hero."

U. S. RAPID



SHOT SHELL

FOR NITRO POWDERS.

Penetration increased with pattern 15 per cent improved. Results same with every shell. None so regular ever produced before. Head of shell and battery cup one piece of metal. No gas escape, no balling of shot, no upsetting of charge.

AGENTS:
U. T. HUNGERFORD [illegible] St., New York City.
[illegible] Co.
[illegible] San Francisco, Cal.

U. S. CARTRIDGE CO., Lowell, Mass.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Advertisers are respectfully requested to observe the following rules governing the insertion of advertisements in these columns:

CLASSIFICATION.—Strictly kennel advertisements—those which relate exclusively to dogs and to nothing else—cannot be placed under headings of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange," but are subject to classification only under their proper kennel headings. When two or more breeds of dogs are mentioned in one advertisement, it destroys the possibility of giving it a distinctive heading and it is therefore classified under "Miscellaneous." For this reason it is well to advertise each breed separately.

If stud notices are included in advertisements of dogs for sale the classification given will be "Miscellaneous." Stud notices should be separate and distinct from other advertisements so as not to conflict with proper classification.

The departments of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" are reserved for advertisements relating in some way to sportsmen's goods or other articles of merchandise.

RATES.—The rate for advertisements under 'Wanted," "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" is 3 cents per word each insertion. The name, address, initials and abbreviations are included and count as words.

The rate for advertisements under kennel headings is 25 cents per line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each additional consecutive insertion. Estimate seven words to a line unless the words are unusually long. If display type is used the rate is $3.50 per inch for the first insertion and $2.50 per inch for each additional consecutive insertion. Special rates are given for displayed advertisements running three months or longer. Schedule will be mailed on application.

Remittances to cover full cost should invariably accompany advertisements. If too much is remitted we will refund you what is overpaid.

Advertisers will favor us greatly by writing their advertisements plainly, using separate sheets of paper. Copy should reach us by Tuesday of each week to insure insertion in that week's issue.

WANTED

Advertisements under this head inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement. See "Notice to Advertisers."

I WILL GIVE $25 and one puppy for a Go don setter bitch; will breed to Watt Mouteith's celebrated Gordon setter dog Duke; she must be broken and standard bred. Address H. C. MALCOLM, The Portland, Portland, Ore. 23*

WANTED—To correspond with parties wishing good camping ground and black bass fishing. THORNE GRANT, Litchfield, Conn. 23*

WANTED—A well bred, evenly marked orange and white pointer puppy, bitch preferred. DR. DANFORD, Trimble, O. 23*

WANTED—A light 10-gauge hammerless imported gun, cheap. Address CALVIN S. SMITH, 307 Tacoma Bldg., City. 23

WANTED—Live pigeons; must be old birds; squabs not wanted. Address JOHN WATSON, Grand Crossing, Ill. 23-21-tf

WANTED—Sportsmen who want an outing to send for pamphlet of Nimrod Hall, Va. Apply MANAGER. 3*

WANTED—Thoroughbred bulldog puppy; give pedigree. L. B. FRENCH, 128 La Salle St., Chicago. 23*

LIVE foxes wanted. Address H. F. WARNEKE, Aiken, S. C. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

EXCHANGE OR SALE — Three handsome pointer bitches; in breeding, quality, etc., they are the equal of any in America; all three guaranteed in whelp to Royal Kent; will take hammerless gun or cash. Address JOS. R. TRISSLER, Lancaster, Pa. 43-23-tf

AT A SACRIFICE, or for anything that can be easily converted into cash, the great money maker, the trotting dog Bird, bike, sulky and harness. E. W. JESTER, 7th and Jackson Sts Wilmington, Del. 23

FOR SALE—English pointer Spotwood (No. 35280), 16 months old, or will trade for a good bicycle. Send for full pedigree and description to W. W. COLES, Kokomo, Ind. 43-21-tf

EXCHANGE—Collection Indian relics, stone hatchets, spear heads and arrows, for nitro bore trap gun, standard make. ED. SHAW, Cass St., Joliet, Ill. 23

FOR SALE—Or exchange, modern marine engines and boilers, both new and second-hand. Address THATCHER A. PARKER, Terre Haute, Ind. 43-13-tf

WILL EXCHANGE brace of Irish setter puppies, well bred, for, or buy, a 10 or 12 gauge hammerless gun. S. J. HARRY, Box 1016, Du Bois, Pa. 23*

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Francotte hammer pigeon gun, 12-ga., 30-inch Siemans-Martin steel barrels, weight 7 lbs. 14 oz., drop at butt 2½ inches, at comb 1½ inches, stock 14¾ inches; cost $275, price $150. L. C. Smith hammerless ejector, two sets Damascus barrels, 12 gauge, 30 and 28 inch barrels, weight 7¼ and 7¼ lbs., 2⅞ at butt, 1⅞ at comb, stock 14⅛, field barrels cylinder; cost $200, price $100, in double leather muttonleg case. These are high grade guns, in first-class order and practically good as new; there is more value for the money than can be had anywhere. J. O'H. DENNY, Ligonier, Pa. 24

FOR SALE—The auxiliary naphtha cruiser Etcetera; deck 30 feet, beam 8 feet, draft 3 feet; yawl rigged, large cabin, closet, ice chest and awnings; the most complete outfit for cruising. For further particulars address J. H. STEVENSON, Fremont, Ohio. 26

NOTHING like Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure; keeps your dog's coat in prime condition; not greasy or poisonous; ask your dealer; kills fleas, etc.; 50c. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia. Pedigree blanks for the asking. 43-12-tf

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—18-foot cat boat, 6½ feet beam, 225 feet canvas, complete with all rigging, ballast, air chambers, cushions, oars, sail cover, etc.; built in 1894; good as new; boat is now at McHenry, Ill. HERBERT OLIVER, Hastings, Neb. 23*

MONGOLIAN PHEASANT EGGS for sale, $2.50 per 13, carefully packed, with instructions. MISS SUSIE CROSBY, Washington, Pa. 23

FOR SALE—New Stevens ideal rifle, .32-35, with Malcolm telescope loader, 50 shells, $25. R. WILKINS, Albion, N. Y. 23*

PHEASANT EGGS (English and Mongolian). Address PLEASANT RIDGE PHEASANTRY, Pleasant Ridge, O. 24

HIGH-CLASS pedigree blanks, 7 generations, bond paper. CHAUTAUQUA KENNELS, Box 914, Chicago. 42-19-tf

CRUISING steam yacht, 60 foot, for sale or charter. CAPT. ROBERTS, 26 St., Brooklyn, N. Y. 23*

PEDIGREE BLANKS—15 for 10 cents. REPORTER, Wellsville, N. Y. 41-26-eow-tf

BALLARD target rifle and outfit. Address VARNUM, Vassar, Mich. 23*

PEDIGREE BLANKS — J. S. C. THOMPSON, Manhattan, Kan. 40-17-tf

FOR SALE—Live red foxes. ROBERT WOODS, Aberdeen, S. D. 24*

WHERE TO GO

ATTENTION
Bass Fishermen!
THE ST. CLAIR FLATS

Is conceded by all to be the only place where the "gamy small mouth" can be caught during the whole Summer months. STAR ISLAND is right in the midst of these famous fishing grounds, and is the most delightful Summer Resort on the Great Lakes. Hotel accommodations for 300 guests. Special rates for families. For illustrated 32-page book address JAMES SLOCUM, Prop., Star Island House, via Detroit, Mich. 44 16

Warren White Sulphur Springs,

C. W. CULLEN & SON, Owners and Prop'rs,

Cullen Post Office, Virginia.

On top of the mountains; elevation 2,100 feet. Variety of waters. Only one mile from the Southern Railroad, and convenient to others. Good shooting and trout and bass fishing.

Moderate terms. Season opens May 15. 6

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

AT $10 each, one dog and bitch puppy, whelped December 19, 1894, chest w. and t., blood of Roderigo, Paul Gladstone and Dashing Berwyn, large, healthy and intelligent; have been shot over afield, show good range and retrieve well for six-months-old puppies; if not satisfactory upon receipt they can be returned, less express charges; a few black, white and tan puppies, whelped March 28, by Rigo's Rod (36908)—Lula W; $5 each if taken at once. KEY CITY KENNELS, Dubuque, Ia. 43 21-tf

FOR SALE—Or trade, six blue-blooded black, white and tan English setter puppies two months old (three dogs and three bitches), sired by Ned T (No. 31588), out of Queen Barre (No. 31487); no better hunting stock, just right for Fall work; those desiring something choice here is the opportunity. J. W. BARRE, Louisiana, Mo. 23*

I HAVE for sale setter puppies by Count Roderigo out of Ben Hill, Paul Gladstone, Antonio and Roderigo bitches, ranging from 8 to 12 weeks of age; price $20 for dogs, $15 for bitches, subject to the usual conditions upon which I sell. OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 42-25-tf

FOR SALE—Puppies and young dogs by Gladstone's Boy out of my best brood bitches. Also several high-bred brood bitches and broken dogs. Write for what you want. No trouble to answer letters and furnish information. J. SHELLEY HUDSON, Covington, Ky. 42-17-tf

BARGAINS—To close out at once, kennel of setters; trained and untrained dogs, two bitches in whelp, puppies two to ten months old; all high-class and full pedigreed; write for what you want, they must all go at some price. CHAS. CUSTER, Pontiac, Ill. 26*

FOR SALE—English setters, Gladstone's Boy—Speckle Gown (mother of Tremont), 75 per cent. Gladstone Sue and 25 per cent. Count Noble; best bred puppies in the world at panic prices. J. D. POSTON & CO., 853 Champion Ave., Columbus, Ohio. 24

CH. ANTONIO—A young bitch by this celebrated sire and from an equally well-bred d m, age most suitable for work coming season. For a low price and full particulars address G. G. WILLIAMSON, Muncie, Ind. 23*

FOR SALE—Three bitches by Ruddy—Nat's Hazel, she Royal Gladstone—Fanny D, she Cincinnatus—Rod's Queen; whelped March 13, 1895. GEO. KLIEVES, Wheeling, W. Va. 23*

FOR SALE—English setter puppies whelped March 27, 1895; also a high-bred brood bitch and broken dogs. For pedigrees, etc., address LOT L BAIRD, Parsons, Kan. 23*

FOR SALE—Puppies whelped March 14, by Dashing Count—Rod's Fanette, she Roderigo—Fanette, she by Sportsman; price $15 each. WM. NEW, Philipsburg, Mont. 44-3

FOR SALE—B., w. and t English setter puppies, whelped March 2, by King Rea (35705)—Bessie Ray (19361). Address ADEMAR RUFLE, No. Manchester, Ind. 23

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

ENGLISH SETTERS

GLADSTONE'S BOY—Nat's Queen puppies for sale cheap; whelped March 6, 1895; all evenly marked and in fine condition. C. COOPER, Rochester, Ind. 23*

THOROUGHBRED English setter puppies, sire Clive B (36438), dam Thistle's Florence (36831); dogs $8; bitches $7. E. L. IVES, Manning, Ia. 24*

CH. ANTONIO—Monk's Twilight puppies, b, w. and t., whelped March 11; only $15, worth $50. J. A. STAGG, Harris, Ind. 24

BROKEN and unbroken setters at bargain prices to close them out. C. W. HUGHES, Fostoria, O. 23

A BARGAIN—Trained b, w. and t. English setter dog and bitch. C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill 24

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of English setters. New Castle, Pa. 43 18-tf

POINTERS

FOR SALE—The thoroughbred pointer dog Victor S (36660), thoroughly broken, has the speed and endurance of a racehorse and is as stanch as a rock; 2½ years, 60 pounds, lemon and white, very evenly marked, attracts everybody's attention by his beauty; house broken, good watch dog; will sell to quick buyer at less than half the cost of breaking; I have too many dogs and young stock coming on; photographs sent to intending buyers. W. B. ALLEN, Bloomsburg, Pa. 23*

FOR SALE—I still have a brace of Strideaway—Hops II pointer puppies, born January 4; great Derbys for next year; Hops was a sister to Rip Rap; I sold the other litter at $100 each; will sell these at $50 each as I have no room for them. P. T. MADISON, Indianapolis, Ind. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, the l. and w. pointer stud dog Col. Kent (31054), three years old, by Ch. King of Kent—Bang's Mollie, a winner on the bench, sires grand puppies. S. A. NOFTZGER, North Manchester, Ind. 43 21-tf

AT $10 each, two as finely bred pointers as live, 9 months old, liver and white, just right to break, by Beppo III (7832)—Belle of Ossian (31895): field and bench winners on both sides. C. A. PAETZEL, Hope, Ind. 43-18-tf

FIRST CHECK for $15 takes beautiful pointer bitch by Ch. Lord Graphic, a litter sister to two first prize winners; will be in season soon; no use for her. LOCK BOX 427, Odell, Ill. 23

IF you want pointers for 1896 Derby entries, why not buy the best? I have them by Ch. Rip Rap and Strideaway, out of my best bitches. C. A. PAETZEL, Hope, Ind. 43-23-tf

CH. KING OF KENT liver and white puppies, out of field trial winner Pearl's Fan, whelped April 1, 1895, for sale cheap. L. STUEHMER, Emmetsburg, Iowa. 23*

FOR SALE—A handsome lemon, white and ticked pointer 14 months old, gilt-edge pedigree; price $20. Address W. M. GEIGER, Catawissa, Pa. 23*

GUARANTEE and trial given of high-class pointers; thoroughly trained by professional; prices right. CRITERION KENNEL, Odell, Ill. 43 22-tf

LITTER of six pointer puppies two months old, bred in the purple; will sell at half price. ROGER GIBSON, Manassas, Va. 23*

FOR SALE—Dell D (26769), black and white pointer bitch 3 years old, by Osborne Ale. GEO. KEMP, Zanesville, O. 23*

POINTER BITCH Maud Kent, full sister to Ch Duke Kent II, at a great bargain. C. W. HUGHES, Fostoria, O. 23

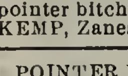
WRITE C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill., for bargain in thoroughbred pointer dog. 25

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of pointers. New Castle, Pa. 43-18-tf

TERRIERS

CLEARING SALE of high-class fox terriers; noted stud dog and prize winner Beverwyck Kingpin, by Starden's King; dog puppy, 10 weeks, by Venio—Venoya, by D'Orsay—Velzie, by Venio—Verena; several prize winning brood bitches, smooth and wire, just coming in season; photos sent. A. A. MACDONALD, 118 Dupont St., Toronto, Can. 25

FOR SALE—Well-bred fox terrier bitch just served by Rustic Packman, one of Warren Safeguard's best sons; also grand young dog and bitch by Blemton Stipend. RUSTIC KENNELS, 1830 State St., Chicago. 24*



Young Stock of Finest Breeding in the World. Most Successful on Bench and in Field. Write for prices. G. W. Hamilton, Mgr., Centreville, Kan.

FOX TERRIER brood bitches and puppies for sale, the property of Messrs. L. & W. Rutherfurd. For stud cards, etc., address DONALD MUNRO, Manager, Allamuchy, Warren Co., N. J. 39 7-tf

FOR SALE—At greatly reduced prices, several highly bred fox terriers, including two bitches in whelp to champion bred dogs. MAD RIVER FOX TERRIER KENNELS, Springfield, O. 23

WIRE-HAIRED fox terriers and black and tan terriers, best breeding; mature stock and puppies. ROCHELLE KENNELS, New Rochelle, N.Y. 43-18-tf

BULL TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. F. L. DEVER, 316 Illinois Ave., Peoria, Ill. 43-17-tf

FOR SALE—Skye terriers, $10, for Christmas; Yorkshires in February. SEEBACH, Peru, Ill. 43-19-eow-tf

FOR SALE—Skye terriers $10, for Christmas; Yorkshires in February. SEEBACH, Peru, Ill. tf-e-o-w

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this h[…] cents a line for the first insertion, and […] each subsequent insertion. If disp[…] inch for first, and $2.50 for each […] tion.

BEAGLES

WHEN plugs are as good as […] rat fur as good as seal; when ca[…] as good as silk and other papers equal the FIELD: when curs are as good as thoroughbreds, and this you will not allow, then other strains of beagles may be as good as the Glenrose strains are now. Several superb bitches of these strains in whelp to our celebrated studs; also young stock for sale cheap. GLENROSE BEAGLE KENNELS, Orland, Me. 43-19 tf

HAVING just purchased from Mr. Geo. W. Proctor his entire kennel of beagles we are enabled to offer some of the grandest bargains ever made; have 9 grand bitches in whelp and 14 others due in season, besides five good stud dogs and puppies and young stock galore; prices right and satisfaction guaranteed; state wants. GLENROSE BEAGLE KENNELS, Orland, Me. 23

BEAGLES—Have now ready for mailing cabinet size photographs of Ch Frank Forest, Ch. Roy K, Lee III, Directum, Base, Buckshot, Ch. Lonely, Ch. Lou, Norah K and Trillah at $1 per set; extra large photo "Dinner Hour at Rockland Beagle Kennels," $1 extra; price is cost; beagles for sale. H. L. KREUDER, Nanuet, N. Y. 23

BROKEN BEAGLES, 1½ to 3 years old, registered, from the best blood, straight in every particular; no time to hunt them; prices low; write me. A. D. HEALD, West Chester, Pa. 23

PEDIGREED English beagle hounds for sale; send for new catalogue. STANDARD KENNEL, Georgetown, N. Y. 23*

GREAT DANES

HERE THEY ARE!

I have a fine, healthy litter of Great Dane puppies, 6 weeks old, out of champion bitch by Earl of Wurtemburg's litter brother (Count Frederick), and if taken at once will sell for $35 and $10 each. F. W. WHITE, Box 880, Worcester, Mass. 23

FOR SALE—Two stud dogs and three beautiful litters of brindled, black and fawn puppies, all whelped first week in April by Moreau (31162) and Harras (29298), out of Cora (27788), Cordelia (34241) and Dido (34242); price $30 to $40: expect two more litters in June. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 S. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22-tf

FINE LITTER of Danes by Victor H (Hector Nero—Irena) and Bella Moreau (Moreau—Queen Hanno). EUSTACE SMALLWOOD, Arcadia, Neb. 25*

GREAT DANES—Ch. Major McKinley's puppies, out of Jessie L, whelped April 14; they are beauties. F. L. JENNINGS, River Forest, Ill. 24*

THREE very fine one-year-old Danes—Chig. Neverzell, by Earl of Wurtemberg. OSCEOLA KENNELS, Troutmere, Wis. 25

ST. BERNARDS

FOR SALE—Nicodé, 22 months old, winner of three firsts, the best young smooth dog before the public, and being a son of the great Judith, invaluable at stud; cuts on application. ALTA KENNELS, Box 223, Toledo, Ohio. 43-23-tf

FOR SALE—Extra fine rough-coated puppies by Ch. Altoueer and Belle III (32685); elegantly marked and a fine litter. For prices address P. F. MAGUINNESS, 23 Wilson St., Worcester, Mass. 26

FOR SALE—A fine full-blooded 4-year-old St. Bernard; a great lover of children and kindest disposition in the world; a bargain. Address G. A. GESMAN, Knoxville, Ia. 23*

FOR SALE—St. Bernard puppies; rich color, perfect markings and immense bone; registered stock. JOHNSON LOWE, Wheaton, Ill. 24*

FOR SALE—A registered St. Bernard brood bitch and litter of puppies. JAS. W. ROSS, Calumet, Mich. 24*

IRISH SETTERS

Coming Champions.

Six litters of Irish setter puppies, all sired by

Challenge Finglas

Imported, the greatest sire, bench show and field trial winner combined living; the dams are field broken, champion bred, full pedigreed and registered prize winners; this is the finest lot of Irish setters ever offered by the KILDARE KENNELS; prices $10 up. Stamp for circular and particulars. Write quick for choice. Finglas at stud. W. L. WASHINGTON, Box 203, New Castle, Pa. 43-17-eow-tf

IRISH SETTER PUPPIES for sale, by Ch. Kildare (champion Irish setter dog of America and sire of Queen Vic, champion Irish setter bitch of America), stud fee $25. Also English setter and Chesapeake Bay puppies of the finest strains. Send for catalogue containing photos of celebrated stud dogs and bitches. OAK GROVE KENNELS, Moodus, Conn. tf

POODLES

MEADOWMERE KENNELS

MILO (30101)
Champion of America

Southampton, L. I., N. Y., breeders and importers of

French Poodles

(Black curly coated only); first prize winners New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, 1893-4.

A GRAND LOT OF DOGS FOR SALE

For catalogues price list […] cards a[…] YORK […] AGENCY […] iam St., Room […]

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

SPANIELS

[illegible] of young puppies and [illegible] several young brood bitches, [illegible] whelp to Ch. Black Duke and other noted sires. GEORGE DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ontario. 24

COCKER SPANIELS—Special sale of young stock and brood bitches; prices low. HANDSOME BROOK KENNEL, Franklin, N. Y. 42-12-tf

CHAMPION strain cockers, stud dogs, puppies, bitches, almost given away; stamp. REHAM KENNELS, Omaha, Neb. 43-19-tf

COCKERS, champion stock, year old, jet black, $30. M. B. MELLOR, Plainfield, N. J. 24*

FOXHOUNDS

FULL-BLOOD and half-blood English and pure American foxhounds for sale at all times, all ages and sizes. STRODES VALLEY KENNEL CLUB. Address J. M. Hodgkin, Secy, or W. N. Ramsey, Winchester, Ky. 1

FOR SALE—My entire kennel of foxhounds, including six of the shaggy strain; also four black and tans, Pennsylvania strain. Address M. G. PLIMPTON, Box 502, Medfield, Mass. 24*

PURE Goodman foxhounds for sale at all times. BOURBON KENNELS, North Middletown, Ky. 40-20-tf

COLLIES

FOR SALE—The crack collies, Seldon Wallace and Chesterford Hero. For particulars address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

COLLIES AT $10—Puppies from Champ Christopher, Ch. Metchley Wonder strain, also older stock. J. L. LINCOLN, Union Club, Chicago. 43-tf

COLLIES—Choice litter, whelped April 4, sired by Scotilla, dam by The Squire; $10 each. P. O. BOX 125, Indianapolis, Ind. 23*

DACHSHUNDE

SIX rough-coated Dachshund puppies, four dogs and two bitches, out of prize winners at Detroit and Chicago 1895; also some very fine smooth-coated Dachshund puppies and older dogs for sale, pedigreed and prize winners. ARTHUR FROEMBLING, 715 Farwell Ave., Rogers Park, Ill., or office, Putnam Clothing House, Chicago. 23

GREYHOUNDS

TORRINGTON GEM (31347), whelped January 27, 1892, by Ch. Gem of the Season out of Chlg. Maud Torrington; fawn, white strip in face and half white collar; is affectionate and in fine form. ALBION L. PAGE, 69 Wall St., N. Y. 26

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.
F. H. HOYT, Sharon, Pa 43-20-tf

CHESAPEAKES

CHESAPEAKE BITCH 7 months, from Towner, Perryman, Md.; price $10. FRED F. MERRILL, 3355 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. 23

MISCELLANEOUS

St. Bernard Puppies

Three litters of blue bloods for sale, quality the finest in America.

DOGS IN THE STUD—Alton Jr, Altoneer, Melrose King, Jim Blaine.

MELROSE KENNELS,
E. H. Moore, MELROSE, MASS. 43-15-tf

We have a fine litter of

Collie Puppies

For sale by Ch. Christopher (21675), out of Dorcas (27756), she by Ch. Welleshourne Charlie; also some fine

Irish Terriers

By our new stud dog, John Briggs (35584). CHRISTOPHER and WELLESBOURNE CHARLIE at stud. CHESTNUT HILL KENNELS, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED!

Any sportsman wanting first-class broken and unbroken setters or pointers can get what they want from me; new list now ready.

T. C. DAVEY, London, Ont.

DOGS FOR SALE—St. Bernards, mastiffs, Newfoundlands, pointers, setters, spaniels, pugs, all kinds of terriers. I make a specialty of game pit and show bull terriers and Yorkshire terriers; dogs and puppies of the above on hand at prices to suit the times; satisfaction and safe delivery guaranteed. EXCHANGE KENNELS, office 2312 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 44-6

MOREY KENNELS have several litters of black curly-coated French poodles for sale; also grown stock, including brood bitches and stud dogs from imported stock and prize winners; CHAS. D. BERNHEIMER, 21 W. 4th St., New York City. 43-20-tf

BULLDOG and Boston terrier puppies from best blood; at stud, the grand young bulldog Webb's Monarch, a grandson of Ch. British Monarch and Ch. Rustic King; under 50 pounds, solid brindle. JOHN E. JEWETT, Buffalo, N. Y. 25*

FOR SALE—Pointer and setter puppies bred from thoroughly trained registered stock; also my setter bitch Day's Belton (25401), thoroughly trained on quail, partridge and woodcock. R. W. SMITH JR., Tr[illegible] 25*

[illegible]TERS—Three No. 1 [illegible]ree dogs and will be [illegible] H., St. Francisville, 23*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

TRAINED dogs on bears, coons, rabbits. Also English bloodhounds, man trailers. GREENDALE KENNEL, Kensington, Ohio. 42-22-tf

DOG TRAINING

DOG TRAINING—The finest training ground in the world for developing range and speed is Dakota. We have 5,000 acres protected chicken cover. Send on your dogs and shoot with us in season. NED FAY, Valley City, N. D. 1

K. 9 KENNELS—Pointers and setters, educated for practical field work; kennels located in a game country, and but 2½ hours from Philadelphia; twenty years' experience; best reference. W. G. SMITH, Marydel, Md. 43-26*

GEO. BATTISON—Professional bench show handler. Dogs boarded and put in condition for shows. Youngstown, Ohio. tf

I CAN take five more dogs to train on chickens; write at once. C. A. NOONAN, Blue Earth City, Minn. 23*

STUD DOGS

AT STUD, $35.—CH. DUKE OF KENT II

Field trial winner; only pointer in U. S. winning title of champion in one year, 1893. First challenge, 1st field trial class; also special for best sporting dog in show, Louisville, 1894.

AT STUD, $35—IMP. MOLTON BANNER

One of the best pointers living; has beaten his sire, Saddleback, champion of England, Sandford Graphic and Sandford Bang, England's best. Puppies—Dogs $25; bitches $15; from the best of field trial and bench show blood bitches. GLEN ROCK KENNELS, 2 N. Market St., Boston, Mass.

Westminster Kennel Club.

KING OF KENT

In the Stud. Fee $50.

ALSO

Sandford Druid

FEE $35.

Apply to F. O. DELUZE, Treasurer, 18 S. William St., New York.

WILLOWDALE KENNELS,
CROWN POINT, IND.

ALAN-A-DALE—A. K. C. No. 28135, collie dog, by Ch. The Squire—Stonehurst Lassie, by Ch. Roslyn Dandy, a magnificent dog and image of his sire; V.H.C. Chicago 1894. See comment AMERICAN FIELD. Alan is a born cattle dog.

DANDY DAVY (A. K. C. No. 36097), by Moray—Clover, the handsomest and most intelligent collie I ever bred; sable with white collar and ruff.

TACONY, smooth-coated fox terrier (A. K. C. 28136), white with tan marked head; lubred Prince Result; game as a pebble.

I will sell at reasonable price Moray, prize winner; Don Cameron and other A. K. C. collies; also book orders for young dogs. Address WILL J. DAVIS, Columbia Theater, Chicago. 39-4-tf

Rodfield

Black, white and tan English setter, winner of both of the U. S. F. T. Club's All-Age Setter Stakes at Bicknell, Ind., and West Point, Miss., 1894 and 1895. Catalog free.

STUD FEE $50.
P. T. MADISON,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

COUNT BEAUFORT

Moss Wind'em—Primrose, bred by and recently imported from Mr. R. Ll. Purcell Llewellin, Shrewsbury, England. Here is a chance for setter breeders to obtain the pure Count Noble blood, Moss Wind'em being a litter brother to that noted sire of field trial winners. This is an opportunity that owners of Gladstone and Druid—Ruby bitches should not lose sight of. Fee $25. Count Beaufort is a handsome, well built blue belton and is thoroughly field broken, keen nose and wide range, having been well shot over by Mr. Llewellin. For pedigree, etc., address W. STEWART DIFFENDERFFER, 113 Commerce St., Baltimore, Md. 44-8

WIRE-HAIRED FOX TERRIERS

BROWN FRENCH POODLES.

For stud cards, list of produce stakes ($175 annually offered in prizes), price lists and full particulars, apply to HILL HURST KENNELS, Wellesley, Mass. 45-7

At Stud. Fee $25.

WHYTE B.

I offer the services of this highly bred setter; he is by Roderigo—Florence Gladstone. He won the A.-A. Stake in the Southern trials, beating such dogs as Antevolo, Novelist, Eugene I, Tremont, Bettye S and Bob Cooper. I candidly believe Whyte B has more endurance than any dog living, and is a combined field trial and shooting dog; his equal would be hard to find H. S. BEVAN, Somerville, Tenn.

STRIDEAWAY FEE $50

Meadow City Kennels, Northampton, Mass. 43-21-tf

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

AT STUD,
ST. BERNARDS and COCKER SPANIELS

Four St. Bernards and eight cocker spaniels including Ch. Middy at $15 stud fee. Send stamp for illustrated catalogue.

SWISS MOUNTAIN KENNELS, Germantown Philadelphia, Pa.

COCKER SPANIEL
CH. BLACK DUKE

Stud $25. Bitches for breeding purposes admitted free of duty in Canada. GEO. DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ont. 23

COUNT FEATHERSTONE (No. 29535, Vol. X), lemon and white, whelped March 3, 1890, by Count Noble—Florence Gladstone, she Glads one—Flounce, she Druid—Ruby; Count is at present located in Warren County, N. Carolina, and will be bred to a few approved bitches; stud fee $25. Address CHAS. F. TRETBAR, P. O. Box 2920, New York. 26

BREED TO THE BEST—At stud, $15, imported English setter Carleton Pero (16291), (Sir Tatton—Princess Charlotte III), color black and white, very handsome, winner on the bench, field broken by N. B Thomas (deceased). Address DR. J. W. COTTING, Swathmore, Delaware Co., Pa. 44-9

AT STUD—Smooth fox terriers, Hillside Royal (Starden's King—Hillside Freda); fee to approved bitches, $10; Raby Prince (Raby Palilsy—Richmond Jesmine); fee to approved bitches, $10. WAWASET KENNELS, Wilmington, Del. 44-5

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

AT STUD—Four first-class Great Danes, viz.: Morcau (fawn), Victor and Harras (brindles), and Nero (black), fee $25 to $50. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 So. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22 tf

AT STUD—Christopher Columbus, the finest collie in the West, by Ch. Christopher; fee to approved bitches, $20 Address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

BLACK AND TAN Chicago Spider at stud; 1st at New York, Boston and Pittsburg: brood and show bitches for sale. CHAS. WILSON, 1469 N. Clark St., Chicago. 23*

AT STUD—Legerdemain (9378), Mainspring—Merrylegs; fee $15. For winnings and full particulars apply to F. A. WAGNER, Seacliff, L. I., N. Y. 23*

AT STUD—The imported foxhound Abelard, to a few choice bitches at $10 each. J. M. HODGIN, Secretary Strode Valley Kennel Club, Winchester, Ky. 2

AT STUD—The golden brindled Great Dane King William (34279), winner of three first prizes; fee $25. HIGHLAND KENNELS, Topeka, Kan. 23*

AT STUD—The famous smooth fox terrier, Blemton Stipend, to approved bitches; $10. J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43 20 tf

RED COCKERS—Champ. Red Jacket and Red Roland at stud; red puppies. BRANT COCKER KENNELS, Brantford, Ont. 43-14-tf

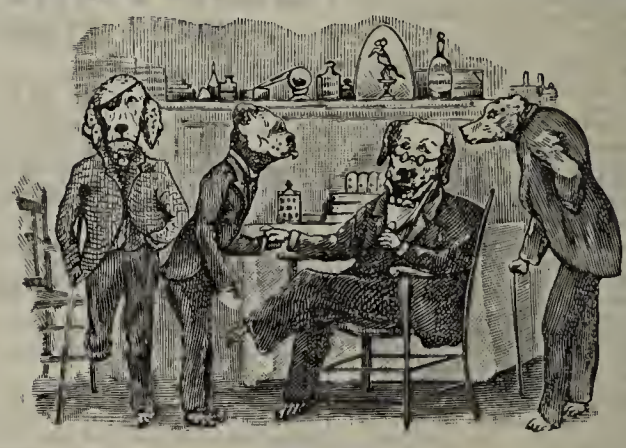
CHESAPEAKE MARK (35914); fee $10. L. K. MASON, Hastings, Ia. 43-15-tf

MATERIAL AND FIXTURES

LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE

LITTLE'S PRIZE MEDAL PHENYLE DOG SOAP

Cleanses the skin and improves the coat.



Superior to any now before the public. Beautifies, cleanses, and gives a healthy glow to the skin.

LITTLE'S SANITARY PHENYLE DOG SOAP.

(COPYRIGHTED.)

DOCTOR—There is no doubt, my friends, but that you are suffering from a most severe case of Mange. My advice is that you procure at once LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE, a sure cure, which will also keep your kennels nice and sweet.

PATIENTS (all together)—We will send to our druggist for it at once.

Used by the principal kennels and bench shows in America and Europe. No keeper of valuable dogs, horses, etc, should be without it. Pronounced by the highest authorities the best and most effective disinfectant in the market. For full particulars of its various uses, send for pamphlet to

MORRIS LITTLE & SON, 175 to 177 N. 10th Street, Brooklyn, E. D., N. Y.

Do You Keep A DOG? Send for Pamphlet (gratis) on Diseases etc. to SPRATTS PATENT (AM.) LTD., 241 E. 56 St., N.Y.

HEALTH FOR ANIMALS

Of the many skin diseases that animals are subject to there are none which cannot be brought under control and speedily cured by the use of

GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP

Its perfect reliability in all forms of

MANGE

From which dogs suffer has been attested by innumerable testimonials from the highest kennel authorities and the grateful acknowledgment of thousands of dog owners.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

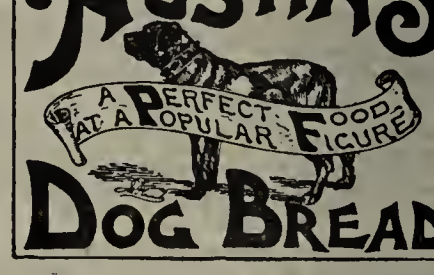
McGILL UNIVERSITY, MONTREAL

Faculty of Comparative Medicine and Veterinary Science (late Montreal Veterinary College) Calendars sent on application, giving full information to intending students. Lectures commence first Wednesday in October in each year. Apply to CHARLES McEACHRAN, D. V. S., Registrar, Veterinary College, 6 Union Avenue, Montreal, Canada. 37-1-tf

AUSTIN'S



DOG BREAD

The final choice of many kennels and individuals after trying all others, as attested by hundreds of unsolicited letters.

AUSTIN & GRAVES,
116 COMMERCIAL ST.,
BOSTON, MASS.

"OUR DOGS"

The Popular English Doggy Journal.

Published every Saturday. Price One Penny.

Contains all the latest news and the best information relating to doggy subjects. It is written in chatty style; is contributed to by the best known writers; is well illustrated; enjoys a large circulation, and is a splendid medium for the sale or purchase of dogs. Subscription 8s. 6d per year post free to any part of America. SPECIMEN COPIES FREE.

Our Dogs Publishing Co., Ltd.,
10 Gore St., Piccadilly, Manchester, Eng.

WHITMAN KENNEL SUPPLY CO.

418 WABASH AVE., CHICAGO.

PEDIGREES COMPILED

And printed in first-class style, and at reasonable rates.

COPYRIGHT PEDIGREE BLANKS.

Pictures for framing of CHAMPION PAUL GLADSTONE, DASH III AND COUNTESS MAY; GLADSTONE AND PEEP O' DAY; CROXTETH AND SENSATION; EMPEROR FRED, and others.

WHITMAN'S UNIQUE DOG REMEDIES.
SPRATTS DOG FOODS AND MEDICINES.
AUSTIN'S DOG FOODS.
SERGEANT'S CONDITION PILLS.

L. F. WHITMAN,
33-26-tf Manager.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25 cents a line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion.

DR. N. ROWE, President. NORVIN T. HARRIS, 1st Vice-President. J. L. ADAMS, 2nd V[illegible].

United States Field Trial Club's Fifth Annual Field Trials

Fall Meeting at Newton, N. C. Spring Meeting at West Point, Miss.

POINTERS.....
$150 to First
$125 to Second
$100 to Third
$ 75 to Fourth
$ 50 to Fifth

PURSES, $4,000.00

SETTERS.....
$150 to First
$125 to Second
$100 to Third
$ 75 to Fourth
$ 50 to Fifth

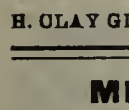
DERBY STAKE, to be run at Newton, N. C., November 7, 1895

For pointers and setters whelped on or after January 1, 1894. Each breed to run separately. Entries close June 10, 1895.

TOTAL STAKE $1,000. First forfeit $10, which must accompany nomination. $10 additional forfeit, payable Sept. 10. $10 to start. W. B. STAFFORD, Secy.-Treas., Trenton, Tenn.

For entry blanks, rules, etc., apply to Secretary-Treasurer.

R. J. WITHERS, M. D.,
VETERINARY SURGEON,
627 So. Main St., LOS ANGELES, CAL.
Treatment of dogs a specialty. Good hospital accommodations. Advice by mail $1.



NEW BOOK ON DOG DISEASES And How to Feed
Mailed FREE to any address by the author.
H. CLAY GLOVER, D.V.S., 1293 Broadway, N. Y

MISCELLANEOUS.

Chicago & Alton R.R.
AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR RAILROAD.
PERFECT PASSENGER SERVICE.
The direct, best and only rock-ballasted dustless line between
CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY,
CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS,
ST. LOUIS AND KANSAS CITY.

Through Pullman Service Every Day From
CHICAGO TO COLORADO.
JAMES CHARLTON, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

TROUT, BASS, PIKE,
PICKEREL, PERCH, DUCKS,
GEESE, SNIPE, CHICKENS,

Are all to be found contiguous to the line of

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

SEND FOR
Natural Game Preserves of North America.

CHAS. S. FEE,
Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt., ST. PAUL.

PLOVER, ANTELOPE, BEAR,
MOUNTAIN LIONS, CARIBOU, DEER,
WHITE GOATS, ROCKY MTN. SHEEP

HUNTING GROUNDS
ALONG THE LINE OF
The Southern Railway

The Southern Railway is endeavoring to furnish every facility to sportsmen to reach its territory, especially Virginia and the Carolinas, where game is abundant and game laws lenient.
Most convenient schedules are operated from all junction points.
For additional information apply o
S. H. HARDWICK,
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Atlanta, Ga.
C. A. BENSCOTER.
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Knoxville, Tenn.
W. A. TURK,
Gen. Pass. Agt., Washington, D. C.
R. D. CARPENTER,
Gen. Agt., 271 Broadway, New York
HENRY HIDEN,
Commercial Agt., 10 Rookery, Chicago.
L. S. BROWN,
Gen. Agt., 1300 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.

SHOOTING TOURNAMENT AT MEMPHIS.

For the tournament at Memphis, June 11 and 14, take the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

It is the only line having double daily service to Memphis from Cincinnati and Louisville with Pullman Buffet Sleeping Coaches through. All principal cities in the South are reached by the through Pullman service of this line from its northern terminals at Cincinnati, Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis. Write to C. P. ATMORE, General Passenger Agent at Louisville, Ky., for folders and other information. 23

A. S. CHAPIN. J. J. GORE. J. S. CARTER
CHAPIN & GORE,
WHOLESALE DEALERS IN FINE WHISKIES
IMPORTED
Wines, Liquors and Cigars.
73 & 75 Monroe St., Chicago
Branch Stores: 152 22nd Street, 121 Clark Street, and 73 South Halsted Street, Chicago.
Branch Store: 30 and 32 N. Illinois Street, Indianapolis, Ind.
Paris Branch: No. 26 Boulevard Haussmann, Paris.
14-3-1y

The Home of the Tarpon
AND
Ducks by the Million
AT
Aransas and Corpus Christi Bays
REACHED BY
San Antonio and Aransas Pass Ry.

Twelve tarpon caught in one day, November 4, 1894, by Messrs. Bull, Lewis and Wallis of Racine, Wis., aggregating over 800 pounds.
Tarpon season March 15 to December 1; duck shooting December to March.
Send for maps, etc. Address
E. J. MARTIN, Gen. Pass. Agt., San Antonio Tex

In answering advertisements, please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD

Modern American Pistols and Revolvers.
By A. C. GOULD ("RALPH GREENWOOD").

An account of the development of pistols and revolvers in America; description of the varieties manufactured; manner of shooting them; work accomplished with these arms; departments of pistol and revolver shooting; impressions formed by studying these arms, and rules governing pistol and revolver competitions. Profusely illustrated 222 pages, cloth bound.

PRICE $1.50.
Address AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO., Chicago, Ill.

AMERICAN GAME FISHES.

Their Habits, Habitat, and Peculiarities. How, When and Where to Angle for Them.

The book is a sportsman's book, edited and written by sportsmen. In a relatively small compass the able writers, whose names appear in the contents, and are well qualified to discuss the subjects upon which they have written, have furnished a book that, as a whole, is unequaled in the history of angling literature, and no other volume presents to its readers so much valuable information by such a corps of accomplished and experienced writers upon AMERICAN GAME FISHES.
The 155 illustrations will be found to be accurate, truthful portraits of all the fishes described in the volume. The two colored plates give the natural colors of the flies commonly used in angling, and enhance the value of the book.

CONTENTS.

Introduction.....A. N. CHENEY.
The Salmon.....CHARLES HALLOCK.
The Pacific Salmon.....W. A. PERRY ("Sillaicum").
The Land-Locked Salmon.....J. G. A. CREIGHTON.
The Tarpon.....W. N. HALDEMAN.
The Striped Bass.....FRANCIS ENNICOTT.
The Black Bass.....DR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Bluefish.....PROF. G. BROWN GOODE.
The Mascalonge.....LR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Mascalonge in Wisconsin Waters.....A. A. MOSHER.
The Brook Trout.....F. H. THURSTON ("Kelpie").
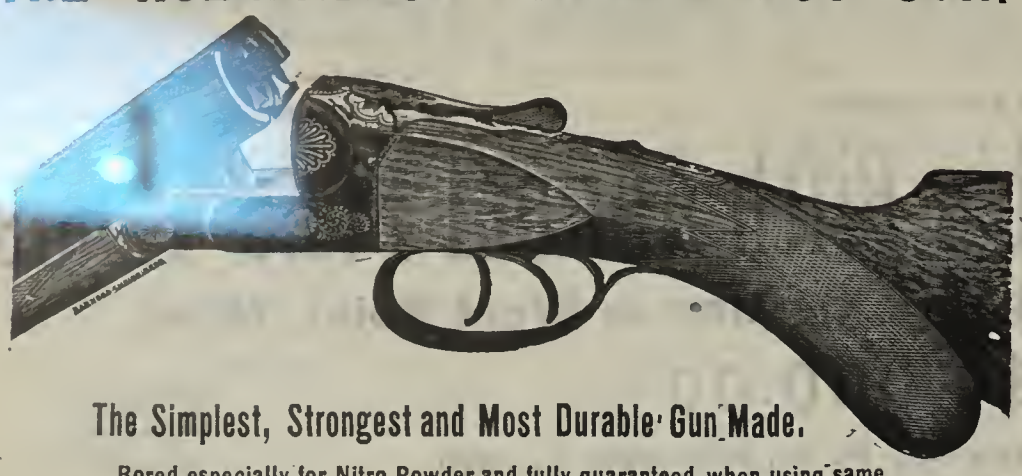
Trouting on the Nipigon.....W. H. H. MURRAY.
The Lake Trout.....REV. LUTHER PARDEE.
The Rocky Mountain Trout.....G. O. SHIELDS ("Coquina").
Sea Bass, Sea Trout, Spanish Mackerel, Grouper, Mangrove Snapper, Sheepshead and other Southern Fishes.....S. C. CLARKE.
The Grayling.....F. H. THURSTON.
The Pike.....W. D. TOMLIN.
The Wall-Eyed Pike.....A. A. MOSHER.
The Pickerel.....W. D. TOMLIN.
The White Perch.....FRED. MATHER.
The Yellow Bass, White Bass, Strawberry Bass, Rock Bass, Crappie, Sunfish, Yellow Perch, and Minor Perch and Sunfishes.....PROF. DAVID STARR JORDAN.
The Senses of Fishes.....WILLIAM C. HARRIS.
Fishing-Tackle, and How to Make It.....J. HARRINGTON KEENE
Reels, Their Use and Abuse.....B. C. MILA
The Angler's Camp Outfit.....G. O. SHIELDS

Large 8vo, 580 Pages. Cloth $2.50; Half Morocco, $4.00; Full Morocco, gilt edged, $5.50.

This book is just from the press, and will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address

AMERICAN FIELD PUBLISHING CO.,
245 and 247 State Street, C[illegible], Ill.

THE HOLLENBECK HAMMERLESS GUN.



The Simplest, Strongest and Most Durable Gun Made.

Bored especially for Nitro Powder and fully guaranteed when using same.

We make 12-ga. as light as 6½ pounds. We make 10 ga. as light as 7 pounds. The above cut represents our No. 1 grade. Write for circular and prices

SYRACUSE ARMS CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Sole Agents, HERMANN BOKER & CO., 101-103 Duane St., New York.

WHERE MAY I FIND GOOD SPORT?

IN Kansas

PRAIRIE CHICKENS, quails, jack-rabbits and ducks abound. The Arkansas Valley and its tributaries afford most satisfactory hunting grounds. In southeastern Kansas there is a fair supply of bass and catfish.

IN Colorado

HERE the fishing rod should be unpacked. Enough trout to keep your rod and line busy may be found in hundreds of mountain streams along the Colorado Midland line. Away from the railroad larger game exists—bears, rocky mountain sheep, elk, blacktail deer, etc.

IN Indian Territory

WILD TURKEYS, prairie chickens, quails and deer are the favorite game in Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A party of three to ten, with guide, will find great sport thirty miles or so from railroad lines.

IN Texas

ANYWHERE on the Gulf Coast several days can be enjoyably spent angling for the deep-sea fish that swarm the Gulf waters. You cast the line; the fish do the rest. Wild fowl are also prevalent in the marshes.

IN New Mexico

UP in the mountains are clear streams where the possible catch of trout may exceed your biggest story—which is saying a good deal. Enough wild game in the wooded wilderness to satisfy the most ardent hunter.

Address G. T. NICHOLSON, G. P. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R., Monadnock Building, Chicago, for detailed information respecting any one or more of the above localities.

ALL ALONG THE SANTA FE ROUTE.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

GUN CLUB SCORE BOOK

Surpasses anything of its kind ever issued. It has, in addition to 150 score sheets, correct and complete copies of American Shooting Association Rules for Live Bird and Inanimate Target Shooting, also Hurlingham and Long Island Rules, which will be found very convenient for ready reference. Further, it contains a proper form of Constitution and By-Laws (that may be used as a guide in organizing a club), also a set of Field and Club House Rules. Carbon paper for manifolding purposes is inclosed in each book. It is so bound that when in use the top cover may be thrown back and under the book, making a solid base on which to write.

Owing to the immense advantage we have in compiling and pushing the sale of this book we are able to offer it at only $1.00 per copy, but at this price our margin of profit is too small to admit of discounts on large lots or to dealers. Bear in mind it contains 150 score sheets, besides additional matter as detailed above. Size of book, 9x12 inches. Sent postpaid on receipt of price.

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO.

THE DAVIS HAMMERLESS

Has Best of Workmanship and Best of Material Throughout.

Shooting Qualities Unsurpassed in all Grades. Price Lists and Descriptive Circulars of Hammer and Hammerless Guns sent on application.

N. R. DAVIS & SONS, - Freetown, Mass.

DUCK CALLS, 55c & $1
GOOSE CALLS, $1
SNIPE CALLS, 40c
TURKEY CALLS, 75c

GRUBBS' PERFECT DUCK CALL. (EVERY ONE WARRANTED.)

Grubbs' Improved Illinois River Duck Call. The most natural toned call made; easy to blow; not easy to get out of repair, having a fine tempered reed; makes it so you can call teal, woodduck and bluebill, as well as mallard. This is the only call you can do this with.

Same as above, made of red cedar, silver-mounted, with silver reed which gives it perfect tone, $1. Every one warranted. Address

CHAS. W. GRUBBS; 56 Alice Place, Chicago

$7 NEW RAPID MACHINE LOADER $7

Adapted for Nitro and Black Powders.

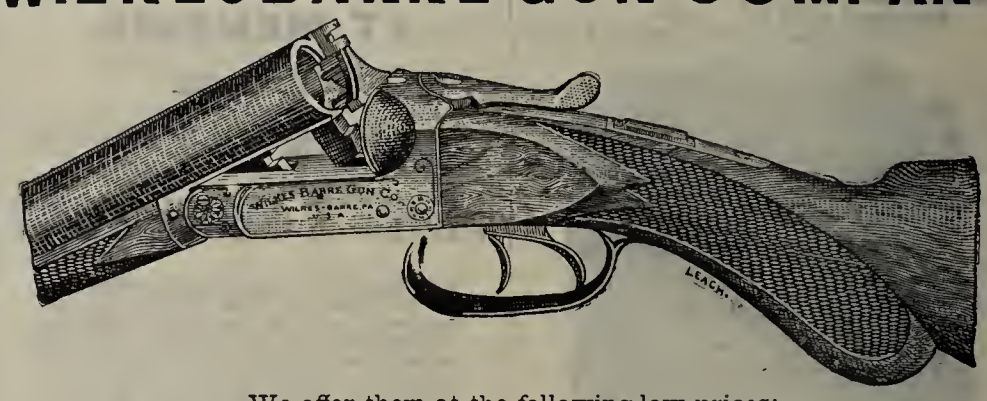
What we claim for "The New Rapid Loader."

Seats wads squarely and with even pressure. No chance for the error of getting shot loaded in place of powder. The manipulation of charges and forcing in wads requires the use of one hand only, leaving the other hand free to handle shells and wads—a decided advantage over loaders which require the use of both hands and feet to accomplish this. Can be changed to different loads in less than one minute. Powder and shot can be emptied from machine without removing it from the table. Send for illustrated catalogue. SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

THE BRIDGEPORT GUN IMPLEMENT CO.
313-315 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Having purchased the entire stock of guns of the

WILKESBARRE GUN COMPANY



We offer them at the following low prices:

	List	Our Price
Hammer Gun, fine twist barrels	$35.00	$17.50
Hammerless Gun, fine twist barrels	50.00	31 50
Hammerless Gun, Damascus barrels	60.00	35.00

Bored for nitro powders, latest model, 12-gauge, 7 to 8 pounds. EVERY GUN GUARANTEED. If you need a good gun cheap order one of these at once.

SCHOVERLING, DALY & GALES, 302 Broadway, New York.

THE AMATEUR TRAINER

FORCE SYSTEM WITHOUT THE WHIP.

BY ED. F. HABERLEIN (a practical trainer of thirty years' experience).

SECOND EDITION. Revised and illustrated with full-page portraits of typical bird dogs.

Has just been published and should be in the hands of every owner of a bird dog, whether trained or untrained.

"The Amateur Trainer" is a plain, practical and concise yet thorough guide in the art of training, handling and the correcting of faults of the bird dog subservient to the gun afield. The manual has been written especially for those who may possess a puppy but cannot afford the high charges of professional trainers to have the same broken for field work. By following the instructions plainly given in the book, every shooter possessed of a little common sense and patience can train his own dog to perfection.

If you have a broken dog who is faulty in some respects, you will find ample advice in the manual how to overcome any fault thoroughly. If your dog does not retrieve, or if so, is hard mouthed, and unsteady to point and shot chases rabbits, etc., etc., is whipshy, watershy or gunshy, etc., then don't fail to get this book and eradicate the annoyances.

The book is written in a comprehensible, popular form, devoid of long-spun theories, and is based upon practical experience throughout. Each chapter alone on the correction of faults of matured dogs is fully worth the price of the book to anyone owning a dog so afflicted. Dogs of any age can be taught to retrieve readily—soft mouthed and in perfect style—by following the plain instructions given therein.

To the novice, who may aspire to perfect his own dog in the usefulness afield, it will prove an invaluable aid, giving clear instructions from the beginning with a puppy up to the training of the bird dog to a high degree.

It is not INTENDED NOR PROMISED to give a large volume of PASTIME READING MATTER, but the publisher guarantees the book to contain the most practical information on the subject, in a plain, concise form, for the price. It contains 99 pages. Price, paper cover, $1; cloth, $1.50.

Address

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

THE SPORTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

Vol. XLIII—No. 24. NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, JUNE 15, 1895. PRICE, Ten Cents $5.00 Per Year.

Published by the American Field Publishing Co.

TERMS.—Five dollars a year; two dollars and seventy-five cents for six months; Club rates, three or more four dollars a year each; strictly in advance.

REMITTANCES.—Money should be sent by American Express Co.'s Money Order, Postal Order, Draft on Chicago, or by Registered Letter.

NEWS DEALERS.—The Trade supplied by the American and Western News Companies.

COMMUNICATIONS.—Manuscript intended for publication should be written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith and all communications, upon any subject, or for any department, must be addressed,

N. ROWE,
Editor and Manager American Field.
245 and 247 State St., Chicago, Ill.

EASTERN OFFICE.—19 Park Place, New York.

Game and Shooting

DUCK SHOOTING IN COLORADO

BY SAN JUAN

Being once more in the land of jolly sportsmen, guns and wildfowl shooting, after a long sojourn in a country of snow and ice above timber line, one feels like "having imbibed from the fountain of youth," and that "life is worth the living."

Meeting friends and companions who have shared with me the incomparable sport of duck shooting, I am forcibly reminded of my last shooting trip, and with the hope of interesting some brother sportsman for a brief period will try and describe it.

After all arrangements had been completed the evening before, on a bright, crisp October morning our party, numbering four, well equipped for a week's sport with the feathered denizens of the lakes, started. While speeding along the smooth, level road at an eight-mile gait, and after the excitement of the prospective journey and sport had somewhat abated, we opened our box of Havanas to enjoy the luxury of a good cigar, and while enjoying the fragrant weed we took an inventory of our party. First, there was E. W— with his 10-guage Lefever hammerless and superfluous amount of avoirdupois, whom we christened "Knight of the Corkscrew." Next was B. M—, who piloted our ship of state and boasted of his ability to "wipe our eyes" with his new Colt 12-gauge hammerless, a beautiful piece of mechanism. Next came J. H.—, but he being naturally modest and not equipped with the latest style of a "muley," we, of course, did not expect much from him; and lastly your humble servant with his Parker hammerless 12-gange, 7¾-pound "toy," which was considered very well adapted to the shooting of snipes, teals and larger birds at short range, but which some of the party thought was not just the gun for long range, hard shooting; however, results showed about as many ducks to its credit as to the heavier guns.

We had been passing farmhouses, stacks of grain and herds of both horses and cattle for the last twenty-five miles, and we were now entering the more sparsely settled country adjacent to the lakes. As we reached a flowing well about noon, some ten or twelve miles from the lakes, we decided to "turn out," feed our horses and lunch. After an hour's rest we resumed our journey, and at two o'clock began to reach the outlying sloughs bordering the main lake.

"Hold! There are ducks," said one of the party, and the reader can imagine the excitement this exclamation caused.

"Where? Where?" the rest of the party queried.

"There; don't you see them in that pond?" replied spokesman number one.

Sure enough, there they were. In a small pond, some 200 yards distant, was a bunch of teals swimming around and whistling contentedly to themselves, while to the farther edge of the pond was a pair of mallards with heads erect and all attention.

After a consultation it was decided that two of the more enthusiastic of our party should commence the war upon the feathered tribe by trying their hands upon these; so E. W— and B. M— alighted from the wagon, pushing a couple of shells, each of No. 5's, into their guns, and, one going to the right, the other to the left, began to approach the pond. "Quack!" "quack!" and with a whirring of wings the wary old mallards were off, as much as to say "no you don't; we've heard tell of you 'uns afore." But the innocent and unsuspecting teals were still there. After getting a little nearer to them, there being no cover whatever, the stalkers were obliged to get down and crawl to keep out of sight. The ducks soon changed their position, and seeing the wagon standing there so quietly concluded that something was wrong.

"Flap!" "flap!" "swish!" and away they started. Up jumped the gunners, and "bang!" "bang!" sang out E. W—'s 10-gange, but the ducks were too far away. They swung to the right and nearly over B. M—, who, raising his gun, followed the birds and pulled away at each trigger, but no report broke the oppressive stillness. The birds receded in the distance. B. M— lowered his gun, and with a very dejected appearance retraced his steps until he joined his companion, when the following colloquy ensued:

"Why did you not shoot?"

"Shoot!" replied B. M—, "I did try to, but neglected to push up my safety."

"Ha! ha! he! he!" came from E. W—, the rest of us joining in the chorus. Thus ended our first engagement. With many uncomplimentary remarks bestowed upon the new-fangled hammerless and excuses for himself from B. M— after he returned to the wagon, we were once more on the move.

After another mile or so we were nearing more sloughs and ponds, and ducks. The country was literally alive with them, and the reader can easily imagine our impatience to begin the sport. Alighting from the wagon with our pockets full of shells, three of us concluded to take in some shooting between there and our intended camping ground, which was some two miles farther on, J. H— in the meantime going on with the outfit and making camp. We separated and, moving down along the chain of sloughs, the fun commenced. "quack!" "bang!"on the right from E.W—,and the same from B. M— on my left, showing conclusively that he at last had solved the intricacies of his safety. "Quack!" "quack!" "bang!" "bang!" Ah! my little pet wilted a brace of fine mallards. And thus the sport continued until too dark to discern the birds, besides the dead ones were pulling down pretty heavily on our shoulders. Hearing frequent shots both to the right and left, and not being able to suppress the impulse to try and stop a few more of those indistinct objects passing overhead, I also, now and then, awoke the echoes. But it being too dark to gather the birds which, arrested in their flight by 1⅛ ounces of No. 5's would strike the water with a splash, I soon gave up the sport and cut across the meadows toward camp. The other boys having arrived and thrown their birds in a pile near the tent, I added mine to the heap, and upon counting found that we had bagged in all forty-seven birds,which was pretty good as a starter. We had quite a collection too, mallards, canvas-backs, gray ducks, pintails, widgeons and different varieties of teals.

Supper over, guns cleaned and birds drawn, while lounging around the cheerful campfire enjoying to the utmost our cigars after the arduous toil of the evening's sport, we reviewed the shooting at length and made suggestions for the morrow. Each man had his experience to relate, how he neatly made this double and missed both birds of another; how one bird was brought tumbling down at fully 100 yards, and another one that got up from under his feet was missed with both barrels; how he covered this one too well, and was too far ahead of another; how he heard a "swish!" from behind, then a "streak of teal" in front, and of course missed, not being properly onto streaks going down wind. And so it went until at length we concluded that if we were to be out to the shooting grounds by daylight the next morning, we had better be retiring. So we were soon reposing in the arms of Morphens and dreaming of the sport we were to have on the morrow.

"Well! Come, fellows; get a move on you," were the words that first greeted our ears in the early morning.

We reluctantly rolled out of our warm blankets into the frosty air, pulled on our clothes and hurried to the cheerful fire where we found B. M— had breakfast ready. After a hearty interview with our friend we proceeded to stow away the morning's repast in a ravenous manner. The meal being finished we "rounded up" the horses and had them soon hitched up, and with guns and fixings were off for the big lake.

After a drive of a couple of miles in the exhilarating morning air, and just as the gray streaks of dawn were tipping the snow-capped peaks of the beautiful Sangre de Christo range, we were in sight of the lake, and such a hubbub as greeted our ears! "Quack!" "quack!" "swish!" "splash!" "whir!" Listen! Geese. "Honk!" "honk!" With all this turmoil greeting our ears, we knew we were in for some excellent shooting.

We left the wagon one at a time until we had taken stations at intervals along the edge of the lake. I proceeded to collect sagebrush, rushes and debris, and soon had a very good blind constructed. By this time it was light enough to see the many causes of all this racket. There, in front of me, was a sheet of water nearly spherical in form and perhaps three-quarters of a mile across, almost covered with ducks. "Bang!" "quack!" "rumble!" "bang!" and the ball was now fairly opened. "Honk!" "honk!" "swish!" No, I will not try you, my beauties, although I know you are worthy any man's skill, for I see a long V-shaped object which appears headed this way.

With the din as of battle across the lake, and the sound of many wings all around me, I had an eye for but one object. Drawing steadily nearer, with an easy, swinging motion, and their white-ringed, velvety, black necks well stretched, my nerves were, as the reader can easily imagine, keyed to the highest tension.

"Bang!" "bang!" Curse the luck; could he not see that they were too far away? They swerved to the left with a "honk!" "honk!" But look! They are swinging this way again and I will get a shot yet. Oh! the feelings of anticipation during such a moment. Lay low; here they come! Wait; now! I pulled in just ahead of one and fired, then I led another, and "bang!" went my second barrel. Supreme sport; a double, the first coming in contact with 1⅛ ounces of No. 1's wilted and struck the ground stone dead, while the other one turned upon his side with a broken wing and fanned the air with his uninjured member until he struck the ground with a thump! Then up it jumped and away it went as fast as its legs could carry it. Having in the meantime slipped in another shell I gave it another shot which settled it for all time. Slipping in a couple of loads of No. 5's I gathered my noble pair of geese and hastened to my blind, and none too soon, either. "Swish!" "bang!" "bang!" What, a clean miss, and with both barrels? But teal—"whir!" "bang!" "bang!" There, I stopped one of them, anyway, a canvas-back, too. Thus the sport continued without intermission until the morning flight nearly ceased, when I collected my birds and, upon counting them, found I had bagged twenty-six ducks and two geese.

Shouldering my load I slowly trudged through the sand until, when within sight of and near to the wagon, "bang!" went J. H—'s gun and, amid the flapping of wings and the quacking of a very badly scared flock of mallards, I saw him with hat in one hand and gun in the other chasing a crippled duck. It gave him a lively chase through the shallow water, but he captured it at last. After recovering himself he happened to spy me and he held his trophy out at arm's length and shouted:

"I've got one, I've got one."

It is needless to say that I was a very much amused witness to this scene, not thinking of the time when I, perhaps, had acted in a very similar manner. We reached the wagon, and in a short time the other boys appeared, all well loaded with birds. On counting up, we found we had bagged—including J. H—'s bird of course—5 geese and 83 ducks.

After a brief rest we had some sport with the long-billed, diminutive jacksnipes. A short walk brought us to a long strip of black, mucky marsh. Slipping in some No. 8's we separated—100 yards or so apart—and here it was "scaipe!" "bang!" "scaipe!" "bang!" The others by this time were also at it. "Scaipe!" "scaipe!" Two little brown objects fluttered up from nearly under my feet, one taking to the right the other to the left, and before they could get out of gun range I made a neat double. And so it went, the little fellows being cut down on all sides. Ye gods! such sport. What shooting is there that will compare with the little, wriggling, twisting jacks? Reaching the end of the grounds and observing a storm coming [illegible] turned, and on counting our birds we found [illegible] had bagged 54 of the little beauties. This was [illegible] guns only, as J. H—'s gun was not built for this kind [illegible] shooting. He says his gun is too straight in the barrels for snipe shooting; that they should be turned like a [illegible]. I suggested that the next time he went [illegible] he take a corkscrew instead of a gun, and [illegible] would be more successful.

[illegible] to [illegible] coming, and a cold one, too, so we [illegible] up our team and started for camp. It stormed the rest of that day and all night, snow and sleet, so the next morning we concluded the north pole was getting too close for comfort, and we loaded our traps and started for home.

The air was full of the birds seeking a warmer climate. We were just in time for the last shooting of the season. When nearing home, close to a farmhouse we observed a lonely looking mallard, and E. W—, not being satisfied with the most ducks to his credit, was still seeking honors. Alighting from the wagon he slipped in a couple of shells, and, sneaking down a swale soon got within range of his unsnspecting victim. Slowly raising himself he threw his gun to his shoulder and, taking a mean advantage of the bird "potted it." "Ha! ha! he! he!" It was a wooden decoy, and slowly returning to the wagon, with a sickly smile on his face, he blamed us with it all.

We soon reached town and our trip was ended, and we were very much pleased with our success. Out only three days we returned with 5 geese, 130 ducks and 54 snipes.

Monte Vista, Colo.

PHEASANTS

MAHWAH, N. J.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—You were good enough to print a communication I sent you about pheasants in the AMERICAN FIELD of March 2, to which Mr. W. J. Gardiner replied a fortnight later, he being under the impression that certain of my remarks alluded to him. I at once privately tendered him a full explanation, assuring him that it was a totally different person I had in my thoughts, which he very cordially and courteously accepted. However, his experience with the Chinese pheasant, or as he terms it the "Oregon" pheasant, is very interesting, and in all good fellowship I would like to have another tilt with him.

Mr. Gardiner appears as their champion and brings overwhelming evidence in their favor, as he believes. I think, however, that on investigation his contentions on their behalf will prove to be of little avail, because he will be found not to be alluding whatsoever to the Chinese pheasant (Phasianus torquatus), as I will now demonstrate.

I would first notice that though he intends to controvert my charges against the Chinese pheasant, which I distinctly called thus in my last letter, yet he never once uses that name, but in every instance terms it the "Oregon pheasant." In the course of this letter I will show how misleading and erroneous such nomenclature is. Mr. Gardiner writes that he lately imported a few English ring-necked pheasants, and he offers to wager one hundred dollars that neither I nor anyone else of twenty years' experience, such as I have had, can tell them apart from his "Oregon pheasants." Also that he has raised from the Oregon bird "pheasants with no ring around their neck at all, and also one bird mottled white. So much for the difference between the Oregon and the English." I quite agree with him, because these are not the Chinese pheasant (Phasianus torquatus), about which my deprecatory remarks were made. "Pheasants which have no rings around their necks at all" are not Phasianus torquatus, or pheasants with a collar, as readers of early Roman history will remember. All this confusion is solely caused by using wrong names for these birds. Many kinds of pheasants come from China, but there is only one "Chinese pheasant," which has for its Latin name "Phasianus torquatus," and this is totally distinct from the birds Mr. Gardiner describes. Every authority states that the Chinese pheasant has, among other distinguishing marks, a large white collar, white eyebrows, drab crown, and a green saddle passing into bluish gray. In addition they lack the proud, upright carriage of the English pheasant, but, with lowered head, skulk along as though ashamed of themselves for their lapse from the high ideal their cousins set. If they are wanting in these attributes they are not the Chinese pheasant, though they may have come from China. All the remarks in my previous letter were directed at the Chinese pheasant. Mr. Gardiner throws himself into the breach in their defense, but quite in vain, because the birds of his letter are not Chinese pheasants at all, but entirely different; in fact, so near the English ring-necked pheasants as to be indistinguishable therefrom; and thus he leaves the Chinese pheasant still resting under the stigma of my [illegible]sations, while he bears witness [illegible]ise of the English ring-necked [illegible] I received from Oregon and [illegible]tained thence are pure Chinese pheasants; every characteristic being fully developed, and it is this variety that I condemn on account of its serious shortcomings.

Let me show Mr. Gardiner how his mistake comes about. It is an undisputed fact that the pure Chinese pheasant has been liberated in Oregon, and has there made a second home for itself. But an Oregon pheasant is not necessarily a Chinese pheasant, as Mr. Gardiner has unwittingly proved. He states that his birds came from Oregon and describes them, showing that they are either the result of a cross with the English pheasant (Phasianus colchicus), or with Phasianus decollatus, another Chinese species; so someone has imported at some time some other variety. It just shows the utter confusion that ensues from not giving the proper name to birds and wasting inventiveness on finding new. The term "Oregon pheasant" is now proved to be altogether too vague to be serviceable, as it covers more than one variety, and so ought henceforth to be rigidly disused in reference to any one kind of pheasant, though coming from those parts. The "one bird mottled white" that Mr. Gardiner mentions is merely a lusus naturae, and I have had as many as forty of them in a season among 6,000 birds. Will Mr. Gardiner please note that I never use the expression "Oregon pheasant," so that the whole of his defense crumbles away. I talked of the "Chinese pheasant" that "hails from Oregon," which I hope I have shown to be a quite clear definition of a totally different bird from his protégés, which from his description must be identical with my own, viz.: the English ring-necked pheasant. When he says that the pheasants he shot in the Willamette Valley in Oregon were good enough for him, and that his Oregon pheasants are not great wanderers, he is not alluding to the Chinese pheasant at all, which is a great wanderer; and when Mr. Gardiner has had experience with them he will find that I am right, and that the consensus of opinion of millions of sportsmen in Europe who have shot pheasants during the past two hundred years was based on solid facts when they decided to bar the Chinese pheasant from their coverts. Mr. Gardiner's devotion to them will wane when his experience widens and ripens, and he will then fall into line with all the other great authorities on the subject. Therefore, with all due respect to him I still unhesitatingly affirm that the pure Chinese pheasant is an unsatisfactory game bird in comparison with the English ring-necked pheasant. I trust Mr. Gardiner will take my criticism all in good part and disprove any errors he may find I have fallen into, especially if I have misunderstood in any particular his letter to which I have referred throughout the above.

I also wish to state that my attack on the Chinese pheasant is quite disinterested, as I can supply them in any quantity as well as the pure English and English ring-necked birds. I have written these letters with the sole object of directing aright the efforts of those sportsmen who are anxious to introduce pheasants into their preserves, that they may walk in the right path to begin with and not have to retrace their steps.

In the same issue as Mr. Gardiner's letter, Mr Emory P. Robinson makes a few pertinent remarks in connection with my statement that pheasants do not rear more than one brood in a year. I agree with him that every sportsman meets with very late hatched coveys of young birds; but I do not know that my argument is thereby weakened, because the undeniable proof must be first forthcoming that a first brood was reared to an age of independence previously. Late hatched birds will lay late the succeeding year, as everyone knows. Also, if the first covey is destroyed before the molt commences the parent will begin her labors anew. I have picked up a fresh laid pheasant's egg on September 4, but such an exceptional case in no wise lessens my statement that pheasants only "bring up" one brood a year. Mr. Gardiner, in the letter to which I have alluded already, is of my opinion in regard to this matter. The English partridge is near akin to the quail, but it also is held accountable for only one brood in a season, though I have seen half-grown birds when the shooting period was well advanced. At any rate, as regards pheasants, partridges and grouse, I can positively affirm that they only bring up one brood in a year as a rule, and I "hae nae douts," as a Scotchman would say, but that quails obey the same laws.

Now, in conclusion, referring to the previous portion of this letter, let me appeal to sportsmen to use the correct names for whatever species they may wish to designate. In the old days it did not matter in the least to the backwoodsman what he called his bird so long as it helped to fill his larder. Now, in a higher state of civilization, we must advance all around and give everything its proper, distinctive appellation. In England Phasianus torquatus is never called the Mongolian pheasant, so the few people here interested in these birds had better give it from the beginning its right and distinctive name of Chinese pheasant. To call them the Mongolian pheasant is as incorrect as to call them the Oregon pheasant, as I have just proved. The Mongolian pheasant is Phasianus Mongolicus, another variety. Such terms as copper pheasant instead of the Sommering pheasant, and green pheasant for the Japanese pheasant or versicolor, are also quite inadmissible and only lead to errors. However, this is a subject I intend to write fully about in another letter, as it is deserving of immediate attention.

I lately imported five hundred pheasants to cross with the birds of my own rearing here and thereby obtain new blood. The mortality en route was enormous, and experience has shown me that during their first Winter after their change they are not so completely impervious to its severity as they are afterward. However, I have a splendid lot of birds now penned for the approaching laying season and I expect them to produce fine, fertile eggs galore.

VERNER DE GUISE.

HOLLAND, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I noticed in a recent issue of the AMERICAN FIELD Mr. Morris Gibb's article on the introduction of foreign pheasants, and I wish to correct a few assertions he makes which I consider misleading.

He makes assertions but gives no proof or reasons to substantiate his claims. He quotes Mr. Bortree as follows: "The following states it seems to me, contain places where these birds would soon become very numerons: Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Arkansas, Lonisiana, Cumberland Mountains in Tennessee, North Carolina, and West Virginia," and adds: "The very fact of embracing Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan in the same list with Arkansas, North Carolina and Louisiana seems preposterous, and cannot fail to cause an observer to smile at the suggestion which advances an idea for the cultivation of foreign pheasants in these separated regions with their greatly different climates, resulting from widely removed lines of latitude and longitude."

What if the different states named have very different climates? That does not prove that a certain bird or animal will not thrive in most or all of them. The quail and the deer inhabit the frozen North as well as the sunny South. All will admit that there are regions where pheasants will not live; neither will grouse or quails thrive in all quarters; but in most places where suitable food is found they will obtain a foothold and increase.

Mr.. Gibbs asserts that pheasants cannot stand the cold of our Northern states. They are doing finely in Nova Scotia and Vermont. Pheasants, which I have here, did not seem to mind 15 degrees below zero last Winter. They were out in the open all Winter, and all know that last Winter was an exceptionally hard one. These facts prove conclusively that they can endure severe cold. It is simply a matter of food. If the birds can obtain that they can withstand almost any degree of cold. There is no doubt but what they will increase faster in a climate like that of Washington or Oregon than here, for the reason that there they will probably raise one more brood a year, and the climate is more favorable for the young birds; I mean that there is not the danger of the early broods being killed by late snows and cold there.

I now come to a paragraph in the article which is very ungenerous and "goes against the grain." It is this: "To all sportsmen of common sense it must be patent that it is a foolish undertaking to attempt the cultivation of foreign pheasants in the rigorous climate of the northern part of the Union." I am sure the writer of the above did not mean to say what he did. He simply let his enthusiasm in deciding this important matter get the better of his judgment. I imagine that the number (a number, by the way, that is constantly increasing as the sportsmen gain information on the subject) who are experimenting, as he says, with pheasants, are gifted with as much common sense as the average man. It does not require any particular amount of care to get them to breed, and they will soon become more than "curiosities" if a sufficient number of sportsmen will introduce them in different parts of the states.

But now for my reasons for introducing pheasants. Events have proven to me that we cannot rely upon the quails for sport. A hard Winter kills most of them. The ruffed grouse is getting very scarce on account of the diminishing of suitable country for them. Anyway, they are a very wild bird and prefer secluded haunts, and these are fast disappearing. It is very evident, for the reasons given, that no matter what protection the law may give these birds they can never be plentiful enough to furnish sport for our rapidly increasing number of sportsmen, therefore we have now to look for another bird to take the place of the ruffed grouse. Quails could stand the cold very well if they could secure food, but they will not feed on buds in trees as do grouse and pheasants. This is one habit of the pheasant which recommends that bird to us. They do not care for such heavy timber as the grouse, but prefer the edges of small patches of woodland near brooks and grain fields.

To sum up, they will thrive and grow plentiful enough to afford excellent sport in any country where food and water can be secured, and where there are patches of woods to furnish nesting places and afford protection and buds for Winter food; and this in any state, be it Michigan, Wisconsin, Louisiana or North Carolina.

Sportsmen, do not be led away from this important work by mere idle assertions, but redouble your efforts and show the doubters that the pheasant can take care of itself in any climate. There are always some who will not admit a fact until they are forced to, and some will never admit it. You know you occasionally read of someone, even now, who will not admit that trout culture is a success. If my time permits, in another issue of the AMERICAN FIELD I will give my experience with the pheasant in confinement.

ARTHUR G. BAUMGARTEL.

STEVENSON VS. WELLS, FARGO & CO.

A decision of considerable interest, and one which will prove a valuable precedent, has just been rendered by the Supreme Court of Ohio in the case of James H. Stevenson, plaintiff in error, vs. Wells, Fargo & Co., defendant in error. The suit was for the recovery of the value of a W. C. Scott & Son premier quality gun and other articles, which Mr. Stevenson expressed from San Francisco, Cal., September 21, 1889, upon his return from a trip abroad, to his home in Fremont, O., mention of which loss we noted at the time. The circumstances in connection with the case at the time were as follows: Mr. Stevenson, contemplating a few side trips, concluded to send his hunting outfit to his home direct, and packed in a pine box, about four and a half feet long, eight inches wide and ten inches high, his W. C. Scott & Son premier quality gun, a .32 Winchester rifle, a split bamboo rod with extra tips, and a German silver reel, and several curios. This box was securely nailed and accepted by the Wells-Fargo Company, upon payment of $9.15, the charges for shipment from San Francisco, and delivery to Mrs. Stevenson at Fremont. When Mr. Stevenson returned home, something over two months from date of shipment, he found that someone had extracted the Scott gun, the rod, the reel, and a few articles from the box. He at once wrote the company, notifying it of his loss, and demanded compensation. The company denied responsibility, on the ground the conditions of the bill of lading (the yellow receipt which the public is familiar with) limited the liability of a common carrier for loss by its negligence to a certain amount (in this case $50), and that a claim for loss must be presented within sixty days of acceptance of receipt. Mr. Stevenson estimated his loss at $355, and determined to sue the company for that amount.

Col. Bartlett, attorney for the Ottawa and Winnas Point clubs of Fremont, and an ardent sportsman, was engaged by Mr. Stevenson to prosecute the case for him. Suit was commenced in Court of Common Pleas of Sandusky County, O., July 3, 1891, which decided in favor of Mr. Stevenson. The case was appealed to the Circuit Court of Sandusky County by Wells, Fargo & Co., on June 4, 1892, and won. Mr. Stevenson, full of fight, appealed it to the Supreme Court of Ohio, which, as above stated, has just rendered its decision, which is in favor of Mr. Stevenson, allowing full amount of claim with court costs and interest at six per cent. The articles were evidently purloined while in transit, the box reclosed and so delivered.

As the decision is a valuable one, Col. Bartlett has kindly sent us a synopsis of the proceedings for publication, as follows:

Error to the Circuit Court of Sandusky County.

This suit was brought by the plaintiff in error in the Common Pleas of Sandusky County, against the defendant in error, to recover the value of certain property of his claimed to have been lost through the negligence of the defendant in error. The petition alleges that the defendant in error being a common carrier, as such on September 21, 1889, received the property in question at San Francisco, Cal., and undertook to safely carry and deliver the same at Fremont, O., for a consideration paid at the time. That it did not safely carry and deliver said property, but wrongfully and negligently failed to do so, whereby said property was wholly lost to plaintiff, to his damage.

An amended answer was filed by the defendant. It admits its incorporation, that it was a common carrier, and the receipt of the property in question to be by it safely carried and delivered, as stated in the petition, and denies each and every other allegation of the petition. The defendant further answers and alleges in substance in a third defense that the property in question was received and carried by it under a special agreement which provided: 1st, That it shall not be held liable for loss or damage for an amount exceeding fifty dollars, unless the true value of the property be stated; 2d, that they should not be held liable for any loss or damage unless a claim therefor be presented in writing sixty days from the date of the receipt (viz., September 21, 1889). That the plaintiff on request did not affix or state any value and did not make any claim in writing or otherwise, within sixty days from said September 21, 1889.

To this third defense the plaintiff filed a general demurrer, which was sustained by the Common Pleas, and the defendant afterward, without further pleading, went to trial, and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $388.75, for which judgment was entered. A motion for a new trial being overruled, the case was taken on error to the Circuit Court, where the judgment of the Common Pleas was reversed "for error in sustaining the demurrer to the third defense in defendant's answer."

On error to the Supreme Court, the judgment of the Circuit Court was reversed, and the judgment of the Common Pleas affirmed, on the authority of Gaines vs. Transportation Co., 28 Ohio St., May 7, 1875, without further report.

The case presents this question: Can common carriers, by an agreement with their employers, limit or exempt themselves from liability for loss occasioned by their own negligence, or the negligence of their servants or agents, and are the provisions of the alleged special agreement referred to and pleaded by the express company as a defense in this action conditions limiting or exempting it from its common law liability as a common carrier? Bartlett & Wilson, for plaintiff in error, contended:

Common carriers are bound to carry articles within the scope of their business without any other contract than such as the law would imply, citing 28 Ohio St., 441; 36 Ohio St., 453.

An employer is under no obligation to inform the carrier of the value of the property, and the mere fact that he fails to do so in the absence of any attempt or act to mislead or deceive him as to the value will not affect the legal liability and responsibility of the carrier. (23 Cal. 185.)

Entering into a contract limiting a common carrier's common law liability does not change his character from that of a common carrier to his ordinary bailee. He is still liable for negligence, and he cannot, like an ordinary bailee, stipulate for exemptions from responsibility for negligence of himself or his servants. (2 Ohio St. 131, 140; 17 Wallace, U. S. 357.) Such a contract cannot be pleaded by him as an exemption, for any loss or damage resulting from his own negligence. (37 Ala. 251; 39 Ind. 362; 52 Mo. 395.)

A common carrier is liable for the value of the goods lost through its negligence, notwithstanding the bill of lading provides that the carrier shall not be liable beyond an amount named therein, although less was charged and paid for the transportation than when the exemption clause is omitted. (28 Ohio St. 144, 150, 154; 28 Ohio St. 369; 6 Ohio, 359.)

By the law of Ohio common carriers are liable for the value of goods lost in their hands regardless of the presentation of any claim therefor in writing or otherwise, and an action therefor can be commenced and maintained against such common carrier at any time within the statutory limitation of such action without the presentation of any claim therefor.

James H. Fowler, for defendant in error, contended:

The shipper, accepting receipt, without dissent, so worded, and so printed and written as to be easily read and fairly understood, no means being employed to mislead him, must be held to know and to assent to its terms. 1 Am. 131 (100 Mass. 505); 6 Am. St. 847 (86 Tenn. 392); 7 Am. St. 105 (50 Arkansas, 397); 14 Am. 514 (36 Iowa 181); 10 Am. St. 575 (51 N. Y. 166); 26 Am. St. 107 (46 Kansas, 457).

A common carrier may limit his liability to an amount stated in a written receipt or contract in event of loss or injury to the property through his ordinary negligence, provided such contract is freely, voluntarily, and fairly entered into by the parties and is just and reasonable in its terms. 26 Am. St. 107 (46 Kansas, 457); 98 Mass. 239; 137 Mass. 33; 112 U. S. 331, and cases cited.

The rule laid down by this court in U. S. Exp. Co. vs. Backman, 28 Ohio St. 145, is not in harmony with the spirit of the age and the well settled law of the country, for it denies to parties the right in this particular to make their own contracts, "and it is earnestly requested that the question may receive that careful consideration which it merits, in the hope that the rule may be established by this court which better accords with justice and what we believe to be the weight of authority at present, in both this country and England."

Conditions in carriers' contracts limiting the time within which a claim for loss or damage must be presented are valid, the only requisite being that the time and manner of presenting the claim must not be unreasonable. Lawson's Rights, R. & P. p. 3164, Sec. 1844, and cases cited, and Secs. 1847-1849, and cases cited; 2 Am. St. 495 (68 Texas, 314); 21 Wall (U. S.) 264.

"This question, so far as we are able to discover, has never been passed upon by this court. It is squarely raised by the demurrer herein. The requirement contained in the bill of lading is in no sense a limitation upon the carrier's common law liability. The plaintiff was only required to present his claim in writing for the loss within sixty days from the receipt of the package, and, had he done so, he might have brought his suit at any time before the statute of limitations had barred his right."

PRAIRIE CHICKEN SHOOTING IN KANSAS

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—On August 30, 1892, after having passed the preceding twelve months in pleasant thought of what an enjoyable time I would have on a visit to my brother in Kansas, I bought a harvest excursion ticket over the popular Rock Island Railroad for the southwest part of Kansas, Fowler being my destination. My brother living there, of course had kept me well posted on the prairie chicken crop, and assured me that I could find all the birds I wanted to shoot at within four miles of town. The reader can readily see how accommodating the R. R. Co. were to have its excursion on August 30, for by [illegible] could reach my destination at 12:15 p. m.

Having equipped myself with my [illegible] which consisted of gun, coat, boots, and [illegible] (the contents, of course, being nothing [illegible] telegraphed my old-time friend Joe, at Topeka, who was to join me there, that I was on my way to the depot. Well, the train reached Topeka at 11:08 that night, and sure enough, as I stepped off the train to see if my old pard was there, the first thing I ran onto was his old companion, Mack. By Mack I mean his dog. Joe and his dog Mack and everything being put on board, the train was soon pulling out for our destination. I had obtained good seats, and as I had not seen my friend for nearly a year, we soon woke everybody up in the car with our old jokes and hearty laughs. It was a very short time, however, before Joe wondered what in the world I had in that odd looking valise. I told him nothing but ammunition, loaded shells, but that was no go. He soon examined the contents personally and remarked that he could agree with me that they were well loaded. It was now about 2 o'clock a. m., and the colored porter having supplied us with pillows we dropped to sleep. When I awoke we had just crossed the Arkansas River at Hutchinson, and Joe, poking me in the ribs, said: "Look! look!" And sure enough the train had flushed a covey of about twenty nice, full-grown prairie chickens. The sight of the birds, of course, woke me quickly, and there was no more sleep that night. We soon arrived at Lawson, where we ate a hearty breakfast and then again took our seats in the car, anxious to reach our destination. We enjoyed ourselves discussing various topics, but we would invariably wind up with dog or gun.

Promptly at 12:15 p. m. we landed at Fowler and were greeted by the rest of my party, consisting of my brother and uncle Ben. I introduced my friend Joe, whom they had never met, and after they had examined our guns and how my shells were loaded, we sat down to a splendid dinner prepared by my brother's better half. We had a pleasant visit that afternoon, and in the evening we arranged for the morning onslaught. I saw that my friend Joe was very anxious, so that after all was ready we retired, and the next thing I knew Joe said, with a nudge in my ribs, "Come, it's time to get up." I struck a match and it was just fifteen minutes to 12. I told it on Joe the next morning and he produced the cigars at once.

Well, I assure the reader that we got an early start, four of us. Joe and the writer were very raw, having had no chicken shooting to speak of for two or three years. After driving about two miles out from the station we put the dogs down. It was then just fairly daylight and cool. Old Mack and Dick, my brother's pointer, were soon covering the sandhills in nice form, and we only had to wait a little while to see a pretty sight. Old Mack came to a point off to the left and soon Dick came up and made a pretty back. Uncle Ben and my brother (presumably to get the laugh on us) said: "You get out and shoot and we will mark the birds down." As we each had a repeater with us, which they seemed to like, they thought we could kill all there was without any help. We got out of the wagon, walked up to old Mack and urged him on, and after he moved forward about twenty-five yards, up got a nice, full-grown chicken. I scored a kill. The dog stood stanchly and we pushed farther ahead when up got two more. Joe got his, but I scored a clean miss with three loads on what Uncle Ben soon pronounced "balloon sailing in the air." I reloaded the old Spencer and, of course, swore vengeance on the next chicken that got up. I soon had the opportunity to try my skill, only to hear Uncle Ben yell out: "See that balloon sailing sailing off there." I do not know, but I expect I said something. Anyhow the bird kept sailing and I was mad. They had also called Joe's attention to one or two that kept on going, and when we got through with that stand we had three nice birds and several marked down. (I did not count the empty shells.)

By this time the wire edge was off and I had blood in my eye. I took old Dick off to where I had marked down there, and I—well, yes, the first one got up about fifteen feet from me, and I assure you I got it before it had time to straighten out. We were now in the midst of as fine a prairie chicken country as lies out doors. Everything settled down and my brother with his Greener, and Uncle Ben with his gas pipes, or something like that, with what seemed to us regular mule ears on each side of them, took their turns with us. As we had no driver I got into the wagon to drive. The dogs made a stand and then it was my time. Uncle Ben fired both barrels at the [illegible] but it flew on just as if nothing had happened. I saw him turn the toes of a couple, and a [illegible] ble it was too, a few moments later. My brother [illegible] his old reliable 10-gauge Greener, had knocked down four birds out of this lot, and said he had not seen a balloon on his side of [illegible]. We had excellent sport until 8 a. m., [illegible] to the station. We got in just in [illegible], of course, could not sit down until [illegible] a few birds and had them cooked. We bagged just thirty-five birds that morning. As we could not consume the birds we had, we concluded to lay up until the following day in the afternoon and then try it again.

We spent the time very easlly, however ,and it was a short wait seemingly until our dinner was over the next day, and we were again in the wagon on our way out for more sport.

Joe cautioned me, and I took my extra grip along that afternoon. The dogs worked nobly and as the birds laid well to the dogs we had a nice chance to make a good bag. Joe and I struck one covey that got up nicely, and with our twelve loads we bagged ten chickens. Joe claimed six to my four, and I compromised by allowing him five, while I got five. Uncle Ben thought that was the prettiest sight he ever saw. When we counted the bag that evening we had sixty-five beauties. We laid up the following day, and on the fourth day got out early and shot all day, and on the morning of the fifth, having some excellent sport; but we did not have as good shooting as we did the evening we got sixty-five. Our neighbors all enjoyed prairie chickens and we got home with a couple of nice messes.

There were many incidents that occurred that made the trip one of the most pleasant and enjoyable of my life. Before we left for our homes it was unanimously agreed that we should meet in 1893, and all partake of another, as Uncle Ben said, "balloon ascension." One noticeable incident of the trip was, that Uncle Ben and Joe were always, as they said, out of shells, and were spending a great deal of their time going back to the wagon for more. I could plainly see that they always examined my grip before leaving the wagon. However, as we parted, Uncle Ben made the statement that those peculiar loads of mine were the finest he had seen for many a day.

JACKSON.

HARD SHOT VS. SOFT SHOT

BY HYATT L. FROST

It seems to have been accepted by some writers, without any question, that chilled shot will make a much closer pattern than soft shot. Some, however, may have doubted this for the reason that, as a rule, chilled shot has a greater number of pellets to the ounce, by measure, than soft shot, and consequently the number of pellets in a given space of the pattern is considerably greater. For instance, I find that No. 7 chilled shot made by the Sportsmen's Shot Works at Cincinnati, O., is practically the same size of this company's No. 8 soft shot, and No. 8 chilled will run 100 more to the ounce. A given number of pellets of the No. 8 soft and No. 7 chilled will weigh the same. Soft shot, though, being of slightly greater specific gravity than chilled shot, measure for measure of these two sizes, there are a few more soft than chilled shot. To put the matter more concretely, 1¼ ounces, Dixon measure, of No. 8 soft shot contain about ten or twelve pellets more than 1¼ ounces, Dixon measure, of the No. 7 chilled shot. I have heretofore made some tests, and incidentally took the difference in pattern between chilled and soft shot, but never noted the difference very closely. A few days ago I determined to make, in a small way, a careful test of this difference. I loaded twenty shells of the U. M. C. Smokeless brand 2¾ inches in length with 3¼ drams, Dixon measure, of E. C. powder, not tapped, or about 47 grains and 1¼ ounces of shot, or about 540 pellets, using one trap, 1¼-inch blackedge, and one common blackedge wad over the powder. Ten of these shells were loaded with the No. 7 chilled shot above named and the other ten with the No. 8 soft above named, and fired at 40 yards, and the result taken from a selected square foot of the pattern and from a selected 30-inch circle. The count of pellets was as follows:

MODIFIED CHOKE—(WILKESBARRE)

	Soft Shot 30-inch Circle	Soft Shot Square Feet	Chilled Shot 30-inch Circle	Chilled Shot Square Feet
	221	68	266	98
	257	70	258	87
	240	61	248	92
	231	67	296	102
	216	63	275	93
Average	233	66	269	94

FULL CHOKE—(WILKESBARRE)

	Soft Shot 30-inch Circle	Soft Shot Square Feet	Chilled Shot 30-inch Circle	Chilled Shot Square Feet
	275	88	312	125
	252	73	322	118
	265	82	315	117
	261	67	297	108
	243	75	279	101
Average	[illegible]	[illegible]	305	113

[illegible] find the average of both barrels [illegible]

	30-inch Circle	Square Feet		30-inch Circle	Square Feet
[illegible]	[illegible]	71	Chilled shot.....	287	103

I therefore find that by the 30-inch circle plan of taking pattern the chilled shot makes over 16 per cent. closer pattern than the soft shot, and that by the square foot plan of taking pattern the chilled shot makes over 45 per cent. closer pattern. Putting it differently: Chilled shot makes the modified choke more than a full choke of soft shot in a full choke barrel, and chilled shot in a full choke barrel makes an extra full choke of soft shot in a full choke barrel. This is deduced from the 30-inch circle plan of taking pattern. If we go to the square foot plan of taking pattern, we find that soft shot in a modified choke barrel makes the difference over chilled shot in a full choke, of a full choke barrel over the cylinder barrel where the same kind of shot is used. It must be observed from the above figures that the variation between soft and chilled shot in either the modified choke or the full choke is unitorm, practically, in each load. The above tests, which were the only ones made by me, may, perhaps, show by the square foot plan of taking pattern a greater difference between soft and chilled shot than might be developed in some guns with some makes of shot. I feel quite certain that in any case, by any plan of taking the pattern, there will be shown at least 15 per cent. difference in favor of chilled shot for close pattern.

Now a word as to the reliability of the manner of taking pattern. I think the 30-inch circle plan quite faulty. It does not show the real variation in the killing power of the gun. This is determined by the number of pellets that will strike a given small object. The square foot plan comes much nearer determining accurately how many pellets will strike the small object fired at. The trouble with the 30-inch circle plan is, that with a full choke gun the 30-inch circle is much greater than the killing circle, and there is a large margin between the killing circle and the 30-inch circle that only slightly increases the pattern by reason of this margin showing only scattering or wild pellets; but with a cylinder or a slight choke gun the killing pattern is perhaps the full equal of the 30-inch circle. For these reasons the Parker system of 24-inch circle taken at 45 yards is much more reliable and accurate, and I think the square foot also equally as reliable as the Parker system.

It will be noted by the explanation in the beginning that the ounce and a quarter of soft shot contained a few more pellets than the ounce and a quarter of chilled shot, so that were the pellets exactly the same size, the difference would be still more marked than I have shown above. It being undoubtedly a fact that the above data are approximately correct, the question arises what is the cause therefor? This is an important matter and I would like some opinions as to the cause of the great difference. The correct explanation is certainly of great interest to sportsmen and the matter should be carefully investigated by them.

Connersville, Ind.

CONGRATULATED BY TELEPHONE

BY EMMETT BOSTICK

"Hello, Mr. Editor."

"Hello."

"Please connect me with Connersville, Ind."

"Hello, hello. Is that Mr. Hyatt Frost's office?"

"Yes, this is him talking; what can I do for you?"

"This is Emmett Bostick of Atlanta, Ga. I simply wanted to congratulate you on that reply of yours to Amicus' story of November 10 in the AMERICAN FIELD."

Mr F—: "Thanks! Glad someone is with me on the subject. It was a pretty hot shot, wasn't it?"

Mr. B—: "You bet; just exactly what the doctor ordered, a regular hot air touch. I had the same idea, but put it off till too late."

Mr. F—: "Say, what do you think of that double shooting of Mr. Cooper's, anyway?"

Mr. B—: Well, there might have been some excuse for Amicus if Mr. Cooper had been using a 'pump' gun, but after reading his story I came to the conclusion that all those birds had strings tied to them."

Mr. F—: "Do you know that if people would write just what really happens while hunting or fishing, without drawing on their imagination too much, their articles would be much more enjoyed?"

Mr. B—: "Right you are. Well, I must quit you now, so will ring off. Good-bye."

Atlanta, Ga.

NOTES

THE Ocklockonee Club is the title of an organization which has been formed with headquarters at Lanark, Fla., and a shooting and fishing preserve of 180,000 acres in the most healthful portion of Florida, easily accessible from the club's houses on the Gulf of Mexico, and on the line of the Carrabelle, Tallahassee & Georgia Railroad, special favors being granted by it to all members. This vast preserve is located in Leon, Wakula and Franklin counties, the whole being set apart for the sole use of the Ocklockonee Club by the Clark Syndicate Companies in Florida, the standing of which may be better judged when it is known that the directors are Wm. Clark, of thread fame, of Newark, N. J., Robert Cumming, R. B. Symington, and W. A. Simmons of New York, Chas. M. Zeh of Newark, N. J., and F. T. Myers of Tallahassee, Fla. That this section of Florida is a sportsman's paradise is amply attested by the series of articles written by Judge Richard C. Long and published in our columns during January, 1894. A commodious and elegant hotel, with numerous cottages, bathing beach, boat piers, and railroad and steamboat facilities are a few of the attractions to induce membership aside from the glorious sport to be obtained on the preserves. The company expects to make this the ne plus ultra of clubs for Winter sport, and in its formation it has made haste slowly so that its membership, when completed, would include only those of high character and moral standing. About a score of New York people have subscribed, and the company's acting secretary, Mr. C. A. Gilbert, is now in Chicago for the purpose of presenting the advantages of a club membership to that city's well-known sportsmen and business men, and from the prospectuses and illustrations of the club's holdings, which we have been favored with, we believe it will be an ideal Winter resort, and a membership in it will soon be as highly prized as any in the United States. The limit of membership is placed at one hundred active members, and the capital stock one hundred shares at a par value of $100.

FOR fifteen years I have read the AMERICAN FIELD, and as I am becoming more attached to it every year it must be evident that I have gained some valuable information from it as well as passing many pleasant hours in its perusal. Having been born with a strong love for the gun and rod, and being lucky in having a congenial life partner, I have enjoyed many pleasant days at the trap and in the field. Having four girls and no boys I call my youngest, Mina, "my boy," she having become quite a good shot with the rifle as well as the shotgun; but Mina has learned a thing or two, as the following lines, written by her, will prove, which I think will make some old heads smile—the same as I did when she showed them to me:

I'm lounging in my hammock,
  In front of our old camp door;
Max is lying on the grass,
  While Jack is sprawling on the floor.

The sun has sunk in splendor,
  Leaving its rays behind,
Which fall on the camp and surroundings,
  And make it a picture sublime.

We're here after deer and antelope,
  Though we haven't seen any as yet;
But before we break camp and start homeward,
  We'll have one or two, you can bet.

If we can't shoot them ourselves,
  We will hire the guides to do it;
For having caught the buck fever,
  We must get a deer or we'll rue it.

And when we get home and show them,
  To everybody far and near;
We will tell them how we killed them
  Just by aiming behind the ear.

What matters it, if we missed them,
  As long as the guides laid them low?
We'll take them back to our friends
  And say that we killed them, you know.

Batavia, N. Y. W. C. HARRISON.

THE prospect for quails and pinnated grouse was never poorer than at the present time. The great heat, together with the drouth of the past month, will doubtless destroy the eggs of these birds. The thermometer has ranged in the neighborhood of 100 degrees in the shade, with great regularity, during the past ten days. The drouth has rendered the growth of vegetation very light. As a result the eggs of quails and grouse will be destroyed by the heat, and what do escape the heat will be devoured by the crows, which, on account of the drouth, are reported by the farmers to be playing havoc with the turkey eggs. One farmer told me had lost nearly all his turkey eggs this season; but the farmer had his revenge and one morning when the crows came for eggs they got lead instead and eleven crows found that that farmer could work his trigger finger lively enough yet. If we had more of this kind of sportsmen we would soon have more game and song birds, for the crow is a worse enemy to game than the hawk. He not only destroys the eggs but also eats every young bird or animal he can overcome; and small chickens are often caught by crows, while a great many blame the hawks for the mischief.

Princeton, Ill. GEO. O. GREENE.

THE new game law of New York, which was signed by Gov. Morton on June 7, makes the open season on deer August 16 to October 31; with a limit of two deer to each person. Open season on squirrels, hares and rabbits, September 1 to November 30; the use of ferrets is prohibited. For all web-footed wildfowl, the open season is September 1 to April 30. Quails, open season during November and December. For woodcocks and grouse, open season August 16 to December 31. During May, June, July or August, plovers, snipes and English snipes must not be shot or had in possession. The snaring, netting or trapping of any game bird is prohibited. A very important clause, and one that is open to much criticism as inciting the destruction of birds and other game in sister states which are so unfortunate as to be located over 300 miles from the borders of New York state, permits game dealers to have in possession game or birds which they can prove were shipped from points beyond that distance.

In accordance with the resolutions introduced by Mr. Strell and adopted by the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association at its convention last Monday week, calling upon the legislature of Illinois to pass the game bill, known as House Bill 715, and which were forwarded to Springfield the Tuesday following, the bill was brought up for action Friday, June 7, and adversely acted upon, practically killing it. But on last Monday Representative Challacombe secured a reconsideration of the vote by which it was tabled and then had the bill made a special order for Tuesday, and so again the fate of the game bill hangs in the balance.

New Jersey's Fish and Game Commission has completed the compilation of the game and fish laws of that state, including every law up to May 1, 1895, and had them printed in book form. They make a book of 113 pages, and it is said that 5,000 copies will be printed and distributed, so that no man in all the state who wishes to be informed as to the laws can plead ignorance as an excuse for a violation.

The carpenters of the Great Northern Railroad are now constructing a bridge across the Flathead River in Washington, and when finished it will afford easy access to the country in the vicinity of Lake McDonald, just beyond Kalispell, where it is said deer, grouse and partridges are very plentiful. Lake McDonald is said to abound with trout, but heretofore it has been cut off from the railroad by the Flathead River, which is not always fordable.

Mr. H. P. Kennett, chairman of Montana's game and fish commission, says that the commission means to see that the game and fish laws of the state are enforced. A state game warden is to be appointed at once and then with his assistance and diligent work on the part of the commission, violators of the laws will be speedily apprehended and promptly punished.

Mr. Samuel Fullerton, executive officer of Minnesota's state game commission, has recently discovered that two of the hotels at Hibbing, that state, have recently been serving moose meat to their guests, and he will at once bring suit against the proprietors of these hostelries for violating the game laws.

The New York State Fish and Game Protective Association, it is said, is to be incorporated under the general laws of the state, and the principal business office of the association is to be located at Syracuse.

NEW PATENTS

The following patents in the sporting goods line have just been issued and are reported especially for the American Field by Joseph H. Hunter, attorney at law and solicitor of patents, Washington, D. C.:

Exercising apparatus, Ibrahim G. Kheiralla, Chicago.

Cartridge belt, John B. Williamson, Louisville, Ky.

Breech mechanism for ordnance, Jean B. G. A. Canet, Paris, France.

Cycle skate, Alpha O. Very, Springfield, Mass.

Bowling alley, William H. Wiggins, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Horse spreader, William B. Morgan, Minneapolis, Minn.

Base ball game illustrating apparatus, Melvin D. Compton, Newark, N. J.

Crimper for cartridge loading machines, Gershom M. Peters, Cincinnati, O.

Target trap, Arthur M. Jenkins, Norristown, Pa.

Cartridge and charge therefor, Hudson Maxim, New York City, N. Y.

Cartridge and cartridge charge, Hudson Maxim, New York City, N. Y.

Combined billiard and pool table, George Rommed, New York City, N. Y.

Bicycle saddle, Arthur L. Garford, Elyria, O.

Ice velocipede, Oliver Mattox, West Union, Pa.

Catcher's glove, Elroy L. Rogers, Chicopee, Mass.

Row lock, Michael F. Davis, Detroit, Mich.

Oar, Michael F. Davis, Detroit, Mich.

Bicycle lamp, Lewis F. Betts, Brooklyn, N. Y.

An Accomplished Fact

May 19 the Nickel Plate Road inaugurated a new train service. The new Summer schedule affords the same number of trains as before, including through service between Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston. The improvements also embrace the shortening of time of trains between all of the above cities. City ticket office, 111 Adams Street, telephone Main 389. Depot, 12th and Clark streets, telephone Harrison 200. Advt. 66

Facilities for Travelers

The Nickel Plate Road now offers greater facilities to the traveling public than ever, the improved service having been inaugurated May 19. No change of cars between Chicago, New York and Boston in either direction. Superb dining cars between Chicago and Buffalo in both directions. Trains leave Chicago 8:05 a. m. daily except Sunday; 1:30 and 9:20 p. m. daily for Fort Wayne, Fostoria, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, New York and Boston; 1:30 p. m. train arrives New York 6:30 and Boston 9 o'clock the following evening. City ticket office, 111 Adams Street, telephone Main 389. Depot, 12th and Clark streets, telephone Harrison 200. Advt. 65

Hunting

FIXTURES

Brunswick Fur Club's annual foxhound trials, October 28, ——. R. S. Turpin, secretary.

Dixie Red Fox Club's first annual meet, Rowland, Ala., October —. J. H. Wallace Jr., secy.-treasurer.

National Fox-Hunters' Association's second annual meet, Owingsville, Ky., November 18, etc. H. L. Means, secretary.

BETTER THAN THEY LOOKED

San Antonio, Tex.

Editor American Field: I believe that it was A. Conan Doyle who said: "Strange it is and wonderful to mark how upon this planet of ours the smallest and the most insignificant of events sets a train of consequences in motion which act and react until their final results are portentions and incalculable. Set a force rolling, however small, and who can say where it shall end or what it may lead to? Trifles develop into tragedies and the bagatelle of one day ripens into the catastrophe of the next." I have been greatly impressed with the truth contained in the above sentence.

I left my home in San Antonio, Texas, on November 16, 1894, as a delegate to the south and west trade congress, which met in New Orleans on the twenty-third. After spending ten or twelve days most pleasantly in the Crescent City, I found it necessary to visit Montgomery, Ala., on business. After I had finished my business there I found that it was necessary for me to go to Selma, and upon my arrival my first inquiry was for Major C. W. Hooper, the noted fox-hunter of this section of Alabama. I found him at his place of business and introduced myself as a fox-hunter from Texas anxious to see his justly celebrated pack of red fox foxhounds. He met me with that cordiality which ever characterizes the true huntsman, and at once invited me to visit his kennels and see his hounds.

The kennels contained sixteen hounds, and I must say that I was not very well impressed with the looks of them. Major Hooper has no special strains, but a mixed pack selected from the best strains in the United States. He never sells foxhounds, but occasionally buys, and only such as prove after trial to be first-class. The oldest hound in his pack is Pearl, eight years old, a Pardue bitch from Saulsbury, Md. He has her two puppies, Lee and Gordon, by Cleveland, a full-blooded Whitlock (shaggy); Dimple, a Walker and Maryland cross; Dido, bred by Mr. Trigg; Francis and Grover, from Spearville, Virginia; Luther, from Meyers, of St. Louis; Blue, half Byron, half Wild-goose, from Maj. G. V. Young; Dock, Maud and King, from the Cyclone Kennels; and four Julys, Birdsong cross. After looking at the hounds I told him that none of them up to the standard for judging American foxhounds, fixed by the Brunswick Fur Club.

His reply was: "Did you ever hear of the Brunswick Fur Club catching a red fox?"

I could only reply that the secretary, Mr. Bradford S. Turpin, wrote me that the club had been unsuccessful in making the red fox take to his hole.

He replied: "Then come and go with me. My neighbors tell me that there are some red foxes some twelve miles below here, and I think if we can find a trail my hounds will soon convince you that they possess merit and are in all respects first-class after the wily fox."

I accepted his invitation, and soon a party was made up, consisting of Major C. W. Hooper (the owner of the hounds), Joe Smith, J. E. Edwards, Frank E. Blackwell, Hooper Adams and myself. Crossing the Alabama River, we drove down the river for eighteen miles, passing through a number of plantations, until we reached the place where our hunt was to begin.

The first night's hunt there was a misty rain and the night was dark. After a short ride the hounds gave tongue, and in a short time they were off in full cry, not trailing over ten minutes before the fox was up and going at a rapid pace. He started for the river bottom, but before he reached the main thickets the pack pressed him so closely that he returned to the brush on the hills and began to make short tacks like a wildcat. Soon he made another effort to reach the cane bottoms, but before he got half way the pack caught and killed him. Time thirty-two minutes.

Not content with this chase Major Hooper insisted on another. So we started again for the brush on the hills, and before many minutes hounds gave tongue, and after some beautiful trailing they "jumped the fox." Then it was that we had it up and down hill, over pasture and cotton-field, along the river bank, and in and out of the canebrake. For an hour and one-half there was an incessant cry of the hounds until the fox was caught. Time one hour and thirty minutes.

The next day was spent in the woods after deer. The hounds were running all day, but no one got a shot at a deer. After the hounds were out of hearing I went to look for wild turkeys, and was successful in killing two. On our return from the deer [illegible] began to shoot quails, and having two fi[illegible] along we were quite successful, killing [illegible] five birds. We returned to our head[illegible] and spent the night.

Early at dawn we saddled horses and w[illegible] the red fox. Just at daylight the Whitlock shaggies gave tongue, and soon the Birdsongs (all young hounds) put in. Then Grover and the other old ones entered into the chase. It was a running trail, and being mounted on a splendid horse I determined to see the best hound. The trailing could not be excelled; the pack was bunched together and kept the trail without losing it for a moment. We had gone about a mile when the start was made. The fox had entered a cotton-field and as soon as the pack began to press him he took to the hills. Then it was I saw the hounds do their best, and it goes without saying they performed according to the "queen's taste." I had a splendid view from a hilltop as the hounds were crossing a field. Sometimes the shaggies were in the lead, then Grover, then Luther, and occasionally one of the old hounds would get the lead on a turn and make it lively for the young ones. This fox was caught in just twenty-two minutes—that is, he went into a hole, which saved his life.

I was satisfied with the hounds. They are all first-class, and if I had the pick of the pack I could not say which I would prefer. I left for Texas with the reflection that a mixed pack of thoroughbred hounds are probably better than any one strain, for they combine the virtues of all. W. L. Thompson.

[The standard for the American foxhound was not fixed by the Brunswick Fur Club; it was drawn up by a committee of seven appointed by the National Fox-Hunters' Association.—Ed.]

TENNESSEE ITEMS

Nashville, Tenn.

Editor American Field:—I have read with much pleasure several articles in the American Field lately about fox chasing, and I am glad to see the increased interest manifested in this sport in several different parts of the country. I think it is destined to become the national sport of America, for when all such game as quails, squirrels, rabbits, and other small game have become a thing of the past the fox will still be here, and many lovers of sport who never knew what it was before will turn their attention to fox-hunting.

We have some good fox chasing here, in Tennessee, but the main drawback to the sport here is a lack of covering for the fox, on which account we are compelled to confine our hunting to night time, but a good run by moonlight is about as good as by daylight. Indeed I think it is better for several reasons. A fox will run much better at night, and the hounds will run better, and on a still night you can hear the chase much better, as that is all there is in it for a "Simon pure" fox-hunter. There are very few foxhounds that can catch a red fox on the ground. Neither do we want to catch them. But if the pack should catch one and we failed to "strike" the next time we went out, we would soon find ourselves expressing regrets over having killed "that last fox, for he was such a good runner," etc. However, we have foxhounds here that do catch them occasionally, unless they go into the ground or up a tree, and the latter is not infrequently the case here, incredulous as it may seem to those who are not acquainted with Mr. Fox. If hard pressed he is not particular about what kind of a tree, but will go up any tree with rough bark on it, if not too large.

We have some very good foxhounds here of no particular breed, but the "Redbone" stock seems to predominate, and as a rule they are good runners; however, there are a few exceptions. I have a friend living at Baker's Station, a short distance from Nashville, who has as fine looking a foxhound as I ever saw, and it is a remarkable puppy. No matter how often my friend puts him in ahead of the pack and in sight of the fox, one hundred yards is his limit; he then gets that "tired feeling" and shows a great inclination to lie down and rest. The most remarkable part of it is that all the other nine of the same litter are fine runners, in fact, two of them, Hindoo and Fullery, are cracker-jacks. But Old Blue (that is the name of my friend's dog) is a duffer, and my friend only keeps him with the hope that some good foxhunting brother will suggest a remedy for that "tired feeling;" he and I will watch the columns of the American Field eagerly to see if anyone has anything to say on the subject. We would like to hear fro[illegible] Ramsey of Kentucky, Luttrell of Georgia, or W[illegible] of Alabama. W. E. M[illegible]

NOTES

Those parties who are buying red foxes that are [illegible] the county of Bath, state of Kentucky, should [illegible] that the N. F. H. A. expects to meet here [illegible] and that we want all the foxes that are [illegible] in sufficient quantity for the success of [illegible] only keep them here. One gentleman told me yesterday that he knew where there are seven dens with five to eight cubs in each den: he said there are forty cubs in the seven dens. There are to-day not less than one hundred and fifty to two hundred cubs within a radius of eight miles of our little town of Owingsville, Ky., in the county of Bath. So please ask them to stop buying them. By so doing you will confer a favor on all who have the success of this meet at heart.

Owingsville, Ky. S. C. ALEXANDER.

FOXHOUNDS are offered for sale this week by Mr. G. E. Carr, Hollister, Mass., and Mr. H. Oldenhage, Kahoka, Mo.

Fish and Fishing

FIXTURES

Chicago Fly Casting Club's open-to-the-world tournament, August 24. F. B. Davidson, secretary.

BROOK TROUT IN OHIO

CLEVELAND, O.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—To those persons who are accustomed to journey to some favorite locality in the mountainous sections of the country for the pastime of trout fishing, the idea of casting for the speckled beauties in Ohio—excepting, perhaps, on club grounds or private property—will be very likely greeted by many of the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD as mythical, a vision of the writer and extremely improbable. But it is a fact, nevertheless, that mountain trout are to be taken in at least five different streams in Northern Ohio, each within a short distance of the other, and only one of which is situated on property forbidden to trespassers. Located on the Western Reserve, a section of the state that is yet noted for its dense woods, inland lakes, spring brooks and conservative people, and less than thirty miles distant from Cleveland, are several ideal trout brooks. And more voracious specimens of the Salmo fontinalis it would be hard to find—any kind of bait or hook being greedily seized and swallowed.

A pleasant drive of twenty-eight miles, directly east of Cleveland, through a charmingly picturesque region abounding with numerous hills and valleys and adorned, here and there, with the pleasing sight of comfortable, well-appointed farmhouses and fields clothed in the deep verdure of June, brings one to Bass Lake, an inland body of water widely known to anglers, from the unusual number of large-mouthed black bass that are annually taken from its placid waters. This lake is situated in a valley and from the hills around, more especially on the north and west sides, come several clear, swift-running spring brooks.

But about the trout. Nearly twenty years since, Mr. George C. Smith Sr., one of the most extensive land owners in that vicinity, conceived the idea of stocking a brook on his farm with mountain trout. The plan was executed and the experiment was a success, the fishes readily adapting themselves to their surroundings and multiplying rapidly each season. The brook was carefully guarded, and thereafter the mountain trout was a delicacy frequently served at the family table of Mr. Smith. But some of the older fishes, however, entered the lake and started on a exploring tour. They found their way up the inlet, and wherever a spring brook joined its cooler forces, they paused and established themselves, some even continuing to the Chagrin River—where one pound specimens are frequently taken—and some, doubtless, into Lake Erie.

For a number of years this fact was not generally known, interest being centered in the Smith Creek—more familiarly known as "Coldbrook"—and its mottled inhabitants. The presence of trout in one of the streams with which this article has to do was practically unknown until as late as the Spring of 1886, from the fact that its banks were overgrown with grass and bushes in many places and it was considered too small, noisy and uninviting even for a farmer boy to stop long enough to cast for a bass minnow on his way to the lake.

The stream referred to emanates from a ledge of rocks in a deep ravine on what is known as the Phelps farm [illegible] away. It crosses the road, [illegible] ns in the Kilburn meadows, [illegible] ake, and is a full mile and one- [illegible] its starting point in the ravine to where it joins the inlet in the cool of the woods.

One hot, sultry day in July of the above year, the writer was walking quietly along the brookway in quest of woodcocks, when his attention was attracted by the lightning-like antics of some small fishes that were darting through the riffles, occasionally leaping out of the water, and carrying on at a great rate. It was quickly discovered that the fishes were none other than mountain trout, and the mystery surrounding their presence in the brook was a problem easily solved. An alder served right well for a fish-pole that day, and something like twenty of these beautiful fishes were taken from points near by in less than an hour, fully a half of which weighed a quarter of a pound apiece. This brook was often visited afterward, Mr. E. G. Ellis, a veteran angler, formerly of Elmira, N. Y., frequently accompanying the writer and taking an intense interest in the sport.

The stream is located three miles southwest of Chardon, the county seat of Geauga County, and is accessible to fishermen. Mr. A. D. Downing, a well-known resident of the town, a banker and retired gentleman, is a fisherman of the old conservative school and a first-class companion and guide with which to visit the trout brooks. He is also well posted on the bass fishing in that vicinity.

R. L. DENTON.

NOTES

THE second bi-weekly medal contest of the Chicago Fly Casting Club was held last Saturday afternoon, at the usual place in Garfield Park, Chicago. There was an excellent attendance of members and friends. The executive committee had decided to drive stakes in the lake and affix six buoys permanently, three for the dry fly light rod casting event, at 35, 40 and 45 feet, and three for the accuracy and distance event, for 8½ ounce rods and under, at 45, 50 and 55 feet. This lake not having any boats in it it was necessary to procure one, and accordingly President Strell and Secretary Davidson secured the only available craft in sight, a fourteen-foot rowboat which had been lying out of the water a year. This boat was launched at the end of the lake nearest to it, and the two officers paddled for the lower end, where the buoys were to be set. Hardly had they got under way when the boat began drinking water through every lap, and gauging the capacity of the boat they concluded she would just fill by the time the lower end was reached, and so it proved, for its nose was shoved in the mud just in time to prevent foundering. The club's man, John, then bailed it out, the six buoys and stakes were thrown in and Secretary Davidson and John started out to set the stakes. John bailed incessantly and Secretary Davidson handled the "pile driver;" after three stakes were driven, they changed positions, and just as the sixth stake was being driven John yelled "she's sinking," and both paddled with a will for shore, but which was not reached and the boat laid on the bottom, a foot under water. John tried to carry the Secretary on his back, like the "old man of the sea," but the mud was soft and John got stuck, so they both walked up out of the wet. As the water at its deepest was not over five feet no fear was felt for their safety at any time and the sport afforded by the ludicrous episode was uproarious, reminding those present of a somewhat similar experience when the redoubtable Essig essayed the task of setting the buoys at the club's World's Fair tournament in 1893, when he used one of those Samoan crazy outriggers, and while he was leaning over affixing a buoy a jolt of the craft upset him and his head went under water, his feet in the air, and his hands grasping air, an instantaneous photograph of which position was taken by Tom Mills and is now on exhibition at his store in New York.

The scores of over 80% and medal winners of last Saturday's contest are as follows, President Geo. W. Strell scoring all events:

Long Distance Fly Casting: B. W. Goodsell, 86 feet, winning medal; C. Essig, 80 feet.

Dry Fly Casting: J. E. Strong, 96%, winning medal; B. W. Goodsell, 93 1-3%; F. B. Orr, 80%; C. Essig, 90 2-3%. F. B. Davidson, worn out from his labors on the water, was not in form, but scored 89%.

Distance and Accuracy Fly Casting: C. Essig, 92%, winning medal; B. W. Goodsell, 91 2-3%; J. M. Clark, 91 2-3%.

Bait Casting for Distance and Accuracy: F. N. Peet, 97 4-5 av., winning medal; B. W. Goodsell, 81 4-5 av.; J. M. Clark, 73 av.; C. Essig, 58 4-5 av.; F. B. Davidson, 134 av.; handicap, 42 feet, net 92 av.

The third contest will be held at the same place, Saturday, June 22, at 2 p. m. The club will take an outing at Phantom Lake, Mukwonago, Wis., Saturday, June 15.

THE Onondaga County Anglers' Association held its annual fishing contest at Oneida Lake, N. Y., Friday, June 7. Soon after 6. a. m., the fishermen assembled at the Washburn House landing, at Brewerton, and O. G. Jones and G. W. Ingalls, acting as captains, chose their teams. At 7 sharp the explosion of a big firecracker sounded the onset, and the great contest had opened. The day was fine, the fishing was superb, and some great scores were made, as the totals show. Warren Tallman and Eugene Eastman caught fifteen black bass, smallest two pounds, three largest three and one-half pounds, total thirty-four pounds. Charles Mowry landed twenty-two pike that averaged about two pounds each. O. G. Jones caught thirty-three and one-half pounds of bass and pike. At 7:30 p. m., when another big firecracker announced the close of the contest, all the boats were in and the catch was weighed and the points counted. The contest was rather close: Captain Jones' side had a total score of 2,523 and Captain Ingalls' side of 2,453; total number of points, 4,976. When the fishes were weighed they were suspended on a screen and photographed. Next in order was a supper, part of the anglers being entertained at the Washburn House and part at "Nett" Wood's, the Syracuse newspaper men who were guests being banqueted at the latter house. Merchandise prizes were awarded as follows: C. H. Mowry and G. C. Corcoran divided first and second; W. D. Tallman and E. Eastman divided third and fourth; J. Baker, fifth; M. J. French, sixth; E. W. Houser, seventh; Louis Will, eighth; W. S. Morey, ninth; G. B. Wood, tenth; L. T. Ormsbee, eleventh; J. C. Milligan, twelfth; W. A. Hill, thirteenth; W. B. Tifft, fourteenth; J. E. Bierhardt, fifteenth; W. K. Squire, sixteenth; F. C. Brower, seventeenth; F. H. Stinard, eighteenth; F. B. Scott, nineteenth; C. W. Coleman, twentieth; F. B. Putnam, twenty-first; J. E. Coon, twenty-second; W. H. Schilley, twenty-third; I. Schwartz, twenty-fourth; A. F. Stinard, twenty-fifth; L. A. Stevenson, twenty-sixth; M. H. Schwartz, twenty-seventh; D. V. Ferris, twenty-eighth; Amos Podgham, twenty-ninth; C. F. Miller, thirtieth; R. A. Molyneux, thirty-first; A. Hahn, thirty-second; B. Klapetzsky, thirty-third; F. H. Hale, thirty-fourth; C. H. Barnes, thirty-fifth; E. J. Page, thirty-sixth; F. B. Garrett, thirty-seventh; W. H. Larrabee, thirty-eighth; A. M. Strong, thirty-ninth; F. E. Howell, fortieth; J. H. Smith, the booby prize.

THE new fish and game law of New York, a measure which has been commented upon previously in the AMERICAN FIELD, was signed by Gov. Morton on Friday of last week. One very proper clause establishes a uniform season for trout fishing—April 16 to August 31 of each year—whereas, under the old law, trout could be taken on Long Island and in Caledonia Creek on April 1, and troutsmen fishing in other waters in the state could not catch trout legally until April 15. Another desirable feature is the licensing and registering of nets, in practically the manner found so successful in Canada, and which measure Gov. Flower advocated in his annual message of last year. Tag numbers are furnished to the licensed netters, by which the ownership can be easily detected, and legal netters will be thus protected in their business from fish pirates, as all untagged nets can be seized and destroyed by the fish and game protectors. Section 149 increases and extends the powers of the state commissioners of fisheries, in the matter of issuing permits for the use of nets in certain lakes, and for certain kinds of food fishes which can be taken only in nets. Large quantities of such fishes have been propagated and liberated in such lakes as Oneida and Onondaga, and by the judicious use of the powers conferred the commissioners can insure an abundant supply of food fishes to the places adjacent to such lakes, and at reasonable prices for those varieties. One of the most important clauses of the new law repeals all ordinances that have been passed by county boards of supervisors, and prohibits further legislation by boards of supervisors, thus doing away with many conflicting fish and game ordinances enacted by the officials of counties, which adjoined in some cases. Taking fishes of any kind by drawing off water, by the use of dynamite, or taking fishes from a stream to stock private ponds or streams are all prohibited. Fishing through the ice in any waters inhabited by trout or salmon is prohibited. The open season for salmon, trout and landlocked salmon is May 1 to September 30; for bass, May 30 to December 31, with an eight-inch limit; for pickerel, pike, and wall-eyed pike, from May 1 to January 31.

THE same old story—allowing the catching of fishes during the spawning season—has so depleted Lake Michigan that the fishing industry has been almost killed at the head of the lake. The fishing tugs from St. Joseph, Mich., from Milwaukee and Chicago, have been compelled to suspend operations this Spring because their catches are so light that the returns will not pay their fuel bills. For some years the St. Joseph fishermen have caught no large whitefish, the main part of their catch of that variety being the small, black-finned whitefish, but they have made fair nettings of lake trout. This Spring, however, they were compelled to quit fishing to avoid running in debt for fuel. Now many Chicago fishing tug owners have taken in all their nets and have placed their boats in commission as excursion boats. They claim that so far this Spring no trout have been taken, and but few whitefish, the catches consisting entirely of perch and herrings, whereas, in former years profitable catches of trout and whitefish were made. One tug owner declares the constant and profuse use of round lift nets at the piers and breakwaters off Chicago is responsible, in a great measure, for the scarcity of many varieties; that all kinds of fishes are netted during the spawning season in vast numbers; that many thousands of little fishes are thrown out upon the wharves to die; and that millions are killed in the spawn contained in fishes caught just previous to the spawning time. This is a situation that demands prompt investigation on the part of the fish commissions of the states bordering on Lake Michigan, and stringent regulations should protect the few remaining fishes. The Milwaukee fishermen also make complaint that the fishing industry is unremunerative.

THE fishing schooner Mary Cabral recently brought to Boston the most singular fish that any of the "old salts" had ever seen, which many pronounced the original sea serpent. The creature was taken in a trawl at Le Havre Bank, and made a great fight before submitting to capture. The man who took it in said it came out of the water with its fin erect, its mouth wide open and looking as big as a barrel. It has been kept alive in a tub of water in the loft of John R. Neal & Co.'s store on T wharf. It is about five and one-half feet long, with a round, snakelike body, surmounted for its whole length by a fin eight inches in height. It has an enormous tail, which it is thought would give it almost any speed. But its chief feature is its mouth. The jaws are about seven inches long and the extent to which the mouth can be opened is limited only by the amount of room there is in which to open it. There are three rows of teeth, the first being about an inch long, and different from any teeth which any of the fishermen have ever seen. They are not saw-edged, like a man-eating shark's, or pointed, like a saud shark's, but are flat and bladelike, very sharp at the points, almost translucent, and slightly flexible. This is an entirely new kind of animal. Another of the same kind, but only about three feet long, was taken about two years ago, and drawings and a description were sent to the Smithsonian Institution, at Washington. These were examined, aud word was sent back that nothing of the kind had ever been seen there before. Drawings of this one have also been sent.

A PARTY of twenty-three came here fishing from Denison, Tex., consisting of H. Brooks and wife, F. A. Utiger and wife, W. H. Mills and wife, J. W. Creager and wife, Fred Hibbard and wife, F. E. Shaeffer and wife, N. H. L. Decker and wife, Miss Carrie Marshall, I. M. Standlifer and wife, J. T. Munson, W. P. Deering, Levi Lingo, D. I. Brumbaugh, Pierre Wilson, W. G. Terry and myself, and we are all staying at the Seaside Hotel, Frank Hetfield, proprietor. We are having splendid fishing of all kinds, and on the evening of June 6 I started out for tarpon for the first time since my arrival. I had very good luck, catching a tarpon of one hundred and twenty-four pounds, which measured six feet eight inches. This point in my judgment and experience far exceeds others for seacoast fishing. This is my second trip to this point, my first was last year. On June 14, last season, while out fishing for tarpon, a shark got on my hook and the boom of the boat's sail struck me in the back of the neck, knocking me head first into the channel, and the shark then got me by the calf of my left leg, taking me twenty feet down in the channel. However, I managed to pull myself up by the line which I had in my hand and which was tied to the boat, and when I pulled myself up to the boat I kicked the shark in the jaws at least twelve times, tearing a large gash in my limb, and the boatman then dumped me into the boat and we sailed for shore and landed the shark. That adventure laid me up for seven weeks. I am going out again and the AMERICAN FIELD probably will hear from me again before leaving here.

Ropersville, Aransas Pass, Tex. W. H. MULLER.

BLACK bass fishing has proved excellent so far as reports of the early fishing have come in. Chicago anglers will find grand sport at Cedar Lake, Ind., but a trifle more than thirty miles from Chicago and reached by the trains of the "Monon Route." An expert bait-caster who will spend the day there, being sure to take with him a good lot of small frogs for bait, will not have occasion to regret his trip. Another near by place which affords fine bass fishing is Paw Paw Lake, in Michigan, only twelve miles from St. Joseph. This is a beautiful little body of water, about three miles long, and the expert will find there plenty of bass which are worthy of his skill. The lower end of the Kalamazoo River, at Saugatuck and Douglas, is good bass fishing water and can be reached easily by the angler who is so unlucky as to be able to spare but a day at a time for his outings. Wisconsin furnishes almost unlimited opportunities to the bass fisher, to say nothing of muscalonge, pike, lake trout and brook trout. Camp Lake, sixty miles from Chicago, on the Wisconsin Central, is one place accessible for short stays which will give the angler ample returns for his time. At the Chain lakes, recently, two men caught eighty-two bass in two days' fishing. Bass are biting finely at Lake Gogebic; the Turtle Waters, Manitowish and Trout Lake are all furnishing excellent sport.

THE white bass are running, the first good catches were made last week. They began to bite on Tuesday, and "Nick," as everybody calls the lighthouse tender, put in almost the entire day and took out ninety-five of the gamy little silver sides. The next day he followed them up and made a string of over eighty. Many catches of two to three dozen have been made and casting for white bass is the sport at present. The fishes do not run quite as large as last season. They average one-half to three-quarters of a pound, but a few are taken that go one pound or more in weight. The early morning hours are the best, say from 4 to 9 a. m., although the bass will bite sparingly throughout the day, and then rather better during the evening and into the fore part of the night. The Chicago fisherman who has little time to spare from the desk or counting room can take the Graham & Morton steamer, leaving Chicago at 11:30 p. m., get a good night's rest and be at St. Joseph for the morning fishing; and if he can spare only one day he can return by a boat leaving St. Joseph either at 4 or at 10 p. m. These little white bass are sharp strikers and gamy, quick fighters for fishes of their size, and a man will find lots of sport in landing a dozen or two of them with a light bait-casting outfit.

St. Joseph, Mich. BAIT-CASTER.

ON Friday, June 7, Minnesota State Game Warden Fullerton, E. L. Farnum, his St. Paul deputy, and J. W. Nash, the Minneapolis deputy, seized from three Bohemian fishermen who have followed seining in the Mississippi River near Dayton's Point a three hundred foot seine—one of the finest made—with two meshes, one small and one large, valued at $400. The wardens were on watch at 4 a. m., but the men were not in sight, and the two deputies went down the river a short distance to look for them. While they were gone, the Bohemians came and hauled the seine in full view of the state warden, who waited until the seine was on the shore and then stepped from his place of concealment and seized it. The men showed fight and advanced upon him with paddles and a big knife, commanding him to give up the net. He drew his revolver and warned them that he would shoot, but they kept advancing upon him, but just when he feared he would be compelled to shoot his deputies came running up, and the three fish pirates took to their heels. As the warden has the net, he will not follow up the men.

IN Maine trout are now taking the fly finely. At Rangeley, on June 4, Mr. A. F. Lamb of Providence, R. I., caught a six-pound trout, the largest taken there up to that date with a fly. The same day Mr. J. B. Farnum of Woonsocket, R. I., took two fine trout—one of three pounds and one of four pounds; and the next day M. H. W. Clark caught one of four and one-half pounds, and several which were smaller. At the Upper Dam, Richardson Lake, four Boston anglers, in two parties, with two guides, caught recently thirty-one pounds of trout in a day, one fish of seven pounds, one of four and one-half pounds, one of three pounds, one of two and one-half pounds and some smaller ones. At Rangeley, says the Phillips Phonograph, Mr. H. A. Redfield and his son, H. S. Redfield, recently caught a handsome lot of trout; they took a seven-pounder, a four-pounder, and several of over two pounds each. The last afternoon they were out, Mr. Redfield caught a landlocked salmon of five and one-quarter pounds' weight. These are but a few of the many fine catches reported recently. Truly Maine is a paradise for the sportsman.

MR. W. L. WASHINGTON, of New York, a southern gentleman, who, by the way, is a relative of George Washington, who was a cousin of the present Mr. Washington's grandfather, covered himself all over with glory recently by landing the biggest yellowtail in the history of Catalina Island, Cal., catches. The monster tipped the scales at thirty-seven pounds, and it required a fight of an hour and a half to land him, Mr. Washington lacerating his hand severely in the struggle. His piscatorial majesty was baked under the experienced eye of the Hotel Metropole cook, and graced the table the same evening at the special dinner given for the Medical Association. A carpenter was busy all the morning building a wooden platter of sufficient size to accommodate the monster, and the fish was the piece de resistance of the banquet. For the past eight years Mr. and Mrs. Washington have spent their Winters in California, with only two exceptions, and now call themselves old [illegible]

THAT peculiar fungus which was [illegible] killing fishes in the Fox River, Ill., [illegible] its appearance in several parts of the country. The disease should be thoroughly diagnosed by the fish-culturists of the various states and a remedy for it be found if possible. In the Flint River, near Flushing, Mich., fishes have been dying by the hundreds. At Honeoye Creek, the outlet of Hemlock Lake; at Rockland Lake; and in the outlet of Canandaigua Lake, all in New York state, the same decimation of the finny tribe, by what appears to be the same disease, has been noted recently. From the widespread destruction caused by this disease, it can hardly be ascribed to local causes, we think, and the urgency of the case demands prompt action on the part of the state fish commissions wherever the disease has appeared.

THE discovery of a subterranean cavern near Starruca, Pa., a little village upon the Carbondale line of the New York, Lake Erie & Western Railway, was reported on May 22. When quarrying flagstones some workmen removed a layer of stone and opened up a cavern, through which flows a stream of greenish water containing speckled green fishes. These have no eyes, propel themselves by their tails, and always swim backward with a motion similar to that of the freshwater crab. Several of the fishes were captured and forwarded to the Pennsylvania State Fish Commission. The walls of the cavern were found to be lined with imperfectly formed, translucent stalactites and stalagmites, and explorations probably will ensue to confirm the possibility of the cavern being another Mammoth Cave.

THE leasing of the trout streams of Sullivan and Delaware counties, N. Y., by New York City fishermen has caused much trouble, says the Oswego Times. Assaults upon alleged trespassers have been common. At Claryville, the anglers who have been shut out from fishing in their favorite streams have formed "The People's Protective Association," with the object to "defend or prosecute all cases of interference with the liberty of its members in the lawful pursuit of their rights." Major T. Anderson, of East Brook, Delaware County, was recently fined thirty-five dollars for assaulting Mr. Walter St. John—a prominent resident—with a hoe handle. The Major found Mr. St. John fishing on his place, and without warning clubbed him severely.

LATE reports from California are that recent rains have interfered much with the sport of troutsmen who have tried fishing in small streams; but, says the San Francisco Chronicle, good reports are still received from the lakes and streams of the Sierras and from the extreme northern part of the state. It is rumored that the San Francisco Fly-Casting Club will hold a tournament before the close of the season. Many signs are said to indicate that salmon will make their appearance at an early date; from Santa Cruz has come word that several salmon have been taken already, and the fishermen there are expecting a good season.

MR. CHARLES H. MEIGS of New Haven, Conn., is spending a few weeks at Douglass & Emery's Blakesley Lake Camp, eighteen miles from Eustis, Me., and reports great sport with the trout. Spencer stream is alive with small fish and Blakesley pond gives the most exacting angler satisfactory results. Anybody wanting lively trout fishing should write to the above named gentlemen at Eustis, Me.

MANY complaints have been received recently from the Gunnison country, by Fish Commissioner Land, of Colorado, to the effect that fishways on the Tomichi have been blocked by the operations of irrigating ditches, and that trout cannot run either up or down stream. Mr. Land will investigate and see that all fishways are kept open to the free passage of fishes.

THE Canadian Minister of Marine has decided the Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence are a fishing resort, common to the people of both countries, hence the Dominion will not charge Americans the five-dollar license.

THE cisco season is on at Lake Geneva, Wis., and the anglers are making the most of the few days during which the delicate little fishes will rise for the fly.

GOVERNOR SHELDON, of South Dakota, [illegible] Dr. G. S. Agersborg, of Vermillion, fish [illegible] Clay County.

Natural History

THE REPTILES OF MICHIGAN—NO. 19

BY MORRIS GIBBS

Musk Turtle—Aromochelys odoratus (Bosc.).—Embraced by Miles, 1860, and Smith, 1879. Not a generally known turtle, as with the following species it is retiring in its habits, and not given to travel on shore. This and the next are both characterized by a narrow and very high-arched shell, the greatest height being behind the middle, beyond which the outline descends rapidly. In this species a distinguishing point lies in the shape of the lower or under shell—the plastron. Its hinder part or lobe is not more than one-half the width of the upper shell, or carapace, while in the next, the mud turtle, it is considerably wider.

This is a disgusting turtle, and has little to recommend it to observers. It always selects miry sections, seeming to prefer millponds and like situations where debris accumulates, vegetation stagnates, and slime and ooze smell to the heavens. In reeking borders of millponds, and where the deep pits of stagnant, miasma-producing muck are found, there one will meet with the musk turtle, if anywhere. But, as I said, it is little known, as no one cares to study it.

Although growing to a length of shell of five inches only, it is still a vicious little creature, and if it cannot drive an intruder away by a sight of its nasty, slimy, moss-grown shell, and stinking odor, it may thrust out its disproportionately large head and bite savagely.

Professor Hay says that the musk turtle lays three to five elliptical eggs, which are a little more than an inch long and have a hard shell. One kept in confinement by Agassiz laid after the middle of June.

This species takes its name from a strong musky odor which it emits in life, but it always seemed to me that its surroundings were enough to perfume it. Distributed from Maine to Florida, and west to Louisiana and Western Missouri.

Eastern Mud Turtle—Kinosternum pennsylvanicum (Gm.).—Distributed from Canada to Florida, and west to Texas and Western Kansas. Embraced by Smith and Miles. I have met with but one individual in the state. It is much like the last species in its habits, and adopts the same locations.

Painted Tortoise—Chrysemys picta (Schn.).—Mr. Geo. B. Sudworth, who made a careful study of the reptiles of Michigan, informs me that this species is common in our state. It is also embraced by Smith, 1879. This turtle is often confounded with the following, in truth, some authors only admit the western species as a variety of this one. Mr. O. P. Hay, in the Reptiles of Indiana, does not embrace the painted turtle, as he has doubts concerning it in that state. This is more of an eastern species, but its habits are in every way similar to the following turtle.

Western Painted Turtle—Chrysemys marginata (Ag.).—This is the commonest turtle we have; everyone is acquainted with it, because it is found about every pond and perennial mudhole in the land. A handsome turtle and easily recognized by its greenish shell and bright red spots.

In the month of June the females crawl upon the sandy shores of their selected ponds, and lay their eggs. This is not always done at night, as I have once witnessed the act of laying the eggs, and twice have stumbled upon the females digging the hollows for the eggs when the sun was shining. The little turtle throws out the sand behind her and settles into the hollow she is making, and after she has entered upon these duties it is not easy to disturb her. All things considered she makes a large space for a few eggs, as she scoops, claws or digs an irregular hole four or five by six or seven inches and nearly three inches deep. In two instances of which I took careful note, there were nine and eleven eggs respectively. In one case in which I killed and dissected a crawling female, to make sure of the number, there were seven eggs. These eggs are white, elliptical in shape, and about an inch and one-quarter long. The shell is tenacious, and more like tough skin than birds' egg shells. If the eggs are kept exposed and the sides indented they will retain their irregular shape and cannot be restored to the original form.

If the female is undisturbed she will cover the eggs with sand and then retire to the pond leaving the eggs to be hatched by the sun, which will take place in from six to seven weeks or more. Sometimes the old turtle travels quite a distance to secure a proper place for her eggs, and at these times she may be watched with interest by observers. My advice to interested strollers is to keep away from wandering turtles and to observe their movements in the Spring and early Summer. If [illegible] traveling over the sand—[illegible] water—during May, June [illegible] suppose that she is looking [illegible] posit her eggs. After she has selected a spot and begun digging she is not easily disturbed, and the observer can draw near without fear of scaring her away. At all other times turtles are exceedingly timid and will take to the water and keep out of sight so long as an intruder is near. As soon as a female has decided on a nesting site she seems to lose all of her caution, and I have stood within a yard of one while she was laying her eggs and covering them with sand.*

This little water turtle rarely reaches a length of shell of seven inches,and is usually from four to six inches long. It is a very docile species and will rarely bite. They make interesting pets and I think more individuals of this kind are kept in aquaria than all others. They are omnivorous and feed on worms, bloodsuckers and vegetable matter. It is not rare to see these little turtles as early as April 1, in warm, bright weather, and I have seen them in abundance as late as October 18. They are undoubtedly good to eat, but are so small that I imagine the experiment has not been tried.

Map Turtle—Malaclemmys geographicus (Le S.).—This is strictly an aquatic species and is partial to pure water, never—so far as I know—being found in small muddy ponds. It is common in some lakes, where it may be seen on logs and stones about the edges in May and June. But it is best studied along our rivers, where it may be found from April 20 to the latter part of June, occupying the stranded logs and half-submerged fallen trees. A familiar sight along the river is a fallen tree, old and water-worn, occupied by a row of turtles extending from the bank throughout the visible length of the trunk and limbs. During May and June, while bass fishing on the river, I have passed hundreds of such perches and have floated by thousands of basking turtles in a single day. The larger ones, which have each a shell of eight inches in length, plunge into the river when the boat is seen coming around the bend; the ones of four to six inches in length drop in a little later, while the more confiding little ones barely slide off before one reaches them. The large turtles are rarely captured, and I feel satisfied that very little is known about this species although it is so abundant.

Not infrequently, where only a small basking place is found, the turtles completely cover it on pleasant Spring days, and I have repeatedly seen the smaller individuals perched upon the backs of the larger ones. Twice I have seen them in tiers of threes, the under one scuttling off the log at my approach and carrying the others into the water. Ten and twenty turtles on a fallen tree in the river is not unusual, and I have seen thirty-seven of them basking at one time on one trunk.

I do not know that its flesh is ever eaten in my neighborhood, but I doubt not that it is excellent. De Kay, a celebrated naturalist, says the flesh of this tortoise is good. It is reasonable to believe the flesh of all of our turtles is not only nutritious but excellent in flavor. The experiment of testing its merits for the table should be made, for this species is so abundant that its availability as a food supply is worthy of the consideration of all.

A short description of this turtle will be given so that it may be distinguished from others. The upper shell is dark olive, and all over the carapace are greenish lines which form a network and divide the scales or plates (scutes) each into several divisions. Head, neck and legs dark green, with many lighter lines of greenish yellow. I have seen individuals of this turtle nearly nine inches in length of shell. The females average larger than the males.

The map tortoise, or geographic terrapin, probably never leaves the water or the rocks, logs and stumps at the edge of the lake or river, excepting when it makes its annual trips to deposit its eggs on the river banks or in adjoining fields. This turtle lays, to my knowledge, from thirteen to eighteen eggs, and, as was stated in the case of the snapping turtle, the smaller-sized turtles lay fewer eggs and the larger ones the greater number of eggs. The eggs of the map turtle are different in shape from all other turtle eggs of my acquaintance. They are nearly an inch and one-half long by nearly an inch in the smaller diameter. These eggs are laid in the sand if such a situation is at hand, but they are more often deposited in the black earth in low sections of land. Generally they are found on the highest parts of land, at the inner side of a bend in the stream, and where there is a long, shelving expanse. Professor O. P. Hay and Professor Harry Garman claim that the food of this turtle is composed of molluscs and crayfish.

Le Sueuer's Map Tortoise—Malaclemmys pseudogeographicus (Le S.).—Embraced by Miles and Smith in Michigan. I have never identified it, but learn that it is similar in habits to the last species.

*This fearless condition seems to be shared by the large marine turtles also at the time of depositing their eggs. A friend of mine who lives on the east coast of Florida told me that in the night time he had repeatedly walked up to a depositing female loggerhead turtle and caught a basketful of eggs as she dropped them.

NOTES

On last Monday afternoon the animals in the menagerie at Lincoln Park, Chicago, were removed from their Winter cages to the Summer dens. Keeper De Vry entered the cages and by fastening a rope around the neck of each large animal, and then using a whip vigorously while the men outside pulled on the rope, each animal was drawn from its cage into a small cage placed against the door of the large cage. Then the small cage was carted to the Summer quarters, where by a reversal of the method each animal was finally placed in its Summer home. There were two African lions, Leo and Major; a lioness—Jennie—and her two-year-old cubs, Emma Eames and Belle; a lioness, Topsy, a leopard, Billy; and a jaguar, Tripper. Keeper De Vry had considerable trouble, but sustained no injury until he tackled Topsy; she acted very badly, and in clawing the air furiously tore the fleshy part of his right thumb so it bled freely. But the plucky keeper bandaged it with an antiseptic bandage, and then finished his task. A large crowd of onlookers watched the proceedings, and cheered Keeper De Vry's plucky work as each animal was handled and subdued.

A LOGGERHEAD turtle which weighed 700 pounds is said to have been caught on the beach at Grove City, Fla., recently, which is a remarkable specimen, not only because of its great size, but because of three inscriptions on its shell, which shows that it is nearing the century mark, and has been quite a traveler. The first inscription was dated, "St. Augustine, Fla., April 24, 1821," and reads: "On Oct. 20, 1820, Spain ceded Florida to the United States. Hurrah for Uncle Sam!" The second inscription was made at "Key West, Fla., April 26, 1861," and is as follows: "A schooner brings the news that Gen. Beauregard fired on Fort Sumter April 12, 1861. I shall stick to my state." The third inscription was dated "Jupiter Inlet, Fla., March 4, 1894," and is as follows: "May you never get in the soup, but if you do, may Chauncey M. Depew be present to enjoy you." When caught the turtle had just left its nest and was making for the water. It was released after the following inscription had been added: "Grove City, Fla., June 1, 1895.—This country needs free silver and a strong foreign policy." When released the big chelonian made at once for deep water.

Travel

CAMP COOKERY

BY COLIN D. ANDERSON,
Compiler of the Epicure

The two following recipes are good in camp or elsewhere. I know of no other articles of food that are so shamefully treated as the following. The ham is usually not boiled enough, and the rice too much. It is easier to do things right than wrong, and both these recipes are worthy of extra attention.

TO BOIL A HAM

The first thing is to get a good ham. Take one of twelve to fourteen pounds' weight, pare the face of it with a very sharp knife, scrape the skin and wash it thoroughly and then put to soak for twenty-four hours in cold water; then give it another scraping and washing. Use a saucepan or boiler large enough to hold water sufficient to completely cover the ham. (Keep hot water handy to add as it boils away.) Put the ham on in cold water, at the back of the range, so as to heat gradually; move it forward as it commences to simmer. Put into a piece of cheese cloth six cloves, two bay leaves, a blade of mace and a sprig of thyme, tie them tight and let them boil with the ham. Note this point particularly—keep it skimmed Allow twenty minutes for each pound; time it from when it commences to boil. Allow it to cool in the water it was boiled in. To have cold take off the skin without tearing the fat. Press a folded towel over the fat to extract the surplus grease. Trim any ragged edges and give the ham a nice shape. Sprinkle with grated bread crumbs and put into the oven to brown. While it is browning dissolve one ounce of gelatin in water enough to cover it; when dissolved add three teaspoonfuls of Libby, McNeill & Libby's fluid beef and half a pint of boiling water, and put on the fire until about to boil. Then take the ham out of the oven, if it is nicely browned, and varnish or glaze your ham, using a brush or feather. The ham may require two or more coatings of the gelatin. After the glazing is completed ornament the knuckle with a frill cut from paper. Garnish with parsley and vegetables cut into flowers and fancy shapes. Take care of the ham skin; it is useful to grease griddles or pans.

TO BOIL RICE

Have a saucepan two-thirds full of water, boiling as fast as possible; add half a teaspoonful of salt. Wash a cupful of South Carolina rice in three or four washings of cold water, or put into a large strainer and let the cold water run through it for five minutes. This will remove the surface flour that always adheres to the grain. Then put it into the boiling water; the water is in such a state of ebullition that it keeps the grains dancing, and they will not stick to the pan nor burn. As the evaporation is very rapid, there must be a generous quantity of water—say about two quarts to every cup of rice. Do not cover the saucepan, as it will foam and run over. Twenty minutes will cook it. Take a grain and rub it between your finger and thumb. If you can rub it away the rice is done. When you are satisfied it is cooked throw into a colander to drain; spray a cupful of cold water over it and shake it for a moment. Then stand it to keep warm. That is all there is to cooking rice so that one need not be ashamed of it. Some rice takes a minute longer than others, and in some localities the water is harder and will not cook it as quickly.

PEERLESS BISCUITS

One quart of flour, two teaspoonfuls of Royal Baking Powder, two ounces of shortening, six tablespoonfuls of Borden's Evaporated Peerless Cream, six tablespoonfuls of water, one-half teaspoonful of salt.

Sift the flour twice, and stand it near the stove to get the chill taken from it; then rub the shortening into the flour and sift in the baking powder and salt; dilute the six tablespoonfuls of Borden's Evaporated Peerless Cream with the same quantity of water and work it into the flour, making a dough soft enough to roll out half an inch thick; cut with a cutter into biscuits and put on the bottom of the oven, which must be quick enough to bake in fifteen to twenty minutes.

Do not use prepared flour. One of the reasons for biscuits, etc. turning out badly is that the flour is too cold; it requires heat to give it life. Another cause is poor baking powder; I prefer the Royal; if there is any better I do not know of it.

New York.

NOTES

THE special efforts to bring consumptives to the Pacific coast from the East, says a California paper, is awakening strong opposition, as it results in a largely increased death rate and spreading the germs of a contagious disease. For last month Pasadena, with an estimated population of 9,500, reports fifteen deaths, seven of which were from consumption. Nearly fifty per cent. of Pasadena's large death rate is due to the fact that it has been advertised throughout the length and breadth of the land as a health resort. The death rate of San Bernardino, with a population of 8,500, last month was seven, of which one was from consumption. Leaving out deaths from consumption, the rate in Pasadena would have been eight and in San Bernardino six, showing a very similar degree of salubrity. Since this matter has been brought to the notice of the medical faculty and the public, Riverside and some other cities do not make any report to the state board of health.

THE North Land, the new lake passenger steamer of the Northern Steamship Company, which will run against the North West between Buffalo, N. Y., and Duluth, Minn., made the fastest known run between Cleveland, O., and Buffalo the night of June 6, and fairly earned the title "Greyhound of the Great Lakes." The North Land made the distance of 183 miles between Cleveland and Buffalo in eight hours and fifty-three minutes, the fastest previous time being nine hours and forty minutes, made by the North West last year. Part of the way she logged twenty-five miles an hour with ease.

Kennel

FIXTURES

SHOWS

Kingston Kennel Club's show, Kingston, Ontario, September 3, 4, 5 and 6. H. C. Bates, secretary.

Canada's Industrial Exhibition's seventh annual dog show, Toronto, September 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. C. A. Stone, superintendent.

Orange County Fair's dog show, Newburg, N. Y., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. Robert Johnston, secretary.

Omaha Kennel Club's second annual show, Omaha, Neb., September 18, 19, 20 and 21. E. L. Marston, secretary.

New England Kennel Club's second annual terrier show, Brookline, Mass., September 24, 25, 26 and 27. D. E. Loveland, secretary.

FIELD TRIALS

Continental Field Trial Club's inaugural trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 2. P. T. Madison, secretary.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 10. Entries close July 1 and August 15. John Wootton, secretary.

International Field Trial Club's sixth annual trials, Mitchell's Bay, near Chatham, Ont., November 5. W. B. Wells, secretary.

United States Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C., November 7. W. B. Stafford, secretary.

Eastern Field Trials Club's trials, Newton, N. C., November 18. W. A. Coster, secretary.

Continental Field Trial Club's Annual trials, Newton, N. C., November 25. P. T. Madison, secretary.

1896

Pacific Coast Field Trial Club's thirteenth annual trials, Bakersfield, Cal., January 20. J. M. Kilgarif, secretary.

Southern Field Trial Club's seventh annual trials, West Point, Miss., February 3. T. M. Brumby, secretary.

BEAGLE TRIALS

Northwestern Beagle Club's third annual trials, Columbus, Wis., October 22. Louis Steffen, secretary.

New England Beagle Club's trials, Oxford, Mass., November 5. W. S. Clark, secretary.

National Beagle Club's fifth annual trials, Hempstead, Long Island, November 11. Geo. W. Rogers, secretary.

CLUB MEETINGS

Northwestern Field Trial Club's meeting, Winnipeg, Man., Monday, June 24. Thos. Johnson, secretary.

THE NEED OF A DOG PROTECTIVE SOCIETY

Several years ago we urged the necessity and advocated the organization of a national dog protective society, the prime object being the establishment of a fund to be used for securing legislation in every state making dogs property and for the relentless prosecution of dog thieves and poisoners. The organization should have national and local officers, and anyone should be eligible to membership upon the payment of one or two dollars annually, to be paid the national treasurer, such moneys to be used only for the purposes mentioned. With reputable men at the head of such a society every owner of a dog, who has the welfare of his best friend at heart, would join, and with this fund the national officers could prosecute enough cases to establish tenable precedents and secure that recognition for the canine species which is accorded every domestic animal, as well as fowl, in civilization. If a rooster is stolen from the hennery the culprit is punished for larceny, if apprehended; if the same party steals a fifty or five-hundred dollar dog, or of any other value, he escapes the charge of larceny in the majority of the states of the Union. This is all wrong, but legislation to change this condition of affairs can only be obtained by organized effort and the use of money.

To show what can be accomplished by concerted effort we have only to look at the workings of the League of American Wheelmen, and what recognition they have secured in the courts for the bicycle. At one time it was not recognized in law as a vehicle; the league took up the question and the result is that all courts now decide it to be a vehicle, having equal rights on the road with anything going on wheels. There is a fifty-thousand-dollar suit now pending in the Chicago courts, brought by a tenant of the Fort Dearborn Building, who attempted to take his bicycle up to his office on the twelfth or fourteenth floor, contrary to the rules of the building, and persisting, he and his wheel were ejected by the janitor, and he lays his damages at the above amount. The question arises, are the owners of the building compelled to allow a vehicle in the building to the annoyance of tenants, or is the bicycle a vehicle in the street and not a vehicle in the house? If the League of American Wheelmen conclude to have it so decided it is quite possible that the conundrum "when is a vehicle not a vehicle?" will be settled in its favor. They have also secured many railroad privileges in connection with transportation of wheels. So much for organization and concentration of effort. The league deals relentlessly with "bike" thieves, and the league also favors bloomers and throws its protecting arms figuratively around the fair wearers, and what is the result? Everything goes, everything is protected, and those who would do wrong hesitate, and that is when they are lost.

If a national dog protective society was formed for offensive and defensive purposes, favorable legislation would be secured, express companies and railroads would be induced to grant fair rates for transportation of dogs to shows, field trials and hunting grounds, the amicable adjustment of which would settle the much mooted question of "exorbitant express charges;" dog thieves would be jailed or run out of the country, and dog poisoners would get a dose of their own medicine or something very nearly approximating it.

Policemen would soon be taught to recognize the rights of an owner of a dog and would not shoot it on the slightest pretext. Only last Sunday an incident in point happened. Several dogs had been playing on the road, and one, becoming overheated, started up the street in search of water or a cool place. It turned into a yard and laid down on the cool grass, panting and somewhat dazed. The tenant became excited, rushed out and got a policeman to come and kill it, declaring it was going mad. Together they tried to chase the fourteen-pound dog out of the yard, but it would not go; then the policeman fired four shots at it and killed it. When asked the reason for killing it he said it was dangerous. A member of the National Dog Protective Association, if one had been in existence, would have made an example of that policeman, and hazardous for him to do such a dastardly trick again, for he would have at his back a solid organization which would not rest until justice had been done.

Another advantage would be the equipment of drinking founts for dogs as well as horses in all cities. To show how inconsiderate some would-be humanitarians are we will cite the new stone drinking fountain just dedicated to the public in front of the Chicago W. C. T. U. Temple. Tin cups for human beings, a trough for horses and running water are there; below, the sculptor cut a recessed bowl for water for dogs; but the W. C. T. U. did not connect a service pipe with this bowl and it is forever dry. Mr. W. F. Fox, the well-known Great Dane fancier, and a firm friend of all dogs, noticed this fount, and marveled at its dryness, whereupon he entered the Temple in search of light on this, to him, incomprehensible oversight. Upon inquiry he was informed that the W. C. T. U. understood that dogs could not run upon the streets in that locality, and that it would be useless to provide a water service pipe for the lower part of the fountain. He assured the fair ladies that dogs had the privilege of the streets, under certain restrictions, and that they often wanted a drink, same as men and horses, and that "the frequent hue and cry of 'mad dog' was, no doubt, the result of water famine, as the brutes were crazed for want of water." Mrs. Carse stated it would cost something to have the connection made, and if dog owners would subscribe a fund the subject would be given attention. Until a subscription is taken up dogs will go dry in that section, and possibly one or two may be shot which would have escaped had water been there.

In many ways a national dog protective society could do much good, and we should like to hear from our readers on the subject.

While on this matter we are pleased to note the interest taken by the Cincinnati Enquirer in dogs, and in extracting the following from its columns we have only to say that it contains many pertinent points and sound logic:

Harry Skiff, chief clerk of the City Auditor's office, said yesterday that there were very few dog licenses being taken out in Cincinnati this year. The total number will be about 1,500, as compared with 3,000 last year.

The statutes of Ohio provide that dogs shall be listed for taxation, and the city ordinances [illegible] that they be licensed and wear a collar and [illegible] penalty for a violation of this provision [illegible] punishment for the dog.

Among the most interesting features [illegible] scopic arrangement of sense and nons[illegible] law, to which some wag gave the [illegible] is that concerning man's best friend.

Reverence for the fossilized pr[illegible] ages prompted the Ohio Supreme [illegible], with two making them property protected by civil remedies, judges dissenting, to hold that neither the statute nor the one requiring them to be listed for taxation, renders dogs the subject of larceny. If a man steals a five-cent loaf of bread he is a thief. If he steals a thousand-dollar setter the law cannot reach him, a strong inducement for enterprising thieves to turn their attention to this branch of business, dogs being sufficiently valuable to make it very profitable. This remarkable decision was rendered in the case of State vs. Lymus, and is reported in Volume 26 of the Ohio State Reports, on page 400.

The legal distinction between dogs and horses, cattle, sheep and goats is that dogs are not useful, while the others are, which rule, applied to other classes of property, would make a churn or washtub the special objects of the law's protection, and allow diamonds to be stolen with impunity.

At one time none of the courts would admit that dogs were property. The Supreme Court of Maine held that he was not "a domestic animal" under a statute relating to such, and the august tribunal of Minnesota held that he was not "a beast" under a law protecting "horses, cattle and other beasts."

There is one thing settled in dog law—if he worries sheep his fate is sealed. If the owner of the sheep even has reason to suspect the dog, he has a right to kill him on suspicion. Thus, if a man who owns a $500 dog has a neighbor possessing a two-dollar sheep, he had better buy the latter or he may lose his dog, with no redress whatever. The profound jurists of Massachusetts have settled the boundary lines between dogs that may and those that must not be killed, by declaring that if the animal is sufficiently undish to wear a collar he shall live, but if he appears en dishabille, without a collar, anyone has a right to shoot him, but this is not based, as would be supposed, upon the ground of immodesty. It is that the dog with a collar has friends rich enough to buy him one, while the one without is a poor man's dog, and therefore must be a nuisance; in fact, the only nuisance that can be abated without legal proceedings by anyone who may feel so disposed. Upon the other hand the owner of a dog is liable for all damages done by the animal if he is vicious.

Dogs are the subject of larceny in New York, Tennessee, Kansas, District of Columbia and Michigan. They are not in Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Vermont, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Alabama and Mississippi. In other states the question has not been decided.

In most of the states now a railroad company or an individual can be held responsible for the wrongful killing of a dog, but it was not always so. Judge McArthur of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia was the first to take the part of the dog, which he did in about twenty printed pages of poetry and rhetorical eulogies.

A dog license law is peculiar to itself. There is nothing similar to it in the whole range of the law. It is not a tax. If it was the courts all agree that it would be unconstitutional, because not based upon value, and also because enforced by the destruction of the article taxed. It is a permit to keep a dog, and is held valid as a police regulation, because the animal is dangerous and may inflict hydrophobia. Consequently the law provides a preventive of that horrible disease in the shape of a tag, for which the owner must pay $2. This sum is to pay for the trouble of making out the tag, and also to cover the damages to the state in case any of its subjects should die of hydrophobia. There is an average of three persons out of a million die of hydrophobia in New York, but there were no cases in Ohio last year, according to the health reports. Hydrophobia is canine insanity, and dog intellect in this state is much more healthy than in New York. Of course, every town has mad-dog scares. Some dog gets tired, hangs his tongue and foams at the mouth. The frightened people pursue him and he gets bewildered. The animal needs to lie down and take a rest, but he is promptly killed, and everyone is excited over it. In some cities dogs are required to wear muzzles, especially during June, which statistics show, is the most apt to bring rabies in the canine world. The health reports show that forty people are killed by hooking cows, and fifty by kicking horses, to one by dogs, but there has never been a statute to rein back the heads of cows or fasten together the hindlegs of horses.

While the Supreme Court of Ohio is not friendly to dogs, Judge Hayes of Toledo is. In the recent case of Archer vs. Baertschi, reported in volume 8 of Ohio Circuit Court Reports, on page 124, he holds that dogs are property, and that a city ordinance authorizing them to be impounded and sold for non-payment of license is unconstitutional, as depriving the owner of his property without due process of law.

Even more recently the Supreme Court of Texas, that used to hold dogs not to be property, has changed faith, and goes so far as to decide that a statute or ordinance authorizing police to kill unmuzzled dogs was unconstitutional upon the same grounds. Judge Hayes of Toledo pays attention to the license feature, holding it to be void. He said: "Certainly the license check does not change the character of the dog. He is as much a nuisance with the check attached as without the check." This sounds reasonable, but Judge Hayes is the first to discover it.

Dog owners and lovers throughout the country should find some way to raise a fund for the purpose of erecting a monument to the Toledo jurist who knocked out the license law, and the 1,500 who [illegible] fee will regret that they did not first read [illegible] However, it has not yet been passed [illegible] preme Court, and might be reversed upon [illegible]

THE MONTREAL SHOW

Official Report.

The Montreal Kennel Association's first effort in the [illegible] show was neither a howling success nor [illegible] but just a fair, ordinary little show, [illegible] a fair amount of popularity and may [illegible] of first-class annual exhibitions [illegible] steers clear of the rock Dissension. The list of patrons, honorary-presidents, presidents, vice-presidents, committee, honorary this and honorary that, includes an array of names that one would expect to insure great success, but the French-Canadian population of Montreal, which is very large, evinced little or no interest in the dog show.

The judges were: Mr. P. G. Keyes of Ottawa, all spaniels; Mr. Alfred Geddes of Ottawa, mastiffs, St. Bernards, Great Danes, Newfoundlands, deerhounds, borzois, greyhounds, bloodhounds, foxhounds, beagles, Dalmatians, Chesapeakes, pointers, setters, collies, bulldogs, bull terriers, dachshunde, black and tan terriers, poodles, toy terriers and Italian greyhounds; Mr. F. S. Wetherall of Compton, Que., the terriers. Their classes were well handled and the awards placed satisfactorily to most. The Victoria Rink, in which the show was held, is a very suitable building, but the light is not good; the wooden benches were satisfactory and the aisles were kept clean and neat; the rings were not well served, and consequently the judging dragged; and the catalog was badly muddled.

One of the features of the show was a two-pound toy terrier called Pitou, owned by Dr. E. W. Robb. For a show of this character the quality of the exhibits was good, and they included a few well-known winners. An unfortunate incident was the untimely death of two black and tan terriers owned by Mr. J. G. Walters of Ottawa; they were suffocated during the journey from that city to the show. An exhibitor in England has recently been brought to book by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for a similar incident.

In the Montreal Herald of June 4 a prominent member of the Montreal Kennel Association, whose name is not mentioned, is taken to task severely by Mr. F. S. Wetherall, one of the judges, for his (said member's) conduct in the ring.

It is perhaps noteworthy that Mr. H. G. Johnson's Hutton Magister won the special for best Irish terrier in the show, although he had been placed second to Canadian Ambassador in the open class for dogs.

Sir Donald Smith's cup (value $100) was assigned by the association to the best specimen of the big breeds. A number of dogs competed, and it finally fell to the borzoi Adrooski, owned by Mr. W. T. Virtue. It must be won three times by the same owner to become his property.

OFFICIAL LIST OF AWARDS

MASTIFFS.—Open Class—1st, A. Newton (Maximilian); V.H.C., J. A. Durand (Major). Puppy Class—1st, A. Newton (Maximilian).

ST. BERNARDS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, T. S. Vipond (Duke of Wellington); 2nd, Bowmanville Kennels (Don Phyllis); 3rd, J. Cooper (Ralph); Res., W. C. Fyfe (Wallace); V.H.C., Venlo Farm Kennels (Homo) and W. E. Lyman (Gladstone); H.C., W. E. Lyman (Osmund); C., A. Belasco (Duke). Bitches: 1st, Rev. J. Myles Crombie (Lady Norah); Mt. Royal Kennels (Benina); 3rd, H. J. O'Hare (Jessica); H.C., A. Belasco (Princess). Novice Classes—Dogs: 1st, Bowmanville Kennels (Don Phyllis); 2nd, H. C. Fyfe (Wallace); 3rd, W. E. Lyman (Gladstone); V.H.C., W. S. Hutchinson (Royal Gelert) and Venlo Farm Kennels (Homo); H.C., W. E. Lyman (Osmund); C., A. Belasco (Duke). Bitches: 1st, Rev. J. Myles Crombie (Lady Norah); 2nd, Mt. Royal Kennels (Benina); 3rd, Osborne Kennels (Lalla Rookh); H.C., A. Belasco (Princess). Puppy Class—1st, R. Claughin (Bruno); 2nd, W. Thompson (Lady Florence).

GREAT DANES.—Open Class—1st, Rockwood Kennels (Minor); 2nd, J. E. Gray (Duke of Wurtemburg); 3rd, J. Burnett (Nicodemus); V.H.C., J. S. Foster (Leo).

NEWFOUNDLANDS.—Open Class—Prizes withheld; V.H.C., S. Ewing (Sport).

DEERHOUNDS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st and 2nd, F. D. Monk (Banff and Lennox); 3rd, D. Leganlt (Sultan); Res., F. D. Monk (Lord Lorne); V.H.C., Imperial Kennels (General Gordon); H.C., W. G. Learmont (Eric) and D. Morrice (Rover). Bitches: 1st, D. Legault (Queen Genevieve); 2nd, A. A. Audit (Rosabelle); 3rd, F. D. Monk (Belle). Puppy Class—1st, A. A. Audit (———).

BORZOIS.—Open Class—1st, W. T. Virtue (Adrooskl).

GREYHOUNDS.—Challenge Class—1st, H. Barker (Maud Torrington). Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. Barker (Lord Torrington); 2nd, Carleton Kennels (Chief Justice); 3rd, D. Thomas (Tees Uno); H.C., J. A. Stevenson (Prince) and F. C. Jamieson (Tim). Bitches: 1st, H. Sheldon (Cheshire Lass); 2nd, C. Chipchase (Rise).

BLOODHOUNDS.—Open Class—1st, W. T. Whitehead (Buxton).

FOXHOUNDS.—English—Open Class—Dogs: 1st, 2nd and 3rd, Montreal Hunt (Wharton, Sheriff and Trader); Res., I. L. Smith (St. Lambert Cromwell); V.H.C., Morris & Smith (St. Lawrence Ranger). Bitches: 1st, 2nd and 3rd, Montreal Hunt (Graceful, Guilty and Shameful); V.H.C., Morris & Smith (St. Lambert Gipsy). American—Open Class—1st, Morris & Smith (Leader); 2nd, H. Walters (Rowdy P).

DALMATIANS.—Open Class—1st, withheld; 2nd, F. F. Pickett (Delaware).

POMERANIANS.—Open Class—1st, withheld; 2nd, D. H. Pacey (Venus).

POINTERS.—Open Class—1st, R. Bennett (Drake); 2nd, Mt. Royal Kennels (Chaira).

ENGLISH SETTERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, E. E. Jones (Noble Furness); 2nd, E. C. Eaton (Bang); 3rd, M. B. Davis (Dick). Bitches: 1st, J. E. Buchanan (Belle Amy); 2nd, J. Hayden (Blanche); 3rd, J. Strachen Jr. (Jess); H.C., N. W. McLaren (St. Lambert Mollie). Puppy Class—1st and 2nd, I. L. Smith (St. Lambert Dick and St. Lambert Prince).

IRISH SETTERS.—Open Class—1st, Miss E. Blackader (Elfrns); 2nd, J. W. Tester (Elfin). Puppy Classes—Dogs: 1st, Mrs. Adams (Brian Boru); 2nd, A. Allan (Ranger); 3rd, J. S. Evans (Bruce). Bitches: 1st, J. H. Tarrar (Madge); 2nd, J. H. McNally (Lady Rose).

FOX TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, D. F. Angus (Belvoir Rambler); 2nd, H. G. Johnson (Soldier Bob); 3rd, J. C. Nichols (Belvoir Chapple). Bitches: 1st, Mt. Royal Kennels (Warren Faithful). Novice Classes—Dogs: 1st, G. Lanigan (Belvoir Jim); 2nd, W. J. Larmont (Guy); 3rd, H. G. Johnson (Soldier Bob). Bitches: 1st, G. Jordan (Rose B); 2nd, A. C. Jack (Gipsy Dean). Puppy Class—1st, Belvoir Jim; 2nd, no name—a wire-haired; 3rd, Wang; V.H.C., Risk.

Wire-haired—Open Class—1st, R. A. Allan (Midsummer Day); 2nd, withheld; 3rd, Brachead Kennels (Braehead Razzle). Novice Classes—Dogs: 1st, J. Stanford (Brock); 2nd, H. C. Bates (Compton Joe); 3rd, Braehead Kennels (Braehead Razzle). Bitches: 1st, Goose; 2nd, Beanty.

IRISH TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. A. Ekers (Canadian Ambassador); [illegible] G. Johnson (Hutton Magister); [illegible] ches: 1st, Dr. J. S Niven [illegible] A. Ekers (Deremore Biddy). [illegible] H. G. Johnson (Hutton Mag[illegible]y); 3rd, J. J. Meagher (Dick). [illegible]ry); 2nd, withheld; 3rd, M. [illegible].C., Mt. Royal Kennels (Colleen). Puppy Class—1st, Caper; 2nd, Molly Bawn; 3rd, Meagher's Dick.

SCOTTISH TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, J. A. Oglivy Jr. (Rowdy). Bitches: 1st, Mt. Royal Kennels (Corryvausch).

DANDIE DINMONTS.—Open Class—1st, G. Caverhill (Coffee); 2nd, Miss Ada T. Wait (Sir Walter Scott).

SKYE TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, W. Hall (Glenlffer). Bitches: 1st, Mt. Royal Kennels (Juliet).

BEDLINGTON TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: All prizes withheld; C., A. Howe (Joe). Bitches: All prizes withheld; H.C., J. H. Patterson (Miss Slick).

BLACK AND TAN TERRIERS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, Miss Nellie Trihey (Mingle); 2nd, W. Oliver (Pedro). Bitches: 1st, J. C. McLean (Roche Tulip); 2nd, J. G. Walters (Lady Empress); 3rd, J. Stewart (Nelly); V.H.C., J. Miller (Tip).

COLLIES.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. M. Childs (Prince Charlie); 2nd, C. Thompson (Innercauld Clan). Bitches: 1st, E. Parker (Lassie).

IRISH WATER SPANIELS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, W. S. Clonston (Mike). Bitches: 1st, F. E. Milne (Nellie Brady).

FIELD SPANIELS.—Open Class—1st, A. Boswell (Sweep), 2nd, J. Royon (Curly); 3rd, Corktown Kennels (Cupid).

COCKER SPANIELS.—Black—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, C. H. Currier (King C); 2nd, Venlo Farm Kennels (———). Bitches: 1st, F. McK. Robertson (Floss); 2nd, Corktown Kennels (Rideau Restless); 3rd, H. Clements (Obo C). Any other color—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, F. McK. Robertson (Red Obo); 2nd, H. H. Curtis (Brown Jacket). Bitches: 1st, F. McK. Robertson (Red Dolly). Any color—Novice Classes—Dogs: 1st, H. H. Curtis (Brown Jacket); 2nd, R. C. Gault (Prince); 3rd, C. H. Currier (King C). Bitches: Corktown Kennels (Rideau Restless).

CLUMBER SPANIELS.—Open Classes—Dogs: 1st, W. A. Fleming (Rake II). Bitches: 1st, W. A. Fleming (Fidget).

TOY SPANIELS.—King Charles—Dogs: 1st, Mrs. D. Hatton (Frisk). Bitches: 1st, Mrs. D. Hatton (Flossie). Blenheim—Dogs: 1st, E. Bradford (Bijou). Bitches: 1st, Osborne Kennels (Little Nell); 2nd, E. Bradford (Yum Yum). Ruby—Dogs: 1st, Mrs. D. Hatton (Ruby).

ENTRIES FOR THE EASTERN FIELD TRIAL CLUB'S DERBY

Forty entries have been made, of which twenty-nine are English setters and eleven are pointers. Last year the total was only thirty-eight, of which all but six were English setters; so that pointer entries have picked up a bit. The year before last the entries numbered forty-five, composed of thirty-six English setters, eight pointers and one Irish setter; but the entries for these three years have been but little over half the average number for the preceding ten years; in fact, last year's entry was the smallest on record except the twenty-eight of 1881. In 1892 there were sixty-eight entries, fifty-three English setters and fifteen pointers; 1891, sixty-eight, fifty-one setters and seventeen pointers; 1890, eighty-three, sixty-five English setters, six Irish setters and twelve pointers; 1889, sixty-one, forty setters, one Irish setter and twenty pointers; 1888, sixty, twenty-nine English setters, one Irish setter and thirty pointers; 1887, eighty-four, fifty-three English setters, two Irish setters and twenty-nine pointers; 1886, one hundred and two, seventy-seven setters and twenty-five pointers; 1885, eighty-three, sixty setters and twenty-three pointers; 1884, seventy-one, fifty setters and twenty-one pointers; 1883, sixty-nine, forty-six setters and twenty-three pointers; 1882, fifty-nine, forty-six setters and thirteen pointers; 1881, twenty-eight, twenty-six setters and two pointers. The entries for this year are as follows:

ENGLISH SETTERS

H. B. Ledbetter's black, white and tan dog Marie's Sport, by Gleam's Sport—Marie Avent; May.

Joe Meares' black and white dog Senator Zeh, by Dion C—Thompson's Nora; March.

T. G. Davey's black and white dog Brighton Dick, by Brighton Tobe—Lady Brighton; January.

T. G. Davey's black and white dog Brighton Tom, by Brighton Tobe—Lady Brighton; January.

T. G. Davey's black, white and tan bitch Brighton Maud, by Brighton Tobe—Lady Brighton; January.

Eldred Kennel's blue belton dog Troubadour, by Gladstone's Boy—Rill Ray; May.

Eldred Kennel's orange belton bitch Mignon, by Gladstone's Boy—Rill Ray; May.

Irving Hoagland's black, white and tan bitch Ranée, by Gladstone's Boy—Buena Vista; July.

W. A. Hinsley's black, white and tan bitch Rod's Topsy, by Topsy Rod—Lulu Hill; January.

King Graphic Kennels' black, white and tan dog Rod's Boy, by Roderigo—Lady Gladstone; April.

L. D. Hargrave's lemon and white dog Joe Graham, by Gladstone's Boy—Buena Vista; July.

Blue Ridge Kennels' black, white and tan dog Domino, by Antonio—Ruby's Girl; February.

Manchester Kennels' black, white and tan bitch Gleam's Dart, by Count Gladstone—Gleam's Maid; April.

Manchester Kennels' black, white and tan bitch Gleam's Ruth, by Count Gladstone—Gleam's Maid; April.

P. Lorillard Jr.'s black, white and tan dog Claude, by Eugene T—Maiden Mine; February.

P. Lorillard Jr.'s black, white and tan dog Arapahoe, by Eugene T—Maiden Mine; February.

P. Lorillard Jr.'s black, white and tan bitch Fannie L, by Eugene T—Maiden Mine; February.

P. Lorillard Jr.'s black, white and tan dog Fred, by Eugene T—Ightfield Rosalie; May.

Avent & Thayer's black, white and tan dog Touchstone, by Orlando—Dollie Wilson; January.

Avent & Thayer's black, white and tan dog Patrician, by Chevalier—Patsy; May.

Avent & Thayer's black, white and tan bitch Fen Follet, by Count Gladstone IV—Folly; May Avent & Thayer's black, white and tan bitch Loulanier, by Topsy Rod—Lulu Hill; January.

Avent & Thayer's lemon and white bitch Fleet's Pet, by Count Gladstone IV—Fleety Avent; March.

Avent & Thayer's black and white bitch Flirty Lit, by Topsy Rod—Gody Lit; May.

H. R. Edwards' black, white and tan dog Harwick, by Topsy Rod—Opal; June.

T. H. Gibbes' lemon and white dog Mazeppa, by Rod's Dan—Bondhu Nellie; February.

F. R. Hitchcock's black, white and tan bitch Tory Celia, by Roderigo—Norah II; June.

F. R. Hitchcock's black, white and tan dog Tory Fashion, by Count Gladstone IV—Fleety Avent; March.

S. M Mitchell's orange and white dog Clark, by Antonio—Gladstone's Nora; January.

POINTERS

Dr. J. S. Brown's black and white dog Kent B, by Rip Rap—Croxie Kent; June.

Charlottesville Kenuels' black, white and ticked dog Nabob, by Rip Rap—Dolly D; May.

Charlottesville Kennels' lemon and white dog Dowlah, by Rip Rap—Dolly D; May.

Charlottesville Kenuels' orange and white bitch India, by Rip Rap—Dolly D; May.

Charlottesville Kenuels' liver and white dog Amen, by Wrecker—Selah; March.

Charlottesville Kennels' lemon and white dog Wrestler, by Wrecker—Selah; March.

Charlottesville Kennels' liver, white and ticked bitch Toxic, by Dogwood—Maid of Kent; June.

P. T. Madison's liver and white dog Sidmont, by Strideaway—Hops II; January.

N. B. Neshitt's liver and white bitch Sister Sue, by Jingo—Rooney Croxteth; June.

G. C. Stoddard's liver and white dog Coinage, by Trinket's Coin—Ightfield Blythe; February.

H. K. Devereux's liver and white bitch Virginia, by Little Ned—Pearl's Dot; May.

THE COLUMBUS PUG AWARDS ERROR

COLUMBUS, O.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—It seems to me that Mr. Nims has very little respect for good repute, judging from his article in your issue of June 1, in which he says it seems to him that I am unduly exercised over the little item which appeared in the Pittsburg Dispatch. Is it not high time a man became exercised when his competitor has him published as a trickster who has robbed his son of Rookery Manor of a first prize, by exhibiting a challenge class dog in the open class in violation of American Kennel Club rules?

I am glad we have some men in the dog fancy who place more value on honor and integrity than Mr. Nims seems to. I am surprised at Mr. Nims claiming that a clerical error in the A. K. C. records would justify me in accepting it as a win, which would necessitate my entering Al Von in the challenge class. We are not bound to accept incorrect records from the American Kennel Club or any other organization as authority when we know they are not correct. Should we takeMr. Nims' argument as correct, what would it amount to? The A. K. C. records have my dog Drummer credited with three wins in the open class, whereas he has made four, and I have up to this date exhibited him in the challenge class at Louisville, Detroit, Chicago and Denver. He, however, has not yet defeated the right man's dog, consequently there is no kick as yet.

Suppose the Columbus secretary's error is counted, and the judge's award disqualified. I would be compelled, in order to make a champion of him, to go over this same ground at my own expense goodness knows how many times—it would all depend on the carelessness of inexperienced secretaries I would be compelled to come in contact with. Would not this make a nice mess to dish up Finsbury style? No, sir, A. K. C. or no A. K. C., no exhibitor can be held responsible for errors that creep into official records, and it is nonsense to set up such a claim.

Again, Mr. Nims says if this article had done me any injury, as claimed, this action on my part has certainly made me an accessory after the fact. I suppose if I had only published a reproduction of his false statement this would be so, but I attached a trademark to it which was indisputable, showing that I was falsely represented by Mr. Nims; and I now add strength to it by saying if Al Von had been eligible to compete in the challenge class his son of Rookery Manor would not have fared any better than he did, as I should then have entered Young Penrice to compete for first in the open class, whereas he was entered to compete for specials only.

I do not know how many persons interested in dogs read the article, or how many journals had their attention called to it, but I do know that one of the latter chewed it over until it wore out; and in the same journal J. W. Watson said many things which I did not believe. One was that all of Al Von's wins for 1893 would be disqualified, so it can be seen it went a little farther (very little) than the Pittsburg Dispatch.

In doggy matters, outside of Mr. Nims' attack, I know of no discomfort that my friend could make any addition to, as Mr. Nims knows I have met with some very rank decisions and have my first time to abuse my more fortunate competitors on the account of it. However, I appreciate his kind feeling, and I hope my discomfort in the future will never lead me to an act that would tend to bring about a publication that would reflect discreditably upon other breeders and exhibitors.

Let us get this settled, and start in next season with a new and better feeling. If the judges do not award the blue where it belongs we can form a pug dog club, make a standard, and have our dogs scored; this will stop all wrangling and the judges will have to put up with less abuse. I will bring out some new ones next season, possibly at the New York show. I know others will all be glad to see them, and I do not expect to meet them empty-handed, as we are all trying for top-notchers and I expect they will have some hard nuts to crack. But I am going to try and crack them, so if they want the cream of the premiums let them bring their best, for they will need them.

T. A. HOWARD.

ABOUT DOGS

From the earliest times the dog has been the companion of man, helping the savage man to run down his game, and as man gradually progressed in the scale of civilization, making such advances in his scale of good works as differing circumstances required. In his adaptability to withstand the extremes of cold and heat the dog is scarcely man's inferior. In his aptness to acquire new tricks, the dog shows a degree of intelligence that surpasses instinct. Even as regards conscience, the dog seems nearer to mankind than any other animal. He may not have enough conscience to prevent wrong doing. This also is, alas, a defect that is quite too common with his master, but in the shame-facedness that follows the consciousness of wrong doing, the dog can give lessons that man may well imitate. The dog is the child's earliest, most amusing and helpful companion. Even when abused by the child in its innocent play, the dog will harbor no malice. When bred and trained as a dog should be, he will remain a faithful friend, and remember his master with an affection that will outlast repeated abuses. Other animals may cherish vengeful feelings. They are utterly foreign to the dog. Let but the master give his canine friend a kind word, and all the evil he has done is at once forgotten. That is a sample of readiness to forgive injuries, that, whether it be right or not, few men have found it expedient to practice among themselves.

For better or worse the dog will, therefore, be for all time to come an associate with man as he has been in the past. Appreciation of this fact has lately led men to be much more particular about the kinds of dogs that they allow themselves and their families to associate with. There are dogs and dogs. Dogs educated, intelligent, cleanly and refined; dogs, on the other extreme, ignorant, low-bred, vicious and utterly disreputable. Ofcourse some of the dog virtues are to be found in the very worst, as there are some of the human virtues to be found in prisons and houses of correction. While there is such a wide variation among dogs, it behooves people who are careful not to smirch their own reputation, to take care what kind of dogs they associate with. In this as in everything else only the best should be tolerated on the farm. Thoroughbred dogs are as superior to the mongrel sort as is the thoroughbred in any other domestic animal. Each breed has been brought to its own standard of excellence, and it is only by inbreeding with animals of like character that this standard can be maintained.

Every intellgent visitor at a dog show must see that many of these breeds have through their course of training developed a high degree of intelligence. The collie dog is not instinctively able to manage a flock of sheep, but he is so near to this that he can be taught very easily. Some of the other breeds have developed intelligence in other directions to a most remarkable degree. If will be well for farmers who have worthless mongrel curs that are no good for any purpose, to decide whether they ought not for the looks of the thing, and also for the money profit in it, to make an exchange for animals more intelligent than those they now have, and that by reason of this superior intelligence will be much better companions for themselves and safer to intrust to their children, than are the mass of ill-bred curs that are always getting into mischief because it is impossible to train them. Let the fact be understood that the well-bred dog has a greater amount of intelligence, and can, therefore, be more easily trained to know and do what is wanted, and the expediency of substituting him for the mongrel cur will be apparent to everyone.—American Cultivator.

GORDON SETTER FIELD TRIALS PROPOSED

Gordon setter breeders and fanciers in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan have been agitating the subject of holding interstate Gordon setter field trials next Fall, and during the past few weeks we have received several calls from fanciers of this handsome breed to further the project. The matter was broached first at the late Mascoutah Kennel Club's show, among those most prominently advocating it being C. Cass Hendee of Milwaukee, J. R. Oughton of Dwight, Ill., Messrs. Meister and Sarvis of Jackson, Mich., and W. H. Worth and L. P. Higgins of Chicago.

Mr. Hendee, it will be remembered, took several Gordon setter dogs to Tennessee recently to be trained, and he is very enthusiastic over the proposed trials. He had quite a long conference with Mr. Oughton, and the latter stated that he had something over a thousand acres of land near Dwight, Ill., which could be preserved and on which the trials could be held without cost. Birds were plentiful and a successful termination of the different events would be assured. Mr. Oughton would enter a number of dogs, as also would Mr. Hendee, and Messrs. Meister and Sarvis and Mr. Worth have also stated they would enter several dogs.

There are a great number of owners of Gordon setters who would join if a Gordon setter club was formed for the purpose of holding trials near their home, and as Mr. Oughton has kindly offered the use of land there is no reason why trials should not be held this Fall in Illinois. We should be pleased to hear from Gordon setter fanciers on this subject, and if there is enough Gordon setter patriotism to push this breed to the front, Mr. Hendee suggests that a meeting be called soon and an interstate or tri-state Gordon setter club formed.

Gordon setter breeders and owners, what say you?

FOR SALE.—Mr. C. J. Kling, Winona, Minn., offers Gordon setter....Mr. F. O. Scott, Clinton, Ia., offers beagles....Mr. C. W. Stewart, Alma, Neb., offers English setters....Mr. J. E. Jewett, Buffalo, N. Y., offers Boston terriers....Mr. A. C. Soistmann, Philadelphia, Pa., offers Gordon setter....Mr. M. R. Peterson, Stratford, Ia., offers pointers....Mr. S. J. Coyne, Aberdeen, S. D., offers English setters....Mr. F. T. Lillie, What Cheer, Ia., offers mastiff....Mr. G. W. Hardin, Verdon, Neb., offers St. Bernards....Mr. F. Linck, Newark, N. J., offers St. Bernard....Mr. J. H. Alexander, Haughville, Ind., offers pointers....Box 222. Lexington, Ky., offers bloodhound....Mr. G. E. Carr, Holliston, Mass., offers foxhound....Mr. J. R. Sehuyler, Bloomsburg, Pa., offers pointer....Mr. H. G. J. Hallowell, Conshohocken, Pa., offers Irish setters....Mr. C. W. Tway Michigan City, Miss., offers English setters....Mr. W. H. Hyland, North Tarrytown, N. Y., offers pointer....Mr. C. Glover Jr., Fayetteville, N. C., offers mastiff....Mr. T. Barklay, Cincinnati, O., offers bloodhounds....Hotfoot Kennels, Decorah, Ia., offer fox terriers....Mr Wm. Donn, Canton, Ill., offers English setters....Poeket City Kennels, McGregor, Ia., offer fox terriers....Mr. H. Oldenhage, Kahoka, Mo., offers foxhounds and coon hounds....Mr. A. W. Lawrie, Port Dover, Ont., offers Irish setters....Mr W. D. Davies, Columbus, O., offers St. Bernards....Mr. Wm. Wedgwood, East Liverpool, O., offers bull terriers....Hannibal Kennels, Hannibal, Mo., offer English setters....Dr. Wayman, Staunton, Va., offers English setters....Sea Moss Kennels, Glencoe, Ill., offer cocker spaniel and Irish water spaniels....Box 90, Belleville, N. J., offers bull terrier....Dr. E. R. Allen, Kansas City, Kan., offers English setters, pointers and Irish setters.

IN THE STUD.—Mr. J. E. Jewett, Buffalo, N. Y., offers the services of the bulldog Webb's Monarch.... Pleasure Kennels, Cincinnati, O., offer the services of the King Charles spaniel Pasha.

NOTES

A NUMBER of articles have been contributed to our columns of late about buying and selling, sending dogs on approval, paying cash before the dog is expressed, and kindred topics, so the following experience of a gentleman who has bred, exhibited and judged more than one breed may not be inopportune. A few months ago one of his brood bitches had a very large litter, and some people (partners) in a neighboring state who wanted to purchase a couple of puppies sent a man to look at them. The man pronounced them the strongest and liveliest puppies he had ever seen, and two days later the partners ordered two puppies, provided they were sent subject to inspection; if the puppies were satisfactory the partners would remit, or the seller could draw on them. The gentleman in question thought this very unbusinesslike, but finally consented and expressed the puppies. After two or three days he received a letter saying: "Puppies arrived all right and a little hungry. All concerned are eminently pleased with them. They are bold, strong fellows. We will pay your draft." Two weeks later our friend received a letter saying the bitch puppy had died very mysteriously; very lively and playful in the morning, and dead at night. Then another letter came: "Dog puppy also dead. Post mortem showed consumption. As we have nothing to show for our money we expect you to send us another pair." This was a pretty cool request, and "consumption" was laying it on a trifle thick, but the breeder, being a man of means and courteous withal, good-naturedly wrote and expressed his sympathy, stating that, while he had fulfilled his contract and owed the purchasers nothing, he was willing to let them have another pair of puppies at half price. Judge, then, of his astonishment when he received a reply to the effect that if he did not send another pair of puppies, free, they would show him up in all the sporting journals, etc., etc. As before stated, the gentleman in question is good-natured and polite, but this was more than mortal man could submit to. "Well, you can imagine my reply," he wrote us. "I told them they could do as they blanked pleased; that I not only would not give them a pair but withdrew my offer, and that I would take pleasure in exposing them in the same papers as the scheming blackmailers their letters proved them to be." Wondering if the unfortunate purchasers would try foolishly to attack a man whose hands were clean and conscience clear, we daily expected a letter containing a "red-hot roast," in comparison with which the compliments (save the mark) exchanged in the "Challenge Business" episode, the Luttrell—Garrett wrangle, the Luse—Massey controversy, and all the other "dog fights on paper," as Mr. E. D. Brown of Minneapolis not inaptly termed them, would appear as mere badinage. But it came not. A week or two later the gentleman that was to have been hung, drawn and quartered (figuratively) by people that he had in no wise cajoled, tricked or injured wrote us: "That matter is settled; they wrote me an abject apology." Which certainly was the least they could do.

THE San Francisco Call's statement which we mentioned last week, that the Pacific Coast Kennel Club came out $300 ahead on the dog show in that city, evidently was not correct, for at a meeting of the club held Wednesday evening of last week, the show committee submitted a report showing that there was a net loss of $216, and that the receipts of the show were over $3,400. In its report of the meeting our cotemporary, Field Sports, says: "A communication was read from Secretary Lelong of the State Agricultural Society, asking the club to take charge of a dog show to be held in conjunction with the State Fair at Sacramento in September next. After some discussion on the subject a motion to appoint a committee to investigate the advisability of such action was lost, and the Secretary was then instructed to reply that the club thought the matter inadvisable. A communication from the Secretary of the A. K. C. was read, asking the club to appoint one delegate to act in conjunction with similar delegates from the other clubs of the coast, as a committee of investigation in all matters arising west of longitude 110 degrees. The subject was discussed at some length, and finally, on the motion of Mr. Barker, a committee consisting of Messrs. Barker, Wattson and Haight, were appointed to confer with the A. K. C., asking that all specialty clubs which become members of the A. K. C. be allowed a delegate also. The resignation of J. H. Sammi was read and accepted. The annual election of officers resulted as follows: H. Bier, president; E. H. Wakeman, first vice-president; Herbert Spencer, second vice-president; Horace Orear, secretary; C. A. Haight, financial secretary and treasurer. The names of J. H. Debbron, Louis Hagan, Dr. F. W. D'Evelyn, F. J. Baxter and L. H. Waldron were submitted for membership and referred to the proper committee. T. F. Williams was elected an honorary member."

MANY complaints have been received from our readers, who have shipped dogs to distant points, about the unjust charges of express companies, and when we hear of a railroad which recognizes the justice of the claim of an owner and shipper of a dog it is a pleasure to publish such good news. Mr. C. E. Bunn of Peoria, Ill., whose dogs are entered in all the leading bench shows, has just received a favorable reply from the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad, regarding which he writes us as follows: "In reference to [illegible] tion of the different railroads entering Chicago [illegible] matter of transportation of dogs for the late [illegible] Kennel Club's show I feel it is due to [illegible] Rock Island & Pacific Railroad to tell the [illegible] treatment I received from them. This is [illegible] fact that I felt I had a grievance against [illegible] not slow to tell of it during the show. [illegible] I put my dogs on the baggage car, fed [illegible] man, as I had done for many years before on the road, and arrived all O. K. at Chicago. However, on my arrival there my dogs were seized by the United States Express Co., and before I could get possession of them I was compelled to pay thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents express charges on them. On my return home I wrote to the officials of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad and stated my case, and last week I received from them the full sum which I paid to the express company with the assurance that the road was very anxious to do all in its power to favor the dog men, and would go as far as their contracts would allow to make it possible for them to get to shows. Inasmuch as I aired my grievance very thoroughly I think it due the company that I now tell as many of the 'boys' as possible of its action and I take the AMERICAN FIELD as the best way to reach them and ask you to kindly give this space."

I HAVE read with interest the many articles on buying and selling that have appeared in your columns, for I am the victim of fraudulent dealers to the extent of about $100 in the last four months; the worst is with the Keystone Kennel Company of Philadelphia. I received repeated letters from them about an Irish setter dog. I wanted one that was thoroughly broken to gun, shot, point, and retrieve from land and water. After they had given me the dog's good qualities I asked them if they would take an English setter at $10—this dog cost me $40, was splendidly bred and well broken, but would not retrieve from water—but they would not, and I ordered the Irish setter shipped and paid in advance the price they asked ($35). The dog arrived and to my sorrow proved to be good for nothing; all the men in the country could not keep it in a field where there was a gun. If this is honest I am not in the position to deal with such people. I gave my English setter away to the man I purchased it from at Pontiac, Mich., because it was not what I paid for, and then he compelled me to pay express after that both ways. Now I should like to see a man get money in advance for dogs again from me, until I have seen and tried the dog. The dog I have is a nice looker and that is all: he would not retrieve a piece of meat or anything else. I should like to see such kennel owners wiped out of existence. They advertise all kinds of dogs, trained, guarantee satisfaction and safe delivery. I do not object to a price if I get what I want, but I have my opinion of such frauds as this kennel had done to me. I say, as did Mr. George W. Brown, deposit the money to the credit of the purchaser when satisfaction is guaranteed.

Center Point, Ia. A. H. BOSWORTH.

AFTER a lapse of three years Kingston (Ontario) is to have a dog show again, which is the sort of news we like to hear. Those wonderful statisticians, Messrs. Bradstreet and Dun, say that business is showing steady improvement all over the country, and it is not surprising to find a responsive quickening in canine matters. But to return to the Kingston show, the Kingston Kennel Club claims September 3, 4, 5 and 6 as its dates, and it gives us pleasure to announce the same. For three successive years, 1890, 1891 and 1892, Kingston had its dog shows, and very pleasant little shows they were, with entries of 139, 193 and 212 respectively; each one of these shows was superintended by Mr. C. H. Corbett, to whom must be attributed much of their success, not forgetting that at the 1892 show he had two valuable assistants in Mr. Luscombe and Mr. H. C. Bates. The last named gentleman is the present secretary of the Kingston Kennel Club, which should tend to make the show in September a success, especially as Kingston is known as the home of some good dog men. The dates claimed will bring the show in the week before the Toronto show, and we should like to see Hamilton and Ottawa take their places in the Canadian circuit as in years gone by, with a big show at Montreal as well. Cannot the Canadian fanciers accomplish this?

THE Farm, an Irish cotemporary, publishes the following amusing anecdote: Apropos of the recent discussion of judges not "going straight," a good story is at present going the round among dog fanciers. A well-known Scotch exhibitor was the proud possessor of a collie, with which he was particularly anxious to win the first prize at a certain show. On finding out the name of the judge—who, by the way, was an Englishman—the said exhibitor hastened to make a friendly call on that important functionary, and his visit was promptly followed up by the present of a very choice smoked ham to the gentleman who was to decide the fate of the collie at the show in question. When the show had come round, the collie, on whose behalf the visit had been paid and the ham had been sent to the judge, was awarded a highly commended ticket. The exhibitor was naturally very much chagrined at this, and on meeting the judge he said, "Did you get the ham a' richt?" "Oh, yes," replied the judge, "I got it all right, and it's very good." "I wis just thinkin'," said the exhibitor, "that I micht hae got a bit farrer up wi' my collie, particularly when you liked the ham sae weel." "Ah, but," replied the judge, "you must have miscalculated there, for the man who got the first prize sent me a whole pig!"

To be granted the freedom of a city and to be forever exempt from paying a license for the privilege of living, by special ordinance of a municipal government, is an honor enjoyed by only one dog, to our knowledge, in the world, and that dog is Bum, of San [illegible] Cal. Not only has the city government granted him this distinction, but it also uses his portrait to embellish [illegible] dog license issued. For some reason Bum always took a deep interest in municipal matters, such as attending fires, political meetings, street rows and police court trials. One day he lost a leg by a locomotive running [illegible] and was cared for by the city employes; but as [illegible] could get about on three legs he was again [illegible] counts. The city adopted him and [illegible] special legislation as above mentioned. [illegible] months ago one of his three legs was broken; a surgeon was employed to give him special attention, and he brought him out all right. Bum's special pride seems to be marching at the head of a street parade, believing in being up with the band or "in the band wagon," and to bark and fuss around the firemen when putting out fires, presumably under the impression that he is directing matters.

IN order that there might be no mistake in future as to the right to use the lands at Morris for field trial purposes I drew up the following, and sent it to Mr. M. Lawrie for signatures of the owners of the land and to his kind efforts we are indebted for the use of said lands: "We the undersigned residents of the County of Provincher, Province of Manitoba, do hereby extend to the Manitoba Field Trial Club, to the Continental Field Trial Club, and to any other field trial club which may wish to hold its trials at Morris, the privilege of using our lands; and this permission shall hold good for future trials until revoked by us, providing that the different field trial clubs using these lands shall use all due care to guard against damage of any kind being done to any part of the property over which they run." This document has been returned to me, and is in the hands of the secretary of our club, Mr. John Wootton. It contains the names of all the farmers upon whose lands the trials will be held.

F. G. SIMPSON,
Winnipeg, Man. Prest. Manitoba F. T. Club.

A NEW feature of the New England Kennel Club will be the introduction of produce stakes, under the auspices of the club and to be decided at its annual dog show. Arrangements have just been completed for the first Irish Terrier Produce Stakes of $15 each, with $100 added by friends of the breed. Irish terrier brood bitches to be entered, and their produce (born after entry) to be shown uncropped. Entries will close January 1, 1896, and the stakes will be decided at the thirteenth annual show of the New England Kennel Club in 1897. All bitches must be entered prior to the birth of their produce, and will only be eligible for entry in respect of produce to be born on or after July 1, 1895. Entries may be made at any time before the closing date upon payment of $5, the only liability in case of forfeit; the remaining $10 to become due when puppies are nominated. The New England Kennel Club has appointed the following committee to manage the produce stakes: Messrs. Edward Brooks, George A. Fletcher, Samuel D. Parker, Ed. K. Butler Jr. and Oscar W. Donner.

THERE is a dog here, a big, fat sort of water spaniel, that has taken care of a brood of motherless chickens. Bob is the dog's name, and he is nearly always accompanied by the chickens. When he lies down they climb upon his back, which is so broad as to resemble the big, flat pad on the back of a circus horse. They crawl upon his head and peck at his ears. He does not shake them off, and they hang on when he walks slowly around the yard in his lazy way. When he lies down they nestle in near his paws, and he will remain motionless there for a half-hour at a time. The motherless brood are getting to be big fellows now, but they have not deserted him, although a brood of younger chickens have come up to climb his back and peck at his tongue and the end of his nose. It is astonishing to see the care and gentleness of the old fellow when the chickens are near him.

Kansas City, Mo. F. G. K.

SUCH Manitoba sportsmen as take an interest in field trials are contemplating with great satisfaction a large gathering at Morris in September, and the Winnipeg Free Press of last Saturday devotes half a column to field trial matters. It is with the final paragraph that we are chiefly concerned, for it contains information that should be welcome to all who believe sportsmen's clubs should soar above personal jealousies. "The Northwestern Club and the Manitoba Club have not acted harmoniously in the past, but negotiations are in progress in which it is hoped past dissensions, which were created by local jealousy, will be wiped out. Both organizations are of too wide a nature to permit petty feelings to have a place."

WE have been favored with a copy of the United States Field Trial Club's regulations, rules for running, and instructions to judges, of which the most striking feature is the following announcement on the fly leaf: "This club recognizes the following named field trial clubs: The Eastern Field Trial Club, the Central Field Trial Club, the Southern Field Trial Club, and the Philadelphia Field Trial Club, subsequent to 1891." As regards the latter, it may be said that no such club exists, presumably the field trials of the Philadelphia Kennel Club are intended. But it may reasonably be asked why the United States Club repudiates the Northwestern, Manitoba, International, Continental, and New England field trial clubs.

LAST week we mentioned the death of Mr. R. Ll. Purcell-Llewellin's field trial winner Bruce Wind'em, and now we learn from the English journals that this misfortune has been followed by another, namely, the death of Jessie Wind'em from chorea and paralysis, following an unusually severe attack of distemper. Jessie was a very good looking bitch and had gained second or third [illegible] four field trial stakes. It is [illegible] was simply untirable, and [illegible] with the greatest ease, and [illegible] We regret very much to hear of [illegible] which he must feel acutely.

A FULL report of the proceedings at the Canadian Kennel Club's meeting last Friday is not yet to hand, but we have heard that the Toronto show dates were approved: the cropping question was tabled until the annual meeting; and the American Kennel Club's proposition for a mutual recognition of suspensions and disqualifications was rejected, with the understanding that all wins under C. K. C. and A. K. C. rules up to the end of the year will be recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club.

ENTRIES for our Fall trials are beginning to come in, and from the indications so far the Derby is going to prove a great exhibit of the short haired dog, the entries of pointers exceeding the setters. This is a new experience for field trial clubs, the setters generally exceeding the pointers by a considerable majority. The time seems to have arrived when the two breeds stand on equality. W. B. STAFFORD,
Trenton, Tenn. Secy.-Treas. U. S. F. T. Club.

MR. AUGUST BELMONT, president of the American Kennel Club, is chairman of the racing commission of New York state recently appointed by Governor Morton. Mr. Belmont steered through the turbulent legislative waters the racing bills lately enacted in New York state, where the racing commissioners will have absolute legal power in all matters affecting the turf for the next five years.

MR. P. T. MADISON, secretary-treasurer of the Continental Field Trial Club, writes us that the prospects for the prairie chicken Derby are very bright and more than meet his expectations. From all reports received we have every reason to believe that all the trials held on prairie chickens this year will be successful and gratifying.

MR. GEORGE W. EWING, of Islip, N. Y., donates a cup to the winner of the Continental Field Trial Club's September Derby, providing said winner is a setter. He also donates a cup to the winner of the club's Setter Derby, which will be run on quails. The value of each cup is $25. P. T. MADISON, Indianpolis, Ind. Secy. Continental F. T. Club.

THE Milwaukee Kennel and Pet Stock Association, at a meeting held May 31, resolved on holding a dog show some time during October. Seven new members were admitted, and the books now show fifty charter members, who paid $2 each. In future the initiation fee is to be $5.

MR. THOS. JOHNSON notifies us that the meeting of the Northwestern Field Trial Club called for the tenth of this month has been postponed for two weeks, viz., until Monday, the twenty-fourth.

THE Ladies' Kennel Association received over 1,500 entries for its first dog show held at the Ranelagh Club, near London, England, last Saturday.

SALES

SALES.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Sales. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

HOTFOOT KENNELS, Decorah, Ia., have sold
□ ZADE, fox terrier bitch, to Mr. John Oliver, Clinton, Ia.
ZIP, fox terrier bitch, to Mr. McNally, Chicago.
FLIRT, fox terrier bitch, to Mr. W. Collins, Winona, Minn.
BETTY, fox terrier bitch, to Mr. G. C. McLean, Janesville, Wis.
FLY, fox terrier bitch, to same.
DAISY, fox terrier bitch, to Mr. R. Tragard, Milwaukee.
CORA, fox terrier bitch, to same.
CORKER, fox terrier dog, to Mr. N. Y. Young, Chicago.
TRAVELER, fox terrier dog, to Mr. I. N. Carter, Chicago.
FARMER, fox terrier bitch, to Mr. A. M. Tibben, Philadelphia.
DREAM, fox terrier bitch, to Col. Sharkey, Chicago.

POCKET CITY KENNELS, McGregor, Ia., have sold
——, fox terrier bitch puppy, by Endcliffe Banker—Richmond Victory, to Mr. I. P. Stauer, McGregor, Ia.
□ ——, bitch puppy, same litter, to Mr. A. C. Boyle, McGregor, Ia.
□ ——, fox terrier dog puppy, by Fannie McGregor—Seacroft Avenger, to Mr. C. S. Kaufman, Dallas, Tex.
——, bitch puppy, same litter, to Mr. W. I. Yopp, Dallas, Tex.
——, dog puppy, same litter, to Mr. R. K. Erwin, Waxahachie, Tex.
——, fox terrier bitch puppy, by Dusky McGregor—Seacroft Avenger, to Mr. W. G. McClintock, Galva, Ill.

DR. H. W. LINCOLN, Brooklyn, has sold
RIDD'S CHINK, fox terrier bitch, whelped March 30, 1894, by John Ridd—Chinquipin Chink, to Mr. C. H. Wendell, Pottersville, New York.

KING GRAPHIC KENNELS, New Castle, Pa., have sold
BANG'S NELLIE, pointer bitch, in whelp to their Kent's Boy, to Mr. A. H. Bosworth, Center Point, Ia.

MR. H. BEHRENS, Champaign, Ill., has sold
FRANK OF KENT, pointer dog, to Mr. A. Vanthobel, Fremont, Ill.
SUE OF KENT, pointer bitch, to Mr. G. Kimball, Champaign, Ill.

EBERHART KENNELS, Cincinnati, O., have sold
EARL OF ROSSMORE, pug dog, to Mr. J. H. Wilder, Cincinnati.
THE COLONEL, black and tan toy terrier, to Mr. J. W. Ritner, Greensburg, Pa.
NELLIE, corded poodle, to Mr. V. P. Wormwood.

MR. C. T. FIELD, Harbor, O., has sold
FIELD'S COSSETTE (25348), English setter bitch, to Mr. C. C. Lembke, Dubuque, Ia.

WHELPS

WHELPS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Whelps. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

POCKET CITY KENNELS'
DUSKY MCGREGOR, fox terrier, by Dusky Trap—Blemton Consequence, whelped, May 29, five puppies, by their Seacroft Avenger.
RUTH MCGREGOR, fox terrier, by McGinty—Dusky McGregor, whelped, June 6, four puppies, by Warren Safeguard.

MR. J. T. MCCUNE'S
TRIX, English setter, by Noble Sting (15516) out of Polly G (15517), whelped, May 23, six dogs and one bitch, by Brandon Jr (22555).

DR. H. W. LINCOLN'S
BROOMFIELD MADGE, black and tan terrier, by Patrick—Queen, whelped, June 4, one dog and three bitches, by Broomfield Sultan (Broomfield Turk—Broomfield Belle).

MR. J. H. ALEXANDER'S
FAYETTE ALEXANDER, pointer, by King of Kent—Lonnie Bijou, whelped, June 6, three dogs and three bitches, by his Dick Beaufort (Spotted Boy—Gip Beaufort).

MR. J. A. BUCKNER'S
M'LISS (15646), fox terrier, whelped, May 18, one dog and five bitches, by Woodale Driver (28550).

MR. WM. J. BRYSON'S
COUNTESS OF DUFFERIN (23174), bull terrier, whelped, May 22, three dogs and five bitches, by Asperation (35327).

MR. C. C. LEMBKE'S
RHETA HILL (3691), English setter, whelped, May 14, five dogs and five bitches, by his Rigo's Rod (Roderigo—Madge D).

MESSRS. LEMBKE & WOODWARD'S
LULA W, English setter, whelped, March 28, six dogs and five bitches, by Rigo's Rod (36908). One since dead.

NAMES CLAIMED

NAMES CLAIMED.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Names Claimed. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. N. J. EDWARDS, Covington, Ky., claims the name
KENTUCKY KING, for rough St. Bernard dog, whelped in April, by Lucerne Bute—Goldie H.

MR. G. A. SAYER, Chatham, Canada, claims the name
BOY GLADSTONE, for English setter dog, by Gladstone's Boy—Kitty Ward.
COUNTESS ALMA, for English setter bitch, by Gath's Mark—Lucy Lee.

MR. W. WEDGWOOD claims the name
RIP RAP, for fox terrier dog by Jack the Ripper—Patch, whelped January 30.
YOUNG KENO, for bull terrier dog, whelped January 1, by Keno—Lill II.
DAISY G, for bull terrier bitch, by Keno out of Lill II.

VISITS

VISITS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Visits. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. T. E. REED'S
PRINCESS ELSIE (34485), rough St. Bernard, May 4, to Mr. W. M. Evarts' Don (Sir Bedivere—Youla).

MR. V. P. WORMWOOD'S
NELLIE, corded poodle, June 5, to Ponce de Leon.

Coursing

FIXTURES

Aberdeen Coursing Club's Autumn meeting, Aberdeen, S. D., October 1. J. H. Davis, secretary.

American Waterloo Cup meeting (first), Huron, S. D., October 8, etc. F. B. Coyne, secretary, American Coursing Club.

Altcar Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 16, etc. T. W. Bartels, secretary.

Kenmore Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 22, etc. C. F. Weber, secretary.

Cheyenne Coursing Club's first meeting, Great Bend, Kan., October 29, etc. Ira D. Brougher, secretary.

THE CALIFORNIA STATE MEETING

(Special Report)

This meeting will, I am sure, be remembered among the leashmen of the Pacific Coast as the greatest coursing event that ever took place here. The number of dogs (seventy-six) was by far the largest ever hitherto entered for any of our meetings, and the quality of these dogs, as a whole, far surpassed those of former meetings.

The meeting was held in Ocean View Park, and on the first day, Decoration Day, the number of spectators could not have been less than from 500 to 600.

The officers of the meeting were: President, D. Shannon; vice-president, J. Perigo; treasurer, J. J. Edmonds; secretary, J. R. Dickson; judge, John Grace; slipper, James Wren; slip steward, J. R. Dickson; flag steward, J. Sheehan; field steward, M. Curtis of Santa Clara, W. de B. Lopez of Pleasanton, Henry Hull, G. H. Layng and P. A. McDonald of San Francisco. The prizes to be competed for were liberal, viz.: First, $250; second, $125; third, $100; next two, $30 each; and the next five dogs $10 each; making a total of $585, to which must be added $75 for the consolation stakes for all the dogs not receiving money that wished to enter at $3 each, and which will be run off on June 9. The grand stand, which had been doubled in size in anticipation of this meeting, was crammed with ladies and gentlemen from all parts of the state within three hundred miles of San Francisco, and there was not a representative coursing man known in these parts that was not present. The money with which to pay the prizes and the other expenses of the meeting was obtained from the nominations ($5 from each dog) and the $365 given by the Messrs. Casserley for the privilege of having the great meeting held in their park.

Ten o'clock was the hour fixed for calling out the first pair of dogs, and as they were handed to Slipper Wren President Shannon addressed the vast crowd, assuring them that no efforts were spared to make the meeting a success and an enjoyable one for all; and after dilating, in an eloquent strain with well fitting remarks, on the beauties of the grand old sport he turned again toward the stand and with a graceful wave of his hand said, quoting from Shakespeare: "To bid you welcome would be superfluous."

The day was very fine at the commencement, but toward noon a strong breeze came up; and as the day wore on the wind grew stronger and became certainly disagreeable, but all through there was warm and brilliant sunshine.

Though the hares were, in the main, good and in many instances gave excellent trials, still it was no such coursing as is seen on the Merced plains in the Autumn months, where they feed so much on dry food and think it only a joke to give a spin of two or three miles to the very best of our long-tails, and then leave them, to wonder, no doubt, what these little creatures could be that led them such a vain and merry dance over the celebrated plain. The grass, too, in many portions of the field was a little too high and caused many of the dogs to get "blinked" just after being slipped, necessitating another course: and in three or four instances losing the course altogether.

RIGHT BOWER—RUBY.—Being slipped, both dogs went off in rattling style very close together for fifty yards or so, then Ruby drew away and got the turn, and the next. Right Bower then rushed in for a point, when Ruby killed and won a fairly good course. The former was the favorite.

ACE OF SPADES—GOLD KING. The latter was a strong favorite, but Ace ran all through a good dog and won handsomely at all points.

JOHNNY REX—MISSION BOY.—This was a complete boil over, as Rex was a hot favorite; but he was undoubtedly defeated by losing sight of the hare shortly after being slipped and running clear away from her when she squatted in the grass. Mission Boy was fortunate in then sighting and got two or three turns before Rex came up again, when he killed and lost.

STRANGER—VALLEJO QUEEN.—Stranger was a 2 to 1 favorite. Being slipped, Stranger made play and went off in a slight lead which he kept till just on puss, when the Queen shot out and picked up the game right under his nose, and of course won.

STAMBOUL—ROYAL DAISY.—This was considered an even thing, and betting was about even. The hare was not a strong one, and Stamboul won the course in short order.

DOTTIE DIMPLE—MAJOR.—Dottie was the favorite, but the imported Major had good backers and they plumped their money on him, though he was very lame from an injury received a couple of days before while running a trial course. From the slips he led until very near the hare. Dottie then shouldered him off the turn. His bad foot prevented him from working, and Dottie won a good course.

SKYBALL—NEW BROOM.—The former dog being slipped dashed at once to the front and won easily. He was a 5 to 1 favorite.

GEORGE DIXON—PEASANT BOY. This was a short course and was won without much trouble by the favorite, Peasant Boy.

DAISY—MARIGOLD.—The latter beat Daisy all round, killed, and won. Daisy is an imported bitch, but is evidently too old for coursing; she is a very finely shaped animal.

EMPIRE—TIPPERARY.—This was a rattling good course, both dogs making a very close run-up. Empire got the turn, and some nice give and take work followed. But on coming down the slope Empire fell heavily, and Tip then did all the rest and won with points to spare.

KILKENNY GIRL—WILL O' THE WISP.—The former ran to the front and picked up the hare.

MAGGIE L—DASHAWAY.—This was a similar course to the last, Dashaway winning in a canter.

BAN BOY—FLYING BUCK.—There was great interest taken in this course, as the dogs were believed to be about equal and were backed heavily in the pools. Being slipped near the eastern fence, Flying Buck shot away to the front, and from some cause or another Ban Boy did not seem to gather up at all and he was never in the hunt. He must surely have been ill; this certainly could not be his form.

JACK—SKYROCKET.—There was great interest in this course, as the grand veteran was pitted against a fine young dog from Sacramento that won a few weeks ago a thirty-two-dog puppy stake at the above place. There was great sympathy evidently for the old hero, and he was cheered lustily by the crowd as he passed out. When slipped, they ran up for fifty yards very close together, and then the "Old Reliable" forged out with all his old fire and brought puss round and again served himself. Jack came with a rush and drove viciously at the hare, and brought her around again. The hare then broke away and the old fellow went in hot pursuit, closely pressed by Jack, and as he turned the hare he made one of his famous dives at puss and buried his unerring fangs in her back, winning a splendid course. He was cheered again and again by the crowd.

PLUNGER—EVENING STAR.—This was a good give and take course, Plunger winning through having much more speed.

WEE LASSIE—JOHN MITCHELL.—The former won all the way.

CHRIS BUCKLEY—VIDA SHAW.—Vida was both too clever and too fast for her opponent.

ROYAL FELLOW—OLDEN W.—A one-sided course; the former won.

DASHING QUEEN—BELMONT.—The latter won a clever course. The Queen is but a puppy.

JACK DEMPSEY—FAMOUS.—A pretty course, but Jack had too much foot for the bitch.

MARVELOUS—APPLAUSE.—The former made a fine run-up and took first and second turns. Applause then came on, and after some fine work the latter dog lasted the longer, killed, and won a good trial.

STARLIGHT—BROPHY.—Brophy won easily.

LITTLE BANSHEE—CAPTAIN MORSE.—This was a fine course. Banshee made the run-up, and then Morse got in and had by far the best of the course; but coming down the side of the hill he got a heavy fall. Banshee then wiped out the score against her, killed, and won.

WHITE RUSTIC—WHITE CHIEF.—After an undecided, in which both dogs got blinked, Rustic won a short course easily.

GRAUNA WAILE—SAM.—Both these had a close run to the game. The former got the turn, but Sam came in for a point, and then the Irish lady took command, killed and won.

LITTLE TOM—DAISY CREST.—Tom got the run-up, as the bitch ran wide, but after that Daisy did all, killed and won.

ARNETTE—PETER JACKSON JR.—The former had a short run-up and killed.

FULLERTON—WEST SIDE.—The former won a short, sharp course all the way.

DAN C—ELECTRIC.—This was a very close affair. Electric made the run-up by a short length, placed Dan for a point, and then had an even run after puss, and just as Dan was on the point of striking Electric ran out and nabbed puss under his nose and won.

LILLIE GLADSTONE—FEARLESS.—The latter won a short course.

ROYAL BUCK—LILLIAN RUSSELL.—All the way for the Buck.

LONGFELLOW—NELLY CONROY.—This was a nice course, but the bitch was too fast for the "poet." He always shines with a "long hare," but in this case he had no show with Nelly.

SPRINGTIME—FREESTONE.—A short course, which Springtime won with ease.

BEST TRUMP—BELLE.—The latter was never in it.

LADY FITZGERALD—NAPOLEON JACK.—The Lady beat him both in running and working.

KITTY SCOTT—KINGSTON.—The latter ran up and picked up the hare.

MAGPIE—ROLLALONG.—This, the last course in the first round, was the greatest course during the first day, and, indeed, during the meeting. Both dogs are fast and the hare was a clinker, and the result was that the spectators were treated to a splendid exhibition of the powers of both the long-tails and the short-tail. Rollallong won; he showed more foot, but both dogs worked splendidly.

It was, taken altogether, a fine day's coursing, and the crowd seemed to enjoy it well; $5,400 went into the pool box during the day! Six and a half hours exactly were spent in running off the thirty-eight regular courses, besides five or six undecideds.

SECOND DAY

With one or two exceptions most of the weeds were pulled out, or rather I should say driven out, during the first day's running, hence there was more eagerness to see the "cracks" contesting on the second day and consequently the crowd in attendance on Sunday, June 2, was fully double that of the first day, eleven hundred and sixty-two having paid entrance money at the gate. The day was beautiful and may be termed an ideal coursing day. The first pair of dogs were called out at 10 minutes to eleven. Too many hares were allowed to get into the field during the night and the result was that in the first four slips no results were obtained; for as the dogs were slipped before they reached the hare two or more would cross their path, and the dogs divided or got blinked among the weeds, which certainly should have been cut down before the coursing commenced. This was the only drawback during the meeting.

FIRST TIES

RUBY—ACE OF SPADES.—After an undecided Ruby got the flag. An unsatisfactory course.

MISSION BOY—VALLEJO QUEEN.—This was exactly similar to the first. Mission Boy won.

STAMBOUL—DOTTIE DIMPLE.—Another undecided; but in the run-off Dottie beat him, though for a short time he led her from slips.

SKYBALL—PEASANT BOY.—This was a rattling good course. The former was certainly too fast. Skyrocket's son gave the fastest dog in the meeting as good a run for it as any he met in the meeting. Skyball won.

MARIGOLD—TIPPERARY.—A runaway course. Tip won.

WILL O' THE WISP—DASHAWAY.—Dash ran out to the front and picked up a weak hare and won.

FLYING BUCK—SKYROCKET.—The latter was played heavily in the pools at 3 to 1, but the old hero of so many triumphs was never in it. He did not seem even to put forward any great effort, for the son of Royal Crest won literally in a walk. There was no cheering though; even winners did not seem to relish the defeat of California's greatest performer.

PLUNGER—WEE LASSIE.—The first attempt was an undecided, but in the run-off Plunger had not a show.

VIDA SHAW—ROYAL FELLOW.—They were slipped near the fence on the hill, and Vida went off in front and got the turn by half a length. The dog whipped around on the outside and killed, and the judge's hat came off. In a few moments they were again slipped to a good hare, which headed for the escape. Royal Fellow dashed along with great speed to the front, and when he reached the game he was at least four lengths in front of Vida. She then got in for a turn. Royal Fellow whipped round again for a couple of turns, killed, and won.

BELMONT—JACK DEMPSEY.—This was a good trial, though Jack had the most foot and by that managed to win a nice course. Both worked well.

APPLAUSE—BROPHY.—A good course. Brophy got the turn. His opponent then got in for two. Puss broke away, and Brophy came up, killed and won.

LITTLE BANSHEE—ARNETTA.—Banshee all the way.

GRANNA WAILE—WHITE RUSTIC.—This was a nice trial, but the Irish named lassie was too fast and too clever, though Rustic never failed to get in whenever he got an opening; but the bitch did not leave many. She killed and won.

FULLERTON—ELECTRIC.—Electric had everything in a short course.

FEARLESS—ROYAL BUCK.—The first attempt, though a weak hare, was undecided, but in the run-off Buck ran up and turned. Fearless got a turn, and Buck killed and won.

NELLIE CONROY—SPRINGTIME.—This was another one-sided course. Nellie won all the way.

BEST TRUMP—LADY FITZGERALD.—Trump was the fastest, but Lady is both a stayer and a worker and she made it pretty warm for the Trump as long as she could command the hare, but the Trump's speed saved her.

KINGSTON—ROLLALONG.—The former made a show of the latter, to the surprise of many; but his triumph over Magpie in the first round should have warned Kingston's backers. They lost heavily.

SECOND TIES

RUBY—MISSION BOY.—After the dogs were slipped and had run about a hundred yards Mission Boy got blinked, and he was not again able to make good his loss when the hare fell. It was a short course.

DOTTIE DIMPLE—TIPPERARY.—Dottie made the run-up and only let Tip in for two points altogether; she won well.

SKYBALL—DASHAWAY.—This was another very short course. Skyball made it all.

FLYING BUCK—WEE LASSIE.—Buck made the run-up and turn. Lassie then put in her claim, went to work in her old style, and drove puss for two or three short points. Puss broke away, and Buck shot out, turned, wrenched, killed, and won a sharp course.

ROYAL FELLOW—JACK DEMPSEY.—This was another fine trial, but speed was on the side of Royal Fellow; and he is also a good worker. He beat Jack, but he had to put forth his best efforts.

BROPHY—LITTLE BANSHEE.—The latter did it all.

GRAUNA WAILE—DAISY CREST.—Daisy beat her opponent in a fair trial at all points.

ELECTRIC—ROYAL BUCK.—As they went [illegible] Electric went to the front for a few yards, [illegible] soon passed him and ran right into his [illegible]

NELLIE CONROY—BEST TRUMP.—N[illegible] best of this course. She ran with gr[illegible] and it looked as if she could upset [illegible] then left in.

ROLLALONG.—A bye.

THIRD TIES

Things now began to get pretty hot, and it was evident that there was no dog in the field except Skyball that was capable of holding its own against the Royal Crest—Daisy quartet, viz., Flying Buck, Royal Buck, Nellie Conroy and Daisy Crest.

RUBY—DOTTIE DIMPLE.—Ruby's heavy work in the first of the day, when she picked up two hares after her course was done, told its story and she fell easily before Dottie in this round.

SKYBALL—ROYAL FELLOW.—This was a short course. The hare was a weak one, and Skyball's wonderful speed served him instantly. He is singularly clever in his drives and never in any of his efforts during the two days did he make a single mistake.

FLYING BUCK—LITTLE BANSHEE.—The former was too much for the little Merced beauty. He must weigh close on seventy pounds, while Banshee cannot be more than forty-one or two. The old saying seems to stand good: "A good big one will always beat a good little one."

NELLIE CONROY—DAISY CREST.—These are a great pair of young bitches. They are sisters. The former is coal black while the latter is fawn. The run-up was a splendid one. For at least one hundred and fifty yards they ran as if they were in slips, and then it was noticed that the black bitch's head was just in front. She gained a clear length as they reached the far end of the field, but the hare beat the pair and made good its escape without being wrenched or turned. They got a short rest then, and in the run off, a short one, Nellie Conroy won.

ROYAL BUCK—ROLLALONG.—The latter fell nearly pointless before the Buck.

FOURTH TIES

Excitement now was running very high, and there practically was left but one dog, Skyball, to fight the battle against the three Royal Crest dogs, for it was evident from Dottie Dimple's last course that she must fall before Flying Buck; and she did.

FLYING BUCK—DOTTIE DIMPLE.—Buck won all the way, picking up his game on the run.

SKYBALL—ROYAL BUCK.—This course caused great excitement among the crowd on the stand and the bettors, as the hero of the Merced meeting upset all opponents with just as great a dash as did Skyball. They were slipped in the center of the field to a fairly good hare. A perfect stillness reigned over the throng on the stand as Royal Buck got his head in front and pushed on with the determined effort until he was a clear length in the lead. All thought then that Skyball was beaten. But as both dogs neared the game, Skyball put on a spurt and in a desperate effort passed the Buck and took the turn from him clearly. Buck then shot in and scored a point, when Skyball came round like a flash, killed, and won. The shouting was deafening.

NELLIE CONROY.—A bye.

FIFTH TIES

SKYBALL—NELLIE CONROY.—This was a short course, in which Skyball was very nearly meeting his Waterloo, but he saved himself by a quick kill of a poor hare

FLYING BUCK ran a by with his brother Royal Buck, which was one of the best courses of the meeting; the latter won.

The final then remained between Skyball and Flying Buck. But as the latter was beaten in the bye by his brother, Royal Buck, who previous to that had been beaten by Skyball, it was a foregone conclusion that Skyball would be the conqueror.

SKYBALL—FLYING BUCK.—On being slipped both dogs got unsighted, and the hare escaped. They were again put in and slipped. Skyball shot out to the front, closely followed by the Buck. On nearing the hare (not a good one), he made a dash at it and picked it up. The red flag flew out, and the greatest coursing meeting ever held in California was over.

The crowd went frantic, and Mr. Cronin and his great dog were cheered and cheered to the echo. Mr. Grace and Wren of course came in for rounds of applause as both gentlemen came down the field to the stand.

Skyball is a large brindled dog weighing sixty-two pounds, well put together, but not a handsome dog; at the same time it is not easy to pick out his faults. He has very heavy hindquarters and is without doubt the fastest dog known to the leashmen of this state. He met all the great flyers as he went through the meeting, and decidedly defeated them all in succession. He is by John Mitchell out of a small bitch that has frequently run in the parks but never at any time showed anything like quality; she was named Molly H.

The Royal Crest—Daisy dogs showed wonderfully, though, for out of the five entered four came to the finish. One was the runner-up, another was third, and the other two finished fourth and fifth. This surely is surprising, and proved that they are the greatest litter of greyhounds ever bred on the Pacific Coast.

SUMMARY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30 and June 2. THE CALIFORNIA STAKES, open to all greyhounds at $5 each, with $205 added. $250 to the winner; $125 to the runner-up; $100 to third dog; $30 each to next two; $10 each to next five. 76 entries.

West Side Kennel's w bd b Ruby	beat	Oak Grove Kennel's f w d Right Bower.
R. Pringle's w bk b Ace of Spades	beat	J. Strahl's f d Gold King.
P. Carney's w d Mission Boy	beat	T. J. McInnerney's bk d Johnny Rex
J. F. Dolan's bd b Vallejo Queen	beat	F. McCon[illegible]
W. D. Murphy's bd w d Stamboul	beat	B. Dough[illegible] Daisy.
T. J. Cronin's w f b Dottie Dimple	beat	Alameda K[illegible] Major.

J. Cronin's bd w d Skyball	beat	W. Pittman's bd w d New Broom.
[illegible] bk d	beat	R. Pringle's bd b Georgie Dixon.
[illegible]	beat	Alameda Kennel's bd w b Daisy.
[illegible]	beat	J. J. Hourigan's w f d Empire.
[illegible]	beat	J. Sullivan's bd w b Kilkenny Girl.
M. W. Kerrigan's bd w d Dashaway	beat	J. Lucy's w b Maggie D.
B. Dougherty's f d Flying Buck	beat	T. J. McInerney's bk d Ban Boy.
West Side Kennel's w bk d Skyrocket	beat	P. Kelly's bk d Jack.
F. McComb's w d Plunger	beat	D. Dillon's bk w d Evening Star.
J. H. Perigo's f b Wee Lassie	beat	D. D. Roche's f w d John Mitchell.
J. J. Edmonds' w bk b Vida Shaw	beat	J. McBride's w d Chris Buckley.
T. J. McInerney's bk w d Royal Fellow	beat	J. J. Edmonds' Olden W.
W. Daw's w bd d Belmont	beat	Garden City Kennel's w f b Dashing Queen.
T. J. Cronin's w d Jack Dempsey	beat	W. Dalton's bd w b Famous.
P. Curtis' bk d Applause.	beat	F. J. Walters' bd d Marvelous.
P. Brophy's w d Brophy	beat	F. J. Walters' w bd d Starlight.
T. J. McInnerney's bk w b Little Banshee	beat	J. Quane's bd d Captain Morse.
H. Bodie's f b Arnetta	beat	J. Shannon's f d Doctor Wright.
T. Brennan's w d White Rustic	beat	T. J. Cronin's w d White Chief.
Oak Grove Kennel's f w b Grauna Waile	beat	T. Cox's bd w d Sam.
B. Dougherty's f b Daisy Crest	beat	J. Sullivan's w f d Little Tom.
J. McGinuis' w bd b Aruette	beat	H. Bodie's bk d Peter Jackson Jr.
J. Dean's bk w d Fullerton	beat	West Side Kennel's w bd d West Side.
V. W. Guerrero's w bd d Electric	beat	D. D. Roche's be w d Dan C.
J. J. Hourigan's w d Fearless	beat	T. Cox's bd w b Lillie Gladstone.
B. Dougherty's f d Royal Buck	beat	J. Strahl's bd b Lillian Russell.
Jas. Grace's bk b Nellie Conroy	beat	J. H. Perigo's be w d Longfellow.
Garden City Keunel's w f d Springtime	beat	J. McCormick's bd w d Free-Stone.
T. J. Cronin's w bk b Best Trump	beat	P. Kelly's w bk b Belle.
P. Ryan's f b Lady Fitzgerald	beat	W. Dalton's bd w d Napoleon Jack.
P. Gorman's bd d Kingston	beat	J. H. Perigo's bd w b Kitty Scott.
Jas. Grace's bk w d Rollalong	beat	P. Ryan's bk w d Magpie.

II

Ruby beat Ace of Spades.	Little Banshee beat Arnetta.
Mission Boy beat Vallejo Queen.	Grauna Waile beat White Rustic.
Dottie Dimple beat Stamboul.	Daisy Crest beat Arnetta.
Skyball beat Peasant Boy.	Electric beat Fullerton.
Tipperary beat Marigold.	Royal Buck beat Fearless.
Dashaway beat Will o' the Wisp.	Nellie Conroy beat Springtime.
Flying Buck beat Skyrocket.	Best Trump beat Lady Fitzgerald.
Wee Lassie beat Plunger.	Rollalong beat Kingstou.
Royal Fellow beat Vida Shaw.
Jack Dempsey beat Belmont.
Brophy beat Applause.

III

Ruby beat Mission Boy.	Little Banshee beat Brophy.
Dotty Dimple beat Tipperary.	Daisy Crest beat Grauna Waile.
Skyball beat Dashaway.	Royal Buck beat Electric.
Flying Buck beat Wee Lassie.	Nellie Conroy beat Best Trump.
Royal Fellow beat Jack Dempsey.	Rollalong a bye.

IV

Dottie Dimple beat Ruby.	Nellie Conroy beat Daisy Crest.
Skyball beat Royal Fellow.	Royal Buck beat Rollalong.
Flying Buck beat Little Banshee.

V

Flying Buck beat Dottie Dimple.	Nellie Conroy, a bye.
Skyball beat Royal Buck.

VI

Skyball beat Nellie Conroy.	Flying Buck, a bye.

FINAL

Mr. T. J. Cronin's bd w d Skyball, by John Mitchell—Molly H, beat Mr. B. Dougherty's f d Flying Buck, by imp. Royal Crest—Daisy, and won.

NOTES

"APPLICATION for registration of greyhounds shall be made on or before the first day of July, and registrations applied for subsequent to that date that do not appear in the stud book of that year will appear in that of the following year." So reads Rule 6, and the reason for calling attention to it is the proximity of July 1. It has been the custom heretofore for the secretaries of the various clubs to receive a number of registrations on the night of the draw, acting on behalf of the keeper of the stud book. No doubt it is very convenient to be able on emergency to register a dog at the last minute, but the privilege should not be abused nor a secretary imposed upon by leaving all registrations until the hour arrives for closing the entries, as is not infrequently done. In the stakes for greyhounds of all ages most of the competitors will have been registered in previous years, but in puppy stakes it is different, and it is the registration of puppies at the last minute that makes proceedings drag along so slowly on the night of the draw and works the secretary half to death. In the Altear Produce Stakes, for instance, there are 44 youngsters left in, and undoubtedly most of them will come to slips, then would it not be better for owners to do their registering now, at once, and get their greyhounds in the first volume of the stud book, thus insuring no bother on the night of the draw for themselves or the secretary, who will have his time fully occupied with other affairs? It is to be hoped every owner will give this matter consideration just now, and by sending in registrations before July 1 accomplish the double purpose of giving [illegible] d book a lift and saving much [illegible] ance to the secretary and them-

[illegible] mentioned the probability of [illegible] rmed at Lisbon, N. D., and it is pleasing to know that the probability is rapidly approaching a reality. Messrs. A. P. Slocum and H. C. Waterhouse have been the chief factor in introducing the sport in Ransom County, of which Lisbon appears to be the principal town, and going on the theory that there is nothing like a good object lesson these gentlemen arranged for a number of trials to be run near Lisbon and a neighboring town called Sheldon shortly after the meetings at Oakes and Aberdeen. It was not a pretentious gathering, but the natives were completely carried away with the sport, as usual. Someone has kindly forwarded copies of local papers, and in the Sheldon Enterprise we read: "Never since Sheldon existed did such enthusiasm prevail as did from the starting of the first jack-rabbit to the close of the day's sport." After stating that the coursing "proved the attraction of the season" the Lisbon Free-Press concludes its description of the afternoon's sport with: "Such are the sights of a coursing meet, and when once seen, you become an enthusiast over the sport, and, like our own H. C. Waterhouse, would drive miles to witness it. A. P. Slocum, the well-known courser of Oakes, was present with some of his famous hounds, and also acted as judge." Lest anyone should think it queer that Mr. Slocum should run his greyhounds and judge we will add that the sport merely consisted of a series of friendly trials, from which we hope to see spring regular meetings of a Ransom County coursing club.

ROYAL BUCK (imp. Royal Crest—Daisy) was sold at the close of the San Francisco meeting to Mr. W. C. Peyton for, we are informed, $150; and it is that gentleman's intention that this good young dog shall run in his nomination for the American Waterloo Cup, if all goes well. From the same source we learn that Skyball will go for Mr. T. J. Cronin, Nellie Conroy for Mr. John Grace, and Longfellow for Mr. Perigo. In the hands of the California trainers this quartet should prove formidable, though they may not perform as well in the open as in a park; besides which the long journey and change of climate and water will militate against them. If compelled to choose between them we should select Royal Buck, on account of his victory at Merced last Autumn; and we should like to see the runner-up to him on that occasion, Tom Hayes, fill one of the California nominations. But no doubt the Californians will bring a second string or two, in case of sickness or accidents, and we may have the pleasure of finding both the Merced winner and runner-up at Huron next October.

MR. R. A. BRICE, the popular English coursing judge, was at Moscow, Russia, last week, judging the first meeting held in the vicinity of that city. Thence he proceeds to St. Petersburg, where he is to judge a meeting this week, the Russian Waterloo Cup meeting possibly. Coursing is become very popular in Russia, thanks to the patronage of the Grand Duke Nicholas, Prince Scherbatoff and Count Stroganoff. The last named nobleman maintains a kennel in England, and, it will be remembered, won the Waterloo Cup last year with Texture, by Herschel—Tinsel.

IN the big event at Ocean View, of which we publish a report, the unusual spectacle was witnessed of the sire of the winner taking part in the contest; but the "old man" did not succeed in winning a course.

THE form shown at Merced last November and at Ocean View Park a fortnight ago by imp. Royal Crest's first get cannot fail to be very gratifying to Mr. J. Herbert Watson.

Rifle

FIXTURES

Ninth tournament of the Westlicher Schuetzen-Bund, Milwaukee, Wis., June 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

National Sharpshooters' Union's first tournament, Glendale, L. I., June 30 to July 8.

WESTERN SHARPSHOOTERS' UNION.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The following societies and clubs, members of the Western Sharpshooters' Union, will be represented at the ninth tournament of the union to be held here from June 19 to 23: Cincinnati Rifle Association; Chicago Sharpshooters' Association; Excelsior Rifle Club, Davenport, Ia.; Elgin National Rifle Club; Joliet, Illinois, Schuetzenverein; Monroe, Wisconsin, Schuetzenverein; Milwaukee Sharpshooters' Society; Omaha Schuetzenverein; Peru, Illinois, Schuetzenverein; North Chicago Schuetzenverein; Winona, Minnesota, Sharpshooters' Society; Monticello, Wisconsin, Rifle Club; New Holstein, Wisconsin, Schuetzenverein; Walhalla Shooting Club; Milwaukee; Chilton, Wisconsin, Schuetzenverein, Indianapolis, Indiana, Shooting Association; "Tell" Schuetzenverein, New Glarus, Wisconsin; Oshkosh, Wisconsin, Schuetzengesellschaft; La Crosse, Wisconsin, Sharpshooters' Association; Hartford Rifle Club, Hartford, Connecticut; Green Bay, Wisconsin, Schuetzenverein; Morgantown, West Virginia, Rifle Club; Peoria, Illinois, Rifle Club; Milwaukee Rifle Club; "Germania" Shooting Society, Fountain City, Wisconsin, and Wausau, Wisconsin, Schuetzenverein.

Besides members of the above societies, numerous applications have been made by individual riflemen, who will participate in the events open to all.

The committee on donations is still busy and has continued to be as successful as at the start. The aggregate value of prizes, mostly cash, to be distributed on the Target of Honor, will undoubtedly reach and probably exceed $3,000, which is more than we expected to be able to raise.

We were informed, a few days since, that the Western Passenger Association had extended the reduced rate territory, and that it now includes the Dakotas and all of Minnesota south of the Northern Pacific Railroad. When purchasing tickets, parties should take receipts from ticket agent for full fare going. These receipts, when signed by the secretary and stamped by joint agent here, will entitle holder to return at one-third regular rate.

WM. FINGER, Secy.

NOTES

THE Philadelphia (Pa.) Rifle Club laid the cornerstone of its new $20,000 club house, which is located at Tabor, Pa., on June 3. President Wm. Geizer in his address gave a brief history of the organization, saying that the club was organized in 1846 with six members, and that the first match of the club was shot at Lemon Hill in November of the same year. In 1870 the association bought the old Schuetzen Park property, on Queen Lane, now the site of the Queen Lane reservoir, for $30,000. In 1892 the park was sold to the city for the reservoir for $110,359.05. On October 6, 1893, the present grounds of the club, containing ten acres, were purchased for $31,500. Since then improvements have been made on the place costing about $20,000. When the association took charge of the new grounds there were but 540 members. The membership to-day is 1,544.

RECENTLY, Miss Annie Oakley, who is now with Buffalo Bill's Wild West, was in New Haven, Conn., and in speaking of her wonderful exhibition shooting with the rifle the News of that city said: "Miss Annie Oakley, the celebrated shot, illustrated her dexterity in the use of firearms, doing many feats to call forth the shouts of the audience. Among other of her wonderful performances was the breaking of four balls as they were thrown almost simultaneously into the air, changing her rifle for each shot. The four balls—she made not a miss—were shattered in four seconds. A rather amusing thing happened during Miss Oakley's exhibition. She missed two balls. So, laying down her rifle, she made a tour of the small table on which lay her ammunition, came back again to the first spot, and picking up her rifle went at her work, missing, after that, not a shot."

GLENDALE PARK, Long Island, N. Y., where the National Rifle Association is to have its big tournament from June 30 to July 8, was formally opened on July 5, a large number of riflemen from various sections of the country being present. The first event was at the ring target and the entrance money was divided into ten prizes, ranging from 20 down to 3 per cent. The highest prize was won by John Sehroeder. There were twenty prizes at the bullseye targets, running from $25 down to $1. Henry Holger won first money at this target, while Champion Fred C. Ross received a prize for the greatest number of bullseyes.

THE Miller Rifle Club of Hoboken, N. J., distributed the prizes won on the bullseye target at its recent shoot, on the evening of June 5. The winners of the prizes and the order in which they were won were as follows: Mr. L. Vogel, first; D. Miller, second; G. Schlicht, third; F. Brandt, fourth; L. Flach, fifth; M. Dorler, sixth; F. Ross, seventh; L. Schmidt, eighth; I. Meyer, ninth; L. Wangersheim, tenth; D. Peters, eleventh; C. Debrich, twelfth. Most bullseyes: First, F. Ross; second, D. Miller; third, L. Vogel. First play: C. Rosenbaum; last play, F. Ross.

MR. ADOLPH H. STRECKER will represent California at the National rifle tournament to be held at Glendale, L. I., from June 30 to July 8. In competition with thirteen men on Decoration Day, to determine what one of the thirteen should attend the National contest, Mr. Strecker scored 347 points on a 12-inch target at 200 yards.

THE Rideau rifle range at Ottawa, Ont., on which the Dominion rifle matches have been shot, has been condemned as dangerous and it is quite probable that the next matches of the association will be held at Toronto.

AT the annual rifle shoot at Princeton, Ill., on May 30, Mr. Charles Walker, in a field of twenty-four contestants, scored 170 out of a possible 200 and won the gold medal.

GALLERY SHOOTING IN LONDON

LONDON, ENG.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—A rifle and revolver shooting gallery has just been opened at 19 Swallow Street, Piccadilly, London. The rifle shooting is for a series of prizes, the chief one being a rifle; also a string of minor prizes. The conditions call for six shots at 20 yards with the .22-caliber rifles in the gallery; elbow rest allowed; bullseye five-eighths of an inch in diameter; artificial light. The highest scores yet made are three scores of 28 out of a possible 30, one of them made by Mr. W. Winans.

The revolver competition is at a 2-inch bullseye, only .45-caliber revolvers and S. V. powder allowed. It is for a badge given by the company which manufactures the powder. Mr. Walter Winans is leading for this with a score of 40 points out of a possible 42. The competitions will run for some months.

PISTOL GRIP.

THE GERMAN RIFLE CLUB

BOSTON, MASS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD.—At the regular weekly shoot of the Boston German Rifle Club on June 5, at the Clarendon Hills range, the following scores out of a possible 117, at 200 yards, were made.

Ferdinand Lins...	36	36	37—109	D. Breivogel.....	35	35	36—106
W. G. Seyter.....	35	36	37—108	Adam Koch.....	35	34	34—103
F. Bockelman....	35	35	37—107	C. Carstens.....	35	34	34—103
H. Krauss.....	35	35	37—107	W. R. Schaefer....	35	34	33—102
H. Rothfuss.....	35	35	37—107	G. Rothfuss.....	34	36	32—102

BOSTONIAN.

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y.—The prizes contested for at the Woodvale rifle range during the week ending June 1 were as follows: First prize, a 22-caliber Colt's repeating rifle and gold medal emblematic of the championship of Haverstraw; second, $7.50; third, a Harrington & Richardson revolver, and booby prize, $2.50. The previous winners of first prizes were handicapped two points on all the prizes save the medal. Elmer Nash won the rifle by a score of 27; Jos. Bailey captured second with 26; Michael Hines also scored 27, which, after deducting a two point handicap, won him the revolver. In shooting off the tie with Nash for the medal he was beaten by Nash's score of 21, he scoring only 17. The booby prize was won by J. Hafale Jr., who scored 6, which is within one of the possible.

G. S. MEST.

WINNIPEG, MAN.—Notwithstanding a strong, gusty wind and threatening weather, the attendance at the Kildonan rifle range on June 1 was good. Mr. Inman won the first silver spoon, and Mr. Tait, being allowed five points, secured the second. The scores were:

	Yards	200	500	600			Yards	200	500	600
W. R. Inman		28	30	32	90	A. Lemon		28	23	22	73
R. Graburn		28	31	27	86	M. C. Clark		23	18	29	70
S. Tait		29	31	24	84	R. Macklin		29	16	24	69
W. J. McKay		29	30	24	83	R. C. Brown		31	19	19	69
J. R. Wynne		25	26	30	81

SINGLE SHOT.

JOLIET, ILL. In shooting for the season's high scores, Mr. L. J. Schring, on June 8, made 231. This places him a notch above Mr. Martin. The score also breaks the record for the Joliet park, 230, made by Jos. Braun Jr. in 1893, L. J. Schring in 1891, and F. A. Martin, May 26, 1895, being the best scores up to date. The boys are on their mettle and there will be some lively competition from now on. The score:

Schring.....22 23 22 21 24 24 23 23 24 25—231

RIFLEITE.

Trap

FIXTURES

JUNE

Eleventh annual tournament Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest, under the auspices of the Multnomah Rod and Gun Club, Portland, Ore., June 19, 20, 21 and 22. D. L. Williams, secretary, Portland.

Nebraska State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Omaha, Neb., June 13, 14 and 15. $500 added money. F. S. Parmelee, secretary.

Wilmerding Gun Club's tournament, Wilmerding, Pa., June 15.

Chamberlin Cartridge & Target Co.'s second annual tournament, Cleveland, O., June 19, 20 and 21.

Anaconda Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Anaconda, Mont., June 21, 22 and 23.

Flour City Gun Club's tournament, Minneapolis, Minn., June 23 and 24.

New York State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Saratoga, N. Y., under the auspices of the Saratoga Gun Club, June 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28.

Missouri State Amateur Association's tournament, Moberly, Mo., June 25, 26 and 27.

Interstate Association's tournament, Vicksburg, Miss., under the auspices of the Vicksburg Gun Club, June 26 and 27.

North Judson Gun Club's tournament, North Judson, Ind., June 26 and 27.

Brainerd Gun Club's tournament, Brainerd, Minn., June 27 and 28.

Southern Illinois midsummer inanimate target tournament, Mt. Vernon, Ill., June 27 and 28.

Endeavor Gun Club's tournament, Marion, N. J., June 29.

JULY

Prescott Gun Club's tournament, Prescott, Arizona, July 3, 4 and 5.

Eureka Gun Club's tournament, Chicago, July 4.

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., July 4, live birds and targets.

Shamokin Gun Club's tournament, Indian Park, Shamokin, Pa., July 4.

Norwalk Shooting Association's second annual tournament, Norwalk, O., July 4.

Wood Powder Gun Club's tournament, Orangeville, Baltimore County, Md., July 4.

Palmetto Gun Club's tournament, Charleston, S. C., July 4.

White Plains Gun Club's tournament, White Plains, N. Y., July 4.

Central Gun Club's tournament, Duluth, Minn., July 4 and 5.

Altoona Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Wapsononock Park, Altoona, Pa., July 11 and 12. W. G. Clark, secretary.

J. F. Schmelzer & Sons Arms Co.'s second annual midsummer shooting tournament, Kansas City, Mo., July 16, 17, 18 and 19. Open to amateurs only; $1,500 in prizes.

Belfast Gun Club's second annual tournament, Belfast, Me., July 17 and 18.

Interstate Association's tournament, Macon, Ga., under the auspices of the Macon Gun Club, July 17 and 18. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Macon Gun Club.

Lafayette Gun Club's annual tournament, Lafayette, Ind., July 23, 24 and 25.

AUGUST

Interstate Association's tournament, New Orleans, La., under the auspices of the Louisiana Gun Club, August 9 and 10. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Louisiana Gun Club.

Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association's tournament, Philadelphia, Pa., August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Interstate Association's tournament, Charlotte, N. C., under the auspices of the Charlotte Gun Club, August 27, 28 and 29. Amount of added money will be announced later.

SEPTEMBER

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., live birds and targets, September 2 and 3.

South Side Gun Club's tournament, Newark, N. J., September 2 and 3.

Limited Gun Club's tournament, Indianapolis, Ind., second week in September.

OCTOBER

West Newburg Gun Club's Fall tournament, West Newburg, N. Y., October 9, 10 and 11. First two days at targets, last day at live birds.

NOVEMBER

Kewanee Gun Club's regular annual tournament, Kewanee, Ill., November 5, 6 and 7.

1896

Annual territorial tournament, Arizona Sportsmen's Association, Phœnix, Ariz., January 4 and 5, 1896.

Interstate Association's fourth annual Grand American Handicap at live birds, New York, April 1, 2 and 3.

Memphis Gun Club's tournament, Memphis, Tenn., second week in May. $2,000 in cash added to the purses.

Winona Gun Club's tournament, Winona, Minn., May 30.

South Side Gun Club's eleventh annual tournament, Milwaukee, Wis., May 30, 31 and June 1.

American E. C. Powder Co.'s tournament, New York, May 4 to 8, 1896.

MR. H. M. DYER CHALLENGED

BURTON, TEX.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Mr. H. M. Dyer of San Antonio, Tex., who reported the Texas state tournament for your issue of June 1, spoke of the 10-gauge gun as a dead horse. That being the case he must admit that he, as well as others, was sadly deficit in nerve, for they were afraid of that dead horse, as an open challenge was made by Mr. Barrow of Wellborn, that he (Barrow) would back Brown against any man on the ground in a live pigeon match for $50 a side. Barrow was then talking to Mr. Wheeler of Hempstead. Wheeler's reply was that if Brown would shoot a 12-gauge gun, or only use 1⅛ ounces of shot in his 10-gauge, he would shoot him a match, thus virtually acknowledging that he was afraid of the 10-gauge, although he would use 1¼ ounces of shot and have the advantage of two yards in the rise. After this talk I challenged Mr. J. A. R. Elliott of Kansas City, Mo., to a match at 50 live birds for $100 a side. This was declined. In view of these facts will Mr. Dyer explain why these challenges were declined? I see that Mr. Dyer's average at the tournament was 86; mine only 80. Talk is cheap.

If Mr. Dyer think he can shoot, let him accept the following proposition: I will shoot him 100 Blue Rocks for $50 a side and 50 live birds for $50 a side, both matches to be shot at the home of our mutual friend, A. Holtsaffle, in Cuero.

Now, Mr. Dyer, come a running. Jump right on this old dead horse. You have a soft snap. If you decline this I will get me a 16-gauge, and when I do look out for another challenge.

E. BROWN.

NOTES

I NOTICED Mr. Mott's recent allusion, in a late issue of the AMERICAN FIELD, to the proposed Cook County Trap Shooters' League, and being the one who, last year, first suggested such an organization, I beg to say that I have spoken to quite a number on the subject and all agree that it is just the thing to do if we wish to keep up the interest in Cook County in target shooting, and that such an organization ought to be perfected. The trouble in the whole matter seems to be to get someone to take the initiative step, and therefore to see what can be done I will be the martyr. If the president or secretary of each club in the county will bring this matter before his club, get an expression from its members and write me, I will, if enough clubs favor the idea to warrant, see that a meeting is called to effect an organization, and if the suggestion does not meet with sufficient encouragement to warrant a call, the matter will be quietly dropped. I believe there are clubs enough in Cook County that will favor the idea to justify the attempt to organize a league, and that when a league organization is perfected it will at once become very popular. Six or eight clubs would be a very nice number to start with, and it will indeed be very strange if there are not that number of clubs in Cook County that will favor such an organization. In Michigan, Ohio and New Jersey they have state leagues and their meetings are most interesting and successful. Expert, semi-expert and amateur medals are shot for, the league team contest is an attractive and exciting feature, and the open sweepstakes indulged in at each meeting attract a large number. By such an organization its members would get excellent practice, putting them in great shape for the next state tournament, members of the different clubs would become well acquainted, a good time would be had at each meeting, and it would not be long before the league shoots would be looked forward to as the most interesting gatherings of the year. I trust that the different clubs in Cook County will take hold of this matter at once so that an early meeting may be called and the league formed at once.

W. F. DE WOLF.

Chicago. 7011 Honore Street, Station O.

ON Friday of this week two of the most important matches between colored men ever shot in this state will take place. The parties to the contests are Mr. J. W. Monday, present holder of the Latlin & Rand Smokeless powder cup, emblematic of the colored champion target shot of Missouri, and Mr. T. H. Cohron, both of Pleasant Hill, Mo. The conditions of this race are 30 singles and 10 pairs of targets from three traps, American Shooting Association rules to govern. Mr. J. D. Morton of Harrisonville, Mo., will be on hand to meet the winner, both of the parties to the first race having signified their willingness to meet him in a simillar contest the same day. Should Mr. Monday win both of these matches, the cup above mentioned, which is the bone of contention, will then become his personal property, according to the conditions of the donators.

Pleasant Hill, Mo. S. M. W.

THE Anaconda Rod and Gun Club will hold its annual tournament for 1895 at Anaconda, Mont., on June 21, 22 and 23. The sportsmen and merchants of Anaconda have responded liberally to the solicitations of the executive committee, and it is expected that over five hundred dollars' worth of cash and merchandise prizes will be hung up to be competed for. It is thought this tournament will be one of the best ever held in Montana. Both live birds and inanimate targets will be used and there will be a great variety of shooting. The events that will excite the greatest interest will be the team contest and the contest for the individual championship of the state. The grounds of the club are the best in Montana for tournament purposes and the club's facilities for entertaining visiting sportsmen are said to be first class.

THE Steamboat Springs Gun Club has been invited by the Craig Gun Club to go down there on July 4 and return the match shot at this place on Independence Day last year. The conditions of the match will be the same as last year: Ten shots with rifle, 100 yards, off hand, and the same men to shoot at 15 Blue Rock pigeons with shotgun. The Steamboat Springs team has won twice already in the grand totals, but neither time with both rifle and shotgun. It is expected that this place will send a team of ten or eleven men, who will be given a royal reception and have a grand time. A base ball team from here will also go down and try conclusions with the Craig nine.

Steamboat Springs, Colo. CHAS. E. BAER.

WE have received from Mr. E. Doeinck, secretary of the Hell Gate Gun Club of Astoria, L. I., the scores of the club's last two monthly contests, but the carbon worked so poorly that the names in one instance are too indistinct for anyone not a member of the club to decipher them, while in the other case the carbon is so heavy that some of the names are badly blurred, consequently we cannot use the scores we have with any satisfaction to ourselves or the members of the club. If the secretary will send us a duplicate of the scores, with the names plainly written, we shall be only too glad to make room for the report in our columns, but to publish it as we have it and guess at half the names would be unsatisfactory all around.

ON Monday of this week, on a wager, Capt. J. L. Brewer of New York attempted to kill 95 out of 100 selected live pigeons, but lost by the small margin of one bird. The match was shot on the grounds of the Parkway Gun Club of Parkway, Long Island. On ordinary birds 95 out of 100 is not such a big game for a professional, but on selected birds, especially if the feat be attempted under American Shooting Association rules, in the late Fall or Winter when the birds are strong and heavily feathered, the man who succeeds has got to be a shooter, a stayer, and have the eye of a hawk and the nerve of a demon.

A MATCH at 30 live birds per man has been made between Col. F. C. G. Brand, the popular proprietor of National park, Milwaukee, Wis., and Mr. Joseph Deuster, postmaster of the south side station in Milwaukee. The match is to be shot in Milwaukee on Thursday, June 27, at 3 o'clock p. m., and owing to the fact that both men are well known and very popular, is certain to attract a large crowd of spectators. Col. Brand is a sportsman of the old school and will die game if he is defeated; but win or lose, no man on the ground will get more sport out of the race than he will.

AT the tournament of the Norwalk (O.) Shooting Association, July 4, the Pumphrey system of dividing the purses will be adopted. This system was fully explained in the AMERICAN FIELD on May 18, and this is the first instance, so far as we know, of its being put to an actual test at a tournament. We shall be glad to hear the result and learn whether or not it gives general satisfaction, for the trap shooters of the country—that is a great majority of them—are looking for something different and more satisfactory than the old system.

THE Eureka Gun Club of Chicago will have an all-day tournament upon its grounds at 79th Street and Vincennes Avenue, on July 4. Targets exclusively. A hot dinner or lunch can be had right at the grounds. The grounds can be reached by the C. & E. I. R. R., the C. & R. I. R. R., or by State Street cable cars, transferring to electric cars at 39th Street.

THE Little Rock Gun Club's team won the championship of Arkansas at the recent state tournament on a score of 87 out of a possible 100. The conditions of the contest were four men to each team, 25 targets per man, 15 at unknown [illegible] and 10 under expert rules. Under the conditions the total was very creditable. Last year the team from [illegible] Springs Gun Club won by a narrow margin.

I wish to claim Monday and Tuesday, Septem[illegible] the time for the tournament of the South Si[illegible] Newark, N. J. All targets. The first day and [illegible] second day will be open sweepstakes, and [illegible] of the latter will occur the team contest of [illegible] Trap Shooters' League.

Newark, N. J. W. R. HOBART, Secy.

THE Shamokin (Pa.) Gun Club will hold an all-day tournament at Indian park on Independence Day, on which occasion private matches will be shot between Mr. E. D. Fulford of Utica, N. Y., and Mr. Epler of Harrisburg, and between Jas. Coxe of Williamstown, Pa., and Benj. Machemer of Trevorton, Pa.

A TOURNAMENT at inanimate targets will be held at Mt. Vernon, Ill., on June 27 and 28. Ten events are announced for each day and a number of valuable and useful merchandise prizes will be awarded in addition to the cash purses. The tournament is open to everybody.

THE West Newburg (N. Y.) Gun and Rifle Club has accepted a challenge from the Passaic City (N. J.) Gun Club to shoot a series of three or more team matches, ten or twelve men to each team. The first match of the series will be shot in Passaic on or about June 20.

THE Flour City Gun Club of Minneapolis, Minn., has changed the dates of its forthcoming tournament from June 20, 21 and 22 to June 23 and 24. Sportsmen should bear this in mind and not get the later dates confounded with the former.

THE Sportsmen's Association of the Northwest has changed the dates of its forthcoming tournament, which is to be held at Portland, Ore., to June 19, 20, 21 and 22. Those expecting to attend this tournament should make a note of this.

IN the recent team contest between the Rochester (N. Y.) Rod and Gun Club and the Churchville Gun Club, 20 birds per man, six men to a team, the former team won easily. The scores were 98 to 81.

MR. THOS. C. LEWIS of Reynolds, Ill., will have a tournament at his place sometime during the month of September next, date and other conditions to be announced later.

THE Central Gun Club of Duluth, Minn., will hold its third annual tournament on July 4 and 5. The Central is a good live club and its tournaments are usually well attended.

IT is currently reported that Dr. W. F. Carver, the famous live bird shot, has purchased a handsome residence in Chicago and will hereafter make that city his home.

TARGET shooting is becoming very popular this season on the Pacific coast, and new clubs are springing up in all of the larger towns.

THE Memphis Gun Club claims the second week in May for its tournament next year, and says it will add $2,000 in cash to the purses.

THE White Plains Gun Club of White Plains, N. Y., will hold an all-day tournament at live birds and inanimate targets on July 4.

THE Interstate Association will hold a tournament at Vicksburg, Miss., June 26 and 27.

THE annual tournament of the New York State Association is to be held at Saratoga, N. Y., from June 24 to 28.

THE Missouri State Amateur Association will hold a tournament at Moberly, Mo., from June 25 to 27.

THE Cleveland Target Co.'s annual will be held next week, from the 19th to the 21st.

THE Memphis Gun Club's big tournament is on this week.

THE ILLINOIS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S ANNUAL MEETING AND TOURNAMENT

The twenty-first annual meeting of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association was held at the Sherman House, Chicago, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 3 and 4.

The first evening was devoted to the reports of officers and the discussion of game protection and game legislation, as published in our last week's AMERICAN FIELD, while on the second evening, Tuesday, June 4, the regular business meeting was held.

The meeting was called to order at 8:30 o'clock, President W. L. Shepard in the chair.

Mr. W. L. Shepard: The secretary will please call the roll.

The following clubs responded to the roll call: Audubon Gun Club, Chicago Shooting Club, Duck Island Gun Club, Diana Shooting Club, Douglass Gun Club, Evanston Gun Club, Garfield Gun Club, Lake County Gun Club, Prairie Gun Club, Soft Mark Shooting Club, Elgin National Gun Club, Calumet Heights Gun Club, Sandwich Gun Club, Jackson Gun Club, Geneseo Gun Club, Eureka Gun Club.

W. L. Shepard: The secretary will please read the minutes of our last annual meeting.

The secretary complied. (The minutes of the meeting appeared in the AMERICAN FIELD of June 16, 1894.)

J. E. Price: I move that the minutes of the last meeting be adopted as read. Motion duly seconded and carried.

W. L. Shepard: Propositions for membership to this association will be received.

The Secretary: The following clubs have applied for membership in this association: Summer Gun Club, Elgin National Gun Club, Kankakee Gun Club, Cicero Gun Club, Gilman Gun Club, Highland Gun Club, Sandwich Gun Club.

Mr. F. S. Baird: I move that the action of the Board of Directors in accepting these clubs to membership be ratified by this association. Motion seconded by Mr. M. J. Eich and carried. The clubs were thereupon declared elected to membership in the association.

W. L. Shepard: Reports of officers. This matter being the substance of our last night's meeting, and having received full and compete attention, we will pass over same.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER

TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF THE ILLINOIS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION:

Your Secretary-Treasurer begs leave to submit the following report:

RECEIPTS

June 4, 1895. Balance brought forward from 1894	$ 26.25
Cash donations received	440.00
Dues and assessments for year 1895	365.00
Total	$831.25

EXPENDITURES

June 4, 1895. Amount paid for prizes	$485.00
Expense account to date	270.80
Total	$755.80
Cash balance on hand	75.45

Moved by Mr. R. B. Organ and seconded by F. S. Baird that the report of the secretary-treasurer be adopted. Motion carried.

Mr. W. L. Shepard: Reports of committees.

Mr. F. S. Baird: I have a communication which [illegible] little tardy. Two years ago a committee was appointed for the purpose of organizing a national association, and [illegible] meeting for that purpose during the World's Fair. Mr. W.

fred N. Low and myself were appointed on that committee. We deemed it necessary to have a stenographic report of same and employed a Mr. Dement for that purpose. His bill, amounting to $[illegible] remains unpaid. As this matter emanated from [illegible] I would ask that the bill be received and [illegible] I would like to have the pleasure of [illegible] this matter.

[illegible] I move that the bill be received and paid; [illegible] C. S. Wilcox.

[illegible] is a matter that should come before the director[illegible] I move, Mr. Chairman, that the matter be referred to that body (no second to this motion).

W. L. Shepard: All those in favor of the adoption of Mr. Organ's motion will signify it by saying aye; contra-minded, no. Bill ordered paid by vote of the association.

Mr. R. B. Organ: I would like to report to this association the doings of a few members on the board which took place at the end of last year, and which is worthy of our attention. In all our workings during the past Winter, we were short of cash, and much in need of same for the carrying out of the work before us. At that time a few gentlemen of our association kindly came forward with donations. Mr. C. S. Wilcox very kindly gave us his check for $100, and Mr. Hamline opened his pocketbook considerably, and their kindness calls for our hearty thanks. I now move that a vote of thanks be extended to Messrs. Wilcox and Hamline for their liberal cash donations in support of the business matters of this association. Motion carried unanimously.

Secretary Meyers: I will call upon Mr. Hough for a resolution prepared by him, as coming from this association, on the death of Mr. Wolfred N. Low.

Mr. Hough: Mr. President and Gentlemen: These resolutions of respect and bereavement on the death of Mr. Wolfred N. Low, I desire to offer as coming from this association.

WHEREAS, Death has removed from among us within the past year our beloved friend and brother, Wolfred N. Low; one always held high in the confidence and esteem of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association and prominent alike in the councils and the executive plans of this organization, and

WHEREAS, Our deceased friend and brother sportsman, Wolfred N. Low and twice elected and twice served faithfully and with credit as president of this association, and

WHEREAS, Mr. Low also served for more than ten years, without fee or recompense, as a leading member of the law committee of this association, being then of much value as a leader and counselor of this association, and

WHEREAS, The personal and social qualities of our deceased friend and brother, Wolfred N. Low, were such as to endear him to the hearts of us all as a gentleman and sportsman whose memory we will not willingly let die. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association, in their annual convention assembled, do formally place themselves on record in the expression of their sense of loss and bereavement in the death of their friend and brother, Wolfred N. Low, and

Resolved, That the members of this association feel that they shall not soon see again one more prominent, more respected, or more beloved than this friend and brother whom Providence has removed from us while in the prime of manly force and vigor.

Resolved, That we do hereby express our grief as friends, as individuals, and as members of this association.

Resolved, That we do also thus formally express and convey our sympathy to the relatives and near friends of our deceased friend and brother, Wolfred N. Low.

Resolved, That the secretary of this association be instructed to send copies of these resolutions, suitably engraved, to the wife and near relatives of our late friend and member, Mr. Wolfred N. Low.

It was regularly moved and carried that this resolution be received, adopted, and placed on the records of this association.

Mr. M. R. Bortree: There is a matter I would like to call before the state association. It is this: There is an organization known as the National Game, Bird and Fish Protective Association, and there is in its constitution a law which permits all local and state organizations to become associated with it on the payment of a fee of five dollars. While this association found its existence in our midst, I believe it would be no more than proper for this association to join it, and thus assist it in every way possible to carry out the great object so dear to us all, namely, the preservation of game. I now make a motion to classify our membership in the National Game, Bird and Fish Protective Association, that the board of directors, with its officers, appoint five delegates to attend the deliberations of the National association. Motion duly seconded by Mr. R. B. Organ, and carried.

Mr. Herman B. Meyers: I think that this association should take some step or adopt some rule that we could live up to as to the closing time of the different events programed at our state shoots. I have had fifteen or twenty letters from various gun clubs throughout the state inquiring as to the time the entries for the three different events filled on our program closed. I think it proper that the association adopt some permanent rule in this matter.

Mr. Organ: I do not think it possible to do this. I think it should be left to the discretion of the board of managers.

W. L. Shepard: I believe in being protected by constitutional provisions or regular adopted rules. If the betterment of this state of affairs can be brought about, I am certainly in favor of it; and with the talent we have here this evening I would like to hear any suggestions that would tend to its improvement.

Mr. Mott: I would suggest in order to obviate, in order to prevent any difficulties in the future, that Rule 8 be made to read that the order of shooting shall be the order of entry in the various events, unless a change of position be made between two or more contestants.

Mr. C. Kern: If we find that we have difficulties, let us amend them; but as everything has been satisfactory so far, there is no necessity for being too short and cutting them off by a time limit.

Mr. Mott: I can very easily foresee this state of affairs (Mr. Organ: Except with us). Now a member might go to any one of our events and, getting there rather late, demand to know whether there had been a drawing for place. There had been no drawing for place; we never had one. What are these men at the score for? he would ask. They have not drawn for place, and I demand that all this be stopped and we draw for place. And why has he not a right to demand this when our rules demand that before shooting a drawing be had for place? And now because we have never had this demand made upon us, and the officers have violated the by-laws, it is said there is no reason to change them. I believe we ought to change them right now, unless we can enforce this rule. The drawing for place is absolute nonsense with this association. You cannot get your contestants there on time, and they all rely on the custom of a man shooting in the order of entry. Legalize what custom has made popular; have all contestants go to the score in the order of making entry. I move you that so much of Rule 8 as now reads, "the order for shooting shall be determined by drawing for place, and each contestant shall be in readiness in five minutes after his name has been called, and that the remainder of Rule 8 shooting shall be determined by the order of entry, and each contestant shall be in readiness within five minutes after his name has been called, and that the remainder of Rule 8 stand as at present. Motion carried.

To settle the question of whether the open shoots of the tournament are held under the auspices of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association, or not, the following motion was made:

Mr. Mott: I move you that hereafter the program of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association shall contain the following announcement: The events under the head of "open shoots," and all open shoots which are open to others than members of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association, are under the sole management and control of Mr. John Watson, or whoever may have control of the shoot; and the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association assumes no responsibility whatever in reference thereto. Motion duly seconded by Mr. R. B. Organ and carried.

Dr. Pankhurst: I move that this association meets next year on the first Tuesday, instead of the first Monday, in June. Motion duly seconded by Mr. A. C. Patterson and carried.

Mr. R. B. Organ: I move that Chicago be the next place for holding our next annual convention and tournament. Duly seconded by C. Kern. Motion carried.

[illegible]CTION OF OFFICERS

[illegible] The election of officers for the coming

[illegible]yon that the secretary be instructed [illegible] the association for the election of Mr. W. L. Shepard as president of this association. The secretary complied, and Mr. Shepard was declared elected.

Mr. W. L. Shepard: Gentlemen of the convention: Words fail me on an occasion of this kind and I won't take up very much of your time, for I asked a gentleman here this evening to offer a resolution that this convention limit a person's remarks to five minutes, and as I want you all to go home early and be out early to shoot on the morrow, I won't detain you long. I want to say to you, however, that for the confidence and compliment you have seen fit to bestow upon me, that I appreciate it, and thank you very kindly. I did think, gentlemen, after ten years in office as secretary-treasurer of this association, that the presidency would be a loophole for my getting out of office; but it seems not. "The president has not got very much to do; it is the chairman of the executive committee," were the remarks made by a gentleman. I tell you, gentlemen, we have gone through lots of work during the past year, and if you gentlemen who come

W. L. SHEPARD,

President Illinois State Sportsmen's Association

here and make officers think it is any fun to fill these offices, you are greatly mistaken. I accept the office to which I have just been elected, but I ask you to give me your entire support; otherwise I will think you are making a chopping block out of me. We have longed for the support our country brothers could give us. We have been compelled to criticise our country brothers and we have been criticised in correspondence which came in from the country. If you, gentlemen from the rural districts, will give us your support, we will be very grateful for it. But I wish you would give us more help during the coming year than we have received from you in the past, for as true sportsmen and makers of laws it is a duty you owe yourselves as well as this association, to see that these laws, framed by yourself, and true to your nature and belief, should be lived up to; and as members of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association it is your duty to live up to the laws of this association and assist your fellow brothers in seeing that the laws are enforced. The question of game legislation, as outlined to you to-night by Mr. Mott, calls upon you to interest yourselves with your representatives and urge upon them the necessity of the passage of laws for the preservation of game in this great state. This organization was organized for the purpose of preserving the game, and also for the purpose of punishing game violators; but outside of the assistance rendered us by our legal talent we have been alone, receiving little or no assistance from our country brothers. We want the assistance of our friends in the country and we want you to give us all your assistance this year, and to impress upon your representatives to give us their support in the legislature, otherwise our efforts will be fruitless. It is your duty to bring to bear all the influence at your command through correspondence, or through friends and neighbors. Impress upon your repre-

H. B. MEYERS,

Secretary-Treasurer Illinois State Sportsmen's Association

sentatives at Springfield the necessity of passing laws for the preservation of game in the state of Illinois. If you will do this, gentlemen, which I know you can and will, we will achieve a great deal by the time of our next annual meeting. I will endeavor to surround myself with the best help I can secure. I will do all I can for you during the coming year, and next year I will give you a program that will be eminently and perfectly satisfactory.

Mr. R. B. Organ: I take great pleasure in nominating Mr. Wilson H. Doe as first vice-president of this association. Seconded by Mr. Bortree.

Mr. Baird: I move that the secretary cast one ballot for the election of Mr. Doe as the first vice-president of this association.

Mr. Shepard: The secretary has complied, and I declare Mr. Wilson H. Doe elected to the office of first vice-president of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association.

Mr. C. P. Richards: It affords me great pleasure to nominate Mr. Wm. Harbaugh of Geneseo, Ill., for the office of second vice-president of this association.

Mr. Mott: I move that the secretary be instructed to cast one ballot for the election of Mr. Harbaugh as second vice-president.

Mr. Shepard: The secretary has complied with instructions, and I declare Mr. Wm. Harbaugh elected to the office of second vice-president of this association.

Mr. Hough: To make matters short, I move you that the president cast one ballot for the election of Mr. Herman B. Meyers to the office of secretary-treasurer of this association. The president complied and Mr. Herman B. Meyers was declared elected to the office of secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

Mr. Shepard: I did forget one thing this evening. I want to extend my sincere thanks to our executive committee and the chairman of that committee, for the great work it has performed and the able support it has given your officers in the support of their duties. To the law committee, Mr. Mott in particular, is due a great many thanks; and the same also is due Mr. Johnson.

Mr. W. Doe: I move that the thanks of this association be tendered to the law committee for the great work it has performed during the past season. Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Abner Price: I move that a vote of thanks be extended to the proprietor of the Sherman House for the use of its club room; also to the donors of prizes to this association. Motion seconded and carried.

There being no further business before the meeting, an adjournment was taken until the first Tuesday in June, 1896.

THE TOURNAMENT

Not again soon will the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association have another full week for a tournament as pleasant throughout as was last week. With the exception of Monday, which was excessively warm for this season of the year, the weather could not have been better or pleasanter if it had been made to order. A fairly strong wind from the southwest prevailed each day, and when one was not in the sun it was cool and invigorating. Had the wind been more from the north or south it would have made the birds harder, but many of the birds were hard enough to test the skill of the marksmen without any wind to help them; had they been harder the scores would, in the main, have been poorer.

The attendance, though not as large as we have seen at these annual meetings, was very good; better, perhaps, than the management had reason to expect considering the time of year and the fact that so many good local tournaments are this year being held in different parts of the state. There was about the usual number of visiting sportsmen in attendance and most of them remained until the tournament closed, participating in nearly all the "open events."

Among those from a distance were Mr. Oliver Lippincott Jr., of Waco, Tex.; Harvey McMurchy of Utica, N. Y.; C. W. Budd of Des Moines, Ia.; Richard Merrill of Milwaukee, Wis.; J. A. R. Elliott of Kansas City, Mo.; T. K. Keller of New York, and Chas. Grimm of Clear Lake, Ia. A few who are usually seen at these meetings were not present this year, and their absence was a matter of general comment by the regular attendants. Among these were Rolla Heikes of Dayton, O.; Tom Marshall of Keithsburg, Ill.; C. E. Strawn of Jacksonville, Ill.; Solomon of Springfield, Ill.; Frank Parmelee of Omaha, Neb.; Bennett of Kansas City, Mo.; "Plummer" Read of Omaha, Neb.; Dr. O. F. Britton (Partington), of Indianapolis, Ind.; A. W. Du Bray of Louisville, Ky.; Dieter and Carmichael of Milwaukee, Wis.; S. A. Tucker, the well-known representative of the Parker gun, and E. D. Fulford of Utica, N. Y.

The live birds were a mixed lot, some good, some poor, and some as fast and strong as can be found during the Fall months. The live bird events were superintended by Mr. John Watson, his pointers doing the retrieving, and when that is said it is unnecessary to say that this part of the meeting was carried out satisfactorily to all.

The target events were under the supervision of Mr. Watson's sons, Ike and George, and they kept things "a-moving" in their locality, giving the target shooters all the business they cared for.

The officers of the association, President Shepard, Secretary Meyers and the entire board of directors, were very attentive to their duties and exerted themselves to make it pleasant for everybody. That they succeeded in their efforts goes without saying. Mr. Geo. Andrews was official scorer and if there is anyone who can do this work better or more satisfactorily he has not yet been found. Mr. John Watson, manager of the park where the tournament was held, refereed the live bird events and there was not a kick against his decisions; there could not well be, for Mr. Watson is an expert in this line and his word goes with everyone.

Empire traps, pulls and targets were used and all worked well; if a trap got to acting ugly Mr. W. F. Quimby was right there to straighten it out, and in the twinkle of an eye it was again ready for duty.

Good meals—dinner and supper—were served in the dining-hall each day, where everybody got plenty to eat and had it served in splendid style. We will not attempt to say how many chickens and strawberry shortcakes were consumed during the week, for if we should give the exact number, especially of the latter, many of our readers would feel like doubting the statement.

The events creating the most interest were the contest for the Board of Trade diamond badge, the Smith cup event, the team race, and the events for the diamond trophies for live birds and inanimate targets. In the Board of Trade diamond badge contest, fifteen men out of the seventy-four that entered made clean scores of ten each and tied for the trophy and first money, and when the shoot off for the trophy narrowed down to two men—Mr. H. Dunnell of the Pistakee Gun Club and Mr. Thos. P. Hicks of the Garfield Gun Club—excitement ran high, though not a word was said by anyone that might tend to affect the shooting of either man. The race was stubbornly fought by both men, but the former proved himself the better on a long race and won. Dr. Frothingham, of the Eureka Gun Club of Chicago, won the Smith cup and the diamond target trophy on clean scores, and without a tie, the latter now being his personal property, he having won it two years in succession. Mr. Abe Kleinman won the diamond trophy this year for live bird shooting, but when he did so he was not through with his troubles, as he had to shoot a 15-bird race with Mr. J. J. Smith of Evanston, the winner last year, to decide the absolute winner, and Mr. Smith proved the victor.

For convenience in referring to the different events the live bird shoots are placed together and numbered 1, 2, 3, etc., as are also the target events. In a tournament like this, where the events run over from one day to the next, it is much better to place them this way than to try to give the events as shot each day. The scores of the entire tournament, excepting, perhaps, two or three small extra events, follow:

LIVE BIRDS

EVENT NO. 1.—Contest for Board of Trade diamond badge, 10 live birds per man, $10 entrance, 74 entries.

H. Ehlers	0210022122—7	B. Barto	2122021110—8
Dr. J. Pankhurst	11111*2112—9	A. Kleinman	1221111121—10
R. B. Smith	0211111022—8	M. J. Eich	0112112122—9
M. J. Pitzen	1120021012—7	D. Turtle	1211222111—10
Burt Dunnell	1221011222—9	J. H. Woodworth	2020200121—6
W. Dunnell	2002222201—7	J. T. Baker	2111110112—9
F. Dilg	0012210211—7	T. L. Parker	2120202122—7
E. Bingham	2222222222—10	H. Frothingham	0220222202—7
F. E. Williard	2022022200—6	W. Palmer	1122022122—9
A. W. Reeves	22211*2212—9	E. Ellicott	20000w...—1
G. Kleinman	1110022111—8	W. H. Hale	2120011020—6
L. M. Hamline	1002001202—5	T. Laflin	2212111112—10
C. S. Wilcox	2022112202—8	S. Palmer	1102111220—8
H. Dunnell	1222221221—10	A. C. Boeber	2100210212—7
W. H. Skiuner	120211121*—8	J. J. Smith	2211212121—10
L. E. Willard	2111010112—8	E. Steck	22*1212102—8
W. J. Edbrooke	2001212021—7	G. Franklin	1022221001—7
G. J. Roll	1212211122—10	Dr. Carver	2222222222—10
O. Von Lengerke	2222222—8	H. J. Lusson	0111111222—9
O. H. Porter	2202*0*010—4	W. E. Phillips	1001000220—4
A. W. Fehrman	2220200021—6	George Tate	*012020122—6
R. B. Organ	1222222222—10	W. P. Mussey	0222220222—8
J. E. Price	1120011211—8	C. B. Dicks	2221112222—10
A. W. Adams	02021110*1—6	F. A. Place	0020122102—6
C. M. Powers	2222111212—10	Geo. Beck	2111101212—9
W. A. Heilman	112*112101—8	H. B. Meyers	2022001000—4
Henry Lemm	0121222022—8	Chas. Beck	1220010121—7
J. Valentine	1121222222—10	W. R. Crosby	22111211*1—9
A. Thomas	0222222222—9	G. W. Madden	2120202121—8
F. Mosher	1122122222—10	C. E. Felton	1121101212—9
T. J. Fortier	1001120221—7	A. Torkington	0100221122—7
T. T. Magruder	1121210111—9	A. Stafford	1211101112—9
B. Jackson	1111021202—8	J. C. Murphy	2121110202—8
R. Kruger	110022*202—6	J. H. Cummings	1111212111—10
J. W. Neebert	*1121*2220—7	R. S. Mott	1002212122—8
T. P. Hicks	2122212222—10	R. N. Freeman	0220010112—6
W. Harbaugh	*112200121—7	G. Smith	0121210100—6

Fifteen men out of the seventy-four made clean scores of ten each and tied for the diamond trophy. They decided to divide first money equally and shoot off at 5 birds each for the trophy. Mr. A. Kleinman, who was one of the fifteen, objected to participating in the shoot off, saying that he did not object to the division of the money, but as he did not care for the honor of winning the trophy, even if he could win, withdrew and left the contest to the other fourteen. In the shoot off, T. Lallin and Dr. Carver dropped out on their first bird; J. H. Cummings went out on his second; G. J. Roll and C. B. Dicks on the third; Ed Bingham and R. B. Organ on the fourth; Dick Turtle and J. Valentine on the fifth; C. M. Powers and J. J. Smith on the seventh; F. Mosher on the twelfth, while T. P. Hicks and H. Dunnell each killed 15 birds straight, thus leaving the btttle for the emblem to be settled between the last two gentlemen. They decided to shoot at five birds more, Dunnell leading in position at the score. His third bird in this five was a rapid left-quarterer and it escaped the boundary but fell dead inside the park fence. Mr. Hicks then went to the score and drew a rising bird to the left, but not fast. He was too careful with the first barrel and missed. The bird started rapidly at the crack of the gun and was missed clean with the second. Thus, Mr. Hicks lost a golden opportunity to win the trophy and let Mr. Dunnell back into the tie. From this time out it was virtually a miss and out, and Mr. Hicks feeling a little chagrined at losing a splendid opportunity to win lost his self-control in a measure, and after killing two more birds let two in succession get away, while Mr. Dunnell killed all four of his and won.

The race between these two men was very interesting, for up to the time of their first miss, on the eighteenth tie bird, both did nice, clean, quick work, shooting with great accuracy and killing their birds in good shape.

The winner of the badge, Mr. Dunnell, of the Pistakee Gun Club, used an L. C. Smith 10-guage gun, and his load was 4 drams of Schultze powder and 1¼ ounces of No. 7 chilled shot.

Mr. Hicks, who lost the race after a spirited fight, is a prominent member of the Garfield Gun Club of Chicago and used a premier quality Westley Richards 10-gauge gun. His load was 4 drams of E. C. powder and 1¼ ounces No. 7 chilled shot in Smokeless cases.

Thirteen men tied for second money, and they shot off the tie at 5 birds per man. Dr. Pankhurst and Col. Felton each dropped out on the first tie bird; Buker, W. Palmer and Lusson on the second; Geo. Beck on the third; A. W. Reeves on the fourth. B. Dunnell, Andy Thomas, T. T. Magruder and M. J. Eich each killed five straight and then divided. Mr. Stabford who was in this tie was not present when the tie was shot off, consequently forfeited his interest.

Seventeen men tied for third money and they in like manner proceeded to determine the winner, Mr. Mussey forfeiting by being absent. Price, Barto and S. Palmer went out on the first tie bird; L. Willard, Von Lengerke, Wilcox and Malden on the second; Smith and Steck on the fourth; Skinner and Murphy on the fifth. G. Kleinman, Heilman, Lemm and Mott killed five straight and divided.

The fourteen who tied for fourth money on 7 each shot off the same as the others, Neibert being absent and forfeiting. C. Beck and Torkington missed their first tie birds; Parker, Frothingham and Franklin retired on the second round; Pitzen dropped out on the fifth round, and Ehlers, W. Dunnell, Dilg, Edbrooke, Fortier and Harbaugh, who killed straight, divided the purse.

There were ten men tied for fifth prize and they followed the example of the others and shot it down. F. E. Willard and Fehrman forfeited, not being present. Hale, Tate, Freehan and Schmidt dropped out on the first bird; Place on the second; Adams on the third, Krueger on the fourth. Woodworth was the only one of the ten that killed straight in the tie, therefore he won the purse.

EVENT NO. 2.—Club team championship, four men to each team, 10 live birds per man, entrance price of birds.

ELGIN NATIONAL GUN CLUB	PRAIRIE GUN CLUB
S. M. Adams .....2111110111—9	R. S. Mott........2210212022—8
W. H. Doe........2012110220—7	H. Ehlers........2222222022—9
B. Nish...........0101220111—7	W. H. Skinner...1220120102—7
L. C. Freeman...2110111102—8—31	A. Kleinman.....1011220012—7—31
GENESSEE GUN CLUB	PEKIN GUN CLUB
W. Harbaugh....0122001021—6	W. Heilman......2222201222—9
R. C. White......0211022111—8	A. S. Mason......2120110201—7
F. A. Barr........1102001100—5	H. Lemm.... ....2022011112—8
(Withdrew)...............—0—19	T. Irwin..........2210210022—7—31
CALUMET HEIGHTS GUN CLUB	AUDUBON GUN CLUB
A. C. Patterson..2120210010—6	C. S. Wilcox.....0012202220—6
A. P. Harper.....2121201211—9	J. J. Kleinman...2101121002—7
R. A. Turtle......1121110111—9	C. E. Felton......2200022211—7
E. T. Ellicott.....1110200112—7—31	(Withdrew)...............—0—20
DIXON GUN CLUB	DUCK ISLAND GUN CLUB
M. J. Buker......0001112000—4	H. Fahnnestock..0122011121—8
Dr. Pankhurst...1110210012—7	W. L. Shepard ..2012220202—7
F. Jones..........2111211120—9	J. H. Cummings..0121112212—9
(Withdrew)..................0—20	A. Price..........1120112111—9—33
CHICAGO SHOOTING CLUB	DOUGLASS GUN CLUB
Geo. Kleinman..1122212111-10	L. Essig..........0100200222—5
M. J. Eich.........1102111212—9	B. Barto..........2222222012—9
R. B. Organ......1121002212—8	N. Johnson.......0200200000—2
Ed. Bingham....2210220122—8—35	J. C. Murphy.....0211000111—6—22
SANDWICH GUN CLUB	BLUE ISLAND GUN CLUB
C. C. Jones.......0222200222—7	R. Krueger...... 2211112212-10
O. Obermylie ....2221021222—9	Geo. Roll.........2112122222-10
E. C. Hennis.....1111201112—9	W. Krueger......1112111122-10
J. B. Castle......0201020220—5—30	H. Lusson........1220020022—6—36
SUMMER GUN CLUB	WHITE CITY GUN CLUB
C. B. Dicks.......2022101112—8	G. C. Man........2110112220—8
T. Parker.........2100212202—7	E. V. Pattison....1020220101—6
P. F. Stone......2221122222-10	Dr. Liddy........2202201122—8
E. Heath.....:...1201200000—4—29	(Withdrew)...............—0—22
EVANSTON GUN CLUB	GARFIELD GUN CLUB
F. Dilg...........1211120110—8	Dr. Carver........2202222220—8.
Geo. Beck........2010101201—6	S. Palmer..........2201212121—9
Geo. Franklin....1111120010—7	W. Palmer.......2122222012—9
J. J. Smith.......1102101121—8—29	T. P. Hicks......1102212012—8—34
EUREKA GUN CLUB	HIGHLAND PARK GUN CLUB
A. Thomas.......2112221020—8	C. J. Spencer....2110101210—7
A. W. Adams....2102220020—6	J. Valentine......0110220011—6
F. Stannard......1022220022—7	B. Stanley........2111121012—9
Dr. Frothingham.2200020222—6—27	J. H. Woodw'th..1021021200—6—28
SOFT MARK GUN CLUB	PISTAKEE GUN CLUB
J. F. Carraher....0200020112—5	H. Dunnell.......2122112111-10
O. Antoine........0111202021—7	M. J. Pitzen......1221021122—9
I. H. Porter......0110011121—7	W. Dunnell......2012021221—8
W. F. Cutter.....2220221212—9—28	B. Dunnell.......2211122212-10—37
SOUTH CHICAGO GUN CLUB	CICERO GUN CLUB
L. C. Willard....2020120222—7	W. Einfeldt......2202111101—8
F. E. Willard....0200101210—5	A. A. Matthews..0202122220—7
A. W. Reeves....0111212112—9	E. E. Fox.........0222112100—7
(Withdrew)...............—0—21	J. P. Doetler.....2010000202—4—26
GILMAN GUN CLUB	LAKE COUNTY GUN CLUB
F. J. Fortier.....2101022122—8	N. H. Ford.......1012220012—7
Geo. Tate........2012120220—7	A. L. Smith......0102110120 -6
T. J. Magruder...1211121002—8	W. J. Edbrooke..1120122001—7
F. Mosher........0222202222 8—31	A. Marquardt....2001202220—6—26

There were four prizes besides a number of specials in this contest, but the result of the shooting was such that there were no ties to shoot off. Pistakee Gun Club won first on a score of 37 out of a possible 40; Blue Island Gun Club won second on 36; Chicago Shooting Club took third on 35, and Garfield Gun Club won fourth on 34 out of 50. When its last man went to the score to shoot, Blue Island Gun Club had a cinch on the championship, but as is often the case in a team contest when too much rests upon one man's shoulders he is more than likely to fall down. Such was the case with Mr. Lusson. Though a very reliable shot ordinarily he evidently realized that all eyes were upon him and he could not control his nerves. He scored six out of the ten and landed his team in second place.

EVENT NO. 3.—Contest for Montgomery Ward & Co. diamond live bird medal, 15 live birds per man, $10 entrance. Contest for trophy open only to members of the association; sweepstake open to all.

J. J. Smith......112100212122120-12	R. Merrill.......11101*111122111-13
J. A. R. Elliott..*22212212002112-12	G. Kleinman....*12122111111012-13
W. H. Doe 020110021121101 10	M. Pitzen........1022202*202222-11
S. M. Adams....2021001011*0211—9	W. Dunnell......210202122021221-12
R. S. Mott........212112111111210-14	H. Levi...........122211202020222-12
B. W. Nish......010010200120201—7	A. S. Mason.....222212220200110-11
W. Palmer......122002221222112-13	B. Barto.........220210222*22012-11
G. Beck..........012122122101201-12	C. Wilcox........02*22000111102*—8
Dr. Frothingham— 0200220w.....—4	A. Kleinman....112121112222222 15
	M. J. Eich........112102101212211-13
Oliver Lippincott Jr. 221000012110222 10	H. Dunnell......221111122211121-15
	J. Valentine.....00200120w.....—3
A. C. Patterson.011202112122110-12	Dr. Liddy.......222100202211211-12
S. Palmer.......121112101220120-12	J. H. Cummings 121110012001111-11
C. Grimm........020111210221112-12	Geo. Franklin...110222022221212-13
T. P. Hicks......101111011100020—9	B. Dunnell......200212101221001 10
C. Powers.......221111200221022 12	J. F. Whiting...0002200w.....—3
Dr. Pankhurst..101*0111w.....—5	E. Bingham.....222002222222222 13
R. B. Organ.....211222222*22220 13	A. Thomas......220222222222222 14
C. E. Felton.....011201221221202 12	A. L. Orr.......00202100w.....—3
Thos. Parker...220222111112011 13	C. Kern..........0000002w.....—1
Ben Dicks.......112212221011121 14	Dr. Carver.......212222022212222 14
C. W. Budd......021111211021211-13	H. B. Meyers....*201001*2000220 6
H. Ehlers.........201012021221012 11	F. Dilg...........121112211221012 14
H. McMurchy...01121212211*111-13	O. H. Porter....111221122111211-15

A Kleinman, H. Dunnell and O. H. Porter each killed 15 birds straight and tied for first money and the medal. The money was divided and 5 birds each were shot at to decide winner of medal for 1895. Kleinman and Porter scored clean, but Dunnell lost his fifth bird. Kleinman and Porter then started in on the second tie, but Porter missed his second while Kleinman killed three straight with the first barrel and as he was shooting a strong steady race Porter withdrew satisfied that his competitor could beat him out.

The conditions governing the medal required the winner of it this year and last year's winner to shoot at 15 birds each to determine who the trophy should belong to. Mr. J. J. Smith of Evanston was winner last year and he and Mr. Kleinman had a race to determine the actual ownership. Smith missed his sixth and twelfth bird, while Kleinman missed his second and tenth, and the result was a tie. They decided to settle the matter on 5 birds each, and they did, Kleinman missing his fifth while Smith killed all five straight.

Mr. Smith, the winner, used an L. C. Smith 12-gauge gun, 3¾ drams Schultze powder and 1¼ ounces of No. 7 shot. Mr. Kleinman used a Scott & Sons gun, 12-gauge, Schultze powder and 1¼ ounces of No. 7 shot.

Ties for second money in the above contest divided. Ties for third shot off, Bingham, Parker and Organ dividing. Ties for fourth divided without a shoot off.

EVENT NO .4.—10 live birds, $6 entrance, six moneys; open to all: C. B. Dicks 7, T. Parker 10, O. Lippencott Jr. 8, E. Bingham 10, T. Irwin 7, R. S. Mott 7, H. Levi 2, G. Beck 9, H. Ehlers 9, A. S. Mason 7, E. W. Heath 6, C. S. Wilcox 8, J. J. Smith 10, W. Palmer 10, C. M. Powers 10, E. B. Knott 8, W. Wellbourn 9, J. Ruble 9, H. McMurchy 9, W. A. Hillis 8, J. A. R. Elliott 8, R. B. Wadsworth 10, Dr. Frothingham 9, M. Pitzen 6, Dr. Carver 9, J. M. Hershey 8, J. H. Cummings 8, A. Thomas 10, A. Kleinman 7, G. Kleiuman 7, O. H. Porter 9, H. Dunnell 9.

Ties for first money shot off, Bingham, Smith, Powers and Wadsworth dividing. Ties for second divided. Ties for third, except Dr. Frothingham and Dr. Carver, drew their pro rata. The two last named shot at five birds each, Carver winning, Dr. Frothingham's last bird falling dead outside of boundary. Ties for fourth shot off, J. M. Heshey winning the purse on five straight kills. Ties for fifth shot off, and when the cost of the birds had eaten up the purse, Mr. Mott, A. Kleinman and Geo. Kleinman still being in the race, each having scored 14 straight, they decided to call it a draw. Ties for sixth divided.

EVENT NO. 5.—12 live birds, $8 entrance, four moneys.

A. Kleinman.......111211201101-10	G. Kleinman.......11111221121*-11
S. Palmer..........021222210220—9	R. Merrill..........121102212*12-10
R. S. Mott.........22*222210222-10	McMurchy..........011111112212-11
Dr. Frothingham..122222122121-12	J. Cummings.......221222202222 11
Hershey...........222102201222-10	Dr. Carver.........222221222221-12
C. M. Powers......212101212022-10	J. J. Smith.........112022221111-11
E. W. Heath.......002101220002—6	O. H. Porter.......111111202*11-10
G. Sperbeck........002112112012—9	O. Lippincott Jr...1*11*1102121—9
E. Bingham........222122122022-11

Ties for first, second and fourth divided. Ties for third shot off, Mott, Merrill and Porter dividing.

EVENT NO. 6.—Sweepstake, 5 live birds, $3 entrance, two moneys: A. Kleinman 4, E. Bingham 3, D. Merrill 5, G. Kleinman 5, C. Powers 5, R. Dyer 5, O. H. Porter 4, J. J. Smith 4. Ties shot off. G. Kleinman won first money; Porter and A. Kleinman divided second.

EVENT NO. 7.—Miss and out at live birds, one money: Bingham 4, R. Dyer 4, Merrill 1, Powers 0, A. Kleinman 8, Organ 8, G. Kleinman 8, Smith 3, Hershey 6, S. Palmer 4. Ties on eight divided the purse.

TARGET EVENTS

EVENT NO. 1.—Contest for the L. C. Smith Cup, 20 single Empire targets per man, entrance $5, Illinois State Sportsmen's Association rules, 42 entries.

S. Palmer..01101111111101110111-16	Lemm......11110111111111101111-18
T. P. Hicks.11111111111111000111-17	Adams......10101110110110011111-14
W. H. Hale.01110101111111110101-15	Madden.....11011110101101010101-13
Geo. Kleinman— 11111011011110111101-16	Tate........10111111111101011111-17
Dr. Carver.01111110101101111111-16	Crosby......11111011111111111101-18
R. S. Mott..11111011111110110111-17	Miller.......00101101100111111110-13
E. Ellicott..11110011011111101011-15	Hamline....00111000000011100100—8
E. M. Steck01101111111111001011-15	Mosher.....11110111111111111111-19
Wm. Palmer— 01111111011010101011-15	Magruder...00000110010101101101—9
J. T. Buker 01101110101111111101-15	A. W. Fehrman— 11110111111110111111-18
W. H. Skinner— 01010111111110111111-16	L.J. Fortier01101111101111111100-15
A. Kleinman— 11101111110111101111-17	J.Valentine10100101101100011011-11
W. Dunnell 11010111111011110111-16	F. P. Stannard— 00110111111111111101-16
M. J. Pitzen10111111011110011110-15	C. M. Powers— 11111101111011111111-18
H. Dunnell.11110001111111110101-15	B. Barto....11111010101111111111-17
B. Dunnell.11111111111111111010-18	Dr. Frothingham— 11111111111111111111-20
L. C. Willard— 11011110111111010111-16	M. J. Eich..10111111101111111111-18
F. E. Willard— 11101111101101111110-16	W. Harbaugh— 11011001011010111111-14
A. W. Reeves— 11111011111001101111-16	Von Lengerke— 11011111111111111001-17
Ed. Bingham— 10111011111111110100-15	A. Lusson..11111111001111011101-16
Heilman...11011111111101100111-16	T. L. Parker— 11110011111010001111-14

Dr. Frothingham of Chicago won the trophy without a tie, on 20 straight. Ties for second divided the money and shot off for the merchandise, Dunnell and Eich winning. Ties for third divided the cash and shot off for merchandise, Hicks and Tate winning. Ties for fourth did the same, Lusson and W. Dunnell winning the merchandise.

EVENT NO. 2.—25 single targets per man for Montgomery Ward & Co.'s diamond target medal, $5 entrance.

Phillips	1111111111 0001111111 11111—22
A. Kleinmau	0111111011 0111111110 11010—19
T. L. Parker	1101111100 1101111111 11100—19
G. W. Madden	1111110111 1111111001 11111—22
J. J. Smith	1110111111 1111111110 10100—20
W. H. Hale	1111111110 1011111111 10111—22
Lemm	1111111111 1111111110 11001—22
A. Miller	1111111111 1111111110 01111—23
F. P. Stannard	1101101011 1110101111 11110—20
Mosher	1111111101 1011101101 11101—20
M. J. Eich	1111111111 1111101111 11111—24
Powers	1111111011 1110101111 00101—19
Barto	1111101111 1010111111 11111—22
Smith	1111101010 0111011101 01110—17
G. Beck	1111111010 1111111111 11100—21
Fortier	1111111011 1101111111 01110—21
C. Beck	1110111111 0111001111 11111—21
J. A. Woodworth	1011111011 1110011111 01111—20
S. Palmer	1100011100 1111111111 11110—19
Hicks	1010101111 1011011111 11110—19
Adams	1111110011 1111011111 11111—22
Buker	1111111011 1111111111 11111—24
Crosby	1111111111 1111111111 01111—24
W. Palmer	0011111111 1111111111 11110—22
Skinner	0111110111 1110111011 11111—21
Ellicott	1111110111 0110111111 11110—21
Elliott	1101111111 1111111111 11111—24
Budd	1110111111 1011111111 11111—23
T. H. Keller	1111111111 1111111111 11111—25
Dr. Frothingham	1111111111 1111111111 11111—25
Grimm	1111111111 1111110011 11111—23
Bingham	1111111100 1011111111 11111—22
Fehrman	1110101111 1101011111 11010—19
Bob White	1111110111 1111111111 11111—24
Carver	1110111111 1111111111 11111—24
Magruder	1110101111 1111111111 11110—22

Dr. Frothingham again distinguished himself by winning this trophy on a straight score of 25. T. H. Keller tied the score but was not eligible for the trophy. All moneys divided.

EVENT NO. 3.—15 single targets, $2 entrance, rapid fire: Skinner 15, Tate 11, Carver 13, Barto 14, White 15, Budd 15, J. A. R. Elliott 14, Courtney 11, Adams 12, Stannard 13, Grimm 13, Keller 14, Hale 10, Tramp 12, Lusson 13, Roll 15, Buker 14, Crosby 14, M. J. Eich 14, Dr. Frothingham 13, Lemm 14, Heilman 9, Powers 12.

EVENT NO. 4.—15 targets 9 singles and 3 pairs—3 unknown traps, one man up: Mott 14, W. Palmer 13, Courtney 15, G. Kleinman 15, B. Dunnell 12, Stannard 14, M. G. Pitzen 13, Frothingham 11, T. H. Keller 13, W. Crosby 14, Tate 13, Bingham 13, Elliott 14, Budd 15, Grimm 14, Miller 12, Carver 15, Skinner 12, Buker 14, Eich 12, Adams 9, G. Crosby 5, Lemm 14, White 14, Hale 9, McBarnes 8, Powers 10.

EVENT NO. 5.—10 single Empires, five traps, rapid fire: Elliott 10, Keller 10, Budd 10, Adams 6, Lemm 9, Magruder 10, Crosby 8, Courtney 9, Grimm 9, Pitzen 8, W. Dunnell 7, Tate 9, McBarnes 9, Stannard 7, Tunnicliff 5, H. Dunnell 7, Miller 6, Carver 7, Powers 8, R. [illegible] Smith 9, G. Kleinman 10, B. White 8, Eich 9, Mosher 10, Hu[illegible] Frothingham 10, Fortier 9.

EVENT NO. 6.—15 singles, $2 entrance, rapid fire.

Carver..........111101111111111 11	L. C. Willard...0111[illegible]
Buker...........111011111111111-11	A. W. Reeves...011[illegible]
Mosher..........111111111011111 11	Elliott..........01[illegible]
Smith...........111111111011111 14	Grimm.........11[illegible]
Kleinman.......111111111111111-15	Courtney.....[illegible]
McBarnes.......101110111110111 12	Keller.........[illegible]
Powers.........111111111111101 11	Budd..........[illegible]
Lemm...........101110111111111 13	Frothingham [illegible]
Stannard......011111101111011 12

EXTRA NO. 1.—15 singles, $2 entrance: Elliott 11, Skinner 15, Budd 15, Adams 12, Grimm 14, G. Kleinman 15, Keller 13, Carver 13, Crosby 14, Barto 10, Courtney 11, Bingham 11, White 11, Magruder 11. All but two men in this event were in for a division of the money.

EVENT NO. 7.—15 singles, entrance $2, rapid fire, five traps, everything known: Elliott 13, Frothingham 11, Budd 9, Keller 11, Grimm 13, Powers 13, W. Palmer 13, Morgan 8, Sperman 9, Essig 9, Bingham 12, Merrill 12, Dilg 11, Pitzen 10, Courtney 15, W. Dunnell 10, Bob White 14, Tate 10, McBarnes 10, G. Kleinman 13, Mosher 8, Fox 9, Buker 14, Einfeldt 4, Crosby 7, Barto 12, G. D. Tunnicliff 10, L. C. Willard 12, A. W. Reeves 10, W. H. Hale 12, Eich 9, Chester 10, Hennis 9, Ellicott 7, A. Smith 10, J. J. Smith 13.

EVENT NO. 8.—9 singles and 3 pairs, three unknown traps, one man up, $2 entrance: Elliott 12, Frothingham 13, Budd 15, Keller 11, Grimm 13, Powers 13, Bingham 13, Morgan 10, Adams 10, Stannard 14, T. Parker 10, Courtney 13, G. Kleinman 14, McBarnes 12, Merrill 13, Hale 10, B. White 13, Dr. Carver 15, W. Palmer 13, J. J. Smith 13, Ellicott 10, Crosby 12, Spencer 13, Valentine 7, Tate 11, Cluster 11, Skinner 11, C. Beck 10, A. Smith 14, Buker 15, Mosher 9, Cleaver 7, Mathews 12.

EVENT NO. 9.—15 singles, rapid fire, everything known, $2 entrance: Elliott 13, Frothingham 12, Budd 15, Keller 10, Grimm 11, Powers 14, Morgan 14, Buker 14, Courtney 14, Geo. Kleinman 13, Essig 10, McBarnes 14, Merrill 12, Bingham 12, W. Palmer 9, J. J. Smith 8, Hale 7, Patterson 12, B. White 15, J. Neibert 6, Fox 9, Mosher 12, Spencer 12, Stannard 10, A. Thomas 9, A. Lusson 13, Dr. Carver 13, B. Dunnell 13.

EVENT NO. 10.—Same as preceding: Elliott 13, Frothingham 13, Budd 14, Merrill 9, Grimm 13, Powers 14, Morgan 12, Courtney 12, Bingham 11, McBarnes 12, Geo. Kleinman 13, Dr. Carver 11, Buker 14, Skinner 12, Hale 7, W. Palmer 9, W. Einfeldt 7, Tunnicliff 12, Carraher 14, B. White 14, L. C. Willard 12, A. W. Reeves 12, Patterson 11, Ellicott 5.

EXTRA NO. 2.—15 birds, $3 entrance: Courtney 14, Bingham 13, Grimm 12, Carver 15, Elliott 14, Adams 11, Ellicott 10, Spencer 13, Booth 13, Reeves 14, Beck 11, Merrill 13, Geo. Kleinnan 13, Budd 13, Mason 6, A. Kleinman 12, W. Dunnell 11, Crosby 13, Powers 11, Stannard 11, Barto 13, Lemm 13, White 13, Buker 15, B. Dunnell 14, Gohl 9, Tramp 14.

EXTRA NO. 3.—Same as above: Bingham 13, Beck 11, Budd 12, Courtney 14, Carver 14, Orr 12, Adams 9, Stanuard 13, Mathews 13, Keller 12, White 11, Geo. Kleinman 15, Powers 10, Merrill 13, Abe Kleinman 15, Lemm 13, Jim Elliott 15, Pop Ellicott 11, Hale 12, McMurchy 15, Kolb 11, Buker 14, Grimm 12, B. Dunnell 11, Barto 15.

EVENT NO. 11.—15 targets, 9 singles and 3 pairs, three unknown traps, $2 entrance: Elliott 14, Courtney 12, Budd 14, Keller 10, Merrill 12, McMurchy 14, Grimm 14, Argraves 13, Hennis 11, Smith 10, Geo. Kleinman 14, Crosby 12, Powers 14, Adams 12, Buker 15, Carver 13, Barto 9, Kolb 14, Kline 13, White 13, Hale 10, Lemm 8.

EVENT NO. 12.—15 singles, everything known, $2 entrance: Elliott 14, Courtney 13, Budd 14, Keller 13, McMurchy 11, Grimm 12, Crosby 15, Geo. Kleinman 15, Carver 12, Kolb 11, Buker 13, Adams 9, Hale 10, Kline 8, Lemm 12, Powers 14, Merrill 13, Bingham 15.

EVENT NO. 13.—Same as preceding: Grimm 9, Frothingham 8, Courtney 8, Klein 3, Stannard 9, Carver 8, Hale 4, A. Kleinman 10, Crosby 10, Merrill 10, Budd 10, Woodworth 7, Mosher 9, Fox 2, Magruder 8, Argraves 10, A. Smith 7, Booth 9, Reeves 9, G. Kleinman 6, W. Palmer 7, Bingham 7, Einfeldt 5, Patterson 10, Buker 10, Adams 9, Doe 6.

EXTRA NO. 4.—10 singles, rapid fire: Elliott 10, Courtney 9, McMurchy 10, Bingham 9, Quimby 6, Bob White 10, Orr 8, Budd 10, Keller 10, Merrill 9, Tramp 10, Grimm 8, Powers 9, Dr. Carver 10, Castle 6, Doe 3, Stannard 8, Crosby 10, Buker 9, Pop Ellicott 5, Harbaugh 8, Hennis 6, Geo. Kleinman 9.

EVENT NO. 14.—15 singles per man, $2 entrance: Elliott 14, Courtney 13, Budd 14, Keller 7, Merrill 12, McMurchy 15, Bingham 13, White 14, Hennis 14, Geo. Kleinman 15, Grimm 13, Argraves 13, Ellicott 7, Doe 3, Carver 14, Buker 14, Crosby 13, Tramp 13, Adams 13, Orr 12, Skinner 13.

EVENT NO. 15.—Same as before: Elliott 14, Courtney 11, Keller 14, Budd 13, Merrill 14, McMurchy 13, Grimm 12, Powers 13, Orr 6, Hennis 13, Crosby 15, Carver 14, Bob White 14, Geo. Kleinman 14, Buker 13, Ellicott 10.

EXTRA NO, 4.—10 singles, 50 cents entrance, re-entry permitted. Dr. Carver's new method of equalizing experts and amateurs; a specified number of high guns to win.

G. Bennett..........1000110001— 4	I. Watson...........1011001110— 6
McMurchy ....1111111111—10	C. Powers...........1111111101 — 9
Doctor ....1001111011— 7	Cummings ....1110111111— 9
Geo. Kleinman......1111111111—10	E. Heath............1111110101— 8
Ernest Heath.......1110010111— 7	Dr. Frothingham...1111111111 —10
Silas Palmer........1001011110— 6	G. Watson..........1011000111— 6
J. J. Smith..........1010011111— 7	Crosby...............1111111111—10
McMurchy..........1111111111—10	Bingham............0111110111— 8
Carver ....1111111111—10	Irwin.................1111011110 – 8
G. Kleinman........1111111111—10	M. Rich...... ......1111011111 - 9
Geo. Sperbeck......0110000111— 5	Ask..................1111111110— 9
W. Crosby..........1111111111—10	J. J. Smith..........0011010011— 5
Merrill..............1111111011— 9	Wadsworth.........1011101010— 6
Wadsworth ....0111111111— 9	Back................0110011101— 6
E. Bingham.........1111111011— 9	Geo. B..............1100011111 – 7
A. Kleinman........0111111011— 8	Frothingham.......1101111010– 7
S. Palmer...........1111110011— 8	Powers.............0101111111 – 8
T. Irwin.............1101110111— 8	Martin..............0111111111— 9

EXTRA NO. 5.—Same as preceding except no re-entry. $1 entrance: Dr. Frothingham 9, C. Powers 8, R. Merrill 10, R. Wadsworth 8, E. Heath 6, M. Cummings 7, Bennett 8, Dr. Carver 9, H. McMurchy 9, W. Crosby 10, G. Kleinman 9, J. J. Smith 6, E. Bingham 8, T. Irwin 8.

NOTES

Dr. Carver says if he is alive he will, next year, make the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association a donation of a prize that will open the boys' eyes, and draw out the biggest crowd of shooters that has been seen at one of these meetings for several yars.

Mr. Harry Dunnell, winner of the Board of Trade diamoud badge, missed only three birds in all the association events.

T. K. Keller said the reason that Charlie Budd shot so well at this tournament was because he used his (Keller's) shells, but Budd ascribed his great work to the fact that he was getting rid of his rheumatism and felt more in his old-time form.

Harvey McMurchy says it is all a mistake to class him as a manufacturer's agent, as he is not hired to shoot at tournaments; that there are lots of men who are classed as amateurs who would shoot just as well as he does if they would shoot the Smith pigeon gun and use well-loaded ammunition.

Charlie Grimm said he was going right home from this shoot and not fire a gun again for a month—if he could keep from doing so; he had been out six weeks and he was surfeited with shooting.

Dr. Carver and J. A. R. Elliott talked match shooting quite a little bit, but came to no definite agreement. Elliott wanted to shoot fifteen different matches in as many different cities, while Carver preferred to shoot most of the matches in Chicago where they could get the best of birds, as good grounds as can be found in America and have the squarest kind of a deal.

Watson's kennel of retrievers gave great satisfaction, and over and over again received the applause of the spectators and shooters for their fine work.

Col. C. E. Felton did excellent work for a man of his years, shooting alternately, a part of the time, a Scott and a Purdy gun. He showed a little preference, however, for the former.

Fred Quimby, in his tournament garb, looked more like a well-to-do farmer than the bustling, successful business man that he is.

"Billy" Crosby, Dick Merrill, the two Kleinmans—George and Abe—C. M. Powers, Dr. Frothingham, and many of the others were shooting in great form.

The next Illinois state tournament promises to be a hummer; from the talk it should be the biggest and best held for years.

THE SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

MILW[illegible]

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The eleventh annu[illegible] the South Side Gun Club, held on May 30, 31, and June [illegible] cess in every particular. The attendance was large [illegible] pants were well pleased. Scores as follows:

EVENT NO. 1.—15 single targets, $1.50 entrance, fo[illegible]

J. F. Burnham..0110101101011111-10 | Ford.....0001111010111111-10
Apel.....1111111101000010 10 | Heilmann.....1111101111111110 13
Maek.....1111111101111111-14 | G. W. Drought..1011011010011111-10
Lemm.....1111111111111110 14 | Wood.....1011110111101101-11
Mack.....1101111000010—9 | Reed.....1110111111110011-12
Reed.....1111111111111111-15 | T. M. Drought..0110111111101011-11
Estberg.....1111111111111111 13 | Hobbs.....0111111101111111-13
A. Dawson.....0111111001111-11

Blue Roeks, $2.60 entrance, four moneys: [illegible] armichael 19, Campbell 12, Reed 17, T. M. Drought 13, Hobbs 15 [illegible] Heilmann 19, Ford 11, Johnson 20, G. W. Burnham 16, Wootton 12, J. W. Foster 19. All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 3.—15 singles, $1.60 entrance, four moneys: Maek 13, Lemm 14, Apel 10, T. M. Drought 11, Carmichael 13, Reed 12, Heilmann 10, Foster 15, G. W. Drought 13, Campbell 14, Hobbs 11, Johnson 15. All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 4.—15 singles, jack-rabbit system, and 5 pairs: Lemm 17, Mack 23, G.W. Drought 16, Reed 20, Wootton 16, T. M. Drought 18, Burnham 16, Campbell 14, Hobbs 16, Carmichael 19, Rockwell 17, Heilman 19, Wood 13, Ford 10, Johnson 23. All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 5.—10 pairs per man, $1.60 entrance.

Carmichael	11	10	00	11	10	10	11	10	11	11—14
Burnham	11	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	11	10—12
T. M. Drought	01	10	10	11	00	11	11	10	01	10—12
Marling	11	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10—11
Apel	01	10	00	00	11	01	01	10	01	01— 9
Mack	11	11	11	10	00	01	10	10	10	11—13
Reed	10	10	10	11	10	10	11	10	10	10—12
Estberg	10	10	00	11	10	11	11	11	01	11—14
A. Dawson	10	10	00	10	01	10	11	10	10	11—11
Johnson	11	01	11	11	11	10	10	11	11	11—17

All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 6.—10 live birds, $4 entrance, four moneys: Anderson 5, Carmichael 7, Lemm 9, Heilman 8, Bunker 7, G. W. Drought 10, Hanson 9, Dietrich 6, Foster 9, Mack 8, A. Dawson 9, Johnson 8, Estberg 9, Ford 7, Wood 10, Burnham 7, C. F. Dickens 8. All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 7.—20 single targets, $2.60 entrance, $50 guaranteed: Mack 19, F. H. Gault 16, Estberg 20, Harland 16, Lemm 18, Carmichael 18, G. W. Drought 18, Hobbs 17, Heilman 20, Marling 19, J. Meunier 12, Campbell 15, Foster 15. Burnham 15, Johnson 18. All ties divided.

SECOND DAY

EVENT NO. 1.—10 pairs Blue Rocks, $1.60 entrance: Meixner 16, Burnham 10, Dering 13, Foster 12, J. H. Johnson 15, Henry 11. All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 2.—Miss and out at targets: J. E. Bush 1, Meixner 0, Schuchardt 12, Dering 1, Foster 2, J. H. Johnson 13, Rockwell 5, Hobbs 0, Henry 7, Burnham 0. J. H. Johnson won the money.

EVENT NO. 3.—20 Blue Rocks, $2.60 entrance, $50 guaranteed.

Lemm.....01101011111111101011—15 | J. E. Bush..00111111111111111011-17
Mirgeler....01111010001111111111-16 | Burnham ..01011111010111111111-16
Heilman.....11111111111111111111-20 | Hobbs.....11111111111111111111-20
Meixner.....11111110101111111111-18 | G. Drought.10111111111111111111-19
Foster.....11111111111111110-19 | Johnson.....11111111111111101111-19
Henry.....11111101111111110111 18 | T. George..11011111011111111111-18
Maxwell.....11110101111111111111-18 | Remington.10111101101111111111-17
Schuchardt 01111111111111110111-18 | Carmichael 11011111111101100101 15
Dering.....11111110111101111111-18 | Deiter.....01111111111101111111-18

All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 4.—20 Blue Rocks, jack-rabbit system, $2.60 entrauce, four moneys: Heilman 18, Lemm 15, Henry 18, Mirgeler 17, Maxwell 17, G. W. Drought 17, Schuchardt 14, Rockwell 18, Burnham 17, J. W. Foster 17, Johnson 19, Hoffmann 11, Dering 18, Hobbs 19, J. Meunier 15, T. M. Drought 18, Deiter 17, Meixner 18, T. George 19, Carmichael 18. Ties divided.

EVENT NO. 5.—10 Blue Rocks, $1.30 entrance, $20 guaranteed, four moneys: Deiter 10, T. M. Drought 8, Schuchardt 8, Heilman 7, Lemm 9, Mirgeler 9, Burnham 6, Hoffman 5, Campbell 10, Remington 9, J. W. Foster 10, Rockwell 10, Windan 7, Henry 8, Bush 9, McQueen 10, Diek 10, G. W. Drought 9, J. H. Johnson 9, Kettner 8, Meixner 9, Hobbs 10, J. Meunier 7, T. George 9, Thompson 7, S. Meunier 9, Yahr 9, Roessler 8, Carmichael 6, Maxwell 10.

EVENT NO. 6.—20 Blue Rocks, unknown angles, $2 entrance, four moneys: Meixner 17, Foster 18, Rockwell 18, Heilman 16, Lemm 14, Mirgeler 9, Dick 15, Dering 17, Remington 14, George T. 15, Deiter 17, J. H. Johnson 20, Campbell 14, Burnham 11, Henry 13, Thompson 17, J. Meunier 14, Dickens 13, Hobbs 17, Carmichael 17, G. W. Drought 17, McQueen 20, S. Meunier 18, Yahr 17, Roessler 11, Windan 14, Kettner 13. All ties divided.

EVENT NO. 7.—20 Blue Rocks, $2.60 entrance, $50 guaranteed, four moneys: George T. 17, Meixner 18, Lemm 15, Heilman 18, Deiter 19, S. Meunier 17, Kettner 14, Yahr 18, Mirgeler 19, Remington 16, G. W. Drought 19, Roekwell 17, Hoffman 14, Roessler 19, Foster 18, T. M. Drought 17, McQueen 16, Hobbs 19, Burnham 15, Schmeling 15, J. H. Johnson 19, Dickens 19, Rock 15, Henry 15, Bush 20, Carmichael 15. All ties divided.

THIRD DAY

EVENT NO. 1.—20 Blue Rocks, $2.60 entrance, four moneys.

Deiter.....11111101110111111111-18 | J. W. Foster—
Christianson—
11011000001111111111-14 | 01011111111111011111-17
Harlaud. .10000111111011011001-12 | Henry.....11111110111111111111-19
Burnham..01101111111111111001-16 | W. Okershauser—
Heilman...11111110111111100000-15 | 11111001110111111111-17
Bush.....11111111111111110111-19 | J. H. Johnson—
Lemm.....01101101111111101111-16 | 11111111110111111111-19
Dering.....00101110111111111111-16 | T. M. Drought—
Carmichael11010101111111111010-16 | 11101111110111110001-15
Field.....11111111111111101111-18 | G. W. Drought—
Greengo...11111111111111111001-18 | 11111010111111110110-16
McQueen..11111111111111111111-20 | Roessler...01111101111111111111-18
J. R. Johnson— | Kettner....10101101111111111101-16
11101010010110111100-12 | Hobbs.....11111110111101111111-18
Lillierap...00010111011111101100-12 | Yahr.....10111111111110111111-18

Ties divided.

EVENT NO. 2.—10 Blue Roeks, unknown angles. $1.30 entrance: McQueen 9, J. W. Foster 9, Harland 5, Deiter 9, Henry 7, Dering 9, Lemm 6, Lillicrap 8, Christianson 7, G. W. Drought 9, Heilman 10, Roessler 8, Greengo 8, Field 7, Yahr 10, J. R. Johnson 5, Traudt 5, Hirsehbuehl 7, Hobbs 10, Burnham 7, Kettner 7, W. Okershauser 9, J. H. Johnson 10, Carmichael 9, Campbell 8, George T. 9, Meixner 9, Gault 9, Estberg 10, Schmeling 4. Ties divided.

EVENT NO. 3.—20 Blue Rocks, $2.60 entrance, $50 guaranteed: Deiter 17, Bush 18, Henry 20, Foster 20, McQueen 20, Burnham 16, Traudt 13, Christianson 16, Lemm 18, Garland 18, Gault 20, Sehmeling 16, Field 15, Heilman 17, Estberg 19, Theo. Thomas 18, J. H. Johnson 20, Roessler 15, Geo. Anderson 19, Hirschbuehl 18, W. Okershauser 18, Dering 19, Yahr 16, Kettner 20, Greengo 20, Hobbs 18, Meixner 16, G. W. Drought 17. Ties divided.

EVENT NO. 4.—20 Blue Rocks, $2.60 entrance, four moncys: Deiter 18, Hobbs 19, McQueen 18, Foster 20, Henry 18, Burnham 17, Lillierap 19, Traudt 15, T. Thomas 19, Anderson 18, Mirgeler 16, Sehmeling 14, Campbell 17, Lemm 16, Estberg 20, Sehuchardt 18, Roessler 20, J. E. Bush 20, Kettner 18, J. R. Johnson 13, Garland 14, Yahr 16, J. H. Johnson 19, Heilman 16, Apel 17, William 15, Dering 17, Kurtz 18, Greengo 19, S. Meunier 18, Wood 14, T. M. Drought 17, Bunker 11, A. Dawsou 12, J. Meunier 18, C. John 9. Ties divided.

EVENT NO. 5.—Team shoot, two men to a team, 10 Blue Rocks per man, entrance $2 per team.

SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 1		SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 2
Deiter	0101111111—8	W. Okershauser	1101111111—9
Henry	1111111111-10—18	Hirschbuehl	1111111111-10—19
WAUKESHA GUN CLUB TEAM		JOLLY GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 1
Foster	1111111111-10	Thomas	1111111111-10
Estberg	1111111111-10—20	Jno. Traudt	0111101011—7—17
JOLLY GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 2		SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 3
Meixner	1111111111-10	Bunker	0110101100—5
Meunier	1111111111-10—20	Dawson	0011101110—6—11
SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 4		NATIONAL GUN CLUB TEAM
Carmichael	1111101111—9	Mirgeler	1011111111—9
Burnham	0111111101—8—17	Kurtz	1111111111-10—19
HUSTISFORD GUN CLUB TEAM		SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 5
Kettner	1111111111-10	J. H. Johnson	1111111111-10
Roessler	1111010111—8—18	G. W. Drought	1011111111—9—19
SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 6		SOUTH SIDE GUN CLUB TEAM NO. 7
Hobbs	1111111110—9	T. M. Drought	1111111111-10
Rock	1111011111—9—18	Wood	1111110111—9—19

In the shoot off for first prize, a pair of English pheasants presented by Mr. H. F. [illegible]sworth, the Waukesha Gun Club team won. [illegible] purse consisting of 50 prizes in cash, gold [illegible] prize valued at less than $3; 20 single [illegible]: Estberg 19, Anderson 20, Gault 17, [illegible] Greengo 18, Deiter 18, Hobbs 20, Schmel[illegible]ael 19, Rock 16, T. M. Drought 19, Heil[illegible]18, Traudt 16, Bush 19, Schuchardt 18, [illegible]8, Meixner 18, G. W. Drought 20, Burnham 18, Roessler 20, Kettner 12, T. Thomas 18, Christianson 16, A. Dawson 12, Field 17, Bunker 19, Yahr 18, Dering 18, W. Okershauser 18, Hirsehbuehl 16, McQueen 19, J. Meunier 17, Henry 19, S. Meunier 20, Wood 12, J. H. Johnson 20, Foster 19, Lillierap 15, T. A. Hanson 11, Gropper 1.

We had a prize for every man entered in this event and three to spare. The contest was to sec how valuable a prize a man could win.

C. W. MILBRATH, Secy.

TRAP AT WELLINGTON

WELLINGTON, MASS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Boston Shooting Assoeiation held an all-day shoot on its grounds here on May 30, and although the attendance was light owing to the fact that nearly all the local clubs had shoots on their own grounds the same day, twenty-one events were shot off, showing that the number of this elub are stayers. The targets were thrown as hard as possible, whieh accounts for many of the low scores. Caterer J. A. Dill furnished a dinner for the shooters, and to those who have ever eaten at his table nothing more need bc said. He simply gets up a dinner that meets with the approval of everyone. The seores follow:

EVENT NO. 1.—10 singles per man.

Howe.....0011111011—7 | Allison.....0101111011—7
Puck.....0111010110—6 | Breen.....0110011111—7
Lyman.....1111111110—9 | Clark.....1011111000—6
Herbert.....0111101111—8 | Peabody.....1001000101—4
Bennett.....1101111111—9

Lyman and Bennett won first money: Herbert won second; Howe, Allison and Breen won third.

EVENT NO. 2.—10 singles, unknown angles: Howe 8, Puck 6, Lyman 7, Herbert 10, Bennett 10, Allison 6, Breen 7, Clark 5. Herbert and Bennett won first; Howe won second; Lyman and Breen won third.

EVENT NO. 3.—10 targets reversed: Howe 7, Puck 7, Lyman 6, Herbert 8, Bennett 9. Allison 5, Breen 7, Clark 3, Nyc 6, Pray 9. Bennett and Pray divided first mouey; Herbert won second; Howe, Puck and Breen divided third.

EVENT NO. 4.—10 targets, regular: Howe 7, Puck 7, Lyman 6, Herbert 10, Bennett 10, Allison 7, Breen 6, Clark 4, Nye 7, Peabody 5. Herbert and Bennett divided first money; Howe, Puek, Allison and Nye divided second; Lyman and Breen divided third.

EVENT NO. 5.—10 targets, unknown angles: Howe 9, Puck 8, Lyman 6, Herbert 8, Bennett 7, Allison 9, Breen 10, Nye 8, Peabody 8. Breen won first money; Howe and Allison divided second; Puck, Herbert and Nye divided third.

EVENT NO. 6.—10 targets, reversed: Howe 9, Puck 8, Lyman 7, Herbert 8, Bennett 7, Allison 6, Breen 9, Sanborn 7, Edgarton 6, Pray 5, Peabody 6. Howe and Breen divided first money; Puck and Herbert divided seeond; Bennett, Lyman and Herbert divided third.

EVENT NO. 7.—10 targets, regular: Howe 8, Puck 8, Lyman 7, Herbert 8, Bennett 8, Allison 9, Breen 10, Nye 7, Sanborn 6, Edgarton 4, Pray 6, Clark 0, Peabody 5. Brcen won first money; Allison wou second; Howe, Puck, Herbert and Bennett divided third; Lyman, Nye and Pray divided fourth.

EVENT NO. 8.—25 targets, regular.

Howe.....1011111011 1101100111 00001—16
Puek.....1110110011 1111101111 11100—19
Lyman.....1110101111 1110001111 00111—18
Herbert.....1110100011 1111111101 11110—19
Bennett.....1101011011 0101101110 11111—18
Allison.....0111111010 1110111111 00011—18
Diekey.....1110110111 0111111111 01111—21
Conn.....0111101111 0111011110 11100—18
Pray.....1010000000 1001101000 11000— 8
Breen.....1111110101 1010011111 11111—20
Sanborn.....1111100111 0101011010 11100—17

Dickey won first money: Breen won second; Puek and Herbert divided third.

EVENT NO. 9.—10 targets, unknown angles: Howe 6, Puck 9, Lyman 7, Herbert 9, Bennett 9, Allison 7, Breen 8, Conn 6, Pray 5, Nye 7, Sanborn 7. Herbert, Bennett and Puek divided first money; Breen won second; Lyman, Allison, Nye and Sanborn divided third.

EVENT NO. 10.—10 targets, reversed: Howe 4, Puck 7, Lyman 3, Herbert 7, Bennett 3, Allison 8, Breen 4, Conn 6, Pray 5. Allison won first money; Herbert and Puck divided second; Conn won third.

EVENT NO. 11.—10 targets, regular: Lyman 7, Bennett 7, Herbert 7, Puck 8, Howe 8, Cook 5, Conn 7, Clark 4, Pray 4, Allison 7. Puck and Howe divided first money; Lyman, Bennett, Herbert and Conn divided second; Cook won third.

EVENT NO. 12.—25 targets, unknown angles: Lyman 11, Bennett 20, Herbert 18, Puck 18, Howe 18, Dickey 25, Patterson 18, Pray 12, Nye 20, Allison 17, Cook 18, Conn 17. Dickey won first money; Bennett won second; Howe won third.

EVENT NO. 13.—10 targets, regular: Bennett 9, Herbert 8, Puek 7, Howe 6, Allison 6, Pray 5, Cook 5, Lyman 7, Conn 7, Clark 2. Bennett won first money; Herbert won second; Puck, Lyman and Conn divided third.

EVENT NO. 14.—10 targets, reversed: Bennett 7, Herbert 7, Puck 9, Howe 4, Allison 8, Pray 5, Pattersou 7, Cook 6, Conn 6. Puck won first money; Allison won second; Bennett and Herbert divided third.

EVENT NO. 15.—10 targets, unknown angles: Beunett 10, Herbert 10, Puck 9, Howe 4, Allison 4, Pray 4, Breen 7, Lyman 6, Patterson 6. Beunett and Herbert divided first money; Puek won second: Breen won third.

EVENT NO. 16.—10 targets, regular.

Bennett.....1111110111—9 | Pattersou.....0110111001—6
Herbert.....1110111111—9 | Clark.....1010000000—2
Puek.....1101111011—8 | Pray.....0000001110—3
Howe.....1010011010—5 | Lyman.....0011100010—4
Allison.....1011011101—7 | Conn.....1111101101—8
Breen.....1111011011—8 | Cook.....1110111111—9

Bennett, Herbert and Cook divided first money: Buek, Breen and Conn divided second; Allison won third.

EVENT NO. 17.—10 targets, reversed: Bennett 6, Herbert 8, Puck 6, Howe 6, Allison 8, Patterson 7, Pray 4, Clark 6. Herbert and Allison divided first money: Bennett, Howe and Puck divided second; Pray won third.

EVENT NO. 18.—10 targets, unknown angles: Bennett 8, Herbert 9, Puck 7, Howe 5, Allison 9, Breen 9, Pray 6, Conn 8, Patterson 6. Herbert, Allison and Breen divided first money; Bennett and Conn divided second; Puck won third.

EVENT NO. 19.—10 targets, regular: Bennett 8, Herbert 9, Puck 8, Howe 7, Allison 9, Pray 6, Lyman 6, Conn 9, Clark 5, Patterson 6. Herbert, Allison and Conu divided first money; Bennett and Puek divided seeond; Howe won third.

EVENT NO. 20.—10 targets, reversed: Bennett 8, Herbert 9, Puek 7, Howe 7, Allison 7, Pray 8, Patterson 5, Conn 6, Lyman 8. Herbert won first money; Bennett, Pray and Lyman divided seeond; Puck, Howe and Allison divided third.

EVENT NO. 21.—5 pairs targets: Howe 7, Bennett 10, Allison 6, Puek 4, Herbert 6, Pray 3, Patterson 3, Clark 4. Bennett won first money: Howe won second; Herbert and Allison divided third.

BOSTONIAN.

GEORGIA VS. SOUTH CAROLINA

CHARLESTON, S. C.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Palmetto Gun Club of Charleston, S. C., and the Forest City Gun Club of Savannah, Ga., are again contesting for team ehampiouship honors. It will be remembered by many that the Palmettoes won the medal last year on the seventh match, and if a good start eounts for anything they are in a fair way to capture it this year a little earlier in the game.

The conditions agreed upon are as follows: Seven matehes between teams of seven men each, 25 targets, known traps and angles, the shooting to be in mixed squads, Forest City and Palmetto men alternating, entranee $1 per man; winning team to take all, and elub losing four matches to pay to the winning club $25 for the purehase of tne team championship medal; Savannah to have first and last mateh on the home grounds.

The first match under the above conditions took plaee two weeks since in Savannah and resulted in favor of the Palmettoes. The scores follow:

Palmetto Team—Swan 18, Bicaise 19, Costello 18, Post 21, Heidt 21, Wohltmann 17, Worthen 18. Total 131.

Forest City Team—H. Rocker 17, Ulmer 22, Jaugstetter 12, Lamotte 19, H. Woeltjen 20, Campsen 20, Lemcke 18. Total 128.

Previous to and following the team shoot there were eight 15-target sweepstakes, known traps, unknown angles, in which the following scores were made:

Events Nos	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Worthen	12	14	13	13	9	13	15	14
Bieaise	12	13	12	10	12	10	13	11
Swan	11	14	12	12	14	13	12	11
Post	11	9	13	11	11	11	11	12
Heidt	11	12	13	10	12	..	11	..
Costello	10	14	13	6	11	9	11	..
Holle	9	9	9	9	9	10	..	..
Wohltmann	8	11	10	..	9	..	..	..
Ulmer	13	10	12	11	13	11	10	9
J. Rocker	6	9	11	11	3	12	11	8
W. Woeltjen	12	9	8	13	12	10	12	9
Lamotte	14	11	12	6	10	11	10	11
Smith	..	14	10	6	10	8	14	14
H. Rocker	..	12	14	13	11	11	8	..
Campsen	..	..	9	11	10	10	7	..
H. Woeltjen	..	..	9	10	9	9	12	9
Williamson	..	..	..	11	15	12	12	11
Lemcko	..	..	..	12	12	9	9	9

The second match of the series took place on June 1, on the grounds of the Palmetto Gun Club, and the Forest City boys again came to grief. The following figures tell the story:

PALMETTO GUN CLUB TEAM

Swan.....1011111111 1111001011 11110—20
Post.....0111101111 1111111111 11111—23
Heidt.....1101010011 0111011001 01011—15
Petermann.....1111111011 1111111110 11111—23
Costello.....1111001111 1100010101 01110—16
Bicaise.....0111101111 0111110111 11111—21
Worthen.....1011111111 1011110111 11111—22 140

FOREST CITY GUN CLUB TEAM

Jaugstetter.....1110111110 1101101011 11110—19
Lamotte.....1101110011 0011011101 10111—17
H. Rocker.....0111100111 1010111011 11111—19
Williamson.....0101111100 1010101101 00011—14
Ulmer.....1111010110 1101111101 10111—19
Lemke.....1111111111 0111101110 01111—21
McAlpin.....0011111101 1111111111 10111—21—130

Six sweepstake events, each of 15 targets, known trap, unknown angles, followed;

Event No.	1	2	3	4	5	6	Event No.	1	2	3	4	5	6
Post	12	12	13	11	13	10	Costello	13	..	..	11	13	..
Ulmer	12	14	12	10	14	11	Jaugstetter	13	11	8	..	..	..
Heidt	12	14	12	14	12	..	Bieaise	13	14	10	12	10	7
J. Rocker	12	8	10	14	13	14	Wescott	11	10	9	9	9	10
Smith	10	11	11	11	11	..	H. Rocker	15	10	12	12	13	..
McAlpin	13	12	13	13	13	13	Hearn	9	11	8	12	10	10
Worthen	9	9	15	11	15	15	Immens	7	..	..	..	6	..
Williamson	13	11	10	9w			Steck	12	12w	15	12	..
Swan	13	11	10	12	15	12	H. Woeltjen	7	13	10	9	12	9
Lamotte	8	13	11	14	15	14	Holle	..	10	11	11	10	..
Petermann	14	8	11	13	15	13	Slawson	..	10	..	..	..	..
Lemcke	13	11	12	14	14	..	Jasma	..	9	8	..	9	..
Woltman	8	..	..	12	11	..	J. Petermann	..	..	8	11	11	..
Riedeman	10	9	14	13	12	..	Stehmeyer	..	..	6	9	9	..

The last event was shot in the "gloaming," and after the second squad had finished it was agreed to allow all other entries to withdraw.

The Forest City team was coufident of turning the tables in this match, and its members were badly rattled when they failed to do so. Look out for some straight scores in the next match, whieh will be shot in Savannah.

G. A. STECK, Secy. P. G. C.

THE CICERO GUN CLUB

OAK PARK, ILL.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—On Decoration Day the members of the Cicero Gun Club and their friends assembled at the club's new grounds on the banks of the Desplaines River to "open" the elub's new club house.

We had as visitors Tom Marshall of Keithsburg, Ill., a clean shooter. He uses his second only for the benefit of the shell loader. He took a "fall out of the boys." A. W. Adams of the Eureka Gun Club of Chicago, a hard, wicked shooter, after the style of Capt. Brewer; kills with his first barrel and uses his second to bury deeently; Eddie Bingham, who shoots hard when he is mad and never fails to pull both barrels at once. "Sen." Antoine, a fine-looking fellow, speaks German well, but Eddie Bingham says he don't understand guns and traps: in fact he can't be taught to shoot; F. R. Bissell of the Audubon Gun Club, Chicago, a quiet, good-natured, gentlemanly fellow who knows where to put the lead all right; Rice, another handsome boy who keeps the bird's feathers in bounds but allows the body to escape. Ergo, shooting for some "feather foundry;" H. F. Talbot of Iowa, who says he can't shoot, but manages to keep near the front of the procession just the same; C. P. Richards of the AMERICAN FIELD who is now just recovered from a severe affliction, but whom we hope to see shooting in his old form ere the Summer is over; Art. Drake of the Garfield Gun Club, who took a whirl with the boys at the "mud pies."

J. P. Goetter, our field captain, a new shooter, is doing good work with his Smith gun; look out for him, boys. Banks is improving, but his style is objected to by many; they say he hits the birds "below the belt." Tom Marshall says it is so. Burridge and Einfeldt did some clean, quick work, espeeially the former. Knott and Lowrey can't hit them beeause they are "too easy." Mathews keeps up his old 80 to 90 per eent. gait, rain or shine. Fox is a good thing, I don't think; push him along.

The day was all that eould be desired; the sun felt like it had been near a fire, and like the rain fell upon the good shooter as well as the poor. Many admired our eozy little club house and pieturesque grounds, and we hope ere the season is over to entertain every shooter in the county; all are welcome; we shoot every Saturday afternoon; grounds at West Madison Street and the Desplaines River.

Following are some of the scores made. All target events were from five traps, rapid fire, unknown angles; the live birds from five unknown traps.

EVENT NO. 1.—10 targets, entrance $1.50, two moneys, just to introduce our guns to the new grounds: Fox 6, Burridge 3, Einfeldt 7, Cooper 4, Knott 8, Goetter 3, Kettlestrings 7, Lowrey 5.

EVENT NO. 2.—Same as before: Dr. Talbot 4, Burridge 2, Lowrey 5, Cooper 10, Knott 5, Kettlestrings 8, Einfeldt 7, Fox 8.

EVENT NO. 3.—20 live birds, for members only, four highest guns to represent elub at team event in state shoot.

Einfeldt....22221112202*20021020-14 | Fox.....20222212220200202222-15
Burridge...00111*11112101200*1-13 | Goetter....20221120120002112112-15
Knott.....2*12210100020212210-13 | Mathews...12212220112110112112-18

EVENT NO. 4.—12 live birds, entrance $4, two moneys: Marshall 11, Pynchon 5, Tully 8, Banks 5, H. F. Talbot 8, Adams 9.

EVENT NO. 5.—25 targets, entrauce $1.50, three moneys: Einfeldt 8, Marshall 20, Cooper 15, Adams 14, Richards 18, Antoino 15, Bissell 15, Riee 14, Knott 10, Mathews 14, Bingham 16.

EVENT NO. 6.—Same again, two moneys: Marshall 20, Bingham 23, Antoine 18, Rice 15, Knott 13, Drake 17, Einfeldt 16, Richards 15, Goetter 7, Cooper 15.

EVENT NO. 7.—Same as before: H. F. Talbot 19, Dr. Talbot 10, Cooper 10, Lowrey 14, Einfeldt 12.

EVENT NO. 8.—10 live birds, entranee $4, two moneys.

Pynchon.....2100100122—6 | Dr. Talbot.....1210020101—6
Tully.....2022111211—9 | Adams.....1112011112—9
Marshall.....2222222112-10 | Einfeldt.....2020001111—6
Banks.....0020012100—4 | Fox.....2220000221—6
H. F. Talbot.....2210110011—7 | Burridge.....2211112220—9

EVENT NO. 9.—25 targets, entranee $1.50, two moneys: Marshall 23, Antoine 17, Rice 21, Knott 16, Bingham 20, Einfeldt 15, Drake 13, Richards 14.

EVENT NO. 10.—10 live birds, entrance $5, three moneys: Tully 7, Rice 4, Bissell 8, Adams 8, Pynchon 4, Smith 8, Marshall 10, Banks 7, Mathews 9, Antoine 7, Bingham 9, Knott 7, Green 8.

EVENT NO. 11.—20 targets, entranee $1.50, one money: Burridge 6, Lowrey 11, Knott 10, Drake 16.

EVENT NO. 12.—10 targets, entrauce $1, two moneys: Burridge 3, Banks 4, Marshall 7, Lowrey 3, Knott 5, Drake 3.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY.

INDEPENDENT GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

READING, PA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The inclosed scores were made by participants in the recent tournament of the above named club. The attendance was not large but the boys kept banging away, having lots of fun and putting up some pretty good scores. Most of those present, in a shooting way, are quite well known to the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD, therefore it is not necessary to consume your valuable space with unnecessary comments. The scores will tell the tale as well as anything I might say.

SHOOT NO. 1.—10 siugle targets per man, $1 entrance.

Schmeck.....1111111011—9 | Melot.....1010001001—4
Buekwalter.....1111111111-10 | Cleaver.....1111111101—9
Landis.....1111101111—9 | Kruegar.....1111011011—8
Shaaber.....1111111111-10 | Ritter.....1111111110—9

SHOOT NO. 2.—15 singles, $2 entrance: Smeck 13, Landis 14, Cleaver 12, Shaaber 12, Melot 10, Buckwalter 13, Kruegar 13, Ritter 13.

SHOOT NO. 3.—20 singles: Smeck 17, Landis 19, Cleaver 14, Shaaber 18, Melot 13, Buckwalter 20, Krnegar (w) 5, Ritter (w) 12.

SHOOT NO. 4.—10 singles: Smeck 8, Cleaver 9, Melot 8, Laudis 10, Shaaber 9, Kruegar 8, Buckwalter 8.

SHOOT NO. 5.—15 singles: Smeck 14, Shaaber 11, Melot 12, Landis 15, Kruegar 12, Buckwalter 13.

SHOOT NO. 6.—20 singles per man.

Schmeck...11101110111010111111-17 | Wertz.....11111111111111101011-18
Shaaber....10110110110110111111-14 | Buckwalter11111111111111111010-18
Landis.....11111100110011001101-13 | Cleaver.....11101010111111101111-16
Kruegar....01101011110001111100-12 | Melot.....10111111001111111111-17

SHOOT No. 7. 25 singles: Schmeck 22, Landis 23, Melot 23, Shaaber 21, Buckwalter 23, Kruegar 21.

SHOOT No. 8. 15 single targets: Smeck 14, Shaaber 11, Landis 11, Wertz 14, Kruegar 10, Melot 13, Harrison 12.

SHOOT No. 9.—10 singles, semi-expert rules: Smeck 8, Landis 8, Krueger 8, Harrison 9, Melot 9, Shaaber 7.

SHOOT No. 10.—15 singles, expert rules.

Smeck	010111111110110—11	Harrison	001111111011111—12
Landis	111111111111110—14	Melot	011110111100110—10
Kruger	101001001010101—7	Shaaber	111111000100011—9

SHOOT No. 11.—5 pairs of targets; Smeck 7, Harrison 7, Melot 8, Shaaber 7, Kruger 6, Landis 6.

SHOOT No. 12.—50 single targets per man.

Landis	1111111111	1111011111	1111111111	1111111110	1111111111—48
Krueger	1111111111	1011111111	0111111111	1111111111	1111011111—47
Smeck	1101111111	0111011111	1100111011	1110111111	1111111111—43
Harrison	1111111111	1111111111	1110111111	1111111111	1101111111—48
Shaaber	1111111011	1111111111	1111111111	1111111111	1101111110—47
Melot	1111101111	1111111111	1111111111	0101111011	0110111001—42

SECOND DAY

SHOOT No. 1.—10 single targets: Smeck 10, Sbaaber 9, Landis 10, Corcoran 9, Sullivan 9, Krugar 9, Burham 7, Coldrun 5, Henry 7.

SHOOT No. 2.—15 singles: Smeck 11, Corcoran 10, Landis 14, Burham 5, Henry 14, Sullivan 13, Shaaber 5, Krugar 12.

SHOOT No. 3.—20 single targets each man.

Smeck	11111111111111111111—20	Krugar	10111111111101111111—18
Landis	10111111111111111111—19	Corcoran	11101111110111110110—16
Henry	11111111111111111111—20	Shaaber	01110111111111111111—18
Burham	11111111111111111101—19	Sullivan	10111111111111111110—18

SHOOT No. 4.—10 singles: Schmeck 8, Landis 10, Corcoran 8, Henry 7, Kruger 8, Burham 8, Shaaber 9, Harrison 9, Sullivan 9.

SHOOT No. 5.—15 singles: Schmeck 14, Landis 15, Kruger 14, Corcoran 13, Henry 14, Burnham 10, Shaaber 14, Harrison 13, Sullivan 12.

SHOOT No. 6.—Same as preceding: Schmeck 14, Shaaber 12, Henry 13, Burnham 11, Corcoran 12, Landis 11, Harrison 13, Kruger 14, Sullivan 14, C. Bechtol 13.

SHOOT No. 7.—10 singles: Schmeck 10, Landis 10, Henry 8, Coldren 5, Shaaber 5, Burnham 8, Harrison 7, Corcoran 7, Sullivan 8, Kruger 8, C. Bechtol 4.

SHOOT No. 8.—20 single targets per man.

Schmeck	11111110111111111119	Henry	11111111110111101101—17
Sullivan	11111111111111111110—19	Shaaber	11111110111111111101—18
Corcorau	11100100101000111101—11	Harrison	11110001111111111111—17
Kruger	10110011001111111101—14	Burnham	11011111001111111111—17
Laudis	11011110111111111118—

SHOOT No. 9.—15 singles: Schmeck 14, Landis 14, Shaaber 7, Bechtol 3, Burnham 9, Henry 12, Harrison 13, Corcoran 10, Kruger 12.

SHOOT No. 10.—20 singles, unknown angles: Schmeck 17, Landis 19, Sullivan 17, Krueger 15.

KEYSTONE.

TRAP AT SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I inclose herewith the scores made by members of the San Antonio Gun Club since my last report to the AMERICAN FIELD. These scores, though numbered in consecutive order, were not all made on the same day, but on two or three different occasions, and the difference in the wind and light on different days accounts in a measure for the difference in the scores of the same men.

SHOOT No. 1.—15 singles per man: Shields 12, Samuels 12, Smith 13, Thiele 8, Vollbrecht 12, Grossman 11.

SHOOT No. 2.—Medal contest, 30 singles per man:

Shields	0110111010	1011111110	0101001110	—19
Smith	1111111011	0010001001	1111011111	—21
McVicar	1011110111	0000001110	1111101100	—18
Piety	1111110111	1111111111	1111111111	—29
McCormack	1011111001	0110001011	1111111111	—22
France	1101011110	1101111111	0101000011	—20
Chabot	1101011101	1011011011	1101111111	—23
Simpson	0011111011	0010111111	0111000011	—18
Learn	0110111011	0001010011	1100001111	—16
Philips	1111101110	1110011110	1100110011	—20
Epp	0001111110	1011111101	1110111111	—23
Thiele	0111111110	1110101000	1011101101	—20
Vollbrecht	1111011111	0011111110	1111011111	—24
Grossman	0010101011	0011111001	0001000110	—14

Piety won first class medal; Vollbrecht won second class medal; Chabot won third class medal.

SHOOT No. 3.—15 single targets: France 10, Shields 9, Philips 11, Learn 10, Thiele 8, Samuels 13, McCormack 13, St. Hubert 10, Simpson 11, Grossman 8, Black 11.

SHOOT No. 4.—15 singles: McCormack 15, Shields 9, St. Hubert 12, Simpson 9, Thiele 8, France 8, Grossman 7. Mr. St. Hubert was a visiter from San Diego, Tex.

SHOOT No. 5.—15 singles: Samuels 8, Thiele 11, France 6, Shields 12, Simpson 15, Piety 11, Rothwell 13, Davidson 5, Vollbrecht 8. In this shoot Mr. Simpson not only surprised everybody by making a clean score of 15, but surprised himself a great deal more.

SHOOT No. 6.—Medal contest, 30 single targets per man: Shields 19, Samuels 24, Smith 20, Thiele 24, Philips 24, France 19, Learn 22, Vollbrecht 21, Grossman 16, Epp 28, Prescott 19, Carpenter 6, Biesenbach 17, Black 20, Simpson 19, St. Hubert 22, McCormack 25, Kelley 16. McCormack won first class medal; J. Epp won second class medal; E. Learn won third class medal.

SHOOT No. 7.—15 singles: Simpson 10, France 12, Shields 9, Learn 9, Davidson 3, Grossmann 13, Rothwell 12, Philips 12, Thiele 11.

SHOOT No. 8.—15 singles: Rothwell 14, Thiele 10, Piety 12, Simpson 9.

SHOOT No. 9.—Same as preceding: Shields 11, Chabot 10, McCormack 8, France 12, McVicar 10, Piety 13, Smith 10.

SHOOT No. 10.—Medal contest, 30 singles per man.

Samuels	1110010111	1100111111	1011111101	—23
Thiele	1101111111	0111111110	1111001001	—23
France	1111011111	0100001110	0110011111	—20
Shields	1111110101	1111010111	1010100100	—20
Simpson	0001101011	1010011100	0101111100	—16
Piety	1111101111	1001111011	1111111111	—26
Philips	0110111111	1100111111	1111111110	—25
Vollbrecht	1011110100	1101010111	0000110111	—18
Grossmann	1011011101	1111001111	0110101111	—22
Davidson	1000001000	0010010110	0001000010	— 8
Learn	0111111110	0100011000	1110110010	—17
Epp	1010111110	1111111001	1111101101	—23
Rothwell	0110011011	1111011101	1101011111	—22
Prescott	0010001101	0011011001	1111011111	—18

Piety won first class medal; Philips won second class medal; Grossmann won third class medal.

SHOOT No. 11.—15 singles: Simpson 7, Shields 9, France 8, Learn 10, Vollbrecht 7, McCormack 11, Theile 13, Grossman 9, Chabot 12, Piety 12.

SHOOT No. 12.—Same as preceding: France 12, Vollbrecht 9, Grossman 6, Simpson 6, Chabot 9, Theile 14, Shields 8, McCormack 12, Philips 7, McVicar 11.

SHOOT No. 13.—Same as before: France 12, McCormack 12, Thiele 12, Simpson 12.

SHOOT No. 14.—Same: France 10, Simpson 12, McCormack 11.

SHOOT No. 15.—7 pairs per man: Rothwell 5, Thiele 8, Simpson 4, Shields 2, Davidson 0, Learn 6, Piety 9, Vollbrecht 7, Philips 11, Prescott 7.

G. A. CHABOT.

THE EUREKA GUN CLUB

CHICAGO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The regular weekly shoot of this club was held on June 8, and in connection therewith a business meeting of much importance to the club was held. Numerous improvements to the grounds were ordered, and the club house is to be overhauled, improved and given a coat or two of paint, Mr. O. J. Buck of the Rubber Paint Co. donating the paint.

The old set of traps will be returned from the factory this week and then the club will have two sets to use at its shoot on July 4, if they are required. Everybody is invited to this all-day tournament. Lunch or dinner can be had at Schoerling's, just across the street from the club grounds, and our members anticipate a day of great sport.

The resignation of President C. E. Willard was accepted with many regrets, and Dr. H. H. Frothingbam was elected to fill the vacancy. Our new president was the winner, this year, of the Montgomery Ward & Co. diamond medal and the L. C. Smith cup at the state shoot, and is a shooter from away back. The club is to be congratulated on its choice as the Doctor is an enthusiastic, enterprising sportsman.

Several visitors from outside the city were present at this shoot, but by request their names are omitted from the list of participants. The wind was just strong enough to make the Blue Rocks hard to catch up with, but otherwise the afternoon was fine for trap shooting. Seventeen bundred and sixty-two targets were trapped during the afternoon and were thrown, as is always the case at the Eureka's grounds, quick and hard. Half a dozen new members applied for admission to the club and were accepted. The scores:

SHOOT No. 1. 25 single targets, unknown angles, rapid fire: Glover 22, Bingham 21, Adams 19, Cummings 17, Cleaver 18, J. L. Jones 17, Stannard 21, Wilson 11, De Wolf 17, Buck 7.

SHOOT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Ferguson 16, Glover 19, Bingham 22, Adams 14, Cummings 19, Cleaver 19, Jones 16, Stannard 19, Wilson 16, De Wolf 19, Buck 18, Goodrich 19, Thacker 13, Thornburg 15, Carson 8, Silvester 5.

SHOOT No. 3.—Trophy contest, 25 singles, unknown angles, rapid fire.

CLASS A

Wilson	0010111001	1111111100	11011	—17
Bingham	11J0111010	1001111011	11111	—19
Stannard	1111101111	1111111101	11111	—23
Adams	1101111110	1100011101	00111	—17
Ellicott	1111110111	1010111101	11110	—20
Glover	0111011010	1110011011	10101	—16
*Goodrich	1101111011	1011011111	11011	—20
Cleaver	1001010111	1011110111	11101	—18

CLASS B

Ferguson	0110011101	1110100111	11101—17
De Wolf	1111111110	0101111011	11110—20
J. F. Jones	1001111101	1010010111	11100—16
*Thacker	1101101000	1100110111	01011—15
Buck	1110111001	1100101101	11110—17
Thornburg	1111101011	1010001010	10100—14

CLASS C

Silvester	0100100001	1010110110	00101—11
W. A. Jones	1001001101	0111011010	01111—15
*Carson	1001000101	0111000001	01011—11
Morton	0110111111	1000001000	00010—11
*Cummiugs	1110001011	0110100011	11011—15

*Visitors.

SHOOT No. 4.—Same as before: Adams 24, Goodrich 20, Buck 17, Thacker 16, Carson 15, Glover 14, J. L. Jones 18, Morton 13, W. A. Jones 16, Stannard 23, De Wolf 19, Ferguson 21, Silvester 7, Cleaver 16.

SHOOT No. 5.—15 singles; Adams 10, Stannard 14, De Wolf 8.

SHOOT No. 6.—25 singles: Stannard 18, Adams 17, Ferguson 21, Jones 15.

W. F. D., Secy.

PERRY SPORTSMEN'S CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

PERRY, IA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed I send you the scores made at the recent tourament of the Perry Sportsmen's Club. As will be seen by reference to the scores the attendance was small, but most of the boys were stayers and we had a very nice time. The scores are not quite as good as some of experts make, but if some of our boys could have the amount of practice the experts do they would be pretty nearly as good as the best. Here are the records as made.

EVENT No. 1.—10 single targets per man, $1 entrance.

F. B. Reed	0000001111— 4	W. Mitchell	1111010010— 6
Peterson	1111111111—10	Elson	1111011100— 7
C. Harkins	0111111011— 8	Fagen	0011011110— 6
Rogers	1000110000— 3	Edmondson	0110010011— 5
McLuen	1010010001— 4	D. A. Prior	0011011110— 6

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: Peterson 15, McLuen 14, Harkins 10, Fagen 11, W. Mitchell 9, Edmondson 5, Elson 10, Reed 5, Clark 8.

EVENT No. 3.—10 targets, $1 entrance, four moneys: D. Jackson 4, Harkins 8, McLuen 8, Fagen 7, Peterson 8, Clark 7, Morfoot 8, Prior 7, W. Mitchell 10, Rogers 4, Elson 6.

EVENT No. 4.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: Elson 7, Peterson 8, Harkins 10, W. Mitchell 8, Edmondson 3, Morgan 4, Reed 8, Conway 2, Maloney 4, Conger 6, McLuen 9.

EVENT No. 5.—5 live birds, $2.50 entrance, three moneys: Harkins 3, Peterson 5, Edmondson 1, Fagen 3, W. Mitchell 3, Reed 2, Jackson 3.

EVENT No. 6.—5 live birds, $3 entrance, three moneys: Peterson 4, W. Mitchell 4, Harkins 6, Reed 4, Jackson 5, Fagen 4.

EVENT No. 7.—20 targets, $1 entrance, for Dallas County medal.

Fagan	11111110011101111111—17	Maloney	11100011001100100001—9
Elson	11011101100111111110—15	W. Mitchell	01111111010111111111—17
Mott	11000001100101101111—10	Conger	01011100001101011111—12
Morgan	10101101010000110101—11	Prior	11010100000101001101—9
Jno. Mitchell—		Edmondson	00101101010110010100—10
	11000100011011111110—12	Conway	11100000011100001101—9
Jackson	11001010011111111110—14

Fagen and W. Mitchell tied for medal on 17 each out of the 20 shot at and shot the tie off on ten single targets, the latter scoring straight and winning. Fagen missed his last tie bird.

EVENT No. 8.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: McLuen 5, Harkins 5, Peterson 10, W. Mitchell 8, Jackson 8, Reed 5.

EVENT No. 9.—10 targets, $1 entrance, four moneys: Mott 8, W. Mitchell 9, Prior 6, Peterson 9, Harkins 7, McLuen 7, Morfoot 7, Reed 8, Jackson 6, Edmondson 5.

EVENT No. 10.—10 targets, $1 entrance, four moneys: Prior 5, Edmondson 5, White 5, Crist 3, Conway 4, Congor 7, Maloney 3, Morgan 5, Jno. Mitchell 3, Carpenter 7, Morfoot 10, Mott 7. Morfoot won first moncy; ties on 7 for second, shot off at 10 birds per man. Congor was shot out on first ten. Carpenter and Mott then settled the tie by shooting a miss and out, the latter winning.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—10 targets, $1 entrance, four moneys.

Peterson	1101101110—7	Reed	1011010100—5
Jackson	1111111110—9	Maher	0111101010—6
Seele	1111010110—7	Prior	1010000010—3
Morfoot	1111111111—10	Mott	0111101101—7
Jno. Mitchell	1101011110—7	Edmondson	1010011010—5

EVENT No. 2.—10 targets, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: Jackson 9, Seele 6, Peterson 9, Maher 7, Morfoot 7, W. Mitchell 6, Jas. Mitchell 5, Edmondson 6.

EVENT No. 3.—15 targets, $2 entrance, four moneys: Peterson 13, Seele 11, Jackson 11, Jno. Mitchell 11, Morfoot 13, Maher 13, W. Mitchell 8.

EVENT No. 4.—10 targets, $1 entrance, four moneys: Peterson 6, Dodson 7, Newman 6, Barlow 2, Maher 10, Seele 8, Jno. Mitchell 1, Morfoot 10, Jackson 7, Edmondson 5, W. Mitchell 10.

EVENT No. 5.—5 live birds, $3 entrance, three moneys: Peterson 4, Seele 3, W. Mitchell 5, Maher 5, Edmondson 3, Minnis 2, Reed 3, Carpenter 4. Ties for first and second divided; ties on 3 shot off for third money at 3 birds each, Carpenter winning.

EVENT No. 6.—5 live birds, $2.50 entrance, three moneys: Jackson 3, Seele 4, Peterson 5, Jno. Mitchell 3, W. Mitchell 3, Maher 3.

EVENT No. 7.—10 targets, $1 entrance, four moneys.

Dodson	0110101100—5	Maher	1111110011—8
Morfoot	1011111010—7	Peterson	0110111011—7
Seele	1101111011—8	Jackson	1110100101—6
Newman	0000101011—4	Clark	1100101010—5
Barlow	0000000000—0	W. Mitchell	0111110111—8

EVENT No. 8.—15 targets, $2 entrance, four moneys: Peterson 14, Maher 13, W. Mitchell 13, Seele 12, Jackson 10, Dodson 8.

EVENT No. 9.—10 targets, $1 entrance, four moneys: W. Mitchell 7, Dodson 6, Jackson 7, Maher 9, Seele 8, Morfoot 9, Peterson 9.

W. T. MOTT, Secy.

LITTLEFIELD VS. SCHLIEMANN

Two prominent and well-known members of the Coney Island (N. Y.) Rod and Gun Club, Dr. Littlefield and ex-Commissioner John Schliemann, sbot quite an interesting live bird match at Dexter Park on June 5. The conditions of the match were 50 live birds per man, 25 yards rise, use of one barrel only, gun to be held in any position except at the shoulder. The stake was of sufficient size to make matters very interesting for tho participants and to incite them to do their very best. Dr. William Wynn was referee and Clay Boyd scorer. Schliemann was the first man up and he missed an incoming quarterer that flew past him like a streak. The Doctor killed and the race was on. Schliemann made some great kills, but missed his fourth, fifth, ninth, eleventh, eighteenth aud twenty-third birds in the first twenty-five, while the Doctor killed twenty-two, missing his second, twentieth and twenty-fifth birds. Schliemann started his second twenty-five with a miss and also lost his tweuty-eighth, thirty-second and forty-first birds, when he conceded the race to the Doctor. The latter did uot miss a bird in his second lot of twenty-five up to the time Schliemann quit. He made two runs of seventeen and sixteen straight kills, while Schliemann's highest run was eight. The scores:

Dr. Littlefield	1011111111	1111111110	1111011111	1111111111 1—38
John Schliemann	0011011101	0111111011	11*1101011	1011111111 0—30

NEW UTRECHT ROD AND GUN CLUB

Members of the New Utrecht Gun Club of New York held their regular club shoot, together with several sweepstakes, at their grounds at Woodlawn, L. I., on June 8, when some good scores were made.

EVENT No. 1. Club contest, 10 live birds per man, $2 entrance; two moneys, high guns to win.

	Birds added		Birds added
C. Fergueson Jr.	2222222222	10	Conny Fergues
G. W. Coulston	2022211112	8	D. C. Bennett
Dr. Wynn	2120111121	9	Dr. Littlefiel
C. M. Meyer	2212112222	10	W. Stuart
A. Eddy	0020112122	7	E. B. Knoe

EVENT No. 2.—5 live birds, $2 entrance: Fe 3, Wynn 4, Meyer 5, Conny Fergueson 4, Dr 1 3, J. Lott 4. Ties on 5 divided first and seco

EVENT No. 3.—Miss and out, $1 entrance Fergueson Jr. 6, Conny Fergueson 1, Meyer

EVENT No. 4.—Same as preceding: Coulston 2, Wynn 2, Fergueson Jr. 0, Littlefield 0, Meyer 3.

EVENT No. 5.—10 birds, $5 entrance: Coulston 5, Wynn 10, Fergueson Jr. 10, Littlefield 9.

EVENT No. 6.—Miss and out, $2 entrance: Littlefield 10, Wynn 5, Fergueson Jr. 10. Ties on 10 divided.

GREEN BAY, WIS.—Inclosed are scores made by the Green Bay Gun Club on June 5. This was the first regular monthly shoot for the club's medal, which the winner holds one month, and if won three times by one member it becomes his personal property. The club is in a flourishing condition and has twenty-five members in good standing. Sixteen members attended this shoot, among them the best shots of the club, such as Wilson, Bader, Claflin, Ed Lefever and "10-bore" Peck. One of these three men was counted on as winner, but as usual the unexpected happened and the youngest member of the club, Al G. Holmes Jr., came to the front with 24 out of 30, winning the medal. Three expert Blue Rock traps were used, unknown trap and anglos. This was the second time the new traps were used and the scores were good cousidering that it was a very disagreeable, windy day, and that the birds were thrown as low and as hard as possible, some of which are probably going yet; at least some of the members think so. Claflin has made the best score this year, with Vic Bader second and H. Wilson third. President Wilson is a lightning shot and can always be depended on for a good score, but he seemed on this occasion to have an off day and could not find the targets with his customary quickness. Claflin was in the same boat and shot like a snail compared to his usual style. A big shoot will be held here on July 4, when some valuable prizes will be shot for. The scores, each man shooting at 30 single Blue Rocks, were as follows:

H. Wilson	1011001111	1000001111	0100001100	—15
E. Thomas	1011111000	1011111010	1111111001	—21
G. Doney	0010111110	0100001001	1111011011	—17
M. Anheuser	0111001000	1100100111	1011111111	—19
Count Oreoffsky	0001001110	1001011111	1111001110	—1°
B. Clafin	0001011110	0101110000	0101011100	—14
"10-bore" Peck	0010010000	0000101000	0000110010	— 7
Al. G. Holmes Jr.	1110111111	1010101111	0110111111	—24
John Cryan	1011001000	1100100010	1000100101	—12
O. Harder	1100000101	1011000001	0110101011	—14
Jos. Thomas	1100000001	0001100110	0010111011	—13
X. Parmentier	0110011111	0101011011	1111011010	—20
Vic Bader	1011011110	1100010101	1101101110	—19
A. Buengener	0101101100	0001000001	1100100011	—12
E. Lefever	0100010000	1011101010	0010000110	—11
L. Root	0011100000	0110000100	1011100000	—10

A. G. H.

CHICAGO.—Scores as given below were made by members of the Calumet Heights Gun Club on Decoration Day:

EVENT No. 1.—10 live birds per man, members divided into three classes with three prizes in each class.

CLASS A

A. C. Paterson	1112121112—10	Wells Isbell	1102100011—6
S. M. Booth	1210111221—9	Dr. C. W Carson	2102001211—7
R. A. Turtle	1211120200—7

CLASS B

Geo. E. Marshall	2010100121—6	A. P. Harper	1112102101—8
Geo. H. Knowles	1020111011—7	J. Gillespie	0000121100—4
Walter Metcalf	0101222221—8

CLASS C

A, W. Harlem ..... 0012100201—5

In Class A Paterson won first prize; Booth second; Turtle third. In Class B Harper won first prize; Knowles second; Marshall third. In Class C Harlem won first prize.

EVENT No. 2,—Sweepstake, 5 live birds per man, $2 entrance, three moneys: Paterson 4, Booth 4, Turtle 4, Harper 4, Marshall 3, Metcalf 5. Metcalf won first money; Harper and Paterson divided second; Marshall won third.

EVENT No. 3.—Same as above except two moneys instead of three: Paterson won first money on 4; Booth second on 3.

EVENT No. 4.—Medal contest, 25 single targets per man. Mr. Booth scored 23 out of the 25 shot at and captured the club trophy.

Mr. O. Von Lengerke was a guest of the club and appeared to enjoy himself very much, He shot along with the club members and demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of all that he knows something about pointing a shotgun.

R. A. T.

DUNKIRK, N. Y.—The special field shoot of the Lake Erie Rod and Gun Club held on Decoration Day was the best of the season. An unusual number of Buffalo sportsmeu were in attendance. The sport was delayed until 4:30 p. m. on account of horseracing, but from that hour until 7:30 p. m. a perfect shower of shot rained over the grounds, surpassing in number of targets thrown all past records of regular shoots. Several thousand spectators enjoyed the fun as well as the sportsmen. Following are some of the scores made:

SHOOT No. 1.—100 targets per man: Clover 91, Green 88, Ware 88, Dr. Dodds 81, Clark 76.

SHOOT No. 2.—50 targets: Pond 46, Sacket 40, Sisson 37, Shelly 32.

SHOOT No. 3.—25 targets: Rathbun 19, Johnson 17, Beard 16, Bristol 16, Schumaker 16.

The regular exercises were carried out again on June 1 with the same enthusiasm that marked the special meet of but two days before, making it the more remarkable because of its rapid succession upon the heels of our last shoot, and therefore is a strong argument for its unusual popularity, not only meeting the fullest expectations of its most enthusiastic originators, but fully holding its own in popularity with baseball, An unusually large number of members were enrolled this week, and the improvement in marksmanship is quite noticeable. Following are some of the scores:

SHOOT No, 1.—50 targets per man: Clover 44, Shelly 43, Green 41, Dr. Dodds 38, Clark 37.

SHOOT No. 2.—25 targets: Sackett 21, Reuther 18, Bristol 16, Beard 14, Rathbun 12.

SHOOT No. 3.—5 pairs: Clover 8, Beard 6, Sackett 5.

D. W. B.

BURLINGTON, IA.—I herewith inclose the scores made by members of the Otter Island Gun Club at their shoot on June 2. The cup was won by Capt. Oscar Hoerr on a score of 48 out of a possible 50. Scores:

SHOOT No. 1.—50 single targets per man.

Anderson	1111111111	1111110111	1111101111	1110111111	0111110101—44
Sowden	1111110111	1100011111	1111111111	1011111111	1011111111—44
W. Kehn	1011110101	1110111101	0110111111	1110101111	1101111001—36
Rhein	0011000101	1011110111	1111110111	0110011111	0110111111—36
Walbridge	0001011000	1101011011	1111111001	1111101011	1111111111—36
Foote	0101110101	1011010111	0001001110	1101110110	0110010010—28
H. T. Rundorff	1111011111	1001011001	1111011111	1111111111	1111111111—43
Dewein	1001011001	1111011010	1110111101	1111010010	1111110010—34
C. Kehn	1111011111	1111111111	1111011111	0111111110	1111111111—46
Ed. Kreig	0111101101	1001111111	1111111111	1100101000	0010110110—34
Taylor	1111101011	1101111110	1010011110	0011111111	1110111111—39
Hoerr	1111111111	1111111111	0111111111	1111111111	1111110111—48
Schrey	1101111101	1111011101	1111111111	1011011111	1110101101—41
Steingrauber	1110010100	1010110000	1000010000	1010110101	0100110101—22
Dotterweich	1101101011	0101010101	1101011001	0101010110	0001001011—27

SHOOT No. 2.—10 single targets: Anderson 8, Schrey 9, C. Kehn 9, Rundorff 10, Wm. Kehn 6, E. Rhein 4, Dewein 7, Dotterweich 7, Walbridge 7, Kreig 5, Taylor 10, Sowden 9, Foote 8.

SHOOT No. 3.—10 single targets, unknown angles: Anderson 7, Walbridge 8, Foote 5, Dewein 7, Rhein 4, C. Kehn 7, Taylor 9, W. Kehn 9, Steingrauber 2.

CHAS. KEHN.

GENEVA, NEB.—Following are the scores made by members of Geneva Gun Club at their regular weekly shoot on Monday, June 3. This is the first day this Spring the boys have been able to get out and have a regular shoot for the club medal owing to the high winds that have prevailed in this sectio[illegible]. Although the wind was strong, causing the birds to [illegible] manner, the boys managed to find a few of [illegible] system from three expert traps, electric pull [illegible] targets per man.

TEAM NO. 1

.....0100111101 1101111000 01100—14
.....0110111110 0010100000 00111—12
.....0101111010 1011011101 11110—17
.....1101000101 1111111101 11000—16—59

TEAM NO. 2

...1000001000 0010000010 00110— 7
..1111001000 1011110001 10001—13
..0011010100 1011000000 00010— 8
.1100000011 0000110001 01011 —10
..0110110110 0010001100 10110—12—50
W. E. P.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Scores as given below were made by members of the Louisiana Gun Club at two recent practices.

SHOOT NO. 1.—25 single targets per man, target allowance.

	Targets added
Jefferson	1	1101111111 1001001011 11010	—18
Kaufman		1011111111 1111110111 10101	—21
Thornhill	1	1111110111 1011111111 10110	—22
Jung	1	1101101011 1100111111 10010	—18
George	3	1110110110 0001111011 10110	—19
Saucier	4	1111110110 1110111011 11111	—25
Macmurdo	4	1111011100 1011111001 11011	—22
Faure	5	0011110110 0110111110 01111	—22
De Blanc	3	1101011111 0101110111 10111	—22
Miller	8	1010100111 0000111110 00010	—20
P. Mott	4	0100111111 0000111101 11000	—18

Saucier won first: De Blanc, Macmurdo and Faure divided second and third.

SHOOT NO. 2.—Same as preceding: Ed. Nott 14, Nap 19, Jung 20, P. Nott (2 added) 21, Faure (3 added) 23, De Blanc (1 added) 20, Cousin (8 added) 23, Macmurdo (2 added) 17, Saucier (2 added) 20. Cousin won first, Faure second.

PERCY S. BENEDICT, Secy.

HELENA, MONT.—Scores as given below were made recently by members of the Helena Rod and Gun Club in their medal contest, each man shooting at 25 single targets:

Bryan	1011111100 1111110111 00010	—17
Croniu	0011111101 1001101111 01110	—17
Barbour	0011011011 1110100011 11111	—17
Bickett	1110001011 1011010110 01100	—14
H. P. Kinnett	1111111111 1111011111 10101	—22
Prueitt	1111111111 1111111111 11111	—25
Hewes	1001111111 1110101110 11111	—20
Billmaine	1111001111 0110111101 11111	—20
S. Kinnett	1101101110 1101101011 01011	—17
Fashbaugh	0010000111 0111011000 10111	—13
Cullen	1101110000 0111011111 10110	—16
Haag	1111111101 1111111111 01011	—22
Farmer	1110011011 1011111111 01101	—19
Walker	1101001011 1101101011 11100	—16
Yarger	1011110010 0111101000 01011	—13
Andrew J. Fisk	1111011100 1101101010 01111	—17

J. H. FARMER, Secy.

MICHIGAN CITY, MISS.—The regular weekly shoot of the Michigan City Gun Club took place on Thursday, May 30. Among the club members from afar came Brewer, Wheeler and Kilpatrick of Lamar, and McCarley of Jackson, Tenn. The feature of the day was the regular club handicap for a lot of loaded shells. The scores made were good, for the wind was high, and the shooting at unknown angles, and hard ones at that. Appended are the scores, each man shooting at 25 single targets with a "dead bird" allowance:

	Birds added
Tway	0	1111111111 1111100111 11111	—23
Wheeler	7	1101111101 0111110000 10010	—22
Robinson	10	0110001100 1110110101 00001	—22
Brewer	5	1011101111 0110111010 10010	—21
McCarley	7	1010110000 1010110011 00101	—19
Hardaway	5	0011010110 0010111011 10100	—18
Kilpatrick	10	0001000111 0100000010 00010	—17
Aldrich	5	0000101111 0110010001 00101	—16

SECRETARY.

OTTAWA, ONT.—Inclosed herewith are scores made by members of the St. Hubert Gun Club on June 1, each man shooting at 25 single targets:

P. Trudeau	1111111111 1111111111 11111	—25
H. H. Woolton	1111010111 1111111111 11111	—23
B. Rathwell	1111111011 1111101111 11111	—23
W. McMahon	1111011111 1110111101 11111	—22
C. L. Panet	0101011111 1111011111 11110	—20
Dr. Carver	1111111010 1101111011 11011	—20
A. Stewart	1111110100 0111111010 11111	—19
J. F. Higginson	1010011110 1111111101 11100	—18
J. Marshall	1111110111 0111101001 11010	—18
W. Greener	1101011010 1100000011 10111	—14
Hayes	0011000101 0010011010 11001	—11
J. C. Boville	1001101111 0011101100w	—12
Dr. Martin	1111011111 0011101111 10111	—20
J. P. Nulting	0110011111w.....	— 7

J. C. T.

HINGHAM, MASS.—You will find inclosed herewith the scores made recently by members of the Hingham Gun Club and their friends, each man except two shooting at 50 single targets, unknown angles:

Allison	1111111111 1111011111 0101101110 1111111111 1011111001	—42
Howe	1111011111 1110110110 1011011011 0111111111 0101001010	—36
Henderson	0110110111 1100111111 1111011011 1111111111 1101111111	—42
Farrer	1001010001 0110111011 0010011010 1001111101 1100110001	—27
Breen	1110111011 0100011101 0110100011 1111111111w.....	—28
Lincoln	0110111000 1101101111 1010011101 0110011101 1110001010	—31
Higgins	1101111011 0011011011 1001110001 0111110111 1011110011	—34
Sylvester	1111110110 1011100111 0001100101 1001100110 0010111111	—31
*Herbert	1111111011 1111010111 0011111111 1111111111 1111111111	—45
*Jones	1011011110 0010111111 1101100111 1111111111 1111111110	—40
*Prescott	1001001110 0101001101 1011100111 1111111111 1011111111	—36
Manyard	0010000011 0000001001w.....	— 5

*Visitors. H.

SAGINAW, MICH.—I send herewith the scores receutly made by members of the West Side Gun Club.

SHOOT NO. 1.—25 single targets per man: J. Baum 16, J. M. Brechtelsbauer 24, A. Fruechtel 7, H. Krogmann 16, J. Willhite 14, Wm. Remer 12, Wm. Brown 19, J. Herman 22.

SHOOT NO. 2.—Same as above, the wind being very high.

J. Baum	1101000001 1111111111 11111	—19
J. M. Brechtelsbauer	1011001101 1111111111 11111	—21
A. Fruechtel	0110110100 0010110111 11110	—15
H. Krogman	1101110110 1001110101 01011	—16
J. Herman	1111110111 1011111111 11100	—21
W. Brown	1111101001 1001111010 00000	—12
J. Willhite	1111010111 1101110110 11000	—17
M. Baum	1110011101 1101010010 11011	—16

SHOOT NO. 3.—Same as the others: Remer 11, J. Champion 10, C. Andre 7, L. Herrig 5. J. M. B.

PADUCAH, KY.—Scores as follows were recently made by members of the Paducah Gun Club:

SHOOT NO. 1.—25 single targets per man.

J. M. Lang	0010111010 0111110111 11011	—17
M. Ingram	1110111100 1111010111 11111	—20
Frey Hayer	1100011101 1110011111 11110	—18
F. H. Holley	1001111011 1100111111 10111	—19
C. L. Robertson	1101111011 1111111011 11101	—21
Geo. Robertson	1010111111 1111111111 11011	—22
Theo. Concier	1110011110 1101110110 01111	—19
Geo. Rawleigh	1101011111 1111011101 11111	—21

SHOOT NO. 2.—Same as above: J. M. Lang 18, M. Ingram 19, H. E. Craft 22, H. G. Thompson 23, C. L. Robertson 20, Geo. Robertson 22, Theo. Concier 18, Geo. Rawleigh 22.

The club will shoot on Monday, June 24, for the club trophy.

T. J. MOORE, Secy.

BRAINERD, MINN.—At the regular club shoot, on June 5, the Brainerd Gun Club was represented by eleven members who made the following scores on 15 single tragets per man.

Veon	001000110011110—7	McCabe	001000010000000—2
Westfall	100010111111111—11	Smith	111111111111111—15
McIntosh	101000001010101—6	Casey	001111110101101—10
Ferris	011001100111111—10	Bredfeld	100111001001011—8
Mantor	011011000011100—7	Klrkwood	101111000101100—8
Bubar	001001001110001—6

SECRETARY.

Answers to Correspondents

We are willing always to answer any question that we can answer, and prescribe for dogs or other animals in these columns, but we cannot answer questions or prescribe by mail. In all instances where it is necessary that a sick animal should be prescribed for by mail, we refer the owner to Professor R. J. Withers, No. 627 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Cal., to whom one dollar must be inclosed to pay for his services.

KENNEL

L. Y., Omaha, Neb.—Ans.—(1) After a fast of eighteen hours give one and one-half grains of powdered areca nut to the pound weight of the dog, following it in one hour with two ounces of castor-oil; repeat treatment in ten days. (2) For six consecutive days give twenty drops of the fluid extract of pinkroot and senna.

C. H. S., Yorkville, S. C.—Ans.—(1) Nellie Bondhu (5769) is by Gus Bondhu (3439) out of Lynn (not registered); Lynn, by Dash III (1531) out of Isabella (2015). (2) Bondhu's Nellie (18513) is by Gus Bondhu (3439) out of Nellie Noble (not registered); Nellie Noble, by Count Noble (1509) out of Royal Spot (5137).

A. P. F., Norwalk, O.—Ans.—For five consecutive days give one and one-half ounces of castor-oil; also give five grains of salol three times a day. Apply the following to the lame shoulder: Aqua ammonia one-half ounce, oil turpentine one-half ounce, soap liniment seven ounces.

F. C. McL., Janesville, Wis.—Ans.—After a fast of eighteen hours give one and one-half grains of powdered areca nut to each pound weight of the dog, following in one half hour with two ounces of castor-oil; repeat treatment in ten days if necessary.

G. S., Colorado Springs, Colo.—Ans.—If the owner of the dog insists upon it you will have to abide by the terms of the agreement, and give him the only puppy you have left. We believe it is invariably best to pay cash for stud services.

J. N. L., Chicago, Ill.—Ans.—For six consecutive days give one-half ounce of castor-oil, and fifteen drops of the fluid extract of cascara segrada; feed but once daily, and then at night. Allow more exercise.

W. A. S., Waltham, Mass.—Ans.—For five consecutive days give one ounce of castor-oil; also give three grains of the iodide of potash three times daily.

G. F., Portland, Ore.—Ans.—Indigestion: feed but once daily, then at night; give five grains of the citrate of iron and quinine three times daily.

G. W. W., Blue Island, Ill.—Ans.—Give the one-fiftieth part of a grain of the sulphate of strychnine three times a day until a cure is effected.

C. C. B., Yale, Ia.—Ans.—What breed are they? Repeat your query, giving breed and sex.

F. P., St. Louis, Mo.—Ans.—Not registered.

TRAP

A SUBSCRIBER, Los Angeles, Cal.—(1) In shooting Blue Rocks when more than one trap is used (squad shooting) is it known or unknown angles? (2) Which is generally used? Ans.—(1) There is no rule governing this; either is proper enough. (2) Very few clubs now shoot known angles when the rapid fire system is adopted, yet they might as well, for in nine cases out of ten when one is supposed to be getting unknown angles, the trappers, because it is handier for them, throw more straightaway birds than anything else. Unknown angles are not unknown unless the angle is changed every time the trap is set.

FISH

A SUBSCRIBER, Arapahoe, Neb.—To decide a wager please state whether it is unlawful to seine in the state of Illinois in any or all months of the year with any sized mesh. Ans.—Seining is prohibited from April 1 to July 1 of each year. From July 1 up to the time waters freeze over, seines with a mesh two inches square can be used in navigable waters.

Club Elections

CLUB ELECTIONS.—Secretaries and other officers of clubs not having previously done so will confer a favor by sending us the names of all such organizations, with a list of the officers elected for the current year.

G. W., New Orleans, La.—Ans.—(1) Cleanse the ear with warm water and a soft sponge, then apply the tincture of iodine once daily. (2) Four weeks old, use from four to six drops of the fluid extract of pinkroot and senna; six to eight weeks, ten drops; eight to sixteen weeks, fifteen to twenty drops, for six consecutive mornings. (3) Address A. P. Vredenburgh, Secretary American Kennel Club, No. 55 Liberty Street, New York City.

J. W. F., Streator, Ill.—Ans.—(1) She is not registered, but in registration of Jessie Van (30010), her offspring, we find: "Jessie II, by Gladstone S (16975) out of Jessie I, by Leo out of Lady." (2) Thank you for your kindly remarks. You would do us a good turn by sending such copies to friends whom you think they will please.

AT a recent meeting of the Peoria (Ill.) Rifle Club, officers as follows were elected for the current year: President, Dr. A. W. H. Reen; vice-president, Dr. Oliver Roskotten; secretary, Robert Wetzlau; treasurer, Theodore Miller; captain, Fritz Lueder; lieutenant, Adam Kohl; quartermaster, John J. Miller; trustees, Fred Weltc, Chas. Proshazka Sr., and Max Rosenow.

C. D. W., Kansas City, Mo.—Ans.—(1) Your bitch is the reverse of undershot. A Yorkshire terrier should have an even month, and a lower jaw one inch and a half shorter than the upper would amount to a deformity. (2) We should not breed from such a specimen, unless extraordinarily good in some particular point.

THE Florence Fisbing and Gunning Club, of Philadelphia, Pa., recently elected officers as follows: President, John Kale; vice-president, Charles Smith; secretary, A. S. Bullock; treasurer, James Absalam; trustees, William Kimble, William F. Parker and T. Emlen.

THE officers of the Petite Lake (Ill.) Club for the ensuing year are as follows; President, E. Van Bergen; vice-president, F. H. Noble; secretary-treasurer. E. C. Sturges.

Information Wanted

I INTEND to drive a light rig from here, overland, to Northwest Montana and I would like information through the columns of the AMERICAN FIELD as to the best route, roads, etc.

Russiaville, Ind. A. C. J.

Amusements

SCHILLER THEATER.—Keen public interest and delight in the new and brilliant burlesque, "Little Robinson Crusoe," keeps the handsome Schiller crowded to its utmost capacity every evening. Manager Prior has been justified in expending the money, skill and time necessary to produce this triumph of operatic burlesque, in the superb style in which it is now before the public. Of course the people laugh and keep laughing. They cannot do otherwise when such a star as Edwin Foy and public favorites like Marie Dressler, Adele Farrington, Sadie MacDonald, Babette Rodney, Frank H. White, Douglas Flint, the Crawford Brothers, and all the others of the star cast, have been brought together in the bright, original and provokingly funny story—Harry B. Smith's "Little Robinson Crusoe"—united as it is to the charming melodies and impressive brilliant choruses of the music W. H. Batchelor and Gustav Luders have specially written for it. The production is made very elaborate, much the best, in what may very properly be called "operatic burlesque," of anything ever known in Chicago. It is distinctively a Chicago production, and fully worthy of the city and its deserved reputation for great theatrical and musical novelties. The scenery throughout the entire three acts of delicious merriment and song is something superb, a series of realistic stage pictures of life and beauty, a most lavish display culminating in a glorious transformation scene, developed in a series of beautiful changes illustrating a fairy-like vision under the ocean. Every night and usual matinees.

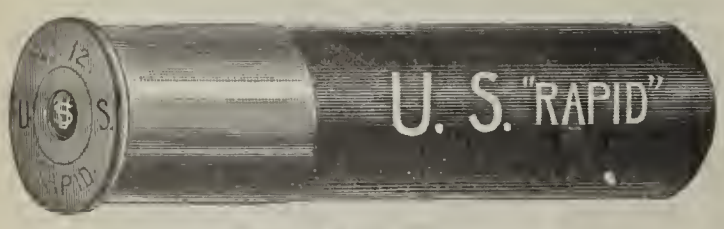
MCVICKER'S THEATER.—Fifth week of the great melodrama and scenic wonder, "The Cotton King;" one of the most charming productions of the year. Matinees as usual. A good reserved seat for fifty cents.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Last week but one of the great mirth-producer, Hoyt's "A Black Sheep," with Otis Harlan as "Hot Stuff." Souvenirs given at the 100th performance, June 21. Usual matinees.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—Last week but one of the grand Summer spectacle, "Aladdin Jr;" and the great Vesta Tilley will not be seen after this week. Usual matinees. In rehearsal "Ali Baba."

MADISON STREET OPERA HOUSE.—Farmer Burns, champion wrestler, and D. H. McMillan against all comers. Rose Sydell's London Belles. Two shows daily.

U. S. RAPID



SHOT SHELL

FOR NITRO POWDERS.

Penetration increased with pattern 15 per cent improved. Results same with every shell. None so regular ever produced before. Head of shell and battery cup one piece of metal. No gas escape, no balling of shot, no upsetting of charge.

AGENTS:
U. T. HUNTER, [illegible] York City.
[illegible] CO., [illegible]ncisco, Cal.

U. S. CARTRIDGE CO., Lowell, Mass.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Advertisers are respectfully requested to observe the following rules governing the insertion of advertisements in these columns:

CLASSIFICATION.—Strictly kennel advertisements—those which relate exclusively to dogs and to nothing else—cannot be placed under headings of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange," but are subject to classification only under their proper kennel headings. When two or more breeds of dogs are mentioned in one advertisement, it destroys the possibility of giving it a distinctive heading and it is therefore classified under "Miscellaneous." For this reason it is well to advertise each breed separately.

If stud notices are included in advertisements of dogs for sale the classification given will be "Miscellaneous." Stud notices should be separate and distinct from other advertisements so as not to conflict with proper classification.

The departments of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" are reserved for advertisements relating in some way to sportsmen's goods or other articles of merchandise.

RATES.—The rate for advertisements under "Wanted," "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" is 3 cents per word each insertion. The name, address, initials and abbreviations are included and count as words.

The rate for advertisements under kennel headings is 25 cents per line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each additional consecutive insertion. Estimate seven words to a line unless the words are unusually long. If display type is used the rate is $3.50 per inch for the first insertion and $2.50 per inch for each additional consecutive insertion. Special rates are given for displayed advertisements running three months or longer. Schedule will be mailed on application.

Remittances to cover full cost should invariably accompany advertisements. If too much is remitted we will refund you what is overpaid.

Advertisers will favor us greatly by writing their advertisements plainly, using separate sheets of paper. Copy should reach us by Tuesday of each week to insure insertion in that week's issue.

WANTED

Advertisements under this head inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement. See "Notice to Advertisers."

WANTED—Position as dog trainer or to prepare and raise game; will take job to train puppies for the coming season: life experience; highest references. PROFESSIONAL, care AMERICAN FIELD, New York office. 24*

WANTED—A young long-haired dark St. Bernard dog from 4 to 6 six months old; give full description and price. Address PETER BUB, Winona, Minn. 24*

WANTED—Live pigeons; must be old birds; squabs not wanted. Address JOHN WATSON, Grand Crossing, Ill. 23-21-tf

WANTED—Sportsmen who want an outing to send for pamphlet of Nimrod Hall, Va. Apply MANAGER. 3*

LIVE foxes wanted. Address H. F. WARNEKE, Aiken, S. C. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Or exchange, my fine St. Bernard bitch Duchess Alton (24521), sired by the famous Alton out of Keepsake; splendid coat, color, correct markings and shadings; whelped nine puppies last litter—six males, three females; have recently moved into neighborhood where I can't take proper care of her and she will be in heat soon, so must sell; I bought her when a puppy direct of E. H. Moore; has had good care; circumstances make the price only $40, or will take bicycle. LEROY T. ALFORD, care First National Bank, Albia, Ia. 24*

CAMERA complete, takes pictures 6¼x8½ inches, cost about $125, to exchange for hammerless ejector shotgun, 12-gauge, about 7½ lbs.; Greener, Scott or Smith preferred; must be in good order, no plits. JOHN DAWSON, 118 Johnson St., Brooklyn, N. Y. 24*

EXCHANGE OR SALE — Three handsome pointer bitches: in breeding, quality, etc., they are the equal of any in America; all three guaranteed in whelp to Royal Kent; will take hammerless gun or cash. Address JOS. R. TRISSLER, Lancaster, Pa. 43-23-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a first-class pair of field beagles, one a field trial winner; will sell reasonable or exchange for a good 12-gauge hammerless shotgun; no dogs wanted. WM H. HYLAND, North Tarrytown, N. Y. 25

FOR SALE—English pointer Spotwood (No. 35280), 16 months old, or will trade for a good bicycle. Send for full pedigree and description to W. W. COLES, Kokomo, Ind. 43-21-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, modern marine engines and boilers, both new and second-hand. Address THATCHER A. PARKER, Terre Haute, Ind. 43-13-tf

FOR EXCHANGE—Combination Clipper bicycle, 1893 pattern; want broken pointer or setter. J. A. HEETHER, Huntsville, Mo. 26*

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

GUN—A new $80 list Parker hammerless, 12-ga., 7 lbs.; has not been shot 300 times, shooting qualities guaranteed; will send C. O. D. with privilege of examination if express charges both ways are guaranteed; price, with new $8 sole leather case, $50. MRS. F. W. LAWRENCE, 63 Henry St., Brooklyn, N. Y. 24

FOR SALE—8-piece split bamboo combination bait and fly rod and lot of tackle, consisting of lines, reel, 18 dozen flies, leaders, gut, tackle box, fly book, basket, etc.; all of the best quality and cost over $50; price $25. Address J., No. 11 Madison Terrace, Paterson, N. J. 24*

FOR SALE—The auxiliary naphtha cruiser Etcetera; deck 30 feet, beam 8 feet, draft 3 feet; yawl rigged, large cabin, closet, ice chest and awnings; the most complete outfit for cruising. For further particulars address J. H. STEVENSON, Fremont, Ohio. 26

FIVE Blue Rock traps for $12. WILL ALLEN, Hutchinson, Kan. 24*

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Francotte ejector, 12-bore, 6½ lbs., 14 inch stock, 2¾ drop, Whitworth steel barrels, Perkes ejector; a perfect, beautiful gun; cost $350 without duty, price $225 cash; sole leather case. CLAIRE OLDHAM, Union Trust Bldg., St. Louis, Mo. 25

12-GAUGE Parker hammer gun, 30-7½, 3-inch drop, choke, good condition; price $25; H. & M. hammerless, 28-10-7½, field gun, right cylinder, left modified, 3-inch drop, fine condition; price $40. GEO. H. JONES, Warren, O. 24

HOMING PIGEONS—Either imported, record birds or young from the same; the only bird to home to Massachusetts from World's Fair came from my loft. J. C. HARRIS, 7 Mystic St., East Somerville, Mass. 24*

FOR SALE—Very cheap, Vol. 1 to 9 A. K. C. Stud Books, three volumes Kenuel Gazette and Ashmont's Book on Dogs; all bound and in fine order. Address BOX 247, Seguin, Guadalupe Co., Texas. 24*

BURGESS repeating shotgun with 30 and 28 inch barrels, weight 7 lbs., stock 14 inches, 2¼ in. drop, fine order and a splendid shooter; C. O. D. on approval; $30. N. BAKER, Brookville, Ind. 24

TO SPORTSMEN AND CLUBS—Four large oil paintings of moose and deer painted from life by Rungius; on view at AMERICAN FIELD office, 19 Park Place, New York. 1

ASK your dealer or send 50c to A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia, Pa., for Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure. 43-24-tf

PHEASANT EGGS (English and Mongolian). Address PLEASANT RIDGE PHEASANTRY, Pleasant Ridge, O. 24

HIGH-CLASS pedigree blanks, 7 generations, bond paper. CHAUTAUQUA KENNELS, Box 914, Chicago. 42-19-tf

FOR SALE—$80 grade, Parker or Lefever, specifications to suit; price $54 cash. PAUL NORTH, Cleveland, O. 25

TO get rid of fleas, lice and all vermin use Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure. 43-24-tf

BALLARD target rifle and outfit. Address VARNUM, Vassar, Mich. 23*

FOR SALE—Live red foxes. ROBERT WOODS, Aberdeen, S. D. 24*

WHERE TO GO

ATTENTION

Bass Fishermen!

THE ST. CLAIR FLATS

Is conceded by all to be the only place where the "gamy small mouth" can be caught during the whole Summer months. STAR ISLAND is right in the midst of these famous fishing grounds, and is the most delightful Summer Resort on the Great Lakes. Hotel accommodations for 300 guests. Special rates for families. For illustrated 32-page book address JAMES SLOCUM, Prop., Star Island House, via Detroit, Mich. 44 16

Warren White Sulphur Springs,

C. W. CULLEN & SON, Owners and Prop'rs,

Cullen Post Office, Virginia.

On top of the mountains; elevation 2,100 feet. Variety of waters. Only one mile from the Southern Railroad, and convenient to others. Good shooting and trout and bass fishing.

Moderate terms. Season opens May 15. 6

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

ENGLISH SETTERS

FOR SALE—Dick Turner—Lufra Val Jean; the finest litter setter puppies in the United States, all h., w. and t., whelped January 10, 1895, perfectly marked and as fine as silk; price $10 each; satisfaction absolutely guaranteed or money refunded. C. W. STEWART, Alma, Neb. 24*

I HAVE for sale setter puppies by Count Roderigo out of Ben Hill, Paul Gladstone, Antonio and Roderigo bitches, ranging from 8 to 12 weeks of age; price $20 for dogs, $15 for bitches, subject to the usual conditions upon which I sell. OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 42-25-tf

FOR SALE—Puppies and young dogs by Gladstone's Boy out of my best brood bitches. Also several high-bred brood bitches and broken dogs. Write for what you want. No trouble to answer letters and furnish information. J. SHELLEY HUDSON, Covington, Ky. 42-17-tf

BARGAINS—To close out at once, kennel of setters; trained and untrained dogs, two bitches in whelp, puppies two to ten months old; all high-class and full pedigreed; write for what you want, they must all go at some price. CHAS. CUSTER, Pontiac, Ill. 26*

FOR SALE—English setters, Gladstone's Boy—Speckle Gown (mother of Tremont), 75 per cent. Gladstone Sue and 25 per cent. Count Noble; best bred puppies in the world at panic prices. J. D. POSTON & CO., 853 Champion Ave., Columbus, Ohio. 24

ENGLISH SETTER, two years old, b., w., t. and ticked, grand pedigree, thoroughly trained, retrieves, has had lots of work, good nose, stanch, wonderful going and staying qualities, a superior young bird dog. C. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss. 24

FOR SALE—Puppies whelped March 14, by Dashing Count—Rod's Fanette, she Roderigo—Fanette, she by Sportsman; price $15 each. WM. NEW, Phillipsburg, Mont. 44-3

FOR SALE—English setter puppies out of Toledo Blade dog—Roderigo bitch; price $5 for dog or bitch; first-class in every way. WM. DONN, Canton, Ill. 26*

ENGLISH SETTERS

FOR SALE—Dog and bitch, 11 months old, by Gath's Mark—bitch by Antonio; beauties, work beautifully in the field; price $60. DR. WAYMAN, Staunton, Va. 24*

THOROUGHBRED English setter puppies, sire Clive B (36438), dam Thistle's Florence (36831); dogs $8; bitches $7. E. L. IVES, Manning, Ia. 24*

CASSIOS—3 dogs and 3 bitches by Cassio, out of Rosalego, she Roderigo; nothing better, 3 months, cheap. HANNIBAL KENNELS, Hannibal, Mo. 26*

CH. ANTONIO—Monk's Twilight puppies, b., w. and t., whelped March 11; only $15, worth $50. J. A. STAGG, Harris, Ind. 24

FOR SALE—A number of setter puppies from the finest field stock in the state. S. J. COYNE, Aberdeen, S. D. 25*

HAVE two thoroughly trained English setters for sale at a bargain. CHAS. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss 25

A BARGAIN—Trained b., w. and t. English setter dog and bitch. C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill 24

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of English setters. New Castle, Pa. 43 18-tf

TERRIERS

CLEARING SALE of high-class fox terriers; noted stud dog and prize winner Beverwyck Kingpin, by Starden's King; dog puppy, 10 weeks, by Venio—Venoya, by D'Orsay—Velzic, by Venio—Verena; several prize winning brood bitches, smooth and wire, just coming in season; photos sent. A. A. MACDONALD, 118 Dupont St., Toronto, Can. 25

FOR SALE—Well-bred fox terrier bitch just served by Rustic Packman, one of Warren Safeguard's best sons; also grand young dog and bitch by Blemton Stipend. RUSTIC KENNELS, 1830 State St., Chicago. 24*

FOR SALE—The high-class Irish terrier stud and show dog Hazard, winner of over thirty prizes in England; also an imported brood bitch by Irish Ambassador. HUGUENOT KENNELS, New Rochelle, N. Y. eow-43-25*

DEAD GAME bull terrier bitch, 24 lbs., for sale or trade; winner of a dozen battles, in good condition; anyone wanting a dead game bitch here is his chance; write quick. BOX 90, Belleville, N. J. 24*

FOX TERRIER brood bitches and puppies for sale, the property of Messrs. L. & W. Rutherfurd. For stud cards, etc., address DONALD MUNRO, Manager, Allamuchy, Warren Co., N. J. 39 7-tf

FOR SALE—Fox terrier puppies out of prize winner Richmond Victory; also litter by Warren Safeguard. POCKET CITY KENNELS, McGregor, Iowa. 25*

WIRE-HAIRED fox terriers and black and tan terriers, best breeding; old and young, ROCHELLE KENNELS, Box 666, New Rochelle, N. Y. 43-18-tf

FOR SALE—Handsome liver and white pointer puppies 4 months old; dogs $7, bitches $5. M. R. PETERSON, Stratford, Ia. 26*

BULL TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. F. L. DEVER, 316 Illinois Ave., Peoria, Ill. 43-17-tf

FOR SALE—Two grand bull terrier bitches cheap. WM. WEDGWOOD, East Liverpool, O 26*

FOR SALE—30 fox terrier puppies and brood bitches. HOTFOOT KENNELS, Decorah, Ia. 7*

POINTERS

FOR SALE—Lemon and white evenly marked pointer bitch Vexation (28848), 3 years old, broken by Herny Holland, Virginia; she is a perfect beauty, never been shown but twice on the bench and won each time in hot company; she is due to whelp first week in July by Ch. Duke of Kent II and will more than pay for herself; satisfactory reasons given for selling; price $100; photo sent. J. R. SCHUYLER, Bloomsburg, Pa. 24*

FOR SALE—I still have a brace of Strideaway—Hops II pointer puppies, born January 4; great Derbys for next year; Hops was a sister to Rip Rap; I sold the other litter at $100 each; will sell these at $50 each as I have no room for them. P. T. MADISON, Indianapolis, Ind. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, the l. and w. pointer stud dog Col. Kent (31054), three years old, by Ch. King of Kent—Bang's Mollie, a winner on the bench, sires grand puppies. S. A. NOFTZGER, North Manchester, Ind. 43 21-tf

POINTER PUPPIES—Liver and white, whelped June 6, 1895, 3 dogs, 3 bitches; Dick Beaufort—Fayette Alexander; send for circular; ready to ship July 15. JOE H. ALEXANDER, Haughville, Ind. 25*

IF you want pointers for 1896 Derby entries, why not buy the best? I have them by Ch. Rip Rap and Strideaway, out of my best bitches. C. A. PAETZEL, Hope, Ind. 43-23-tf

GUARANTEE and trial given of high-class pointers; thoroughly trained by professional; prices right. CRITERION KENNEL, Odell, Ill. 43 22-tf

FOR SALE—Ch. Lady Graphic, a fine field and brood bitch; price right. WM. H. HYLAND, North Tarrytown, N. Y. 25

WRITE C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill., for bargain in thoroughbred pointer dog. 25

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of pointers. New Castle, Pa. 43-18 tf

MASTIFFS

BEN GIBSON for sale cheap; largest mastiff in the United States. CHAS. GLOVER JR, Fayetteville, N. C. 24*

A FINE MASTIFF two years old at half price. F. T. LILLIE, Whatcheer, Ia. 24*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

ST. BERNARDS

FOR SALE—The grand your[illegible] to land Jumbo, by Ben Maida—Lady Keeper, by Ch. Keeper—Lady Miles, by Ch. Plinlimmon, winner of two firsts, third and special, reserve at New York 1895. FRANK LINCK, 178 South 7th Street, Newark, N. J. 43-24-tf

FOR SALE—Nicodé, 22 months old, winner of three firsts, the best young smooth dog before the public, and being a son of the great Judith, invaluable at stud; cuts on application. ALTA KENNELS, Box 223, Toledo, Ohio. 43-23-tf

FOR SALE—Extra fine rough-coated puppies by Ch. Altoneer and Belle III (32685); elegantly marked and a fine litter. For prices address P. F. MAGUINNESS, 23 Wilson St., Worcester, Mass. 26

FOR SALE—St. Bernard puppies; rich color, perfect markings and immense bone; registered stock. JOHNSON LOWE, Wheaton, Ill. 24*

TWO choice females, Illinois Clio and Bedivere Lou; registered; cheap. W. D. DAVIES, 1118 E. Long St., Columbus, O. 24*

FOR SALE—A registered St. Bernard brood bitch and litter of puppies. JAS. W. ROSS, Calumet, Mich. 24*

6 BEAUTIFUL high-bred puppies at $15; good ones. G. W. HARDIN, Verdon, Neb. 24*

FOXHOUNDS

FIELD trial winner Troop for sale; is a pure Walker; winnings one first, one second Brunswick Fur Club at North Acton, Mass., 1893; he is an extra good worker, an all-day stayer and bred in the purple. GEO. E. CARR, Holliston, Mass. 25*

FULL-BLOOD and half-blood English and pure American foxhounds for sale at all times, all ages and sizes. STRODES VALLEY KENNEL CLUB. Address J. M. Hodgkin, Secy, or W. N. Ramsey, Winchester, Ky. 1

FOR SALE—My entire kennel of foxhounds, including six of the shaggy strain; also four black and tans, Pennsylvania strain. Address M. G. PLIMPTON, Box 502, Medfield, Mass. 24*

NOW is the time to buy trained fox and coon hounds cheap; also bitches with puppy; all warranted first-class or money refunded. HUGH OLDENHAGE, Kahoka, Mo. 24*

PURE Goodman foxhounds for sale at all times. BOURBON KENNELS, North Middletown, Ky. 40-20-tf

POODLES

MEADOWMERE KENNELS

MILO (30101)
Champion of America

Southampton, L. I., N. Y., breeders and importers of

French Poodles

(Black curly coated only); first prize winners New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, 1893-4.

A GRAND LOT OF DOGS FOR SALE

For catalogues price lists and stud cards apply to NEW YORK CITY AGENCY, 13 William St., Room 1006.

SPANIELS

FOR SALE—One black cocker spaniel, four months old, by Red Oho out of Bell, she by Oho III; price $25. Six Irish water spaniel bitch puppies, $15 each. SEA MOSS KENNELS, Box 57, Glencoe, Ill. C. A. BLAISDEL. 3

COCKERS—A grand lot of young puppies and young stud dogs; also several young brood bitches, prize winners, in whelp to Ch. Black Duke and other noted sires. GEORGE DOUGLAS, Woodstock, Ontario. 24

COCKER SPANIELS—Special sale of young stock and brood bitches; prices low. HANDSOME BROOK KENNEL, Franklin, N. Y. 42-12-tf

CHAMPION strain cockers, stud dogs, puppies, bitches, almost given away; stamp. REHAM KENNELS, Omaha, Neb. 43-19-tf

COCKERS, champion stock, year old, jet black, $30. M. B. MELLOR, Plainfield, N. J. 24*

GREAT DANES

FOR SALE—Two stud dogs and three beautiful litters of brindled, black and fawn puppies, all whelped first week in April by Moreau (31162) and Harris (29298), out of Cora (27788), Cordelia (34241) and Dido (34242); price $30 to $40; expect two more litters in June. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 S. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22-tf

FINE LITTER of Danes by Victor H (Hector Nero—Irena) and Bella Moreau (Moreau—Queen Hanno). EUSTACE SMALLWOOD, Arcadia, Neb. 25*

GREAT DANES—Ch. Major McKinley's puppies, out of Jessie L, whelped April 14; they are beauties. F. L. JENNINGS, River Forest, Ill. 24*

THREE very fine one-year-old Danes—Chlg. Neverzell, by Earl of Wurtemberg. OSCEOLA KENNELS, Troutmere, Wis. 25

BLOODHOUNDS

FOR SALE—Bloodhounds, man trailers of pedigreed English stock, bred from prize winners of both England and America; thoroughly broken for man trailing and guaranteed; inclose stamp. THOS. BARKLAY, 1887 W. 6th St., Cincinnati, O. 24*

IMPORTED BLOODHOUND [illegible] winner many first prizes England [illegible] royally bred; very cheap, must sell. [illegible] Lexington, Ky.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

IRISH SETTERS

PUPPIES for sale, by Ch. Kildare (champion [illegible] dog of America and sire of Queen Vic, champion Irish setter bitch of America), stud fee $25. Also English setter and Chesapeake Bay puppies of the finest strains Send for catalogue containing photos of celebrated stud dogs and bitches. OAK GROVE KENNELS, Moodus, Conn. tf

FOR SALE—Four Irish setter bitch puppies 4 months old, by unexcelled pedigreed and field broken parents, sire a field trial performer; to immediate purchasers will sacrifice these puppies at $5 each. H. G. J. HALLOWELL, Conshohocken, Pa. 24

FORCED SALE of finely bred Irish setters; a chance in a lifetime to those wanting fine stock at bargains. Address A. W. LAWRIE & CO, Port Dover, Ont. 26*

GORDON SETTERS

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a handsome Gordon setter bitch, 3½ years old, perfectly trained on ruffed grouse, quail and woodcock, steady, good nose and fast and lots of experience; $65; this is a bargain—or offers. A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philsdelphia, Pa. 24

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a well-bred Gordon setter puppy 11 months old out of registered stock; sire and dam well broken; would exchange for well-bred Gordon or English setter bitch broken on all game. Address C. J. KLING, Winona, Minn. 24*

GREYHOUNDS

TORRINGTON GEM (31347), whelped January 27, 1892, by Ch. Gem of the Season out of Chlg. Maud Torrington; fawn, white strip in face and half white collar; is affectionate and in fine form. ALBION L. PAGE, 69 Wall St., N. Y. eow-3

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.
F. H. HOYT, Sharon, Pa 43-20-tf

COLLIES

FOR SALE—The crack collies, Seldon Wallace and Chesterford Hero. For particulars address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

COLLIES AT $10—Puppies from Champ Christopher, Ch. Metchley Wonder strain, also older stock. J. L. LINCOLN, Union Club, Chicago. 43-tf

BEAGLES

ENGLISH BEAGLES—Every one registered and of the finest pedigreed stock. FRANK O. SCOTT, Clinton, Ia. 43-24-tf

MISCELLANEOUS

St. Bernard Puppies

Three litters of blue bloods for sale, quality the finest in America.

DOGS IN THE STUD—Alton Jr, Altoneer, Melrose King, Jim Blaine.

MELROSE KENNELS,
E. H. Moore, MELROSE, MASS. 43-15-tf

We have a fine litter of

Collie Puppies

For sale by Ch. Christopher (21675), out of Dorcas (27756), she by Ch. Wellesbourne Charlie; also some fine

Irish Terriers

By our new stud dog, John Briggs (35584). CHRISTOPHER and WELLESBOURNE CHARLIE at stud. CHESTNUT HILL KENNELS, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED!

Any sportsman wanting first-class broken and unbroken setters or pointers can get what they want from me; new list now ready.

T. C. DAVEY, London, Ont.

FOR SALE—The Oakland Kennels will sell dogs for less money, blood lines and individual quality considered, than can be bought anywhere else in the world! We mean this strictly. English setters, Irish setters and pointers. Broken dogs, young dogs and puppies. Everything guaranteed as represented. Blood lines and individual quality unsurpassed. DR. ED. R. ALLEN, Kansas City, Kan. 25

DOGS FOR SALE—St. Bernards, mastiffs, Newfoundlands, pointers, setters, spaniels, pugs, all kinds of terriers. I make a specialty of game pit and show bull terriers and Yorkshire terriers; dogs and puppies of the above on hand at prices to suit the times; satisfaction and safe delivery guaranteed. EXCHANGE KENNELS, office 2312 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 44-6

MOREY KENNELS have several litters of black curly-coated French poodles for sale; also grown stock, including brood bitches and stud dogs from imported stock and prize winners; CHAS. D. BERNHEIMER, 21 W. 4th St., New York City. 43-20-tf

FOR SALE—Pointer and setter puppies bred from thoroughly trained registered stock; also my setter bitch Day's Belton (25401), thoroughly trained on quail, partridge and woodcock. R. W. SMITH JR., Tate, Ga. 25*

ST. BERNARDS AND PUGS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and fine puppies. Fair prices. Established 1877. CHEQUASSET KENNELS, Lancaster, Mass. 33 20-tf-eow

TRAINED dogs on bea[illegible]ons, rabbits. Also [illegible]s. GREENDALE [illegible] 42-22-tf

[illegible]ts, please men[illegible]tisement in the

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

DOG TRAINING

DOG TRAINING—The finest training ground in the world for developing range and speed is Dakota. We have 5,000 acres protected chicken cover. Send on your dogs and shoot with us in season. NED FAY, Valley City, N. D. 1

K. 9 KENNELS—Pointers and setters, educated for practical field work; kennels located in a game country, and but 2½ hours from Philadelphia; twenty years' experience; best reference. W. G. SMITH, Marydel, Md. 43-26*

WE are now prepared to thoroughly break pointers or setters for field work; satisfaction guaranteed; highest references; price $50. IOWA KENNELS AND TRAINING SCHOOL, Selma, Ia. 6*

WANT three more dogs at once to thoroughly train; write for terms; the most complete training kennel in the United States. CHAS. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss. 25

GEO. BATTISON—Professional bench show handler. Dogs boarded and put in condition for shows. Youngstown, Ohio. tf

STUD DOGS

AT STUD, $35.—CH. DUKE OF KENT II

Field trial winner; only pointer in U. S. winning title of champion in one year, 1893. First challenge, 1st field trial class; also special for best sporting dog in show, Louisville, 1894.

AT STUD, $35—IMP. MOLTON BANNER

One of the best pointers living; has beaten his sire, Saddleback, champion of England, Sandford Graphic and Sandford Bang, England's best. Puppies—Dogs $25; bitches $15; from the best of field trial and bench show blood bitches. GLEN ROCK KENNELS, 2 N. Market St., Boston, Mass.

ELDRED KENNEL

AT STUD. (Setters) FEE $50.

Antonio

(Roderigo—Bo Peep, field and bench winner.)

Sire of Rodfield, Tony's Boy, Tony's Gale, Lady Mildred, Dash Antonio, Daisy Hunter II, Nellie Fox and Antolnette; 8 winners out of 17.

BRIGHTON TOBE

FEE $35. 1st Manitoba and International All-Age stakes 1894.

GAMESTER

(Pointer). Fee $25. Duke of Hessen—Woolton Game, bench and field winner.

Circular and shipping directions of C. H. PHELPS JR., 13 Dock St., Philadelphia, Pa. 43-22-eow-tf

Westminster Kennel Club.

KING OF KENT

In the Stud. Fee $50.

ALSO

Sandford Druid

FEE $35.

Apply to F. O. DELUZE, Treasurer, 18 S. William St., New York.

AVENT & THAYER KENNEL

STUD DOGS.

Count Gladstone IV	Fee $50
Topsy's Rod	50
Orlando	30
Chevalier	30
Cassio	25
Juno's Rod	20

Broken and unbroken foxhounds and puppies for sale. Broken deer, fox and opossum hounds and English setter puppies for sale.

AVENT & THAYER KENNEL
HICKORY VALLEY, TENN.
42-7-eow-tf

WILLOWDALE KENNELS,
CROWN POINT, IND.

ALAN-A-DALE—A. K. C. No. 28135, collie dog, by Ch. The Squire—Stonehurst Lassie, by Ch. Roslyn Dandy, a magnificent dog and image of his sire; V.H.C. Chicago 1894. See comment AMERICAN FIELD. Alan is a horn cattle dog.

DANDY DAVY (A. K. C. No. 36097), by Moray—Clover, the handsomest and most intelligent collie I ever bred; sable with white collar and ruff.

TACONY, smooth-coated fox terrier (A. K. C. 28136), white with tan marked head; inbred Prince Result; game as a pebble.

I will sell at reasonable price Moray, prize winner; Don Cameron and other A. K. C. collies; also book orders for young dogs. Address WILL J. DAVIS, Columbia Theater, Chicago. 39-4-tf

AT STUD,

ST. BERNARDS and COCKER SPANIELS

Four St. Bernards and eight cocker spaniels including Ch. Middy at $15 stud fee. Send stamp for illustrated catalogue.

SWISS MOUNTAIN KENNELS, Germantown Philadelphia, Pa.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

Rodfield

Black, white and tan English setter, winner of both of the U. S. F. T. Club's All-Age Setter Stakes at Bicknell, Ind., and West Point, Miss., 1894 and 1895. Catalog free.

STUD FEE $50.
P. T. MADISON,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

COUNT BEAUFORT

Moss Wind'em—Primrose, bred by and recently imported from Mr. R. Ll. Purcell Llewellin, Shrewsbury, England. Here is a chance for setter breeders to obtain the pure Count Noble blood, Moss Wind'em being a litter brother to that noted sire of field trial winners. This is an opportunity that owners of Gladstone and Druid—Ruby bitches should not lose sight of. Fee $25. Count Beaufort is a handsome, well built blue belton and is thoroughly field broken, keen nose and wide range, having been well shot over by Mr. Llewellin. For pedigree, etc., address W. STEWART DIFFENDERFFER, 113 Commerce St., Baltimore, Md. 44-8

WIRE-HAIRED FOX TERRIERS

BROWN FRENCH POODLES.

For stud cards, list of produce stakes ($175 annually offered in prizes), price lists and full particulars, apply to HILL HURST KENNELS, Wellesley, Mass. 45-7

At Stud. Fee $25.

WHYTE B.

I offer the services of this highly bred setter; he is by Roderigo—Florence Gladstone. He won the A.-A. Stake in the Southern trials, beating such dogs as Antevolo, Novelist, Eugene I, Tremont, Bettye S and Bob Cooper. I candidly believe Whyte B has more endurance than any dog living, and is a combined field trial and shooting dog; his equal would be hard to find. H. S. BEVAN, Somerville, Tenn.

STRIDEAWAY FEE $50

Meadow City Kennels, Northampton, Mass.
43-21-tf

Irish Setters at Stud.—Imported Claremont Patsy, Flash of Claremont, (Ch. Elcho Jr. x Nino), and Chief Red Cloud. Great Prize Winning Blood. Send for Circulars. G. W. Hamilton, Centreville, Kansas.

CHESAPEAKE MARK (35914); fee $10. L. K. MASON, Hastings, Ia. 43-15-tf

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

AT STUD. FEE $25.

BRADLEY

(Rowdy Rod—Breeze Gates).

Bradley is an all-day tireless hunter and one of the best English setters in New England; he won 3rd in the N. E. F. T. Derby 1892, 2nd in the sweepstakes November, 1894. Address D. A. GOODWIN JR., Newburyport, Mass. 43-8-eow-tf

COUNT FEATHERSTONE (No. 29585, Vol. X), lemon and white, whelped March 3, 1890, by Count Noble—Florence Gladstone, she Gladstone—Flounce, she Druid—Ruby; Count is at present located in Warren County, N. Carolina, and will be bred to a few approved bitches; stud fee $25. Address CHAS. F. TRETBAR, P. O. Box 2920, New York. 26

BREED TO THE BEST—At stud, $15, imported English setter Carleton Pero (16291), (Sir Tatton—Princess Charlotte II), color black and white, very handsome, winner on the bench, field broken by N. B Thomas (deceased). Address DR. J. W. COTTING, Swathmore, Delaware Co., Pa. 44-9

AT STUD—Smooth fox terriers, Hillside Royal (Starden's King—Hillside Freda); fee to approved bitches, $10; Raby Prince (Raby Pallisy—Richmond Jesmine); fee to approved bitches, $10. WAWASET KENNELS, Wilmington, Del. 44-5

AT STUD—Four first-class Great Danes, viz.: Moreau (fawn), Victor and Harras (brindles), and Nero (black), fee $25 to $50. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 So. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22 tf

AT STUD—Pasha (34723), $15; insure.
Toy Spaniel.
PLEASURE KENNELS.
22 Baker St., Cincinnati, Ohio. 2*

AT STUD—The grand young bulldog Webb's Monarch, a grandson of Ch. British Monarch and Ch. Rustic King; under 50 lbs.; solid brindle. JOHN E. JEWETT, Buffalo, N. Y. 24

AT STUD—Christopher Columbus, the finest collie in the West, by Ch. Christopher; fee to approved bitches, $20 Address J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43-20-tf

AT STUD—The imported foxhound Abelard, to a few choice bitches at $10 each. J. M. HODGIN, Secretary Strode Valley Kennel Club, Winchester, Ky. 2

AT STUD—The famous smooth fox terrier, Blemton Stipend, to approved bitches; $10. J. WALLACE WAKEM, Highland Park, Ill. 43 20 tf

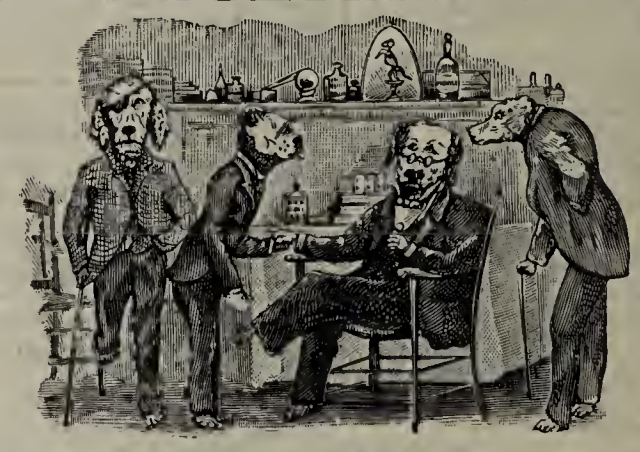
RED COCKERS—Champ. Red Jacket and Red Roland at stud; red puppies. BRANT COCKER KENNELS, Brantford, Ont. 43-14-tf

MATERIAL AND FIXTURES

LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE

LITTLE'S PRIZE MEDAL PHENYLE DOG SOAP

Cleanses the skin and improves the coat.



LITTLE'S SANITARY PHENYLE DOG SOAP.

Superior to any now before the public. Beautifies, cleanses, and gives a healthy glow to the skin.

(COPYRIGHTED.)

DOCTOR—There is no doubt, my friends, but that you are suffering from a most severe case of Mange. My advice is that you procure at once LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE, a sure cure, which will also keep your kennels nice and sweet.

PATIENTS (all together)—We will send to our druggist for it at once.

Used by the principal kennels and bench shows in America and Europe. No keeper of valuable dogs, horses, etc, should be without it. Pronounced by the highest authorities the best and most effective disinfectant in the market. For full particulars of its various uses, send for pamphlet to

MORRIS LITTLE & SON, 175 to 177 N. 10th Street, Brooklyn, E. D., N. Y.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's

Patron: C. C. Chipman, Commissioner Hudson Bay Co., Winnipeg.
President: F. G. Simpson, Winnipeg.

Ninth Annual Trials (ON PRAIRIE CHICKEN), Morris, Man., September 10, etc., 1895.

DERBY—For setters and pointers whelped on or after January 1, 1894. Purse $250. First $100; second $75; third $50; fourth $25. Entries close July 1. Forfeit $5, starters $10 additional. Forfeit money must accompany each entry.

ALL-AGE STAKES—For setters and pointers which have never won first place in an all-age stake in any previous year Purse $250. First $125; second $75; third $50. Entries close August 15. Forfeit $5, $10 additional for starters. Forfeit money must accompany each entry.

JOHN WOOTTON, Hon. Secy.-Treas., P. O. Box 109, Manitou, Man.
eow-24

"OUR DOGS"

The Popular English Doggy Journal.

Published every Saturday. Price One Penny.

Contains all the latest news and the best information relating to doggy subjects. It is written in chatty style; is contributed to by the best known writers; is well illustrated; enjoys a large circulation, and is a splendid medium for the sale or purchase of dogs. Subscription 8s. 6d per year post free to any part of America. SPECIMEN COPIES FREE.

Our Dogs Publishing Co., Ltd.,
10 Gore St., Piccadilly, Manchester, Eng.

In answering advertisements, please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD

R. J. WITHERS, M. D.,
VETERINARY SURGEON,
627 So. Main St., LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Treatment of dogs a specialty. Good hospital accommodations. Advice by mail $1.

NEW BOOK ON DOG DISEASES
And How to Feed

Mailed FREE to any address by the author.
H. CLAY GLOVER, D.V.S., 1293 Broadway, N. Y

In answering advertisements please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

SPRATTS PATENT
DOG,
PUPPY,
POULTRY,
CAME
Foods, Medicines, Soaps and Furnishings.

Send for pamphlet to

SPRATTS PATENT, LTD.,
239-245 E. 56th Street, New York.

HEALTH FOR ANIMALS

Of the many skin diseases that animals are subject to there are none which cannot be brought under control and speedily cured by the use of

GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP

Its perfect reliability in all forms of

MANGE

From which dogs suffer has been attested by innumerable testimonials from the highest kennel authorities and the grateful acknowledgment of thousands of dog owners.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

WHITMAN KENNEL SUPPLY CO.

418 WABASH AVE., CHICAGO.

PEDIGREES COMPILED

And printed in first-class style, and at reasonable rates.

COPYRIGHT PEDIGREE BLANKS.

Pictures for framing of CHAMPION PAUL GLADSTONE, DASH III AND COUNTESS MAY; GLADSTONE AND PEEP O' DAY; CROXTETH AND SENSATION; EMPEROR FRED, and others.

WHITMAN'S UNIQUE DOG REMEDIES.
SPRATTS DOG FOODS AND MEDICINES.
AUSTIN'S DOG FOODS.
SERGEANT'S CONDITION PILLS.

L. F. WHITMAN,
Manager.

33-26-tf

McGILL UNIVERSITY. MONTREAL

Faculty of Comparative Medicine and Veterinary Science (late Montreal Veterinary College). Calendars sent on application, giving full information to intending students. Lectures commence first Wednesday in October in each year. Apply to CHARLES McEACHRAN, D. V. S., Registrar, Veterinary College, 6 Union Avenue, Montreal, Canada. 27-1-tf

---

MISCELLANEOUS.

Chicago & Alton R.R.

AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR RAILROAD.

PERFECT PASSENGER SERVICE.

The direct, best and only rock-ballasted dustless line between

CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY,
CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS,
ST. LOUIS AND KANSAS CITY.

Through Pullman Service Every Day From

CHICAGO TO COLORADO.

JAMES CHARLTON, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

In answering advertisements, please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD.

TROUT, BASS, PIKE,
PICKEREL, PERCH, DUCKS,
GEESE, SNIPE, CHICKENS,

Are all to be found contiguous to the line of

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

SEND FOR

Natural Game Preserves of North America.

CHAS. S. FEE,

Gen. Pass. and Ticket Agt., ST. PAUL.

PLOVER, ANTELOPE, BEAR,
MOUNTAIN LIONS, CARIBOU, DEER,
WHITE GOATS, ROCKY MTN. SHEEP

LAKE TRIPS TO MICHIGAN

Via Graham & Morton Transportation Co.'s Steamers to St. Joe and Benton Harbor

Sailing from dock foot of Wabash Ave., Chicago, at 9:30 a. m. and 11:30 p. m., daily including Sundays. Special trip at 2 p. m. Saturdays. Daily round trip excursion fare $1, leaving at 9:30 a. m., arriving in Chicago on return about 9 p. m. This trip gives the excursionists two and one-half hours in the fruit gardens of Michigan.

Chicago office, 46-48 River St., foot Wabash Ave.
J. H. GRAHAM, Prest., Benton Harbor, Mich.

HUNTING GROUNDS

ALONG THE LINE OF

The Southern Railway

The Southern Railway is endeavoring to furnish every facility to sportsmen to reach its territory, especially Virginia and the Carolinas, where game is abundant and game laws lenient.

Most convenient schedules are operated from all junction points.

For additional information apply o

S. H. HARDWICK,
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Atlanta, Ga.
C. A. BENSCOTER.
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Knoxville, Tenn.
W. A. TURK,
Gen. Pass. Agt., Washington, D. C.
R. D. CARPENTER,
Gen. Agt., 271 Broadway, New York
HENRY HIDEN,
Commercial Agt., 10 Rookery, Chicago.
L. S. BROWN,
Gen. Agt., 1300 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.

The Home of the Tarpon

AND

Ducks by the Million

AT

Aransas and Corpus Christi Bays

REACHED BY

San Antonio and Aransas Pass Ry

Twelve tarpon caught in one day, November 4, 1894, by Messrs. Bull, Lewis and Wallis of Racine, Wis., aggregating over 800 pounds.

Tarpon season March 15 to December 1; duck shooting December to March.

Send for maps, etc. Address

E. J. MARTIN, Gen. Pass. Agt., San Antonio Tex

MODERN TRAINING

Handling and Kennel Management.

By B. WATERS.

This is the only work on Dog Training which treats the subject after the Modern Methods developed by Field Work, Field Trial Competition, Skillful Handlers and a more accurate knowledge of the dog's nature and capabilities.

PRICE $2.00 BY MAIL.

The American Field Pub. Co.

CHICAGO, ILL.

AMERICAN GAME FISHES.

Their Habits, Habitat, and Peculiarities. How, When and Where to Angle for Them.

The book is a sportsman's book, edited and written by sportsmen. In a relatively small compass th able writers, whose names appear in the contents, and are well qualified to discuss the subjects upon which they have written, have furnished a book that, as a whole, is unequaled in the history of angling literature, and no other volume presents to its readers so much valuable information by such a corps of accomplished and experienced writers upon AMERICAN GAME FISHES.

The 155 illustrations will be found to be accurate, truthful portraits of all the fishes described in the volume. The two colored plates give the natural colors of the flies commonly used in angling, and enhance the value of the book.

CONTENTS.

Introduction.....A. N. CHENEY.
The Salmon.....CHARLES HALLOCK.
The Pacific Salmon.....W. A. PERRY ("Sillaicum").
The Land-Locked Salmon.....J. G. A. CREIGHTON.
The Tarpon.....W. N. HALDEMAN.
The Striped Bass.....FRANCIS ENDICOTT.
The Black Bass.....DR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Bluefish.....PROF. G. BROWN GOODE.
The Mascalonge.....LR. J. A. HENSHALL.
The Mascalonge in Wisconsin Waters.....A. A. MOSHER.
The Brook Trout.....F. H. THURSTON ("Kelpie").
Trouting on the Nipigon.....W. H. H. MURRAY.
The Lake Trout.....REV. LUTHER PARDEE.
The Rocky Mountain Trout.....G. O. SHIELDS ("Coquina").
Sea Bass, Sea Trout, Spanish Mackerel, Grouper, Mangrove Snapper, Sheepshead and other Southern Fishes.....S. C. CLARKE.
The Grayling.....F. H. THURSTON.
The Pike.....W. D. TOMLIN.
The Wall-Eyed Pike.....A. A. MOSHER.
The Pickerel.....W. D. TOMLIN.
The White Perch.....FRED. MATHER.
The Yellow Bass, White Bass, Strawberry Bass, Rock Bass, Crappie, Sunfish, Yellow Perch, and Minor Perch and Sunfishes.....PROF. DAVID STARR JORDAN.
The Senses of Fishes.....WILLIAM C. HARRIS.
Fishing-Tackle, and How to Make It.....J. HARRINGTON KEENE
Reels, Their Use and Abuse.....B. C. MILA
The Angler's Camp Outfit.....G. O. SHIELD

Large 8vo, 580 Pages. Cloth $2.50; Half Morocco, $4.00; Full Morocco, gilt edged, $5.50.

This book is just from the press, and will be sent by mail on receipt of price. Address

AMERICAN FIELD PUBLISHING CO.,

245 and 247 State Street, Chicago, Ill.

ANTI-STIFF

Sportsmen, Canoeists, Oarsmen, Yachtsmen, Cyclists and Athletes

SHOULD TRY IT. It has a particularly warming, comforting and stimulating effect on all weak or stiff muscles. RUB WELL INTO THE MUSCLES. Quick in action. Clean and pleasant to use.

20c.-35c. Box. Trainer's size, $1.

Sold by druggists and dealers in sporting goods.

E. Fougera & Co., 30 N. William St., N. Y.

STRENGTHENS THE MUSCLES

In answering advertisements please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD.

SPORT WITH GUN AND ROD

Edited by Alfred M. Mayer

Is a magnificent volume of 892 pages—"the finest volume about American sports and outdoor life," says the Hartford Courant, "that has ever been published in this country." The book contains fifty separate and distinct articles, each by an expert sportsman, and is embellished with several hundred illustrations. Over $30,000 was spent in the preparation of this work. "In every respect the work is thorough and must become standard," says the Spirit of the Times. In one royal octavo volume, cloth, $5. An édition de luxe in two volumes is also published. Price, in embossed leather binding, $18; cloth, $12.

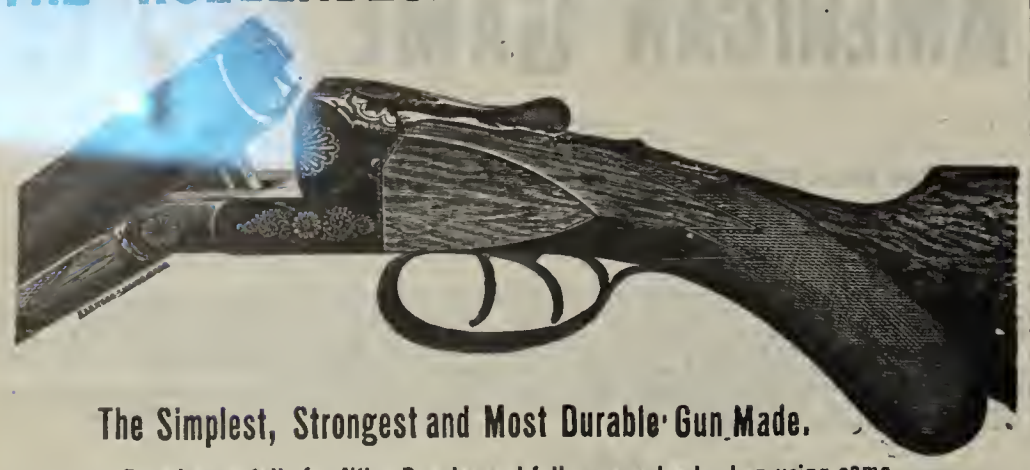
The American Field Pub. Co., Chicago.

Premium Guitars, Mandolins, Banjos & Violins

ONLY $5 FOR EITHER.

These instruments have received highest award for Tone, Finish and Material, and retail for $12.00, but in order to thoroughly introduce them in every locality we will sell a limited number at above price. Simplified Instructor free with every instrument when cash accompanies order, or sent C. O. D., with privilege of examination. THE MUSICAL GUIDE PUB. CO., Cincinnati, O. Largest Manufacturers in the U. S. Illustrated Catalogue for 2c. stamp.

THE HOLLENBECK HAMMERLESS GUN.



The Simplest, Strongest and Most Durable Gun Made.

Bored especially for Nitro Powder and fully guaranteed when using same.

We make 12-ga. as light as 6½ pounds. We make 10 ga. as light as 7 pounds. The above cut represents our No. 1 grade. Write for circular and prices

SYRACUSE ARMS CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Sole Agents, HERMANN BOKER & CO., 101-103 Duane St., New York.

WHERE MAY I FIND GOOD SPORT?

IN Kansas

PRAIRIE CHICKENS, quails, jack-rabbits and ducks abound. The Arkansas Valley and its tributaries afford most satisfactory hunting grounds. In southeastern Kansas there is a fair supply of bass and catfish.

IN Colorado

HERE the fishing rod should be unpacked. Enough trout to keep your rod and line busy may be found in hundreds of mountain streams along the Colorado Midland line. Away from the railroad larger game exists—bears, rocky mountain sheep, elk, blacktail deer, etc.

IN Indian Territory

WILD TURKEYS, prairie chickens, quails and deer are the favorite game in Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A party of three to ten, with guide, will find great sport thirty miles or so from railroad lines.

IN Texas

ANYWHERE on the Gulf Coast several days can be enjoyably spent angling for the deep-sea fish that swarm the Gulf waters. You cast the line; the fish do the rest. Wild fowl are also prevalent in the marshes.

IN New Mexico

UP in the mountains are clear streams where the possible catch of trout may exceed your biggest story—which is saying a good deal. Enough wild game in the wooded wilderness to satisfy the most ardent hunter.

Address G. T. NICHOLSON, G. P. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R., Monadnock Building, Chicago, for detailed information respecting any one or more of the above localities.

ALL ALONG THE SANTA FE ROUTE.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

GUN CLUB SCORE BOOK

Surpasses anything of its kind ever issued. It has, in addition to 150 score sheets, correct and complete copies of American Shooting Association Rules for Live Bird and Inanimate Target Shooting, also Hurlingham and Long Island Rules, which will be found very convenient for ready reference. Further, it contains a proper form of Constitution and By-Laws (that may be used as a guide in organizing a club), also a set of Field and Club House Rules. Carbon paper for manifolding purposes is inclosed in each book. It is so bound that when in use the top cover may be thrown back and under the book, making a solid base on which to write.

Owing to the immense advantage we have in compiling and pushing the sale of this book we are able to offer it at only $1.00 per copy, but at this price our margin of profit is too small to admit of discounts on large lots or to dealers. Bear in mind it contains 150 score sheets, besides additional matter as detailed above. Size of book, 9x12 inches. Sent postpaid on receipt of price.

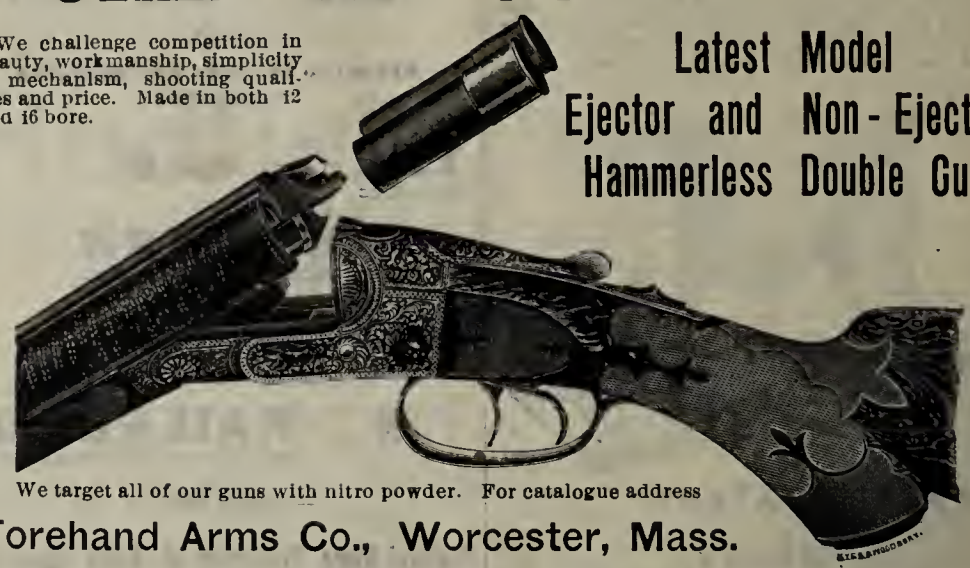
THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO.

FOREHAND ARMS CO.'S

We challenge competition in beauty, workmanship, simplicity of mechanism, shooting qualities and price. Made in both 12 and 16 bore.

Latest Model
Ejector and Non-Ejector
Hammerless Double Gun



We target all of our guns with nitro powder. For catalogue address

Forehand Arms Co., Worcester, Mass.

DUCK CALLS, 55c & $1
GOOSE CALLS, $1
SNIPE CALLS, 40c
TORKEY CALLS, 75c

GRUBBS' PERFECT DUCK CALL. (EVERY ONE WARRANTED.)

Grubbs' Improved Illinois River Duck Call. The most natural toned call made; easy to blow; not easy to get out of repair, having a fine tempered reed; makes it so you can call teal, woodduck and bluebill, as well as mallard. This is the only call you can do this with.

Same as above, made of red cedar, silver-mounted, with silver reed which gives it perfect tone, $1. Every one warranted. Address

CHAS. W. GRUBBS; 56 Alice Place, Chicago

THE AMATEUR TRAINER

FORCE SYSTEM WITHOUT THE WHIP.

BY ED. F. HABERLEIN (a practical trainer of thirty years' experience).

SECOND EDITION. Revised and illustrated with full-page portraits of typical bird dogs.

Has just been published and should be in the hands of every owner of a bird dog, whether trained or untrained.

"The Amateur Trainer" is a plain, practical and concise yet thorough guide in the art of training, handling and the correcting of faults of the bird dog subservient to the gun afield. The manual has been written especially for those who may possess a puppy but cannot afford the high charges of professional trainers to have the same broken for field work. By following the instructions plainly given in the book, every shooter possessed of a little common sense and patience can train his own dog to perfection.

If you have a broken dog who is faulty in some respects, you will find ample advice in the manual how to overcome any fault thoroughly. If your dog does not retrieve, or if so, is hard mouthed, and unsteady to point and shot, chases rabbits, etc., etc., is whipshy, watershy or gunshy, etc., then don't fail to get this book and eradicate the annoyances.

The book is written in a comprehensible, popular form, devoid of long-spun theories, and is based upon practical experience throughout. Each chapter alone on the correction of faults of matured dogs is fully worth the price of the book to anyone owning a dog so afflicted. Dogs of any age can be taught to retrieve readily—soft mouthed and in perfect style—by following the plain instructions given therein.

To the novice, who may aspire to perfect his own dog in the usefulness afield, it will prove an invaluable aid, giving clear instructions from the beginning with a puppy up to the training of the bird dog to a high degree.

It is not INTENDED NOR PROMISED to give a large volume of PASTIME READING MATTER, but the publisher guarantees the book to contain the most practical information on the subject, in a plain, concise form, for the price. It contains 99 pages. Price, paper cover, $1; cloth, $1.50.

Address

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO. ILL.

NEW EDITION.

Lancaster's Famous Book,
THE ART OF SHOOTING.

LONDON, FOURTH EDITION, 1892. PRICE $3.00.

AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

At the special request of many gentlemen who have placed themselves in my hands for instruction in the Art of Shooting, I have written this treatise. I have endeavored to meet the special requirements of those who are anxious to become proficient in the art, and who have hitherto been unable to obtain, in a precise form, the information necessary for studying the first principles of shooting at moving objects.

I have had the honor of coaching many gentlemen, and have carefully studied the points especially requiring attention that have cropped up from time to time while giving instruction. I hope that those who favor me by studying this treatise may quickly gain the knowledge so essential for the making of an average if not a brilliant shot.

I have purposely refrained from touching on the several merits of any class of gun—being a gunmaker myself; and, indeed, so many good works on the subject have been written, that it is really unnecessary.

I trust that authors from whose writings I have made extracts will pardon me when they recollect that I have at heart one object, viz., the advancement of a manly sport which gives pleasure, health and occupation to many, and to the patronage of whose followers I am indebted for many pleasant days.

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

THE SPORTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

Vol. XLIII—No. 25. NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, JUNE 22, 1895. PRICE, Ten Cents $5.00 Per Year.

Published by the American Field Publishing Co.

TERMS.—Five dollars a year; two dollars and seventy-five cents for six months; Club rates, three or more four dollars a year each; strictly in advance.

REMITTANCES.—Money should be sent by American Express Co.'s Money Order, Postal Order, Draft on Chicago, or by Registered Letter.

NEWS DEALERS.—The Trade supplied by the American and Western News Companies.

COMMUNICATIONS.—Manuscript intended for publication should be written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith and all communications, upon any subject, or for any department, must be addressed,

N. ROWE,
Editor and Manager American Field.
245 and 247 State St., Chicago, Ill.

EASTERN OFFICE.—19 Park Place, New York.

Game and Shooting

DEER SHOOTING IN UPPER MICHIGAN

BY MRS. MAY WHIPPLE

As the month of September draws to a close in each year it is natural for the sportsmen to begin selecting their hunting party for the season, and after the members of the party are selected all preparations must be made—tents, cooking utensils, provisions, bedding, etc., put in readiness.

Our party set forth on September 22, 1894, from Crystal Falls, Mich. We selected a camping ground in a charming little nook upon the banks of the Fence River, and any readers of the AMERICAN FIELD who have spent a season in Upper Michigan will have an idea as to the care and caution needed in selecting a camp site, owing to the rough and muddy roads in that region.

As deer shooting does not begin in Michigan until September 25, we proposed dividing our party, one part to go as the advance, the other part to go later as a reserve or visiting party. The advance consisted of the writer, her husband, his brother-in-law, a neighbor and his wife. Our tents, bedding, provisions and all of our paraphernalia were loaded on two wagons, drawn by one horse each. Everything was securely packed and loaded, and as the day drew to a close a drizzling rain set in, and a hasty covering of canvas was spread over the wagons to keep the dunnage dry. All preparations having been made to start the next morning, as it was quite late we all tried to catch a few hours' sleep.

When morning dawned the storm had somewhat abated, and about nine-thirty the sun began to show faint signs of shining, so the horses were quickly harnessed and we started on our long and tedious journey. We took with us three dogs—one for birds, the two others for rabbits. The bird dog was a splendid English setter, while the rabbit dogs were fine blooded hounds, and I can say it is rare sport to follow the dogs on a rabbit hunt or after partridges when one has endured the monotony of a still deer hunt.

On account of rough and muddy roads we had to drive very slowly, and the members of the party walked the majority of the way. After meeting with several accidents we reached the Deer River, about ten miles from Crystal Falls, where, owing to forest fires, we found the bridge gone. Therefore our leader, Mr. C—, suggested a rest and lunch, which were gladly accepted by all. A few branches were gathered, and while C— and B— fed the horses W— kindled a fire and got water for tea, and Mrs. B— and the writer spread the lunch and made the tea.

After a hearty lunch and a little chat the horses were again hitched up, and after examining the ford and finding the stream swollen but safe, we set out on the remainder of our journey. About six miles from the river we came to a monstrous hill, where after a stop to inspect the hill and our wagons at last we started again, all on foot. Mrs. B— and the writer shouldered their guns and went in advance of the teams and men. The hill was hard to climb, the horses were tired and the loads heavy, but with three men at the wheels and one horse at a time, they finally managed to reach the top, and we arrived at our destination at 5:30 p. m., tired, footsore and hungry. Hasty preparation was made for the night, a little supper was eaten and we prepared for bed.

Morning came and with it a driving rain. The men busied themselves for the next two days in modeling over a portion of an old logging camp into a cozy shelter for the horses. Owing to rainy weather we did not decide on a permanent camping ground, but waited until Wednesday, and that proving to be a fine day we pitched our tents in earnest. Everything was quiet till Wednesday evening, September 26, when Mr. C— killed a fine fawn. The next Friday morning Mrs. B—, the writer, and Mr. W— returned to the city of C— to attend a campfire ball given by the G. A. R. We remained at home Saturday to await the arrival of the balance of the visiting party, who came on Sunday morning at 9:40 a. m. Then preparations were made and we started at once, this day being September 30.

Our returning party was augmented by Mr. D—, of our city; Mr. R—, of Green Bay, and Mr. M—, from Minnesota.

We arrived at camp at 2 p. m., had a good dinner, listened to the adventures of Mr. B— and Mr. C— during our absence, and then they all prepared for a hunt except Mr. and Mrs. B— and the writer. About 4 p. m. the balance of the party arrived, two gentlemen from Chicago, Mr. T— and Mr. O—, who came to spend one week in our hospitable camp. The evening was damp and cloudy but despite the weather G— killed a fine yearling buck, and the remainder of the party saw several deer but got nothing.

A few days previous, Mrs. B— and the writer, feeling the need of a little exercise, started out for a little hunt. We strolled down the river for about a mile, to what we call the Little Bull Rapids, where we struck a fresh deer track. We followed the track down-stream about half a mile, then struck across the upper land to the main road and thence to an old camp, some three miles from the river, where there was a salt lick to which we paid a visit. There we saw more signs of our deer, and tracked him back over a rocky hill, about a mile, to a swamp, where we started him out. He was a monster, and we did not shoot but stood and looked at him, as he loped off, thinking he was too far off. When we returned to camp and related our experience, the men all laughed at us.

Mr. O— and Mr. T— found the weather rather damp during their week's stay, and having but two fair days their game was principally partridges and rabbits; but they had some fishing. Mr. R— hunted faithfully during his week's stay; he shot one deer and a number of partridges. The week at last drew to a close, and Mr.—. Mr. O— and Mr. R— bade adieu to Camp Riverside and returned to the busy cities of Chicago and Green Bay, Mr. C— and Mr. D— accompanying them as far as Crystal Falls. After seeing their guests safely on board the train, the last named gentlemen turned their attention to buying provisions for the camp.

There were five of the party now in camp, and the first day or two moved rather quietly, there being only some rabbits and a few partridges killed. By this time some of our party were getting desperate, but we all mustered up courage and Mr. B— was rewarded with a nice fawn. We all had one or more shots but got no deer. On Thursday night B— killed a fine big doe, and when we returned to camp we found our guides—C— and D——had arrived and brought with them a lad of about sixteen Summers, who was attending the Crystal Falls high school and had come to spend a week's vacation. He thought it rare sport to try his rifle, and he was rewarded with a fine yearling buck.

By this time our supplies were getting pretty near an end, so one of the party suggested trading venison for provisions at a logging camp some seven miles distant. The executive party being named, the following day—Saturday—we started on our journey, leaving camp about 9:30 a. m.

The foraging party, consisting of Mrs. B—, Addie B— and the writer, reached the logging camp at sharp noon, where we were invited to eat dinner, had a little chat, did our trading, and then started back toward our own camp. We shot several partridges during the return trip and arrived there at 3 p. m., with plenty of provisions for the following week.

The next Wednesday Mrs. B— and the writer visited one of our old haunts on an old logging road; we seated ourselves on some bark and weeds, behind a fallen tree, where we waited very patiently. We heard a snap or crack in the brush a short distance from us, and about three minutes later out stepped a fine doe. We both raised our guns and fired; there was a crash, a stumbling and a good deal of kicking, but as we rushed up she jumped to her feet and ran a short distance; we fired again and down she came, gave two vigorous kicks and was dead. I drew my hunting knife, which is a dirk having about a four-inch blade, walked up to the doe and taking a firm hold of one ear with my left hand, with my right I cut its throat. We also were armed with a hatchet, and with this we cut two crotches, a pole and a short stick for a gambril; this we inserted in each of the hindlegs, about halfway between the body and the foot, and by means of the pole and the two crotches we raised our deer (saddles upward) until its head was about six inches from the ground.

Our next move was to remove its inwards, and this being done we took out the heart and liver and strung them upon a small branch or twig, and with these dainties and glad hearts we returned to camp. I can scarcely relate the feeling one experiences in such an adventure, but it is wonderful. The others of our party killed a number of deer after this, but Mrs. B— and I stopped at this one.

Some few days after this adventure, early one morning when the men had all gone out for a hunt and Mrs. B— and I were busy washing the breakfast dishes as I chanced to step outside the tent I spied a covey of partridges. I rushed in, grabbed my rifle and began to fire. Mrs. B— came out by that time.

"For pity's sakes," she exclaimed; "what are you doing?"

I then exchanged the rifle for a shotgun and managed to get seven out of nine birds. That is the sport which pleases me. We got several more rabbits, and soon Saturday was upon us again, and our supplies came to an end as well as the week. The morning was fine, so we loaded onto our buckboard the forequarters of four deer, and choosing for our escort this time Mr. M—, started at eight o'clock and arrived at the logging camp at ten-thirty. Again we had a good dinner, and as we needed some shoes set on our horse and the blacksmith was not in camp, we were compelled to await his return. This gave us a splendid chance to look over the camp, the first one of the kind I ever visited, and I lost no time in taking in everything. The logging camp was a large building, constructed with large pine logs, and was divided into three parts. The small part was used for a storeroom and separated the men's sleeping apartment from the cookroom; the men's room had two rows of bunks on each side, with a large hallway between, and two men were supposed to sleep in each of the bunks. The cookroom, or shanty, as it is sometimes called, had seven long tables with two long benches at each, a large cookstove, shelves for holding the tinware (they use nothing but tin dishes and iron knives and forks), and there were a sink and several small tables for washing dishes and doing other work. All of the camp supplies are brought in by the barrel and box. After looking the inside all over, we strolled around the outside and discovered several large pens of hogs and small pigs; then we came to the stable, another large log structure, and the blacksmith's shop, which is built of the same material.

The blacksmith arrived at this point and we proceeded to business, the shoes were set, and our purchases were made. They consisted of butter, sugar, beans, coffee, dried apples, flour, baking powder, soda, soap, pork, tea and potatoes, also coaloil and oats. These being all nicely loaded, we started for Camp Riverside again, with light and happy hearts, arriving at 3 p. m.

Everything moved along nicely until the next Tuesday noon. The forenoon of that day had been spent in hauling in deer, and everything seemed to be O. K. until Mr. B— went to feed and water his horse, when as he was about to lead the horse from the barn he discovered that it was very lame. We were all very sorry as well as disappointed, as this was now the only horse in camp, for Mr. D— had returned home some days previous. Addie B—had also returned to school and there were but five in camp, and we all expected to return to our homes in Crystal Falls, but were delayed on account of the lameness of the horse.

The hunting season ended on Thursday, and we [illegible] day morning Mr. C—, one of our party, set out on foot [illegible] city, where he arrived in time to take a twelve o'clock lunch with his family, the distance being twen[illegible]

[illegible] next week passed rather slowly, excepting for [illegible] and [illegible] shooting, which are rather ex[illegible] [illegible]smen know. But Saturday came once [illegible] party being small and not thinking of anything else to do, the men suggested a boat ride of about ten miles up the river and a picnic dinner, our object being to visit the ruins of some old logging camps and return a borrowed boat. Therefore about ten o'clock we set forth, dividing our party, with Mrs. B—, the writer and Mr. W— in one boat, Mr. B— and Mr. M— in the other with the lunch and guns. We reached the bridge, about nine miles distant, at twelve-twenty, and having a mile to walk we tied our boats to a log and reached our destination almost before we knew it. We took a turn around the camps and then strolled out, and finding a good spring deposited our baskets upon a rock, and George made a fire for cooking coffee while Mrs. B— spread the cloth for lunch, as I being a little careless on our way while putting a cartridge in the magazine of my gun had caught and torn off the nail of my left thumb. This spring was also the feeding-place for the teamster hauling supplies from Floodwood to Camp No. 17, and just as our dinner was ready he arrived and we invited him to lunch with us, which he gladly accepted.

After eating lunch and cracking a few jokes, also having seen all the sights, we prepared to return, Mrs. B— and the writer having received an invitation to ride as far as the bridge, a distance of one mile, where we were again to embark for a ten-mile float downstream. The supply wagon was loaded with feed, flour, potatoes and oats, and drawn by four horses. We climbed to the very top of the load and seated ourselves on a sack of potatoes. The roads were very rough, but we enjoyed it immensely. We bade the teamster a hasty good-night, also extended an invitation for him and his brother to visit our camp on the next day, Sunday.

Finally the day and hour for departure drew near, and we began to think of home. Wednesday dawned cool and cloudy, after a hard night's rain, and preparations were made for Mrs. B— and I to return to our respective homes, and on October 30 we bade farewell to Camp Riverside and set out on our journey homeward. It was about eight o'clock in the morning when we mounted our seat and gave the word to go. We jogged along at a slow pace, and on the way saw plenty of partridges and several deer. The roads were very muddy and rough and the day was rather cold. We reached the river and found it rather high, but had no trouble in fording, and after reaching a point some three miles beyond the Deer River and getting somewhat cold and hungry, we concluded to stop there to feed our horse and have a little lunch. We gathered a few branches and started a brisk little fire, and we were soon warm and enjoying our lunch immensely. After warming ourselves by the fire for some little time, we again started on our journey and reached home at 4 p. m., very tired and nearly frozen.

The balance of our party returned the following night, and they got home in the nick of time, for when Friday morning dawned we found about three inches of snow, and it was still snowing and the wind blowing a perfect gale. Our dunnage was unloaded and stored away for the Winter and to await the time when all of the camping sports will begin once more.

If any of the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD, male or female, would like a few weeks' sport, I would advise them to take a stroll through the woods with gun on shoulder; and if the ladies are anything like myself, I am sure they will enjoy a few weeks' hunting and fishing very much, whether they are residents of country or city, for I have lived in the city the greater part of my life.

For my camping dress I wore a short skirt, reaching about five inches below the knees, a vest and a short jacket, the entire suit being made of navy blue corduroy and trimmed with gold braid; and I have leggings and a cap to match. I am now making me a full buckskin suit for next season.

My shooting arms consist of a .32-caliber Marlin rifle and a 12-gauge breech-loading shotgun, single shot, which is one of the finest and shoots right to the spot. Also I carry a hatchet and a knife, both good ones.

Before saying adieu to the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD, I will add a few hints for their benefit. If anyone is looking for a healthy and rather pretty place, come to Crystal Falls, where the air is pure and the water good. It is a splendid place at which to spend a Summer. There are nearly all kinds of berries in their season, besides the finest of hunting and fishing. The people will be found very pleasant and easy to become acquainted with. [illegible]nd if anyone has decided to spend a [illegible] and in this part of the country, [illegible]ur guide, Mr. C—, who is an old [illegible], is well versed in hunting and [illegible]plendid hand to have around a camp as he knows just what to do. He is acquainted with the country for miles around, and I think would be pleased to escort a party at any time during the season.

Crystal Falls, Mich.

THE OLD ILLINOIS GAME LAW STANDS

The legislature of Illinois adjourned sine die Friday, June 14, without enacting a new game law for that greatest of all prairie states—a state which, from its natural advantages, could be made the best in the country for upland and wading game birds as well as water fowl in the country.

The sportsmen of that state worked like Trojans to secure a much needed reform in the game laws, and the fight was long and bitter. Last Fall Game Warden Blow came into the office of the AMERICAN FIELD and presented a draft of a game bill which he stated contained his ideas of what Illinois needed if the game was to be protected and its annihilation prevented. We saw in this draft the germs of a good bill, and as Warden Blow had done good work and showed a desire to continue, at his request we published the draft of his bill in our issue of October 13, 1894, for the purpose, as was then stated, of drawing out the views of the sportsmen of the state and making it a perfect bill before the legislature met, and thus, by having it introduced early in the session, secure its enactment.

But few opinions were expressed on the original draft, and though the National Association and local clubs had met nothing was done about the bill. Then Warden Blow began amending it to conform to individual ideas expressed to him by letter and verbally during his peregrinations, when lo, an innocent looking clause suddenly made its appearance, viz., "coming from the state of Illinois," in the sale section. These few words would have opened the markets of the state of Illinois to the sale of game coming from any other state the entire year, and would have placed Illinois in the same position that New York now is since the passage of its new game law, and which Mr. Frank J. Amsden of Rochester, at the meeting of the American Fisheries Society in New York, last week, denounced most vigorously, stating that "it made New York a fence, a receiver of stolen property and a fosterer of criminals in sister states, as it permitted the sale of game in New York the year round so long as it came from without a radius of three hundred miles of the state." Warden Blow upheld this clause on the ground that he would be glad to get a protective law for Illinois game, let alone other states, and which was his defense of the clause. The AMERICAN FIELD persistently opposed its insertion, for the reason that game could not be distinguished as coming from any one state and therefore afffforded no protection. The fight for the right was taken up by the board of directors of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association, and Mr. Robins S. Mott, chairman of the law committee, submitted a game bill containing all that was good in the so-called Blow bill and supplying many new sections, which made as nearly a perfect bill as it was possible to draft, for the protection of not only Illinois game, but the game of the whole country, which was adopted and became known as the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association Game Bill. It was a splendid measure and the AMERICAN FIELD supported and advocated it—the Blow bill had served its purpose, it had created an immense amount of feeling, and in the caldron of public opinion the wise and the unwise were turned over and over, and when the purifying process was done with the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association had a bill to be proud of. Among those in the caldron were the game dealers, and when they found they were likely to be precipitated they determined to fight it out at Springfield, and when the officers of the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association appeared at Springfield to argue in favor of their bill the game dealers were there also, and the fight was a hard one, a full account of which, and the only one published, appeared in the AMERICAN FIELD of February 23.

From that time on it was evident that money and considerable influence would be needed to secure the passage of the bill, and it was so intimated by more than one lawmaker. Whenever two opposing factions appear some legislators wait to see which makes the highest bid. This was the situation after the debate.

Days lapsed into weeks, and no bill being reported President W. L. Shepard appeared before the legislative committee again, and urged its passage, and prospects began to look brighter, as he had the promise of several committeemen to vote and work for it. Then came a surprise in the shape of a letter, which Mr. Shepard has, in which he was informed that certain members would have to be "seen" if the association hoped for a bill this session. Mr. Shepard was justly indignant and refused to deal with them in that manner. The game dealers refused to "see" them, and again the measure slumbered.

The bill had now become known as House Bill No. 715, and the weeks had lapsed into months, and when the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association met in annual convention in Chicago, Monday, June 3, not an iota of encouragement had been extended its members by the legislative committee on game and fish, and President Shepard stated in public meeting that he had received such a letter as referred to above and denounced it in unmistakable terms. For the purpose of putting the legislators on record, Mr. Geo. W. Strell introduced the resolution which was published June 8, in our report of the proceedings of the convention, calling upon the legislature to pass the bill at once, inasmuch as the legislature would adjourn the following week. The resolution was adopted unanimously as the sense of the convention and copies sent to the legislative committees on game and fish, the speakers of both houses, and the Governor. It had the effect of galvanizing the measure into enough life to cause it to be killed and its executioners identified, for on the Friday following it was brought up and tabled. Representative John R. Challacombe, member from the 38th district, who had championed the bill all along, secured its reconsideration and it came up in the House for a final vote on Tuesday, June 11, and was killed for good by the following vote, 75 yeas, 47 nays; 30 not voting:

YEAS

Beck	Ferns	Klein	Plotke
Berry	Fitzsimmons	Lowenthal	Schubert
Boyd	Fletcher	Lyman	Schwab
Briguadello	Gibson	McCarthy	Selby
Buckner	Glade	McDonald of Moultrie	Shaffer
Busse	Gower	McFee	Shannahan
Callahan	Guffin	McGuire	Snedeker
Cavanagh	Hallock	McLaughlin	Steen
Cella	Hammers	Mahoney	Steiner
Challacombe	Hawley	Mauritzson	Sterchie
Cochran	Hogan	May	Stickney
Cody	Hubbart	Morris	Stoskopf
Crafts	Johnson of Cook	Murdock	Taylor
Curtis	Jones of Iroquois	Noliug	Thiemann
Daugherty	Jones of Cook	Novak	Walleck
De Forest	Kaiser	O'Harnett	Wendell
Dunham	Kent	Olson	Weston
Ellsworth	Kilcourse	Perrottet	White of Whiteside
Ely	Kitzmiller
Farrell

Total 75.

NAYS

Aiken	De Lany	Le Crone	Pickrell
Armstrong	Douglas	McDonald of Williamson	Poindexter
Bines	Eakins	McTaggart	Rondeau
Blaek	Fleming	Mell	Sharrock
Branen	Graham	Merriam	Smith
Breeden	Greeu	Merrill	Snyder
Briseoe	Huffman	Miller of Fayette	Spencer
Burke	Johnson of Fulton	Mounts	Teel
Burroughs	Johnson of Pulaski	Mulligan	Thompson
Cahill	Jones of Greene	Owensby	Tippit
Condo	Kincheloe	Perry	Wilson
Davis			Woolsey
Dean

Total 47.

NOT VOTING

Bailey	Dudley	Muir	Revell
Barnes	Guthrie	Mulac	Stubblefield
Barricklow	Ingersoll	Murray	Wallace
Bovey	Kelly	Needles	Watson
Bryan	McConnell	O'Donnell	White of McLeau
Butler	McKinzie	Payne	Wylie
Curley	Merritt	Pilgrim
Dearborn	Miller of Cook	Reed

Total 30.

If only those not voting—a dereliction of duty, or cowardice—had cast their ballot, Illinois would to-day have a law it could be proud of, and the above list should be kept by every sportsman for future reference.

Representative Challacombe says: "The license clause was the only objectionable feature, yet I felt it was the essence to enforce the law. The Illinois River fishermen were the ones who worked up the sentiment against it. The fish bill, No. 608, was also lost, it being killed by one vote." We know Hon. J. R. Challacombe has worked hard for the passage of both bills, but, alas! to the everlasting disgrace of Illinois, it has lawmakers who are more willing to be influenced by as chronic a lot of law violators as can be found in the United States than by the reputable, law abiding citizens who have asked for this measure.

The existing game law of Illinois therefore remains unchanged and will govern for the next two years at least.

A MODERN NITRO POWDER

BY SAMUEL J. FORT, M. D.

An opportunity presenting recently, the writer was enabled to visit Carney's Point, N. J., where the wonderful plant of the Du Pont nitro powder is situated. Carney's Point is in Salem County, N. J., on the shore of the Delaware River, some little distance from two small towns and within a short distance by water from Wilmington, Del. There is nothing particularly interesting about the point itself, except that the water in the river, into which the point projects, is either too shallow to cover it, or the point is too obtrusive to be covered, and this necessitates landing from the tug, which belongs to the company, by means of a smaller boat, a far more romantic method of going ashore than the usual and more prosaic steaming up to the pier. Who Carney was, or is, I do not know; the two hundred acres on the point bearing his name, and now owned by the Du Pont company, will make his name famous anyhow.

Here may be found one of the most extensive, thoroughly equipped, modern nitro powder factories in the world, a study in completeness and an education in the methods pursued in making modern explosives.

Du Pont Granpere came to this country in 1802 and there established the factory that has made black powder for just seven years lacking the century, the product of this factory being known over the entire world. Wherever adventurous man has pushed his way with rifle, or pick and shovel, there Du Pont's powder has been used and its reputation during that time has been simply perfection. The factory at Carney's Point is the outcome of the discovery of the imperfections of a compound thought perfect for centuries past, but which must give way to the demands of the present and future. The nitro powder has come to stay, and the reputation of Du Pont powder (black), in the past, will be maintained in the future by this modern compound.

Arriving at the point, the entrance from the pier is close to the ornate building known as the chemical laboratory, and it is here that the product of the plant, now being tested by thousands of sportsmen in front of the traps and in the field, has been gradually worked out. These nitros are not like our old friend, black powder, a merely mechanical mixture of certain ingredients which explodes when brought into contact with fire; the nitro powder represents, in the first place, long, costly and arduous experimenting to determine a formula which theoretically and in the laboratory will give an explosive that will fill the exacting requirements of the day. This formula determined, a reasonably large quantity must be made and tested, perhaps to be found wanting in some vital particular, then the whole thing must be revised, reëxperimented upon, and so on, until success is assured. This takes patience, perseverance, time and money, besides exact chemical knowledge and positive love for the work. Having received a practical working formula, with a base, say cotton waste, a vegetable substance which, when acted upon by nitric acid, will become nitrocellulose, the first obstacle is overcome. This waste is first cleansed from all impurities; not simply washed, but chemically purified, and this means much manipulation. Having been washed, it must be dried, absolutely and entirely, and until placed in the acid baths the fabric must be kept dry; more extreme care. Receiving its due proportion of acid, it must be squeezed and placed in stoneware pots for a time until it shall become thoroughly nitrated, then washed and neutralized and treated with other chemicals and washed again, until it finally appears a finished nitro powder ready to be canned and shipped.

It would be impossible, in the limits of a newspaper article, to do more than give a faint idea of the various steps of the many steps necessary to make up the completion of a batch of nitro powder; enough has been given to show what a wonderfully intricate business it is, and give some idea of how difficult it has been to succeed in making even small batches that will keep up to the laboratory standard.

First, the completed nitro must have a hard grain, to be able to successfully resist atmospheric changes, yet at the same time to be porous and sensitive to the heat and flame of the primer. Second, it must give the highest velocity possible with the least possible gas pressure, and, third, it must be stable, always giving the same results, whatever the weather or temperature or other atmospheric vicissitudes to which it may be subjected.

Nearly every process is conducted in a separate building and the ten or a dozen necessary are substantially built, steam heated and electric lighted; everything about the factory is most complete and of the best. Such machinery as has not been specially invented by the Du Ponts is of the latest type, and everything is in the best order. Now, having followed the bale to the tin can of shipment, it may not be uninteresting to see how the finished powder is tested. This is done in a separate building, all of one side with glass windows. Facing this building is another, just forty measured yards; this latter is sheathed with sheet iron on the side next the testing house, and this side is pierced with two round holes, about four feet in diameter. Inside of one of these is an ingenious arrangement for holding the large paper targets which show the pattern given with a given charge of powder and shot. In front of the other is a machine which, by electricity, registers the exact instant the charge of shot strikes the plate. As the charge leaves the muzzle of the gun it closes a circuit and registers the minute of leaving. Having now the time the shot left the gun and the time it struck the plate, the exact distance being known, it is a very simple problem to figure out the velocity of the charge. The gas pressure, or the bursting power of the powder, is found by an equally ingenious and reasonably exact gauge. You want the pressure of 2¾ drams of powder, with a certain wadding, and 1⅛ ounces of shot, from a 12-gauge gun. Every gauge of shotgun is represented in this testing house by a barrel with a hole in the upper circumference, and this, when the barrel is fitted into the gauge, corresponds with another in the gauge itself. A mechanism attached fires the charge and sufficient is expended through this hole to push up a mechanism between the parts of which, and, in direct line of the force, has been placed a bit of copper of a certain length and diameter. The pressure exerted upon the gauge crushes the copper, or rather squeezes it in its length; the loss in length is measured by an accurate, specially-made caliper, and from the loss is deducted the so-called gas pressure.

Everyone who has done much shooting knows something of this Du Pont nitro. Though so recent in its introduction, the wonderful scores made by various experts and amateurs, notably Mr. Messner's, in winning the Grand American Handicap, has already pushed it to the front, and the fact that so much care has been and is given to its manufacture, combined with its intrinsic value, will keep it there. Enough of its qualities are already known to say that the following points are of interest to the trap and field shooter: First, lack of recoil. Second, lack of smoke. Third, little or no solid residuum. Fourth, such risidnum as there is is alkaline and not deliquescent. This lessens the chance of rusting the barrels from solid particles that are hydroscopic, and is true not only of the Du Pont shotgun powder, but of the Du Pont rifle powder as well. Fifth, the compound is stable, resisting the effects of atmospheric changes to a marked degree. Sixth, it has an extremely hard yet porous grain, due to process of manufacture, and not to after treatment. Seventh, the extreme care and watchfulness given to its manufacture make it well nigh impossible for batches to vary in gas pressure or velocity. Eighth, maxinm velocity with minimum gas pressure or strain upon the gun barrel. Ninth, relatively small bulk of charge and its complete transformation into gas, resulting in a definite equality between amount of powder and amount of propelling power. Tenth, it is an American product, formulated by American chemists who were trained in American laboratories, and as such surely merits the confidence and attention of American sportsmen.

It would be interesting to go on and write more of the courtesies shown the stranger within the gates at Carney's Point; of the many interesting relics in the shape of now obsolete firearms not so many years ago considered the ne plus ultra of such weapons; of the handsome little .23 single-shot Winchester rifle cartridge and the long .23 cartridge loaded with a Du Pont rifle nitro, and a nickel plated bullet, that ground a deep hole in a heavy, wrought-iron plate at 100 feet range, and at 200 yards would have punched a neat, round hole in the same plate; of the .30-caliber army rifle and its cartridge, also loaded with Du Pont rifle nitro, and, as the circus posters say, other things too numerous to mention, but space forbids; suffice it to say in conclusion, that Carney's Point and its wonderful plant bid fair to become as famous in its day as its predecessor on the other side of Wilmington, and the present nitros, and others in a more embryonic condition made there, that will, in due time, make their debut, will prove as efficacious and perfect in their way as has the Du Pont black powder.

Ellicott City, Md.

GUNS

WABASH, IND.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—When we can lift ourselves by our boot straps a perpetual motion is in sight. When gunmakers discover a material for their guns not susceptible to wear while in contact, then, and not till then, can compensation and compensators be ignored.

Mr. L. I. Flower in a lengthy article in the AMERICAN FIELD of March 16, among other things, says: "One American gunmaker says no compensators needed to counteract poor work, and with him I believe that screw compensators should be eliminated from the science of gunmaking." He seems to believe that it is not out of the question for a good gun to have a compensating feature and not be slighted in some particular part. Gunmakers of both Europe and America have racked their brains for a quarter of a century to find some practical device to take up wear and it was left for Yankee ingenuity to invent a screw hinge joint that was simplicity itself and practical; so much so that it has long been a thorn to other gunmakers, both at home and abroad. Being the only real practical compensating device and covered by letters patent, it is no wonder we see strictures that smack so strongly of sour grapes that one can almost taste them.

Mr. Flower's reference to guns that had borne the heat and burden of nearly a twenty-year campaign and were yet tight, and still had no compensators, is a chestnut older than gunpowder itself. The better grades of this screw compensating gun (the same being made by the Lefever Arms Co., Syracuse, N. Y.) are as carefully fitted in all their parts as the [illegible] English guns costing twice the money, and as [illegible] of outline, finish, hang and balance, or sho[illegible] ties, they are equal, if not superior, to a G[illegible] Purdey or Lancaster, Mr. Flower, or any o[illegible] contrary notwithstanding. We America[illegible] gun better than most people know, be[illegible] English, Irish or German. The time has long since passed for English productions of any kind to be first choice in America.

I have no quarrel with Mr. Flower or anyone else as to what may be his choice of a gun, shells or powder, but I do not like to see one write disparagingly of as useful an American invention as the screw hinge joint and check hook, as perfected and used by our American gunmakers, coupled with the insinuation that their use is to help out poor work. There is no law that I know of to compel men to use guns with modern improvements. The man who wants a hammer gun, or a musket, or a muzzle-loader, though he is a back number, has a perfect right to buy and use such an arm, but there is an unwritten law that will apply to some cases, and I believe the one in question is inside the limit. Mr. Flower says "the entire face of the frame, if well fitted, must wear down before the gun will be loose." Granted. But the entire surface will wear and the entire action, in consequence, will not fit as when new, then what? Well, a minute's work with a screwdriver on my Lefever does the business, and effectually, too. This gun has done lots of hard work in the field and at the trap. I have used it several years and shot it many thousand of times and yet it is as sound and tight to-day as when it came from the factory, because I have been able to take up the wear by giving this screw hinge joint about one-eighth of a turn in all these years.

To the man who is so favorably situated (and I trust my friend Flower is) that the price of a gun is neither here nor there, durability cuts no figure; but the average shooter is not so fortunate, hence the lasting qualities of his gun are an important factor. True, many gunmakers advertise guns warranted not to shoot loose, but they do shoot loose all the same, and without some way to take up this wear continue to be shaky and will soon be leaking gas. I know of but one firm that makes a compensating action that compensates, and aside from this they make the best gun for the money in this country to-day; and the man who can afford a gun of any kind will find in this gun just what he wants. "You pays your money and takes your choice." Their cheapest grade will give excellent satisfaction, while their higher grades are simply "out of sight."

PULL.

TROPHIES EXHIBITED AT THE SPORTSMEN'S EXPOSITION

The committee on measurements and records at the first Sportsmen's Exposition, held at Madison Square Garden, New York, from May 13 to 18, has made the following interesting report concerning some of the more important exhibits:

MOUNTAIN SHEEP

Owner	Locality and Date of Capture	Girth	Length	Spread
1. Geo. H. Gould	Lower California, Dec., '94	16¼	42½	25¾
2. T. Roosevelt	Little Mo. River, N. D., Sept., '87	16	29¼	18½
3. T. W. Fraine	Purchased from dealer	16	30	26
4. C. G. Gunther's Sons		17¾	33½	21

1, Tip of horn broken. 3, Extremely symmetrical; horns widely spread and unmarred. 4, Heavy horns; mounted auimal.

VIRGINIA DEER

5. T. Roosevelt	Medora, N. D., Sept., '94	4	22½	15¾
6. Geo. B. Grinnell	Grin-Dismal River, Neb., Sept., '77	4⅜	24	19½

5, Twelve points. 6, Eighteen points; very symmetrical.

WHITE GOAT

7. T. Roosevelt	Big Hole, Mont., Aug., '89	5 1/16	9 1/16
8. Walter James	Swift Current R. Mont., '92	5¾	10¼

ELK

9. P. Liebinger	Indian Creek, Mont., Dec., '87	6⅛	50½	51
10. T. Roosevelt	Ocean Pass, Sept., '91	6¾	56½	46⅝
11. T. Roosevelt	Ocean Pass, Sept., '91	7¼	50¼

10, Sixteen points. 11 and 12, each twelve points.

MULE DEER

12. T. Roosevelt	Medora, N. D., Oct., '84	5	26⅞	28½
13. C. G. Gunther's Sons		5¼	26	28¼
14. P. Liebinger	Madison R., Mont., Nov. 4, '89	4¾	25½	25½

12, Twenty-eight points. 13, Mounted animal, thirty-four points. 14, Thirty-five points.

CARIBOU

15. T. Roosevelt	Kootenai, B. C., Sept., '88	5½	32
16. W. W. Hart & Co.		5½	40
17. C. G. Gunther's Sons		5⅝	50
18. C. G. Gunther's Sons		6¼	37

17, Barren ground type; forty-three points. 18, Woodland type; heavy horns and more palmation; thirty points.

MUSK OX

19. W. W. Hart & Co.			20¾	20½

19, Very large; height of boss thirteen inches.

BUFFALO BULLS

20. F. Sauter	Montana, 1894	11	[illegible]	[illegible]
21. T. Roosevelt	Medora, N. D., Sept., '83	12¼	[illegible]	[illegible]
22. P. Liebinger	Western Montana, 1883	12 [illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

MOOSE

[illegible] Sauter	Canada	7⅝	34¼	35⅛
[illegible] Chesuncook, 1887		8½	41	41½
				21¾
[illegible] Harr[illegible]
[illegible]			38	37½
				19½
[illegible]			33	35

[illegible] Twenty-seven points. 26. Twenty-four [illegible] for size and evenness of brow palmation.

THE ARKANSAS GAME LAW

EUREKA SPRINGS, ARK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—For the benefit of sportsmen who contemplate visiting Arkansas next Fall, I give below a true copy of the law relating to non-residents hunting in this state, and also the opinion of Chas. D. James, city attorney, of Eureka Springs:

SEC. 7356. A tax of ten dollars is hereby levied upon all non-resident trappers, hunters, seiners or netters of fish who may follow trapping, hunting, seining or netting of fish in this state.

SEC. 7357. Before any non-resident may be permitted to follow trapping, hunting, seining or netting of fish in this state, he shall procure a license from the county clerk, countersigned by the collector of the county in which he proposes to trap, hunt, sein or net fish.

SEC. 7358. Any non-resident who fails to comply with the preceding section of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in the sum of twenty-five dollars. * * * * It shall be unlawful to export any fish or game from this state until April 12, 1901. It is lawful to export, if shipped openly, the following: Beavers, opossums, hares or rabbits, groundhogs or woodchucks, raccoons, squirrels, snipes or plovers, ducks and geese.

Open season: Deer, August 1 to February 1; turkeys, September 1 to May 1; quails, October 1 to March 1; prairie chickens protected for five years.

Lawyer James and Judge White gave it as their opinions that the law was not intended to apply to sportsmen, tourists or health-seekers who may come to Arkansas, but to parties who come for the purpose of hunting and trapping for profit, or to ship game out of the state. Mr. James defended (and acquitted) a party of sportsmen from Illinois who were arrested and tried at my old home, Mammoth Spring, some years ago.

CROCUS.

NOTES

LIEUTENANT PETER GIBSON of Cincinnati says that for some years he has been well satisfied that frogs are destructive of shore and marsh birds, such as snipes, plovers, killdees and sandpipers, and that a few days ago he had a practical demonstration of the fact that his views in this regard were correct. A fish dealer in Cincinnati, Mr. Cain, recently sent to the Cincinnati Proof Club, a local organization composed of shooters and fishermen, a live green frog, which he claimed he had witnessed swallow a live sparrow which he had placed in a wire coop in which his frogship was confined. At first it was believed Mr. Cain was perpetrating one of his North of Ireland witticisms, but he was not. The frog in question was placed in a box and handed to Police Lieutenant Mark Langdan and the shooter Wick, who called up Mr. Gibson and Mr. Schuler, the Vine Street caterer. The doings of the frog were related to them and the frog shown. Quite a group gathered about listening, and though Mr. Frog looked a bit plump, the story was doubted. However, at the request of the gentlemen present Mr. Schuler killed the subject, which, when opened in their presence, satisfactorily verified Mr. Cain's claim. When dissected a full-grown sparrow entire was found in the frog's stomach, proving the fish dealer's statement to be true and confirming Mr. Gibson's former views. An instance recently came to our knowledge confirming this interesting observation. A gentleman who was fishing in the Turtle waters, Wis., this Summer, caught a number of frogs with red flannel, for diversion and frog's legs, and noticing one with a largely distended stomach, he opened it and found within a downy, wild duckling, which evidently had been swallowed quite recently.

I HAVE been out through the country here the past few weeks, and I find there are a fair number of quails left over, and if the season is favorable for hatching and raising we will have our usual sport next Winter. And speaking of quails reminds me of what I think is a very good one on a friend of mine who is a sportsman of national reputation. While I was in New York city last Spring he invited me to dine with him on a certain evening. I accepted, and on our way up town we rehashed several days spent in the fields behind our faithful setters. On arriving at his suite of nicely furnished rooms and glancing around I could at once understand I was in the home of a sportsman. There were deer heads from the wilds of the Adirondacks, grouse from [illegible] hills of Pennsylvania, trophies [illegible], pictures of his dogs on point, [illegible] rested especially on a pair of [illegible] knew at once they were his [illegible] called the time and place where he killed them (wiping my eye over one of them), spoke of them as being unusually fine specimens, and how they had been mounted in a handsome frame by a celebrated artist in that line. After he had described them and pointed out how true to nature they looked—one with a grain of wheat in its mouth, the other standing by casting a wistful eye—I asked him why he didn't get a cock and a hen instead of two hens. "Well, I will just cuss and swear," he remarked, "do you know I never noticed that before, and none of my friends have either." If he does not come here on his annual hunt next Winter I shall see that he gets a cock quail to put in that case as the proper companion for the two hens.

Charlotte, N. C. H.

IF every railroad in this country would follow the example of the Great Northern Railway, the Montana Central Railway, the Willmar and Sioux Falls Railway, the Duluth, Watertown and Pacific Railway, the Eastern Railway Co. of Minnesota, and the Pacific Coast lines, which have combined and issued large circulars giving the open seasons on all kinds of game in the states through which they run, they would do much toward the enforcement of the game laws and still more to prevent the laws being violated by that class of men who kill game not for sport or recreation, but for the dimes they can get for it when marketed. At the head of the poster above referred to is printed in large type the following notice to employees of the roads: "All employees of the above named companies are hereby notified that they will not be allowed to place, or allow to be carried in the baggage, freight or other cars belonging to said companies, between stations, wild game of any kind, except during and between dates in compliance with law, as herein specified." This is virtually a notice to those who hunt for profit that if they kill game illegally they cannot, over these lines, get it to market. All honor to the roads above named; may others emulate their commendable example.

IT is not generally known among New Jersey sportsmen that important changes in the game laws of this state have recently been made. By an act of the legislature, approved March 22, 1895, the state was divided in two sections. The northern game district comprises the counties of Sussex, Warren, Hunterdon, Somerset, Morris, Passaic, Bergen, Hudson, Essex, Union, Middlesex and Mercer. The southern game district comprises all the remaining counties of the state. The open season in the northern district for hares, rabbits, quails, ruffed grouse, gray, black or fox squirrels, European pheasants, European partridges, European grouse and woodcocks is from October 25 to December 10 inclusive. In the southern district the open season for the above is from November 15 to January 1 inclusive. It will be noticed that the Summer woodcock shooting is done away with and the squirrel law changed so that poachers can no longer shoot quails and other birds under the pretext of squirrel hunting. These are very good changes and I think will please all sportsmen who have the protection of game at heart.

Chatham, N. J. H. D. OGDEN.

AT a meeting of the Green Wing Gun Club, held on Saturday, June 8, it was decided to extend the membership from twenty-five to thirty-five members. The secretary's report showed the club to be in a flourishing condition. The club's preserve now covers 5,200 acres in Bureau and Putnam counties, Illinois. They extend two miles along each bank of the Illinois River and include Coleman's, Spring, Mud and several smaller lakes. The shooting and fishing are excellent, and access is easy. The secretary of the club is Mr. F. J. Sansome, 36 Rock Island depot, Chicago, who will gladly furnish all information.

HEREAFTER the official badge of the Maryland Game and Fish Protective Association will be a black and gold button with a gun and oar crossed dividing it into four sections. In the upper section will be the word "Maryland," in the two middle sections will be the letters G. and F., and in the bottom section will be the words "Protective Association." The association has also had printed a number of circulars which it will distribute over the state. These circulars tell the objects of the association and admonish all that a secret service has been established to detect violators of the game laws.

MR. CHAS. PAYNE of Wichita, Kan., made the AMERICAN FIELD a pleasant call last week Friday. He was on his way home from New York, whither he had been with a dozen deer, a few swans and some smaller game that he had sold to be shipped to foreign countries. Mr. Payne is a strong friend and a steady patron of the AMERICAN FIELD and makes it a point to pay us a visit whenever he can spare the time.

A CORRESPONDENT at Washington, D. C., writing us regarding the Shocco Game Association of North Carolina (not Shoceo, as incorrectly printed in our issue of June 8), says he saw recently a letter from the gamekeeper on the club's preserve, in Warren County, N. C., in which the statement was made that birds are very abundant there, to use his exact language: "Birds are fairly swarming the place."

THE new game law of North Dakota goes into effect Monday, July 1, after which time every non-resident who wants to shoot within that state will have to pay $25 for the privilege.

NEW PATENTS

The following patents in the sporting goods line have just been issued and are reported especially for the AMERICAN FIELD by Joseph H. Hunter, attorney at law and solicitor of patents, Washington, D. C.:

Catcher's mitt, Albert F. Burtt, Ashland, N. H.

Marine velocipede, Luther V. Moulton, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Pneumatic bicycle saddle, Warren H. Craig, Lawrence, Mass.

Preventing rust in gun barrels, Harry R. Layton, Leon, Ia.

Bicycle, George Seyfang, Buffalo, N. Y.

Bicycle gearing, George L. Darling, Simcoe, Canada.

Hunting

FIXTURES

Brunswick Fur Club's annual foxhound trials, October 28, ——. B. S. Turpin, secretary.

Dixie Red Fox Club's first annual meet, Rowland, Ala., October —. J. H. Wallatce Jr., secy.-treasurer.

National Fox-Hunters' Association's second annual meet, Owingsville, Ky., November 18, etc. H. L. Means, secretary.

JEALOUSY AMONG FOX-HUNTERS

BY P. H. BRYSON

I thought all the slandering was confined to the politicians in their scramble for office until I commenced to "rub up against" the various owners of foxhounds. The politicians, to use the vernacular of the street, are "not in it" with the owners of the different strains of hounds. The latter nose out a colder "trail" until a "jump" takes place, then the fur begins to fly.

The northern fox-hunters, in shooting a fox in front of the hounds when the latter is in full cry, argue that foxes are so plentiful in Maine they are a pest and that no living hounds can catch a fox in that section.

The fox-hunters of the West and South, that have a better country to ride to hounds, argue that any fox-hunter who would shoot a fox in front of a pack of hounds is a murderer and unfit to be called sportsman.

It is only a difference of location and environments. The fox-hunter in Maine is as much justified in shooting a fox in front of his pack as the Southerner is in condemning the practice, for both are right when you consider the peculiar conditions of each. The foxes are plentiful in Maine, and shooting is the only way they can be held in check, and the only way the brush can be obtained. In the South foxes are not so plentiful, and you can hole or catch the fox and not be troubled with over-production of foxes as they are in Maine. Then, in some parts of the South you can ride to hounds, something you cannot do in Maine. It is another case when both parties are right and both wrong. The Southerner would be wrong, under the circumstances, in shooting a fox in the South—the man from Maine would commit an error in not shooting, for the reason stated.

The old saying, "Love me, love my dog," holds good to-day, as much so as when this trite saying first started, many years ago. You have only to meet an owner of foxhounds and begin talking of some other fellow's hounds and extolling their merits, and you will soon make a regular snapping turtle of your listener. Before you commended the other fellow's hounds he was as gentle as a cooing dove.

You may mention Spears' hounds in a group of sportsmen, and you will soon hear someone say: "My old Sallie will make Spears' hounds lie down in a fence corner in two hours. Spear's hounds hunt very well and trail well, if nothing is in front of them. They have no speed, and do not run fast enough to get warm. You ought to see Payne's white dog lead them. Why, he only hits the hilltops as he passes over, he is so fast."

You think Sallie and the white hound are wonders, and you think you want that stock. You meet Spears and ask:

"Have you ever seen McCargo's old Sallie and Payne's white dog in a fox chase?"

"Well, yes; but, confidentially, I would not give a d—— for either of them. Old Sallie is nothing but a sheep-killer and never had her mouth on a fox in her life, because he would never run one; as for Payne's white hound, he will make a run-over in going two hundred yards, and he is such a fool he will never stop until he hits a rabbit or opossum track. He cares nothing for foxes—never ran one a mile in his life. If I owned him I would make fertilizer out of him."

You conclnde you are mistaken and do not want these. Yon have heard of the wonderful runs of the Wild Goose pack, and meeting Bob Gates ask him if he was ever in a chase with them.

"Why, my dear fellow," he says, "I have seen them kill a hundred red foxes. Callie Yates and old Ranm were the graudest red-fox hounds In the world. Why, Attorney-General Lewis tells me one of their pupples he has struck a trall in the road and followed it five miles to a farmhouse and bayed the fox in the barn until a chain had to be put on him and he was taken away. A farmer carried a fox aloug the road on a horse, in a bag, a week before. I tell you, they have the coldest noses of any foxhounds in the United States."

You know Gen. Lewis and know he is a leader in the church. Knowing Gen. Lewis so well for a trnthful man, thls must be so.

You read in the AMERICAN FIELD that the July hounds of Georgia are the red-fox foxhounds of the world. A fox never gets away from them. We have the word of such men as Capt. Luttrell and many other owuers of Julys. Then they were second in the Brunswick Fur Club's trials, competing against all the celebrated strains of foxhonnds in the United States, including Goodmans, Avents, Wild Goose, Whitlock, Shaggies, Poolers and others. You now think you have certainly struck the right kiud. You will get the July and the Wild Goose and you will combine the two, and you will have hounds that yon can invite your huuting friends out to see pull down au old red fox in au hour.

It is said Jim Avent has one of the largest aud best kennels of setters in the United States; that he keeps them for the money he makes out of them, bnt he owns and runs hounds for the pure love of the sport. It is said he had one of the best trained packs of foxhounds in the Unitcd States. They will be running with the scent breast high, or in sight, for that matter, and in full cry, but at a toot of Avent's horn they will shut up and run mute, so the other fellow cannot hark his hounds in and get au eveu start with Avent; a peculiar toot on the horn, and they are in full cry again two miles ahead of the other fellow's hounds, which cannot close up this gap.

Seeing Avent as they pass through here on his way home from De Vall's Bluff, I said:

"Jim, have you ever seen the Wild Goose pack?"

With a toss of his head to one side, he said:

"Why, did I not offer to run Gates and Lewis for any amount, and prove the Wild Goose hounds were duffers, and my old hounds, Fox and Hunter, and the others of my pack, could make them quit in one chase? I have been unable to get up any mouey on it. I sent my kennelman, Moody, dowu with a pack to the Red Fox Farm, their home, for a trial, but no foxes were there and no run was had."

"How about the July hounds of Georgia, Jim?"

"As for Julys, they are shepherds, and uo one wanting hounds would pick them up in the road. Last Winter I took my pack to Aiken, S. C., where Mr. Hitchcock of New York has a hunting lodge, and he had eighty English hounds, all imported. In one week he was so in love with my houuds he sold all but four of the English. These he is breeding to my hounds. I sold him twenty couples of my hounds."

You are now satisfied you are on the right track and think of getting some hounds of Avent. You happen to meet the owner of a pack of Julys and ask him with au air of superiority if he ever saw Avent's hounds run a fox.

"Oh, Avent goes to DeVall's Bluff and runs young gray foxes—of course, he catches some, any cur dog would do that. Why, there is a gray fox at Hickory Valley Avent has uever succeeded in holing, much less catching it, and he has run it for years. If he jumped a red fox it would run his hounds to a cold trail in an hour. Avent kills some cats, but you know they are only run a quarter before treeing, and Avent takes his gun along and shoots them. He is afraid they will jump, as they often do when you get uear them in a tree, aud his hounds cannot catch them. There is a deer in Hatchie Bottom that Avent runs. The deer is gray with age; he has growu old in the service."

You are now disheartened and do not know what to do, when uuexpectedly a friend greets you, and drawing you aside asks you to join them in a camp hunt after "Old Bob," a noted fox at Keiser Mountain. He informs you all the owners of celebrated packs will be there; McCargo and Payne with their white hound, aud others that are so fast they only hit the hilltops as they pass over; Gen. Slack with his celebrated Goodmans; Maj. Young with his pack of Whitlocks, Shaggies, and other stralns he has; Avent with Hunter and other uubeaten hounds; Yates with the pick of the Wild Goose; Spears with some Julys and other picked hounds; Alley with his Virginia Redbone and Irish that never quit, and the farmer boys near by with their "yaller dogs." Such auother opportunity may never occur agaln to see these celebrated packs in actual competition, and after "Old Bob," that had never been holed. (A full description of the death of "Old Bob" appeared lu the AMERICAN FIELD of August 11, 1894.) How conld you stay away under snch clrcnmstances? Of course you would be there.

Christmas was the appointed tlme for the camp hunt. I counted the days to Christmas, as a chlld does in expectancy of Sauta Claus filling his stocklngs. The "boys" were there. Geu. Slack, the great criminal lawyer, who would build a mouument to his favorites, the Goodmans, as hlgh as the pyramids; McCargo and Payne, wlth their flyers; and many others. Every man wanted rules to fit his hounds. They wrangled until I thought they would do as Congress—uothing. At last all agreed to start their packs.

At daylight the next morning breakfast was announced, and for the once all quit talking "dog," and ate sausage, bread and drank coffee. Some present did not sleep. Like Macbeth they "murdered sleep," each desiring to be up the next morning before the other fellow saw him send the best honnd of his pack down the creek to be held where the fox was expected to run, and where the fresh houud could be put in after the others had ruu a couple of hours, aud then its owuer could claim it led the pack.

One hundred horsemen mounted when the horu blew to mount, and the same number of hounds cavorted around and gave tongue. Soou some of the hounds were after a fox; others were after sheep; and still others were crying a cat.

The fox, proving to be a young one, was holed in two honrs; the sheep were killed, aud so was the cat. It was a grand field day—and everyone was satisfied except the owner of the sheep, and the man who owned the hounds that killed them had to pay for them.

A council of war was held, and it was unanimously voted that the fox holed should be dug out, and every hound held while the fox was given twenty minutes' start; the men that turned their hounds loose before the pistol was fired, the signal to turn the dogs loose, were to be shot, and the sheriff of Marshall County, with a double-barreled gun, was assigned that duty. There was a fine chance to see all the hounds on an even start. They were aligued, facing each other, and twenty feet apart. The fox was to run the gantlet between the hounds, so all could see it was a fox, not a cat or a sheep. The fox was ready in a bag, aud the owners and their friends held the hounds.

When the little fox hit the ground every houud was loose, and iu the confusion the fox slipped away.

Payne said his white hound mistook a small yellow cur for the fox and ran it a half mile. A low voice asked why he rau it so far before catchiug it? Payne was dumb as an oyster after that. McCargo's Old Sallie, being accustomed to running sheep and seeing none, did not get in. Some others explained that their hounds, not being used to such a racket, got left at the post. Gen. Slack's hounds were near the fox when it hit the ground, and it ran them to a cold trail in a mile. The other owners of celebrated packs were like the United States senators about the tariff; they were gesticulating and explaining the situation to the satisfaction of each other, though to no one else.

Meauwhile the "one gallus farm boys' yaller dogs" were making the welkin ring after the fox; and the boy soon rode in on a mule, and had the dead fox tied to his saddle.

I asked the sheriff why he did not shoot those who turned their hounds loose before the signal, and he said he did not have a Gatling gun, and if he had shot those turning their hounds loose before the signal, there would not have been enough of the hundred left to bury the dead.

I asked the farmer's boy who owned the "yaller dogs" that canght the fox if they would run anything else but a fox. He said:

"Yas; bear, deer, turkeys and niggers; the latter when they steal my watermelous."

I asked if they had a pedigree, and he said they were "like their daddy and mammy, jist dog."

Gen. Slack, like Bauquo's ghost, would not down at the bidding of the others present. Mounting a stump, he said: "To compare the Goodman hounds to others was like comparing Thersites to Hercules, dunghill to diamond, mud to marble, a singed Thomas cat to a Bengal tiger, a whining cur puppy to a roaring lion." There being no bricks or eggs around, in two minutes he looked like a mud statue.

St. Louis, Mo.

NOTES

THE chief attraction at the Paris dog show last month was the presence of several packs of hounds exhibited in kennel buildings, the interiors of whieh were deeorated with boars' and stags' heads and other trophies and the insignia of the chase. In attendance were the hunt servants in "pink," and among them those whose special duty it is to carry and play the horn, for in France the appearance and use of this tuneful implement differ somewhat from the American and English ideas of its purpose. Of course, certain notes on the hunting horn convey certain meaning [illegible] men on either side of the Atlantic, but in [illegible] Isles the horn is nsed by the hunts[illegible] means of commnnicating with his h[illegible] liberal nse of it is not liked by most [illegible] however, the horn is a cumbrous lo[illegible] encircles the body and is carri[illegible] especially appointed for that purpose. Various tunes are nsed to denote the different points in the progress of the sport. Thus, one tune is played when the hounds appear at the meet, another when they are thrown into covert, another when they find, another when they check or make a loss, and so on until they kill or run to ground, which is of course accompanied by special musical honors. The object of all this is to keep the hunting party aware of the whereabouts of the pack in the large forests so frequently found in France, but one cannot help thinking that this signal service must be interfered with seriously sometimes when the musician's horse puts him down and gets away from him.

POLO is in no way associated with fox-hunting, beyond the fact that many players are good men to hounds and many fox-hunters take more or less interest in this excellent game, but knowing that some of our readers find room in their hearts for both and still have a warm corner left for a good horse we quote a few prices obtained at the sale of the polo ponies owned by the Messrs. Peat, three brothers and perhaps the most famous polo players in the British Empire. The ponies, eleven of them, were sold at Tattersall's in London, England, and realized $12,875—a total that will appear enormous to players in the United States and Canada. The best prices obtained were: $2,300 for a mare named Dynamite, $2,000 for Nimble, $1,800 for Gay Lad and $1,550 for Sister Sue.

ATTENTION is called by Mr. Roger D. Williams to the fact that Mr. Geo. W. Pierce advertises puppies by a foxhound "who took first prize at New England Kennel dog show, Boston, 1894," whereas his (Mr. Williams') Argonaut was the winner in the open dog class: and he points out that there is a great difference between an open elass win and a puppy class win in foxhounds at Boston. Omitting the words "puppy class" was apt to mislead those who have not the records handy for reference.

Fish and Fishing

FIXTURES

Chicago Fly Casting Club's open-to-the-world tournament, August 24. F. B. Davidson, secretary.

LAKE AND STREAM FISHING IN CALIFORNIA

BY E. H. W.

The continued spell of beautiful weather since the second week in January of this year served to place the coast streams in splendid condition, newspaper reports to the coutrary notwithstanding, and as the first day of April—the opening of the seasou—approached I became more and more desirous of reveling in my favorite pastime. There is not a more enjoyable trip in this beautiful state than to indulge in the whipping of one of the many streams to be found in the great redwood belt, which extends about three hundred miles along the coast with a width of about fifty miles, the scenery throughout being the wildest and grandest imaginable; and for him who can devote sufficient time to dive into the dark mazes of this lordly forest, where the ring of the woodman's ax is never heard, there is a great treat as well as surprise in waitiug.

There is a little settlement called Boulder Creek, uestling in a hollow of the Santa Cruz Mountains, at the terminus of a spur road some ten or twelve miles from the city of Santa Cruz, charmiugly picturesque in its wild surroundings aud a favorite resort for anglers. There many streams within easy distauce afford spleudid sport. About fourteen miles almost due west exists a forest primeval—a tangled wilderness—seldom penetrated by man and known as the Big Basin, which for grandeur of scenery certainly equals if it does uot excel anything I have seen throughout this vast state excepting the Yosemite Valley; and, although I have for years threatened to peep into this unexplored region, just as I might be about to start someone would tell me of a trout a mile long on the Truckee, Upper Sacramento or elsewhere, and the Big Basiu would be left for the next season.

However, on the evening of Friday, April 5, of this year, at 6:30 p. m., I landed from the train [illegible] villa and went directly to a clean and [illegible] hotel—locatiug there for the time bein[illegible] and took notes of the surroundings.

Now be it known that in each of the many hamlets of [illegible] state there is to be found at least one youth who is looked upon as the best fisherman in the county, a recognized authority upon matters piscatorial, and, [illegible] guide and a good companion. It did [illegible] come in contact with that celebrity [illegible] and before retiring all preparations were made [illegible] saddle horses at 3 o'clock the next morning.

This particular guide was a ruddy-faced youth—of about sixteen next circus—was thoroughly posted in the Basin and knew every inch of the land therein, having traveled in and out at all hours of the night and during every variety of climatic conditions.

Quite a friendship sprang up between myself and the young man who owned the hotel, and ere long we were handling each other by our front names, and, as he had provided a splendid lunch for me and was something of a fisherman, I returned the compliment by providing him with a horse in order that he might go with us; in return for which I slept in the best bed in the house.

The next morning I awoke at 2 o'clock and waited for Billy (the proprietor) to rise; at half-past two he rapped on my door. I opened it and there he stood with his arms full of lunch—enough for a dozen men—part of which was stored away in my large creel, part in his, part in the guide's; some we ate then and there, and the balance was carried in a sack.

Just at 3 'clock three horsemen trotted their steeds quietly out of town, plunging into the surrounding forest while the crescent of the morning moon peeped through the forest foliage as if in approval. A slight tinge of frost in the air served to make the blood course swiftly through the veins and the exhalations of the wild honeysuckle and the mountain lilies loaded the air with a perfume almost intoxicating in its deliciousness. Although the darkness was Stygian in its denseness, our horses seem to see every rut, stone, fallen tree or other obstacle in the road, as we swept along beneath the overhanging branches of the redwoods which at times almost unhorsed some member of the party. However, in a half hour we reached an old mill almost at the end of the road, eight miles from our starting point. Billy rapped at the door of the long cookhouse, and said: "Sam, get up! What are you fellows doing? It's time you were up." Suddenly a slide shot back and revealed the jolliest-faced fellow I ever saw, and he was just as good as he looked.

"Hello, Billy," he said; "where are you fellows going, fishing? Well, I guess you want something to eat and a cup of hot coffee, don't you?

As we had not had any hot coffee that morning, you had better believe this was a joyful sound to our ears.

Presently the door of the kitchen was opened, and in a few moments a fire was roaring in the big range while the coffee-pot was singing a merry tune. In just one hour's time we were again in the saddle, and with fresh cigars lighted we trotted along for about two or three hundred yards when the road abruptly terminated at the bank of a small stream, crossing which Johnny hunted around in the brush for a minute or two, struck an almost invisible trail and started up the mountain side. This trail, not over a foot wide, carried us up and down a cañon, through dense brush and under trees so heavy with foliage that we could not see where we were going. Sometimes we were obliged to jump fallen trees and across gullies in the narrow path. Such a wild and perilous ride I never undertook. Just at 8 o'clock Johnny pulled up suddenly, and said:

"Listen!"

"What's the matter, Johnny?" I asked.

"The Wardell; don't you hear it?" he replied; and with a yell he started his horse at a breakneck gait down the mountain side. Gee whiz! What a ride that last half-mile was; I'll never forget it as long as I live! Finally we arrived at the stream, and a beauty it was, too. I may add that I have never seen a stream in such splendid condition as this was on the opening of the season, and the weather—well, it was just something to brag about.

At this point we stopped several minutes to take in the scene, and following a well-defined trail downstream for two miles came to an old shanty, called the Doherty Cabin, so torn by storm and elements that only the front and rear remained intact. We led our horses inside, took off their saddles and fed them with a liberal supply of oats which we had brought for the purpose. It took but a short space of time for me to don my fishing boots, prepare my outfit and step to the bank of the stream, where I made a cast. No sooner had I gently dropped a Katy May at the head of a beautiful riffle, when a vicious yank told me I had one.

"First fish!" I exclaimed, as I drew in a ten-inch trout [illegible] more drew forth another prize. [illegible] were then ready, and advised [illegible] stream, to the slippery rocks, [illegible] wider, less brushy and more and larger fishes would be found; so on we trudged for about a mile and a half, reaching the objective point at just 9 o'clock, and fished until 2:30 p. m., when we were obliged to return to our horses, which consumed until 5 p. m.

This trip may be said to have been an experimental one. However, Johnny turned out over two hundred fine trout as the result of purely bait fishing, while "yonrs truly" had not more than sixty, but they were all "gems," as the result of purely fly-casting. This must be a grand stream to tap later, in the Fall of the year, when the water is lower and the feed scarce. I intend touching it off during the Fall, bnt will require three full days to make the trip properly. On this trip there are many small streams to cross, with banks so steep that you have to dismount, allowing the horse to pick his way, crossing as best you can either by wading or on fallen trees.

When returning, we came to the last tree we were obliged to jnmp. My creel was fastened to the pommel of the saddle, and the little mare prepared to make her leap. She made the leap all right, but as she landed on the other side the saddle gave way and I landed down the hillside, about ten feet away, the saddle under her belly. While I was strnggling in the brush, the mare, of course, became thoroughly frightened and ran down the hillside, kicking and plunging, and jumped into the stream waist deep; and one wonld have thought, from the noise, that a sixty-pound salmon was sporting in the pool. Through the dipping branches of the alders I saw my basket floating down-stream, and with a "ruling passion strong in death" my time and attention were devoted entirely to its salvage, leaving the mare to take eare of herself. The boys, a little in the lead by this time, were convulsed with laughter, although at first they thought I had been badly kicked as I rolled off. However, Johnny had his rubber boots on and jumped into the stream, catching the mare as she was kieking and trying to get up the opposite bank; after righting the saddle and towing her ashore we started once more on our return, laughing over the ineident, Billy and Johnny each thinking I had a heap of nerve to go for the basket instead of the mare with the prospect of a ten-mile walk; but I would not have lost those trout for anything.

We arrived in town at 9 o'clock that night, not forgetting in the meantime to leave a nice mess of trout for our friends at the mill. The most beautiful sight on the trip was the golden glow of the setting sun on the purple eañons across which we could see the faint glimmer of some shepherd's eampfire, and from the depths of which one could hear "the drowsy tinklings lull the distant fold." But say, Mister, that twenty-eight miles' horsebaek ride didn't do a thing to me! Just the same, I stood up all the way on the train, coming home.

Since that time I have enjoyed another trouting trip of which I will write later.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN FISHERIES SOCIETY

The twenty-fourth convention of the American Fisheries Society was held at the Aquarium, Battery Park, New York, on June 12. Among those present were Fish Commissioner A. N. Cheney of New York, Tarleton H. Bean, Superintendent of the New York Aquarium, Fish Commissioner J. J. Stranahan of Ohio, Fish Commissioner John W. Titcomb of Vermont, Fish Commissioner H. F. Hurlbut of Massachusetts, Fish Commissioner N. R. Buller of Rhode Island, J. W. Hoxie of the Rhode Island Fish Commission, Fish Commissioner H. W. Davis of Michigan, ex-Fish Commissioner L. D. Huntington of New York, C. L. Gray, Edward P. Doyle of Staten Island, Secretary of the American Fisheries Society, C. E. Jennings of New York, J. Harrington Keene of Greenwich, Conn.; G. Hanson of Osceola, Wis.; W. DeC. Ravenel, First Assistant United States Fish Commissioner, Fish Commissioner Herschel Whitaker of Michigan, Frederick Mather, Superintendent of the State Fish Hatchery, Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y.; Fish Commissioners H. C. Ford and James A. Dale of Pennsylvania, Fish Commissioner William R. Weed of New York, Frank J. Amsden of Rochester, N. Y.; H. B. Mansfield, United States Navy; Fish Commissioner Barnet H. Davis of New York, Fish Commissioner Henry H. Lyman of New York, Fish Commissioner Edward Thompson of Northport, N. Y.; Fish Commissioner William H. Bowman of Rochester, ex-Fish Commissioner Robert Hamilton of Massachusetts, David G. Hackeney of Fort Plain, N. Y.; State Senator Jacob Rice of Ulster County, N. Y.; Superintendent of Fisheries Monroe Green of Rochester, N. Y.; Fish Commissioner George F. Peabody of Wisconsin, Dr. Bushrod W. James of Philadelphia, Fish Commissioner H. P. Frothingham and George Pfeiffer of New Jersey.

A number of interesting papers were read and matters of fish culture were discussed.

Fish Commissioner Whitaker of Michigan read a paper entitled "Observations on the Moral Phases of Modern Fish Culture." He argued that fishing was not a right, but a privilege, that the fish belonged to the whole people, and that therefore fishermen themselves had no moral right to complain of restrictive legislation. And he spoke convincingly of the decadence of the supply of food fishes in the great lakes through wanton wastefulness, and the necessity for very stringent protection if the lakes are not to be entirely decimated of fish.

Mr. J. N. Van Cleaf addressed the convention upon the matter of the decadence of American trout streams, arguing that cultivation of prairies and cutting of forests in the West had decreased the rainfall in the East, from which cause many streams had grown smaller or even had dried up.

Fish Commissioner Henry H. Lyman appealed to the American people to refrain from drinking the water of streams into which the refuse of manufactories was conducted, for if the fishes living in such streams become sickly, surely the water is unfit for human beings to use.

Dr. James wished legislation which would abolish fish weirs, and also to close for two years streams in which fry was planted, so that the young fishes could grow.

Fish Commissioner H. C. Ford of Pennsylvania reported that encouraging progress had been made in his state; that the Delaware River was now the best shad stream on the Atlantic coast, and that salmon also were thriving there; but the United States Leather Trust had prevented legislation that would have protected the fishes in many streams from being killed by tannery refuse. He lamented that the Susquehanna River fisheries were fast deteriorating, and said the cause was that upon fourteen miles of the river the use of baskets was allowed.

Mr. Mather gave some interesting information in regard to fishes and fishing half a century ago, before the advent of railroads. In those days the Hudson River supplied all the fish markets of New York, Albany, and even the interior almost to Boston was supplied by peddlers from the Hudson; now the steel highways carry fishes of all kinds all over the country to every town of size. New York first hatched shad in 1868. The extension of railroads, Mr. Mather held, rendered necessary the artificial propagation of fish. Without artificial propagation the supply of fish in the Eastern states would have been exhausted long ago.

Mr. Tomlin of Duluth, Minn., read a paper on the distribution of brook trout.

Mr. Amsden and Mr. Doyle got into a discussion of the game laws. Mr. Amsden denounced the new game law of New York permitting game coming from 300 miles beyond the borders of the state to be sold at all seasons of the year. He said that New York had been made a fence—a receiver of stolen goods—a fosterer of criminals in her sister states. Secretary Doyle tried to smooth things out by saying that the new law put extraordinary safeguards about the shipping of game to New York from the Indian Territory and the West, and the chairman smoothed the troubled waters by ruling that game discussions were not in order at a fish convention.

Prof. Bean spoke upon the extensive work of the United States Fish Commission; he said the national commission could propagate but could not protect, the latter duty must be performed by state legislatures and fish commissions.

The recent decimation of various waters by a fungus on the fishes was discussed. Mr. Bowman of Rochester said salt put into the water would cure the sick fishes. Mr. Mather said salt was all right in its way, but that salt could not cure a fish whose skin was eaten through by fungus. Mr. Bowman created much merriment by retorting:

"No, salt won't cure dead fish, but it will come mighty near saving live ones."

Upon this subject Mr. Ford said salt had been used with success at the fish hospital at Allentown, Pa.

On the motion of Mr. Bowman, a committee of five was appointed to secure legislation in the different states looking to the cultivation of food fishes in preference to game fishes. The committee will also try to secure stringent laws against polluting streams and against catching any fish in the spawning season.

An election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, L. D. Huntington of New York; vice-president, Calvert N. Spenseley of Wisconsin; recording secretary, Tarleton H. Bean of New York; corresponding secretary, H. B. Mansfield of New York; treasurer, F. J. Amsden of New York; executive committee, Henry C. Ford of Pennsylvania, H. P. Frothingham of New Jersey, Herschel Whitaker of Michigan, H. H. Cary of Georgia, W. DeC. Ravenel of Washington, D. C., Edward P. Doyle of New York, and W. L. May of Nebraska.

NOTES

TARPON fishing here is "out of sight," as the boys say. The past week has been one of the best for fishing on the bay or at Aransas Pass, this season: there are at present about seventy-five people at the Pass, engaged in fishing, bathing, sailing, and having an all-round good time. Many tarpons, redfish, trout and jewfish have been caught. Mr. W. Y. Sedam, of Denver, Colo., landed one tarpon six feet and five inches long; and one of the fishermen recently had quite an experience, one that he will not soon forget. After having hooked a very large tarpon, which weighed fully 150 pounds, and having worked faithfully with it for some time he was about to land it, when the fish was overtaken by a monstrous shark and all the good fisherman got for his trouble was the head of the tarpon, the shark having taken the other part for his share. There was quite a sprinkling of the T. P. A. men on the Bay that did not go to Mexico with the excursion, for they were true sportsmen and knew that they could enjoy a better treat at Rockport and the Pass, with the tarpon, than chasing fleas and eating tamalies in our sister republic. They said Uncle Sam and Texas are good enough for us: their heads are level. A special train arrived here the evening of June 14, over the I. & G. N. R. R., bringing Mr. James Barker, general passenger and ticket agent of the M., K. & T. R. R., from St. Louis, Mo.; W. G. Crush, general passenger agent for Texas of the same road, from Dallas; J. W. Maxwell, general superintendent, of Dallas; J. W. Allen, general freight agent, Dallas; W. Irving-Adams, of New York; Gayton A. Douglass, of Chicago; and R. W. Maguire, of St. Louis. The gentlemen left the next night for the world famed tarpon fishing grounds at Rockport and Aransas Pass. Mr. L. F. Meyers of this city accompanied them from here; they expect to stay a week or ten days. Dr. Wilson of Denison, Texas, landed a six-foot-seven-inch tarpon, at Corpus Christi, last week.

San Antonio, Tex. L. F. M.

THE Niagara County Anglers' Club of Lockport, N. Y., had its tenth annual outing, at Youngstown, at the outlet of Niagara River, on June 7. Fifty-seven ardent fishermen started from Lockport, by special train, at 6 a. m., took a steamer from Lewiston to Youngstown, and by eight o'clock sides had been chosen, boats secured and all hands were out fishing. The weather was fine and all other conditions seemed favorable, but the bass simply did not wish to be caught, and the score was very small despite the utmost skill of the anglers. Up to between 2 and 3 p. m., it was reported that only twelve black bass had been caught, but some of the disgusted anglers who had gone to fishing for perch made goodly strings of the little fellows. At six o'clock the fishermen wound up their sport (?), reeled their lines, disjointed their rods, and repaired to the two hotels at Youngstown—the Eldorado and the Ontario—where the two contingents enjoyed hearty suppers. At 8:25 p. m. they took steamer for Lewiston, and thence went home by their special train, arriving at 10:30. Prizes were awarded as follows: For the largest small-mouthed bass—First, O. D. Prudden; second, A. L. Smith; third, B. J. Furguson; fourth, C. W. Hatch. For the largest string of small-mouthed bass—First, W. E. Huston; second, J. E. Emerson, third, Jacob Fisher; fourth, John Klopf. For the largest string of perch—First, C. L. Nicholls; second, J. A. Merritt; third, C. A. Warren. For the largest perch—F. O. Allison. For the largest string of mixed fishes—First, M. H. Hoover; second, E. S. Brown; third, A. H. Stevens. Prizes for guests: Largest string of small-mouthed bass—First, A. M. Little; second, David Tice. For the boatman whose party caught the largest string of fish—First, Boatman No. 24; second, Boatman No. 26. One party was captained by W. J. Jackman, the landlord of the Niagara House, Lockport; and the other by W. E. Wicker, also of Lockport.

THE following is the score of the catch of mascalonge at Lake Vieux Desert, Wis., for the week ending June 9: Monday, A. K. Munson, of Chicago, 1, 29¼ pounds; guide, William Thomas; C. W. Munson, Chicago, 2, largest 10 pounds, total 17 pounds, guide, Clark Thomas; L. B. Taylor, 1, 14½ pounds, guide, Clark Thomas. Tuesday, A. K. Munson, 1, 14 pounds, guide, W. Thomas: A. W. Jerrems, Chicago, 1, 24½ pounds, guide, C. Thomas. Wednesday, G. M. Lindsey, Chicago, 1, 7 pounds, guide, O. Thomas. Thursday, C. W. Munson, 1, 25¼ pounds, guide, C. Thomas; H. C. Patterson, Chicago, 1, 23¾ pounds, guide; J. Draper. Friday, H. S. Farwell, Chicago, 2, largest 19 pounds, total weight, 33 pounds, guide, O. Thomas: G. M. Lindsey, 1, 20 pounds, guide, O. Thomas. Saturday, A. W. Jerrems, 1, fifteen pounds, guide, W. Thomas: G. M. Lindsey, 1, 9 pounds, guide, O. Thomas. June 9, A. W. Jerrems, 1, 24 pounds, guide, W. Thomas: L. B. Taylor, 1, 21½ pounds, guide, C. Thomas: G. M. Lindsey, 1, 15½ pounds, guide, O. Thomas; C. W. Munson, 1, 20 pounds, guide, C. Thomas; A. K. Munson, 1, 19¼ pounds, guide, W. Thomas; J. W. Macpherson, 1, 23 pounds, guide, O. Thomas; F. W. Cramin, Norway, Mich., 1, 15 pounds, guide, L. Thomas.

St te Line, Wis. L. THOMAS & SONS.

ON June 14, at Joliet, Ill., Joe Hauser, Coney Sweitzer and Adam Christman were tried by a jury in Justice McCaull's court, and were fined ten dollars each and costs for the offense of dynamiting fishes in the Kankakee River. A day or so previous Captain Peter Pell, fish warden for Will County, had arrested the parties, and he produced such convincing evidence against the men that the jury could render no other verdict. Warden Pell took in Cal Bowers at the same time. Bowers was tried at Wilmington, before Justice Monteith, and was fined twenty-five dollars and costs. In these four cases witnesses were brought from a distance which made the costs high and brought the total up to $171.85. Cal Bowers refused to pay his fine, consequently Warden Pell had him committed to the jail, and the fishing season will be well advanced by the time he gets out unless he pays up. Warden Pell has been making it hot for violators of the fish law. Since his appointment he has secured the conviction of nearly forty men, and with a warden who would be as active in each county traversed by the Kankakee River that stream would soon be a paradise for the angler.

"TWO AT A CAST" is the title of an exceptionally fine color print, a facsimile of Mr. Thos. S. Steele's oil painting depicting in natural hues two large trout, split bamboo rod, reel, landing net and landscape—a scene that will start any angler for the nearest trout stream, if he has the time, or bring to mind memories of glorious outings. In size it is 28x22 inches, and is published by L. Prang & Co. of Boston, which is a guarantee of its excellence, and to whom much credit is due in putting it within the reach of all. Mr. Steele's canvases are always popular, for he is not only an artist of rare ability but is a most enthusiastic sportsman as well, and when he finishes a canvas it is perfect because he is the most critical judge. "Two at a Cast" is a whole history of the catch, for the more you study it the more you realize the struggle which ended in the capture here portrayed. We will supply copies of it upon receipt of the price, three dollars, which is very moderate.

THE Denver (Colo.) Fishing Club, which has fishing rights on the Gunnison River, near Iola Station, on the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, recently elected the following officers: President, Milward Hewitt; vice-president, F. A. Williams; secretary and treasurer, J. S. Temple. The club is incorporated, not for profit, and the by-laws allow visiting cards to be issued to non-residents of the state, but not to residents. The roll of membership includes the following names: H. M. Bostwick, W. C. Bradbury, P. O'Brian, J. H. Brown, D. C. Cheseboro, W. S. Clawson, F. E. Edbrooke, M. Hewitt, J. L. Jerome, I. L. Johnson, H. M. Joralman, C. B. Kountze, J. M. Manahan, Dr. C. Parkhill, E. E. Quentin, S. V. Rathvon, D. D. Seerie, B. E. Shear, J. S. Temple, W. P. Thompson and F. A. Williams. The Gunnison River furnishes very fine rainbow trout fishing, five and six pounders being not uncommon, and one of ten pounds was taken last year, it is said.

FROM Pennsylvania comes the cheering news to anglers that many streams are swarming with bass. In the Susquehanna River, in Delaware, at Peach Bottom, the bass fishing never was better, and the Wilmington anglers have been taking large numbers, some of which weighed four to five pounds, and many two and three pounds. One party of four made a catch of sixty-five bass in three days. Higher up the river the fishing is good, but thus far this season does not surpass other years. In the Juniata River, a few days ago, George Ballantyne hooked and landed with rod and line, after a struggle of forty-five minutes, a carp of the leatherback species which was thirty-four inches in length, seven inches in thickness, and weighed twenty-two pounds. The fishermen in Pennsylvania should remember that the last legislature of that state changed the legal size of black bass from six inches to nine inches, and that all bass which measure less than nine inches must be returned to the water.

LOVERS of bluefishing are now enjoying this splendid sport to their fill, in the Great South Bay, off Bay Shore, Long Island. For some time numbers of bluefish have been caught just outside of the bay, in the ocean, but during the past week anglers have been capturing them in the inside channels. Fishing parties of Summer residents now go out every line day and make good catches. Those who make a business of fishing are having great success also: Geo. E. Coe caught ninety-one bluefish on June 10, the weight of which varied from two and one-half to five and one-half pounds. Weakfishes and other varieties are also plentiful, but the bluefish is most highly prized on [illegible] its gameness.

THE following score was made at m[illegible] Mr. C. H. Blair, of Chicago, in one [illegible] Lake caught ninety-eight bass, the l[illegible] Mr. Blair, Edwin Wynn and W. J[illegible] eago, caught eleven mascalonge: [illegible] three largest weighed respectively fifteen, twenty-two and twenty-five pounds. Gov. J. B. Grant, of Denver, Colo., caught on June 9 a mascalonge which weighed thirty-eight pounds. E. M. Morsman, J. J. Dickey, of Omaha, and Gov. J. B. Grant, in one day at Butternut Lake, caught 154 black bass. J. W. Morse, of Chicago, in three days' fishing landed five mascalonge, the largest eighteen pounds in weight.

Three Lakes, Wis. F. R. FRENCH.

A DISPATCH from Greenwich, Conn., dated June 13, says: "The biggest striped bass that has been taken from the Sound in this vicinity with rod and reel for over twenty-five years, so old-timers aver, was caught at the first of the flood tide yesterday morning by H. E. Doremus, a resident of this place. Mr. Doremus played the fish for over three-quarters of an hour from his boat, and then, fearing that he would lose it, sculled his skiff into shallow water with one hand and managed to play the fish with the other. After a hard struggle he landed the fish on the beach. It weighed twenty-six pounds."

THE Chicago Fly Casting Club had its first outing of the season last Saturday, going to Phantom Lake. Over eighty bass were caught, and what were not eaten found their way to the homes of those who had sense enough to break loose from the ceaseless grind of business and seek a day's respite in the quiet retreats of the country. The regular club contest will occur this Saturday afternoon at North Garfield Park.

THE latest reports from California are that the situation is encouraging to anglers. Some excellent catches of trout are being made in streams and lakes, and the royal salmon are running at Santa Cruz and Monterey in goodly numbers. The state fish commission fully expects to obtain over 6,000,000 of trout spawn at Lake Tahoe this season.

IN Wisconsin, the Oshkosh fishermen who are intending to test the constitutionality of the Buckstaff law have been advised by their attorneys that the law is vulnerable; and, on July 1, the association of fishermen formed to fight the law will make a combined attack upon the enactment which is so distasteful to its members.

A JOLLY party of Chicago men—James Pease, sheriff of Cook County, Ill., Henry Hertz, W. D. Boyce and others—recently returned from a trouting trip to the Turtle River, Wis. They brought home trophies of fifteen fine trout, mounted upon cardboard, and the heads of several mascalonge that weighed each twenty to twenty-five pounds.

ON June 9, near Pine Grove, Colo., George Flesher caught a trout in the Platte River which measured twenty-two inches in length and weighed eight and a quarter pounds: and the big fish is said to be the largest trout by over one pound that ever was caught in the Platte River.

THE Pennsylvania legislature recently passed a law forbidding fishing with nets above tidewater, and the New Jersey fish wardens will now be able to enforce on interstate streams a similar law passed last Winter by the legislature of that state.

ANGLERS in Illinois will be sorry to learn that House Bill No. 608, known as the Fish Commissioners' Bill, failed to pass the House by a single vote.

Natural History

THE REPTILES OF MICHIGAN—NO. 20

BY MORRIS GIBBS

Speckled Tortoise, Spotted Turtle—Clemmys guttata (Schneider).—This interesting little turtle is locally distributed, is very common in certain localities, and again quite rare or not to be found at all in some quarters. This matter of local distribution is a marked feature in all the orders in the reptiles and batrachians in our state, and is quite generally observed in other quarters. I believe reptiles are more marked in variation and distribution, in this respect, than are the birds and mammals. In this county, Kalamazoo, where I have done most of my collecting in the state, this [illegible] abundant in sections, but is never found [illegible] known in other neighborhoods. There is [illegible] lake or pond hole, surrounded by marsh gra[illegible]

the speckled tortoise can be found in numbers in May and June.

It is a retiring little creature and perfectly inoffensive, and can be identified readily from a simple description. Upper shell black, with numerous small, irregular yellow spots. These spots are often wanting, being brighter in the smaller and younger individuals. This turtle, which never grows to a length of shell of over five inches, and generally of three to four inches, likes to bask on the grassy banks of the ponds, and may be secured readily in these situations. When it attempts to escape it burrows but a very short distance in the bottom, and can be dislodged readily and captured.

Holbrook says it is timid and gentle, and can be easily domesticated. Its food is said to consist of tadpoles, young frogs and other weak animals. Agassiz says its eggs never exceed three or four in number. Professor Hay says the eggs are laid about June 20.

Blanding's Tortoise—Emydoidae blandingii (Holb.).—Also known as the long box turtle. It is the largest species of land turtle found in the great lake region, and the shell is sometimes fully ten inches in length. In color, it is dark, nearly black, each scute or plate having several irregular yellow or orange marks on it; lower shell yellow, blotched with brown; chin, throat and under side of neck yellow. There is only one other species, the common box turtle, with which this species can be confounded in this region, and it may be distinguished by the absence of anything like a hook to the upper jaw.

Blanding's tortoise is generally found in low, moist woods; in truth, I have never found it anywhere else. Although one authority gives it as abundant in our state I cannot agree with him. Some claim that it is inclined to the water, but I have never found it so. Professor Hay says:

"Not much accurate information has been gathered concerning the habits of this tortoise."

Its eggs, as figured by Agassiz, are large and oval, measuring an inch and three-eighths by almost an inch. There are from seven to nine of them, laid together once a year.

Box Tortoise—Cistudo carolina (Linn.).—This well-known species is frequently found in oak woods not far removed from watercourses or ponds. It is rare to find it in localities at a distance from water. The retiring creature is never found in the water and rather avoids getting wet, but still it prefers the neighborhood of lakes or brooks. The box tortoise hibernates, as do all other species of turtles hereabouts, so far as I am able to learn. I have taken it from heaps of leaves and mold in the Spring.

It is a peaceable creature, never aggressive, perfectly harmless, and makes an interesting pet. One which was owned by an acquaintanee of mine lived in a box provided for it. It fed mincingly on various vegetables, but would not touch meat in any form. Its favorite food was celery, which it selected invariably when available. Though treated with kindness at all times it never became friendly, and to the last day of its confinement, if handled, would draw in its head and feet and close up its hinged plastron as quickly and tightly as do the wild individuals. The act of drawing in its head and closing its defensive shell was always accompanied by a hiss. The noise may have been offered as intimidation, but I have thought that it might have been produced by the involuntary expulsion of air, caused by its drawing in its head and legs, and thus crowding its lung capacity. This explanation may be incorrect, as I am aware that the position of its lungs is such as not to be interfered with by the extremities. However, the hissing was rarely heard unless the tortoise withdrew to its cloister.

One which a young friend of mine owned was kept in a steam-heated house, and this tortoise, therefore, never gave any evidence of a desire to hibernate, and was as much on the move and fed equally well in the Winter as during the Summer months; but each Spring it made efforts to escape, probably governed by a desire for nesting.*

Box turtles, although preferring a life on land, can swim and dive if need be, and I have seen them floating on the surface. Still, as they have a very thick and heavy shell and are not adapted for an aquatic life, they are very slow in their movements in the water.

Regarding the food of this species there seems to be a difference of opinion. Holbrook says that it feeds on insects, such as crickets, etc., but he mentions Le Conte's statement that they feed on fungi, such as Clavaria. Others claim that it feeds entirely on vegetable matter. I know that box turtles will feed on mushrooms, morels and other kinds of fungi, also on green cabbage, cucumbers, potatoes, apples and celery, and, scantily, on green grass. I judge that the box tortoise is mainly nocturnal; at any rate this is its habit in feeding when in captivity. Professor Hay says:

"They appear to have been favorites for persons who attempt immortality of name by engraving their names on terrapins' backs. From this practice something has been learned of their longevity."

Dr. J. Schenck of Mt. Carmel states that one at Albion, Ill., had some initials engraved on it in 1824. It was found in the same vicinity in 1865 and marked with an additional letter. As an illustration, to offset these uncertain evidences of long life, it may be stated that a boy of my intimate acquaintance, who thought to pose as a recorder, and who was more anxious to shine as an early chronographer than as a veracious chronicler, cut fictitious dates on the backs of several turtles, together with his initials, and turned them loose. These dates ranged from 1840 to 1870. The next day after the turtles were given their freedom, in June, 1870, another boy appeared bearing one of the recaptured reptiles with the initials M. G. and the date 1846, and within a week another turtle had been returned with the still more incongruous date of 1840. These turtles were recognized and returned, not by the dates, as the reader may judge, but from the initials of the honest chronicler. Therefore, conclusions may be drawn regarding dates on turtles' backs; for I am certain that all recorders may not be equally honest in owning to the cheat as this boy has been in telling me. Nothing would tempt me to give his name.

In concluding the list of turtles, attention is called to them, as a whole, as a food product. It is reasonable to suppose that all, or nearly all, of the species of our country are not only suitable for food, but are desirable, and, in many instances, will become in time well known, and will be much sought for as luxuries. Fashion changes us, and the diamond-back terrapins, which were once sold for a dollar a cartload, in Virginia, now bring twenty-five dollars to seventy dollars per dozen in the cities.

*[illegible] plates in full, on one occasion, in [illegible] many weeks for it to recover its [illegible] process was a most interesting [illegible] from the exuviation of other rep- [illegible] used to think it was a normal con-

NOTES

A RECENT dispatch from Washington, D. C., says reports received at the Treasury Department from the United States government agents in Bering Sea state that seals are less numerous this season than ever before. This is attributed to pelagic sealing, where the proportion of sealskins secured to seals slaughtered is said to be less than one in ten. From present indications the North American Commercial Company, which has the contract with the United States government for taking seals on the Pribyloff Islands, will not be allowed to take more than their minimum catch, which was fixed by Secretary Carlisle at 7,500 skins. Even this limit was left discretionary with the government agent on the islands, and he has the power to reduce it.

AT Cleveland, O., on June 8, Patrolman J. Whittaker's little boy found a disabled homing pigeon on the Cleveland & Pittsburg Railway tracks, near the state hospital. Around its left leg was a silver band upon which was inscribed "C 1—1—7—7." The lad took the pigeon home and nursed it, but the bird died despite his humane efforts. The pigeon undoubtedly belonged to some fancier, and its silver band mark indicates premiums it had taken. Undoubtedly it was hurt in its flight over the city by flying into an electric light. In the interest of homing pigeon fanciers and the owner of this bird please publish this notice.

Cleveland, O. J. H. W.

Travel

SPORT WITH BULLETS AND FISHHOOKS IN LAFAYETTE COUNTY, FLORIDA—NO. 1

BY W. G. DENHAM

When cruising along the Gulf Coast of Florida, in the month of January, some years past, my little boat, the Vera, grounded near the shore. Darkness soon cast its shadows over us, and as the tide was falling, it was useless to attempt floating the craft until the next flood tide, so we all "turned in" (as the sailors say) for a good night's sleep.

About daylight the next morning I awoke, and as I knew there was no more sleep for me strolled out on deck. The night was warm for January, clear and starlight. By and by I espied a white egret moving along the beach in shallow water with that slow and measured tread peculiar to this family of waders, seeking his breakfast on the principle that "the early bird catches the worm," although little fishes were the object of his search.

I stepped back into the cabin and brought forth my rifle and "flung a bullet" (as the Lafayette boys term it) at this early bird, thinking it might by chance hit him. At the crack of my rifle I was startled by the vivid echoes that reverberated hither and thither, to die away in the distance landward.

Soon the red sky in the east bespoke the rapid approach of Old Sol, and by time he was blazing forth at the horizon, in all his splendor, the Vera had floated, we had had breakfast and were on our way up an unknown creek or bayou. We explored it to the woods, one mile, but could go no farther, for just there it was immensely rocky and the solid rocks rose to the height of ten feet or more, on either side, only to break away abruptly, inviting us to behold a beautiful little lake which was rock girdled and surrounded by a dense growth of evergreens.

Lake Echo, we named it that day, and as there was one rocky creek flowing out of this county further up the coast, this one we called Little Rocky. We saw there much signs of bears, deer and other game, such as turkeys and squirrels. We found a cow that had been killed by a panther or bear, and at the time we found her a big black bear was fighting the buzzards away from the carcass.

We killed two deer and a number of squirrels, caught quantities of sheepheads and other fishes, secured a lot of oysters at the mouth of the creek, and in a few days were homeward bound with all sail set and filled with a gentle south breeze, a dead fair wind for up the coast.

Arriving at home I sooon became restless and anxious for "flinging more bullets" in Lafayette County, as I was not at all satisfied with our two days' experience on Little Rocky Creek, where game seemed to be so plentiful, hence I planned a trip overland. Captain I. Y. Tucker, friend B—and myself constituted our party for this trip.

Mounted, with our guns across our saddles in front of us, a large canvas bag or wallet strapped behind the saddle and hanging down on either side of the horse, one end filled with corn for the horse and the other end with food for the rider, we were in readiness. Rolled up in a blanket was a change of clothes, the bundle also being strapped to the saddle behind, while in front a waterproof coat was tied to each saddle. Thus equipped, with four good hounds to follow, we could have been seen winding our way southward through the lower part of Jefferson County, thence through Taylor County, en route for the hunting grounds in and around the Little Rocky.

It was during my stay in that vicinity that I made a few of the most remarkable rifle shots of my hunting life. Two of the natives, Jim and Henry Osteen, had accompanied me to the swamp for a deer. I put my dogs in and they soon had a trail, and it was not long before they started the game and were in full cry. Round and round they went, and as no deer broke cover and they still ran in a circle, I decided it must be a panther or wildcat, and rode in the thick swamp where they were with the intention of calling the dogs off; but, as I came near the racing ground, I heard the whole pack in full cry, coming directly for me. I dismounted with the intention of shooting whatever it might be, as being the surest way of breaking up the race. I stood upon the roots of a palmetto tree. These roots grew off from the body of the tree, all around it, a foot or more above ground denoting high-water mark; but at this time it was very dry, and they stood out umbrella-shaped and suspended in the air, thick and compact.

As stated, on this shelf of roots I stood, my bridle reins over my left arm, rifle at a ready. In front of me grew three myrtle trees, twelve or fifteen feet high and spreading perhaps over thirty feet of ground To my utter amazement, over this clump of bushes bounded a deer, and while it was up in mid air I fired. My rifle ball entered just behind the foreshoulder and came out on the opposite side, just in front of the hip, showing the deer was above me and on the "down grade" at the time my rifle ball hit him. He fell dead about four feet behind me, and grazed the palmetto tree on the opposite side from me in the fall. While this was a quick shot it was not a very difficult one to make, but such an opportunity comes but once in a lifetime.

I kept my position until the Osteen boys came to me and saw how the deer was killed, and that they might be witnesses to satisfy all "doubting Thomases," I make the following calculation, which I think can be taken as correct. I stood one foot above ground; I am five feet eleven and one-half inches tall; my rifle barrels are twenty-six inches long, and the entire barrels were above my head when I shot. Hence: 1 foot+5 feet+10 inches+26 inches=9 ft.; to this add 3 feet, the distance he cleared above the myrtles as he came over, then add 3 feet more for the height he was above my rifle at the time I shot; hence 9+3+3=15 ft., which was the height of his leap. As stated we guessed these trees to be fifteen feet high, with a spread of thirty feet; and from where the deer rose to where he fell as forty feet. I think it safe to say this deer cleared forty feet at one bound and rose fifteen feet to do so. If correct measurements could be had, I think this deer would be found to have jumped twenty feet high, and if he had not been shot, would have cleared fifty feet of ground.

At another time I made four shots at three deer, as follows: The first one ran by me at about 200 yards' distance, I sat on my horse and planted a ball through his heart, making a dead shot. After placing the deer behind me on my horse and strapping him to my saddle, we had not gone far when my dogs drove directly to me two others. I dismounted, with a cartridge in my hand. I shot the head deer, killing instantly, striking her fairly in the breast; I threw out the shell, inserted the cartridge that I held in my hand, and as the old buck was passing by, I fired, sending a ball through his middle. He wheeled and ran directly from me. I threw out the shell and took from my trousers pocket another cartridge; inserted it, fired and struck the old buck in the back, breaking his spinal column for a foot or more and tumbling him over with this shot.

It is nothing strange that with any magazine repeating rifle one can shoot six or eight bullets at a deer before he runs out of range, but to load one cartridge at a time and extract the shells one at a time, as was done with my Ballard, means quick work; and to hit at every shot and get my deer means good work. I. Y. Tucker and A. A. Brooks are witnesses to these four shots, all done the same day; and "Uncle" Jimmy Butler skinned the deer and said that he heard every shot I fired, it being near his house.

My pistol shot was the biggest sort of an accident, a wonderful "scratch." When spending the night with a backwoods acquaintance, I stepped out of doors early in the morning to wash my face, and seeing the women of the house gazing steadfastly at something in the distance, I asked what they were looking at. One of them replied:

"We are watching our brother, who is gone to shoot that owl on yander tree." Just then the owl flew and they said: "There, he is gone."

Jerking my pistol out of my "leggins," where I frequently placed it for convenience, I shot at the owl and at the same time remarked:

"No, he is not gone." I made a dead shot although the owl was fully 200 yards away. A wonderful "scratch," but a shot that caused lots of fun. I replaced my pistol and continued my morning ablutions as if nothing unusual had happened.

My friends, catching onto the spirit of the occasion, told the astonished inquirers that such shots were an everyday occurrence with me; that when mounted, and whether my horse was walking or running, I killed everything I shot at, from a bird in the air to a deer at full speed. This shot and my rifle shots were now the topic of conversation all over Lafayette County, and wherever we went the news had preceded us, and the people would stare at me as if I was the proprietor of a Punch and Judy show or a caged hyena. I was too important to be personally interviewed, so they would fall back on my friends, Tucker and Brooks, for my history, and the ridiculous remarks they would express about my rifle, pistol and myself were as far fetched as were the stories told of me by my two friends.

If anyone wants to get into hot water, just let him go to Lafayette County and say W. G—is no rifle shot. One fellow said I could kill a deer so far away that he would "spile" before I could walk to him.

NOTES

PART Twenty-one of Bancroft's "Book of the Fair" describes the state exhibits of the West, beginning with that of Illinois. The various exhibits of the states were most notable features of the greatest of expositions, and the author of this work has devoted much space to the descriptions, and has illustrated his subject with numerous plates of the buildings, giving the exteriors from different points of view and various charming interiors. In this part are described also the Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Kansas, California, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and Utah buildings, and the one occupied jointly by New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma. Chapter the Twenty-Fourth deals with the manifold attractions which were seen upon the Midway Plaisance, which were so varied in their character as to offer almost every visitor some feature either amusing or instructive. As can well be imagined by all who visited the Midway, the multiplicity of subjects to be treated and illustrated carry the reader entirely through Part Twenty-Two, and there can be little doubt that as a part of the history of the world's greatest exposition these two parts of Bancroft's work are of surpassing interest and worthy of the subjects in hand.

ON June 13, Robert McCallum, a nineteen-year-old seaman, left New York harbor, in a yacht only twenty-two feet in length, over all, for a voyage across the Atlantic. He expects to reach Queenstown, Ireland, in forty-five days, and if he arrives in safety will receive a medal and $5,000. As given by the New York Herald, the principal dimensions of the yacht are: Length of keel, nineteen feet; length over all, twenty-two feet; breadth of beam, five feet four inches; draught, two feet six inches. The hull is constructed of inch thick spruce planking. It is divided into three compartments. The largest is six by four feet, and will be used as a cabin. The other two will contain provisions. The stores will consist of thirty gallons of water, an oil stove, ten gallons of oil and canned goods and hardtack enough for sixty days. The sloop carries three thousand pounds of copper ore and cement for ballast. The ballast is so fastened that she will right again if she turns clear over. The young mariner will heave to for six hours during the day and sleep. A sextant and two watches comprise his navigating outfit. He will follow the course of incoming transatlantic steamers.

"Hazard's Nitro"

At Memphis, Tenn., on the third and last day of "The Memphis Gun Club" tournament, June 13, "The Hazard Powder Co." placed their "Blue Ribbon Smokeless" before the sporting public. The widespread popularity of the black powder manufactured by that time-honored company seemed to be as it were a guarantee that "Hazard's Nitro" would at once command attention, and it did so, with remarkably gratifying results. About thirty contestants not only used it in the match, but evinced no hesitation or fear of failure (which ordinarily is attendant upon experimental ventures), and they all won money and praised the powder in unstinted terms.

Although on the market only one short day "Blue Ribbon" has already made friends in states representing all quarters of the Union.

The Hazard company has had the benefit of all conditions afforded not only by their own superior facilities, but also by observing the results of the products of other prominent companies, and in now placing "Blue Ribbon" before the sporting public, they feel justly assured that their product will sustain their reputation wherever it goes.

Kennel

FIXTURES

SHOWS

Kingston Kennel Club's show, Kingston, Ontario, September 3, 4, 5 and 6. H. C. Bates, secretary.

Canada's Industrial Exhibition's seventh annual dog show, Toronto, September 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. C. A. Stone, superintendent.

Rhode Island State Fair Association's third annual dog show, Providence, R. I., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. E. M. Oldham, superintendent.

Orange County Fair's dog show, Newburg, N. Y., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. Robert Johnston, secretary.

Omaha Kennel Club's second annual show, Omaha, Neb., September 18, 19, 20 and 21. E. L. Marston, secretary.

New England Kennel Club's second annual terrier show, Brookline, Mass., September 24, 25, 26 and 27. D. E. Lovelaud, secretary.

FIELD TRIALS

Continental Field Trial Club's inaugural trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 2. P. T. Madison, secretary.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 10. Entries close July 1 and August 15. John Wootton, secretary.

International Field Trial Club's sixth annual trials, Mitchell's Bay, near Chatham, Ont., November 5. W. B. Wells, secretary.

United States Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C., November 7. W. B. Stafford, secretary.

Eastern Field Trials Club's trials, Newton, N. C., November 18. W. A. Coster, secretary.

Continental Field Trial Club's Annual trials, Newton, N. C., November 25. P. T. Madison, secretary.

1896

Pacific Coast Field Trial Club's thirteenth annual trials, Bakersfield, Cal., January 20. J. M. Kilgarif, secretary.

Southern Field Trial Club's seventh annual trials, West Point, Miss., February 3. T. M. Brumby, secretary.

BEAGLE TRIALS

Northwestern Beagle Club's third annual trials, Columbus, Wis., October 22. Louis Steffen, secretary.

New England Beagle Club's trials, Oxford, Mass., November 5. W. S. Clark, secretary.

National Beagle Club's fifth annual trials, Hempstead, Long Island, November 11. Geo. W. Rogers, secretary.

CLUB MEETINGS

Northwestern Field Trial Club's meeting, Winnipeg, Man., Monday, June 24. Thos. Johnson, secretary.

IRISH WATER SPANIELS

CHICAGO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Taking advantage of the beautiful summer-like weather, I thought I would take a run out and visit the home of many a good Irish water spaniel, as well as many another good dog, the well-known Sea Moss Kennels, at Glencoe, Ill., the property of Mr. C. A. Blaisdell. Glencoe, as most residents of Chicago know, is situated on the Milwaukee division of the Chicago and Northwestern R. R., and the trip of 19 miles, once outside the old city limits of Chicago, is a most delightful one. A run of less than an hour brings you to Glencoe and you at once feel that you are in the country. The delightful, refreshing breezes that greet your nostrils, laden as they are with the odors of fields, flowers and woods, are most invigorating to your city-burdened lungs. Everyone in Glencoe knows where the Sea Moss Kennels are, and when directed on your way the further you advance the more you are convinced that you are in a sort of rural paradise as the songs of many winged inhabitants of the woods and fields greet you. Pausing to admire a beautiful landscape, a cheery "hello, there!" greeted me, and turning round I saw the redoubtable "Charley," the proprietor, driving a smart nag hitched to a two-seated buggy, and, jumping in, was very soon at home among the dogs. The kennels are about an eighth of a mile from the main road and on a fifteen-acre farm, purchased a few years ago by Mr. Blaisdell. The residence is situated on a sort of promontory or hill, and the country around for a long distance can be seen from the plateau. The grounds are fenced off in large spaces of about two-acre runs, the different kennels opening out on them, giving ample space for the dogs to exercise.

PATSEY B

The first dogs I asked to see were the Irish water spaniels, which breed I have been a lover of since I was a boy, the first dog I ever owned being a bitch of that breed. An excellent specimen came bounding up in the well-known Patsy B (19013), bred by Mr. Blaisdell, by his Conn out of Sea Moss, whelped June, 1889; Conn by Shamrock—Queen; Sea Moss by Dan O'Connor—Lottie. Patsy B is a spleudidly built dog, with extra good bone, good size, good straight front legs, and was in much better coat and topknot than when I saw him at the last Chicago show. The worst fault I could find with him was the faded color of his coat, which Mr. Blaisdell explains is caused by his being so much out in the sun. He is a dog of excellent disposition, as could be plainly seen by his playful gambols with several dogs of other breeds, such as collies, setters, etc. Patsy B has a pretty long list of wins on the show bench to his credit, he having scored first every time exhibited except once, last year, when he was beaten by The O'Cleary, under Mr. Kirk, at the Mascoutah Kennel Club's Chicago show. He was first New York, first and special Cleveland, first and special Chicago in 1891. He was not shown the two following years, but for 1894 he scored first New York, first Detroit and second Chicago, and this year he has so far only been once exhibited, scoring first at the Chicago show.

Not alone by his quality, but also by [illegible] is about the only outcross from the [illegible] Irish water spaniels owned in the [illegible] he deserving of the attention of [illegible] water spaniels in America, the tendency [illegible] constitution of a large number of [illegible] water spaniels being attributed to the continual breeding in the same blood. Patsy B is thoroughly broken and spent nearly two years in the woods with Mr. H. D. Gardner of Milwaukee, who owned him.

Mr. Blaisdell is one of the most enthusiastic breeders and lovers of the Irish water spaniel that can be found, and says he will leave no stone unturned until this grand breed receives the attention it merits and is established on a footing of popularity with dog lovers all over the country. Believing, as he does, that we require more new blood in the breed he bred his bitch, Erin, by Conn out of Young Breda Girl (Drake—Breda Girl) to Mr. T. A. Carson's imported Musha, while he was at the last Chicago show. I also saw a very promising bitch puppy by Musha out of Biddy Malone, now the property of Mr. T. A. Carson and bred by him. Among the other good ones bred since Mr. Blaisdell took up Irish water spaniels, in 1883, are Pat Rooney, first in puppy class, and second in open class, Chicago, 1892, and the famous bitch Marguerite, a bitch that is generally acknowledged to be the best specimen of her breed in America, proof of which is that she has never been beaten since she came out as a puppy at the Chicago show of 1891.

Among the other dogs belonging to Mr. Blaisdell, I noticed a very nice black cocker bitch named Bell, a daughter of Red Obo. She has not yet been shown, but is likely to come out next year. There were several dogs of other breeds at the kennels belonging to doggy friends of Mr. Blaisdell's, who found it necessary to part with them temporarily.

While on the subject of Irish water spaniels, I would like to be permitted to say a good word in favor of this truly intelligent and interesting breed of dogs which, unfortunately, are not as well known to the general public as they ought to be. For a person who needs a general all-round dog, there is none better than a good specimen of this breed. They make excellent watch dogs and for a ramble in the country there is no nicer canine companion; of an intensely lively dispositon, they are continually hunting for something to attract your attention. In Stonehenge's "Dogs of the British Islands," Mr. P. J. Lindhoe writes of them as follows: "Notwithstanding their natural impetuosity of disposition, these spaniels, if properly trained, are the most tractable and obedient of all dogs, and possess in a marked degree the invaluable qualities of never giving in. From real personal experience of almost every kind of dog, they are the cleverest, gamest and most companionable of all." In Vera Shaw's "Book of the Dog," Mr. J. T. Skidmore of Nantwich, England, writes: "When thoroughly trained they will stand as steady as a setter on game, retrieving the dead or wounded as tenderly as possible, while for wild fowl retrieving I think it is admitted they have no equal, their coats being of an oily nature and well adapted to resist cold and wet, while their natural courage is such that they fearlessly dash into the water in the coldest weather." In Webb's "Dogs, Their Points, Etc.," Mr. N. Morton of Ballymena, Ireland, writes: "Perhaps of all different species of the dog, there is none more worthy than this of being made the companion and friend of man. For the general purposes for which most people desire a dog-friend, there is none superior to the Irish water spaniel. In the house or out of the house, he is attractive, sociable and obedient, while he possesses the great additional qualification of being as much at home in the water as on land. Given a dog of this description, you can do almost everything you please with him, always provided you have an extra stock of patience and never resort to punishment, except as a corrective, and even then as seldom as possible, and after you have taught him to understand what it is you wish him to do. Treated in this way he will learn to do almost everything but speak; indeed the tales that might be told of his sagacity and feats of skill and deeds of daring are almost as incredible as they are various and multitudinous.

Several instances are given of the breed's sagacity, one of which was of a bitch, which, entirely untaught, used regularly to seize the beggars that came around her owner's place, and lead them gently but firmly outside the gate and then dismiss them with a cautionary growl; another, where a gardener in Belfast, Ireland, had taught his bitch to steal meerschaum pipes from smokers on the street and run home with them; another, of a dog that retrieved a live badger. As a house dog they are the most affectionate of companions. A lady, a resident of this city, who has been a lover of the breed, once parted with a bitch, which actually died in two weeks after from pure grief at being parted from her beloved mistress. Another of their good qualities is that they do not readily make friends with strangers, and as a watch dog no one can deny their courage; and for a tussle with anything else canine, they can hold their own with any dog of their weight and with many much larger. Fortunately there are more owned in America to-day than for some years past, and the classes that used invariably be drawn blank at the shows have now from three to five, and some shows ten good specimens.

T. W. MILLS.

Opinions differ as to the value of the Irish water spaniel as a dog to take out with a gun, some averring, and among them no less an authority than Mr. J. S. Skidmore, who twenty years ago was the most successful breeder and exhibitor of Irish water spaniels in England, that he is the most useful dog for a sportsman to keep by him who requires one for general shooting; while others say that he is [illegible] and not easy to break, and that his [illegible] heavy coat make him undesirable for [illegible] ing, as he carries too much water, which [illegible] of inconvenience when confined to close [illegible] a boat; also that he is useless for cover [illegible]

[illegible] heavily feathered ears get caught in the bramble.

Before, however, giving a description of the Irish water spaniel as it is seen to-day, it may be as well to [illegible] writers of thirty or more years ago speak of [illegible] Irish water spaniels, the one associated [illegible] Ireland and the other with the South. [illegible] spoken of as being liver and white [illegible] short ears and coat, and little [illegible] appears to have been nearer the type of the present day. Then we find Mr. Skidmore telling us, in "The Book of the Dog," that there were three different varieties. One close in coat, with apparently a dash of the bloodhound in him; another shortish on the legs with moderately long coat, and looking like a bad specimen of a liver retriever; and the third, the M'Carthy or south country dog, from which it is clear the present Irish water spaniel is descended, the late Mr. Justin M'Carthy having been the chief breeder of the day about half a century ago, in fact Mr. Skidmore says that Mr. M'Carthy "did much to bring the dog to perfection, and succeeded in an admirable manner."

Mr. Skidmore gives a glowing account of his favorites in "British Dogs" as follows: "To a sportsman of limited means, or one who has not accommodation to keep a team, the Irish water spaniel is the most useful dog he can have, inasmuch as he can be made to perform the duties of pointer, setter, retriever, and spaniel, but as his name implies, he is peculiarly fitted by temperament and by a water-resisting coat for the arduous duties required by a sportsman whose proclivities lie in the direction of wildfowl shooting. In this branch of sporting these dogs have no equal, being able to stand any amount of hardships; this, combined with an indomitable spirit, leads them into deeds of daring from which many dogs would shrink. Many are the feats recorded to their pluck, sagacity and intelligence. To a well-bred and trained specimen no sea is too rough, no pier too high, and no water too cold—even if they have to break the ice at every step they are not daunted, and day after day they will follow up such work, being of the 'cut and come again' sort. As companions for a lady or gentleman they have no equal, while a well-behaved dog of the breed is worth a whole kennel of toys to the children. He will allow the little ones to pull him about by the ears, will roll over and over with them, fetch their balls as often as thrown for him, and act as their guard in times of danger."

Mr. J. F. Farrow, on the other hand, when writing in "Modern Dogs," a much more recent publication, does not speak so highly of the Irish water spaniel as a workman, and considers that a well-broken retriever or good sized field spaniel is a more useful dog, inasmuch as its length of coat and feather of the first named renders it almost useless in covert, while it is equally objectionable in water, on account of the quantity of soapsuds. Then he is of opinion that it has not improved in appearance during the past ten years, and that the present champions are not so characteristic as those that existed a decade ago. It must, however, be remembered that Mr. Farrow is a great admirer of the field spaniel, and on that account has shown a leaning to him at the expense of the Irish dog.

One of the most perfect specimens of the Irish water spaniel that the writer has ever seen is a bitch named Dymphna, owned by Mr. T. S. Cary, in Ireland. This bitch is the dark puce liver color that is so desirable, and has the rakish gait that belongs to the best of the breed, while her eyes are of a soft brown hazel color, and she is also properly coated with the smooth patch inside the hock that should be found in all that are pure bred. Dymphna has bred some capital puppies, one of which nearly succeeded in defeating her when she appeared without her best garment. Colonel, the Hon. W. le Poer Trench, has the best kennel of these dogs in England, and generally carries everything before him with Champion Shawn, Shamus, Erin and others. Mr. T. C. Tisdale has had some of the best through his hands, and when in full coat and condition there were very few that could beat his fine old dog, Free O'Donaghue, as a breeder. Mr. Tisdale has probably been the most successful of the lot.

The appearance of the Irish water spaniel is of a rather leggy dog for his length of body. His height is from 20 to 22 inches. He has a moderately long head, skull rather broad, with plenty of length from eye to muzzle, which should be fairly square. The peculiarity of the coat is, however, the most remarkable feature of this dog. The body should be covered with curls that are hard in texture, and these should go down the front of the forelegs, the sides and hinder part of which are heavily feathered, which feather extends down to and between the toes. The face front of the hindleg from the hock and the tail should be smooth, the tail tapering from the root to a point. On the head is a heavy topknot, which, when the dog is fully furnished, covers it completely, but not so much as to interfere with the sight. It is this topknot with the short whip-tail which more than any other points indicate the purity of an Irish water spaniel's breeding. Then there are the immensely long ears, which are also heavily coated, the length from tip to tip sometimes reaching thirty inches. There is, however, a peculiar appearance about the Irish water spaniel that is not to be seen in any other dog, and he can lay claim to a very ancient lineage. There should be no white upon his body, and light eyes are most objectionable.—The Shooting Times and British Sportsman.

CRIMINALITY OF MALICIOUSLY KILLING DOGS

The Supreme Court of Georgia has rendered a very interesting decision in the case of Patton v. State (19 Southeastern Reporter 734), a portion of which is worthy of transcription, preserving the authorities cited.

First of all, the Court holds that, irrespective of the question whether a dog is or is not "private property," the willful and mali[illegible]ious killing of one is not an in-dictabl[illegible] tion 4627 of the code of that [illegible] hat, after certain specified [illegible] malicious mischief, "all other [illegible] ous mischief, in the injuring [illegible] r public or private property, not herein enumerated, shall be punished," etc. That section, it holds, relates to the injury or destruction of inanimate property, and does not apply to injuring or killing animals of any kind.

Thus, this case was decided without reference to the question whether a dog is or is not "private property." It may not, however, the Court says, be unprofitable to notice how this question has been dealt with in other jurisdictions. In Com. v. Maclin, 3 Leigh, 809, it was, in the General Court of Virginia, by a divided bench, decided that a statute making it indictable to knowingly and willfully destroy or injure any tree, or other timber, or property real or personal, belonging to another, did not authorize a criminal prosecution for the killing of a dog. In the case of State v. Harriman, 75 Maine 562, it was held that dogs were not recognized in law as belonging to the class denominated "domestic animals," and, consequently, that a demurrer to an indictment founded upon a statute providing for the killing or wounding of "domestic animals" ought to have been sustained. In a dissenting opinion by Chief Justice Appleton, in that case, he eulogized the dog in the following language: "He is a domestic animal. From the time of the pyramids to the present day, from the frozen pole to the torrid zone, wherever man has been, there has been his dog. Cuvier has asserted that the dog was perhaps necessary for the establishment of civil society, and that a little reflection will convince us that barbarous nations owe much of their civilization above the brute to the possession of the dog. He is the friend and companion of his master, accompanying him in his walks; his servant, aiding him in his hunting; the playmate of his children; an inmate of his house, protecting it against all assailants." And later on the Chief Justice quoted approvingly the following poetic tribute to dogs:

> They are honest creatures,
> And ne'er betray their masters, never fawn
> On any they love not.

On the other hand, in Wilson v. Railroad Co., 10 Rich. Law (S. C.) 52, Justice Monro alluded to the dog as an animal whose nature is carnivorous, and who is prompted by instinct and appetite to roam at large in the forest in pursuit of game, or upon a sheep-killing expedition; and finally stigmatized him as a "yelping cur," whose presence upon a railroad track should not arrest in its progress a train of cars freighted with products or passengers. In U. S. v. Gideon, 1 Minn. 292 (Gil. 226) it was decided that the malicious killing of a dog was not an indictable offense under a statute providing that "every person who shall willfully and maliciously kill, maim, or disfigure any horses, cattle, or other beasts, of another person, shall be punished," etc. Turning now to the "Old North State," it was held in Latham's case, 13 Ired. 33, that an indictment for malicious mischief in killing a dog would lie. In this case no statute upon which the prosecution could be sustained was mentioned. In Indiana it was held in State v. Sumner, 2 Ind. 377, that the malicious killing of a dog was an indictable offense, under a statute providing that every person who shall maliciously destroy any property shall be fined, etc. This ruling was followed in the later case of Kinsman v. State, 77 Ind. 132. In New Hampshire, in the case of State v. McDuffe, 34 N. H. 523, it was held that under a statute providing for the punishment of any willful and malicious act, whereby any tree, or the real or personal estate, of another should be injured, an indictment would lie for the willful and malicious killing of a dog.

It will thus be seen that in other states, under statutes varying in their terms, the question whether a dog is such property as to be the subject of a prosecution for malicious mischief has been decided both ways. Those who may be interested in further investigating the status of the dog as property may consult with profit: Dodson v. Mock (4 Dev. and B. 146), 32 Am. Dec. 677; Perry v. Phipps (N. C.) 51 Am. Dec. 387; Harrington v. Miles (Kan.) 15 Am. Rep. 355; Parker v. Mise, 27 Ala. 480; Wheatley v. Harris, 4 Sneed, 469; Jemison v. Railroad Co., 75 Ga. 444, and the numerous authorities cited in these cases, and notes to the same.

Prefacing the discussion of the ground upon which it based its decision in the present case, the Court goes on to remark that it does not think it probable the legislature of Georgia ever regarded the dog as being, in a general sense, property, concerning which a criminal offense could be committed. But whether a dog be property or not, the Court says it is convinced, after considerable deliberation, that, as before stated, the willful and malicious killing of one is not an indictable offense under section 4627 of the Code, upon which the indictment in this case was based. If the contention of the state in this case to the contrary were sound, the mere injuring of a worthless, bobtailed, benchlegged fice, if done maliciously, would be malicious mischief, while, as was shown, it would not be malicious mischief by wanton cruelty to grossly mar the appearance and beauty of the most magnificent and valuable blooded horse in the state.

INTERSTATE FIELD TRIALS

CLEVELAND, O.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I noticed in the last AMERICAN FIELD a proposition to hold interstate Gordon setter trials, and heartily approve of the movement, for I believe the Gordon setter to have in him the making of as good a field dog as any breed or strain in existence which, in addition to his natural beauty, should make him one of the most desirable of companions.

There have several attempts been made to boom the Gordon setter, but for some unfathomable reason "he has not got there" to any great extent up to the present time. All your older readers know how Mr. Wehrle and Mr. Blossom tried to force recognition, and how Mr. Malcolm worked and wrote in their interest, and for a time I thought they would have a very large following; but the issue began to wane and finally Mr. Malcolm and his friends desisted, and that was the last we heard of them. I still believe, however, that Mr. Malcolm was sincere, and if the failure to prove the correctness of the pedigrees of his dogs was what caused a lack of interest, then all I have to say is that pedigree doesn't make a dog any more than reliance is to be placed on a man because he is "the son of his father." Each must prove his worth. For this reason dogs should be taken as they are, and if they prove good in the field, and on the bench, if you please, and transmit those qualities, what matters it whence they came originally if it is beyond finding out?

I think, also, that the Gordon setters received a severe set-back when the American Kennel Club decided to classfy them as merely black and tans—an indefinite name. If the Irish setters were classified merely as reds, or English setters as colored dogs, the public would lose interest in them as a breed, and I would very much like to see the Gordon setters properly so termed in the stud book. There is nothing like individuality—it makes the man and it makes the beast, domestic or wild, and of all the beasts the dog stands the highest, in my estimation.

The Gordon setter trials which were held last year in New England were not a success for the reason that those who were most instrumental in getting them up were not present, and therefore enthusiasm lapsed and only ordinary trials were held. It was a source of regret that Mr. Blossom was not present, for every initial movement needs a master hand to guide and an enthusiast to direct. However, the trials were held and I should say that, guided by the experience gained, the trials should be announced for this year and held.

During the Summer of 1888 a Gordon setter club was formed and constitution and by-laws adopted. Among those who were at the head of the organization were Harry Malcolm, president, and Isaac T. Norris, secretary, Dr. C. P. Knapp, J. W. Orear, F. M. Bennett, R. C. Parker, F. T. Washington, Dr. J. Whitaker, E. G. Asmus, T. F. Estice, P. Graham, Bud Schmidt, G. W. Collins, G. Poppert, J. W. Clark, F. Phillips, J. W. E. Clark, C. F. Keys, W. H. French, C. G. Fitch, S. B Duryea, Richard Cromwell Jr., B. O. Bush, and others. This was a splendid start, and I have wondered often what has become of them all, for they took great interest, and it would be of much value to hear from some of these gentlemen in explanation of the apparent desuetude of the club at the present time.

Mr. C. J. Peshall, that same year, objected vigorously against the stud book committee of the A. K. C. making a class for them for registration, on the ground that it would be class for a strain of a breed, and he did not believe in a class for a "made breed," and, also, because its origin was obscure. Suppose we admit, for the sake of argument, that his premises were correct, would they hold to-day if the above named gentlemen had "pushed" the breed along, and, as one of your correspondents has stated, given them the same amount of training as the English setters were getting? I think not, for they have the hunting instinct in them, and it would have been fully developed to-day and compelled just recognition. There is nothing so contagious as a fad and the English setter fad took root in the seventies, and so vigorous a root was it that it sprouted all over, like a horseradish in a favored field, and it crowded out not only our other good native setters, Campbells, Gordons and all, but the pointer fell a victim also, and so the fad is responsible for it all. Intelligent breeders directed their entire attention to the English setter, and their knowledge soon developed extra sensitive, high spirited, wide ranging dogs, which were sold at very low prices, and the native and all other strains were given the go-by.

The interstate scheme is a good one, affording, as it would, owners a chance to attend near-by trials. A year or two ago a correspondent of yours advocated interstate trials for any breed, and his suggestions were very good, and now that the times are improving rapidly I hope to see such trials brought about, not only for the great pleasure derivable from them, but for the benefit of breeders of gentlemen's shooting dogs; let the fast, wide rangers make their mark in the big trials in which nearly all the handlers are professionals. The amateur handlers (owners) would get bushels of fun out of their trials. Try it and see. It is a good scheme, "push it along."

A. H. R.

ENTRIES FOR THE CONTINENTAL SUMMER DERBY

Fifty-one entries have been made for the Continental Club's Derby on prairie chickens, to be run early in September at Morris, Man., 33 being English setters and 17 pointers, supplemented by 1 Irish setter. Mr. Madison, in sending in the list of entries, says the total far exceeds his expectations.

ENGLISH SETTERS

R. Merrill's black, white and tan dog Rudge Bo, by Paul Bo—Tube Rose.

R. Merrill's black, white and tan bitch Pauline Bo, same litter.

King Graphic Kennels' black, white and tan dog Rod's Boy, by Roderigo—Laney Gladstone.

Claremont Kennels' black, white and tan dog Paul Bo Jr, by Paul Bo—Susie.

C. G. Stoddard's black and white bitch Chloe S, by Gladstone's Boy—Kitty Ward.

Avent & Thayer's black, white and tan dog Touchstone, by Orlando—Dolly Wilson.

Avent & Thayer's black, white and tan dog Patrician, by Chevalier—Patsy.

Avent & Thayer's black, white and tan dog Fen Follet, by Count Gladstone IV—Folly.

J. W. Gollan's black, white and tan bitch Lady Vassar, by Dash Antonio—Queen Bess II.

J. W. Gollan's black, white and tan dog Count Vassar, same litter.

Manchester Kennel Co.'s black, white and tan bitch Gleam's Dart, by Count Gladstone IV—Gleam's Maid.

Manchester Kennel Co.'s black, white and tan bitch Gleam's Ruth, same litter.

T. G. Davey's black and white dog Brighton Dick, by Brighton Tobe—Brighton Lady.

T. G. Davey's black and white dog Brighton Tom, same litter.

T. G. Davey's black and white bitch Brighton Maud, same litter.

J. J. Sprackiin's black and white dog Bob, by Sharpe—Susie.

W. W. Tims' black, white and tan dog Sam I, by Luke Roy—Bettie B.

H. R. Edwards' black, white and tan dog Harwick, by Topsy's Rod—Opal.

John Wootton's black, white and tan dog St. Peter, by Duke of Manitoba—Hickory Link.

Theo. Frenkas' black and white bitch Alice F, by K. C. Dawn—Zippo Dixie.

F. R. Hitchcock's black, white and tan dog Tory Fashion, by Count Gladstone IV—Fleety Avent.

F. R. Hitchcock's black, white and tan bitch Tory Celia, by Roderigo—Norah II.

Geo. A. Presley's orange, white and tan dog Trade Mark, by Toledo Blade—Luzelle.

C. P. Mingst's black and white dog Rex, by Antonio—Columbia.

Geo. W. Ewing's black, white and tan dog King's Dan II, by King's Dan—M'liss II.

Geo. W. Ewing's black, white and tan bitch M'liss III, same litter.

Geo. W. Ewing's black, white and tan bitch Kate, same litter.

Geo. W. Ewing's orange, white and tan bitch ——, same litter.

Thos. Johnson's black dog Little Billie, by Black Prince—Bill.

Thos. Johnson's black, white and tan dog Taffy, by Whyte B—Dido III.

Thos. Johnson's black dog The Laird, pedigree not given.

Joseph Becker's black, white and tan dog Mark of Ightfield, by Ightfield Rhiwlas—Queen Regent.

D. E. Rose's (agent) black, white and tan dog Henry B, by Antonio— ——.

POINTERS

G. E. Gray's liver and white bitch Lady Clipper, by Little Ned—Pearl's Dot.

H. K. Devereux's liver and white bitch Virginia, same litter.

F. H. Phippen's black and white dog Rex, by Rector—Mamie.

F. Althouse's liver and white dog Paul Bang, by Jap—Frankie Paul.

Dr. O. Totten's liver and white bitch Sappho, by Strideaway—Warwick Nellie.

R. Merrill's liver and white dog Stridemore, by Strideaway—Hops II.

Charlottesville F. T. Kennels' lemon and white dog Dowlah, by Rip Rap—Dolly D.

Charlottesville F. T. Kennels' black and white dog Nabob, same litter

Charlottesville F. T. Kennels' orange and white bitch India, same litter.

Charlottesville F. T. Kennels' liver and white dog Amen, by Wrecker—Selah.

H. T. Schmidt's liver and white bitch Lady Rush, by Rush of Lad—Pet S.

A. P. Heywood-Lonsdale's liver and white dog Ightfield Mentor, by Ightfield Loveridge—Ightfield Mara.

A. P. Heywood-Lonsdale's liver and white dog Bowerly Dan of Coldhill, by Don of Bolcord—Duchess of Bolcord.

S. W. Alsdorf's liver and white dog Strideaway's Lad, by Strideaway—Ightfield Teign.

P. T. Madison's liver and white dog Sidmont, by Strideaway—Hops II.

N. T. De Pauw's liver and white bitch Sister Sue, by Jingo—Rooney.

C. G. Stoddard's liver and white dog Coinage, by Trinket's Coin—Ightfield Blythe.

IRISH SETTER

Claremont Kennels' bitch Dashing Nell, by Claremont Patsy—Sally Gold.

CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB MEETING

A meetiug of the executive committee of the Canadian Kennel Club was held at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, on Juue 7. Those present were Messrs. T. G. Davey, Londou; H. Bedlington, Hamilton; C. A. Stone, G. B. Sweetnam, R. W. Boyle, Toronto, and H. B. Donovan, secretary-treasurer.

On motion, Mr. T. G. Davey acted as chairman.

Minutes of last meeting taken as read.

FIELD TRIAL RULES.—The committee was requested to report at next meeting.

FRED KIRBY AND INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION ASSOCIATION.—A lengthy communication was read from Mr. Kirby, when it was resolved: "That the secretary be requested by resolutiou of the Canadian Kennel Club to notify F. P. Kirby to remit to the Industrial Exhibition Association the balance of unpaid fees ($51). On receipt of same the C. K. C. committee will be prepared to investigate any charges submitted under Rule II of the constitution. If such payment be not made within thirty days, the executive will be prepared to take further action."

CROPPING SYSTEM.—Left over for the annual meeting to decide.

TORONTO SHOW DATES.—The superintendent's application was accepted.

NEW MEMBERS.—The following names were accepted: Dr. D. S. Macdougal, Russell, Ont.; J. W. Churchill, Salem, Mass.; E. Lynge, Toronto; R. S. Steacy, Brockville: Geo. Dunn, Woodstock. Proposed by H. B. Donovan.

MUTUAL RECOGNITION OF DISQUALIFICATIONS AND SUSPENSIONS BY THE CANADIAN KENNEL CLUB AND THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB.—The following letters were read:

NEW YORK, May 11, 1895.

H. B. DONOVAN, ESQ., Secretary C. K. C.

Dear Sir:—I beg to inform you that at the annual meeting of the American Kennel Club the communication in the matter of your proposition amending the then proposed compact between the two clubs was submitted, and it was resolved, "That the proposition contained in the letter from the Canadian Kennel Club be rejected." You doubtless were so advised by our then acting secretary. Another resolution was then adopted to this effect: "That the American Kennel Club will recognize the suspensions and disqualifications imposed by the Canadian Kennel Club." This matter was referred to a committee consisting of Major J. M. Taylor, James Watson and myself (as chairman), delegating full power to that committee to enter into an agreement with your club, for a mutual recognition of each other's suspensions and disqualifications.

We are now ready to join with your club in this matter, and would be pleased to hear from you at your convenience regarding your willingness to do so.

Yours truly,
AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB,
By A. P. Vredenburgh, Secretary.

Mr. W. Wade handed the following to the club through the president:

OTTAWA, Feb. 27, 1895.

WILLIAM WADE, Esq.

Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your letter of the 23rd inst., asking my opinion with regard to the advisability of an arrangement being entered into between the American and Canadian Kennel Clubs, providing, among other things, that there should be a mutual recognition of disqualifications between the two clubs. I can only speak of the matter with regards to its legal effect upon the Canadian Kennel Club as I would not care to take upon myself to give an opinion bassed upon the laws of any of the states of your Union. I can say, however, that such an arrangement might result in a very serious embarrassment of the Canadian Kennel Club. Our laws provide that a member of a club or society must not be condemned by the society without hearing the evidence against him and of being heard in his own defense, and that any expulsion made without such full and fair inquiry is illegal and entitles the party interested to claim damages from the club or society. An alliance between the American and Canadian Kennel Clubs, as I understand it, would be no more than an alliance, each club preserving its own identity. If, therefore, the Canadian Kennel Club should take upon itself to convict one of its own members of any alleged misconduct without any evidence further than the fact that the member had been disqualified by the allied society in the States, this would legally mean a conviction without any evidence at all, and the club acting upon the finding and disqualifying the member would, as I have stated, be liable to an action for damages and the attempted expulsion would have no legal effect. I take it that this alone would be sufficient to satisfy the clubs that it would be inadvisable to enter into an arrangement with this detail, and I need not, therefore, express my opinion upon the other matters referred to in your letter. I am, sir, yours truly,

GEO. F. HENDERSON.

Moved by Mr. Boyle, seconded by Mr. Sweetnam, that this executive committee, after considering the request of the American Kennel Club in regard to disqualifications, has to place on record that, until better terms of union are offered by the American Kennel Club, it is advisable to let the interests of each club remain as they are. Carried.

WINS.—It was decided to recognize all wins up to end of 1894, held under C. K. C. or A. K. C. rules.

Meeting adjourned to meet at call of the Chairman.

H. B. DONOVAN, Secy.-Treas.

IMPRESSIONS

ST. LOUIS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD.—Until very recently I have read with interest, not unmixed with some degree of mirth, the clamor for new blood in our highly prized and much vaunted English setter, in whose genealogy we have not been disappointed; nor are we now. I cannot see that they are running out, nor can I see any great necessity for new blood, supposing there was any new blood which might be utilized to advantage. Unfortunately there is none which I know of. The histories of our dogs trace down from old Duke and Rhæbe, which, as far as I know or have been informed, produced our field trial strain in Dan, Drake, Rake and others. If this be true, the blood of these "cracks" has been transfused down through the coming generations to the present time, as in the breeding of such dogs as Gladstone, Count Noble, Gath's Mark, Roderigo, Ben Hill, Gladstone's Boy, Toledo Blade, Cincinnatus, Sue, Sue II, Lillian, Lit, Lillian Russell, Antonio, and hosts of others too well known for me to mention. Now then, as we trace on down through this illustrious line is it necessary for me to mention the get of these illustrious sires and dams to prove whether or not they have the prepotency to breed on? Ask our best authority upon this subject.

We will take as an illustration the great Antonio. Look what noble sons he has produced even of late years (not to speak of his previous get) in the two Tonys. Those who had the pleasure of seeing them work in the trials will not deny that they are both stamped with as much setter character as English setters ever were in their origin. And this is not said in the interest of or against any man's dog, for I love any man that loves a dog; for with me it is one of the best criterions on earth that he has a heart. What I have said, then, is to show that there is not this urgent necessity for new blood that some seem to think; nor is there any need of anxiety on our parts for the fear of its running out. At least it does not seem to me to be running out very fast, but rather running in, as recent setter character will demonstrate. I cannot see that they are getting more delicate, a fact which has also existed from their incipiency. It is true that many of them die at an early age from distemper and other causes; this also has held good from time immemorial.

What we want to do is to isolate our sick adult dogs, when suffering from distemper, so as not to expose the young ones at too early an age, or before they shall have arrived at such a time in life as to have acquired strength and power to resist the disease and pass comfortably through it without its sequel—chorea. Perhaps it is better to expose your youngster before you have laid out any money on his early education. Should he recover in good condition you may then have good reason to hope that he will arrive at his majority, barring accidents of any and all kinds.

Now, then, it strikes me that I have bored you enough upon this well-worn and time-honored subject. I will close by saying that there is no new blood which has not been thoroughly utilized, except some which is very fine but has been neglected on account of off-color; this is a mistake. In my next I shall perhaps tell you what it is, though it is highly probable you know already.

I noticed in the AMERICAN FIELD of June 1 a gentleman of this city asking someone to explain the phenomenon of his Gordon setter being bred to a dog of similar type. Also another gentleman in last week's issue, in which bitches, while in the lying-in condition, conceived and bore equal numbers of puppies which were true to their colors, while others partook of all the color, characteristics, etc., of dogs which these bitches had associated with during what is known as the "puppy bearing period." This, indeed, is a mooted question and is explained by the term "maternal impression." There are many scientists, however, who do not believe in maternal impressions, notwithstanding such illustrations as the above are cont[illegible] ing cited. However, it is explained upon [illegible] On no scientific principles can this phen[illegible] acceptable to the scientist.

FOR SALE.—Mr. B. V. White, [illegible] English setters....Mr. T. E. Stribl[illegible] offers beagles....Mr. J. Artz, Winona, Minn., offers Chesapeake Bays....Orchard Kennels, Topeka, Kan., offer Great Danes....Rockland Beagle Kennel, Nanuet, N. Y., offers beagles....Mr. R. L. James, Blue Island, Ill., offers dachshund....Mr. M. B. Titterington, Burrton, Kan., offers pointer....Mr. T. G. Davey, London, Ont., offers setters and pointers....Cedar River Kennels, Center Point, Ia., offers cocker spaniels....Mr. J. Brett, Closter, N. J., offers English setters and pointers....Eldred Kennel, Philadelphia and New York, offers English setters....Mr A. B. Metcalf, Battle Creek, Mich., offers pointer....Mr. A. D. Frantz, San Bernardino, Cal., offers pointers....Mr. P. L. Shute, Watertown, Mass., offers St. Bernards....Mr. E. Parr, Harristown, Ind., offers fox terriers....Mr. B. Baker, St. Paul, Minn., offers beagles....Meadow City Kennels, Northampton, Mass., offer English setters and pointers....Kingston Kennels, Kingston, Ont., offer beagles, fox and Irish terriers....Mr. A. von Cotzhausen, Milwaukee, Wis., offers English setter and Irish setter....Mr. R. M. Dunlevy, Philadelphia, Pa., offers beagles....Mr. W. A. Foley, Chicago, offers fox terrier....Mr. C. Trecker, Odell, Ill., offers St. Bernards....Royal Forest Beagle Kennels, Wrightsville, Pa., offer beagles....Mr. L. Steffen, Milwaukee, Wis., offers beagles....Mr. J. A. Buckner, Pleasant Hill, Mo., offers fox terriers....Mr. W. F. Clarkson, Peoria, Ill., offers fox terriers....Mr. A. Bielenberg, Elgin, Ill., offers dachshunde....Box 475, McGregor, Ia., offers pointers, Irish setter and English setter....Messrs. German & Co., Louisville, Ky., offer pugs....Mr. L. S. Hudson, Lansing, Mich., offers beagles....Mr. Wm. J. Tulk, Hamilton, Can., offers borzois and greyhounds.

IN THE STUD.—Mr. Wm. J. Tulk, Hamilton, Can., offers the services of the borzois Argoss and Ataman IV, and the greyhound Gem of the Season.

NOTES

TWO weeks ago we related the action taken by the city council of St. Paul in regard to a new dog law instigated by a local physician who evidently dislikes dogs and has been assiduously laboring to scare the people out of their wits by conjuring up cases of rabies at every opportunity. And as he seemed to be in a fair way to succeed in his attempt to create a panic it is refreshing to read in the St. Paul Dispatch of June 13 the following remarks made by Dr. Hewitt, of the state board of health, who is said to be thoroughly disgusted with the way dogs are being massacred in the apostolic city: "There are 99 chances in 100 in this climate that the cases of supposed rabies are not rabies at all, and all the dog needs is to be kept at home by his owner, in a good, quiet place, where he will have good care and not be disturbed. The first thing, in these times of alarm, is to have the dog properly muzzled, and right here I want to say that a sensible muzzle does not worry a dog in any way. The next thing is by all means to preserve the life of the dog, if he is suspected of rabies. The best person to have charge of him is the owner, for then he will have good care. In ten days, if he has the rabies, the person bitten can be sent to an institute, and if he has not they can be relieved of all fear. These tests by inoculation must be made for the sake of science, but they would have no value to a person bitten, for the chances are that within three weeks the poison would have permeated the system to such an extent that he could not be saved. A dog catcher is no person to place in charge of these dogs. Some time ago one of our city officials assured me that the dog pound was first class, that everything was as it should be. A few days afterward he brought me the head of his dog, a magnificent animal, and said the poundmaster had killed him—had shot him, because he had broken his collar and was loose in the pen, and there was nothing else to do. I examined the head, and found it all black and blue. The catcher had used a slungshot, an ax or something. He had no business in the pen with the dogs, and the dog had no business to be tied up in that manner. A few days ago one of the most magnificent setters I ever saw bit a child. In a jiffy he was shot. Then his head was all pounded to a jelly, after which it was cut off and brought to me for analysis. Why, nothing could be done. The brains were simply a mass of blood and hair and bone. The fact was that the boys had been teasing the dog by pulling his tail and he had finally bitten one of them. This indiscriminate slaughter is the very worst thing that could happen. Now take that case in the pound. Suppose you or I had a headache and someone put a collar around our necks and tied us in a room with a lot of howling, crazy fellows, just out of reach. What would be the chance of our recovery? Well, it is just the same with the dog. Another thing. It should be remembered that in France, where they have the real thing, but 16 per cent. of the persons bitten by dogs afflicted with the rabies ever have the disease. So it is the exception and not the rule that the disease is communicated."

I HAVE read with much interest and not a little pleasure the many articles on buying and selling dogs. I have been breeding, training and selling broken dogs for the past ten years, but have yet to find the "sucker" that will send me the cold cash before he sees his dog. I can't see what a man is thinking about that will send his money to a man for a field dog and take his chances on getting what he wants. [illegible] dogs for breeding purposes it is different, then [illegible] or sell on the pedigree, markings, etc. [illegible] offer a few suggestions to buyers: First [illegible] you can buy a fine, thoroughly broken [illegible]

five or thirty-five dollars. Breeders can't afford dogs for such prices. Second, don't buy a dog country and take him on prairie chicken first-class work. I have handled a good field dogs, but can only remember one good prairie chicken dog before he had a kill to his latter birds. Third, don't buy a dog East and ship it to the North or West and expect good work of it, the change of climate is too great: the same rule holds good in shipping a dog from the North to the South. See the case of Manitoba Frisk; nothing else killed him but the great change from the North to the South. So, in conclusion, let me say buy your dog as near home as you can get it, make its owner send it on approval for a week at least, and deposit its value with the express agent while you try the dog. If your man will not ship his dog that way drop him cold, for you can bet dollars to marbles there is something wrong with his dog. Do not take your dog out hunting the day it arrives, but get acquainted with it before turning it loose.

Blue Earth City, Minn. C. A. NOONAN.

I WISH to say a few words about distemper in dogs. It is a mistaken idea that distemper in dogs is of the same order as typhus or pneumonia in the human being. I find that distemper is nothing more than worms in the blood. The first sign of distemper is caused by the worms forming into a ball in the throat and depositing their eggs, or young; the small worms can't get into the stomach, so they begin to work up the throat to the dog's head. These little fellows begin to feed or bore, and inflammation sets in; this causes the dog to cough, the eyes to become red, and the pus to flow from the nose and eyes. The worms finally make an opening into some small vein, and one after the other they will follow into the vein and grow larger, finally killing the dog after drinking all blood the dog has. These worms will be found in the main arteries and veins and in the cavity of the heart as long as two and one-half inches and as large around as a broom straw. If anyone who loses a dog by distemper will cut the dog open and then cut the heart open, he will find it just as I have stated. I lost all the fine puppies I bought one season by this mean disease, and I made up my mind to find a cure for it. I examined several dogs that died with distemper and found the worms in all of them. I stated what I discovered to some of the doctors here, and they said they could hardly believe their own eyes. I asked their opinion, and they gave me a number of remedies but did no good. I went to a chemist, and after a great lot of trouble I finally got a medicine that will cure distemper. I love dogs and hate to see them suffer and die, and I hope this poorly written note may do some good to the sportsmen of the country.

Savannah, Ga. C. B. WESTCOTT.

MR. J. PIERPONT MORGAN lost a really good collie Thursday of last week, when his well-known Roslyn Wilkes was drowned in a pond while out at exercise. Death probably resulted from cramps. Roslyn Wilkes was one of the very best of American-bred collies, and he attracted more than ordinary attention when he made a winning début at New York in 1890 for the reason that he was about the best native specimen seen up to that time; though in the novice class the puppy class winner, Hempstead Ben, another American-bred one, was placed over him. The honor of breeding Roslyn Wilkes belongs to Mr. Morgan, but at an early age he became the property of the Chestnut Hill Kennels and enjoyed a most successful show career. Four straight open class victories in 1890 took him into the challenge class, where he speedily won the title of champion, scoring six uninterrupted wins in 1891. He then was purchased by Dr. Sauveur, of the Seminole Kennels, and continued his winning career, taking five firsts in 1892 without a defeat. February of 1893 found him winning at New York, but now for his breeder, into whose hands he had once again passed; he also won at Boston the same year. Last year Mr. Morgan exhibited him at Saratoga, New York, Detroit, Chicago and the Hempstead Farm's show, but he failed to secure a blue ribbon, being beaten by the imported dogs The Squire, Wellesbourne Charlie and Sefton Hero; and the two last kept him from scoring this year at New York and Chicago. Roslyn Wilkes was a sable and white dog, whelped January 18, 1889, by Champion Scotilla (7379) out of Bertha (7391); both sire and dam were imported from England, where they had successful show careers.

IN the AMERICAN FIELD of June 8 Mr. J. H. Maenner, of this city, aspires to crush to death Reirret and his article in the issue of May 11. Now I am no believer in wasting your valuable space with arguments, but just give me a few lines and I won't trouble you this way again for a long time. Mr. Maenner says I don't state facts, and that dog licenses in this city cost three dollars. I hold in my left hand as I write a dog license (No. 420) for which I paid just two and one-half dollars, and ten cents extra for brass tag, and the license so states. Somebody has been overcharging Mr. Maenner, and he ought to see about it. As to his dogs never being poisoned, I congratulate him with all my heart, and I most sincerely trust he never will meet with that misfortune; but if he will take the trouble to call at my office I will give him the name of the man who made the threat I wrote of in the AMERICAN FIELD of May 11, and his address too. Mr. Maenner must have some grievance against somebody to have occasioned his letter of June 8, for he talks about my not stating facts, and then, in reply to my statement about poison, says he never has had his dogs harmed. That does not prove anything as to his neighbor. And as to the price of license, he is all wrong and either does not know what he is talking about or has been imposed on. Don't be in such a hurry next time to get your name in print, my friend.

Baltimore, Md. REIRRET.

THAUS, so well known to all canvases, has on exhibition y, Chicago, several pictures light the sportsman fortunate to inspect them, but kindle the fire which will make him long for the Autumn, when all Nature invites him to the field with dog and gun. In the window is a canvas entitled, "Which Shall Go?" depicting seven dogs, pointers and setters, inside of a kennel yard, all anxious to be the ones which shall go with the two hunters who are looking over the fence at them, while the kennelman is at the gate asking them which dogs they wish for the day's shooting. "The Setter's Pride," hung in the gallery, shows a black, white and tan setter retrieving a ruffed grouse, with background of dense woods in Autumn time. "The Master of My Hounds" is a pretty conception showing a little boy with six beagles in couples. "Noses and Ears" is a canvas made from studies at the late Boston show, of life-size heads of the bulldog King Orry, the borzoi Colonel Dietz, the bloodhound Alchymist and the Scotch terrier Kilbar Jr. Two water colors, which have been much admired, depict a life-size head of a setter retrieving a quail, and an Irish setter and pointer on point and back. The pictures will be in the gallery until next Saturday, June 29, and sportsmen are cordially invited to eall and see them.

THE dog show of the Ohio Humane Society last month was a success financially, as well as in every other way. The show cleared $600, and the soeiety will now establish a dog farm close to the city, where will be kept all dogs that aro caught up by the dog wagon. They will not be killed, except for disease or being very bad specimens, but most all will be provided with homes in the country, either given or sold to farmers and others for a nominal eonsideration, the main object being to get the dog a home where he will be treated as all dogs, whether of high or lowly birth, deserve to be. A committee of three, consisting of Dr. W. A. R. Tenney (president), Joseph Smith (superintendent) and Mr. Hoekett (poundmaster), has been appointed to go to Philadelphia to inspect the plans of the Humane Society there and get from them ideas for this dog farm. Sexes are to be kept separate, no breeding is to be done, and a hospital will be provided for all dogs suffering from any disease, where they will be cured if curable; if not, they will be put out of the way in as humane a manner as possible. While I am not a "vet," yet I doctor about all the sick dogs in the city —mostly for no pay—and I have volunteered to go out and see these dogs and treat them free of charge.

Cincinnati. AL. G. EBERHART.

A FEW weeks ago an English fancier named Pakeman sent two greyhounds in a big box to the Bath dog show; the box was made for that purpose, but the dogs were found suffocated at the journey's end. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals took up the case, and when Mr. Pakeman was summoned to appear at the Stockport Police Court it was proved that the box was not ventilated according to the regulations. The chief magistrate ruled that there was no cruel intention, although he considered the defendant had been very careless; and he said that as the costs would be heavy he would let the guilty owner off with a fine of two dollars and a half, he to pay the costs of the prosecution. The particulars of the prosecution attracted considerable attention among those who are in the habit of sending their dogs by rail in boxes, for hardly any of them seem to have known there was a regulation laying down the proper ventilation of such boxes. It appears that in order to comply with the regulation a box must be raised on blocks or short legs and that holes must be bored in the bottom as well as through the sides and top, which is a very sensible arrangement.

ANOTHER good dog joined the ever-increasing majority when Mr. G. G. Pabst's pointer champion Trinket's Chief died of gangrene of the lungs last Friday. Chief had had his share of success in the show ring, winning at Cincinnati, Detroit, Rockford, Jackson, Freeport, Denver and Chicago. He was bred by Mr. E. F. Stoddard at Dayton, O., and at one time was owned by Mr. J. B. Downing of Middleport, in the same state. Trinket's Chief was a large, muscular white and liver ticked dog, whelped April 4, 1886. He was from imported stock, being by Croxteth out of Trinket, and did good service in the stud, the best known of his get being Trinket's Chief Jr. We hope Mr. Pabst will soon find another as good as old Chief to fill the vacancy caused by his death.

THE Rhode Island State Fair Assoeiation claims September 17, 18, 19 and 20 as the dates for its third annual dog show at Providenee. Spratts Patent will bench and feed, and Mr. E. M. Oldham assumes the duties of superintendent. The premium list will be issued shortly, and the names of tho judges announeed in due course. The Providence show has quickly sprung into popularity with eastern fanciers, perhaps partly because it eomes after a long respite, and as the 500 mark is very apt to be reaehed again, in view of the reviving interest in canine affairs, it is to be hoped owners will "flock" there with the dogs they wish to see qualify for championship honors.

MR. E. O. DAMON is importing from Mr. J. R. Robinson of Sunderland, in the north of England, the English setter dog Emperor Tony (E. 33662), by Emperor Edward Laverack (Emperor Ned—Empress Queen) out of Empress Belle (Emperor Ned—Empress Bess), so anyone can see with half an eye that the dog is "royally bred." Emperor Tony is three and a half years old and was bred by Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Damon writes us that Mr. Brailsford, who selected the dog for him, deelares its blood lines to be the only ones in England identical with those adopted by the late Edward Laveraek. Mr. Damon is looking forward to mating his purehase with a Corsair—Mary Murnan bitch that he has and thinks a lot of.

THE committee appointed by the N. E. Kennel Clnb to handle the Irish Terrier Produce Stakes mentioned last week is eireularizing the fancy with a rather gorgeous affair in blue and red ink; it contains the conditions and rules and all other matter referred to in last week's Kennel Notes, also the division of the stakes, which will be as follows: 25 per cent. for best in the show, and 20 per cent. for best of opposite sex; 10 per eent. each for best dog and bitch; 12½ per cent. each for best dog and bitch puppies, and 5 per cent. each for second best. The competing dogs must be entered in their regular classes.

MR. A. C. WADDELL has been appointed manager of the Del Monte Kennels, Monterey, Cal., owned by Mr. George Crocker. With the practical experience of over twenty years, that Mr. Waddell carries to his position, the Del Monte Kennels should achieve an extensive reputation. There is some good material in the kennels, and more of equal character will be added. It is over twenty years since Mr. Waddell established at Newton, N. J., the first public kennel in Ameriea, and ever since that time he has devoted his attention to breeding and raising dogs.

I NOTE that a Mr. Pierce of Vermont advertises his foxhound Driver as "winner of first at Boston, 1894." I was under the impression that my hound Argonaut won at this show. If Driver won first in the puppy class it would sound better to so state it. There is considerable difference between winning first in open dog and puppy classes at any show, and especially in foxhounds at Boston.

Lexington, Ky. ROGER WILLIAMS.

TEN years ago and more a Newfoundland dog named Sam was doing considerable winning in the East; he was owned by Mr. J. A. Niekerson, of Boston, the first secretary of the New England Kennel Club, and was a good representative of his breed. Sam died recently of inflammation of the bowels and old age, having completed his thirteenth year on the second of last month. From Volume III of the stud book it appears he had quite an extended pedigree.

THE San Franeisco poundkeeper is allowed to collect seventy eents from the city for each dog killed, and has the privilege of selling the hides, etc., as well. Also he is permitted to charge ten cents a day for board of each dog in the pound, and then he gets a slice of the releaso money when a dog is bailed out. Taking one consideration with another, the San Francisco poundkeeper has, in the language of the street, a "snap."

AT a meeting of the Southern California Kennel Club, held June 11, the following officers were eleeted for the ensuing year: President, Mr. C. A. Sumner; vice-presidents, Messrs. J. A. Edmonds, T. E. Walker, T. Bright, H. Y. Evans and R. J. Widney; treasurer, J. H. Kiefer; secretary, F. W. Ingalls; veterinarian, Dr. Button; member for the Pacific Coast Investigating Committee, J. H. Kiefer.

MR. W. S. BELL, of Pittsburg, Pa., will judge the Manitoba Field Trial Club's trials, which will begin Tuesday, September 10, at Morris, Man. The trials promise to be most successful. The club is fortunate in securing Mr. Bell as judge.

THE President of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has purchased a fox terrier sired by that sterling good dog Warren Safeguard; it was selected for Mr. Haines by Mr. A. M. Hughes.

WE would remind members of the Northwestern Field Trial Club that their club meeting is set for next Monday; and owners and handlers that entries for the Manitoba Derby will close on July 1.

WE hear that the pointer Champion Pontiac has been transferred from the kennel named after him to the Grove Farm Kennels, of which Mr. G. W. McNail is the proprietor.

WE hear Mr. W. J. Tulk, the enterprising manager of the Terra Cotta Kennels, contemplates starting a small kennel journal in Hamilton.

OUR thanks to Mr. Dudley E. Waters for pictures of Lady Adelaide II (Plinlimmon—Lady Adelaide) and Champion Alton II.

WE hear that the Omaha premium list is to be ready by the middle of next month.

NAMES CLAIMED

NAMES CLAIMED.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Names Claimed. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. J. E. GIBSON, West Rutland, Vt., claims the name
LOUMONT BAB, for brindled bull terrier bitch puppy, by Royal Tiger—Loumont Kit.
JOKER, for white dog, same litter.
DIDO, for white and brindled dog, same litter.
SARDINE, for buff colored dog, same litter.
LOUMONT BLAZER, for buff colored dog, same litter.
BROCKWAY, for buff colored dog, same litter.

MR. W. W. MILLS JR., Avondale, N. J., claims the name
YANTACAW LASS, for wirehaired fox terrier bitch, whelped March 16, 1894, by Ebor Larchmont (28367)—Sis.
YANTACAW DODO, for smooth fox terrier bitch, whelped May, 1894, by Brittle—Burlington's Diadem.
YANTACAW, for his kennel of fox terriers.

MR. H. E. APPLETON, Pittsburg, Pa., claims the name
PITTSBURG BEN, for black and tan terrier dog, whelped February 6, 1894, by Iron Duke (Rochelle Abdallah, 24263—Mizpah) out of Princess Frederica (Rochelle Rush, 20732—Mizpah).

WHELPS

WHELPS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Whelps. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MR. W. S. CALDWELL JR.'S
BESSIE, black, white and tan English setter, by Blue Dan—Princess Llewellin, whelped, June 12, three dogs and eight bitches, by Beaconsfield (Gladstone's Boy—Bessie Marshal).

MESSRS. FISHBACK & BAUGHN'S
HER MAJESTY (36265), English setter, by Cinch—Gath's Belle (34159), whelped, June 13, three dogs and two bitches by Hoosier Ben.

OAKWOOD KENNELS'
OAKWOOD BELLE, Gordon setter, by Rupert Beaumont—Kent's Queen, whelped, June 13, two bitches, by Champion Rexmont.

MR. G. G. WILLIAMSON'S
BELLE OF BLUE RIDGE, English setter, by Roderigo—Belle of Piedmont, whelped, May 30, four dogs and four bitches.

MR. W. H. BEAZELL'S
BUCKELLEW'S GIRL, English setter, by Dad Wilson—Daisy Hunter, whelped, June 4, eleven puppies, by Antonio.

MR. G. WADDINGTON'S
DAISY SPORTSMAN (23697), English setter, has whelped five dogs and two bitches, by Prince Lucifer (25873).

ORCHARD KENNELS'
IONIA, Great Dane, by Prince Victor—Flo, whelped, May 21, one dog and three bitches, by King William.

MR. F. E. GITCHELL'S
REHAM TOPSY, black cocker, by Brante—Topsy, whelped, June 13, twelve puppies, by Raven Boy.

MR. J. E. GIBSON'S
LOFMONT KIT, bull terrier, has whelped six dogs and one bitch by Royal Tiger.

SALES

SALES.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Sales. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

ORCHARD KENNELS, Topeka, Kan., have sold
——, Great Dane, whelped January 26, by King William—Pollie, to Mr. J. J. McPherson, Kansas City, Mo.
——, same litter, to Mr. H. I. Wilson, Kansas City, Mo.
——, same litter, to Mr. C. C. Caln, New Orleans, La.
——, same litter, to Mr. John F. Sansom, Kahoka, Mo.
——, rough St. Bernard, whelped October 15, 1894, by Sir Nero E—Maysie, to Messrs. Staley & Dunlap, Kansas City, Mo.
——, rough St. Bernard, whelped April 30, by Sir Nero E—Maysie, to Mr. R. N. Peck, New Britain, Conn.
——, smooth St. Bernard, whelped April 26, by Sir Nero E—Fairview Belle, to Mrs. I. V. Smith, Dallas, Tex.

MR. J. F. KIRK, Toronto, Can., has sold
ROSEDALE SAPPHO, black cocker bitch, by Echo out of Rosedale Bessie (Bob Obo—Ruby), to Royal Kennels, Galva, Ill.

MR. GEO. DOUGLASS, Woodstock, Can., has sold
WOODLAND FINNETTE, black cocker bitch, by Count Obo out of Madam Finnette, to Royal Kennels, Galva, Ill.

VISITS

VISITS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Visits. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

ROCHESTER-PITTSBURG KENNELS'
NELLIE HARPER (26187), bull terrier, April 16, to Little Flyer (Slavin II—Nell).
LADY DINAH (26186), bull terrier, May 17, to Streatham Monarch (22086).

ROYAL KENNELS'
ROSEDALE SAPPHO, black cocker, June 4 and 6, to Farrow's Obo III (Obo—Gippings Floss).

Coursing

FIXTURES

Aberdeen Coursing Club's Autumn meeting, Aberdeen, S. D., October 1. J. H. Davis, secretary.

American Waterloo Cup meeting (first), Huron, S. D., October 8, etc. F. B. Coyne, secretary, American Coursing Club.

Altcar Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 16, etc. T. W. Bartels, secretary.

Kenmore Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ——, October 22, etc. C. F. Weber, secretary.

Cheyenne Coursing Club's first meeting, Great Bend, Kan., October 29, etc. Ira D. Brougher, secretary.

COYOTE COURSING

BY E. J. MCK.

It was just light enough when we left the ranch house and cantered forward for a mile or more. It was my first experience of the kind, but I knew there was fun ahead. We then strung out two abreast, Mr. Matthews and his brother Ed leading the greyhounds, on a string, in the lead. So we rode for an hour. The sun, knowing something was up, tried to peep over the horizon, and a most perfect sight the whole scene presented. The cowboys ahead, in their picturesque garb; the sun's rays shooting above the sandhills to the left and casting a peculiar light on those to our right; beyond, the South Platte River, which wound in and out through these hills like a silver thread. It made a most impressive picture.

"There they are!" someone cried, which brought us to a standstill. After peering intently in the direction indicated I could just make out some objects moving around a bunch of cattle. We held a powwow as to the best way to approach. It was decided to send two men and the dogs along the edge of the river. The other four were to make a detour and drive toward the river, where the hounds could make a good run. We had seven hounds, including two puppies. We rode quite a distance out and then closed in. The coyotes, seeing us, started for the river, and then began the wildest ride imaginable. The horses went "lickity split," making big leaps over holes, etc., and I found some difficulty in keeping my seat, although I plume myself on my horsemanship. The men yelled to encourage the dogs, and for a while I was completely carried away, for my voice joined the rest and Tramp kept me well to the front, seeming to enjoy the sport as much as I did. It was not a long run, and when we came up the coyote was kicking his last and the dogs lay around panting. There had been eight coyotes, which had divided. The puppies and one hound started after three. When they caught up to them the coyotes turned, and the puppies decided they were only in fun, thought they were wanted at home, and started for there. The old hound suddenly remembered he, too, had forgotten something and soon joined us. While I sat on the ground watching them skin this dangerous enemy I could not help thinking my western brothers had the best of it. There are no fences, and the wolf is game to the death, sometimes inflicting ugly wounds on the hounds. The dogs make a science of it, however. If they are running close they work in this way: The first hound catches the wolf's hindleg and throws him, the second grabs for his neck, but is generally bitten. The third is in, however, at the neck. The wolf releases his hold for this new enemy, but is too late. There is a hold on his neck that is there until his soul knocks at the door of the happy hunting ground.

"What was that?" I asked. It sounded like several dogs barking quickly, and then a long-drawn howl. The wolves had got across the river and were calling the others.

"I can locate the devils now, and it will be mighty funny if we don't get another," said Mr. Matthews.

One of the boys tied the pelt to his saddle, and we all started up the river so we could make another circle—this time taking the hounds along and try to surprise the wolves in the rear; besides, it would be easier on the hounds to run toward the river, as there was not so much cactus and water was handy. They need it badly after a run. We rode up the river about half a mile, when we proceeded to cross. This was done somewhat gingerly, as there are lots of quicksands. We got over without any mishap, and rode at a trot for about forty minutes, when Mr. Matthews called a halt and told us to proceed carefully, as he thought we ought to see some coyotes soon. He left us and rode slowly to the top of the hill, we waiting behind. A minute or so elapsed, when he beckoned for us to join him.

"I just saw one running along the top of yonder hill; we will get down in this draw and try to gain some on him before we make the run," he said.

We hurried as fast as caution would permit, and then he said, "Now, boys," and we dashed up the hill and saw a coyote not two hundred yards away. The dogs got twisted on the ropes, and he gained about ten yards before they got loose; then began the prettiest chase I have ever seen. Blackie, Mr. Matthews' favorite, shot out like a rocket from the pack and just a little this side of the river threw the coyote, but none of the dogs could get up in time to help her, so the coyote, a great big fellow, was off again, with Blackie trying to turn him. He reached the river, however, and started across. The dogs were now running their best, and the daylight between them and the leader was fast closing up, with we men in the rear yelling like a band of Sioux Indians on the warpath.

I should have stated that the river is low, there being only two wide channels in it at present, and several islands between them. We saw the wolf get on one of these islands with Blackie worrying him, and Grover, Ed. Matthews' dog, not ten feet behind, and we felt pretty sure of getting him. Quicksands were forgotten, for we rode at the river as if such a danger never existed, whipping the horses at every jump. I had not gone twenty feet in the river bed when my horse gave a jump and went almost out of sight. I rolled off, how I can't remember, but kept rolling until I reached a sandbar, when I got up, sort of feeling queer. The horse plunged, strained and wallowed out of it, and when I caught him the poor beast was trembling all over. I pitied him, but adjusted my saddle, "crawled" him, and was off after my companions, their cries being my guide. I got up in time to see Ed. Matthews shoot the coyote to prevent it from hurting the hounds. He was an extremely large and savage one, and we all felt happy.

Thus ended the day's hunt, as the dogs were badly played out and the wolves had all scattered. We got back to the ranch for dinner, the most jolly one I ever sat down to. Of course the topic was wolf hunting, and Mr. Matthews regaled us with stories of his younger days, when he lassoed wolves and coyotes.

Philadelphia.

THE CALIFORNIA STATE MEETING

The Consolation Stake of this meeting was run off at Ocean View on June 9, when twenty-eight of the sixty-six greyhounds that had not won any money in the big event were entered. From all accounts the attendance was very good and the weather pleasant. The judge, slipper and other officials were the same.

SUMMARY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9. CONSOLATION STAKES, for all greyhounds not winning money in the California Stakes; $3 each, $70 added. To the winner, $50; to the runner-up, $35; next two, $20 each; next four, $10 each. 28 entries.

J. H. Perigo's be w d Longfellow	beat	H. Bodie's f w b Marigold.
V. W. Guerrero's w bd d Electric,	beat	J. Dean's bk w d Fullerton.
B. Dougherty's bk b Royal Daisy	beat	J. J. Edmonds' w bk b Vida Shaw.
T. Brennan's w d White Rustic	beat	W. D. Murphy ns. (Mr. Payton's) bd w d Staunboul.
P. Carney's w d Mission Boy	beat	J. Lucy's w b Maggie D.
J. Strahl's b d b Lillian Russell	beat	R. Pringle's w bk b Ace of Spades.
T. J. Cronin's w bk b Best Trump	beat	M. W. Kerrigan's bd w d Dashaway.
J. Sullivan's w f d Little Tom	beat	J. H. Perigo's f b Wee Lassie.
O. Byran's bk w d Magpie	beat	P. Brophy's w d Brophy.
J. Quane's bd d Captain Morse	beat	W. Dalton's bd w d Famous.
J. J. Edmonds' be w d Olden W	beat	T. J. Cronin's w d Jack Dempsey.
J. McBride's w d Chris Buckley	beat	T. J. Cronin's w d White Chief.
T. Coxe's bd w d Sam	beat	J. Strahl's f d Gold King.
P. Ryan's f b Lady Fitzgerald	beat	J. Sullivan's bd w b Kilkenny Girl.

II

Longfellow beat Electric.
Royal Daisy beat White Rustic.
Mission Boy beat Lillian Russell.
Best Trump beat Little Tom.

Captain Morse beat Magpie.
Chris Buckley beat Olden W.
Sam beat Lady Fitzgerald.

III

Longfellow beat Royal Daisy.
Best Trump beat Mission Boy.

Captain Morse beat Chris Buckley.
Sam, a bye.

IV

Best Trump beat Longfellow.

Sam beat Captain Morse.

FINAL

Mr. T. Coxe's bd w d Sam beat Mr. T. J. Cronin's w bk b Best Trump, and won.

NOTES

MR. JOHN R. PRICE of Topeka, Kan., retains his fondness for a greyhound and a bit of sport with them, though it is three years since he was repr[illegible] meeting. He still owns Lady Alice, the [illegible] bitch by Joe Burnside out of Humming[illegible] up to Mr. Lowe's Liberty at Hutchi[illegible] won two courses in the American Fi[illegible] ing year, and on April 27 she present[illegible] bitch puppies sired by a dog named [illegible] Mr. Price sold Terry (Sandy—Reno B[illegible] when ran up to his brother, Mr. M. E. Allison's Sandy Jim, in the All-Age Stakes at Great Bend in 1886. That was the inangural meeting of the American Coursing Club, and in those days the quality of the performers was inferior to what it is nowadays, but old Sandy Jim covered himself with glory by winning both the All-Age Stakes (16) and the American Field Cup (10). The latter event proved a "good thing" for Mr. Allison, who had three greyhounds running. These all won in the first round, the other two survivors belonging to Mr. C. G. Page, who withdrew his dogs on account of injuries and thus left Mr. Allison's trio without opposition; but instead of dividing they fought out the issue between themselves. Though these dogs were winners in their time, their descendants will hardly find favor at the present day, and we should like to see such a good sportsman as Mr. Price breeding something better.

IT is almost a nineteenth century axiom that there a woman at the bottom of it when one gets into trouble. We have got into trouble on account of a young creature named Annie Laurie, because, in the language of the fin de siecle politician, Annie believes we have "trun her down." Having offended unwittingly, we hasten to make reparation. Annie Laurie, be it understood, is not a soubrette, a girl graduate, or anything of that sort; she is the apple of "Tommy" Hall's eye and the pride of his kennel, and the enthusiastic Merced leashman thinks he has a real good greyhound in her. To hark back to St. Patrick's Day is rather a long way, but it appears that on that festive anniversary Annie Laurie won a twelve-dogs stake at Ocean View Park, and we failed to make mention thereof. Annie was bred in Wisconsin, and therein lies the trouble; for we proclaimed the victories in California of Lord Clifton and Vida Shaw, two Kansas-bred greyhounds, which each won a thirty-two on April 14, and sweet Annie Laurie thinks we slighted her. Therein she errs, for we knew nothing of the St. Patrick's Day running, and should have been yet in ignorance of her prowess but for the receipt of a clipping from the San Francisco Call, which says, "her triumph was clear cut, for never for a moment did she leave anything in doubt." Annie Laurie is a young bitch by imp. Glenkirk out of imp. Gilda, so of course she was bred by Mr. Mulcaster.

ON the 24th of last month died the celebrated greyhound Mullingar, by Misterton out of Gulnare II (Harfager—Herrenhausen). He was a fairly old dog, having been whelped in 1884, and must have earned a lot money at one time and another for Mr. H. G. Miller, the well-known Dorsetshire courser. He ran a good trial at Altcar with the Waterloo Cup winner Burnaby, but he was seen at his best in the inclosures. In his second season he won the Gosforth Gold Cup (worth $5,000 to the winner, and $1,250 to the runner-up) at Gosforth Park; there were 128 runners, and the runner-up was Mr. E. Dent's equally famous dog, Huie Halloa, who won the gold cup the following year, beating Burnaby in the final course. In 1888 Mullingar ran-up to Holmby for the Kempton Park Great Champion Stakes (64), worth $3,000 to the winner and $1,000 to the runner-up; he also won the Cardinal Wolsey Stakes (64) at Kempton Park, and divided the Kilmorey Cup at Mourne Park; so that it is safe to say that during his running career Mullingar must have won about $10,000 in stakes, besides which he earned a fair yearly income when retired to the stud, though he was not such a great success there.

WORD reaches us that at a meeting of the Los Angeles Coursing Club held June 5, a majority of the members being present, it was unanimously agreed to disband the club. However, as several members are in favor of reorganization or starting a new club, it is possible that coursing interests may yet be kept alive and properly catered to.

WE understand a coursing club has been organized at Weir City, in the extreme southeast corner of Kansas, and we hope soon to be able to give some particulars as to an open meeting next season.

Rifle

FIXTURES

Ninth tournament of the Westlicher Schuetzen-Bund, Milwaukee, Wis., June 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

National Sharpshooters' Union's first tournament, Glendale, L. I., June 30 to July 8.

THE Savage Repeating Arms Company has just put on the market a new hammerless rifle, which is manufactured for them by the Marlin Fire Arms Co. This rifle is the invention of Mr. Arthur W. Savage, and embodies the results of much careful study and experimenting, his experience being gained by years of hunting in Australia and Africa. The rifles are built to metallic ammunition with smokeless powder in its full strength, and combine simplicity, strength, lightness and ease of manipulation. The company will soon be ready to supply any demand, and in its advance announcements makes the following claims: "The rifles are hammerless repeaters. The magazine is arranged within the steel walls of the receiver, and is constructed [illegible] cartridges, together with one cartridge in the [illegible] opening, which makes the rifle a six-sh[illegible] weight, complete, is seven and one h[illegible] the length of the barrel is 26 inches; the cal[illegible] the pitch of the rifling is one turn in 10 in[illegible] [illegible] fired by an amateur 25 shots per minute [illegible] single loader, and 40 shots per minute [illegible] as a magazine gun. The barrel and [illegible] mechanism are built to resist a tensile [illegible] pounds to the square inch; the [illegible] as to elastic limit of 60,000 pounds. The [illegible] tracting power on the ratio of 1 to 16, i. e., [illegible] equal to one pound in weight on the lever will exert a force equal to 16 pounds on the empty shell in the chamber. The gun is provided with an automatic indicator, consisting of numerals on the head of carrier G, exposed through a hole in the wall of the receiver, so that the sportsman can see at a glance the state of his magazine. On the top of the breech-bolt there is arranged an automatic indicator, showing, at all times, whether the firing mechanism is cocked, or in safety position. The gun is also provided with a safety device for locking the action, which can be instantaneously operated. Four different kinds of ammunition are provided for use in these rifles: first, the regular, solid head, metallic cartridge with an extra heavy primer—the shell holding 30 grains of the "Savage" brand of smokeless powder; the metal-jacketed bullets weighing 190 grains; second, cartridges using the same shell and primer, with a metal-jacketed bullet—the jacket being placed on the rear portion only of the bullet, the front end of the bullet being soft lead forming an expanding bullet for large, dangerous game; third, cartridges having the same shell, primer and bullet as first mentioned, the shells being loaded with 40 grains of black rifle powder; and fourthly, a gallery cartridge loaded with 5 grains of "No. 2 S" smokeless powder, with an alloy bullet weighing 100 grains. These latter cartridges are made for gallery practice and for light shooting."

THE Western Sharpshooters' Union tournament, which commenced at Milwaukee, Wis., last Wednesday, and will end to-morrow, is a great success in point of attendance and interest taken. The first delegation to arrive at Milwaukee was the Columbia Rifle Club of San Francisco, Cal., which passed through Chicago last Monday, consisting of George Helm, Henry Wreder, B. F. Fakter, George Alpere, Fred Schuster, Louis Bendel, Max Schwab, H. Jungbluth, and William Ehrenpfort. Miss Ehrenpfort, who is an expert with the rifle, was the charming mascot of the party. At the time of going to press we learn that the number of entries from different cities is as follows: Davenport, 12; Chicago, 40; La Crosse, 10; Winona, 12; Omaha, 8; Hartford, Conn., 5; Morgantown, W. Va., 7; St. Louis, 12; Elgin, Ill., 5; Peoria, Ill., 12; Joliet, Ill., 6; Peru, Ill., 6; Fountain City, Wis., 5; Green Bay, 5; New Holstein, 5; Chilton, 4; Oshkosh, 5; Wausau, 5; Monticello, 5. Milwaukee's three rifle clubs enter forty. This is the largest shooting festival ever given by the Union, and the value of the prizes offered for shots at the Union target alone aggregate over $3,000. The Cincinnati Rifle Club's offering is a target perforated with balls, each hole being covered with a half-dollar piece, amounting to $25 in all. Such an array of cracksmen before the butts reminds one of old times, when rifle shooting was the sport par excellence, and we hope this is the beginning of a great revival of interest in the art which made Davy Crockett and Daniel Boone heroes of their day and the objects of admiration at the present time.

DOMINION OFF HAND RIFLE ASSOCIATION

PARRY SOUND, ONT.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Dominion Off Hand Rifle Association shot its monthly matches on June 8. The weather was oppressively hot and consequently the scores are below the average.

PARRY SOUND FIRST TEAM

	100 yards	200 yards	Total
W. Stafford	10 10 10 10 10—50	9 9 10 9 10—47	97
R. O. Stokes	9 9 10 10 8—46	10 7 10 10 9—46	92
I. B. Miller	7 9 10 10 9—45	9 8 10 9 9—45	90
I. Morrish	8 10 10 5 10—43	10 7 4 8 6—35	78
I. R. Leggall	9 10 7 9 10—45	2 10 7 10 1—30	75
Team total			432

KING CITY TEAM

W. I. Ross	9 9 7 10 9—44	10 10 10 10 8—48	92
I. W. Crossley	7 7 10 9 9—42	9 10 10 10 8—47	89
Dr. Norman	8 10 10 10 10—48	7 10 4 6 6—33	81
W. I. Crossley	8 9 9 10 8—44	10 8 8 9 0—35	79
A. Carley	8 7 10 7 7—39	10 5 8 10 6—39	78
Team total			419

CARNDUFF TEAM, ASSINNABOINE, TY.

I. A. Thompson	10 8 3 6 7—34	6 3 7 10 9—35	69
E. I. Huseley	10 3 8 7 9—37	0 7 10 5 8—30	67
W. I. Gilliland	5 7 10 10 6—38	2 7 4 3 2—18	56
St. George Walker	5 6 5 3 4—23	10 9 6 10 3—38	61
G. D. Kilbourne	8 3 8 9 7—35	0 7 7 6 0—20	55
Team total			308

PARRY SOUND SECOND TEAM

G. Richardson	10 7 8 10 8—43	7 5 7 8 5—32	75
I. McClelland	9 9 1 9 7—35	0 8 7 10 6—31	66
R. W. George	8 8 10 5 8—39	9 2 6 0 8—25	64
R. I. Clarkson	8 9 4 5 10—36	10 0 10 1 0—21	57
S. B. Purvis	10 3 4 6 9—32	8 4 0 5 7—21	56
Team total			318

TORONTO TEAM

W. I. Graham	10 9 10 8 10—47	10 10 10 4 10—44	91
I. L. Scholes	6 9 7 8 9—39	6 0 10 9 10—35	74
H. R. Stewart	7 7 7 9 8—38	8 7 1 9 3—28	66
H. M. Cusack	7 7 5 7 1—30	10 4 10 4 7—35	65
I. Thompson	9 5 3 9 9—35	6 6 10 3 3—28	63
Team total			359

D. F. MACDONALD, Scey.

CINCINNATI, O. The following scores were made by members of the Cincinnati Rifle Association at its range June 16. Conditions: 200 yards, off hand, at the Standard target.

Glndele	9	9	7	9	8	10	8	10	8	10—88
	8	10	7	10	10	8	9	8	9	8—87
	6	9	10	9	6	9	9	10	9	7—84
	10	9	6	8	7	8	10	6	8	8—80
	10	9	7	8	6	9	5	9	5	5—73
	5	10	7	6	8	5	8	6	7	10—72
	10	8	9	6	9	5	5	5	8	7—72
	8	7	8	10	6	8	6	7	4	8—72
	7	5	8	10	7	5	9	9	9	9—78
	5	7	10	8	9	7	9	7	6	7—75
	9	5	9	6	6	7	8	8	10	7—75
	9	5	6	8	8	7	8	8	8	8—75
Hasenzahl	6	6	9	8	6	6	10	8	7	5—71
	10	7	8	9	6	8	8	8	10	8—82
	6	9	7	6	8	7	9	7	8	8—75
	10	10	6	8	6	9	7	7	7	7—77
Trounstine	4	10	5	6	9	5	5	9	6	10—69
	7	9	6	8	5	10	4	9	5	4—67
	3	8	10	9	5	4	5	6	6	6—62
	10	10	6	6	4	9	8	6	5	8—72
Nestler	8	9	9	8	10	9	6	6	8	10—83
	9	5	9	10	8	10	6	10	6	7—80
	8	7	9	8	9	5	9	5	10	9—79
	10	9	8	9	4	7	7	7	9	7—77
Wellinger	10	9	7	7	9	9	8	8	8	7—83
	7	6	10	10	10	6	8	8	7	6—78
	6	7	7	9	8	7	8	8	7	6—77
	10	6	4	9	6	9	9	8	6	7—74
Topf	8	4	5	9	5	5	9	3	8	5—61
	6	9	7	10	5	6	8	8	6	6—71
	5	9	6	4	4	6	8	4	4	9—59
	4	3	9	3	6	7	5	10	1	9—57
Hake	7	10	7	6	9	6	9	8	7	8—77
	7	6	9	9	8	8	5	6	10	6—74
	7	6	7	6	4	7	7	8	7	8—67
	6	8	8	8	4	5	8	5	4	3—59
Sce	7	9	8	10	10	5	9	9	8	9—84
	9	9	5	9	7	8	8	7	9	9—80
	7	9	8	5	8	4	10	9	9	7—76
	8	9	6	7	8	7	8	6	10	7—76
Randall	10	8	7	8	9	5	7	9	9	6—78
	7	6	6	8	8	9	8	9	8	6—75
	7	10	5	7	9	7	8	10	9	5—77
	9	8	8	6	7	6	6	9	5	8—72
Drube	8	8	8	9	8	7	6	5	7	8—74
	8	6	7	7	7	9	9	9	6	6—74
	8	7	8	6	5	10	7	6	9	10—76
	5	8	5	6	5	10	7	10	7	7—70
*Copeland	8	7	4	5	10	4	5	6	8	4—61
	7	5	4	3	9	6	9	7	4	6—60
	4	9	7	3	6	5	8	10	3	2—57
	4	9	5	7	3	4	7	4	6	9—58

*Military. A. D.

CINCINNATI, O.—The Losantiville Shooting Association held its regular practice shoot at Central Shooting Park, Dayton, Ky., June 9. Both the German ring and American standard targets were used. Conditions: 200 yards off hand (no palm rest), open sights, three pounds trigger pull; sighting shots and unfinished scores not allowed.

GERMAN RING TARGET

*Nestler	23	24	25	21	21	18	22	23	23	14—214
	25	18	24	22	21	18	20	20	25	16—209
	25	22	23	21	18	19	20	19	22	19—208
	19	22	24	14	22	22	20	18	20	25—206
*Wellinger	25	22	22	22	25	21	14	23	17	21—212
	21	24	21	17	24	18	21	20	23	21—210
	18	24	19	19	21	20	25	21	19	24—210
	19	18	21	20	25	23	17	22	19	20—204
*Hasenzahl	21	19	17	21	20	21	23	24	24	23—213
	24	17	25	24	9	20	23	19	23	23—207
	23	19	21	20	20	16	22	21	21	19—202
	16	17	20	15	23	20	23	15	18	25—192
*Payne	18	17	22	21	20	22	21	24	20	24—209
	22	25	21	16	21	23	20	16	19	21—204
	16	21	23	21	21	17	24	20	23	17—203
	19	17	22	16	18	25	22	21	22	13—195
Roberts	24	16	20	23	19	20	23	24	19	22—210
	23	19	23	24	22	20	13	25	19	20—208
	23	10	15	19	22	21	18	22	19	23—192
	17	18	17	19	20	22	19	17	14	25—188
Scherrer	14	23	18	19	17	22	22	23	20	24—202
	20	22	24	20	18	19	24	16	14	21—198
	23	16	17	23	23	13	23	23	22	12—195
	19	17	19	15	20	11	18	19	21	19—178
Heod	13	22	21	9	16	18	14	22	19	24—181
	22	6	6	20	17	23	8	22	16	20—160
	0	23	21	21	19	4	19	13	23	17—160
Gassman	17	24	16	17	13	22	20	17	20	17—183
	20	13	23	12	19	13	23	21	16	13—173
	19	7	4	17	23	24	19	6	21	16—156

AMERICAN STANDARD TARGET

Fritag	6	7	8	7	4	7	10	5	10	4—70
	6	5	4	5	2	6	10	4	6	5—53
	6	7	5	2	4	3	6	6	5	8—52
Gabelman	3	5	8	4	10	4	8	9	8	8—67
	5	4	9	6	6	8	6	5	4	7—60
	6	7	4	2	6	6	6	6	8	9—57
Emminger	4	7	4	7	7	6	9	6	9	8—67
	2	8	7	6	7	5	5	5	6	6—57
	7	5	5	3	7	6	5	4	6	3—51
Seibel	8	4	5	10	7	5	10	6	8	8—71
	4	0	0	8	6	5	7	7	9	5—51
Lapp	6	6	5	7	5	9	6	9	5	8—66
	6	6	5	8	4	5	6	7	4	5—56

*Globe and peep sights.

H. C. ROBERTS.

PITTSBURG, PA.—The Pittsburg Rifle Club made the following scores at its range, at the Wilkinsburg grounds, June 12. Conditions: 200 yards, off hand. A clean score of 91 points is not made often, and J. A. Huggins was complimented accordingly:

J. A. Huggins	82 83 81 91—337	R. W. Barnes	70 74 75 78—297
G. Hodgdon	77 78 82 87—324	John Miller	68 68 71 72—279
L. Brehm	78 78 74 82—312	T. Smith	57 59 64 66—246

ALLEGHENY.

JOLIET, ILL.—The conditions not being favorable on June 16 for rifle shooting, large scores were not the rule. Herewith are some of the best scores made by each contestant: Milwaukee Team—Jos. Braun Jr. 219, L. J. Sehring 218, H. F. Piepenbrink 218, F. A. Martin 213, John Spelter 212. Not members of the team—F. Beuttenmueller 204, Henry Sehring 202, John Herath 183.

RIFLEITE.

Trap

FIXTURES

JUNE

Anaconda Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Anaconda, Mont., June 21, 22 and 23.

Flour City Gun Club's tournament, Minneapolis, Minn., June 23 and 24.

New York State Sportsmen's Association's annual tournament, Saratoga, N. Y., under the auspices of the Saratoga Gun Club, June 24, 25, 26, 27 and 28.

Highland Gun Club's tournament, Elkhart, Ind., June 25 and 26.

Missouri State Amateur Association's tournament, Moberly, Mo., June 25, 26 and 27.

Interstate Association's tournament, Vicksburg, Miss., under the auspices of the Vicksburg Gun Club, June 26 and 27.

North Judson Gun Club's tournament, North Judson, Ind., June 26 and 27.

Adel Gun Club's tournament, Adel, Ia., June 27 and 28.

Brainerd Gun Club's tournament, Brainerd, Minn., June 27 and 28.

Southern Illinois midsummer inanimate target tournament, Mt. Vernon, Ill., June 27 and 28.

Endeavor Gun Club's tournament, Marion, N. J., June 29.

JULY

Prescott Gun Club's tournament, Prescott, Arizona, July 3, 4 and 5.

Eureka Gun Club's tournament, Chicago, July 4.

Diahoga Gun Club's tournament, Athens, Pa., July 4.

Forester Gun Club's all-day shoot, Davenport, Ia., July 4.

Live bird shooting tournament, Hartshorne, I. T., July 4.

Cicero Gun Club's all-day tournament, Oak Park, Ill., July 4.

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., July 4, live birds and targets.

Naromake Gun Club's all-day tournament, Norwalk, Conn., July 4.

Shamokin Gun Club's tournament, Indian Park, Shamokin, Pa., July 4.

Norwalk Shooting Association's second annual tournament, Norwalk, O., July 4.

Wood Powder Gun Club's tournament, Orangeville, Baltimore County, Md., July 4.

Palmetto Gun Club's tournament, Charleston, S. C., July 4.

White Plains Gun Club's tournament, White Plains, N. Y., July 4.

Central Gun Club's tournament, Duluth, Minn., July 4 and 5.

Altoona Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Wapsononock Park, Altoona, Pa., July 11 and 12. W. G. Clark, secretary.

J. F. Schmelzer & Sons Arms Co.'s second annual midsummer shooting tournament, Kansas City, Mo., July 16, 17, 18 and 19. Open to amateurs only; $1.500 in prizes.

Belfast Gun Club's second annual tournament, Belfast, Me., July 17 and 18.

Interstate Association's tournament, Macon, Ga., under the auspices of the Macon Gun Club, July 17 and 18. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Macon Gun Club.

Lafayette Gun Club's annual tournament, Lafayette, Ind., July 23, 24 and 25.

AUGUST

Interstate Association's tournament, New Orleans, La., under the auspices of the Louisiana Gun Club, August 9 and 10. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Louisiana Gun Club.

Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association's tournament, Philadelphia, Pa., August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Interstate Association's tournament, Charlotte, N. C., under the auspices of the Charlotte Gun Club, August 27, 28 and 29. Amount of added money will be announced later.

SEPTEMBER

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., live birds and targets, September 2 and 3.

South Side Gun Club's tournament, Newark, N. J., September 2 and 3.

Morgan's Grove Fair Association's tournament, Shepherdstown, W. Va., September 4 and 5, under the management of the Interstate Association.

Limited Gun Club's tournament, Indianapolis, Ind., second week in September.

OCTOBER

West Newburg Gun Club's Fall tournament, West Newburg, N. Y., October 9, 10 and 11. First two days at targets, last day at live birds.

NOVEMBER

Kewanee Gun Club's regular annual tournament, Kewanee, Ill., November 5, 6 and 7.

1896

Annual territorial tournament, Arizona Sportsmen's Association, Phœnix, Ariz., January 4 and 5, 1896.

Interstate Association's fourth annual Grand American Handicap at live birds, New York, April 1, 2 and 3.

Memphis Gun Club's tournament, Memphis, Tenn., second week in May. $2,000 in cash added to the purses.

Winona Gun Club's tournament, Winona, Minn., May 30.

South Side Gun Club's eleventh annual tournament, Milwaukee, Wis., May 30, 31 and June 1.

American E. C. Powder Co.'s tournament, New York, May 4 to 8, 1896.

HANDICAPPING THE 10-GAUGE GUN

UTICA, N. Y.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—In a recent issue of the AMERICAN FIELD Mr. W. C. Hadley had an article on handicapping the 10-gauge gun which would seem, because of certain statements and aspersions therein contained, to require a reply.

In the first place he likens the handicapping of the 10-gauge to the commission of a crime. Does Mr. Hadley know that there was once a time when 8-gauges were quite as plenty as 10-gauges are now, and that by constant and aggressive warfare they were relegated to the junk shop and forever barred on every shooting ground in the wide world? Does he believe that the men instrumental in barring 8-gauges were criminals? Does he know that to-day there is but one set of standard shooting rules in this country that everybody recoguizes, and that those are the American Shooting Association rules? Does he believe that Mr. C. W. Dimick was a man of criminal instincts when he formulated those rules to put 10 and 12 gauges on different planks and thereby equalize them? I do not purpose to enter into a discussion of the relative merits of the 10 and 12 gauges. Suffice it to say that every shooting authority knows that the 10-gauge gun has a larger killing circle than the 12-gauge, that every pellet in the load is a killer, that the velocity of the load can be easily increased from fifty to one hundred feet per second, thereby reducing the "stringing" of the load to the minimum. Many other reasons for handicapping the 10-gauge could be given, but they are not necessary, especially to convince Mr. Hadley, for he has deliberately abandoned a 16-gauge and a 12-gauge to go back to his 10-gauge. Why did he do it? Let him tell us. When he was shooting his 16-gauge, every member of the New York State Sportsmen's Association will remember the fact that he used to march up to 14 yards in the grass and then do his "grand stand" plays to admiring (?) crowds. A handicap was a good thing then for Bro. Hadley.

Now a word about the New York State rules. No man knows better than Mr. Hadley the trouble that trying to maintain a set of rules especially for New York caused. Until this year he has for many years been a member of the committee on rules, and because this year he was not again placed on that committee does not, in my judgment, give him occasion to assail people's motives. Who are the men who acted on the committee this year? William Hay Boches, president of the Saratoga Gun Club and tournament president of the New York State Association, Charles H. Mowry, ex-president of the Onondaga County Sportsmen's Association and ex-president of the State Association, and lastly your humble servant, for many years vice-president of the state association and member of its committee on rules. These are the men whose motives Mr. Hadley assails. Does Mr. Hadley believe that this committee are firebrands, or men who wish to sow discord? He well knows that the only kicks one can hear nowadays are against the men who drop for place and those who shoot 10-gauge guns. The committee was unanimous in believing that the American Shooting Association rules should be adopted as a whole, but saw fit to allow the management for this year to allow all guns to stand on one plank in sweepstakes—if they see fit to. But I give notice that I shall ask the convention to adopt for the tournament of 1896 the American Shooting Association rules, as revised by Mr. Dimick, without changing a line of either the live bird or target rules. They are good enough for other people and are good enough for the state association. Then we will have uniformity, and not until then.

Now, Mr. Hadley says that he knows that two of the members use guns chambered for 3-inch shells. I am prepared to say that he knows nothing of the kind, and I do not believe that anyone of them uses such a gun. I have two guns and neither one is chambered for 3-inch shells. I have occasionally, like all other cranks, used big loads, but my regular load is 42 grains of powder and 1¼ ounces of shot.

Bro. Hadley is a real good fellow whose lead it is never safe to follow. Only two years ago he made the fight of his life to do away with live bird shooting in the Dean Richmond trophy contest, and but for the persistent fight made against him by Mr. Mowry and myself (two members of that same committee on rules) together with the valued assistance of President W. J. Mann, he would have carried it and thereby brought ruin to the association. To-day he could not muster ten votes for his proposition, thus showing how unsafe his leadership would be.

In conclusion, I hope that Bro. Hadley may be at Saratoga in good health and spirits, and he will then see the report of the committe on rules adopted by such a majority as will convince him that the 12-gauge men have some rights that men who shoot 10-bores are bound to respect.

HENRY L. GATES.

NOTES

THE J. F. Schmelzer & Sons' inanimate target tournament to be held at Fairmount Park, Kansas City, Mo., from July 16 to 19, will probably be one of the most largely attended trap shooting events held in the West this season. Fairmount Park is not what is styled a shooting park, but a beautiful place fitted up with swings, settees, dancing pavilion, flowers, a large lake with boats, and an elegant bathing beach, yet it is a lovely spot for trap shooting and has been secured for the Schmelzer & Sons' midsummer tournament. The tournament will be governed by the latest revised American Shooting Association rules, and while professionals and manufacturers' agents will not be barred from all shooting, the tournament is given mainly for amateurs, and to encourage such no entrance except the cost of the targets will be charged in any program events. There being no entrance fee except the cost of the targets, there will, as a matter of course, be no money prizes. The prizes in each event will be either merchandise or a trophy, the former open only to amateurs, while the latter will be open to the world. In the merchandise events only one first prize can be won by one person the same day. Four sets of Blue Rock traps will be in operation, and one set out of the four will be at the disposal of professionals, manufacturers' agents and others who wish to engage in open sweepstake shooting. The merchandise to be distributed at this tournament consists of seven shotguns, two rifles, boats, rubber boots, hunting suits, powder, shot, gun cases, Blue Rock traps and targets, loaded nitro powder shells, sweaters, clocks, one single side-bar buggy, shell boxes, etc. The feature of this tournament, however, will be the contest—open to the world—for Schmelzer's world's inanimate target championship trophy, an illustration of which is presented to our readers this week. The trophy is an elaborate one, made of gold and silver, and is valued at $500. The engravings on the bowl of the cup represent hunting scenes, and the whole is surmounted by a globe on which stands the figure of Rolla Heikes, the present accredited champion target shooter of America. This contest is at 100 targets per man, rapid fire, reversed traps, entrance $2.50. To become the personal property of anyone this trophy has to be successfully defended three times in succession, the winner being required to give bond for its safe keeping and conform to other requirements stated in the program. Challengers for the trophy are required to deposit $50, which, with the trophy, goes to the winner. Mr. John Parker of Detroit, Mich., will assist in the management of the tournament, which insures that everything will run as smoothly as clockwork. A copy of the program can be had by anyone who will send his address to the J. F. Schmelzer & Sons Arms Co., Kansas City, Mo.

THE FOREHAND ARMS CO. TROPHY

A NUMBER of gentlemen representing the various shooting clubs in the vicinity of San Francisco, Cal., met recently in the above named city and decided to organize a state association to be known as the California Inanimate Target Association. It was decided that the controlling body of the organization should be a board of governors to be composed of three delegates from each club belonging to the associaton. Each club will pay as yearly dues $10, which will create a fund to defray the running expenses, and should more money be needed each team competing at the state tournaments will be assessed $10. In this way the association will secure the necessary funds, and yet not burden such clubs as wish to belong to the association but do not care to enter teams at the tournaments. It is estimated that there are not less than fifty clubs in the state which will join the association as soon as a permanent organization is perfected. After some discussion it was decided to call the first meeting of the board of governors for Saturday night, June 29, Chairman Allen named as the committee on by-laws Edgar Forster, Electric Club; O. M. Judy, Visalia; A. A. Martin, Noe Valley Country Club; George Dietz, Stockton; J. R. D. Grubb, Empire Club; Daniel Daniels, Lincoln Club; E. J. Crane, Green Brae Gun Club; M. T. Hunt, Freeport Gun Club; Robert Liddle, Nimrod Gun Club, and W. F. Golcher, Olympic Gun Club. The first tournament of the association, it is thought, will be held in, or near, San Francisco, sometime in September next.

THERE were about one hundred and fifty attendants at the grounds of the Parkway Driving Club, at Parkville, L. I., on June 10, to witness an announced match for Capt. John Brewer to kill 95 out of 100 live birds for a stake of $250 a side. The spectators were, however, treated to a wrangle of two hours' duration, brought about by the objection of the Brewer contingent to the trap which Duffy had provided. It was, to say the least, a unique contrivance 27 inches in length by 11 inches high and 11 inches wide. The articles of agreement gave Duffy the option to provide whatever kind of trap he chose, with the proviso that it should not stand either open or shut nor more than twelve inches from the ground. A pair of old King traps were at last secured, and then another squabble ensued over the choice of a referee. Finally the stakes on each side were taken down and the interesting fact came to light that the temporary stakeholder had only been nursing fifty dollars for each man. The disgust of the crowd was now manifested, and to avoid a possible raid on the gate receipts Brewer announced that he would give an exhibition shoot at 100 birds. The birds, which had been provided by Duffy, were an indifferent lot and were utilized for the purpose. He made a clean run of 27 straight and missed the twenty-eighth. The forty-first, sixty-third, eighty-first, eighty-third and eighty-fifth birds were also missed. The remaining 15 were killed straight, scoring 91 out of the lot.

MR. JOHN S. HOEY of New Jersey, the veteran referee of live pigeon contests and one of the handicappers in the Grand American Handicap shoot, who is managing the big Hollywood Futurity Handicap at 25 live birds to be shot at Long Branch on July 6, announces the following as the handicaps of the participants in this last named event: Hoey 31 yards, Work 30, "Palmer" 30, L. S. Thompson 30, Messner 30, Welch 29, H. Y. Dolan 29, Capt. Money 29, "Davenport" 29, E. G. Murphy 29, Macalester 29, Thorne 29, Moore 28, "Williams" 28, Wynne 28, Brokaw 28, Gilbert 28, Iselin 28, "Jim Jones" 28, Sykes 28, Fergueson 28, Train 28, Smith 28, "Mott" 28, "Seabright" 28, Ellison 28, McAlpin 28, "Nashaniel" 28, Thomas 28, Brelutnall 28, W. P. Thompson Jr. 27, Post 27, Edey 27, Denny 27, Daly 27, Hoyt 27, N. Money 27, Wolstencroft 27, "Leonard" 27, Kittredge 27, W. G. Murphy 27, "Zellner" 27, Knowlton 27, "d. L. M. Jr." 27, Grant 27, Sweny 27, Chapin 27, "Chauncey" 27, Green 27, Levengston 27, Watrous 26, Downing 26, Gould 26, Mead 26, Sullivan 26, "Gilder" 26, Harned 26, Stafford 26, Potter 26, C. Dolan 26, "Edward" 26, Bacon 26, Du Bray 26, "E. H. G." 26, Ballard 26, Muckey 26, Schultze 26, Ludew 26, W. Sykes 26, I. Eckert 26, Held 26, H. Eckert 25, Morris 25, Johnson 25, Bacon 25.

CONTRARY to our usual custom, and at the suggestion of some of the local clubs, we have concluded to continue our tournament, which takes place on June 21, 22 and 23, to the state of Montana. Considering that it is a local shoot we feel that the donation of $400 in added money should be quite an inducement for the shooters of the state to turn out and try and capture some of it. We propose to put the shooters on their mettle, however, as our grounds are hard, our traps harder, and we are going to use both to test the best men, giving everyone as fair a hand, however, as it is possible to do. We trust the shooters of the state will turn out in force and help us to show the Interstate Association that thus far it has entirely overlooked a section of the country that will furnish as large an aggregation of shooters as any place the association has yet visited.

Anaconda, Mont. C. A. TUTTLE, Secy.

I NOTICE by the AMERICAN FIELD that the Interstate Association will have its Grand American Live Bird Handicap event in 1896 at New York. I am sure if the association instead would select some half-way point, say St. Louis or Chicago, for this event, it would greatly increase the attendance and number of entries. It was my intention and that of others in Texas to attend the shoot of this year at New York, but when we began to figure up the expense of the trip we felt that we could not afford it. If the association will have its handicap shoot in 1896 in St. Louis the South will be largely represented, but if it is held in New York we are completely shut out owing to the cost of the trip. We Southerners would appreciate it if the Interstate Association would meet us half way and hold the forthcoming handicap shoot somewhere in the West.

Burton, Tex. E. BROWN.

MR. W. F. DE WOLF, secretary of the Eureka Gun Club of Chicago, recently purchased from the Lefever Arms Co. of Syracuse, N. Y., one of their latest and best 12-gauge ejector guns, and he now believes he will be able to hold his own in pretty hot company, for he says it makes an elegant pattern and its penetration is superb. Mr. De Wolf has always had a tender spot in his heart for guns made, as he says, by "Uncle Dan Lefever," and now that he has got one that fits, and suits, and shoots just according to his idea, we presume some of the Eureka club members who do not care much for a "shooting match" will have to keep quiet. That he has got a splendid gun there is no question, and when he gets well acquainted with it he should do some good work both on targets and live birds.

THE program for the Brainerd (Minn.) Gun Club's tournament, which is to be held on June 27 and 28, schedules five events for each day, one of which each day—Event No. 4—is a guaranteed purse of $50. After the program has been exhausted sweepstakes to suit those present will be indulged in. In the second event on the second day, $10 in cash will be added to the purse. Twenty cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded for averages, the value of the first being $30, and that of the twentieth $2, but to be eligible to an average prize the shooter must participate in all program events. Professionals will be barred, and all purses unless otherwise stated will be divided into four moneys. The management reserves the right to handicap, by distance in rise, winners of first and second moneys.

THE Forehand Arms Co. of Worcester, Mass., has presented to the Worcester Sportsman's Club an elegant silver trophy handsomely designed, as shown in this issue of the AMERICAN FIELD, and it will be shot for once each month by members of the club for one year, and the shooter that wins it the most times in the twelve shoots will become the owner of it. It is hoped that the generosity of the Forehand Arms Co. will be appreciated by the members of the club, and that on each shooting day a goodly number of shooters will be present and contest for the ownership of the cup.

Worcester, Mass. A. W. WALLS.

THE California Wing Shooting Club, one of the oldest, if not the strongest, organizations of its kind west of the Rocky Mountains, will soon, so it is reported, issue a challenge to shoot a race at live birds with any club in that portion of the country. Mr. Crittenden Robinson and Ned Fay are members of the club and would be members of the club's team in case a match was arranged, the other six or eight men to be taken from among the club members in the order of their records in team practice. The club has recently taken in some new members who are showing wonderful proficiency in the use of the shotgun.

THE Bridgeport Gun Implement Co. of Bridgeport, Conn., is out with a new and very handsomely printed catalog of its goods, in which many of the leading articles manufactured by the company are handsomely illustrated. They call particular attention to their hand-loading outfits, their new rapid loaders, their powder and shot measures for nitro powder, and their new style of cleaning sets, matters of interest to all sportsmen. As this catalog cancels all previous editions and can be had for the asking, it should be in the hands of both dealers and consumers. The company's New York office is at 313 and 315 Broadway.

THE California State Blue Rock League is the name of a new organization formed in that state, the object being to include in its membership every trap shooting club in California. It is confidently expected that a mammoth state tournament will be held next September, at Sacramento, during the state fair. As everything that takes root in the glorious climate of California attains a large size we predict that this will be no exception.

AT Milwaukee, Wis., on Tuesday of last week, the second team from the Waukesha (Wis.) Gun Club defeated the South Side Gun Club's team. The scores were as follows: Waukesha team 112, South Side team 107. The first team from the Waukesha club was defeated by two points, the scores being, Waukesha 107, South Side 109.

WONDERFUL, isn't it, how every trap shooter in the country takes to the AMERICAN FIELD'S new gun club score book? It pleases everybody, for it meets every requirement. Reader, when you come to order a new book if you have not already seen one of the best score books ever printed, send us a dollar and we will send you one.

THE Naromake Gun Club of this city will hold an all-day tournament upon its ground at Dorion's Point, July 4. Trolley cars to grounds. Shore dinners and refreshments at the hotel within gunshot of the traps. The club has the finest shooting grounds in the state. All will be welcome.

Norwalk, Conn. WALTER E. LEWIS, Secy.

THE Cicero Gun Club will hold an all-day [illegible] at targets and live birds, on July 1. Those [illegible] targets and birds alone and not enter[illegible] Grounds Madison Street and Desplaines [illegible] or Lake Street electric car. All are in[illegible]

Oak Park, Ill.

THE sportsmen of Hartshorne, I. T. [illegible] bird tournament on July 4, and if [illegible] cured to continue the tournament [illegible] A rate of one fare for the round trip on all railroads running to Hartshorne has been secured for all who wish to attend.

THE Adel (Ia.) Gun Club will have a two days' tournament at inanimate targets on June 27 and 28. On the morning of each day the purses will be divided on the equitable system; in the afternoon of each day the purses will be divided on the percentage plan, either three or four moneys.

THE Morgan's Grove Fair Association's trap shooting tournament will be given at Shepherdstown, W. Va., on September 4 and 5, under the management of the Interstate Association.

ELMER E. SHANER,
Pittsburg, Pa. Manager Interstate Association.

THE Highland Gun Club of Elkhart, Ind., announces a tournament for June 25 and 26 at both live birds and inanimate targets. On the second day the contest for the Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan district medal will be shot.

A RECENT report from Beloit, Wis., is to the effect that owing to the little interest taken in trap shooting there this season, the Beloit Gun Club, which heretofore has been a prosperous organization, is about to disband.

THE Parker Bros., gun manufacturers of Meriden, Conn., have become members of the Interstate Association, thus giving the organization new blood and additional strength.

IN consequence of the space required to report the big tournaments several club shoots are unavoidably crowded out this week, much to our regret. We will publish them next week.

THE Renovo Rod and Gun Club of Renovo, Pa., will please accept our thanks for an invitation to its annual encampment to be held at Keating, Pa., from June 26 to July 3.

THE Forester Gun Club of Davenport, Ia., will hold an all-day shoot on July 4. Both live birds and inanimate targets will be used.

THE SCHMELZER WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP TARGET TROPHY

THE Diahoga Gun Club of Athens, Pa., announces an all-day shoot upon its grounds on Independence Day.

THE MEMPHIS TOURNAMENT

The second annual tournament of the Memphis Gun Club is over and most of the boys have left for home; some winners, some losers, but not a large amount, while all united in such expressions of the management and the result of the shoot as must be most gratifying to the club, for the utmost good feeling prevailed throughout, even if the heat and scores, at times, were most trying.

The tournament was held at Billings' Park, of easy access by electric cars every five minutes. The grounds were well fitted for a shoot, and the field unexceptionable except for two trees a hundred yards away and a little to the right of the front of No. 3 set of traps. In addition to the regular grand stand on the outside of the racetrack, there was a stand behind the line of shooters ample to accommodate all. Under the grand stand were refreshments and luncheon for all. Three double sets of traps were used, there being two traps at each number, one set operated by electric pulls, the other by the ordinary wire pull. If the electric pull failed or there was a broken bird, the pull by wire was in use at once. This saved much time as well as annoyance to shooters. Messrs. Fred Quimby and Chas. Hebbard were in constant attendance, taking no part in the shooting, but attending to business strictly, and if there was any trouble with a trap or trapper it was remedied at once. The targets were thrown on a higher plane than at Knoxville, yet not high, and most of the shooters found them swift enough. Efficient scorekeepers, referees, trap pullers and squad hustlers kept the ball rolling smoothly. A canvas covering was provided overhead the shooters in the usual way. Beside the stand, behind the line of traps, there was a smaller one to the left of the first set of traps, which was a favorite resort. A large room under the stand furnished ample and good accommodations for the shooters. Besides this there were three or four tents behind the line of fire. The traps were set full regulation distance apart, and each set separated so far that there was no annoyance or delay to one set by the other.

The weather conditions on the whole were favorable for the season of the year. The first day was the hottest one, and was surely hot enough, the thermometer registering 96°. On the second and third days a good breeze made the weather more endurable. On Monday, the day before the opening of the regular shoot, at least fifty [illegible] participating in sweepstake shooting [illegible] on Friday, the day following the program [illegible] gathered together in like events. This, [illegible] events, notably one between T. H. Keller [illegible] vs. Mr. Noel Money and Mr. Irby Bennett, 50 [illegible] decided. In this match Mr. Money shot [illegible] scoring 48 out of 50; "Tee Kay" following with [illegible] side, which lost by eight birds.

T[illegible] Empire targets and traps used scored a success, Mr. [illegible]mby giving them his personal and constant attention, [illegible] his promise to be here and give the utmost [illegible]. T. A. Devine, the genial secretary, was [illegible] start to finish, and if the boys did not [illegible] I am sure it was not his fault. Mr. [illegible] absent in Louisville, Ky., at a meet- [illegible] association, on the first and second [illegible] of all as well as himself. He [illegible] and stated that he had made the speech of [illegible] excused. Appearing in a new suit of clothes the boys gave him a warm reception as well as a dusty one, for they carried him out to the racetrack and baptized him in the dust. I do not remember ever to have secu a jollier set of boys than here, the locals making it pleasant for all, and all left satisfied that the good treatment of last year was repeated with interest this, and they now know it is the usual custom in this section, and that they can always rely on having a pleasant time at Memphis.

The plan of the shoot resulted in a more general distribution of the money, and, judging from many comments heard, was most satisfactory. The distribution of $500 between those who shot through all program events—agents barred—no doubt held the boys together and resulted in a better average entry. The agents urged no objection, for the most of them are able to take care of themselves and get a good percentage of winnings in the increased or regular entries, and really no one was the worse off for it except the gentlemanly Du Bray, who always contributes his share without a murmur. It would be well if there was more of his kind. Heikes and McMurchy shot in fine form and had the good wishes of all. It appeared as if the boys liked to see them roll up the straights often. A glance at the records of these favorites will show the form they were in. Young, Merrill, Glover, Conner and Fulford followed them in the order named, with a host following close on their heels. Heikes made the extraordinary record of 96.76 per cent. on known traps, unknown angles, and, all things considered, never shot in better form. McMurchy followed with 94.14. Altogether there were twelve better than 90 per cent. Even forty were between 80 and 90 per cent., and twenty-five between 70 and 80 per cent. Only a few (nine) dropped below 70 per cent., and but two under 60 per cent. The average per cent. of the whole number, eighty-eight, of which record is given was 80.75.

The work in the office, which was the timing stand on the track, was conducted by Mr. S. R. Simmons and T. B. Hills, and more courteous and obliging gentlemen I have never seen in this capacity. The work always ran smoothly here. The field force was: At trap No. 1, Wm. Merath referee; Ed. Davis and Will Sims Jr., scorers; Henry Hippel, trap puller. At No. 2, D. J. Kearney, referee; Thos. Hill and C. A. Dammaun Jr., scorers; Cook Waldron, trap puller. At No. 3, J. L. Stearns, referee; John Eades and John Kelly, scorers; S. H. Gibson, trap puller. The equal hustlers were W. R. Sims, Barney Mercer and W. K. Poston. Mr. W. K. Poston was also field captain. The work of all these was above the average and is thoroughly commended. The manner of reporting the Knoxville shoot is used here. It has been thoroughly commended and many congratulations have been offered for it. This, like the individual mention made last year for first time, at Knoxville, will, no doubt, be adopted by others. The division of $100 daily to the twenty high guns, $5 for each, spurred the boys to their best efforts and the following gives the list in full for the three days, with the score of each out of a possible 165: First day—Heikes 162, Glover 156, McMurchy 155, Fulford 155, Ruble 155, Van Dyke 155, Young 154, Conner 153, Upson 153, Merrill 152, Wagner 152, Moore 151, Calhoun 151, Rike 150, Buker 150, Hughes 148, Money 148, Le Roy 148, McIlhany 148, Shorty Bacon 148. Second day—Heikes 158, Conner 157, Merrill 156, Rike 155, Young 155, Glover 154, McMurchy 154, Trimble 153, Wagner 152, LeRoy 151, Fulford 150, Woodworth 150, Shorty 150, Moore 150, Upson 150, Holzapfel 149, Ruble 149, Money, Redwing, Green and Miller 148 each. Third day—Heikes 159, McMurchy 157, Van Dyke 152, Holzapfel 151, Merrill 151, Young 150, Rike 148, Fulford 148, Woodworth 147, Glover 147, Drake 145, Redwing 145, Foote 145, Buker 145, Conner 145, Miller, Shorty and Legler 144 each, Hughes, Bartlett and Upson 143 each. As will be seen, Heikes set the pace every day. On the first and second days it took 148 to get a place; on the third day 143.

Among those present representing their respective interests were H. McMurchy, Hunter Arms Co.; Capt. B. A. Bartlett, Burgess gun; Thos. H. Keller, U. S. C. Co.; "U. M. C." Thomas, U. M. C. Co.; F. J. Waddell, Du Pont and Hazard Cos.; W. Fred Quimby, Empire Target and E. C. Powder Cos.; A. W. Du Bray, Parker gun. McMurchy was in fine form, shooting and otherwise. Bartlett was quiet, but doing good work of more than one kind. Keller never appeared in better form and was happy, leading the squad of "Mystic Shriners," "sons of the desert," in more than one direction. Tom is a corker, and where he cannot make friends it is useless for others to try. He was in the "Rapid" business, and he manages to let everyone know it in a way that adds followers. "U. M. C." Thomas was happy when he saw the list that were using the Smokeless and other makes of the U. M. C. Co.'s shells, and when he dropped into a tie that returned a good dividend there was an added smile. Waddell was on hand, as at Knoxville, with a full supply of shells that had Du Pont and Hazard's "Blue Ribbon Brand," for which $50 was donated on the last day in five moneys, divided 30, 25, 20, 15 and 10 per cent., for those who used it during all the program events. Mr. Holzapfel was winner of first average with the score of 151; Mr. Woodworth second, with 147; Mr. Buker third, with 145; Shorty, Legler and Miller fourth, with 144; Mr. Hughes fifth, with 143. By mistake Mr. Buker and Mr. Hughes were left out and fourth was paid to Mr. Ruble and fifth to Mr. Trimble, neither of whom were in the ties, with 142 and 141 respectively. Mr. Waddell promised to remit Mr. Buker and Mr. Hughes the amounts due them, as they shot the ammunition in good faith and the amounts are justly due them, $10 to Mr. Buker, $5 to Mr. Hughes. Fred Quimby, while not pushing Empire targets and E. C. powder talk on anyone, was ready to talk of these popular brands and added a number of new customers. Mr. Du Bray is always ready to see the friends of the Parker gun and make and retain them, meeting all on his well-known plane of conduct, and if rudeness creeps in, as it does now and then on the part of others, he takes no part in it.

In the final wind up the division of $500 to those who were not manufacturers' agents or members of Memphis Gun Club, and who shot every program event, went to the following: Messrs. Anthony, Mitchell, Miller, Holzapfel, Moore, Tway, Trimble, Gambell, Hill, Meaders, Duley, Pemberton, Hughes, Sumpter, Lloyd, Alexander, Lindsay, Rike, Conner, LeRoy, Alkire, Buker, Foote, Legler, Redwing, Upson, Merrill, Cornette, Gulick, Robinson, Wagner, Baker, Calhoun, Green, Best, McIlhaney, Kinmouth, Kauffman, Woodworth, Shorty, Hoffman, "Jefferson," W. D. Thompson, "Morgan," "Texas Field," Smith, Little, Rix, Drake and Porterfield, an even fifty, who received $10 each.

Averages: Heikes 96.76, McMurchy 94.14, Young 92.72, Merrill 92.72, Glover 92.32, Conner 91.91, Fulford 91.51, Rike 91.51, Van Dyke 90.10, Wagner 90.10, Ruhle 90.10, Upson 90.10, Woodworth 89.50, Shorty 89.29, Holzapfel 89.09, K. M. Moore 88.48, Buker 88.48, LeRoy 88.48, Redwing 88.08, Trimble 87.81, Money 87.81, Drake 87.41, Erhardt 86.68, Hughes 86.46, Sumpter 86.46, Legler 86.26, Calhoun 86.26, Hill 86.26, McIlhaney 86.06, Miller 86.06, Foote 85.45, Bartlett 85.25, Gamble 85.25, J. E. Wells Jr. 85.00, Green 84.84 Kinmouth 84.84, Lloyd 84.84, Gulick 84.24, Alkire 84.24, Mitchell 83.83, Keller 83.83, Poston 82.82, Woodson 82.72, White 82.22, Jefferson 81.81, Bennett 81.60, Tway 80.80, Kauffman 80.80, Anthony 80.60, Duley 80.60, Lindsay 80.60, J. B. Duncan 80.16, Neely 79.73, A. B. Duncan 79.11, Pemberton 78.88, Allen 78.78, Watson 77.40, Robinson 77.31, Hoffman 77.11, Cornette 76.96, Elliott 76.76, Fayette 76.66, Meaders 76.11, Thomas 76.04, H. C. Moore 75.86, Reader 75.71, Alexander 75.55, Porterfield 75.33, DuBray 75.20, Vance 75, H. G. Thompson 74.81, Baker 74.24, Clausen 74.16, Cockrell 73.84, Devine 72.72, Bonner 72, Best 71.55, Frank 69.69, Schmidt 69.33, Callender 68.91, Ross 67.57, Leach 67.15, Mooney 67.06, Simpson 62.43, Strawn 62.42, Villipigue 60.83, Brown 55.85, Walker 55.42.

A feature also in the shoot was the squad in scarlet sweaters with "Empire" [illegible] "E. C." across the breast. Mr. Cornette [illegible] picuous of the lot, he being the tallest man on the ground. Van [illegible] cond in height; Merrill a good [illegible] stified the distinction. [illegible] address, scores in each event, [illegible] the three days, with the average [illegible] than one event, the guns, shells, [illegible]:

Day	No. Targets 20 20 20 25 20 20 20 20	Scored	Shot at	Average	Gun	Shell	Powder	Shot
	J. T. Authony, Charlotte, N. C
1	18 14 17 18 18 14 14 14	127	165		12-ga.
2	15 19 18 18 18 17 15 16	136	165		Scott	Smokl. Rapid.	E. C.	1¼-7½
3	18 17 15 21 16 18 17 14	136	165
	Total	399	495	80.60
	L. B. "Reader," Ft. Madison, Ia.
1	17 15 15 16 13 14 15 18	123	165		12-ga.
2	.. .. 19 16 17 20	72	80		Lefever	Walsrode	Walsrode	1⅛-8
3	12 15 13 17 13	70	105
	Total	265	350	75.71
	W. T. Mitchell, Lynch Station, Va.
1	20 18 14 20 16 15 19 13	135	165		12-ga.
2	19 18 17 23 14 18 17 15	141	165		Rem.	Smokl.	Wood	1¼-7
3	16 18 17 22 17 16 18 15	139	165
	Total	415	495	83.83
	W. R. Miller, Austin, Tex.
1	15 17 20 20 16 13 17 16	134	165		Greener	Smokl.	E. C.	1⅛-7
2	18 18 18 23 18 18 19 16	148	165
3	16 16 18 21 18 19 19 17	144	165
	Total	426	495	86.06
	A. Holzapfel, Cuero, Tex.
1	15 13 20 21 19 20 16 17	141	165		Smith	Smokl.	E. C.	1⅛-7
2	18 19 18 22 19 19 18 16	149	165
3	16 18 19 24 19 18 19 18	151	165
	Total	441	495	89.09
	K. M. Moore, Farmersville, Tex.
1	19 16 19 24 19 18 18 18	151	165		Smith	Smokl.	E. C.	1¼-7½
2	18 17 19 22 17 19 19 19	150	165
3	13 18 17 21 16 18 18 17	138	165
	Total	439	495	88.68
	S. Glover, Rochester, N. Y.
1	19 20 20 20 20 19 20 18	156	165		10-ga.
2	20 17 19 23 19 18 20 18	154	165		Greener	Smokl.	Wood	1¼-7
3	18 17 17 24 18 19 16 18	147	165
	Total	457	495	92.32
	C. W. Tway, Michigan City, Miss.
1	14 15 16 20 16 16 19 16	132	165		12-ga.
2	12 15 18 22 16 15 20 18	136	165		Clabrough	Leader	E. C.	1¼-7
3	16 16 14 17 17 17 18 17	132	165
	Total	400	495	80.80
	Ralph Trimble, Covington, Ky.
1	19 17 17 22 15 17 18 16	141	165		12-ga.
2	17 18 19 23 20 19 18 19	153	165		Parker	Smokl.	Du Pont	1¼-7½
3	17 18 19 21 15 18 17 16	141	165
	Total	435	495	87.81
	A. Gambell, Aurora, Ind.
1	18 17 16 19 16 19 19 19	143	165		12-ga.
2	20 16 19 23 17 17 14 18	144	165		Parker	Smokl.	Du Pont	1¼-8
3	15 13 16 20 19 20 17 15	135	165
	Total	422	495	85.25
	H. B. Hill, Aurora, Ind.
1	20 17 20 20 17 16 16 18	144	165		12-ga.
2	19 16 19 24 17 18 16 16	145	165		Parker	Smokl.	Du Pont	1¼-8
3	16 16 17 23 18 14 17 17	138	165
	Total	427	495	86.26
	Andy Meaders, Nashville, Tenn.
1	14 12 20 21 15 17 15 16	130	165		12-ga.
2	16 17 18 21 16 19 14 16	137	165		Parker	Smokl.	Du Pont	1¼-7
3	12 13 16 17 7 16 19 13	113	165
	Total	380	495	76.11
	W. R. Duley, Little Rock, Ark.
1	17 16 17 24 16 12 15 14	131	165		12-ga.
2	19 18 17 21 16 17 18 17	143	165		Smith	Met L'd.	Schtze.	1¼-7
3	11 15 19 22 14 14 15 15	125	165
	Total	399	495	80.60
	Jno. M. Pemberton, Little Rock, Ark.
1	16 15 16 21 16 11 17 16	128	165		Smith	Smokl.	Du Pont	1¼-7
2	17 15 18 23 12 18 18 16	137	165
3	14 16 17 21 15 11 15 13	125	165
	Total	390	495	78.88
	G. W. Hughes, Hot Springs, Ark.
1	18 19 19 24 14 19 20 15	148	065		12-ga.
2	14 18 18 23 15 17 15 17	137	165		Smith	Smokl.	Du Pont	1¼-7
3	16 19 20 19 15 19 18 17	143	165
	Total	428	495	86.46
	J. Sumpter Jr., Hot Springs, Ark.
1	15 17 19 24 17 15 20 18	145	165		Smith	Rapid	E. C.	1¼-7
2	15 20 18 25 16 17 18 15	144	165
3	17 16 16 22 18 17 17 16	139	165
	Total	428	495	86.46
	J. F. Lloyd, Pine Bluff, Ark.
1	17 18 18 20 17 17 20 18	145	165		Greener	Smokl.	Schtze.	1¼-7
2	18 17 16 20 12 16 18 17	134	165
3	15 17 18 22 15 18 18 16	139	165
	Total	418	495	84.44
	D. Alexander, Little Rock, Ark.
1	19 15 15 21 11 11 18 15	125	165		12-ga.
2	19 17 17 18 13 19 15 12	130	165		Parker	Smokl.	Schtze.	1⅛-7
3	16 9 17 21 10 18 17 14	122	165
	Total	377	495	75.55
	Judge Lindsay, Knoxville, Tenn.
1	19 18 15 21 18 16 16 15	138	165		12-ga.
2	17 19 15 20 16 13 11 16	127	165		Burgess	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
3	18 15 16 18 18 15 15 19	134	165
	Total	399	495	80.60
	Rolla Heikes, Dayton, O.
1	18 20 20 25 19 20 20 20	162	165		12-ga.
2	18 20 19 24 19 19 20 19	158	165		Win.	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
3	20 20 18 23 19 19 20 20	159	165
	Total	479	495	96.76
	Noel Money, Oakland, N. J.
1	16 18 20 24 17 19 16 18	148	165		12-ga.
2	18 18 16 22 18 19 18 19	148	165		Smith	Smokl.	E. C.	1¼-7
3	15 16 16 23 17 16 17 19	139	165
	Total	435	495	87.81
	T. H. Keller, Plainfield, N. J.
1	17 16 19 23 18 15 18 17	143	165		12-ga.
2	17 18 17 18 15 13 17 17	132	165		Smith	Rapid	Wood	1¼-7
3	16 16 16 21 19 17 18 17	140	165				E. C.	1⅛-7
	Total	415	495	83.83
	Ed. Rike, Dayton, O.
1	20 18 18 22 18 16 19 19	150	165		12-ga.
2	20 19 19 23 20 19 18 17	155	165		Smith	Leader	Wood	1¼-7½
3	16 19 19 23 16 18 20 17	148	165
	Total	453	495	91.51
	Jno. W. Conner, Knoxville, Tenn.
1	18 19 20 25 17 15 20 19	153	165		12-ga.
2	18 19 20 22 20 19 19 20	157	165		Daly	Rival	E. C.	1¼-7
3	18 15 17 23 17 17 19 19	145	165
	Total	455	495	91.91
	J. A. R. Elliott, Kansas City, Mo.
1	13 16 13 19 12 12 16 15	116	165		12-ga.
2	19 18 16 20 18 16 12 15	134	165		Win.	Leader	E. C.	1¼-7½
3	12 15 17 23 12 19 15 20	133	165
	Total	383	495	76.76
	H. McMurchy, Syracuse, N. Y.
1	18 18 19 23 19 20 20 18	155	165		12-ga.
2	20 19 18 23 20 19 19 16	154	165		Smith	Rapid	E. C.	1⅛-7
3	19 18 19 25 18 20 18 20	157	165				Wood DuPont
	Total	466	495	94.14
	B. A. Bartlett, Buffalo, N. Y.
1	16 14 15 22 16 18 18 15	134	165		12-ga.
2	16 20 19 23 16 17 16 18	145	165		Burgess	Smokl.	Wood	1¼-7½
3	15 19 17 23 14 19 20 16	143	165
	Total	422	495	85.25
	"Le Roy," Campello, Mass.
1	16 19 19 25 17 17 17 18	148	165		12-ga.
2	19 17 18 22 18 19 18 20	151	165		Scott	Leader	Wood	1⅛-7
3	16 17 16 23 16 17 18 16	139	165
	Total	438	495	88.48
	E. D. Fulford, Utica, N. Y.
1	19 20 19 23 19 16 19 20	155	165		12-ga.
2	20 16 18 23 20 18 18 17	150	165		Greener	Trap	Wood	1¼-7
3	16 17 20 24 19 19 16 17	148	165
	Total	453	495	91.51
	F. D. Alkire, Woodlyn, O.
1	19 13 19 25 14 18 20 18	146	165		12-ga.
2	18 20 19 24 17 16 13 14	141	165		Smith	Nitro	DuPont	1¼-7½
3	14 16 18 22 14 16 15 15	130	165
	Total	417	495	84.24
	J. T. Buker, Rockford, Ill.
1	20 18 18 22 17 19 19 17	150	165		10-ga.
2	17 19 17 21 15 18 17 19	143	165		Lefe'r	Smokl.	DuPont	1¼-7½
3	16 16 19 24 18 15 20 17	145	165
	Total	438	495	88.48
	H. L. Foote, Rolling Fork, Miss.
1	17 17 19 23 15 18 15 17	141	165		16-ga.
2	18 18 18 22 17 15 13 16	137	165		Greener	Smokl.	E. C.	1 -7½
3	17 18 20 25 15 17 17 16	145	165
	Total	423	495	85.45
	W. F. Allen, Memphis, Tenn.
1	14 16 15 24 15 13 17 16	130	165		12-ga.
2	17 18 17 20 17 15 16 15	135	165		Win.	Smokl.	E. C.	1¼-7½
3	18 15 16 16 15 19 16 13	128	165
	Total	393	495	78.78
	"U. M. C." Thomas, Bridgeport, Conn.
1	15 16 16 14 14 12	87	125		12-ga.
2	16 18 19 22 18 20 15 14	142	165		Scott	Nitro Smokl	E. C. DuPont Schtze.	1¼-7
3	15 12 17 16 15 9 15 18	117	165
	Total	346	455	76.04
	Jno. "Ruble," Chicago, Ill.
1	19 19 19 24 19 19 19 17	155	165		12-ga.
2	17 18 18 24 16 19 19 18	149	165		Lefever	Nitro	DuPont	1⅛-7
3	16 17 18 23 17 19 16 16	142	165
	Total	446	495	90.10
	F. Legler, Nashville, Tenn.
1	17 20 18 23 18 16 15 15	142	165		12-ga.
2	15 17 16 23 20 18 17 15	141	165		Parker	Rival	E. C.	1¼-7
3	18 17 15 22 15 18 19 20	144	165
	Total	427	495	86.26
	"Redwing," Cleveland, O.
1	17 19 19 22 14 17 17 18	143	165		12-ga.
2	18 19 16 23 16 18 18 20	148	165		Greener	Smokl.	E. C	1¼-7½
3	18 16 19 21 18 16 19 18	145	165
	Total	436	495	88.08
	D. A. Upson, Cleveland, O.
1	19 19 20 23 17 19 18 18	153	165		12-ga.
2	17 18 19 19 20 18 20 19	150	165		Greener	Smokl.	E. C	1⅛-7½
3	19 16 17 20 17 19 20 15	143	165
	Total	446	495	90.10
	Chas. Young, Springfield, O.
1	18 19 18 24 18 20 18 19	154	165		12-ga.
2	19 19 17 24 19 18 19 20	155	165		Smith	Smokl.	E. C	1¼-7
3	18 19 18 23 15 19 19 19	150	165
	Total	459	495	92.72
	F. Van Dyke, Dayton, N. J.
1	19 20 19 25 17 20 20 15	155	165		12-ga.
2	18 18 19 18 17 19 14 16	139	165		Win.	Win	E. C	1⅛-7½
3	16 17 18 23 20 19 20 19	152	165
	Total	446	495	90.10
	R. Merrill, Milwaukee, Wis.
1	19 19 18 24 18 19 16 19	152	165		12-ga.
2	19 19 19 23 17 20 20 19	156	165		Greener	Smokl.	Du Pont	1¼-7
3	17 19 19 23 16 19 19 19	151	165
	Total	459	495	92.72
	J. J. Cornette, Linneus, Mo.
1	12 16 16 20 12 17 13 16	122	165		Smith	Smokl.	E. C	1¼-7
2	20 17 17 22 10 16 15 16	133	165
3	15 13 17 19 14 19 18 14	129	165
	Total	384	495	76.96
	J. H. Gulick, Washington, D. C.
1	18 17 19 25 15 15 16 16	141	165		12-ga.
2	16 17 18 20 16 13 19 18	137	165		Francotte	Leader	E C	1¼.7
3	15 18 16 24 17 18 16 15	139	165
	Total	417	495	84.24
	H. L. Robinson, Shawneetown, Ill.
1	19 17 15 22 18 16 19 14	140	165		Smith	Rival	Schtze	1¼-8
2	16 19 19 21 17 15 16 16	139	165
3	15 12 17 16 9 17 13 8	107	165
	Total	386	495	77.31
	C. B. Ross, Knoxville, Tenn.
1	15 17 14 21 14 14 15 18	128	165		12-ga.
2	14 17 16 15 9 8 9 7	95	165		Smith	Leader	E. C	1¼-7½
	Total	223	330	67.57
	Wm. Wagner, Washington, D. C.
1	18 19 17 24 19 19 19 17	152	165		12-ga.
2	18 20 18 22 18 18 18 20	152	165		Parker	Leader	E.C	1⅛-7
3	18 16 17 19 18 18 17 19	142	165
	Total	446	495	90.10
	A. W. Du Bray, Louisville, Ky.
1	16 14 14 20 17 15 17 15	128	165		Parker	Smokl.	E.C	1⅛-7
2	15 14 13 18	60	85
	Total	188	250	75.20
	H. L. Baker, Macon, Ga.
1	13 14 17 20 18 13 15 14	124	165		Parker	Leader	Du Pont	1¼-7½
2	15 15 16 21 16 15 15 17	130	165
3	16 12 13 18 11 14 14 19	117	165
	Total	371	495	74.34
	C. H. Calhoun, Weir City, Kan.
1	15 20 17 22 20 18 19 20	151	165		Greener	Smokl.	E.C	1⅛-7
2	19 18 18 22 15 19 15 18	144	165
3	14 18 11 18 13 19 20 19	132	165
	Total	427	495	86.26
	M. F. McDonald, Richmond, Mo.
1	15 18 17 21 17 15 15 18	136	165		Lefever	Smokl.	E.C	1¼-7
2	19 19 14 24 18 18 18 18	148	165
3	17 17 17 18 18 14 17 18	136	165
	Total	420	495	84.84
	B. C. Best, Columbus, Kan.
1	16 18 16 24 16 14 17 17	138	165		Lefever	Smokl.	E.C	1¼-7½
2	15 20 15 21 14 19 17 18	139	165
3	16 16 14 20 16 18 7 16	123	158
	Total	400	488	71.55
	Lon Earhardt, Atchison, Kan.
1	18 18 16 21 14 17 16 18	138	165		Parker	Smokl.	E.C	1⅛-7½
2	13 18 16	47	60
	Total	185	225	86.68
	W. W. McIlhaney, Weir City, Kan.
1	19 15 18 23 17 17 20 19	148	165		Parker	Smokl.	E.C	1¼-7
2	17 18 19 19 19 17 18 19	146	165
3	12 14 20 21 16 18 17 14	132	165
	Total	426	495	86.06
	T. R. Kinmouth, Joplin, Mo.
1	16 16 19 20 15 16 16 16	134	165		Smith	Smokl.	Du Pont	1⅛-8
2	18 16 20 22 15 18 18 17	144	165
3	18 17 19 18 17 18 18 17	142	165
	Total	420	495	84.84
	M. Kauffman, New Orleans, La.
1	17 15 17 21 16 17 16 16	135	165		12-ga.
2	19 16 15 21 15 17 18 11	132	165		Parker	Smokl.	E.C	1⅛-7
3	14 15 19 21 17 18 11 17	133	165
	Total	400	495	80.80

S. J. Simpson, Duncan, Miss.
1 11 11 9 18 9 12 . . 70 125 12-ga.
2 11 19 16 15 . . . . . . 61 85 Parker.Smokl...Du Pont ..1¼-7½
Total.............. 131 210 62.43

F. H. Woodworth, Chattanooga, Tenn.
1 17 18 18 22 18 18 17 18 146 165 12-ga.
2..19 19 17 24 17 18 16 20 150 165 Smith..Smokl. Du
3 17 17 20 20 19 19 18 17 147 165 Pont...1¼-7½
Total.............. 443 495 89.50

W. A. Bonner, Duncan, Miss.
1..14 13 14 20 16 13 .. .. 90 125 Colt....Smokl...Du Pont...1¼-7½
Total.............. 90 125 72.00

"Shorty" Bacon, Miamisburg, O.
1..18 18 16 23 17 19 19 18 148 165 12-ga.
2..20 20 20 22 16 16 18 18 150 165 Green-
3 17 19 19 20 18 17 17 17 144 165 er......Smokl...Wood..1⅛-7
Total.............. 442 495 89.29

J. W. Hoffman, German Valley, N. J.
1..14 14 10 22 18 16 15 16 125 165 12-ga.
2..17 17 19 19 14 17 15 16 134 165 Parker.Smokl...Wood..1⅛-7½
3 12 15 15 19 13 16 18 18 126 165
Total.............. 385 495 77.11

"Jefferson," New Orleans, La.
1..17 17 13 22 17 19 14 19 138 165 12-ga
2..17 17 17 20 17 16 13 15 132 165 Parker.Smokl...Du
3..15 18 15 21 15 18 16 14 135 165 Pont.1¼-7½
Total.............. 405 495 81.81

G. Clay Jr., Greenville, Miss.
1..10 16 14 21 15 17 18 .. 111 145 12-ga Lefe-ver.....Rival....E. C...1¼-7
Total.............. 111 145 76.55

J. D. Vanmeter, Greenville, Miss.
1.. 9 15 14 15 10 11 11 .. 85 145 12-ga. Green-er...... Rival....E. C...1¼-7
Total.............. 85 145 58.68

W. D. Thompson, Paducah. Ky.
1..13 15 19 20 17 17 16 13 130 165 12-ga
2..15 18 17 20 15 17 15 16 133 165 Daly. .Smokl....Du
3..16 15 17 19 16 15 12 16 126 165 Pont.1⅛-7
Total.............. 389 495 77.71

J. C. White, Memphis, Tenn.
1..15 18 18 19 19 17 14 14 134 165 12-ga
2..19 19 17 20 14 15 15 14 133 165 Win.... Leader..Du
3..18 18 17 23 17 17 13 17 140 165 Pont.1¼-7
Total.............. 407 495 82.22

J. B. Duncan, Lucy, Tenn.
1..11 17 19 22 17 16 .. .. 102 125 12-ga Win.... Leader..Du Pont.1¼-7
Total.............. 102 125 80.16

J. M. George, San Antonio, Tex.
1..17 15 14 19 16 17 16 17 131 165 20-ga
2..15 17 12 19 16 11 10 16 116 165 Kessler.Eley....E. C... ⅞-6
3..12 13 15 18 14 15 18 16 121 165
Total.............. 368 495 73.73

O. C. Guessaz, San Antonio, Tex.
1..20 19 19 21 15 17 17 18 146 165 20-ga.
2..17 10 16 18 7 9 15 18 110 154 Kessler.Eley....E. C... ⅞-6
3..15 14 14 15 11 13 15 12 109 165
Total.............. 365 484 73.17

A. R. Smith, Hot Springs, Ark.
1..14 14 16 16 16 16 13 10 115 165 Smith...Smokl...Du
2..14 14 9 13 16 13 ¦¦ 13 103 162 Pont.1¼-7½
3..13 14 14 13 12 14 14 10 104 165
Total.............. 322 492 65.44

W. J. Little, Hot Springs, Ark.
1..16 17 17 20 15 18 15 16 134 165 12-ga
2..16 17 14 17 14 12 15 16 121 165 Smith...Smokl ..E. C...1¼-7
3..16 10 12 16 17 14 13 14 112 165
Total.............. 367 495 73.53

Chas. N. Rix, Hot Springs, Ark.
1..17 17 14 10 12 13 18 14 115 159 Lefe-
2..12 16 14 5 16 16 12 17 108 156 ver......Smokl...Du
3..16 14 19 16 11 12 15 12 115 165 Pont.1¼-7½
Total.............. 338 480 70.41

W. N. Drake, So. Orange, N. J.
1..17 15 18 22 19 17 16 19 143 165 12-ga.
2..16 18 20 21 17 19 19 15 145 165 Smith..Leader..E. C...1⅛-7
3..16 19 18 23 16 19 17 17 145 165
Total.............. 433 495 87.41

F. Posten, Memphis, Tenn.
1..14 17 18 23 16 16 15 14 133 165 12-ga.
2..20 16 16 23 15 18 19 16 143 165 Win....Leader..Shltze.1¼-7½
3..14 16 18 22 17 15 13 19 134 165
Total.............. 410 495 82.82

A. B. Duncan, Memphis, Tenn.
1..12 14 16 18 .. .. 60 85 12-ga. H. & R.Rival....Du
3..15 16 19 .. 16 17 18 17 118 140 Pont.1⅛-8
178 225 79.11

T. A. Devine, Memphis. Tenn.
1..17 14 14 18 12 16 9 15 115 165 12-ga.
2..17 17 13 20 13 16 13 16 125 165 Win....Leader Rapid...Wood..1⅛-7½
Total.............. 240 330 72.72

Thos. Callender, Nashville, Tenn.
1..11 14 14 17 9 18 .. .. 83 125 12-ga.
2..12 14 16 21 13 15 .. .. 91 125 Smith..Climax..Trois-
3..14 15 15 15 11 12 15 15 112 165 dorf...1¼-7
Total.............. 286 415 68.91

A. H. Frank, Memphis, Tenn.
1..13 12 13 19 13 14 15 13 112 165 12-ga.
2..12 18 15 15 15 14 14 15 118 165 Smith..Leader..E. C...1¼-7½
Total.............. 230 330 69.69

J. C. Neeley Jr., Memphis, Tenn.
1..16 16 18 18 16 16 18 16 134 165 12-ga.
2.... .. .. 23 15 16 17 14 85 105 Win.....Leader..E. C...1¼-7½
3.... .. .. 18 15 15 18 14 80 105
Total.............. 299 375 79.73

J. H. Mooney, Orlando, Fla.
1..12 14 14 17 .. .. 57 85 12-ga. Smith...Light-ning....E. C...1¼-7½
Total.............. 57 85 67.06

G. T. Vance, Memphis, Tenn.
1..15 16 14 .. .. 45 60 12-ga. Win....Rival....Wood..1⅛-7½
Total.............. 45 60 75

D. M. Porterfield, Vicksburg, Miss.
1..15 12 15 23 15 13 16 16 125 165 12-ga.
2..16 15 15 16 15 17 15 17 127 165 Parker..Nitro...E. C...1¼- 7½
3..11 17 13 17 16 13 16 11 114 165
Total.............. 366 495 73.33

"Fayette," Bayonne, N. J.
2..18 14 14 .. .. 46 60 10-ga. Lefe-ver......Rapid....E. C...1¼-7
Total.............. 54 60 76.66

C. E. Strawn, Jacksonville, Ill.
1..13 13 14 .. .. 40 60 12-ga.
2..14 16 .. 16 11 6 .. .. 63 105 Parker..Smokl...E. C...1¼-7
Total.............. 103 165 62.42

D. Cockrell, Memphis, Tenn.
1..16 13 17 21 13 17 12 15 124 165 Win....Smokl...E. C...1¼-7½
2..10 18 18 23 14 10 15 14 122 165
3..12 15 13 19 .. .. 15 16 90 125
Total.............. 336 455 73.84

F. Schmidt, Memphis, Tenn.
1..13 16 13 .. 13 15 14 17 101 140 12-ga.
2..15 17 14 16 10 16 17 15 120 165 Win.....Leader..E. C.....1¼-7
3..14 14 8 18 10 13 14 .. 91 145 Schtze
Total.............. 312 450 69.33

H. C. Moore, Memphis, Tenn.
1..15 15 17 21 .. .. 15 15 98 125 10-ga.
2..16 16 14 16 15 16 17 14 124 165 Daly....Rival ..Trois-
3..11 10 18 20 16 18 .. 16 109 145 dorf....1¼-7
Total.............. 331 435 75.86

J. Clausen, Santa Rosa Park, Fla.
1..10 17 17 .. .. 44 60 12-ga.
2..19 14 12 .. .. 45 60 Win....Rival....Schtze..1⅛-7
Total.............. 89 120 74.16

J. H. Watson, Memphis, Tenn.
1..16 16 .. 21 .. 10 .. .. 63 85 12-ga.
2.... .. .. 17 17 20 Lefever.Rapid...E. C....1⅛-7
3..18 16 15 19 16 16 14 15 129 165
Total.............. 209 270 77.40

F. J. Waddell, Chattanooga, Tenn.
1..11 .. .. 11 20 12-ga Win.....Leader Smokl...Du P..1⅛-7

W. K. Park, Philadelphia, Pa.
1.. 9 .. .. 9 20 12-ga. Parker..Smokl...Du P..1¼-7

D. Allen, Memphis, Tenn.
1..11 .. .. 11 20 12-ga. Win....Leader.. E. C....1⅛-7

W. Fred Quimby, New York, N. Y.
1..10 .. .. 10 20 12-ga. Smith..Rapid....E. C....1¼-7

H. C. Villipigue, Memphis, Tenn.
1..11 .. .. .. 15 .. .. .. 26 40 12-ga.
2.... .. .. 15 .. .. 15 20 Smith...Leader...Du P. 1⅛-7
Total.............. 41 60 60.83

"Sam Watkins," Memphis, Tenn.
1..11 .. .. 11 20 12-ga. Win....Smokl....Du P..1⅛-7

R. Henderson, Memphis, Tenn.
1.. 7 .. .. 7 20 12-ga. Win....Leader...Du P ..1⅛-7

Wm. Morgan, Memphis, Tenn.
1.. 7 .. .. 7 20 12-ga. Win.....Smokl...Du P ..1¼-7

J. M. Bolan, West Plains, Mo.
2..16 14 16 20 15 .. .. .. 81 105 77.14 16-ga. Parker..Smokl...E. C....1¼-7

J. A. Woodson, Little Rock, Ark.
2..19 15 20 20 15 14 14 18 135 165 12-ga.
3..13 17 20 21 18 15 18 16 138 165 Win.....Smokl...Schtze.1¼-7
Total.............. 273 330 82.72

J. E. Wells Jr., Pine Bluff, Ark.
1..16 18 .. .. 34 40 85. 12-ga. Scott...Smokl...E. C..1¼-7½ Wood

A. G. Brown, Memphis, Tenn.
1..11 .. .. 11 20 12-ga.
2..10 11 13 9 16 11 .. .. 70 125 Rem....Rival...Schtze 1¼-7½
Total.............. 81 145 55.85

S. P. Walker, Memphis, Tenn.
1.... .. .. 19 12 .. .. .. 31 40
2..10 9 8 8 12 15 15 .. 77 145 Scott...Smokl....Du P ..1¼-7
3..11 10 11 13 6 12 10 13 86 165
Total.............. 194 350 55.42

H. G. Thompson, Paducah, Ky.
2..14 13 11 18 .. 17 14 15 102 145 12-ga.
3..13 17 17 19 14 15 .. .. 95 125 Burgess.Leader..Du P ..1¼-7
Total.............. 197 270 74.81

W. A. Leach, Pine Bluff, Ark.
2..13 13 9 .. .. 35 60 12-ga.
3..14 14 16 19 13 .. .. .. 76 105 Parker..Smokl...Schtze 1¼-7
Total.............. 111 165 67.15

Irby Bennett, Memphis, Tenn.
3..13 19 .. 19 17 17 .. 17 102 125 81.60 12-ga. Win....Leader....E. C...1¼-7 Du P

The following persons shot in one event each: J. B. Mercer, R. Emmet, D. S. Weaver, O. S. Weaver, "Jno. Smith," "Blake," "Moses," "Austin," all of Memphis; also A. G. Cargill, Paducah, Ky., their scores running from 4 to 13. In the general summary their guns, shells, powder, etc., are enumerated.

The following shows the number of entries in each event each day, and the average:

Event Nos.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Average
First day	104	88	88	84	83	81	76	74	85
Second day	85	84	88	81	81	81	76	76	81
Third day	77	77	76	77	76	76	75	75	76

Total first day 678, second day 652, third day 609.

Number of targets thrown each day as follows: First day 13,980, second day 13,920, third day 12,565. Total for the three days 40,465. These, with the shooting on Monday and Friday, show that at least 50,000 shots were fired.

FIRST DAY

Event No.	No. targets	25	24	23	22	21	20	19	18	17	16	15
1	20						5 / 17.75	12 / 4.75	13 / 3.25	14 / 2.75	12 / 2.25	11 / 2.50
2	20						6 / 13.00	10 / 5.00	13 / 3.00	15 / 2.50	13 / 2.00	11 / 2.25
3	20						9 / 8.50	17 / 3.00	13 / 3.00	12 / 3.25	10 / 2.50	7 / 3.50
4	25	6 / 16.00	11 / 5.75	10 / 4.75	12 / 4.00	14 / 2.25	13 / 2.25
5	20						2 / 37.25	9 / 5.50	11 / 3.25	16 / 2.25	14 / 1.75	11 / 2.00
6	20						5 / 14.50	11 / 4.25	8 / 4.50	16 / 2.25	14 / 1.50	8 / 3.00
7	20						8 / 6.75	11 / 4.00	10 / 3.25	9 / 3.75	14 / 1.50	13 / 1.75
8	20						3 / 22.50	8 / 5.50	18 / 1.75	9 / 3.75	14 / 1.50	11 / 2.00

SECOND DAY

Event No.	No. targets	25	24	23	22	21	20	19	18	17	16	15
1	20						8 / 9.50	15 / 3.25	13 / 2.75	14 / 2.50	9 / 2.75	9 / 2.75
2	20						7 / 10.75	15 / 3.25	20 / 1.75	17 / 2.00	9 / 2.75	5 / 5.00
3	20						5 / 14.00	16 / 3.00	17 / 2.00	12 / 3.00	15 / 1.50	4 / 6.00
4	25	1 / 93.75	7 / 8.75	17 / 2.75	13 / 3.25	9 / 3.50	11 / 2.25
5	20						7 / 10.25	6 / 8.00	8 / 4.50	12 / 3.00	15 / 1.50	14 / 1.75
6	20						2 / 36.50	16 / 3.00	16 / 2.25	13 / 2.75	12 / 2.00	9 / 2.75
7	20						5 / 13.75	9 / 5.00	17 / 2.00	8 / 4.25	6 / 3.75	15 / 1.25
8	20						7 / 9.75	8 / 5.75	12 / 2.75	11 / 3.00	18 / 1.25	10 / 2.25

Following the manner previous records, we give the divisions of the purses in all program events, the table showing the number in each division, or tie, and the amount received. It will be seen that in a number of events a score of 15, the lowest in the tie, often paid more than those got who won in the 16, 17, 18 or 19 holes.

In event five the first day Messrs. Glover and Calhoun were the only ones out of eighty-one entries to score 20 straight, getting $37.25 each. In event four, 25 targets, second day, Mr. Sumpter was the only straight in eighty-one entries and received $93.75, the largest single win during the meeting. He was warmly congratulated, for when he goes to a shoot he enters every event no matter what the result. Such men make tournaments successful. In the sixth event "U. M. C." Thomas and Richard Merrill were the lucky ones, the only two straights on 20 out of eighty-one entries. Other special wins were those of Heikes on the third day. [illegible] alone in both first and second events on 20 straight [illegible] entries in each event getting for each $70.25. [illegible] Dyke was alone on 20, getting $69.50. In the sixth [illegible] Murchy got $31.75 each. In the fourth McMurc[illegible] only straights, scooped $45 each.

THIRD DAY

Event No.	No. targets	25	24	23	22	21	20	19	18	17	16	15
1	20						1 / 70.25	2 / 23.25	12 / 2.75	7 / 5.00	20 / 1.00	11 / 2.00
2	20						1 / 70.25	8 / 5.75	10 / 3.50	11 / 2.50	17 / 1.25	10 / 2.25
3	20						6 / 11.50	13 / 3.25	10 / 3.25	18 / 1.25	16 / 2.25	7 / 3.25
4	25	2 / 45.00	6 / 10.00	15 / 3.00	7 / 6.25	10 / 3.00	6 / 5.00
5	20						1 / 69.50	6 / 7.50	11 / 3.00	13 / 2.50	13 / 1.75	11 / 2.00
6	20						2 / 31.75	17 / 2.50	17 / 2.00	11 / 3.00	6 / 3.75	9 / 2.50
7	20						7 / 9.75	8 / 5.75	16 / 2.00	15 / 2.25	[illegible]	[illegible]
8	20						4 / 17.25	10 / 4.50	6 / 5.75	17 / 2.00	[illegible]	[illegible]

Following is the record of guns, shells, powder and shot used:

Guns—Smith 26, Winchester 24, Parker 20, Greener 11, Lefever 9, Daly 4, Scott 4, Burgess 2, Kessler 2, Remington 2, Francotte 1, Colt 1, Clabrough 1, Harrington & Richardson 1.

Shells—Smokeless 52, Leader 27, Rival 11, Rapid 10, Nitro 4, Eley 2, Climax 1, Trap 1, Lightning 1, Walsrode 1, Metal lined 1.

Powder—E. C. 53, DuPont 36, American Wood 16, Schultze 11, Troisdorf 4, Walsrode 1, S. S. 1.

A total of twenty-three states were represented, as follows: Tennesseee 35, Arkansas 12, Mississippi 8, Ohio 7, New Jersey 7, Missouri 5, Texas 5, New York 5, Illinois 4, Kansas 4, Florida 2, Washington, D. C., 2, Indiana 2, Iowa, Virginia, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Georgia one each.

Sixty-three men shot all program events, and two, Mr. Lon Erhardt of Atchison, Kan,, and Mr. "Reader" of Iowa, failed only by reason of sickness. The average of all shooting (eighty-eight) of which record is given was 80.75, a remarkably high one for the number of shooters. The following members of the Memphis Gun Club shot every event: Messrs. White, Allen, Poston, Cookrill and Smith.

Summing up, perhaps there has never been a tournament given where such general satisfaction was expressed. A few were not the large winners as usual, but they were satisfied. Others seemed gratified and satisfied if in the ties at all and drawing a fair percentage of the entrance money. A reference to the table giving the number of ties and amount received will show that in the 20-bird events most shooters were in the 19, 18 and 17 ties. We also show the target event, number of entries, the number in division of purse, the percentage of winners to entries, as well as those that failed to get into the ties in each event. Our readers can judge of the wisdom of the management in making the division of purses as they did, which seemed popular, viz: 30, 20, 15, 15, 10 and 10 per cent. The table follows:

Event	Targets	Entries	In division of purses.	Per cent. of entries winning money.	Entries out of the money.
FIRST DAY
1	20	104	67	64.23	37
2	20	88	68	77.27	22
3	20	88	69	78.40	19
4	25	84	66	78.59	18
5	20	83	63	75.90	20
6	20	81	62	77.40	19
7	20	76	65	85.55	11
8	20	74	63	85.13	11
SECOND DAY
1	20	85	68	80.00	17
2	20	84	73	86.90	11
2	20	88	69	78.40	19
4	25	81	58	71.60	33
5	20	81	62	76.54	19
6	20	81	68	84.00	23
7	20	76	60	79.00	16
8	20	76	66	86.84	10
THIRD DAY
1	20	77	53	68.83	24
2	20	77	60	77.92	17
3	20	76	70	92.10	6
4	25	77	46	60.00	31
5	20	76	55	72.36	21
6	20	76	62	80.57	14
7	20	75	63	84.00	12
8	20	75	58	77.33	17

Much curiosity was manifested to know the comparative number of entries at the Knoxville and Memphis shoots and the writer concluded to gratify the curious and others that asked me, by giving the following table, only using the first three days of the Knoxville shoot. Both clubs have a right to be proud of the showing and it must convince other states that if Knoxville and Memphis, comparatively remote from the shooting centers, can give two such events in one state, some of the others should be able to give one. All honor to the clubs of Knoxville and Memphis should be freely given. The bottom columns show the number of events in the first, second, third, etc., events for each place. The number of targets thrown each day in regular program events is also given:

Comparative statement of entries at Knoxville and Memphis shoots:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	Total	Average
First day, Knoxville	100	98	94	97	97	87	87	68	728	91
First day, Memphis	104	88	88	84	83	81	76	74	678	85
Second day, Knoxville	89	89	84	85	86	88	86	80	687	86
Second day, Memphis	85	84	88	81	81	81	76	76	652	81
Third day, Knoxville	82	81	76	79	74	68	72	71	603	75
Third day, Memphis	77	77	76	77	76	76	75	75	609	76
Totals each event—
Knoxville	271	268	254	261	257	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	2,018
Memphis	266	249	252	242	240	238	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Targets thrown in regular events: Knoxvill[illegible] second day, 15,045; third day, 12,810. Memphis, [illegible] ond day, 13,920; third day, 12,565. Total progra[illegible] Knoxville, 43,420. Total program events thr[illegible] 40,465.

VALLEY CITY GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Grand Rapids tournament, [illegible] series of the Valley City Gun Club, was a [illegible] shooting and arrangements went. The [illegible] pleasures of the occasion was the slim [illegible] ters. The Valley City Gun Club [illegible] large attendance, and preparations [illegible] would have accommodated three [illegible] actually here.

There has never been a tournament held in which the details were more perfect than at this one. Admission to the grounds was free and commodious tents were erected and chairs provided for spectators, a special feature being a ladies' tent. These tents were 50 by 24. An elaborate lunch was served in the café, and these parts of the grounds were free to all. The entire space from the end of the A set of traps to the end of the B set was fenced in and known as the shooters' inclosure, inside of which was the club house, where refreshments were dispensed gratis to all shooters. The shooters' tent was 50 by 24. Then there was the cashier's office and the ammunition tent of Messrs. Foster, Stevens & Co., in charge of the genial amateur champion of the state, Will H. Caikins. Admission to this inclosure was by ticket, with which each shooter and club member was supplied, and none others were allowed inside. Another railing inclosed the shooting sheds, and no one was allowed inside but the shooters at the score and the next squad to follow seated in chairs behind them.

The manager of the shoot was Mr. M. C. Beyers, a member of the club, and although practically a novice at such business, his management was perfect and could not be improved upon.

The squad hustling was attended to by Mr. W. Pugh, who first saw service last year under Mr. Shaner, and his work left nothing to be desired, as is shown by the fact that on the second day of the shoot the target record from five traps was broken by the A set of traps, 5,605 Blue Rock targets being thrown by them that day.

The office arrangements were in charge of Mr. C. F. Rood, secretary of the club, and the office was handled in first-class shape, the money being paid out as fast as the events were shot off. The local men stuck to the shooting in great shape, an average of thirteen club members shooting in each event throughout the three days, a record that but few gun clubs can equal.

Among the visiting shooters were Messrs. Glover, Elliott, Parker, Easton, Bush, Graham, Livinguth, N. A. Holt, F. C. Marantette, W. W. Marantette, Watts, Thompson, Howes, Carpenter, Rich, Schelling, "Redwing," "Clay" and Preston.

Mr. C. L. Carpenter, who refereed very satisfactorily at last year's shoot, performed the same duty this year, and his decisions were very satisfactory.

On the third day there was exhibited an automatic trap, the invention of a Mr. Davis, a local printer. The trap is operated on the hydraulic principle and appeared to work perfectly, several dozen of birds being thrown without a hitch. The targets are placed in a hopper and they feed automatically. The inventor did not say at what price the trap could be placed on the market, but from its performance it appeared to the writer that if the price is not too excessive it will be the coming trap.

All present had a very enjoyable, and most of them a profitable time, and the fellows who did not come missed one of the best shoots of the year. The club lost on the venture a little over $300, but the members are not discouraged, and are already making arrangements for their next year's shoot, dates for which will be claimed during the next few weeks.

An amusing incident occurred during the shoot. On the first day, when an E. C. squad was being organized, Preston of Coldwater wanted to shoot in it, although he was not shooting E. C.; but the boys would not have it that way, so Preston felt riled and laid down on a lounge and went to sleep. Presently "Des-chree-shos-ka Jack" came around with his E. C. stickers and plastered Preston all over with them from head to foot. The latter woke up, and taking the hatter good-naturedly, told the boys to watch his smoke and they would all want to shoot his powder, the name of which he would not divulge. He plugged away, and on the third day ran out of shells and went to the tent and bought some E. C. loads, did some good work with them, went back and bought more and continued, and that evening was remarking to everybody, "If I hadn't a brought them goldurned shells 'er mine with me I'd a won more money." Appended are the scores:

EVENT NO. 1.—10 single targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added.

R. C. Wharton	1001011111—8	Widdicomb	1111010001—6
Walton	1111110111—9	Preston	0101111011—7
Holcomb	1100111111—8	Bush	1111111111—10
Elkerton	0111101111—8	Graham	1111111111—10
Gilmore	0111111110—8	Livenguth	1111110111—9
Holt	1110111001—7	Parker	1111101111—9

EVENT NO. 2.—15 targets, $2 entrance, $20 added: Parker 12, Holcomb 11, Wharton 13, Livenguth 13, Graham 15, Holt 15, Widdicomb 11, Walton 12, Bush 13, Elkerton 9, Gilmore 14, Preston 10, Clay 15, Coleman 11, Brown 8, Freligh 10.

EVENT NO. 3.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Parker 18, Holcomb 14, Wharton 16, Livenguth 14, Graham 19, Holt 19, Widdicomb 17, Walton 20, Bush 18, Elkerton 16, Gilmore 16, Freligh 17, Clay 16, Coleman 17, Brown 10.

EVENT NO. 4.—15 targets, $2 entrance, $10 added: Parker 12, Holcomb 15, Wheaton 10, Livenguth 14, Graham 12, Holt 14, Widdicomb 15, Walton 13, Clay 12, Elkerton 12, Gilmore 11, Hughart 5, Bush 14, Coleman 11, White 7, Easton 12.

EVENT NO. 5.—20 single targets, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Parker 18, Holcomb 17, Falcon 16, Livenguth 16, Graham 20, Holt 16, Widdicomb 18, Walton 20, Clay 15, Elkerton 18, Gilmore 14, Freligh 15, Easton 17, Bush 17, Coleman 15.

EVENT NO. 6.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $10 added.

Parker	111111111111111—15	Walton	101111100110010—9
Holcomb	111111010010110—10	Clay	011011111111111—13
Falcon	101111110010111—11	Elkerton	111111101100001—10
Livenguth	111111101101111—13	Gilmore	011111101011111—12
Graham	111111011111111—14	Easton	111111111111111—15
Holt	011111101001111—11	Coleman	111011111110111—13
Widdicomb	111111111101011—13	Bush	011111111111100—12

EVENT NO. 7.—25 targets, $3 entrance, $20 added: Parker 19, Bush 20, Falcon 19, Livenguth 17, Graham 22, Holt 21, Widdicomb 20, Walton 20, Clay 14, Coleman 16, Gilmore 18, Freligh 16, Easton 21, Redwing 11, Karstens 22, Elkerton 16.

EVENT NO. 8.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $10 added: Parker 14, Holcomb 9, Falcon 10, Livenguth 8, Graham 13, Holt 12, Widdicomb 11, Walton 12, Clay 9, Elkerton 5, Gilmore 14, Bush 12, Redwing 12, Easton 15, Karsteus 8, Freligh 9, Coleman 10.

EVENT NO. 9.—20 singles, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Parker 15, Holcomb 9, Falcon 15, Livenguth 16, Graham 16, Holt 15, Widdicomb 19, Walton 15, Clay 17, Elkerton 16, Gilmore 13, Easton 17, Bush 18, Freligh 14, Coleman 11, Karstens 15, H. Widdicomb 10, Redwing 16.

EVENT NO. 10.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $10 added: Parker 15, Holcomb 11, Falcon 11, Easton 14, Graham 15, Holt 10, Widdicomb 10, Walton 11, Clay 10, Elkerton 11, Gilmore 11, Livenguth 9, Fox 7, Glover 14, Bush 10, Preston 13, H. Widdicomb 7, Friant 10, Karstens 8, Redwing 11.

EVENT NO. 11.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, four moneys: Parker 10, Holt 10, Clay 11, Falcon 10, Livenguth 8, Grabam 12, Karstens 4, Redwing 9, Freligh 7, Glover 12, Bush 11, Walton 10, R. Widdicomb 12.

EVENT NO. 12.—15 singles $1.50 entrance.

Parker	011111111111111—14	Elkerton	111101001011010—9
Clay	111110110111110—12	Redwing	111101001101111—11
Bush	011111011111111—13	Walton	011101101010111—10
Glover	111101101011111—12	Preston	010110101111111—11
Fox	101001210101111—10	Livenguth	010111111111110—12
H. Widdicomb	111110100011111—11	R. Widdicomb	111111101000-10
Holt	101000010010011—7	Karstens	101011111110010—10
Graham	110111110111111—13	Baert	111110000110111—10
F. Falcon	011110110010111—10	Faulkner	111010011101100—9

EVENT NO. 13.—Same as preceding: Clay 12, Elkerton 10, Holt 11, Parker 12, Glover 15, Freligh 9, Graham 13, Kelsey 10, Bush 11, White 8, Preston 11, R. Widdicomb 12, Karstens 9, Baert 7, Livenguth 13, Redwing 8, Calkins 9, Walton 9.

EVENT NO. 14.—5 pairs per man: Graham 7, Bush 7, R. Widdicomb 4, Livenguth 8, H. Widdicomb 8, Holt 1, Glover 7, Clay 4, Freligh 3, Fox 6, Temple 8, Faulkner 8, Redwing 4, Davidson 4, Kelsey 5, Parker 8.

EVENT NO. 15.—10 singles, $1 entrance: Glover 10, R. Widdicomb 7, Temple 9, Norris 6, White 7, Cartright 5, Kelsey 7, Elkerton 5, Friant 5, Hughart 4, Freligh 5, Calkins 7, Bush 9, H. Widdicomb 7, Fox 4, Faulkner 5, Livenguth [illegible] Brown 5.

[illegible] entrance: Temple 7, Kelsey 5, [illegible] 4, Cartright 7, Brown 4, Wharton 9, [illegible]

[illegible]ts entrance, two moneys: Brown 6, [illegible]dwing 4, Kelsey 8, Norris 5, Brown

SECOND DAY

EVENT NO. 1. 10 singles, $1.50 entrance, $10 added: Parker 9, Thomson 9, Wharton 6, Holcomb 9, Graham 8, Glover 10, Walton 9, W. W. Marantette 7, Gilmore 6, Livenguth 8, Bush 8, Temple 10, F. C. Marautette 9, D. Carpenter 6, C. H. Rich 8, Kelsey 8, R. Widdicomb 7, Holt 9, Preston 8, Davidson 8, Elkerton 6, Elliott 8.

EVENT NO. 2.—15 targets, $2 entrance, $10 added: Parker 12, Thompson 14, Falcon 13, Holcomb 12, Grabam 13, Glover 12, Walton 15, W. W. M. 11, Gilmore 13, Livenguth 13, Temple 14, Bush 13, Rich 13, Carpenter 14, Elkerton 6, Preston 11, W. M. Debree 12, Elliott 12, Kelsey 8, Widdicomb 12, Davidson 14, Gone 13, F. C. M. 14, Holt 14.

EVENT NO. 3.—20 singles, $2 entrance, $10 added, bird allowance: Parker 20, Thomsou 20, Falcou 14, F. C. M. 19, Graham 18, Glover 17, Temple 15, Kelsey 17, Gilmore 18, Livenguth 15, Widdicomb 17, Holt 17, Walton 14, Elliott 18, Bush 18, W. W. M. 12, Clay 16, Rich 17, D. Carpenter 17, Gould 16, Debree 9, Davidson 16, Elkerton 10, Preston 18.

EVENT NO. 4.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $10 added, bird allowance.

Parker	111111111111100—13	Davidson	0110111011111111—13
Thomson	1111101010111111—13	Elkerton	0011011001011111—10
Falcou	1011101111110011—12	Clay	1101010110110101—10
H. C. M	1101011111011111—13	Rich	0011111101111011—12
Graham	1011010111110111—11	Freligh	1000100100110101—7
Glover	1111111111111101—14	Holcomb	1110111111111110—14
Temple	1001101111111010—11	Preston	1111011111111101—14
Kelsey	0101101101111101—11	Bush	1111100110110101—11
Gilmore	0110110100111111—11	D. Carpenter	0111111111110101—13
Livenguth	0111110111110111—13	Gould	1110011111111101—13
Widdicomb	1111110111111011—14	Debree	1000000001w—2
Holt	1110101011111101—12	W. W. M	0011011110000110—8
Walton	1101111111110111—14	Norris	0011100010111111—10
Elliott	0111111111111111—14	Faulkner	01001010w—3

EVENT NO. 5.—25 targets, $3 entrauce, $20 added: Parker 22, Thomson 22, Falcon 14, F. C. M. 25, Graham 23, Glover 23, Temple 15, Kelsey 18, Gilmore 17, Livenguth 24, Widdicomb 19, Holt 25, Walton 22, Elliott 20, Davidson 20, Elkerton 13, Clay 20, Rich 22, Carpenter 23, Gould 21, Freligh 17, Bush 22, Preston 15, W. W. M. 19.

EVENT NO. 6.—15 targets, $2 entranee, $10 added: Parker 13, Thomson 12, Falcon 11, F. C. M. 14, Graham 14, Glover 14, Bush 13, Kelsey 11, Gilmore 8, Livenguth (w) 8, Widdicomb 11, Holt 11, Walton 15, Elliott 8, Davidson 10, Courtright 7, Clay 13, Rich 11, Watts 12, Carpenter 11, Norris 9, Gould 10, Temple 10.

EVENT NO. 7.—20 singles, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Parker 17, Thomson 17, Falcon 15, F. C. M. 20, Graham 19, Glover 20, Bush 18, Kelsey 12, Gilmore 13, Livenguth 17, Widdicomb 19, Holt 17, Walton 17, Elliott 14, Davidson 15, Karstens 12, Clay 15, Preston 18, W. W. Marantette 16, M. Norris 7, Carpenter 19, Watts 20, Gould 17, Rich 18.

EVENT NO. 8.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $20 added: Parker 12, Thompson 12, Falcon 12, F. C. M. 15, Graham 14, Glover 13, Bush 14, Kelsey 13, Gilmore 12, Livenguth 13, Widdicomb 5, Holt 12, Walton 14, Elliott 14, Davidson 15, Holcomb 7, Clay 11, Freligh 6, Preston 11, Webber 12, Karstens 12, Eckert 10, Temple 7, Brown 5, Norris 8, White 8, Carpenter 11, Gould 14, Rich 15, Watts 13, W. W. M. (w) 5, Hawes 11, Nelson 11.

EVENT NO. 9.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Parker 17, Thompson 17, Falcon 14, F. C. M. 13, Graham 17, Glover 18, Bush 17, Kelsey 17, Gilmore 11, Livenguth 20, Widdicomb 17, Holt 17, Waltou 15, Elliott 17, Davidson 18, Preston 13, Clay 12, Eckert 9, Karstens 11, Carpenter 17, Gould 16, Watts 17, Hawes 18, Webber 14, Rich 17, White 7, Freligh 9, Temple 12.

EVENT NO. 10.—15 singles, $2 entrance, $20 added: Parker 14, Thompson 12, Falcon 12, F. C. M. 14, Graham 13, Glover 14, Bush 14, Kelsey 9, Gilmore 8, Livenguth 9, Widdicomb 8, Holt 11, Walton 15 Elliott 13, Davidson 14, Brown 14, Soule 10, Eckert 9, Karstens 13 Watt 13, Preston 13, Howes 12, Gould 9, Carpenter 12, Debree 14, Rick 12, W. W. M. 14, Webber 13, Nelson 10, H. Widdicomb (w) 7.

EVENT NO. 11.—State team championship (three diamond buttons), three men to a team, 25 targets per man, 75 cents entrance.

GRAND RAPIDS TEAM NO. 1

Gilmore	1000100110	0011010000	10110	—10
Holcomb	0110110110	1000111011	01101	—15
Gould	1011110010	1011111101	11110	—18	—43

GRAND RAPIDS TEAM NO. 2

Davidson	1110011001	0110100111	01010	—14
Karstens	1101001100	0010111111	11110	—16
Kelsey	0101111110	1011110101	01101	—12	—47

JACKSON TEAM

Holt	1011011110	0110111111	10111	—19
Watts	1011111111	1111101101	10111	—21
Thompson	1010100110	1110011101	11111	—17	—57

GRAND RAPIDS TEAM NO. 3

Wharton	0010011011	1111000011	01110	—14
Walton	1111111111	1111110101	11111	—23
Widdicomb	1111110111	0010111101	01101	—18	—55

BATTLE CREEK TEAM

Howes	0100110101	0111100101	00001	—12
Carpenter	1110111101	1111111110	11000	—19
Bush	0001011101	1110011011	00111	—15	—46

GRAND RAPIDS TEAM NO. 4

Temple	1101110111	0111010101	11001	—17
Calkins	1111011110	1011101001	11111	—19
Eckert	1111111110	1111110011	11110	—21	—57

MENDON TEAM

F. C. Marantette	1111111111	1111101101	11111	—23
W. W. Marantette	1111111111	1111011000	11101	—20
Preston	0011110111	1111110010	10111	—18	—61

GRAND RAPIDS TEAM NO. 5

Freligh	0011110101	0101010111	01111	—16
Faulkner	1010111111	1000111011	11110	—18
Norris	1000001001	0000101001	00011	— 8	—42

DES-CHREE-SHOS-KA TEAM

H. Widdicomb	1001110111	1011111111	01111	—20
Parker	1110111011	1111111111	11111	—23
Graham	1111111101	1111110111	11100	—21	—64

GREENVILLE TEAM

Webber	1111111111	0101111110	01111	—21
Debree	1000001001	1000101011	01111	—12
Rich	1011011111	1011111111	11110	—21	—54

EVENT NO. 12.—15 singles, $1.50 entrance, five moneys: Parker 14, Holt 13, Walton 7, Widdicomb 14, Graham 14, Livenguth 12, Glover 15, Howes 13, Bush 13, Carpenter 13, Preston 9, Kelsey 12, Eckert 12, Thompson 11, Watts 13, Freligh 10, Temple 7.

EVENT NO. 13.—10 singles, $1 entrance: R. Widdicomb 9, Walton 6, Graham 7, Glover 9, Livenguth 10, Parker 7, H. Widdicomb 5, Bush 5, Eckert 4, Thompson 6.

EVENT NO. 14.—5 pairs, $1 entrance: R. Widdicomb 5, Glover 8, Graham 9, Livenguth 6, Parker 9, Eckert 5, Bush 9, H. Widdicomb 9, Walton 8, Freligh 2.

THIRD DAY

EVENT NO. 1.—10 singles, $1.50 entrance, $20 added: Watts 6, Schelling 9, F. C. M. 8, Glover 8, Carpenter 6, Elliott 7, Walton 7, R. Widdicomb 8, Bush 9, Preston 6, Howes 7, Holt 8, Wharton 9, Gilmore 5, Rich 4, W. W. M. 9, Livenguth 7, Graham 8, Parker 10, H. Widdicomb 5, Davidson 4.

EVENT NO. 2.—15 targets, $2 entrance, $20 added, bird allowanee.

Parker	111111011111101—13	Holt	0111110011111111—13
Graham	111111111010010—11	Falcon	0111101111011110—12
Hawes	111101110101011—12	Gilmore	1111111111110111—15
F. C. M	111101111111101—13	Watts	1110111001111011—12
Glover	111111111111111—15	W. W. M	1101111111001001—11
Elliott	111111100101111—12	Livenguth	1011011111110111—13
Walton	1111011111110011—13	Carpenter	1111100111110001—11
R. Widdicomb	1101101111111011—13	Schelling	1111111011111101—14
Bush	0111011010101110—9	H. Widdicomb	0001111110111111—12
Preston	1111100111111111 14	Davidson	1001000010100110—6
Rich	1111010111101111—13

EVENT NO. 3.—20 targets per man: Parker 16, Graham 18, Carpenter 15, Howes 15, Glover 17, Elliott 17, Walton 14, R. Widdicomb 18, Bush 17, Davidson 12, Preston 15, Holt 16, Falcon 16, Rich 16, Gilmore 12, Watts 19, Livenguth 15, H. Widdicomb 17, W. W. M. 7, Schelling 17.

EVENT NO. 4.—15 single targets: Parker 12, Graham 15, Howes 11, Carpenter 13, Glover 14, Elliott 11, Walton 10, R. Widdicomb 15, Bush 11, Davidson 9, Preston 11, Holt 10, Falcon 14, Avery 9, H. Widdicomb 11, Gilmore (w) 4, Livenguth 13, Soule 7, Watts 11, Rich 12, Schelling 14.

EVENT NO. 5.—20 single targets, bird allowance: Parker 18, Graham 19, Howes 14, Gilmore 18, Glover 18, Elliott 16, Walton 19, Widdicomb 16, Bust 13, Carpenter 15, H. Widdicomb 18, Holt 17, Falcon 11, Watts 19, Schelling 16, Livenguth 19.

EVENT NO. 6. 15 targets, $2 entrance, $20 added: Parker 10, Graham 15, Preston 13, Freligh 10, Glover 14, Elliott 12, Walton 9, R. Widdicomb 14, Bush 12, Gilmore 10, H. Widdicomb 9, Holt 12, Hansen 8, Nyman 3, Clark 7, Rich 10, Livenguth 7, Watts 15, Falcon 10, Howes 11, Carpenter 11, De Bree (w) 7.

EVENT NO. 7. 25 targets, bird allowance, $3 entrance, $25 added.

Parker	1111011101	1001111111	01111—20
Graham	1111111111	1111011011	1111111—25
Preston	1011111111	0111101111	1011111—23
Gilmore	1111111110	0111111111	0111011—23
Glover	1111111111	1111111111	01111—24
Elliott	1110111111	1101111101	11101—21
Walton	1111111110	1110011011	1101011—21
Widdicomb	1111111111	1111111111	11111—25
Bush	1101111110	1111011111	1100100—21
Watts	1111110111	1101110111	1010111—24
Holt	1111111111	1111100111	0111011—23
Freligh	0000111010	1001001100	0101010—11
Howes	1011101011	1011111100	1111010—19
Carpenter	1111111001	0011110101	1111111—21
Livenguth	1011101001	0110101111	110w—15
H. Widdicomb	1111111111	1110111111	0111111—25

EVENT NO. 8.—15 targets, $2 entrauce, $15 added: Parker 13, Graham 14, Preston 14, Whartou 9, Glover 13, Elliott 13, Walton 12, R. Widdicomb 12, Bush 10, Faulkner 12, Holt 12, Clark 8, Hauson 9, Gilmore 12, Watts 11, H. Widdicomb 11, Schelling 15, Carpenter 9, Livenguth 12, Howes (w) 3.

EVENT NO. 9.—20 targets, $2.50 entrance, $20 added: Parker 19, Graham 17, Preston 17, Liveuguth 19, Glover 16, Elliott 14, Walton 18, R. Widdicomb 18, Bush 17, Faulkner 11, Carpeuter 14, Holt 19, Gilmore 16, Watts 16, Schelling 18, Falcon (w) 5.

EVENT NO. 10.—15 targets, $2 entrance, $20 added: Parker 11, Graham 14, Preston 12, Falcon 11, Glover 15, Livenguth 11, Walton (w) 7, R. Widdicomb 11, Bush 12, Gilmore 14, Watts 13, Holt 10, Calkins 7, White 5, H. Widdicomb 12, Davidson 10, Rood 9, Kelsey 13.

EVENT NO. 11.—Individual state championship, 25 targets per man: Experts—Holt 21, Preston 21, Falcon 11, Parker 16, Howes (w) 4, Graham 22, Schelling 16, Davidson 18, Watts (w) 10, Bush 12. Semi-experts—R. Widdicomb 21, Walton 21. Amateurs—Gilmore 20, Freligh 10, Calkins 22, H. Widdicomb 17, Faulkner 19, C. Carpenter (w) 9, Plant (w) 5. Graham won expert championship; Walton in shoot off won semi-expert championship, and Calkins won amatour championship.

EXTRA No. 1.—10 targets, $1 entrance: Grahann 5, Glover 6, Watts 10, R. Widdicomb 8, Parker 7, Busb 7, Falcon 8, Holt 7, Livenguth 6, Young 2.

FALCON.

OHIO TRAP SHOOTERS' LEAGUE'S TOURNAMENT

DAYTON, O.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The ninth annual tournament of the Ohio Trap Shooters' League, held at Dayton, O., was liberally attended, some fifty shooters being present on the morning of the first day. The grounds were in splendid condition and all the arrangements good; but the morning of the opening day was cloudy and there was a stiff, cold wind from the northwest that made the shooting harder than ordinarily. There was the usual number of experts present, among them Rolla Heikes, Fulford, Budd, Rike, Raymond, Cain, Taylor, Young, Dando, Upson, Easton, who won the State Journal cup, Ward, Spross, Bacou, Adams, Stark, Latham and McDonald. Ten traps were used, one set for league events and the other set for open sweepstakes.

There were many spectators present, the ladies' tent being well filled, and they seemed to enjoy the sport quite as much as the participants, watching the work of the shooters with great interest and applauding lustily every difficult shot. Ed Clark acted as referee and R. Schmackers and C. Fisbach were the scorers. The scores follow:

LEAGUE EVENTS

EVENT NO. 1.—15 single targets per man, $1.50 entrance, $10 added by the Buckeye Gun Club: Dando 13, Lyman 9, Rike 13, Young 12, Ward 12, Haswell 11, Upson 12, Latham 10, Perry 13, See 10, Joe 10, Raymond 9, Stark 11, Stuart 7, Heikes 11, Cain 10, Taylor 10, Shorty 12, Spross 14, Red Wing 12, Wherry 9, Cleve 11, Dick 9, Jack 5, Bostou 5, Harter 5. Spross won first money; Dando, Rike and Perry divided second; Young, Ward, Upson, Shorty and Red Wing divided third. Haswell, Heikes, Stark and Cleve divided first money in Class B; Latham, Cain, See, Joe aud Taylor second; Lyman, Raymond, Dick and Wherry third.

EVENT NO. 2.—Same as preceding: H. Dando 14, Lyman 13, B. Wadell 6, Heikes 13, Rike 12, Caln 12, Upson 13, Latham 10, Perry 12, Redwiug 13, Wherry 10, Cleve 11, Stark 13, Wroe 8, Young 11, Ware 11, Haswell 9, Taylor 11, Shorty 10, Spross 9, Jock 5, See 10, Joe 11, Raymond 7, Dick 11, Fred 7, C. D. Kiefaber 8. In Class A Harmon and Dando divided first mouey; Lyman, Heikes, Upson, Redwing aud Stark second; Rike, Cain and Perry third. In Class B Young, Ward, Taylor, Joe, Cleve and Dick divided first; See, Latham, Wherry and Shorty second; Haswell and Spross third.

EVENT NO. 3.—Same as before, twenty-nine entries: H. Dando 12, Wadell 13, Lyman 10, Heikes 13, Rike 14, Caln 12, Upson 12, Latbam 13, Perry 11, Redwing 12, Wberry 11, Cleve 8, Fred 9, Dan 10, Kiefaber 8, Young 11, Ward 13, Haswell 7, Taylor 11, Shorty 12, Spross 10, See 14, Joe 9, Raymond 11, Dick 9, Wroe 10, Stark 13, Barton 12, Jack 8. Rike and See divided first money in Class A; Wadell, Heikes, Latham and Ward second; Dando, Cain, Upson and Redwing third. In Class B Perry, Wherry, Young and Taylor divided first; Lyman, Shorty, Raymond, Kiefaber and Dan second; Joe aud Dick tbird.

EVENT NO. 4.—Another of the same kind, twenty-seven entries: Dando 10, Lyman 9, Wadell 7, Heikes 15, Rike 13, Caiu 11, Upson 14, Latham 13, Perry 14, Redwing 12, Wherry 11, Cleve 6, Dan 6, Kiefaber 7, Young 14, Ware 10, Haswell 9, Taylor 7, Shorty 13, Spross 14, See 12, Joe 9, Raymond 12, Dick 7, Palmer 8, Walt 13, Stark 11. In Class A Heikes won first all alone; Young, Spross and Perry divided second; Rike, Latham, Shorty, Upson and Walt third. In Class B Redwing; See aud Raymond divided first money; Cain, Wherry and Stark seeond; Ward and Dando third.

EVENT NO. 5.—20 single Blue Rocks, $2 entrance, $15 added, twenty-nine entries: Dando 15, Lyman 14, Wadell 14, Heikes 17, Rike 15, Cain 17, Upson 18, Latham 17, Perry 19, Stark 13, Dan 10, Raymond 16, See 12, Walt 16, Wroe 13, Young 17, Ward 16, Haswell 9, Taylor 15, Shorty 14, Spross 11, Redwing 18, Wherry 16, Cleve 8, Joe 14, Dick 11, Kiefaber 8, Baldheim 12, Barton 14.

EVENT NO. 6.—Same as preceding: Dando 15, Lyman 8, Wadell 13, Heikes 18, Rike 18, Cain 16, Upson 18, Latham 16, Perry 15, Stark 10, Raymond 14, Joe 11, Young 17, Ward 18, Mill 16, Taylor 17, Shorty 19, Spross 12, Redwing 16, Wherry 13, Cleve 10, Dan 14, See 14, Harter 2.

SPECIAL EVENT.—Contest for the State Journal cup, 30 targets per man, $3 entrauce, Ed Clark referee.

H. Dando	1111110110	1111111011	1111111101	—26
Wm. G. Lyman	1100100010	1100001010	1011010100	—13
B. Wadell	0110001111	1111111110	1111111001	—23
Heikes	0101111101	1101110111	1111111011	—24
Rike	1110111011	1111111011	1111111100	—25
Upson	1011111111	1011011011	0111111111	—25
Raymond	0111101110	0011010111	1111110011	—21
Will Dando	0110111100	1110111101	0111101110	—21
Latbam	1101111101	1001111111	0011110110	—22
J. P. Easton	1111111011	1111111111	1111110111	—28
Young	1110111111	1111111111	0111110111	—27
Cleve	1101110100	0110000111	1000110011	—16
Taylor	1001010110	0111111110	0111111111	—22
Shorty Bacon	1110111111	1011111111	1111111111	—28
Redwing	1110111110	0110101110	1011101110	—21
Caln	1111101111	1111111101	1111110111	—27
Stark	1110111011	1101110101	1101101111	—23

Eastou and Bacon tied for the trophy on 28 each, and shot the tie off on 10 birds each. Another tie resulted, each seoring 8, and another 10 birds were shot at to decide the winner. This time Easton seored 10 straight while Bacon lost one, scoring 9, thus giving the honor and trophy to the former. First money also weut with the cup.

This cup was first won on May 10, 1892, by Paul North, of Cleveland; May 9, 1893, by C. A. Young, of Springfield; May 8, 1894, by Rolla Heikes, of Dayton.

Cain and Young divided secoud money; Dando won third; Rike fourth.

OPEN EVENTS

EVENT NO. 1.—20 single targets per man, $2 entrance, eighteen entries, four moneys: Van Dyke 18, Le Roy 17, Budd 17, Hoffman 16, Glover 16, Heikes 16, Spross 15, Young 13, Upson 20, Grimm 17, Fulford 17, Bartlett 13, De Voe 17, Rike 18, Peggy 13, Wherry 13, Redwing 14, Easton 18.

EVENT NO. 2.—Same as preceding in all respects: Van Dyke 19, Le Roy 17, Budd 17, Grimm 16, Fulford 19, Bartlett 14, Spross 18, Peggy 12, Perry 18, Wherry 14, Hoffman 15, Glover 16, De Voe 11, Heikes 16, Rike 16, Caln 15, Upson 16, Latham 16, Redwing 16, Cleve 12.

EVENT NO. 3.—20 single targets, $2.50 entrance, four moneys, eighteen entries: Van Dyke 18, Le Roy 18, Budd 15, Grimm 19, Fulford 16, Bartlett 12, Spross 15, Young 13, Upson 20,

Hoffman 16, Glover 15, De Voe 17, Heikes 18, Caln 16, Rike 16, Wherry 13, Redwing 11, Easton 18.

EVENT No. 4.—Same as above: Van Dyke 16, Le Roy 19, Fulford 18, Hoffman 16, Glover 17, De Voe 13, Heikes 18, Rike 20, Caln 17, Budd 19, Grimm 17, Bartlett 16, Ward 13, Spross 15, Perry 13, Upson 16, Latham 16, Wherry 15.

EVENT No. 5.—Same again: Van Dyke 17, Le Roy 18, Budd 15, Grimm 17, Fulford 19, Bartlett 16, Spross 14, Upson 15, Hoffman 8, Glover 20, Wait 18, Heikes 19, Rike 18, De Voe 15, Craig 14.

EVENT No. 6.—Another of the same kind: Van Dyke 16, Le Roy 18, Budd 18, Grimm 15, Fulford 18, Bartlett 19, Hoffman 17, Glover 19, Waters 15, Craig 11, Heikes 20, Rike 16.

EVENT No. 7.—Same again: Van Dyke 16, Le Roy 20, Budd 15, Grimm 12, Fulford 20, Bartlett 15, Hoffman 13, Glover 15, De Voe 12, Heikes 19, Rike 13, Perry 19.

EVENT No. 8.—25 single targets, $4 entrance, four moneys: Fulford 25, Budd 23, Van Dyke 20, De Voe 16, Linderman 17, Le Roy 24, Bartlett 21, Grimm 18, Heikes 24, Upson 22.

The annual business meeting of the league was held at the parlors of the Phillips House on the evening of the first day of the tournament, when it was decided to hold the meeting of 1896 in this city, and the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, C. W. Raymond of Dayton; vice-president, W. H. Miller of Columbus; secretary-treasurer, Ed Taylor of Cincinnati.

President Raymond then announced his executive committee as follows: R. S. Wadell of Cincinnati, chairman; Dr. Waters of Columbus, Ed Rike of Dayton, George Haswell of Circleville, S. S. Saffold of Cleveland.

SECOND DAY

The second day was pleasanter than the first, therefore better scores were the rule. By the records made on the first day, twelve men, Heikes, Upson, Redwing, Latham, Rike, Easton, Ward, Caln, Dando, Young, Shorty and Spross, were promoted to Class A, and by noon on the second day Wherry and Raymond had also shot themselves into Class A.

The second day's work opened with an extra to warm up on at 15 single targets, $1.50 entrance, in which the following scores were made: Clay 12, Upson 13, Dando 13, Fulford 12, Glover 12, Raymond 11, Le Roy 14, Redwing 10, Parker 9, Wherry 13, Ballinger 11, Easton 13, Grimm 12, Budd 14, Hoffman 12, Young 13, Vau Dyke 15, Bartlett 12.

LEAGUE EVENTS

EVENT No. 1.—15 single targets, $1.50 entrance, $10 added, thirty entries, six moneys: Heikes 15, Rike 12, Dando 12, Latham 9, Holt 12, Redwing 13, Easton 15, Ward 11, Cain 14, See 12, W. G. Lyman 10, McDouald 12, Jaek 6, Taylor 13, Ballinger 3, Raymoud 13, Upson 13, Pickaway 9, Cleve 11, Wherry 9, Shorty 11, Young 15, Stark 13, Artz 10, Curtis 8, Wadell 9, Spross 12, Buntain 10, Porterfield 12, Kiefaber 9.

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Heikes 14, Raymond 13, Rike 11, Upsou 14, Dando 14, Piekaway 8, Shorty 13, Young 13, Ward 15, Stark 12, Ball 10, Tayior 11, Bunt 8, Wadell 11, Stark 10, Latham 12, Holt 14, Redwing 15, Easton 14, Cleve 12, Wherry 13, Cain 14, See 11, Lyman 11, McDonaid 11, Jaek 10, Goodman 7, Kiefaber 8, Artz 10, Curtis 12.

EVENT No. 3.—Same thing again, thirty-three entries: Heikes 14, Raymond 15, Rike 11, Upson 13, Daudo 12, Stout 7, Shorty 13, Young 11, Ward 13, Ball 14, Goodman 10, Stark 7, Wadell 14, Curtis 9, Taylor 9, McDonaid 12, Portland 8, Latham 8, Holt 11, Redwing 15, Easton 15, Cleve 11, Wherry 13, Cain 12, See 11, Lyman 13, Henry 9, Bunt 13, Jaek 9, Mills 12, Warndorf 10, Max 10, Kiefaber 4.

EVENT No. 4.—Same again, twenty-eight entries: Heikes 13, Raymond 13, Rike 11, Upson 3, Dando 10, Stout 15, Stark 12, Ball 10, Bunt 10, Tippy 11, Stranger 10, Shorty 13, Young 13, Ward 14, Latham 11, Holt 11, Redwing 13, Easton 12, Cleve 12, Wherry 14, Henry 11, Jack 8, Goodman 7, Upson 14, Craig 13, Caln 13, See 12, Lymau 11.

EVENT No. 5.—20 single targets each man, $2 entranee, $15 added, thirty-four eutries: Heikes 18, Raymoud 20, Rike 17, Dando 19, Wadell 13, McDonald 19, Cleve 16, Wherry 16, Shorty 19, Young 18, Ward 15, Cain 18, See 17, Lyman 13, Dan 14, Tippy 10, Upson 20, Latham 11, Holt 16, Redwing 19, Easton 19, Spross 15, Stout 13, Henry 15, Stark 15, Bunt 10, Goodman 15, Mill 16, Freneh 17, Stranger 13, Warndorf 13, Max 15.

EVENT No. 6.—L. C. Smith eup eontest, 50 single targets per man, entranee $5; F. E. Coppernoll of Chieago, referee; Wm. G. Lyman of Kent and S. S. Saffold of Cleveland, judges.

Heikes ...	1111111111	1111111111	1111111111	1111111110—49
Rike	0111111111	0110110111	1111111010	1011111011 1111111111—42
Upson ...	1011111111	1100111101	1111111101	0101010101 1110111111—39
H. Dando.	0011011111	1110111111	1110011110	1111111111 1111111111—43
J. P. Easton—
	1111111111	1011111111	1111111101	1111111110 1111111110—46
Raymond .	1111111111	0110111101	1010111111	1110100111 1111010111—40
Wherry ..	1111110010	0100011111	1111101001	0010111001 1011110000—30
Redwing ..	1111111110	1111111111	1111111111	1111111110 1011111111—47
Cain	0011111111	1110111111	1111111111	0111111111 1111111111—46
Young ...	1111111101	1111111111	1111111111	1111111101 1111111111—48
Spross ...	1111111101	0111111011	0111001110	1111111111 1111111011—42
Shorty ...	1111111111	1111111111	1111101101	1111111111 1100011111—46

Rolla Heikes won the trophy on the exeellent seore of 49 out of 50, missing his fiftieth bird through overconfidence. This he disliked very mneh but the shot eould not be recalled and so the record has to stand. Young of Springfield was close on his heels with 48, aud Redwing only one behind Young, while there were three close after Redwing.

The first contest for this eup was held at Galion, O., in May, 1888, when 30 targets instead of 50 were shot at. On this occasion Mr. R. O. Heikes won the trophy on a score of 29. At the league meeting in Dayton in October of the same year the eup was again eontested for, the number of targets being changed from 30 to 50, and the result was a tie between Mr. Heikes and Geo. Hart. Score, 48 each. The tie was shot off at 50 targets, and the result was another tie on 47. In the seeond tie at 50 birds, each broke 49. By mutual agreement the final tie was shot at Dayton, December 25, 1888, at 100 targets each, and won by Mr. Heikes with a score of 93 to Mr. Hart's 90. At the annual meetiug at Cleveland in May, 1889, Arthur Paul and Paul North tied on 47. In the tie shoot at 25 targets Mr. Paul broke 24 and won the eup, Mr. North breaking 18. George Osborn won the eup at Toledo in May, 1890, with a seore of 47. Mr. Osborn again won the eup at Findlay in May, 1890, with a score of 48. At Columbus, May 12, 1892, M. C. Sanford won the eup with a score of 48. In 1893 the eup was won with a seore of 46 by Mr. W. B. Perley of Columbus. In 1894 it was won by R. O. Heikes of Dayton with a score of 49, and now again in 1895 by the same score, 49.

OPEN EVENTS

EVENT No. 1.—10 single targets, $1.20 entranee, four moneys, twenty-seven entries: Bartlett 7, Budd 8, Grimm 9, Van Dyke 8, Parker 10, Glover 10, Redwing 10, Clay 9, Hoffman 10, Rike 8, Young 10, Upson 9, Shorty 8, Buntain 7, Heikes 9, Latham 10, Le Roy 9, Wherry 8, Fulford 9, Easton 8, Artz 7, Davenport 8, Raymond 9, McDonald 9, Cleve 7, Spross 6, Stark 7.

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding, twenty-four entries: Grimm 7, Van Dyke 10, Bartlett 8, Heikes 7, Buntaln 4, Hoffman 8, Hayman 7, Fulford 10, Latham 8, Whlte 10, Clay 9, Redwlng 8, Parker 9, Budd 10, Glover 9, Easton 8, Houston 4, Mlller 6, Wherry 6, Monbeck 4, Young 8, Le Roy 10, McDonald 9, A. J. 3.

EVENT No. 3.—15 single targets, $1.50 entranee, eighteen entries: Van Dyke 13, Buntain 9, Hoffman 13, Glover 15, Grimm 13, Dando 12, Le Roy 15, Clay 11, Young 13, Budd 10, Heikes 15, Bartlett 13, Parker 12, Fulford 14, Wherry 7, Easton 14, Whlte 15, Latham 10.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $1.50 entranee, eighteen entrles: Grimm 15, Parker 12, Hoffman 11, Glover 14, Van Dyke 14, Raymond 14, Heikes 13, White 12, Henry 7, Budd 11, Bartlett 14, Le Roy 14, Upson 14, Fulford 14, Easton 11, McDonald 12, Clay 13, Buntaln 13.

EVENT No. 5.—Same as preeedlng: Grimm 14, Van Dyke 15, Bartlett 14, Budd 14, Fulford 14, Tippy 11, Parker 12, Le Roy 15, Spross 12, Glover 12, Whlte 13, Hoffman 13.

EVENT No. 6.—Same thing again: Grimm 12, Bartlett 11, Van Dyke 13, Budd 14, Fulford 14, Tippy 4, Whlte 13, Cleve 6, Glover 15, Le Roy 13, McDonald 14, Hoffman 14, Parker 14, Goodman 9, French 11.

EVENT No. 7.—Same again: Bartlett 13, Fulford 14, Van Dyke 14, Grimm 13, Budd 12, Le Roy 13, Glover 13, Spross 13, McDonald 12, Hoffman 13, Parker 14, Wherry 10, Heikes 15, Upson 13, Whlte 13, Raymond 10, Robbins 11, Buntaln 7, Wadell 7, French 12.

EVENT No. 8.—Another of the same: Bartlett 13, Fulford 13, Budd 14, Van Dyke 13, Glover 14, Le Roy 15, Upson 14, Clay 11, Hoffman 10, Grimm 10, Heikes 12, Robbins 12, Parker 12, Young 13, Whlte 12, Redwing 15, Buntaln 8, Stout 12.

THIRD DAY

On the third day the weather conditions were more favorable—barring the wind—than on either of the other days, consequently a large number of events were run off. The interest this day centered in the team contest and a large gathering of spectators were on the grounds when this event was called. Mr. Chas. Budd was selected referee for this event and Mr. Chas. Grimm and E. D. Fulford judges. The Buckeye Gun Club of Dayton entered five teams, the Cleveland Gun Club two teams, and the Sherman Gun Club of Columbus two teams. The Cleveland club had in its second team—Worthington and Upson—the final winners.

The other league events, and open events too, for that matter, were about the same as on the previous day so I will not consume space in your valuable paper by reporting them in detail. Some of the boys, perhaps, shot a little better and some not so well as on the other days, but enough has already been shown to give the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD a very good idea of the shooting of each man.

In the team contest two men constituted a team, and each man shot at 25 single targets, known trap, unknown angles. The scores:

Buckeye Gun Club Team No. 1.—Rike 21, Cralg 17. Total 38.

Buckeye Gun Club Team No. 2.—Stark 16, W. Daudo 17. Total 33.

Buckeye Gun Club Team No. 3.—McDonald 22, H. Dando 24. Total 46.

Buckeye Gun Club Team No. 4.—Cain 20, Raymond 19. Total 39.

Buckeye Gun Club Team No. 5.—Heikes 22, Shorty 17. Total 39.

Cleveland Gun Club Team No. 1.—Wherry 16, Saffold 18. Total 34.

Cleveland Gun Club Team No. 2.—Worthington 22, Upson 24. Total 46.

Columbus Gun Club Team No. 1.—Miller 18, Alkire 15. Total 33.

Columbus Gun Club Team No. 2.—Hayden 19, Ward 23. Total 42.

The Buckeye's Team No. 3 and Cleveland's Team No. 2 tied on a total of 46 each for the trophy. It was agreed to shoot the tie off at 25 targets per man and the result was that the Cleveland boys proved the vietors. The seores:

Cleveland Team No. 2.—Worthington 20, Upson 21. Total 41.

Buckeye Team No. 3.—McDonald 21, Dando 19. Total 40.

The cup is subject to challenge and the Cleveland club will have to defend it until the next annual meetiug of the league. This the club will try to do suecessfully and will make it very pleasant for all clubs challenging for the cup.

The prizes for general average in all the league eontests were awarded as follows: First prize, R. O. Heikes; seeond, D. A. Upson; third, Mr. Perry.

SECRETARY.

THE LOUISIANA GUN CLUB'S PRIZE SHOOT

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The seventeenth prize shoot of the Louisiana Gun Club was a veritable "sur—prise" shoot. Under the system adopted by the club, each member shoots at twenty-five single Blue Rock targets thrown at unknown angles. The best shots are allowed nothing, their scores being the number hit out of the twenty-five shot at. In the tabulated scores below their allowance is indicated by a zero. The less expert shots, in order of ability, are allowed from one to eight added birds, which means that to the number they actually hit out of twenty-five they are allowed the number opposite their respective names, which when added to their hits is supposed to put them virtually upon an equality with the scratch men. Mr. Edgar Nott, the only scratch man who shot at this shoot, scored twenty out of his twenty-five. The other good shots, with allowances of from one to three, scored from fifteen to twenty, while Messrs. Cousin, Miller and Nuber, all in the last division, with eight added, scored respeetively seventeen, twenty-one and twenty, which with the eight added gave them each twenty-five, the maximum. Mr. Cousin had previously never scored above 50 per cent., Mr. Miller even less, and Mr. Nuber 26 per cent. But this is not all. Cousiu, Miller and Nuber shot the tie off, and the scores resulted: Cousin 22 and 8 added, made 25; Miller 17, which with the 8 added also made 25; Nuber 11, and with 8 added gave him 19. Nuber dropped out and the others kept up their first-class shooting. Miller and Cousin shot the tie off again, the scores being twenty out of twenty-five each. They then agreed to shoot the tie off irrespective of handicap, and each actually scored twenty-one out of twenty-five. Here their shells ran out and the finish was postponed until Wednesday of next week. Mr. Miller never shot better in his life to my knowledge, he making fourteen and also sixteen straight. The most remarkable thing about the whole shoot was that the lowest estimated shots shot equal to any first-class shot, and kept it up, Miller shooting a 79 per eent. and Cousin an 80 per cent. gait. The scores follow:

	Targets added
Ph. Nott	2	1001111100	0110001111	00111—17
Ed. Nott	0	0011111100	1111111111	10111—20
J. De Blanc	3	1111110110	1011101110	00111—21
Faure	3	1101111100	0011111100	00110—18
Maemurdo	2	0111111111	1101111011	11011—22
Geo. Miller	8	1111110110	1111001111	11111—25
Gust Nelson	3	0101001101	1010001111	11111—19
E. P. Cousin	8	1001111100	1011001011	11111—25
Saucier	2	1000101111	1111010011	00011—17
Nuber	8	1110111011	1111111011	01011—25
Ties on 25 shoot off at original number of targets.
Miller	8	1101001101	1011100111	11101—25
Cousin	8	1111101111	1111010111	11111—25
Nuber	8	1110001110	0110010100	00100—19
Ties on 25 shoot off the seeond time.
Miller	8	0101011101	0111111111	11111—25
Cousin	8	1001101110	1011111111	11111—25
The third shoot off.
Miller		1001011101	1111111111	11111—21
Cousin		0111101111	1111101111	11101—21

PERCY S. BENEDICT, Secy.

TRAP AT DETROIT

DETROIT, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Pastime Gun Club held its opening shoot recently at the Rush House. The weather was raw and consequently the attendance was not large, but some of those in attendance did some pretty fair shooting. The seores are appended.

SHOOT No. 1.—Club contest, 25 single targets per man.

Buesser	1111111111	1111111111	11111—25
Gross	1111111111	0111111111	01111—23
Schmidt	1101010011	1110001111	11111—18
Olfs	0101001000	0000000000	01100— 5
Wieber	1101000100	1001000001	01001— 9
Fox	0111101011	1111111111	10111—21
Marks	1110111111	1111110111	10111—22
Daniels	1111111101	1011110011	01100—18
Woods	1111111101	1101111110	11111—22

SHOOT No. 2.—10 singles, $1 entrance: Buesser 10, Marks 9, Daniels 6, Fox 7, Wieber 2, Olfs 3, Gross 10, Woods 9.

SHOOT No. 3.—Same as preeeding: Marks 9, Buesser 8, Woods 10, Fox 10, Gross 8, Daniels 8, Olfs 6, Wieber 2.

SHOOT No. 4.—Another of the same kind: Marks 5, Fox 9, Daniels 6, Gross 7, Woods °, Buesser 8.

SHOOT No. 5.—Same again: Marks 5, Buesser 9, Woods 8, Fox 9, Gross 8, Daniels 7, Olfs 3.

SHOOT No. 6.—Same: Marks 8, Fox 9, Daniels 7, Woods 7, Buesser 8.

SHOOT No. 7.—5 pairs, $1 entrance.

Marks	10 11 00 11 11—7	Schmidt	01 10 01 10 00—4
Daniels	10 01 10 10 10—5	Fox	10 10 10 10 10—5
Buesser	11 11 00 11 11—8	Wieber	10 10 00 00 10—3
Woods	10 11 11 11 01—8	Olfs	00 11 00 10 00—3
Gross	11 11 11 10 11—9

SHOOT No. 8.—10 targets, $1 entranee: Marks 10, Daniels 6, Buesser 9, Woods 7, Gross 7, Fox 9, Wieber 3, Olfs 3.

SHOOT No. 9.—25 targets, entrance $2.50: Buesser 24, Wolf 22, Gross 22, Fox 22, Smith 19, Wieber 7, Zielke 21.

SHOOT No. 10.—15 targets, entrance $1.50: Buesser 15, Klein 15, Fox 14, Zielke 14, Smith 9, Wolf 14, Doualdson 11, Zielke 13.

M. WOLLENWEBER.

TRAP AT RUTHERFORD

RUTHERFORD, N. J.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The inclosed scores were made recently on the grounds of the Boiling Springs Gun Club.

EVENT No. 1. 10 single targets each man, unknown

Richmoud	1101011100 6	Paul
Grieff	1111011110—8	Dr. Adams
P. Adams	1111111111 10	Jeanerett
Apgar	1111100111 8	Grey

EVENT No. 2. Same as preceding: Ri

P. Adams 6, Apgar 10, Paul 7, Dr. Adams 6, J

EVENT No. 3.—10 targets, everything kn

9, Richmond 10, Apgar 10, Dr. Adams 8, Gre

EVENT No. 4.—10 targets, expert rules.

Grieff	1111111111—10	Paul
Apgar	1101111111 9	Dr. Ada	1111111100—8
P. Adams	1111110111 9	Cook	1101011111 8
Richmond	1110011110 7	Tilton	1110011110 7
De Wolf	0011100111 6

EVENT No. 5.—10 targets, unknown angles: Paul 10, Grieff 10, Apgar 9, Richmond 9, P. Adams 8, De Wolf 6, Cook 5, Tilton 7, Dr. Adams 9, Grey 4.

EVENT No. 6.—10 targets, expert rules: Grieff 9, Apgar 9, P. Adams 8, Paul 8, Richmond 9, De Wolf 7, Cook 6, Tilton 4, Grey 6, Dr. Adams 5, Jeanerett 7.

EVENT No. 7.—5 pairs of targets each man: Grieff 10, Richmond 8, Dr. Adams 7, Apgar 6, Paul 6, De Wolf 6, Cook 6, Tilton 6, P. Adams 6, James 4, Grey 3.

EVENT No. 8.—5 pairs per man.

Apgar	10 11 11 11 11—9	De Wolf	10 11 11 10 00—6
Richmond	11 10 10 11 11—8	Dr. Adams	10 11 11 11 11—9
P. Adams	01 10 11 11 11—8	Tilton	11 10 10 10 00—5
Paul	11 01 11 11 11—9	Cook	10 01 10 01 10—5
Grieff	11 11 11 10 11—9	Grey	01 00 01 11 10—5

EVENT No. 9.—10 singles, unknown angles: P. Adams 8, Richmond 8, Paul 8, Apgar 10, Grieff 8, Dr. Adams 8, Grey 3, Jeanerett 5.

EVENT No. 10.—15 singles, unknown angles: Richmond 15, Apgar 14, P. Adams 12, Paul 11, Grieff 13, De Wolf 10, Cook 11, Tilton 7, Grey 11, Dr. Adams 12.

EVENT No. 11.—10 singles, unknown angles: Grieff 10, Apgar 8, Richmond 8, P. Adams 9, Paul 9, De Wolf 8, Dr. Adams 8, Cook 7, Grey 3, Tilton 6, Jeanerett 7.

COSMOPOLITAN.

THE NEW UTRECHT GUN CLUB

Members of the above named club of New York had quite a pleasant shoot at live birds at Woodlawn, L. I., on June 15. The attendance was not as large as is usual at these meetings, neither were the live birds as good as could have been desired, yet the afternoon was pleasantly spent. The wind was quite strong during the entire afternoon, and this helped to make some of the birds hard to stop within bounds. The scores made were as follows:

SHOOT No. 1.—10-bird race for price of birds, between Dr. Littlefield and G. W. Coulston. Each man killed 10 straight and then decided to shoot the tie off, miss and out, in the next event. Dr. Littlefield lost his first tie bird and Mr. Coulston, killing, won the race.

SHOOT No. 2.—5 live birds per man, $2 entrance.

C. W. Floyd	02122—4	R. Phister	21121—5
G. W. Coulston	22001—3	Dr. Littlefield	*1221—4
McAlpin	22121—5	E. B. Knowlton	22110—4
C. Furgueson Jr	22222—5	Dr. V. Parker	21212—5
Edwards	22210—4

SHOOT No. 3.—3 live birds, $2 entrance: Coulston 2, McAlpin 2, Fergueson Jr. 3, Edwards 2, Phister 3, Littlefield 2, Floyd 2.

SHOOT No. 4.—5 birds, $4 entrance: Floyd 5, Coulston (w) 2, McAlpin 5, Fergueson Jr. 5, Edwards (w) 2, Phister 5, Littlefield 4.

On June 5 members of the club shot at targets, when the following scores were made:

SHOOT No. 1.—10 single targets, 25 cents entrance:

Phister	1111111110—9	Edwards	1101111101—8
Deacon	1011111111—9	McAlpin	0111111111—9
Wash	1111111110—9	Dr. Littlefield	1110101111—8
Coulston	0111011010—6

SHOOT No. 2.—Another of the same kind: Phister 7, Deacon 8, Wash 10, Edwards 7, McAlpin 10, Dr. Littlefield 8.

SHOOT No. 3.—5 pairs; Phister 6, McAlpin 5.

SHOOT No. 4.—25 bird race between D. C. Bennett and D. Deaeon: Bennett 17, Deaeon 19.

GEO. E. POOL, Secy.

PARKWAY ROD AND GUN CLUB

The diamond badge contest of the Parkway Rod and Gun Club was shot on June 12 at Dexter Park. Much zest was added to the eontest by the first appearance of James Benuett, one of the aetive members of the club, who had been prostrated by illiness for several months. He shot in his old form, making a straight score and thereby winning the badge after a close race. The men shot in three classes, 7 birds each, arranged according to last year's averages. After the elub match several sweepstakes were shot. The scores:

EVENT No. 1.—Club shoot, 7 birds.

CLASS A

	Yards		Yards
James Bennett	28	1121121—7	C. M. Meyer	28 2212201—6
Lee Helgans	28	*112211—6	Anthony Botty	30 0102111—6
Henry Bramwell	28	1*12111—6

CLASS B

	Yards		Yards
Thomas Short	25	211*221—6	D. S. Van Wicklen	25 1112011—6
Joseph Woolley	25	1121220—6

CLASS C

	Yards		Yards
H. J. Bookman	25	1211101—6	H. J. Selover	25 01*1111—5

EVENT No. 2.—Sweepstakes, 5 birds: Bennett 5, Helgans 5, Meyer 5.

EVENT No. 3.—Sweepstakes, 5 birds: Bennett 5, Helgans 5, Meyer 5, Bookman 5, Botty 5, Bramwell 5, Woolley 5, Selover 3, Van Wicklen 3.

EVENT No. 4.—Sweepstakes, miss and out: Helgans 6, Bookmau 6, Botty 6, Woolley 6, Meyer 5, Bramwell 3, Bennett 2.

ST. LOUIS VS. BELLEVILLE

ST. LOUIS, MO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed you will please find the result of match between the St. Louis (Mo.) Central Gun Club and the Independent Gun Club of Belleville, Ill., shot on June 9. Also a list of forty-eight entries in one of our sweepstakes, which was the largest number of shooters to enter a sweepstake in this city for some years past. The tournament was a grand success. We threw over 5,000 Blue Rocks. In the team race each man shot at 50 single targets.

St. Louis Central Gun Club—Brown 38, Hagemann 38, Schrader 35, F. Dauss 35, Hemminghaus 27, A. Dauss 29, Loeffel 41, Nouss Jr. 37, Evertz 44, Lenharth 38, Steffon 37, Rasch 33. Team total 432.

Independent Gun Club of Belleville—Krebs 29, Baldwin 38, Willis 32, Newbold 36, Hohm 29, J. Loos 29, Woelfle 33, Thebus 28, Whiteside 36, Reuss 38, Heinemann 26, Stoll 39. Team total 393.

Sweepstake, 10 targets per man: Brown 6, Abel 5, Schrader 4, Dayball 6, Barre 7, Flnk 6, Paul 6, Wolf 4, Thebus 6, Lenharth 8, Ski-Ski 8, Seibemann 4, Buck 4, Worthington 4, Wade 6, Stocker 6, Krone 4, Stoll 6, Acord 6, Hardin 8, Evertz 5, Hagemann 7, Westhus 8, Sprick 6, Adams 4, Hohm 6, Willis 7, Crosby 9, Krebs 5, Woelfle 7, Steffou 10, J. Loos 5, Heinemann 4, Klemm 3, P. Loos 9, Hester 6, Baldwin 8, A. Dauss 7, F. Dauss 7, Hemminghaus 6, Nouss Jr. 2, Newbold 7, Rawlings 4, Loeffel 8, Henspeter 4, Rasch 8, Winter 5.

OTTO GELDMACHER.

THE UNKNOWN GUN CLUB

The Unknown Gun Club of New York is rapidly assuming its old prestige, and if the increase of membership continues it may repeat its championship victory of a few years ago at Dexter Park. The club held its regular shoot on June 13, at Dexter Park, with fourteen members in attendance. The conditions were 7 live birds each, handicap rise, scores to count in the averages for annual prizes. Three cash prizes were also made up under the rule of class shooting. After the club shoot, Messrs. Beveridge and Sweeney shot several clay bird matches, additional interest being added to the third match by the entrance of J. E. Skidmore. Following are the scores:

SHOOT No. 1.—Club shoot, 7 live birds.

	Yards
James Flynn	28	1111111—7	E. A. Vroom
Moses C. Brown	28	1121121—7	K. A. Beveri
Henry Knebel	27	1111122—7	J. E. Skidmore
John Bohling	26	1211111—7	George Harme

George Porter	25..2110221—6	Patrick J. Sweeney	25..2011100—4
Louis Kolb	25..1111101—6	John Hauff	25..0201011—4
John A. Ihrst	23..1011211—6	Augustus Raukin	23..0022201—4

Shoot No. 2. 10 clay birds: Beveridge 9, Sweeney 5.
Shoot No. 3. Same thing over: Beveridge 8, Sweeney 8.
Shoot No. 4. Same again: Beveridge 9, Skidmore 8, Sweeney 4.
Shoot No. 5. Fifteen targets: Beveridge 5, Sweeney 3.

THE STOCKTON GUN CLUB

A shoot of the Stockton (Cal.) Gun Club on the afternoon of June 8, the following scores out of a possible 25 to each man were made:

G. Ellis	1111111110 1101111111 11110—22
D. Winders	1111111111 1111101101 11011—22
E. Richards	1110111111 1110011111 11111—22
George Ditz	0001111111 1111111010 11111—20
W. Ditz	1111111010 1100111011 11111—20
H. Lonjers	0110011101 1111111110 01111—19
C. Merrill	1110101111 1101011101 01111—19
A. J. Comfort	1111111011 1010110101 10111—19
F. Merrill	0111111101 0110111110 11110—19
H. R. McNoble	1001011011 1111110101 11101—18
W. Jessen	1111000011 1011110010 10111—17
G. Blaine	1011111101 0111001010 11110—17
A. Lang	0110100111 0011001110 11101—15
F. M. Barnett	0110011100 1111110001 11100—15
F. Corbett	0110110010 1010101101 10111—15
F. Wellington	0111111010 1001110000 10101—14
G. Brownfield	1011111110 0101100001 01001—14
C. Winders	1000101011 0111100011 11010—14
N. Wheat	0010011100 0101101101 11000—11

THE WHITE CITY GUN CLUB

Members of the above named club of Chicago, a few days since in practice at inanimate targets, made the scores appended hereto It is but just to the members of this club to say that they are nearly all beginners, so far as trap shooting is concerned, consequently their scores are not as good as they will be after a few wecks' practice.

Shoot No. 1.—25 single targets per man, everything known.

D. Liddy	0000100101 1111010011 11111—15
D. Lloyd	1111101001 1110100101 01101—16
G. Maierhoefer	1101101011 0000111001 00010—12
J. Schwer	0011000110 1011011010 10101—13
G. W. Gunther	0100110111 0110100100 01101—13
G. Mau	1000111110 1111111010 01011—17
F. Maierhoefer	0010000010 0000010011 11101—10
Franz	0001111111 1111000110 01010—15

Shoot No. 2.—25 singles, known traps, unknown angles: Liddy 9, Franz 12, Gunther 12, A. Maierhoefer 6, D. Lloyd 9, F. Maierhoefer 7, Mau 8.

Shoot No. 3.—25 single targets, everything known: Liddy 4, Mau 14, Franz 16, Gunther 12, Lloyd 12, F. Maierhoefer 12.

Shoot No. 4.—10 single targets per man: Johnson 9, Lloyd 7, Gunther 8, Mau 3, Macfarlane 0, F. Maierhoefer 4.

THE OLYMPIC CLUB

The shooting members of the Olympic Club of San Francisco, Cal., held its third shoot of the season at the Oakland racetrack on the afternoon of June 8. A strong wind was blowing from the northwest which made the shooting quite difficult, but notwithstanding this the scores made were an improvement on former ones. The scores out of a possible 25 to each man were as follows: W. J. Goldcher 22, Scovern 19, H. C. Goldcher 18, Nauman 22, Liddle Jr. 21, Beckeart 16, Jackson 13, Hynes 11, Owens 12, Allen 15, White 19, Blair 16, Justine 9, McMahon 11, Blank 6, McGarke 10, Chesley 19, Street 11, Harrison 14, W. S. Taylor 1, A. W. Taylor 2.

W. J. Goldcher and Nauman shot off the tie for first money and medal, the former winning after a hard fight. In the shoot off for second money White beat Chesley one bird and won.

After the club shoot a number of sweepstakes were shot, W. Goldcher and Nauman winning most of the first moneys.

THE NORTH SIDE GUN CLUB

The North Side Gun Club of New York held its regular shoot on June 11 at Dexter Park. The birds were first-class flyers and the day a model one for the sport. The conditions were 7 live birds per man, handicap rises, the scores to count in the general average for the annual prizes. A miss and out sweepstake followed the club shoot. Following are the scores:

Yards		Yards
M. M. Manning	30..1112121—7	J. J. Tiernan	28..2*12210—5
Eugene Barlow	28..2121122—7	Henry Wahlen	26..0011222—5
Henry Heyer	28..0222222—6	J. H. Mencke	30..1021002—4
Geo. Siems	28..2011211—6

Sweepstake, miss and out: Barlow 6, Pieper 6, Siems 5, Mencke 4, Tiernan 3, Wahlen 0.

NEWARK, N. J. Inclosed please find scores made on the Walsrode Gun Club's grounds on June 12. Delegations of shooters from the Elizabeth Gun Club and different clubs of Newark were preseut and with fine weather all had a good time. The entrance in all events was 25 cents, birds extra. Empire targets were used and eleven events were shot. Scores:

Events No.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Names	10 known	10 known	15 experts	10 known	15 known	10 known	5 pairs	15 experts	10 known	10 known	10 known
Folsom	6	6	10	7	13	6	2	12	..	..	6
C. Von Lengerke	9	10	15	7	11	..	..	..	..	..	10
Hilfers	5	6	10	7	10	8	7	10	7	..	6
Leuthauser	7	9	14	7	13	9	4	12	7	..	10
Neigert	3	..	..	5	6	..	..	..	..	..	3
Farrelly	6	7	6	..	13	..	..	..	..	..	..
Perment	..	9	12	6	9	7	7	11	10	5	5
E. A. Young	..	9	7	7	9	..	..	..	..	..	8
Winters	9	8	10	9	10	8	2	9	8	..	6
Reiboldt	8	6	12	8	12	9	3	9	6	9	6
Bitz	3	2	6	5	7	8	4	10	..	..	3
J. C. Young	..	8	11	9	13	..	..	..	..	..	..
Thomas	8	8	8	15	9	6	..	..	..	..	..
Astfalk	9	10	7	14	5	6	..	..	..	..	..
Parker	8	12	10	14	9	6	..	9	..	..	..
Koegel	..	11	10	10	9	5	10	..	..	..	..
Schork	..	11	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Koeller	..	7	7	8	7	5	10	8	..	..	..
Whitehead	..	14	10	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Roth	..	7	9	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Hassinger	..	11	9	9	9	5	13	9	7	..	..
Schaefer	..	..	8	12	5	4	8	3	..	..	..
Fischer	..	..	8	12	8	8	7	..	..	..	..
McNultey	..	..	8	10	8	..	13	..	..	..	..
Van Buskirk	..	..	4	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Henry	..	..	..	..	8	3	..	..	..	..	..
Campbell	..	..	..	..	7	..	7	..	..	..	..

THEO. LEUTHAUSER, Secy.

CHICAGO.—On June 14 the Pralrie State Gun Club was organized in this city. At its first meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. Carl Plum Jr.; vice-president, Mr. J. A. Mathieson; secretary, Mr. H. Miller; treasurer, Mr. C. Loken; captain, Mr. Wm. Kohler. On June 15 the first regular shoot of the club was held at the club's new grounds on the banks of the Desplaines River. This is the first shoot that most of the members ever attended. The shoot was at 25 Empire targets, known traps, unknown angles. A stiff breeze was blowing directly across the traps, making the targets hard to center. Mr. Wm. Kohler carried off the honors of the day with a score of 20, closely followed by Mr. Loken with 18. Guns used were: Kohler, L. C. Smith hammerless; Carl Plum Jr., Baker hammerless; Miller, Baker hammerless; J. Mullin, Baker hammer; other guns used unknown to the writer. The scores:

Carl Plum Jr.	0110111111 1100101001 00110—15
C. Mathieson	0000100000 0101001100 10110— 8
P. Anderberg	1011101101 1001101011 10011—16
W. Kohler	1111000110 1111111111 11110—20
J. Mullin	0010000101 0100000000 00011— 6
H. Miller	1110001010 1001010101 01101—13
N. Dugga	1100010010 1111001001 11111—15
C. Loken	1111001100 1111100101 11111—18
J. A. Mathieson	0110100111 1001100100 00011—12
L. Socks	1000011110 0101010000 11100—11
A. Thompson	1001000000 0000000000w— 2
J. Dewitt	0000000000 0001000100 00010— 3
C. Henning	0100010000 0000000000w— 2
H. Gross	0100010010 00010w— 4

H. MILLER, Secy.

WORCESTER, MASS.—I inclose herewith the scores made on June 11 in the fifth merchandise contest of the Worcester Sportsman's Club, each man shooting at 25 targets Keystone system and 25 from reversed traps, handicap allowance of dead birds to the less expert shots. Scores:

	Targets added
K. Davis...0..	1111111111	0011111101	1111111111	1111111111	0111110100			—43
Kennerson 0..	0111111111	0110101011	1111100111	1110101100	1111111111			—39
Ide.....6..	1011100001	1011110001	1111110111	1101000011	1001111011			—38
C. W. Walls.6..	1101111011	1011100110	0111110110	1001100110	1001100110			—37
W. Buck...2..	1111101110	1010110101	0111000110	0011011111	1010110111			—35
McLellan..4..	1111010111	1110111110	1100111110	1111000100	0010100111			—37
Bucklin....4..	1111100101	1111101101	1111111101	1110111101	1110111101			—44
Mascroft...0..	1111111011	1111111111	0111101001	1100110011	1101111111			—40
R. C. Walls.0..	1110110010	0101111101	1111110001	0111111111	1111011111			—38
Harvey....7..	0101011011	1001001110	1100110001	0001111111	1001011010			—35
E. S. Kuowles— 6..	1111101111	1111101010	0011001010	0111011100	0110001100			—36
Forehand..0..	0111110111	1111101110	1111111101	1111010111	1110111011			—41

CHARLES E. FOREHAND, Secy.

Answers to Correspondents

We are willing always to answer any question that we can answer, and prescribe for dogs or other animals in these columns, but we cannot answer questions or prescribe by mail. In all instances where it is necessary that a sick animal should be prescribed for by mail, we refer the owner to Professor R. J. Withers, No. 627 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Cal., to whom one dollar must be inclosed to pay for his services.

KENNEL

FRANK, Cincinnati.—Ans.—(1) Naso of Axtel's number is 25866; he is by Axtel King Don (20531) out tf Pattie M II (14572), was bred by the King Don Kennels, Attica, Ind., and was whelped August 25, 1891. (2) Not registered. (3) Josie Bang Bang's number is 23847; she is by Devonshire Sam (7843) out of Nellie Bang (5604), was bred by Mr. V. R. Fishel, Hope, Ind., and was whelped April 18, 1891.

J. W. F., Streator, Ill.—Ans.—(1) She is not registered, but in registration of Jessie Van (30010), her offspring, we find: "Jessie II, by Gladstone S (16975) out of Jessie I, by Leo ont of Lady." (2) Thank you for your kindly remarks. You would do us a good turn by sending such copies to friends whom you think they will please.

C. D. W., Kansas City, Mo.—Ans.—(1) Your bitch is the reverse of undershot. A Yorkshire terrier should have an even mouth, and a lower jaw one inch and a half shorter than the upper would amount to a deformity. (2) We should not breed from such a specimen, unless extraordinarily good in some particular point.

C. McC., Philadelphia.—Ans.—(1) Rod, by Meteor (4084) out of Dell, by Croxteth—Trinket. (2) Flirtation (12486), by Fleet (4063) out of Judy (4177). (3) We have not time to indulge in nomenclature, but, as an off-hand suggestion, you might name your puppy Fly-Rod or Rotation.

DIX, ——, —.—Ans.—(1) Osborne Ale II (24422). (2) Flossie is not registered; but there is a Floss and a Floss D in Vol. XI. (3) Young Beulah (4251). (4) Trinket's Countess, the dam of Osborne Ale II, is not registered. (5) Major Ale is not registered.

C. C. B., Yale, Ia.—Ans.—(1) Mr. R. R. Clark's Sallie (510) was by Mr. Millward's Prince (Mr. Brown's Dash—Mr. Baker's Belle) out of Mr. Le Moyne's Misch (Mr. Wright's Don Mr. Greenleaf's bitch). (2) The others are not registered.

E. E. H., North Yakima, Wash.—Ans.—(1) Countess Mollie's number is 1902. (2) Mollie Belton (10289) was by Briton (3337) out of Blonde, by Cariowitz out of Magnet. (3) The others are not registered.

F. F. L., Chester, Pa.—Ans.—Spinaway III (8071) is by Naso of Kippen (5552) out of Spinaway (5610); she was bred by the Westminster Kennel Club, Babylon, Long Island, N. Y.

G. D. J., Kokomo, Ind.—Ans.—In the English Kennel Club's stud book 7075 is the number of Mr. E. H. Lathrop's pointer dog Dan; 7076 is the number of Mr. J. A. Hudson's pointer dog Don.

P. J. B., Fort Lee, N. J.—Ans.—Secure a foster mother as soon as possible, and when your bitch whelps if she has no milk raise the puppies with the other bitch.

G. H. V., Peoria, Ill.—Ans.—There is a liver and white cocker bitch of that name in the sud book, bu w canno find a cocker dog so named.

H. B., Champaign, Ill.—Ans.—Advertise for what you want in the column headed "Wanted;" it is there for that purpose.

T. B., Boston.—Aus.—Imperator is by Memnon (7806) out of Fannie M (15164).

H. B. W., Long Branch, N. J.—Ans.—Cannot find any of them in the stud book.

TRAP

MULT, Portland, Ore.—Shooting live birds under American Shooting Asoclation rules, four moneys, A and B tie for first money on 21 each and C kills 20. How should the purse be divided? Ans.—If there were no one but the three named shooting the purse should be divided into two moneys, 60 and 40 per cent., A and B dividing or shooting off the tie for first money and C taking second. If there were other shooters then A and B divide or shoot off for first, C takes second, D third and E fourth.

RED WING, Chicago.—Is there a gun club in Chicago called the Garden City Gun Club? Ans.—We think we have heard of a club in Chicago by that name, but we have not the names of any of its officers.

GAME AND SHOOTING

G. W. B., Sheridan, N. Y.—(1) What objection is there to shooting Walsrode powder in brass shells? (2) Do you advise against it? Ans.—(1) The objection we should offer is that brass shells can not be crimped, and Walsrode, like other nitros, needs ot be closely confined to get best results. (2) No, not if you can get a satisfactory pattern and good penetration.

I. E. I., Oakwood, O.—I am told that a law has been passed in Michigan requiring a non-resident who hunts in thtt state to pay $25 license, and that the open season on deer is from November 5 to November 25. Is this correct? Ans.—It is.

MISCELLANEOUS

J. W. D., Wallingford, Conn.—Ans.—In the game of six-card cribbage you have dealt you three fives, a four, a six and a queen. It is your opponent's crib. What will you discard? Please give me your opinion how to discard from this hand. Ans.—We should discard the four and the six, for the reasons that they a better hand and are less liable to be of great assistance in the opponent's crib.

Information Wanted

WILL some reader of the AMERICAN FIELD, who understands the practical culture of frogs, be kind enough to give through its columns full information upon that subject? I am interested in frog culture, and am very desirous of learning more about it.

Allegheny, Pa. SUBSCRIBER.

Amusements

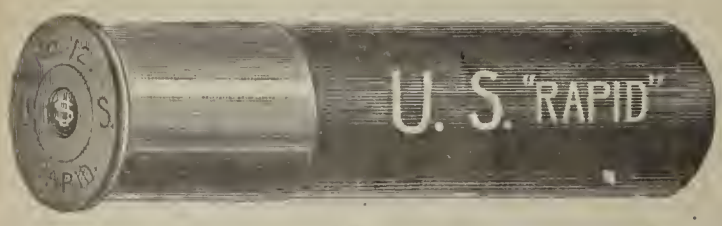
SCHILLER THEATER.—The great Summer spectacle, "Little Robinson Crusoe," bids fair to become the leading attraction of the season, as it is now the only novelty upon the boards in Chicago. The great company, at the head of which is Eddie Foy, in his eccentric and amusing character Dare-Devil Willie, has been received by the public superbly. Recalls and encores follow fast one upon another; and from the beginning to the end of the piece Eddie Foy and the great favorite, the now celebrated character comedienne, Marie Dressler, the pretty and graceful operatic cantatrice, Adele Farrington, Sadie MacDonald, and the rest of the favorites are received with every evidence of public enjoyment and admiration. Manager Prior may congratulate himself on the fact that a production of this kind has been so cordially and handsomely received, that public opinion is that this beautifully mounted and splendidly produced operatic and spectacular burlesque is a remarkably charming, original and fascinating performance from beginning to end. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

MCVICKER'S THEATER.—Sixth week of the wonderful production "The Cotton King," with the great cotton mill scene, machinery in motion, and a lady saved from death by being dragged from beneath a falling elevator. Souvenir night, Tuesday, June 25.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Positively the last week of Hoyt's "A Black Sheep;" Otis Harlan, as "Hot Stuff." Friday, June 21, souvenir night. Matinees Wednesday and Thursday.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—Last week of "Aladdin Jr," with its thousand novelties. See the great Wilmots, the English champion cyclists. Next attraction, "Ali Baba."

U. S. RAPID



SHOT SHELL

FOR NITRO POWDERS.

Penetration increased with pattern 15 per cent improved. Results same with every shell. None so regular ever produced before. Head of shell and battery cup one piece of metal. No gas escape, no balling of shot, no upsetting of charge.

AGENTS:
[illegible] New York City.
[illegible] Francisco, Cal.

U. S. CARTRIDGE CO., Lowell, Mass.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Advertisers are respectfully requested to observe the following rules governing the insertion of advertisements in these columns:

CLASSIFICATION.—Strictly kennel advertisements—those which relate exclusively to dogs and to nothing else—cannot be placed under headings of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange," but are subject to classification only under their proper kennel headings. When two or more breeds of dogs are mentioned in one advertisement, it destroys the possibility of giving it a distinctive heading and it is therefore classified under "Miscellaneous." For this reason it is well to advertise each breed separately.

If stud notices are included in advertisements of dogs for sale the classification given will be "Miscellaneous." Stud notices should be separate and distinct from other advertisements so as not to conflict with proper classification.

The departments of "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" are reserved for advertisements relating in some way to sportsmen's goods or other articles of merchandise.

RATES.—The rate for advertisements under "Wanted," "For Sale" or "For Sale or Exchange" is 3 cents per word each insertion. The name, address, initials and abbreviations are included and count as words.

The rate for advertisements under kennel headings is 25 cents per line for the first insertion, and 15 cents for each additional consecutive insertion. Estimate seven words to a line unless the words are unusually long. If display type is used the rate is $3.50 per inch for the first insertion and $2.50 per inch for each additional consecutive insertion. Special rates are given for displayed advertisements running three months or longer. Schedule will be mailed on application.

Remittances to cover full cost should invariably accompany advertisements. If too much is remitted we will refund you what is overpaid.

Advertisers will favor us greatly by writing their advertisements plainly, using separate sheets of paper. Copy should reach us by Tuesday of each week to insure insertion in that week's issue.

WANTED

Advertisements under this head inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement. See "Notice to Advertisers."

WANTED—A dog or bitch, thoroughly broken on woodcock; must understand the business thoroughly and do it; none bought except after thorough trial; will buy or trade 7-pound 12-gauge Parker hammerless. FRED F. MERRILL, 3355 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. 25

ADDRESS WANTED of reliable trainer to run broken dogs and to break young dogs on chickeus in North Dakota. Write references and particulars to ALFRED VON COTZHAUSEN, president The American Fine Art Co., Milwaukee, Wis. 25

WANTED—Two 12-gauge lightweight shotguns of first-class manufacture; state full particulars. W. N. 11, care AMERICAN FIELD, Chicago. 25*

WANTED—Old copies of American Kennel Club stud books; state volumes you have and price. H. L. ROBINSON, Topeka, Kan. 25*

WANTED—Live pigeons; must be old birds; squabs not wanted. Address JOHN WATSON, Grand Crossing, Ill. 23-21-tf

WANTED—Two 12-gauge hammer guns for trap shooting; send target. GEO. BELK, Edwardsville, Ill. 25*

WANTED—Sportsmen who want an outing to send for pamphlet of Nimrod Hall, Va. Apply MANAGER. 3*

WANTED—A light 12-bore hammerless gun. Address DR. WHITE, Greenville, Ill. 25*

LIVE foxes wanted. Address H. F. WARNEKE, Aiken, S. C. 43-11-tf

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Or exchange, the h,. w. and t. setter bitch Blade's Dart (Toledo Blade—Mattle Berwyn), 2½ years old, thoroughly broken by professional, good enough to go in any company; will take high grade wheel, 1895 model, or hammerless 12-gauge gun of approved make; bitch is worth $125 to anyone wanting a high-class shooting dog. A. SMITHNIGHT, 200 Cedar Ave., Cleveland, O. 25

EXCHANGE OR SALE — Three handsome pointer bitches; in breeding, quality, etc., they are the equal of any in America; all three guaranteed in whelp to Royal Kent; will take hammerless gun or cash. Address JOS. R. TRISSLER, Lancaster, Pa. 43-23-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a first-class pair of field beagles, one a field trial winner; will sell reasonable or exchange for a good 12-gauge hammerless shotgun; no dogs wanted. WM. H. HYLAND, North Tarrytown, N. Y. 25

FOR SALE—Cheap, or trade for ladies' bicycle or Burgess repeater, beautiful English setter bitch 3 years old, well broken; her breeding cannot be beat. DAVENPORT KENNELS, Davenport, Iowa. 25

FOR SALE—Or exchange for shotguns, trained and untrained foxhounds, rabbit and coon hounds, setters and pointers: guaranteed or money refunded. FIELES & BRO., Christiana, Pa. 8

FOR SALE—English pointer Spotwood (No. 35280), 16 months old, or will trade for a good bicycle. Send for full pedigree and description to W. W. COLES, Kokomo, Ind. 43-21-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, highly bred English setter dog, 3 years old; want pair well-bred fox terriers or bicycle. E. W. COLEMAN, Pontiac, Mich. 26

FOR SALE—Or exchange, modern marine engines and boilers, both new and second-hand. Address THATCHER A. PARKER, Terre Haute, Ind. 43-13-tf

FOR EXCHANGE—Combination Clipper bicycle, 1893 pattern; want broken pointer or setter. J. A. HEETHER, Huntsville, Mo. 26*

FOR SALE—Or exchange, full size double bass violin for $60 or bicycle. HARRY ANDERSON, Johnstown, Pa. 25*

FOR SALE

Advertisements under this head (excepting Kennel advertisements, which must go under their proper department) inserted for Three Cents for each word. The money must be sent with the advertisement.

FOR SALE—Greener hammerless shotgun, 10-gauge, 32-inch Damascus barrels, pistol grip, extra fine gun and a phenomenal shooter, good as new; $125, cost over $400; also Ballard .32-40 target rifle, 30-inch pistol grip, wind gauge and Vernier sights, reloading tools, etc.; $20; both great bargains. Address GREENER, care AMERICAN FIELD. 26

FOR SALE—The auxiliary naphtha cruiser Etcetera; deck 30 feet, beam 8 feet, draft 3 feet; yawl rigged, large cabin, closet, ice chest and awnings; the most complete outfit for cruising. For further particulars address J. H. STEVENSON, Fremont, Ohio. 26

FOR SALE—Francotte ejector, 12-bore, 6¼ lbs., 14 inch stock, 2¾ drop, Whitworth steel barrels, Perkes ejector; a perfect, beautiful gun; cost $350 without duty, price $225 cash; sole leather case. CLAIRE OLDHAM, Union Trust Bldg., St. Louis, Mo. 25

L. AND T. POINTER, eight years, excellent on woodcock and ruffed grouse, fine disposition, $15; brand new Parker hammerless, 7½ 28-12, perfect cylinders, $48, $80 list. P. M., First National Bank, Easthampton, Mass. 43-25-eow-tf

SELECTED lot of second-hand guns—Francotte, Daly, Lefever, Smith, Parker and others, all gauges; no trades; send for price list. EMILE PRAGOFF, Louisville, Ky. 25*

TO SPORTSMEN AND CLUBS—Four large oil paintings of moose and deer painted from life by Rungius; on view at AMERICAN FIELD office, 19 Park Place, New York. 1

FOR SALE—Complete Erskine block loader for 8-gauge gun and about a thousand 8-gauge shells, part loaded; price reasonable. N. T. DEPAUW, New Albany, Ind. 1

FOR SALE—L. C. Smith ejector trap gun, fine condition For particulars and price inquire of DAVID LONGENECKER, 701 Betz Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa. 26

WHAT have you for .45 90 Winchester rifle, model 1886, improved sights, good condition, used only one season? J. C. BURKETT, Calvert, Tex. 25

FOR SALE—A pair of live American eagles, beautiful plumage, male and female; price $20 F. O. B. A. A. RUNGE, Burlington, Ia. 25

ASK your dealer or send 50c to A. G. SOISTMANN, Nicetown, Philadelphia, Pa., for Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure. 43-24-tf

HIGH-CLASS pedigree blanks, 7 generations, bond paper. CHAUTAUQUA KENNELS, Box 914, Chicago. 42-19-tf

FOR SALE—$80 grade, Parker or Lefever, specifications to suit; price $54 cash. PAUL NORTH, Cleveland, O. 25

FOR SALE—Live deer, jack-rabbits, prairie dogs, etc. CHAS. PAYNE, Wichita, Kan. 43-25.tf

TO get rid of fleas, lice and all vermin use Perfection Mange and Eczema Cure. 43-24-tf

PEDIGREE BLANKS—15 for 10 cents. REPORTER, Wellsville, N. Y. 41-26-eow-tf

$80 HAMMERLESS 12-ga. trap gun, $35. BOX 324, Cromwell, Conn. 25*

WHERE TO GO

ATTENTION

Bass Fishermen!

THE ST. CLAIR FLATS

Is conceded by all to be the only place where the "gamy small mouth" can be caught during the whole Summer months. STAR ISLAND is right in the midst of these famous fishing grounds, and is the most delightful Summer Resort on the Great Lakes. Hotel accommodations for 300 guests. Special rates for families. For illustrated 32-page book address JAMES SLOCUM, Prop., Star Island House, via Detroit, Mich. 44-16

Warren White Sulphur Springs,

C. W. CULLEN & SON, Owners and Prop'rs,

Cullen Post Office, Virginia.

On top of the mountains; elevation 2,100 feet. Variety of waters. Only one mile from the Southern Railroad, and convenient to others. Good shooting and trout and bass fishing.

Moderate terms. Season opens May 15. 6

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

ENGLISH SETTERS

FOR SALE—

Dad Wilson's Boy

Llewellin setter. (A. K. C. S. B. 12880.)

DAD WILSON'S BOY, black, white and tan, born July 15, 1888, bred by J. Shelley Hudson, Covington, Ky.; a few moments' study of pedigree (Ch. Dad Wilson, 3371—Dolly S, 6380) will soon convince one that this is one of the rarest bred English (Llewellin) setters, giving that grand combination without injuriously inbreeding of Gladstone, Count Noble and Druid, three of the best setters ever imported to this country; a good field dog, swift as the wind and stanch as a rock: a perfect retriever from land or water; broken by Titus and worked on all game. Winnings: 1st puppy Chicago 1887, 2nd Cincinnati (35 in class) 1890, 2nd Lexington, Ky, 1891, defeating such high class dogs as Gath's Mark, Dan Gladstone, Ben Hur of Riverview, Gamester and many others. ALFRED VON COTZHAUSEN, president The American Fine Art Co., Milwaukee, Wis. 25

WE OFFER at low figures the following choice lot of our setters, all bred in the purple: Three b., w. and tan dog puppies by Rodfield—Becky Noble, she Count Noble—Gladstone's Girl; Cash Boy, litter mate to Gleam's Sport and Gleam's Pink; a chance to receive the Gleam blood at a nominal figure; also one of our Count Noble bitches, the last of the great Count's get. MEADOW CITY KENNELS, Northampton, Mass. 1

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

ENGLISH SETTERS

FOR SALE—Two splendid litters of English setter puppies, one by the Earl—Ch. Maid Marian, the other by Real English—Flower of Sulphur, a rare combination of show bench and field trial blood; no better to be got on either side of the pond; also a few pointer puppies, 11 months old, by Lad of Kent—Polly B, by King of Kent—Spinaway III. For price and particulars apply to J. BRETT, Closter, N. J. 26

I HAVE for sale thoroughbred setter puppies whelped May 13 by Sandy Gladstone (No. 25915), he by Ch. Breeze Gladstone (No. 18052) out of Delaware (10247), out of Lucile W (No. 36181), she by Count Roy (No 19148), out of Queen of Counts; four dogs and five bitches, evenly marked b., w. and t.; write for prices. B. V. WHITE, Leesburg, Va. 25

I HAVE for sale setter puppies by Count Roderigo out of Ben Hill, Paul Gladstone, Antonio and Roderigo bitches, ranging from 8 to 12 weeks of age; price $20 for dogs, $15 for bitches, subject to the usual conditions upon which I sell. OLD DOMINION, White Post, Va. 42-25-tf

BARGAINS—To close out at once, kennel of setters; trained and untrained dogs, two bitches in whelp, puppies two to ten months old; all high-class and full pedigreed; write for what you want, they must all go at some price. CHAS. CUSTER, Pontiac, Ill. 26*

FOR SALE—Puppies whelped March 14, by Dashing Count—Rod's Fanette, she Roderigo—Fanette, she by Sportsman; price $15 each. WM. NEW, Philipsburg, Mont. 44-3

FOR SALE—English setter puppies out of Toledo Blade dog—Roderigo bitch; price $5 for dog or bitch; first-class in every way. WM. DONN, Canton, Ill. 26*

ANTONIO, Brighton Tobe, Gladstone's Boy puppies out of well-bred bitches for sale. ELDRED KENNEL, 13 Dock St., Philadelphia, 549 W. 22nd St., New York. 43-25-tf

CASSIOS—3 dogs and 3 bitches by Cassio, out of Rosalego, she Roderigo; nothing better, 3 months, cheap. HANNIBAL KENNELS, Hannibal, Mo. 26*

FOR SALE—A number of setter puppies from the finest field stock in the state. S. J. COYNE, Aberdeen, S. D. 25*

HAVE two thoroughly trained English setters for sale at a bargain. CHAS. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss 25

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of English setters. New Castle, Pa. 43-18-tf

TERRIERS

The largest kennel of———+—

Farm-Raised

FOX TERRIERS

In America; blood of the best families in Europe and America; stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies for sale. Send for circulars and stud cards. 45-24 E. PARR, Harristown, Ind.

CLEARING SALE of high-class fox terriers; noted stud dog and prize winner Beverwyck Kingpin, by Starden's King; dog puppy, 10 weeks, by Venio—Venoya, by D'Orsay—Velzie, by Venio—Verena; several prize winning brood bitches, smooth and wire, just coming in season; photos sent. A. A. MACDONALD, 118 Dupont St., Toronto, Can. 25

FORCED SALE of high-class fox and Irish terriers; brood bitches and puppies, all ages, sired by the celebrated dogs Warren Safeguard, Guardsman and Merle Grady; a genuine chance to secure a first-class terrier very cheap. KINGSTON KENNELS, Kingston, Ont. 1

FOX TERRIERS for sale cheap; the prize winner Raby Pitcher and one bitch, granddaughter of Dusky Trap—Ch. Mixture bitch; also pair of puppies by Pitcher, out of imported bitch. W. F. CLARKSON, care Clarkson Laundry, Peoria, Ill. 25

FOX TERRIER brood bitches and puppies for sale, the property of Messrs. L. & W. Rutherfurd. For stud cards, etc., address DONALD MUNRO, Manager, Allamuchy, Warren Co., N. J. 39 7-tf

FOX TERRIER DOG, smooth, one year old, by Hotfoot Dodo—Hotfoot Gem; a thorough terrier; will sell cheap if taken now. W. A. FOLEY, 2434 115th St., Chicago. 25*

FOR SALE—Fox terrier puppies out of prize winner Richmond Victory; also litter by Warren Safeguard. POCKET CITY KENNELS, McGregor, Iowa. 25*

WIRE-HAIRED fox terriers and black and tan terriers, best breeding; old and young, ROCHELLE KENNELS, Box 666, New Rochelle, N. Y 43-18-tf

FOR SALE—Handsome liver and white pointer puppies 4 months old; dogs $7, bitches $5. M. R. PETERSON, Stratford, Ia. 26*

FOR SALE—Smooth fox terrier puppies, best breeding, nicely marked. J. A. BUCKNER, Pleasant Hill, Mo. 43-25-tf

BULL TERRIERS—Stud dogs, brood bitches and puppies. F. L. DEVER, 316 Illinois Ave., Peoria, Ill. 43-17-tf

FOR SALE—Skye terriers, $10, for Christmas; Yorkshires in February. SEEBACH, Peru, Ill. 43-19-eow-tf

FOR SALE—Two grand bull terrier bitches cheap. WM. WEDGWOOD, East Liverpool, O 26*

FOR SALE—30 fox terrier puppies and brood bitches. HOTFOOT KENNELS, Decorah, Ia. 7*

DACHSHUNDE

FOR SALE—Very fine fallow red Dachshund, perfectly house broken, first-class watchdog and game to the core. Address R. L. JAMES, Blue Island, Ill. 25*

FOR SALE—Dachshunde, grown dogs and puppies of imported stock. A. BIELENBERG, Elgin, Ill. 1

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

POINTERS

POINTER BREEDERS—Now that the pointer is coming to the front you should not lose sight of the bargain we offer in Lightfield Dove, a bitch exceptional in blood lines and field work; also a Strideaway—Lightfield Teign 14-months-old dog puppy, over distemper and brother to our Derby entries; will make a good shooting dog and a great beauty. MEADOW CITY KENNELS, Northampton, Mass. 1

POINTER PUPPIES—Liver and white, whelped June 6, 1895, 3 dogs, 3 bitches; Dick Beaufort—Fayette Alexander; send for circular; ready to ship July 15. JOE H. ALEXANDER, Haughville, Ind. 25*

IF you want pointers for 1896 Derby entries, why not buy the best? I have them by Ch. Rip Rap and Strideaway, out of my best bitches. C. A. PAETZEL, Hope, Ind. 43-23-tf

FOR SALE—Or exchange, a fine pointer bitch two years old, well broken and a splendid retriever. Very truly, M. B. TITTERINGTON, Burrton, Kan. 25*

FINE young pointer dog, well bred, built and marked, yard broken; a good one; cheap for cash or trade. A. B. METCALF, 159 N Ave., Battle Creek, Mich. 25*

GUARANTEE and trial given of high-class pointers; thoroughly trained by professional; prices right. CRITERION KENNEL, Odell, Ill. 43 22-tf

FOR SALE—Very cheap, pointer puppies and grown dogs. For particulars address A. D. FRANTZ, San Bernardino, Cal. 1*

FOR SALE—Ch. Lady Graphic, a fine field and brood bitch; price right. WM. H. HYLAND, North Tarrytown, N. Y. 25

WRITE C. W. HARRIS, Mattoon, Ill., for bargain in thoroughbred pointer dog. 25

WRITE to KING GRAPHIC KENNELS for list of pointers. New Castle, Pa. 43-18 tf

BEAGLES

OWING to maniacal measures passed by our city council relating to dogs I am compelled to sell my stock of registered pedigreed beagles which have run hundreds of rabbits to their doom; must sell at any price. For more particulars write BEN BAKER, 50 Augusta St., St. Paul, Minn. 26*

OWING to a change in business I am compelled to part with my entire pack of beagles, little, big, old and young; all must go; I have some fine ones and will give some man a bargain; all trained. For further particulars, pedigrees, etc., address T. E. STRIBLING, Seneca, S. C. 26*

BEAGLES—Catalogue No. 6 now ready for Fall season; a grand lot of mostly thoroughly broken dogs, bitches and puppies of best breeding at very moderate prices; send for catalogue. ROCKLAND BEAGLE KENNEL, H. L. Kreuder, Prop., Nanuet, N. Y. 11

TWO litters of grandly bred beagle puppies, handsome, well grown and strong; whelped April 4 and 8; $5 each; also trained dogs 25 per cent. less than Fall prices. ROYAL FOREST BEAGLE KENNELS, Wrightsville, Pa. 2

FOR SALE—A litter of seven beagle puppies three dogs, whelped May 8, best field and bench show blood; $5 each, or $25 for litter. LOUIS STEFFEN, 781 3rd St., Milwaukee, Wis. 1

CHOICE PUPPIES, whelped April 14, by Finder (24077)—Miss Mollie (24082); two pairs $8 per pair, or $5 each; none better. L. S. HUDSON, Lansing, Mich. 26*

GIVING UP BEAGLES—Will sell all very cheap; strong in blood of Ch. Royal Krueger. KINGSTON KENNELS, Kingston, Ont. 1

ENGLISH BEAGLES—Every one registered and of the finest pedigreed stock. FRANK O. SCOTT, Clinton, Ia. 43-24-tf

$6—BEAGLE DOG, highly pedigreed. R. M. DUNLEVY, Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa. 25*

IRISH SETTERS

Coming Champions.

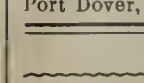
Six litters of Irish setter puppies, all sired by

Challenge Finglas

Imported, the greatest sire, bench show and field trial winner combined living; the dams are field broken, champion bred, full pedigreed and registered prize winners; this is the finest lot of Irish setters ever offered by the KILDARE KENNELS; prices $10 up. Stamp for circular and particulars. Write quick for choice. Finglas at stud. W. L. WASHINGTON, Box 203, New Castle, Pa. 43-17-eow-tf

WILL EXCHANGE grandly bred young Irish setter dog, born March 21, 1894, ex Ch. Finglas—Lady May Swiveler (she 1st 1895 Open New York, Detroit, Chicago, Denver) for a typical young Irish setter of proper breeding to cross on above strain; dog must be of highest order of bench and field qualities, fast, stanch and of field trial and bench winning blood. ALFRED VON COTZHAUSEN, President The Fine Art Co., Milwaukee, Wis. 25

IRISH SETTER PUPPIES for sale, by Ch. Kildare (champion Irish setter dog of America and sire of Queen Vic, champion Irish setter bitch of America), stud fee $25. Also English setter and Chesapeake Bay puppies of the finest strains Send for catalogue containing photos of celebrated stud dogs and bitches. OAK GROVE KENNELS, Moodus, Conn. tf



Young Stock of Finest Breeding in the World. Most Successful on Bench and in Field. Write for prices. G. W. Hamilton, Mgr., Centreville, Kan.

FORCED SALE of finely bred Irish setters; a chance in a lifetime to those wanting fine stock at bargains. Address A. W. LAW[illegible] Port Dover, Ont.

CHESAPEAKES

FOR SALE—Three Chesapeake pup[illegible] weeks old, registered stock, $10 each. [illegible] Winona, Minn.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

ST. BERNARDS

...g stud dog Ash... ...ay Keeper, by Ch. Keeper—Lady Miles, by Ch. Philimmon, winner of two firsts, third and special, reserve at New York 1895. FRANK LINCK, 178 South 7th Street, Newark, N. J. 43-24-tf

FOR SALE—Nicodé, 22 months old, winner of three firsts, the best young smooth dog before the public, and being a son of the great Judith, invaluable at stud; cuts on application. ALTA KENNELS, Box 223, Toledo, Ohio. 43-23-tf

FOR SALE—Gov. Russell puppies; one dog and two bitch puppies by Gov. Russell (29143) and Lady B (33698); these puppies are rough-coated, large boned and finely marked. T. L. SHUTE, Watertown, Mass. 26*

FOR SALE—Extra fine rough-coated puppies by Ch. Altoneer and Belle III (32685); elegantly marked and a fine litter. For prices address P. F. MAGUINNESS, 23 Wilson St., Worcester, Mass. 26

CHEAP BEAUTIES—St. Bernard dog and bitch, richly marked, three months old. C. TRECKER, Odell, Ill. 26

POODLES

MEADOWMERE KENNELS

MILO (30101)
Champion of America

Sonthampton, L. I., N. Y., breeders and importers of

French Poodles

(Black curly coated only); first prize winners New York, Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, 1893-4.

A GRAND LOT OF DOGS FOR SALE

For catalogues price lists and stud cards apply to NEW YORK CITY AGENCY, 13 William St., Room 1006.

GREAT DANES

FOR SALE—Two stud dogs and three beautiful litters of brindled, black and fawn puppies, all whelped first week in April by Moreau (31162) and Harras (29298), out of Cora (27788), Cordelia (34241) and Dido (34242); price $30 to $40; expect two more litters in June. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 S. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22-tf

FINE LITTER of Danes by Victor H (Hector Nero—Irena) and Bella Moreau (Moreau—Queen Hanno). EUSTACE SMALLWOOD, Arcadia, Neb. 25*

THREE very fine one-year-old Danes—Chlg. Neverzell, by Earl of Wurtemberg. OSCEOLA KENNELS, Troutmere, Wis. 25

FOR SALE—Five litters of Great Dane puppies, all champion bred; prices $25 to $50. ORCHARD KENNELS, Topeka, Kan. 43-25 tf

FOXHOUNDS

FIELD trial winner Troop for sale; is a pure Walker; winnings one first, one second Brunswick Fur Club at North Acton, Mass., 1893; he is an extra good worker, an all-day stayer and bred in the purple. GEO. E. CARR, Holliston, Mass. 25*

FULL-BLOOD and half-blood English and pure American foxhounds for sale at all times, all ages and sizes. STRODES VALLEY KENNEL CLUB. Address J. M. Hodgkin, Secy, or W. N. Ramsey, Winchester, Ky. 1

PURE Goodman foxhounds for sale at all times. BOURBON KENNELS, North Middletown, Ky. 40-20-tf

SPANIELS

FOR SALE—One black cocker spaniel, four months old, by Red Obo out of Bell, she by Obo III; price $25. Six Irish water spaniel bitch puppies, $15 each. SEA MOSS KENNELS, Box 57, Glencoe, Ill. C. A. BLAISDEL. 3

COCKER SPANIELS—Special sale of young stock and brood bitches; prices low. HANDSOME BROOK KENNEL, Franklin, N. Y. 42-12-tf

BEAUTIFUL cocker spaniels for sale, the finest blood in the United States; pedigrees furnished. CEDAR RIVER KENNELS, Center Point, Ia. 8*

GREYHOUNDS

TORRINGTON GEM (31347), whelped January 27, 1892, by Ch. Gem of the Season out of Cblg. Maud Torrington; fawn, white strip in face and half white collar; is affectionate and in fine form. ALBION L. PAGE, 69 Wall St., N. Y. eow-3

ITALIAN GREYHOUNDS.
F. H. HOYT, Sharon, Pa 43-20-tf

PUGS

FOR SALE—Pug puppies from imported prize winning stock; rare specimens at reasonable prices. GERMAN & CO., 233 W. Main St., Louisville, Ky. 43-25-tf

BLOODHOUNDS

IMPORTED BLOODHOUND—Three years old, winner many first prizes England and America, royally bred; very cheap, must sell. BOX 222, Lexington, Ky. 25

COLLIES

COLLIES AT $10—Puppies from Champ. Christopher, Ch. Metchley Wonder strain, also older stock. J. L. LINCOLN, Union Club, Chicago. 43-tf

MISCELLANEOUS

FOR SALE: P... months, $10; ...setter, 4 years, ...McGregor, Ia. 26

...s, rabbits. Also ...s. GREENDALE 42-22-tf

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

TERRA COTTA KENNELS,

Breeders of Russian Wolfhounds, English Greyhounds.

I have purchased the entire ownership and am now sole proprietor; I have some good brood bitches and first-class young stock that I am offering for sale at ridiculous figures in order to help me meet payments; this is a genuine reduction sale for the purpose of raising money.

Ch. Argoss, Ataman IV (challenge class) and Ch. Gem of the Season in the stud.

Wm. J. Tulk, Hamilton, Can. 25

St. Bernard Puppies

Three litters of blue bloods for sale, quality the finest in America.

DOGS IN THE STUD—Alton Jr, Altoneer, Melrose King, Jim Blaine.

MELROSE KENNELS,
E. H. Moore, MELROSE, MASS. 43-15-tf

Sacrifice Sale

I am leaving for England and will sell twenty broken setters and pointers at one-half value, including bench show winners and young stock.

New Brighton Kennels,
43 24-tf T. G. DAVEY, LONDON, ONT.

We have a fine litter of

Collie Puppies

For sale by Ch. Christopher (21675), out of Dorcas (27756), she by Ch. Wellesbourne Charlie; also some fine

Irish Terriers

By our new stud dog, John Briggs (35584). CHRISTOPHER and WELLESBOURNE CHARLIE at stud. CHESTNUT HILL KENNELS, Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE—The Oakland Kennels will sell dogs for less money, blood lines and individual quality considered, than can be bought anywhere else in the world! We mean this strictly. English setters, Irish setters and pointers. Broken dogs, young dogs and puppies. Everything guaranteed as represented. Blood lines and individual quality unsurpassed. DR. ED. R. ALLEN, Kansas City, Kan. 25

DOGS FOR SALE—St. Bernards, mastiffs, Newfoundlands, pointers, setters, spaniels, pugs, all kinds of terriers. I make a specialty of game pit and show bull terriers and Yorkshire terriers; dogs and puppies of the above on hand at prices to suit the times; satisfaction and safe delivery guaranteed. EXCHANGE KENNELS, office 2312 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 44-6

MOREY KENNELS have several litters of black curly-coated French poodles for sale; also grown stock, including brood bitches and stud dogs from imported stock and prize winners; CHAS. D. BERNHEIMER, 21 W. 4th St., New York City. 43-20-tf

FOR SALE—Pointer and setter puppies bred from thoroughly trained registered stock; also my setter bitch Day's Belton (25401), thoroughly trained on quail, partridge and woodcock. R. W. SMITH JR., Tate, Ga. 26*

DOG TRAINING

DOG TRAINING—The finest training ground in the world for developing range and speed is Dakota. We have 5,000 acres protected chicken cover. Send on your dogs and shoot with us in season. NED FAY, Valley City, N. D. 1

K. 9 KENNELS—Pointers and setters, educated for practical field work; kennels located in a game country, and but 2½ hours from Philadelphia; twenty years' experience; best reference. W. G. SMITH, Marydel, Md. 43-26*

WE are now prepared to thoroughly break pointers or setters for field work; satisfaction guaranteed: highest references: price $50. IOWA KENNELS AND TRAINING SCHOOL, Selma, Ia. 6*

WM. HAMMOND, training for Eldred Kennel, can take three more dogs to train on quail; leaves for North Carolina August 15. Apply C. H. PHELPS JR., 13 Dock St., Philadelphia. 26

WANT three more dogs at once to thoroughly train; write for terms: the most complete training kennel in the United States. CHAS. W. TWAY, Michigan City, Miss. 25

GEO. BATTISON—Professional bench show handler. Dogs boarded and put in conditlon for shows. Youngstown, Ohio. tf

DOG BOARDING

WANTED—A few more dogs to board, yard break and exercise at $5 a month; prospects for quails and prairie chickens never better; we have them within 200 yards of the kennel. A. A. RUNGE, Timberlake Kennels, Burlington, Ia. 25

STUD DOGS

COUNT BEAUFORT

Moss Wind'em—Primrose, bred by and recently imported from Mr. R. Ll. Purcell Llewellin, Shrewsbury, England. Here is a chance for setter breeders to obtain the pure Count Noble blood, Moss Wind'em being a litter brother to that noted sire of field trial winners. This is an opportunity that owners of Gladstone and Druid—Ruby bitches should not lose sight of. Fee $25. Count Beaufort is a handsome, well built blue belton and is thoroughly field broken, keen nose and wide range, having been well shot over by Mr. Llewellin. For pedigree, etc., address W. STEWART DIFFENDERFFER, 113 Commerce St., Baltimore, Md 44-8

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

AT STUD, $35.—CH. DUKE OF KENT II

Field trial winner; only pointer in U. S. winning title of champion in one year, 1893. First challenge, 1st field trial class; also special for best sporting dog in show, Louisville, 1894.

AT STUD, $35—IMP. MOLTON BANNER

One of the best pointers living; has beaten his sire, Saddleback, champion of England, Sandford Graphic and Sandford Bang, England's best. Puppies—Dogs $25; bitches $15; from the best of field trial and bench show blood bitches. GLEN ROCK KENNELS, 2 N. Market St., Boston, Mass.

Westminster Kennel Club.

KING OF KENT

In the Stud. Fee $50.

ALSO

Sandford Druid

FEE $35.

Apply to F. O. DELUZE, Treasurer, 18 S. William St., New York.

WILLOWDALE KENNELS,
CROWN POINT, IND.

ALAN-A-DALE—A. K. C. No. 28135, collie dog, by Ch. The Squire—Stonehurst Lassie, by Ch. Roslyn Dandy, a magnificent dog and image of his sire; V.H.C. Chicago 1894. See comment AMERICAN FIELD. Alan is a born cattle dog.

DANDY DAVY (A. K. C. No. 36097), by Moray—Clover, the handsomest and most intelligent collie I ever bred; sable with white collar and ruff.

TACONY, smooth-coated fox terrier (A. K. C. 28136), white with tan marked head; inbred Prince Result; game as a pebble.

I will sell at reasonable price Moray, prize winner; Don Cameron and other A. K. C. collies; also book orders for young dogs. Address WILL J. DAVIS, Columbia Theater, Chicago. 39-4-tf

Rodfield

Black, white and tan English setter, winner of both of the U. S. F. T. Club's All-Age Setter Stakes at Bicknell, Ind., and West Point, Miss., 1894 and 1895. Catalog free.

STUD FEE $50.
P. T. MADISON,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

WIRE-HAIRED FOX TERRIERS

BROWN FRENCH POODLES.

For stud cards, list of produce stakes ($175 annually offered in prizes), price lists and full particulars, apply to HILL HURST KENNELS, Wellesley, Mass. 45-7

AT STUD,
ST. BERNARDS and COCKER SPANIELS

Four St. Bernards and eight cocker spaniels including Ch. Middy at $15 stud fee. Send stamp for illustrated catalogue.

SWISS MOUNTAIN KENNELS, Germantown Philadelphia, Pa.

At Stud, Fee $25.

WHYTE B.

I offer the services of this highly bred setter; he is by Roderigo—Florence Gladstone. He won the A.-A. Stake in the Southern trials, beating such dogs as Antevolo, Novelist, Engene I, Tremont, Bettye S and Bob Cooper. I candidly believe Whyte B has more endurance than any dog living, and is a combined field trial and shooting dog; his equal would be hard to find. H. S. BEVAN, Somerville, Tenn.

STRIDEAWAY FEE $50

Meadow City Kennels, Northampton, Mass. 43-21-tf

COUNT FEATHERSTONE (No. 29535, Vol. X), lemon and white, whelped March 3, 1890, by Count Noble—Florence Gladstone, she Gladstone—Flounce, she Druid—Ruby; Count is at present located in Warren County, N. Carolina, and will be bred to a few approved bitches; stud fee $25. Address CHAS. F. TRETBAR, P. O. Box 2920, New York. 26

BREED TO THE BEST—At stud, $15, imported English setter Carleton Pero (16291), (Sir Tatton—Princess Charlotte III), color black and white, very handsome, winner on the bench, field broken by N. B Thomas (deceased). Address DR. J. W. COTTING, Swathmore, Delaware Co., Pa. 44-9

AT STUD—Smooth fox terriers, Hillside Royal (Starden's King—Hillside Freda); fee to approved bitches, $10; Raby Prince (Raby Pallisy—Richmond Jesmine); fee to approved bitches, $10. WAWASET KENNELS, Wilmington, Del. 44-5

AT STUD—Four first-class Great Danes, viz.: Moreau (fawn), Victor and Harras (brindles), and Nero (black), fee $25 to $50. J. H. H. MAENNER, 404 So. Paca St., Baltimore, Md. 43-22-tf

AT STUD—Pasha (31723), $15; insure.
Toy Spaniel.
PLEASURE KENNELS.
22 Baker St., Cincinnati, Ohio. 2*

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

AT STUD—The grand young bulldog Webb's Monarch, a grandson of Ch. British Monarch and Ch. Rustic King; under 50 lbs.; solid brindle. JOHN E. JEWETT, Buffalo, N. Y. 26

AT STUD—The imported foxhound Abelard, to a few choice bitches at $10 each. J. M. HODGIN, Secretary Strode Valley Kennel Club, Winchester, Ky. 2

RED COCKERS—Champ. Red Jacket and Red Roland at stud; red puppies. BRANT COCKER KENNELS, Brantford, Ont. 43-14-tf

CHESAPEAKE MARK (35914); fee $10. L. K. MASON, Hastings, Ia. 43-15-tf

MATERIALS AND FIXTURES

The final choice of many kennels and ndividuals after trying all others, as attested by hundreds of unsolicited letters.

AUSTIN & GRAVES,

116 COMMERCIAL ST.,
BOSTON, MASS.

HEALTH FOR ANIMALS

Of the many skin diseases that animals are subject to there are none which cannot be brought under control and speedily cured by the use of

GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP

Its perfect reliability in all forms of

MANGE

From which dogs suffer has been attested by innumerable testimonials from the highest kennel authorities and the grateful acknowledgment of thousands of dog owners.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

"OUR DOGS"

The Popular English Doggy Journal.

Published every Saturday. Price One Penny.

Contains all the latest news and the best information relating to doggy subjects. It is written in chatty style; is contributed to by the best known writers; is well illustrated; enjoys a large circulation, and is a splendid medium for the sale or purchase of dogs. Subscription 8s. 6d per year post free to any part of America. SPECIMEN COPIES FREE.

Our Dogs Publishing Co., Ltd.,
10 Gore St., Piccadilly, Manchester, Eng.

R. J. WITHERS, M. D.,

VETERINARY SURGEON,

627 So. Main St., LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Treatment of dogs a specialty. Good hospital accommodations. Advice by mail $1

In answering advertisements, please mention that you saw the advertisement in the AMERICAN FIELD.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column.

KENNEL

Advertisements inserted under this head for 25c. a line for the first insertion, and 15c. for each subsequent insertion. If displayed, $3.50 per inch for first, and $2.50 for each subsequent insertion. Read "Notice to Advertisers," top of first column

MATERIAL AND FIXTURES

LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE

LITTLE'S PRIZE MEDAL PHENYLE DOG SOAP

Cleanses the skin and improves the coat.

LITTLE'S SANITARY PHENYLE DOG SOAP,

Superior to any now before the public. Beautifies, cleanses, and gives a healthy glow to the skin.

(COPYRIGHTED.)

DOCTOR—There is no doubt, my friends, but that you are suffering from a most severe case of Mange. My advice is that you procure at once LITTLE'S SOLUBLE PHENYLE, a sure cure, which will also keep your kennels nice and sweet.

PATIENTS (all together)—We will send to our druggist for it at once.

Used by the principal kennels and bench shows in America and Europe. No keeper of valuable dogs, horses, etc, should be without it. Pronounced by the highest authorities the best and most effective disinfectant in the market. For full particulars of its various uses, send for pamphlet to

MORRIS LITTLE & SON, 175 to 177 N. 10th Street, Brooklyn, E. D., N. Y.

WHITMAN KENNEL SUPPLY CO.

418 WABASH AVE., CHICAGO.

PEDIGREES COMPILED

And printed in first-class style, and at reasonable rates.

COPYRIGHT PEDIGREE BLANKS.

Pictures for framing of CHAMPION PAUL GLADSTONE, DASH III AND COUNTESS MAY; GLADSTONE AND PEEP O' DAY; CROXTETH AND SENSATION; EMPEROR FRED, and others.

WHITMAN'S UNIQUE DOG REMEDIES.

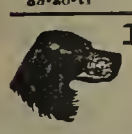
SPRATTS DOG FOODS AND MEDICINES.

AUSTIN'S DOG FOODS.

SERGEANT'S CONDITION PILLS.

L. F. WHITMAN, Manager.

23-26-tf



NEW BOOK ON DOG DISEASES

And How to Feed

Mailed FREE to any address by the author.

H. CLAY GLOVER, D.V.S., 1293 Broadway, N. Y

McGILL UNIVERSITY MONTREAL

Faculty of Comparative Medicine and Veterinary Science (late Montreal Veterinary College). Calendars sent on application, giving full information to intending students. Lectures commence first Wednesday in October in each year. Apply to CHARLES McEACHRAN, D. V. S., Registrar, Veterinary College, 5 Union Avenue, Montreal, Canada. 23-1-tf

MISCELLANEOUS.

Chicago & Alton R.R.

AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR RAILROAD.

PERFECT PASSENGER SERVICE.

The direct, best and only rock-ballasted dustless line between

CHICAGO AND KANSAS CITY,
CHICAGO AND ST. LOUIS,
ST. LOUIS AND KANSAS CITY.

Through Pullman Service Every Day From

CHICAGO TO COLORADO.

JAMES CHARLTON, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Illinois.

J. S. CHAPIN. J. J. GORE. J. S. CARTER

CHAPIN & GORE,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN

FINE WHISKIES

IMPORTED

Wines, Liquors and Cigars.

73 & 75 Monroe St., Chicago

Branch Stores: 152 22nd Street, 121 Clark Street, and 73 South Halsted Street, Chicago.

Branch Store: 30 and 32 N. Illinois Street, Indianapolis, Ind.

Paris Branch: No. 28 Boulevard Haussmann, Paris. 18-4-1y

TROUT, PICKEREL, GEESE, BASS, PERCH, SNIPE, PIKE, DUCKS, CHICKENS,

Are all to be found contiguous to the line of

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

SEND FOR

Natural Game Preserves of North America.

CHAS. S. FEE,

General Pass. and Ticket Agt., ST. PAUL.

PLOVER, ANTELOPE, BEAR, MOUNTAIN LIONS, CARIBOU, DEER, WHITE GOATS, ROCKY MTN. SHEEP

LAKE TRIPS TO MICHIGAN

Via Graham & Morton Transportation Co.'s Steamers to St. Joe and Benton Harbor

Sailing from dock foot of Wabash Ave., Chicago, at 9:30 a. m. and 11:30 p. m., daily including Sundays. Special trip at 2 p. m. Saturdays. Daily round trip excursion fare $1, leaving at 9:30 a. m., arriving in Chicago on return about 9 p. m. This trip gives the excursionists two and one-half hours in the fruit gardens of Michigan.

Chicago office, 46-48 River St., foot Wabash Ave.

J. H. GRAHAM, Prest., Benton Harbor, Mich.

HUNTING GROUNDS

ALONG THE LINE OF

The Southern Railway

The Southern Railway is endeavoring to furnish every facility to sportsmen to reach its territory, especially Virginia and the Carolinas, where game is abundant and game laws lenient.

Most convenient schedules are operated from all junction points.

For additional information apply o

S. H. HARDWICK,
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Atlanta, Ga.

C. A. BENSCOTER,
Ass't Gen. Pass. Agt., Knoxville, Tenn.

W. A. TURK,
Gen. Pass. Agt., Washington, D. C.

R. D. CARPENTER,
Gen. Agt., 271 Broadway, New York

HENRY HIDEN,
Commercial Agt., 10 Rookery, Chicago.

L. S. BROWN,
Gen. Agt., 1300 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C.

THE HOLLENBECK HAMMERLESS GUN.

The Simplest, Strongest and most Durable Gun Made.

Bored especially for Nitro Powder and fully guaranteed when using same.

We make 12-ga. as light as 6½ pounds. We make 10 ga. as light as 7 pounds. The above cut represents our No. 1 grade. Write for circular and prices

SYRACUSE ARMS CO., SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Sole Agents, HERMANN BOKER & CO., 101-103 Duane St., New York.

WHERE MAY I FIND GOOD SPORT?

IN Kansas

PRAIRIE CHICKENS, quails, jack-rabbits and ducks abound. The Arkansas Valley and its tributaries afford most satisfactory hunting grounds. In southeastern Kansas there is a fair supply of bass and catfish.

IN Colorado

HERE the fishing rod should be unpacked. Enough trout to keep your rod and line busy may be found in hundreds of mountain streams along the Colorado Midland line. Away from the railroad larger game exists—bears, rocky mountain sheep, elk, blacktail deer, etc.

IN Indian Territory

WILD TURKEYS, prairie chickens, quails and deer are the favorite game in Oklahoma and Indian Territory. A party of three to ten, with guide, will find great sport thirty miles or so from railroad lines.

IN Texas

ANYWHERE on the Gulf Coast several days can be enjoyably spent angling for the deep-sea fish that swarm the Gulf waters. You cast the line; the fish do the rest. Wild fowl are also prevalent in the marshes.

IN New Mexico

UP in the mountains are clear streams where the possible catch of trout may exceed your biggest story—which is saying a good deal. Enough wild game in the wooded wilderness to satisfy the most ardent hunter.

Address G. T. NICHOLSON, G. P. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R., Monadnock Building, Chicago, for detailed information respecting any one or more of the above localities.

ALL ALONG THE SANTA FE ROUTE.

THE AMATEUR TRAINER

FORCE SYSTEM WITHOUT THE WHIP.

BY ED. F. HABERLEIN (a practical trainer of thirty years' experience).

SECOND EDITION. Revised and illustrated with full-page portraits of typical bird dogs.

Has just been published and should be in the hands of every owner of a bird dog, whether trained or untrained.

"The Amateur Trainer" is a plain, practical and concise yet thorough guide in the art of training, handling and the correcting of faults of the bird dog subservient to the gun afield. The manual has been written especially for those who may possess a puppy but cannot afford the high charges of professional trainers to have the same broken for field work. By following the instructions plainly given in the book, every shooter possessed of a little common sense and patience can train his own dog to perfection.

If you have a broken dog who is faulty in some respects, you will find ample advice in the manual how to overcome any fault thoroughly. If your dog does not retrieve, or if so, is hard mouthed, and unsteady to point and shot chases rabbits, etc., etc., is whipshy, watershy or gunshy, etc., then don't fail to get this book and eradicate the annoyances.

The book is written in a comprehensible, popular form, devoid of long-spun theories, and is based upon practical experience throughout. Each chapter alone on the correction of faults of matured dogs is fully worth the price of the book to anyone owning a dog so afflicted. Dogs of any age can be taught to retrieve readily—soft mouthed and in perfect style—by following the plain instructions given therein.

To the novice, who may aspire to perfect his own dog in the usefulness afield, it will prove an invaluable aid, giving clear instructions from the beginning with a puppy up to the training of the bird dog to a high degree.

It is not INTENDED NOR PROMISED to give a large volume of PASTIME READING MATTER, but the publisher guarantees the book to contain the most practical information on the subject, in a plain, concise form, for the price. It contains 99 pages. Price, paper cover, $1; cloth, $1.50.

Address

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUB. CO.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

SPORT WITH GUN AND ROD

Edited by Alfred M. Mayer

Is a magnificent volume of 892 pages—"the finest volume about American sports and outdoor life," says the Hartford Courant, "that has ever been published in this country." The book contains fifty separate and distinct articles, each by an expert sportsman, and is embellished with several hundred illustrations. Over $30,000 was spent in the preparation of this work. "In every respect the work is thorough and must become standard," says the Spirit of the Times. In one royal octavo volume, cloth, $5. An édition de luxe in two volumes is also published. Price, in embossed leather binding, $18; cloth, $12.

The American Field Pub. Co., Chicago.

The Home of the Tarpon AND Ducks by the Million AT Aransas and Corpus Christi Bays

REACHED BY

San Antonio and Aransas Pass Ry.

Twelve tarpon caught in one day, [illegible] of 1894, by Messrs. Bull, Lewis and Wa[illegible] Wis., aggregating over 800 pounds.

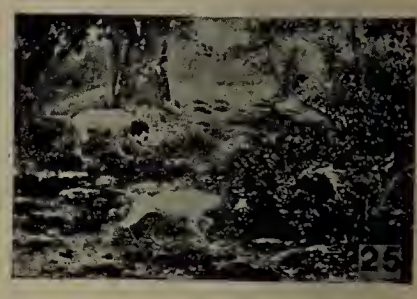
Tarpon season March 15 to December 1; duck shooting December to March.

Send for maps, etc. Address

E. J. MARTIN, Gen. Pass. Agt., San Antonio, Tex

PICTURES FOR SPORTSMEN.

The finest series of pictures illustrating Field Scenes and Celebrated Dogs ever published in the United States. No expense has been spared in the reproduction of these pictures from the original paintings (which are by J. M. Tracy and other celebrated artists), and they are now offered for sale at prices frequently asked for pictures of only moderate excellence. Below we illustrate a few of the subjects:



EACH CUT COPYRIGHTED.

No.	Snbject	Dogs Represented	Photogravure	Photograph	Artotype	Etching	Size, including mount.
1	Summer Woodcock Shooting	Banjo	$	3.00	.....	....	40x28
2	On the Grou'e Moor	Emperor Fred	.....	3.00	.....	....	40x28
3	Quail Shoot in Navesink	Croxteth and Sensation	5.00	3.00	1.00	....	40x28
4	Eastern Field Trials 1892	London and Gladstone	....	3.00	.....	....	40x28
5	A Steady Point	Don Juau	5.00	.....	.....	....	39x27
6	Gordon Setter	Boh	.....	3.00	.....	....	40x28
7	English Setter	Luna May	.....	3 00	.....	....	36x26
8	English Setter	Plantaganet	.....	3.00	.....	..	40x27
9	Ready for a Hunt	Banjo	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
10	Quail Shoot in Connecticut	Lady Dufferin	.....	3.00	.....	....	40x27
11	English Setter	Emperor Fred	.....	3.00	.....	..	40x27
12	Well Matched	Trim and Trouble	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
13	English Setter	Dashing Novice	.....	3.00	..	....	40x27
14	Ruffed Grouse Shooting	Gronsedale	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
15	Dog Talk		5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
16	Long Time Between Drinks		5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
17	Evening in the Fields	Count Noble and Dash. Novice	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
18	A Collie	Ladd	.....	3.00	.....	....	32x24
19	Home for a Holiday	Nida, Ferida and Banjo	....	3.00	.....	....	40x28
20	Haunt of Woodcock	Sensation and Bang Bang	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
21	Close Work	Maxim and Meteor	5.00	3 00	.....	....	40x27
22	Good and Bad Luck	Banjo and Lark	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
23	Fetch	Jilt	.....	3.00	.....	....	40x27
24	An English Setter	Rockingham	5.00	3.00	.....	....	36x27
25	Well Broken	Maidstone and Tammany	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
26	Pointer and Setter	Banjo and Rab	5.00	3 00	.....	....	40x27
27	An English Setter	Dashing Monarch	.....	3.00	.....	...	40x27
28	Quail Shoot—Gulf Coast	Paul Gladstone and Roderigo	.....	3.00	.....	....	40x27
29	A Pointer	Lady Tammany	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
30	Steady	Naso of Nippen and Bang Bang	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
32	A Pointer	A Head of Bang Bang	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x27
33	Head of Pointer	A Head of Maxim	..	2.00	.....	....	24x19
34	Head of Setter	A Head of Lark	.....	2 00	.....	....	24x19
35	Head of Setter	A Head of Dan	5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x28
36	Head of Pointer	A Head of Count	.....	3.00	.....	....	33x22
37	Chance and Jean Valjean		5.00	3.00	.....	....	40x28

No.	Subject	Dogs Represented	Photogravure	Photograph	Artotpe	Etching	Size, including mount.
38	Novemher on the James	Mack and Prince	6.00	.....	.....	....	38x27
39	Rip Rap and King of Kent		.....	.....	.....	5 00	14x18
40	Double Point	Woolton Game and Robt. Le Diable.	5 00	.....	.....	....	40x27
41	Portrait of Setter	Rowdy Rod	5 00	.....	.....	....	40x26
42	Rabhlting	Fox Terriers	5 00	.....	.....	....	40x28
43	Chesapeake Bay—Dog withGoose	Champion Barnum	.....	.....	2.00	....	28x12
44	Champion Gloucester		5.00	..	.....	..	40x27
45	Pointer	Duke of Hessen	5 00	.....	.....	...	40x27
46	In Full Cry	Foxhounds	.....	.....	.....	5.00	40x27
47	Over Hill and Dale	Foxhounds	.....	.....	.....	5.00	40x27
48	On the Grouse Moor	Emperor Fred	.....	3.00	.....	....	22x16
49	Quail Shoot, Tennessee	Gladstone and Peep o' Day	.....	.....	1.00	....	21x16
50	Prairie Chicken Shoot, Minnesota	Dash III and Countess May	.....	.....	1.00	....	20x15
51	Snipe Shoot, Mississippi Bottom	Thunder	.....	.....	1.00	....	21x16
52	Guarding His Food		5.00	.....	.....	....	40x27
53	Central Field Trials 1891		15.00	.....	.....	....	45x32
54	Southern Field Trials 1890		15.00	.....	.....	....	45x32
55	Champion Stakes 1892		15.00	.....	.....	....	45x32
56	First Lesson		6.00	.....	.....	....	45x32
57	Rip Rap and Maid of Kent		6 00	.....	.....	....	45x32
58	Flushed		6.00	.....	.....	....	45x32
59	Beagles		5.00	.....	.....	..	40x27
60	Four Kings and a Knave		15.00	.....	.....	....	45x32
61	Close Call		7.50	.....	.....	....	40x27
62	Fox Terriers		7.50	.....	.....	....	40x27
63	On the Alert		3.00	.....	.....	....	33x22
64	Plinlimmon		7.50	.....	.....	...	40x27
65	Happiness		5.00	.....	.....	....	40x27
66	Misery		5.00	.....	.....	....	40x27
67	On a Point		5.00	.....	.....	....	40x27
68	Well Matched		5.00	.....	.....	....	40x28
69	Caught in the Act		5.00	.....	.....	....	40x27
70	Pup		3 00	.....	.....	....	27x20
71	Pup		3.00	.....	.....	...	28x20
72	Hound		7.50	.....	.....	....	45x32
73	On a Scent		3.00	.....	.....	....	33x22

The pictures will be forwarded to any part of the United States or Canada, postpaid or expressage p aid, on receipt of price

ADDRESS

THE AMERICAN FIELD PUBLISHING CO.,

CHICAGO, ILL.

THE AMERICAN FIELD

THE SPORTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

Vol. XLIII—No. 26. NEW YORK AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, JUNE 29, 1895. PRICE, Ten Cents $5.00 Per Year.

Published by the American Field Publishing Co.

TERMS.—Five dollars a year; two dollars and seventy-five cents for six months; Club rates, three or more four dollars a year each; strictly in advance.

REMITTANCES.—Money should be sent by American Express Co.'s Money Order, Postal Order, Draft on Chicago, or by Registered Letter.

NEWS DEALERS.—The Trade supplied by the American and Western News Companies.

COMMUNICATIONS.—Manuscript intended for publication should be written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the writer's name and address, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith and all communications, upon any subject, or for any department, must be addressed,

N. ROWE,
Editor and Manager American Field.
245 and 247 State St., Chicago, Ill.

EASTERN OFFICE.—19 Park Place, New York.

Game and Shooting

THE BATTLE OF THE BUCKS

BY T. S. VAN DYKE

It was daybreak in the California hills and when I went for water for our coffee, to the little spring beside which I and my companion had camped, I found along its soft edges the traces of a doe and two fawns. The tracks were still shining with moisture, and where their feet had gone into the water it was still clouded with mud. Evidently they had been there about the time we were rubbing our eyes, but as the deer is a swift and quiet walker and rarely lingers at water we had not heard or seen them though but a few yards away.

From the water the tracks led up the mountain by an old trail made in the days when wild cattle that had never felt the branding iron were still abundant in Southern California. The deer had a long start of us, but it was easy tracking in the old trail and we followed at a rapid rate. The tracks led upward and onward, with little sign of loitering; for the moon was about full and deer at that time are afoot most of the night and consequently go back early into the hills to lie down for the day. It led beneath spreading live oaks from which, with roaring wings and black plumes hanging forward over their bills clear cut against the brightening sky, large flocks of valley quails went squealing and chirping, darting downward or curling upward. Then it led over little open flats covered with green bunch grass through which the white tail of the little chapparal hare flickered into the brush on the sides. It went through dense brush where stiff and ragged the red arms of the manzinita tried to bar our progress, and the thorns hidden among the brilliant green of the lilac invited us to tarry. And then over some ridge, from which we could look down upon tumbling tiers of hill and dale and little parks green with live oaks or golden with dried grass, girdled with lofty hills frowning with glistening bowlders of granite or bristling with bluish green chapparal.

Soon the tracks of the deer began to wander about, indicating that they were getting ready to lie down for the day. Here they had stopped for a moment to nibble an acorn from a live oak bush, and there they had skipped about as if in play. Here on some open knoll they had stopped, evidently to take a long look for danger, and there they had left the trail, and after wandering about a while in the adjacent brush had returned to the old cattle trail, and then had decided to go further up the hill.

Finally, the tracks led into a little park of several acres which was yellow with ripened wild oats and foxtail grass, over which nodded the time-bowed head of many an ancient live oak. The dense carpet of dead grass that there covered the ground made tracing too slow, and, as it was quite certain the deer had stopped somewhere in or about this park, it was better to leave the trail and get a position from which we could look down upon the park and its surroundings. From the spur of a hill on one side a huge bowlder or granite shone in the rising sun like a castle wall, and on this we climbed to inspect the ground below.

From the heights beyond came the tender "cloi-cloi, cloi-cloi" of the mountain quail, and from the slopes of the valley a thousand feet below we heard almost as plainly as the "ca-loi-o, ca-loi-o, ca-loi-o" of the noisy valley quail. The dark form of the great condor was winding through the air above us, and we could look down upon the backs of numbers of the common buzzard circling below with easy grace over the lower hills. Far below we could mark the larger hare playing over the sunlit plain and the coyote or wildcat sitting on some rising knoll surveying the situation. But the bottom of the little park, the edges of the brush around it and the little gulches that led into it from the surrounding hills failed for a while to show any sign of deer, although with a good glass we examined carefully every spot of gray or dark color, every bit of dead stick and everything white or shining.

Finally, a dark, glistening spot in a bush, up a side gulch some two hundred yards away, caught my attention. Even as I looked I could see some change in the brightness of the sheen. There was no dew and only the hair of a deer in the dark smooth coat of Autumn could shine like that, in such a place, at this time of day.

Leaving my companion on the rock as the best place from which to get a shot if the deer started, I made a long detour and reached the next ravine beyond the shining spot. Tracks, evidently made by the same doe and fawns the day before, were abundant there and also fresh tracks of a very large buck. But there was nothing in sight but bright green chapparal and sunlit rocks, and I crossed cautiously to the top of the ridge on the other side of which was the bush by which I had marked the spot of glistening hair.

Having reached the top of it with great care so as to avoid making any noise, I looked carefully over and met a common reward of care in such cases; I saw at least twenty bushes of almost the exact size and shape of the one by which I had marked the shining bit of hair, and about a dozen rocks, each one of about the same size and shape of the one by the side of which I had located the bush. The sun was glistening from a thousand bright green leaves on the wild cherry and mountain mahogany, but there was nothing that looked like the sheen of fur. I had lost too many deer in bygone days by being hasty on occasions like this, therefore I concluded to wait a few minutes so as to give anything that might be there an opportunity to move into sight.

Not long had I waited when from a small ravine on one side there came a faint sound of hoofs, followed by a cracking of brush. This was followed by a distinct thump on the ground and the smashing of more brush, as if some large animal had jumped through a bush. Then came the sound of hoofs in slow trot and, in a moment more, a five-year-old buck came around the corner of the side ravine. With head low and horns laid well back he came directly toward me for a few steps, then quickly stopped to look and listen. Proudly erect he held his neck, swelled at this time of the year like that of the sculptor's war horse; his black nose, eyes and forehead, his large flaring gray ears and all the glittering tips of his many-tined horns he concentrated directly upon me, but evidently he did not suspect my existence.

As I was about to raise the rifle on the buck there was a sudden rustling in the chapparal, on the hillside in the gulch below me, and from a bush scarcely thirty yards away stepped two large fawns dressed in the dark gray coat of Autumn. With long stride, heads well upraised and ears turned inquiringly forward, they walked toward the buck. By a shelf of glistening rock from the dry chinks of which the stone-crop hung out its mealy stem full strung with crimson bells nodding to the red trumpets of the mimulas, that light up the rocks the whole Summer through, the buck stood merely turning his nose toward the fawns as if awaiting their coming.

Deer were so plentiful in this part of California that the loss of a shot was generally of little consequence; and, well knowing the deer did not see me and would not be apt to leave at present, I concluded to see what the result of the meeting would be, for something new in natural history is as interesting to me as a good shot at game.

My studies in this line were quickly interrupted by the sound of other hoofs from the same ravine down which the first buck had come. With a snort that would have done credit to a wild mustang at his first view of a locomotive, the first buck wheeled around in the direction of the new-comer. The fawns stopped and pricked up their ears, and from a bush, the very one apparently where I had first marked the game, the old doe stepped out and walked up to the fawns, and with big ears all attention looked intently toward the direction from which the new sound of hoofs came. In a moment more another buck, larger and older than the first, came around the corner of the ravine. He came upon a trot, with head down and his long, crooked horns projecting beyond his nose, and either seeing nothing or caring for nothing.

Along the back of the neck of the first buck the hair now began to rise; he lowered his head, and with glittering horns almost as large as those of the second buck made a rush for the new-comer. On the instant the hair on the neck of the second buck rose in a long fuzzy ridge, reaching almost to his shoulders, and it took but little fancy to see his eyes blaze with the greenish fire often seen in those of a deer in fighting mood.

No ceremonies ushered in the battle. With a sharp clack the two sets of horns were locked in a twinkling, the dust flew from beneath the sharp hoofs that plowed the dry ground at the rate of twenty strokes a second, and the brush cracked beneath the heavy bodies as they waltzed about in a semicircle. The buck's coats were sleek with fatness, and the sunlight as it played alternately from the glossy fur from the white rumps, the black stubby tails and the polished tines of the horns seemed to have its hands full to keep up with the procession.

With their big ears flaring with curiosity the fawns trotted up to the struggling bucks, looked at them for a second and began to jump and gambol around them. High in the air one of them sprang as if he would jump over the whole party but landed again almost in his tracks, while the other one contented himself with springing over a bush. Then with short, high jumps they ran a few yards up the hillside and stood for a second, then came tearing down and jumped around the combatants again. Meanwhile the old doe stood calmly surveying the proceedings from the side of a bush, and then turned around and began to nibble some of the green leaves.

The whirl of horns and dust and beamy hair suddenly stopped, and there was for a moment a deadlock of antlers, each buck trying to twist the other's head off. Then with a sudden movement one pushed the other downhill for a step or two, but the second one recovered like a flash of light, and, with a tremendous jump, pushed the first one as far up the hill. Then for a moment they broke loose and only to come together with another rush and clatter of antlers that made it easy to understand how horns may become inextricably locked during such conflicts. In the onset the superior weight of the larger buck carried the other one backward and down upon his knees; but the hindlegs of a deer are like springs of steel, and in a twinkling the smaller buck shot forward and upward, carrying the head of the other upward and backward and forcing his big, round rump into a bush. But in a second the larger one caught himself and down the hill went the other again, twisting his head violently from side to side, and rising and falling in his efforts to withstand his heavier foe. Then suddenly they broke loose, and wild-eyed and open-mouthed, with tongues hanging out, stood glaring at each other.

Just then the doe rose high in air, with a whirl surpassing the noblest effort of either of the bucks, cleared a bush and a robust rock at the same time, landed on the hard ground with that heavy thump made by the four feet of the mule deer all striking the ground at once, and rose again in that shining curve that always makes fine work for him who would stay the springy feet that make it. She evidently had discovered that I was about, perhaps by that sixth sense that a deer often seems to have, but her movements left no doubt of the fact.

Forgetting for the moment that better game was within reach, I yielded to a quick impulse to fire at the doe. Just in line with her back, as she [illegible] from a lofty spring, the first ball threw up [illegible] dry dust from the ground beyond her and [illegible] ing harmlessly away on high. Wheeling at [illegible] angle, no longer with high bounds but hugging the ground like a racer, down the gulch she went turning from gray almost to black with speed as she tore [illegible] the bright green brush or scattered right and [illegible] shallowers on the more open parts [illegible] ravine.

[illegible] not, and the dry dirt flew from [illegible] dust behind the doe. Bang, went still another, [illegible] farther ahead, and the dust flew from the hillside in line with one ear. She jumped and kicked at the ear all in one motion, as if trying to turn a sommersault without knowing how, then wheeling as easily as a beam of light glances from the wave she sailed out upon the other hillside. The tall stalks of the white sage bowed before her speed, the ramiria and the wild lucerne flew right and left, and in a moment more the green portals of the wild lilac and the cercocarpus closed over her as she vanished almost on a line with the rock on which I had left my companion.

By the time I had turned around to see about the other deer they, too, were sailing with that billowy speed that is so deceptive and so hard to stop over the sea of chapparal that inclosed the ravine on all sides. Now smashing through brush as if it were straw, now leaping over it as if it were but a shadow, the two fawns were careering up the opposite hillside, making the dust fly at every stroke of their sharp hoofs on the dry ground. And close behind them, with alternate smash-bump, ker-thump, ker-smash, went the two bucks in high rolling curves of shining hair and glistening horns, as if each were trying to escape the other.

It was hard to tell which deer to shoot at, for each, as it rose above the brush, made a most tempting mark, but by the time I could turn the rifle upon one it was not there, and another was surging up beside it or just ahead of it. Something had to be done, though, with considerable expedition, and the way the bullets flew from that repeater would have done credit to a Gatling gun. Over the deer, beside them and behind them, the dirt flew from the hillside and the bullets went singing away over the hill beyond them until the click of the hammer on the firing-pin of the rifle told that the magazine was empty.

It seemed an "off day" for my companion also, who was a fine shot and was armed with a good repeater. After two or three shots at the doe, in which he failed to estimate her speed or her up and down motion, he turned his attention to the bucks. At the rate of about two a second the bullets went singing up to the sky as they glanced from the hard, dry ground, or were driven into hissing spray against the smooth granite bowlders, and it was but a moment more before the last ball whizzed over the hilltop and over the depths beyond as the last thump of hoofs and cracking of brush, so natural as to show that nothing was hurt, died away on my anxious ear.

In a few moments more, beside a spring beneath an arcade of live oaks where the purple of the nightshade softened the brilliant scarlet of the columbine, where the ground squirrels scampered over the carpet of dried leaves and the wings of the doves whistled around us as they came in to drink, we sat down to muse on the ravenous appetite that space has for lead.

Los Angeles, Cal.

HUNTIN' FO DE WAH

BY POLK MILLER

Hunting nowadays is attended with a great deal more labor than in old times, and game is so scarce and hard to find that a man is hardly compensated for the trouble of taking care of dogs nine or ten months of the year, when they are of no use whatever, for the little pleasure he derives from a short hunting season of three months, even if he could put in every day in the week. Before the war it was an easy matter for me to kill from twenty-five to fifty birds a day on our own farm. But in those days the sport was confined to the well-to-do classes. The negro wasn't allowed to have a gun and the white men who made their living by the "sweat of their brow" could not afford the time and didn't allow their children to cultivate the taste for hunting.

A fondness for hunting seems to be born in the darkies, and the "ole hyars" had to step lively on Sunday; for from early in the morning till the sun went down on that day the voices of Rattler, Rover, Music and Vic could be heard mingling with that of Tiger (an old cur) and the short, sharp notes of the bob-tailed, bench-legged fice which did the "bouncing." The white folks went to church and as a rule took the white boys along with them, for if they did not they'd be very apt to go very near where the fun was going on. The old Virginia hare-hunting and 'possum and coon hu[illegible] de wah" was the happiest [illegible] next to them came the "young [illegible] they were always being told that they ought to be ashamed to be associating with "niggers," showed a decided preference for that sort of companionship in hunting. It was gloriously exciting to see a dozen hounds on a "sight race" after a Molly cottontail as she was making her way at full speed across an open field, while from a score of negroes, ranging in age from ten years to sixty, would come the cry of "Yarn' she go!" "Yarn' she go!" "Yarn' she go!" and as the frightened hare would double to elude the dogs and run right into the crowd on her back track, such a flingin' of rocks and sticks and hollerin' of "Here! here!" "Here! here!" "Here! here!" was enough to paralyze a less timid animal.

For the loss of those good old times those of us who have passed the meridian of life will never cease to mourn; but while life lasts we can look back upon them with pleasure, and weep over the changed condition of things which has brought the poor negro from a state of perfect happiness and contentment into one in which the battle of life has to be fought, and instead of being the rollicking, ever-smiling, ever-ready to go 'possum and coon hunting, sleep-losing creature that he was, he's thinking "'bout suppin' to eat for hisself an' fambly," and our lunatic asylum at Petersburg is so crowded with them that the county jails are used to accommodate them. How many "crazy niggers" did you hear of before the war? And as the "old-timy, sarvant-marster" class dies out, and along with them the white people who learned to like them in their youth and cannot yet realize that they are no longer the objects of our tender regard and sympathy, the negro is going to be held responsible for all his shortcomings and will be ruled up to a strict fulfillment of his engagements as employee, and his being a negro and a "please-forgive-me-dis-time-master" look will not avail him. The rising generation of negroes do not possess a single quality which can endear the rising generation of whites to them—in fact, they show every disposition not to be even friendly, and when the good influences which the old-timy whites and blacks had over the younger members of their respective races are no longer exerted, trouble will come, and that once happy though enslaved race will be reduced to a state of bondage to which their ante-bellum condition would be a paradise.

As I said before, hunting was confined to the well-to-do classes only before the war. City people didn't indulge in the sport then as now, though there were a few men who enjoyed it, and never failed to go except when driven by business to forego the pleasure. The average business man in those days looked upon a huntsman or a fisherman as a "good-for-nothing loafer." They never considered the value of outdoor exercise in the open fields and bracing atmosphere which brought the bloom of youth to the cheeks and elasticity to the muscles of the pent up bookkeeper or professional brain-worker, but counted it as a day gone forever, and if that hunting man's note got before the directory of a bank in which one of those old money-bags was a member, they'd take a crack at him for his hunting proclivities. My employer encouraged me to go, and would often remind me that "'twas time to go again," but in order to keep from being seen by old Mr. "Skinflint" I used to leave town at an hour in the morning when no one but policemen and ice-wagon drivers could see me, and walk out five miles from the city to take the nine o'clock train in order to escape the eyes of certain old gentlemen. And if the train came back before night I'd hug the hillsides of Chesterfield till dark, or until the down-town offices were closed, and sneak in through a back street to avoid being seen by some old business man who worshiped dollars and cents every day in the week and went to church on Sunday, but who never tasted of the sweetest and best of God's gifts to man—the pure, fresh air of the country, branch water, and a healthy organism which the exercise of hunting produces.

He drinks Saratoga water and fills his stomach with all sorts of nostrums from the apothecary store, with the hope of finding relief from indigestion, but all to no purpose. His skin is the color of a pumpkin as it lay "'tween de corn rows in de lowgroun's" on a frosty morning, and he comes down to his office in the morning looking as though he had swallowed the profits of the day before in "copper cents" and had then drank buttermilk upon them for supper. Woe be unto the clerk who didn't "plum the line" that day, for that countenance which betokened the effects of "verdigris" on his stomach was enough to make the boys shudder at the idea of displeasing the "boss" that day. Do you ask where his sons are? I'll tell you. The old man is too much absorbed in money-making to bother himself even about his boys, and, as they are afraid of the "old man" and are more at ease in the presence of other people, they stay as little at home as they can, and drop in at all hours of the night with a cat-like tread for fear of disturbing the old gentleman. If asked where they were the night before they do not always tell the straight tale. Suppose one of them should say: "Father, I wish you'd give me a gun; I think I'd enjoy hunting!" Jerusalem! such a proposition would make the old fellow writhe in agony to think that a boy of his should make so foolish a request. He'd point him to some man who had accumulated wealth and had no other tie to bind him to the world and say: "There's a man who never hunted or fished a day in his life!" The model to which he'd point his son would be an old dried up individual, whose dress and general appearance would excite the sympathy of a stranger and make him feel like tossing him a penny as he passed him on the street. The boys had their "outings," but they were of such a character that, instead of being healthy and strong and fit to succeed their father when the time came for him to retire from active life, they were found wanting in physical development and in the majority of cases had so undermined their health by strong drink and other bad habits acquired while "outing at night" that they were laid away in Hollywood before they arrived at the age of thirty-five.

Since the war a more liberal sentiment pervades the minds of our business men with regard to outdoor sports and the doctors have discovered that "pills and powders" are not to be compared with the good effects of the open air of the country, and when the overworked professional man goes to his physician and tells him of the numerous ills (which are often more imaginary than real) from which he suffers, he advises him to invest in a gun and dog. This has added largely to the number of sportsmen, the sale of guns, and the breeding of fine dogs. Many of these new converts go out and "bang away" at everything that comes in sight, and are not very particular as to "which way they shoot," but the experienced gunner can tell at a glance whether the man has the gun or the gun has the man, and will "keep his eyes skint" when in the field with him. The hammerless breech-loader is the safest gun made, for it can never go off except when the trigger is pulled, and as the painstaking sportsman always puts the safety lock on his gun when game is not in sight, the triggers cannot be pulled down by accident. There is a certain professional man who hunts on Saturdays only, and his string of game is a curiosity. I have offered him ten dollars for a photograph of himself and his "string of game" if he'll hold it up as he does on incoming trains at night as he returns from his weekly hunt. At the bottom of the string an old hare figures, and next comes a specimen of every kind of bird known in this section of the state (one of a kind), the most conspicuous of which may be seen what the old darkies call "tee-lark" and "pecker-wood." All this is "top-dressed" with a squirrel, and the toughness of its hide may be imagined when he tells you that it took thirteen shots to bring him down.

In old times Judge Crump, George Gilliam, William M. Sutton, and "Martin Meredith Lipscomb" were recognized as the men who could tell you all about hunting around Richmond. There may have been others, but as I didn't want to let anybody know that I went hunting in those days I didn't keep posted as to who they were. I know this much, that where there was one hunting-man then there are a hundred now, and if our legislature doesn't pass a bill making it obligatory upon the boards of supervisors of the different counties to pay for the scalps of hawks, foxes, minks, and other game-destroying varmints, there will be no game in Virginia in a few years. Among the men who are prominent as sportsmen, and are considered good shots and who look forward to the open season on birds as the schoolboy to "vacation," are W. S. Archer, Andrew Kranse, Captain C. H. Epps, W. M. Cary, P. P. Winston, Jim Hardgrove, C. P. Stokes, Lightfoot, Wormeley, W. A. Dickinson, Ad. Dill, John W. Pierce, A. W. Ball, W. H. Colquitt, Thomas Bolling, Ashby Jones, C. D. Langhorne, C. E. Bolling, W. C. Preston, J. Thompson Brown, J. B. Harvie, John Frischkorn, Milton Cayce, Henry Taylor Jr., Dr. Lewis Wheat, John Jackson, Rev. Mr. Downman, J. Mike Macon, John D. Blair, Benjamin H. Berry, Judge E. C. Minor, Judge James C. Lamb, General T. M. Logan, W. L. Boyd, Seaton G. Tinsley, and hundreds of others whose names are enrolled as members of the Virginia Field Sports Association. If the weather is good between Christmas and New Year's Day there is but little business doing, and if you call on these gentlemen you'll receive an answer at the door: "He's gone huntin', suh."

Richmond, Va.

PHEASANTS

MAHWAH, N. J.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—In your issue of April 27 you print a letter from Mr. J. F. Sanderson about pheasants in general, and me in particular, in which he sets himself up as a critic, and kindly "wishes to give the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD the benefit"

(?) of his "observations." Let us examine his claims to pose as an authority, and the amount of "benefit" we are likely to receive from his "observations."

It is strange for a citizen of this republican country to be so fond of titles that he must even decorate his favorite birds with them, and talk of "Mr. Mongolian" and "his grouseship," instead of giving them their plain everyday names.

Mr. Sanderson twits me with having "a mercenary purpose" in writing my aforementioned article and in "so highly recommending the aviary bred bird." Does he know so little of animals as not to be aware that it is by the careful selection of breeding stock that all the birds and beasts of our daily life have attained their present state of excellence? Seeing that everyone keeps only the best of his stock for reproduction, there is no opening for deterioration, and at last a higher standard is attained than among those that are allowed to mate with the first comer in a free state. At any rate the proof of the pudding lies in the eating of it, and the Chinese pheasants I have imported from various breeders in England, where it is only seen in confinement, are over half a pound heavier than those I obtained from three different quarters in Oregon. Perhaps Mr. Sanderson can supply a different answer.

But before I proceed further let me again expose the absolute idiocy of talking of the "Oregon pheasant." What is this new species, or to what old species is this new name affixed? There is no such name recognized except among a few ignoramuses, who use it at random. In my late correspondence with Mr. W. J. Gardiner, in your columns, we had abundant proof that there is more than one kind of pheasant in Oregon. Again, as pheasants are not indigenous to that state, and have only lately been turned out there, anyone unused to the loose nomenclature applied to game in America would be utterly at a loss to recognize even one well-defined variety by that name. When there is not only one but several kinds in that far western land, confusion becomes still worse confounded.

Now let us proceed seriatim with Mr. Sanderson's "observations." He approves of the wandering propensities of the Mongolian pheasant, which I shall hereafter call by its old established and world-wide name of "Chinese."

All game, even the wildest kinds, are the better for the fostering care of a gamekeeper to trap the vermin and feed the birds in the Winter. They all require active preservation if the full amount of sport is to be got from them, and the European system of gamekeepers is the natural corollary. It was astonishing the effect such continuous action had on the ruffed grouse in Tuxedo Park, N. Y., where they increased greatly in return for this protection. If buffaloes and other semi-extinct animals had received any attention from gamekeepers, instead of slaughterers, we would not now be mourning their rarity.

It is the same with quails and all other kinds of game where this pot-hunting fraternity abound, who exterminate everything they can shoot, which has cost years and dollars to produce. Would Mr. Sanderson, if he had a game preserve—which evidently he has not, from the tenor of his remarks—rejoice to see the birds he had raised for his own amusement killed off by every village loafer the moment they had flown or run over his boundary? If Mr. Sanderson replies that he is not referring to private preserves, and that at any rate Chinese birds are a suitable variety for state game commission to let out at large throughout the country pro bono publico, he must not suppose that what would suit sparsely inhabited Oregon is equally adaptable for populous eastern states. Why, even the quail, our native game bird, is only kept from extinction in these parts by gun clubs who yearly restock their private lands with birds brought from wilder states. On the contrary, these game commissions, private owners, and clubs all alike require a non-wandering bird which can be cared for on their own preserves, where it will increase rapidly and have no inducement either from habit or neglect to wander therefrom. A rambling bird, that will call no place its home, will only fall a prey to the army of poachers and game sneaks, and will never repay those who have been to the expense of producing it.

But the days of free shooting are rapidly drawing to a close in America, as they have in most civilized countries, and sport will no more be obtainable for nothing than a carriage and pair or a box at the opera. If one wants the advantages of a higher civilization, one most be prepared to pay for it.

Mr. Sanderson applauds the "ability to get away" of the Chinese bird, "and thereby save its life and preserves its species." I am afraid his ideas of shooting must be peculiar, for this "ability" is shown by using its legs, instead of its wings, and nothing is more trying to dog or temper than a running bird, unless he finds a pleasure in "bowling it over" when on the ground, which also is considered the contrary of a sporting action. Added to which, what on earth is the use of having a bird for sport which is so adroit at come in if it is almost impossible to get it, and how are "saving its life?" Where is the fun for the sportsman to "a dozen game birds" to be bagged "behind a favorite dog" under such circumstances? He states that "with few exceptions the American sportsman prefers to test his skill, and his chief delight is not so much in the amount of game he gets as the pleasure of getting it," and continues about his "good dog working in his aristocratic way in pursuit of game, and when he finds it signifying the same by a stylish point." This is all very beautiful and sporting and superior, but I cannot for the life of me see how the sportman is to have "the pleasure of getting it," or how "the good dog in his aristocratic way" can possibly "find it and signify the same by a stylish point" if the bird is not there, owing to "its ability to get away," thereby "saving its life and preserving its species." Such, indeed, to quote Mr. Sanderson again, "is a picture that few can immortalize upon the canvas."

When Mr. Sanderson says that "there is no doubt in his mind that Sir Ralph Payne-Gallwey and Tegetmeier" (this is the correct form of their names) "both object to the pure bred Mongolian bird for the sole reason that it would be apt to stray upon a neighboring estate," he has given his opinion merely, as neither of these gentlemen ever used the term "Mongolian" pheasant in this matter.

Now let us pass to Mr. Sanderson's next paragraph. He gives out that the Chinese pheasant will, "if left to itself a few years, soon well stock the country." We have already been told how that is to come about, because of "its ability to get away" from the sportman and his "aristocratic dog" with its "stylish point," and thereby baffle the ubiquitous pot-hunter. But when he talks about the "English bird," and states that "if it were used, it would only be a matter of time (short at that) till circumstances of an unfavorable nature would cause its extinction," my previous suspicions are confirmed that Mr. Sanderson is writing about what he knows absolutely nothing of. He tells us that "the English bird is easily scared and will run and hide its head, and you can often pick one of them up in your hands." Mr. Sanderson must have found out the secret denied to all the rest of the world of how to put salt on their tails. Even an "aristocratic dog" is not needed therefore to enable one to bag an English bird. I do not think Mr. Sanderson attributes over much meaning to his words, but I would like to know what he means by the "English bird," whether the English dark-necked pheasant, or the English ring-necked pheasant?

I wish I had the time to linger a while over his description of a pheasant shoot in England. It is fit to rank with Leech's caricatures, in Punch, of the French man out fox-hunting; or Dickens' account of Mr. Winkle among the partridges. But please, Mr. Sanderson, how is the English bird "hunted," and where is its "native heath?" This may be very fine writing, but makes awful rubbish to read. Pheasants are not the natives of "heaths;" nor are they "hunted," but shot. However, this gentleman "thinks his opinions fairly good on this subject," so we will continue to undeceive him. Par parenthese, will he kindly tell us how or why "our English brethren 'shoot the covers?' " Are these birds not only to be "hunted" when alive, but "the covers" are to be shot also? What "covers" are they; those of the dishes on which the birds are served at table? Perhaps Mr. Sanderson's orthography is here at fault, and he will not be offended, I trust, if I suggest "coverts," which will then make his remark fairly intelligible; for we must be truly grateful for and seize any glimmer of common sense that he may show us.

I have not now time to criticize his dreadfully bald description of a "battue" in England, but it may perhaps be news to him that the same mode of shooting pheasants is practiced in every other great sporting country in Europe. The successful arrangement and direction of a battue is a science in itself. I will only now remark that a driven bird is ten times harder to bring down, as he "rockets" over the trees, than one flushed in front of a dog. Also, that a driven pheasant is seldom wounded; if not killed outright it is generally clean missed; whereas everyone who has shot them over dogs knows how often a badly hit bird escapes to die a painful and lingering death. Mr. Sanderson's knowledge of "his lordship and friends" at a battue was evidently gained from the vantage ground of the unwelcome onlooker, vainly trying to comprehend in a brief space an exhibition of great skill, the result of long experience, else he would have known that no good retriever is "kept upon a leash till wanted." A good gamekeeper would be ashamed to appear with any but a "no-slip retriever." But these are niceties that escaped Mr. Sanderson's hurried insight into pheasant shooting as conducted in England. This of course is not his fault but his misfortune; I only remark on these points because of his saying he "thinks his opinions fairly good on this subject."

This letter has already been so long that I [illegible] the space now to refute his indictment of [illegible] pheasants, whose good qualities are pr[illegible] attacks of such an assailant.

Once again we are favored with [illegible] Sanderson's enigmatical sentenc[illegible] pheasant" (please state which) "is [illegible] gamy bird, and for anything but a meat-hunter furnishes fine sport in the right season." When is "the right season" when it "furnishes fine sport?" because he continues, "at other times his ability to take care of himself to the disadvantage of the sportsman is his great recommendation." When, therefore, are the "other times?" for surely no "sportsman" would go after them except "in the right season," by which expression, I suppose, is meant when it is lawful to shoot them. Therefore the "right season" and the "other times" are one and the same; or else the "other times" means out of season when Mr. Sanderson dignities with the name of "sportsman" a mere pot-hunting poacher whom they elude. But I really do not know if Mr. Sanderson himself attaches any meaning or sense to what he writes; his above quoted sentence, as it stands, makes nonsense; if it is corrected, the result is the same. Perhaps after all it is only a waste of time to try to unravel his meaning, so I will conclude with pointing out a flagrant case of mere imagination on his part.

"I have seen many a cock bird in Oregon that would weigh five pounds." Thus he writes, but he has no excuse for such a palpable piece of fiction. Has he actually weighed one of these birds, by which I take it he means the pheasant he calls the "Oregon" or "Mongolian," and I correctly term the "Chinese?" Now of the three kinds of sporting pheasants the English pheasant (phasianus colchicus), the Chinese pheasant (ph. torquatus), and the Japanese pheasant (ph. versicolor), the first named is well known to be the largest. Yet Baily, a great London game dealer, says he only once had a consignment of birds that averaged four pounds apiece, and those were cocks of the old dark-necked English breed. Tegetmeier gives as the average weight of cocks of this variety three to three and a half pounds. But Yarell mentions two instances of extraordinary size, one weighing five pounds and a half ounce, and the other five pounds and thirteen ounces. These were indeed "rarae aves." Everyone who knows anything about pheasants is well aware that the Chinese is a smaller bird than the English. The Chinese cocks I got from Oregon do not weigh over two pounds apiece, and everyone tells me that they are fair samples of these birds; whereas those of the same breed that came from England are a good half-pound heavier and have a far prouder carriage, and the English ring-necked cocks will average three pounds. In fact, Mr. Sanderson's dictum about their weight is as grossly misleading as the rest of his remarks.

Let me now sum up what "benefit" we have obtained from Mr. Sanderson's "observations" and "opinions," which he thinks to be "fairly good on this subject," and of "benefit" to the readers thereof. I have carefully analyzed his entire letter and found his experience small, his statements inaccurate, his arguments futile, his meaning obscure, and his diction inelegant. He claims to be an authority, but his credentials are worthless. He will never gain his bread and butter as a lecturer about pheasants, and so if he has any other profession, I would advise him to stick to it. And so I bid a long farewell to Mr. Sanderson and "his aristocratic dog" and "Mr. Mongolian."

VERNER DE GUISE.

SPORTSMEN VS. CINCH SEEKERS

FORT WORTH, TEX.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—If we wish to further the cause of game protection let us legislate market-shooting out of existence, shorten the open seasons, and give our heartiest coöperation to those who are willing to spend time and money in restocking our depleted fields, forests and streams. Further than this, let us remember that we are sportsmen and not meat-hunters, and, by reducing the caliber of our guns and the weight of our shot charges, give to what there is left of fur and feather a bare chance to escape extermination.

Recently, while on my way from San Antonio to Corpus Christi, I met and conversed with a person who proudly claimed the title of a true sportsman. If I should give his name it would be at once recognized by many of the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD; consequently I refrain from adding to his present notoriety. He had come to Texas for quail and duck shooting, and confided to me his desire to "break the record" before he returned North. He showed me his gun—a brand new Parker with two sets of [illegible] he persisted that it was the most perfect [illegible] able arm ever built. It was a 10-gauge [illegible] the cylinder barrels, he claimed that he had [illegible] cinch" on every bird that dared shake a wing at forty yards rise; "a fly couldn't crawl through the pattern at that distance," said he.

"How high?" I asked.

"Why, it's nearer six feet," said he.

[illegible] in its case once more and [illegible] water at Corpus, of the corn crop for 1895, and the value of the prickly pear as an ensilage plant. I had longed to meet a bona fide sportsman, but now that my wish had been satisfied I longed as earnestly to be freed of his presence.

In my mind an avowed pot-hunter may be a gentleman, but the sportsman (?) who slaughters game with a cannon and yearns after "dead cinches" is too small potatoes to train in the same class. The majority of us have been game-hogs at some early period of life, and the writer of these lines presumes that he has done as much as the next man toward the extermination of game; but while the boy who flock-shoots on the ground with his first gun may plead ignorance as his excuse, what can we say in defense of an up-to-date sportsman who, after reading weekly accounts of the scarcity of game, will order a 10-gauge cylinder bore gnn for qnail shooting? I am not a crank on small calibers and light loads. I have hunted game with guns of all weights and gauges and have yet to see the time when three-fourths of an ounce of shot would cover as wide a circle as three ounces. My friend of the 10-gauge Parker was evidently a man of experience in the field, and our views coincided to a certain extent. As a game annihilator his gun approximated perfection, and had he been a professional market-shooter I most certainly would have commended his choice. But imagine the result if every true sportsman in our country should favor their gunmakers with duplicates of his order!

It is probable that I shall spend less time afield in the coming quarter century than I have spent in that which is past; but I have a brace of growing sons who have inherited the old man's fondness for the gun and ability as a marksman, and I am reasonably anxious that there shall be game for them to shoot as long as they may desire to hunt it. I hardly think that either of my boys will ever invest in a cannon, or have need to do so, for I am training them in a different school to that; but unless there should be a radical change before long in the sportsmanlike methods at present in vogne, the coming generation of gunners will find uothing left them in the way of game, barring field mice and English sparrows.

Granted a quick eye and a reasonable acquaintance with his gun, one should kill a single bird almost as readily with a 16 or 20 gange as with a closely choked 12-gange; and those who really hnnt for the sport alone seldom feel incliued to shoot in the thick of a flock for the sake of observing results. The sportsmen of San Antonio, Tex., in the midst of the best all-aronnd game range in America, have loug since discarded the 10 and 12 ganges for guns of smaller bore, and the most successfnl shot among them all pins his faith to a little 24-gange, shooting it side by side with all sorts of guns held by all sorts of men, and always keeping well to the front. If a duck is beyond reach of Critzer's 24-gauge there is little use of reaching for it with anything larger. As a flock gun it would not be a success; but then if it was a flock gun Critzer would not wish to own it. He is not that sort of a sportsman.

I have spent all my leisure time for more than twenty years in hunting. (I use the term hnnting advisedly, for shooting, as practiced in the game preserves of European countries, has never been exactly suited to my fancy. I like to find and flush my own game without other assistance than that of a good dog, aud the hunting has always been, to me, the best of the sport.) I have killed game in many different localities, and with almost every imaginable size and description of modern firearms, but the most enjoyable sport I have ever known was gained with the least expense of powder aud lead. Some years ago I killed a Canada goose with three-fourths of an ounce of No. 8 shot from a 16-gange gnn, and, though a hundred men have told me it was a scratch, I never believed it such. I held ahead, and the center of the charge struck as I had intended it should, breaking the goose's neck. I could kill a quail at that distance four times out of five; why not a goose? I have killed a number of turkeys in the same way and I fail to see where the element of chance comes in, or how a 10-gauge gnn could have killed cleaner or better. I prefer a rifle to a shotgnn for all-aronnd work, for it has a longer range, is more accurate, and makes fewer cripples. For deer shooting I use a .45-caliber; either a .45-60, .45-70 or .45-90. All riflemen have their fads, and mine is a fancy for straight shells. For turkeys and all smaller game my choice is a .22-caliber, and if there [illegible]ng yonr readers anyone who [illegible]ience to a similar selection I [illegible] striving to awaken an interest [illegible]nnting cartridge.

Not long since I saw it stated that the mannfacture of 8-gauge guns had practically ceased because a need for them no longer existed. This is a mistake. In the history of the world there has never been a time when the record-seeking gunner needed an 8-gange so badly as at the present. Public opinion is against their use, and it will be a happy day for the lovers of field sports when room is made on the shelf for guns of all calibers larger than sixteen. We have to do with a case where the exercise of self restraint is of the utmost importance. We cannot eat our cake and keep it too, and if we persist in hanging onto our big cylinder bores, and shooting with an eye to supplying our own larder and those of our friends, we might as well spare ourselves the trouble of educating our sons in the ethics of field sports. We must drop flock shooting, depend more on skill and marksmanship and less on "smothering" game with a handful of shot, and also discourage as best we may that sort of sportsmanship which measures the enjoyment of a day afield by figuring the gross weight of the game that is bagged.

S. D. BARNES.

THE LIFE INSURANCE MAN AND NITRO POWDER

BY CONICAL BASE

The shooters were all seated in the gun store discussing the probable outcome of the next tournament. There was a lull in the conversation and Pinkedge Perkins was the first to speak.

"What has become of that life insurance fellow who was hanging around here trying to get you to take out a policy?" he asked of Chilled Seven Wilson, the clerk, who was quietly loading shells.

After Chilled Seven had counted the last one of 360 pellets of shot into a charge for a particular shooter, he replied: "Oh, I guess he's around; most likely though he's a little sore on this store; he had his feelings hurt the last time he held a meeting with me."

"How's that?" asked Pinkedge, "did you get tired and fire him out?"

"No," said Chilled Seven, "I always treated him polite; he just left of his own accord; but he went out with more music and red fire than the leading lady of a Trilby troup. You see I was loading some pigeon shells for Fluid Steel Flincher when he strolled into the store and back where I was loading; everybody is curious about smokeless powder and he began asking questions, wanting to know how much noise it would make and how much velocity and penetrative force it had, appearing to be interested before he began talking insurance. At last he asked if it was dangerous, and old Ananias Simpson jumped up off a barrel of targets and said 'No, sir, it's as harmless as beet sugar.' Then he dipped up a handful and laid it on the counter like he was going to light it. I said to Ananias, 'You've got a pretty heavy charge for exhibition purposes,' for somehow everything Simpson takes hold of turns out wrong; he's an unlucky number; I guess he must have been born during a panic. But Ananias said: 'You just tend to your shell loading and I'll show the gentleman how smokeless powder acts. Then he pulled out a match and touched it off. Just then a little breeze swept through the store and blew some of it into my loading block; the loading block flamed up like a torchlight procession and started the pan I was dipping from. The insurance man's whiskers seemed to be just what the powder was waiting for, for his goatee curled up and sizzled like a celluloid collar, and then it lit on Ananias and set fire to the tassle on his G. A. R. hat, and the tassle dangled among his eyebrows and they gave way like dry alfalfa. I had just decided to take out an insurance policy, but the insurance man wasn't a stayer; he got discouraged just as his efforts were about to be crowned with success. He and Ananias got off for the door together without asking anyone to time them. It was kind of a start by mutual consent. I was going to say Ananias led at the door by an eyebrow, forgetting he had sacrificed his eyebrows introducing smokeless powder. The insurance man ran about half a block and caught up with a street sprinkler and asked the driver to let the water play on him a little while. He said he was the victim of a conspiracy and was going to see if there wasn't a law preventing the use of nitro glycerin as a pastime. Yes, it was exciting for a few minutes. The bookkeeper grabbed a bottle of mucilage and ran out the back door, and the gunsmith began setting his tools out into the alley. After a while, on account of the scarcity of powder, we were forced to discontinue the experiment. But it has opened up a new field for smokeless powders, and Ananias deserves all the credit. All I lost was my hair, but they say singeing takes the dandrnff out of your head, so the only things that can't be replaced without expense are Ananias' tassle and the powder. Yesterday I went up to the insurance man's office and told him I guessed I would take ont a policy.

"'You may be a good guesser,' said he, 'but you have missed it this time; there is a policy shop down street. You had better go down and buy a number with thirteen in it and give it to your wife until after the drawing. We haven't no objections to insuring bridge jumpers and trapeze performers, but there's no room on our books for shell loaders.'

"Then I asked him if he didn't feel as though he should pay for the powder, as it was all set off for his information. He raised an inkstand in a threatening attitude and I turned and left the office. Counting waste and everything, there is not much money in the gun business; it does not pay to be accommodating."

Omaha, Neb.

HAWKS DESTRUCTIVE OF GAME

WILLIAMSBURG, KY.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The legislature of this state does not meet for nearly a year, and yet there is a question in the matter of game protection that should be freely discussed by the sportsmen of this state between now and then, so that our representatives-to-be may be posted in this matter when they are asked to enact a law for the better protection of quails.

We have hawks here in the monntains in the eastern part of Kentucky that kill more quails every year than are killed by onr sportsmen. One is quite a large hawk, the other a small, blue-winged bird, more dangerous aud more destructive than the larger one, because it is swifter on wing and seems to be an untiring hunter, never satisfied. These game destroyers hunt every day in the week, no matter what the weather, and every week in the year, whether it be in the open or close season, consequently they can discount the sportsmen of the state in number of birds destroyed.

I was out hunting last Fall and my setter, Fleet, came to a point. I walked up and flushed the birds and got one on the rise. I marked the bevy down, and they had hardly settled when I saw one of those blue-winged hawks dart down out of an old dry tree right in the midst of the birds. I hastened forward and got within gunshot just in time to save the life of one qnail by killiug the hawk, and I felt that I had doue a good deed, as I always do when I kill one of these game destroyers.

A week or so later Mr. W. Finley aud I were out quail shooting when we saw a hawk nearly as large as a common barnyard fowl sitting in the top of an old dead tree. I told my companion to keep an intervening tree between him and the one on which the hawk was resting and approach it slowly, and I would take another direction and try to get within gunshot by skulking in the weeds and tall grass. Finally my companion got within shooting distance and killed the hawk. It was a monster one and in its craw were the legs of two quails. After satisfying ourselves that the hawk was a more incessant quail hunter than ourselves, we started on in search of birds, and not twenty yards from where Mr. Finley killed the hawk my dog came to a point on a fine bevy of quails.

Now, I want the sportsmeu of this part of Kentucky to help me in getting these facts before the members of our next legislature and see if we cannot get a bill passed offering a bounty of fifty cents or one dollar each for hawk scalps. I know that in the blue-grass section of the state these hawks are not so numerous or destructive of game as in the monntainous portion, because they have not the protection in the open country that they have in the mountains where they rear their young almost unmolested, and if we do not do something to rid our portion of the state of these pests there is little use of enacting laws for the protection of game birds.

Qnails are not very plentiful in this part of Kentucky, but, brother sportsmen, if we can kill off the hawks and stop the work of the trapper we will soon have more birds than we have had for the last ten years. The big hawk is also a destroyer of squirrels, but they are better able to protect themselves and have better natural protection than the quails, and consequently do not snffer to the same extent.

I am informed that some quail trapping is being indulged in by a few in this county, bnt if auyone is canght at this work it will be made expensive business for them; and to this end I stand ready to do all I can to ferret out the guilty parties and bring them to justice.

As to a law beiug passed offering a bounty for hawk scalps, I think if such a law was enacted, giving say a dollar for each scalp presented, the hawks would soon be so thinned out that what few were left would not do much mischief; at least we would not notice their work of destruction as plainly as we do uow. So far as I am individually concerned, law or no law, bounty or no bounty, I am the sworn enemy of these hawks and shall kill them whenever I have a chance.

NICK DANIEL.

GUNS

YORK, NEB.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD: —I was just a little amused at the article written by Pull and published in your issue of June 22, regarding the shooting loose of guns.

One would think from reading his article that the Lefever gun is the only gun that will not shoot loose. We all know the Lefever is a good gun; but some of us know there are other American guns equal to, if not superior to, it in many respects. I have shot in the field a Colt, Ithaca, W. Richards, Lefever, Smith and Parker. I have also targeted the above guns, and to my notion none equal the Parker gun for all-around business, and it does not shoot loose! I know of a number of old hammer guns of this make, and every one of them is as tight and in as good shooting trim to-day as when shipped from the factory. I firmly believe they are the best gun for the money made.

The Lefever is a good gun, but the Parker will equal, if not beat, it every time in an equal contest. I am inclined to favor Mr. L. I. Flower, whom Pull seeks to criticise. Get a hold on those boot straps again, Mr. Pull. JOHN R. PIERSON.

NOTES

MR. FRANK J. AMSDEN, of Rochester, N. Y., has been selected by the New York Association for the Protection of Game and Fish, to make the fight against the Donaldson game law recently signed by Gov. Morton. Section 149 of this law permits the selling of game in New York at all seasons of the year, provided it can be shown that such game was killed or taken not nearer than 300 miles of the state line. As a matter of course, the sportsmen of New York readily see that under such a law the game of New York will soon be exterminated, and that if this were not the case such a law will work great injustice to other states, especially those of the West where game is more plentiful than in the East, and where the better class of sportsmen are endeavoring to have laws enacted that will not only protect the game that now exists, but also increase the supply. Mr. Amsden, speaking recently of the section of the New York law referred to above, said: "If we cannot annul that section it will ultimately exterminate game in New York state, and the effect on Western states will be disastrous, as it opens a market in New York state where poachers can readily rid themselves of game taken out of season. The dangerous parts of the section read thus: 'No person or persons shall be deemed to have violated any law or ordinance by reason of his or their selling, exposing for sale, transporting, or possessing, or attempting to do so, the body or part of the body of any wild animal or bird in the close season for such animal or bird, provided it be proved by him or them by production of proper invoices and freight or express receipts that such wild animal or bird was shipped from a point at least 300 miles distant from the state of New York.' Under this cold storage and freight receipt device the game laws could be continually violated. A man could receive a shipment of 200 head of game from some Western state. He could get a certificate from the cold storage company and then sell out 100 head. A shipment from some poacher in this part of the state could be received and put in the cold storage in the place of the head sold. When the inspector made his rounds he would find the certificates and bill of freight all right. That would be the end of it. This section must be repealed next Winter or our game code is of no value." The law is most unfair, unjust and vicious, and we hope to see such a fight made upon it that its repeal at the next session of the New York legislature will be assured. How any body of legislators could have been hoodwinked into passing such a law surpasses our understanding, but that it was passed and has been signed by Governor Morton is a fact, and now the only thing to be done is to have it repealed at the earliest possible moment,

---

ALBERT LENCK, deputy fish and game warden at Hegewisch, Ill., arrested G. Bonaparte and W. Le Coeur for shooting ducks during the close season, on the Calumet River, and arraigned them before Justice Robins of South Chicago, who fined each $10 and $4 costs. Mr. Lenck says that many young ducks are seen around the Calumet, proving that the strict patroling of that district has kept away gunners and reassured the ducks, there being many which nested in the marshes. He believes if a strict watch is kept over the marshes, which were once vast breeding grounds, during the close season, ducks will return in great numbers. Mr. Lenck also reports that he saw seven wild pigeons near Ben Fogle's place on the Calumet River, the first he has seen in that locality, another evidence of freedom from annoyance by gunners; woodcocks are also multiplying, even during this dry season. A strict enforcement of the law in Illinois would show similar results in other portions; but who is going to pay the wardens to patrol the state? Only a few weeks ago a law-abiding farmer near Fox Lake, Illinois, informed the authorities of the presence of illegal shooters and fishers. Since then his house, barn and several hay stacks have been burned down —and yet the legislators of that state refuse to apply a remedy by enacting a law providing for paid game wardens. The sportsmen's clubs have a big task before the next legislature meets, viz., educating those who oppose a paid game warden system to approve it.

I HAVE a pair of quails that I caught alive last Fall and kept through the Winter. Recently the female escaped from the cage as I was putting in their feed. She took wing and flew over fences, trees and housetops until out of my sight and I thought she had gone for good. Late in the afternoon, however, she came back and allowed herself to be caught and put back in the cage with her mate, and seemed to enjoy getting back into her former quarters. The male bird cannot fly very well, he having been injured in some manner. The female will answer when I whistle but I cannot get a note from the cock bird. When the male bird gets out of the cage he generally leads me a merry chase, for though he cannot fly he runs like a racehorse. Being only a lad I prize my pets very highly.

Bridgeport, Conn. GEO. L. WOLFRAM.

GAME WARDEN MCNEAL of Trumbull County, O., has adopted a novel method by which he is enabled to convict violators of the game and fish laws of his state. He has procured a kodak and when he is satisfied a man is a game or fish law violator he watches his opportunity, conceals himself near where the violation is likely to take place, and then unbeknown to his victim gets a picture of him while in the act of committing the violation, and when he presents the pictnre in evidence there is little need of further testimony, and the violator succumbs without a struggle. His method can be operated more successfully upon illegal fishing than hunting, as he has a much better opportunity to locate his man and get two or three different views. As there is, as yet, no patent on the process, other game wardens might adopt it.

EARLY in March last Mr. C. J. Ashley, at Shanghai, China, shipped sixteen Mongolian pheasants to Mr. E. M. Shelley of Bancroft, Mich. The birds were in transit ninety-nine days, or a little more than three months. Nine of the sixteen, however, reached Detroit safely, but two of them were taken from the cage while in the last named city, therefore Mr. Shelley received less than half of the number originally shipped, but they reached him in good condition and are said to be a fine lot of birds. Mr. Shelley is proprietor of the Phillips House at Bancroft, and believes that the Mongolian pheasant will flourish in his section of the country and, in a few years, afford some fine shooting for sportsmen.

PRAIRIE chickens and quails are doing finely, and most of the young prairie chickens are larger than old quails now. There being no snow last Winter increased the number of old birds to hatch. There were five thousand prairie chicken traps set within five miles of this village last Winter and I do not think that there were five birds trapped all Winter. Whenever there is lots of snow through the Winter the farmers reap a harvest trapping prairie chickens. We think the game commissioners' attention should be called to this.

Lutan, Ia. I. & W.

THE State Fish, Game and Forest Commission of New York, says President Davis, has concluded to free the deer that have been confined in the seventy-eight acre park in the Catskill Mountains. This is made necessary because the park does not furnish sufficient food to keep them in prime condition. The half-tame deer will be set free near the mountain house and the others in the wilder regions of the Catskills.

THE Kergo Park Club of Utica, N. Y., has just been incorporated under the general laws of New York. It is the purpose of this club to acquire a tract of land in the Adirondack Mountains and to maintain it as a hunting and fishing preserve for its members. The trustees of the club are Geo. Martin, J. W. Howarth, N. F. Martin and John E. Morgan.

DR. E. J. MILLER of Parker, S. D., writes us tha at the present time the prospects are good for pretty fair prairie chicken shooting in his section the coming Fall. He says that they had no prairie fires last Spring, there was little or no trapping done last Winter and that even now quite a good many birds, old and young, can be found.

IDAHO has appropriated $2,000 for introducing Mongolian pheasants into that state. Now if the state will afford native game birds and animals equal protection during the close season, it will long remain a choice resort for sportsmen, enriching the state accordingly and keeping money in circulation.

FOR many years the AMERICAN FIELD [illegible] regular and welcome visitor, but I think [illegible] ber pleased me best of all on account of [illegible] ment in the typographical makeup of [illegible] leaded lines and the plain, legible ty[illegible] for weak eyes. I hope the change [illegible]

DEN HUR.

AFTER quite a lively contest for the position, Mr. John L. Ockley of Penn Yan, N. Y., has been appointed fish, game and forestry protector in his district, with a salary of $500 a year and $450 additional for expenses.

THE Crescent Arms Company of Norwich, Conn., is perfecting a new gun, called the "Triumph." A new cocking device is claimed as one of the features, and in shape it is patterned after the Lancaster gun.

Hunting

FIXTURES

Brunswick Fur Club's annual foxhound trials, October 28, ——. B. S. Turpin, secretary.

Dixie Red Fox Club's first annual meet, Rowland, Ala., October —. J. H. Wallatce Jr., secy.-treasurer.

National Fox-Hunters' Association's second annual meet, Owingsville, Ky., November 18, etc. H. L, Means, secretary.

RAPPAHANOCK JACK

BY GEO. P. H. RECTOR

It is just two and a half years since the grand chase in which old Rappahannock Jack gained the title of the "Marshal Ney" of the Marshall-Rector pack; the bravest of the brave.

Old Jack came from Fauquier County, Virginia; he was some seven years old when the writer brought him out here for Mr. George Marshall, who resides at Smith's Station, Miss., and who, although a large planter in the alluvial lands of the Big Black, is a thorough sportsman, loving the cry of a pack of foxhounds above all other music. Old Jack's speed and ability as a red fox hound had been somewhat impaired ere this by his having injured one of his shoulders in a great run on the Rappahannock Mountains; he had run against a tree when in sight of a gallant red dog fox, which he caught, in spite of this accident, before it could reach its den among the inaccessible rocks of those grand old mountains.

At the time of the chase I am writing about old Jack had had another misfortune in the way of a railroad accident, in which he had suffered severely in this same shoulder, and the old fellow was suffering so much that we determined to leave him at home that morning, hence he was blocked and left in a well-inclosed yard. An hour after we had left Smith's Station on our hunt, Mr. Marshall's kennelman turned the old fellow loose, thinking that after so long an absence of ourselves and the pack the old fellow with his disabled shoulder would be content to rest at ease at home. But the kennelman did not know the game blood that flowed in this old fellow's veins, nor of his wonderful intelligence and love of the chase, for no sooner had the manacles been taken from him than the grand old hound took our trail and followed on after us on three legs.

It was past 12 o'clock in the day when, after five hours of hard hunting, old Rally, my game old Walker hound, "opened" up on a very, very cold trail in a pine thicket just five miles from our starting point. The trail was so very cold that I did not think it possible at first to do anything with it, but Buck and Rose, coming to old Rally's aid, soon worked the trail down into a cane thicket that bordered on a creek where there was more moisture and a better scent, and where little Bulger, our little beagle, took up the trail with all his characteristic, energy and eagerness, and in ten minutes after he opened on the trail the fox was up.

Frankie and Grover, Dick, Mack and Jock—the two former from Bracken County, Kentucky, and the last three from Fauquier County—all five being only twelve months old, ran off from the rest of the pack but soon came to a dead loss. They had outrun the fox, which had squatted in a cane and brier thicket, and these ambitious youngsters, each trying to surpass the other, had gone a half mile beyond the fox and were at a dead loss.

This was a new country to Mr. Marshall and myself and we had great difficulty in reaching this part of the pack. In the meantime, however, Buck, Rose, Rally and Dinah were coming along on the trail that the puppies had run over. Guided by these we soon reached the point of difficulty, and after the old hounds had come upon the scene we all stood there on a hill in a sagefield, interspersed with cane [illegible] a state of utter confusion; when Tom [illegible] young Virginia hound, opened up in a ravine [illegible] by cane and briers and tall sagegrass. [illegible] had hardly time to reach us we were only [illegible] yards distant—when Bulger in fierce and emphatic notes told us that this fox was up again, and, before we had time to express an opinion about this new order of [illegible] fox, a big gray, ran out of the cane [illegible] our horses' bridles.

[illegible] scene indescribable. It was a [illegible] fifteen young hounds of the best blood [illegible] Kentucky, with five old regulars, fell pellmell on this hot scent that was breast high and which seemed to impart new life into everything (the old hounds now became puppies and the huntsman, one of whom had passed sixty years, again became boys). Now came the tug of war between Grover and Frankie, Mr. Marshall's Bracken County pets (for the old man himself had been bred in that county and had known this blood for forty years), and my F. F. V.'s, Mack, Jock and Dick. These three youngsters had been bred in Fauquier County, Va., my old home, and they came from the loins of Dinah and Cash; their ancestry was unimpeachable, and there had never been a failure in this family. I was mounted on Peacock, my little roan hunter; he was out of a Texas mare and by a thoroughbred Kentucky horse, was only four years old, had never known fatigue, and loved the chase as much as his rider. Mr. Marshall was mounted on a thoroughbred Kentucky mare that had no limit either to speed or staying qualities, and he was a rider as fearless as the young Irish hunters described in Charles O'Malley.

Mr. Marshall and myself were together when the pack passed, and it was a question of only a length as to Frankie, Grover, Dick and Jock. The race was so hotly contested hat it was only a question of a turn as to which of these four should have the track. Just at this crucial time, and when the race had been on about thirty minutes, a new actor appeared upon the scene; it was old Jack, with his left foreleg in a sling (if I may be permitted to use the expression), and on three legs the gallant old fellow joined in the race; he had just overtaken us. Forgetting his maimed leg, he went into this race; and I never in all my experience as a fox-hunter saw a more terrible fight than this old fellow made between physical grief and love of the chase. When he first joined in he carried his maimed leg and ran on the three sound ones, but the chase became so interesting he forgot his maimed leg and put "all fours" to work, and the closing of this hotly contested run he, on a "double," got right behind Reynard and was within four feet of him when he went into a sink hole.

There is a moral to this chase, and it is this: A foxhound that is properly bred needs no excuses, nor does it become necessary for his owner or breeder to plead conditions, etc., of which your paper has so many. Old Jack, Cash and Rally and Bulger would take a fox as quickly on the Assyrian deserts as they would among their native hills of Virginia and Tennessee, and the weather was never too hot or too cold for this brave quartet; and yet little Bulger is only a beagle.

Vicksburg, Miss.

NOTES

THE abbreviated account, which we read lately in the British Fancier and give below, of a very long run in the north of England, probably with the Coniston or one of the Cumberland packs, bears a close resemblance to a description of some of the long chases experienced by fox-hunters in certain parts of the southern states when an unusually stout-hearted red fox puts the courage and stamina of the pack to a severe test; a chase lasting nine hours is certainly well worth recording, though very long runs are not uncommon in the northwest of England, but we decline to believe that any pack of hounds could cover over a hundred miles in nine hours in such a rough mountainous country: "The foxes of the hill country are of the 'greyhound' variety, and are endowed with great powers of speed and endurance—much more so than the covert-fed ones of the South and Midlands. And this, perhaps, is one of the reasons why, in the North, comparatively few foxes are killed in the legitimate fashion. One remarkable run may be described by way of illustration. It lasted upward of nine hours, and the distance covered must have been over a hundred miles. The chase began about noon, and at six in the evening, when Reynard was believed to be exhausted, he again made for the hills, when both fox and hounds were lost to the hunters. At nine the hounds were heard returning the way they had gone, and were still in full cry By this time half the pack had fallen off; and the echoes that rang among the mountains in the moonlit night as the hounds passed and repassed through the gorges were magnificent. Soon the prolonged deep baying of the hounds was changed to short sharp barks—a sure indication that the hounds were viewing their game. In a short time all [illegible] perhaps, ended the life of the [illegible] on the fells. The hounds re[illegible] torn faces that Reynard, even [illegible] ght desperately. Most of the pack were lost or exhausted, and did not return until next day; one, completely worn out, crawled from the hills in a week, and three were found to be cragfast. Rescuing these is always a dangerous business, and on this occasion it was performed by a party of shepherds with the aid of ropes."

THE article in your valuable journal of June 22 from P. H. Bryson is both instructive and amusing. But I fear he does injustice to a class of fox-hunters who hunt only for the sport and who never write for the press. Within my acquaintance are several men who keep and run foxhounds and who never sold one in their lives, though they have bought a good many. They hunt together for mutual enjoyment, and any one of them will implicitly take the statement of the others as to which hound did the best work or was ahead during a run. They care not to run their hounds with any they can beat, but will take great pains and trouble to meet with those that can outrun theirs, for then they have a chance to improve their hounds and benefit their packs. This may or may not be the proper spirit for genuine fox-hunting, but they certainly enjoy it and have a good time with each other, and they are frequently successful in catching a "red."

Americus, Ga. M. B. COUNCIL.

MR. JOSEPH SMITH of Guelph, Ont., has been so unlucky as to lose two-thirds of a litter of nine recently whelped by his English foxhound bitch Vexation, owing to the bitch (she seems to be aptly named) having very little milk. The litter was sired by the Toronto Hunt's imported stallion hound Grafton Jimerack. We are sorry to hear of Mr. Smith's bad luck, and hope he will see to it that a foster mother is at hand on the next occasion. There is an old saw to the effect that a fool carries his umbrella every day, and of course every now and then he has cause to congratulate himself that such is his custom. It is much the same with foster mothers. No one arranges for a foster mother every time one of his bitches is to whelp—except for a bitch that has proved a poor milker—but every now and then the occasion arises when any old mongrel foster mother would be very acceptable.

AFTER spending twenty-five years in the hunting field I have retired from the business by selling my entire outfit, including all my hounds, kennel fixtures, cuts, catalogs and good will, to Messrs. G. S. White & Co. of West Fork, Ark. Mr. White is one of the oldest hunters and breeders in the South and had a fine kennel of hounds before buying mine. He and his partner will make a specialty of the Cook strain and breed a full pack of the near descendants of Champion Brave. It will be remembered that Champion Brave won sixty-six prizes without a defeat: this included such shows as New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Lexington. Mr. White is publishing a book on the foxhound which will be out at an early date.

Orchard Lake, Mich. H. E. COOK.

Fish and Fishing

FIXTURES

Chicago Fly Casting Club's open-to-the-world tournament, August 24. F. B. Davidson, secretary.

TEN DAYS ON LITTLE CUMBERLAND.

BY EMMETT BOSTICK.

Under the tall and lofty pines,
As the smoke from our campfire spread,
Came the lonesome notes of a whip-poor-will
While the evening shadows fled.
And not a picture has an artist sketched
This life in its nature true;
Many have tried with the brush, far and wide,
To give camp life its justice due.

Speaking of pleasant Summer outings and genuine old camp life, the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD should have been along with the "Jonah Birds." It was twelve days ago that we left Atlanta for Little Cumberland Island, our party consisting of Mr. D. S. Paul, alias "Doc," G. A. Spencer, alias "Oklahoma Bill," Phillip Dudley Wilson, alias "Beau Brummel" our colored chef, Dorsey, better known as "Trilby," and last but not least, the writer, "Jonah Bird."

It took us fully two days to get together our paraphernalia, which consisted of such things as frying-pans, provisions, shotguns, rifles, blankets, tent, etc. After packing them away in the baggage car and taking our seats in the sleeper, we were soon headed for Brunswick, Ga., the city by the sea. On our arrival there early the next morning, we transferred our traps to the steamer and then enjoyed a delightful breakfast at the Oglethorpe Hotel, and afterward went aboard the steamer and were soon off for our destination.

Little Cumberland, as everybody in Georgia knows, is situated off the coast of Brunswick about eighteen miles, and lies between the famous Jekyl Island and Big Cumberland, being separated only by a small inlet and marsh, and is better known as the little sister of Big Cumberland. This island is also the danger signal and guide to "ships that pass in the night," and is looked forward to with great joy by the poor, worn-out sailors who watch for the glimmering light and picture to themselves a feast on land once more. It was from this island, so the story was told to me, that years ago one of the keepers of the lighthouse had a son who often made trips from the lighthouse to Brunswick in a small sailboat to see his sweetheart; and, though the water at times is quite rough in St. Andrew's Sound, yet the young Lochinvar was quite successful and always landed safely on the other shore until, one day, bent on an engagement with his fair one, he attempted to make the trip under a strong wind while the waves were tossing at a furious rate; but go he would, and all persuasion to remain was of no avail. So he set out to sea while his father watched from the lighthouse, with anxious eye, the little boat as it struggled manfully against the dashing billows. Hardly had it gotten under good headway before a heavy wave swallowed it and it disappeared from view, and up to the present time the boy has never returned; and it is whispered at night by the sighing of the pine trees that he is flirting with the mermaids at the bottom of the sea.

It did not take us long to reach Big Cumberland, and after getting our things on shore we hired a sailboat to convey us to Little Cumberland, where we selected a high bluff which overlooked the sound, and pitched our tent. Each man was given different duties to perform, in order that we might save time, as it was growing late and we were anxious to complete our camp before dark. Doc was assigned to unpacking the provisions, dishes, etc.; Oklahoma Bill, being an expert tent pitcher, was, of course, expected to master that art; Beau Brummel was supplied with a rake to gather pine straw for our beds; Trilby, the cook, was busy collecting a sufficient supply of wood for the night; and the writer was appointed to the delightful position of water carrier, over a distance of three-quarters of a mile. There was no use, however, to complain of likes and dislikes, so everybody got to work and in a very short time we had our tent supplied with everything and were soon lounging around, watching the blue smoke of our camp fire making its way through the massive pines, while the inner man was craving for just a bite of that good, old ham frying in the pan. The coffee pot was singing "Sweet Marie," and the smell of those fried onions, as it was wafted out on the still, salt air, certainly made one wonder if there was ever such a thing as dyspepsia.

Trilby soon announced supper and the reader should have seen us devour everything in sight. From the way things disappeared it looked as if we would have to send back to Brunswick for more provisions. Never in all my life have I seen a man with such an appetite as Beau Brummel. He would hold the coffee pot in one hand, a cup in the other, and drink away as if he was killing circus lemonade.

After supper, all being pretty well tired out, after a few hands of seven up, we called time and turned into bed; and oh, that sleep! A light shower came up during the night and to hear the rain pattering on the roof of our tent was enough to rock any baby to sleep. I simply listened for a few minutes, pulled my blanket higher about my head, and was soon lost in the arms of Morphens. I did not know the hour, but it seemed to me that it was late in the night, when I was awakened by Oklahoma Bill, calling "get up, everybody, for we are going to have fish for breakfast." I got up, looked out, and saw that it was just getting light, so by the time we got our fishing tackle and bait ready it was good daylight and we pulled out in our boats, Doc and Beau in one, and Oklahoma and myself in the other. We got well out in the sound and were not long in getting a good supply of fish for breakfast. We returned to camp with six nice sheepsheads, two sea bass, which weighed about three pounds each, and several croakers. Trilby soon had them dancing in the frying-pan, and while breakfast was being cooked we went down to the beach and had a delightful dip in the surf. Although the beach is not as fine as that of Big Cumberland, yet it was nice enough for us, for we had a great advantage over many surf bathers; our bathing suits were very light, being the natural flesh trimmed in atmosphere, and we were never compelled to walk back to our tent in a barrel. We returned to camp just in time to enjoy a good, hot breakfast, and it goes without saying that it was appetizing.

During the hot mornings we would lounge around under the pines, or go up into the lighthouse where we always found a delightful breeze. Every night we took a walk down the beach in search of a sea turtle, but never had any luck on account of it being too late in the season. We had lots of fun shooting plovers, marshhens and seagulls, and in the inlet we would occasionally get a shot at an alligator. The beach is always covered with beautiful shells, and we collected some very pretty ones.

On the third day we had the best luck of the trip in catching fish. We started out early in the morning with plenty of bait, rigged up the sailboat and sailed around the island to where the inlet runs into the sound. There we anchored and put out our lines. Oklahoma and myself were out for large fish only, while Doc and Beau pulled in anything that would bite, and it was not long, either, before they were hauling them in at a rapid rate. Pretty soon our time came and Oklahoma got a fine strike and landed a nice channel bass which weighed about thirteen pounds. I got the next big strike and landed a fine sheepshead of about five pounds. We fished all day up to three o'clock, and on counting our catch at the landing we had 220, four being bass, about twenty-five sheepsheads, and the rest croakers, whitings, spot tails and two speckled trout. We kept the bass and sheepsheads for our own use and gave the rest to some negroes who were fishing near by for the Big Cumberland Hotel. We had several more days of good fishing, but none to equal this one.

We certainly spent ten days very pleasantly on Little Cumberland and have returned home much tanned but feeling like three-year-olds, and if there is enough money in the hands of the treasurer next Summer, the "Jonah Birds" can be counted in for another outing.

Atlanta, Ga.

TROUTING AT BLAKESLEY LAKE

EUSTIS, ME.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—A rather lukewarm sportsman once said to me: "Show me the place where I can catch plenty of trout on the fly, and where at the same time be fairly comfortable, and you will have my lasting gratitude." I took him to Douglass and Emery's Camp, on Blakesley Lake, some fifteen miles from Eustis, Me., and now he is an ardent fisherman and my friend for life. If there be any others like him, let them listen to my little story and give me a chance to gain them as friends, too.

My own experience has been that my maiden trout fishing trip was delayed several years by the contemplation of the discomforts I would have to undergo, and no doubt this has been a deterring element with many. This letter is for the benefit of such, for I have found a place where rest, recreation, trout and comfort all can be had.

We left Boston at 9 a. m., having bought a ticket to Eustis, Me., and return, via Carrabasset, total cost thirteen dollars. Portland was reached at noon, with time for a good dinner there, and then a three-hour ride brought us to Farmington, where the regular railroad was left for a narrow gauge. This change was a pleasant one. The engines on the line burn wood and, instead of the heat, dust and cinders of the other road, we ran through the cool woodland, up and down surprising grades, and the odor of the wood burning in the powerful little locomotive was in keeping with the region, bringing to one's mind the cheerful campfire. At Strong we changed for Carrabasset, time was taken for supper, and then, after a splendid night drive, the stage rolled into Eustis about ten o'clock.

We stayed over night at the hotel, and awoke the next morning to take the buckboard for Blakesley Camp, some fifteen miles into the mountains. The road, though as rough as the proverbial buckboard road, is softened by the splendid scenery and beautiful brooks and lakes which we passed reluctantly as we thought of the speckled beauties hidden in the deep springs and pools.

We arrived at the camp by supper time, having stopped for dinner at Deer Pond, and as the cheerful, cozy cabins met our eyes the world and its cares were forgotten.

The next morning found us ready for the trout. The stream and lake fishing here is very fine. The trout in the streams run about seven to eight inches in length, but make up in fighting and gameness what they lack in size, for an eight-inch trout, in swift water, gives great sport; and when we (two of us) caught a hundred or more we did not hesitate, being amateurs, to hug each other in joy and astonish the deep stillness of the forest with delighted shouts.

Our best success in brook fishing has been with the red ibis, Jenny Lind, and professor flies; while, in the lakes, where we have had splendid sport, hooking two and even three at once, we found Parmachene belle, Jenny Lind and silver doctor the best. The white miller, for dusk fishing and dark days, gave good results.

The signs of bear and deer were very plentiful, and the noise made by "drummers" indicated the usual good partridge shooting this Fall. We saw two large bucks and four does on the evening of June 7.

Blakesley Lake, on the other side of Spencer Brook, is alive with trout at all times. During the evening of June 7, while fishing there, my companion using Jenny Lind, Parmachene belle and silver doctor and I using Parmachene belle, red ibis and professor flies, it seemed as though the trout were holding a caucus around our boat. We had a pearl spoonhook dangling from the back of the boat which was greedily grabbed by a big trout. Just as my friend turned around to haul him in, two fishes struck his flies, and he excitedly called to me:

"Take my rod!"

Just as I was about to do so a trout helped himself to my Parmachene in spite of me. We had four fishes to keep us on the jump. Finally they were laid quivering and sparkling on the bottom of the boat, and the satisfaction and the pleasure repaid us for the entire trip. A gentleman who has cast the fly in almost all our Eastern waters made the remark: "The trout Blakesley Pond lie in wait and fight for the flies, while in some other places he knew of the 'lying in weight' and 'fighting the flies' was all done by the fisherman himself."

The proprietors of the camp here are splendid companions, intelligent, sociable and pleasant. They are full of original expressions, and their adjectives and similes are "woodsy." One of their expressions, which particularly amused me, was: "Pessle it to 'em," when urging me to hook a trout that had come after my flies three times. Their anecdotes, from their years of guiding and fishing, are highly amusing; and when heard before a bright, cozy log fire the cares of the outer world fade away.

The fare in camp is superb; and such delicious coffee! And, as for the beds, they are second to none; and, as we were lulled to sleep the first night, the rush of Old Spencer stream, on the high bank of which the camp is situated, was peaceful and sweet indeed.

B. VAN M. LA RUE.

A FISHING EXPERIENCE AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, TEX.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—About four weeks ago the Santa Fé Railroad landed me at its southern terminus, Galveston Island, Texas. I wandered across the island and found the Gulf coast, a large hotel and bath houses. I took a saltwater bath every day of my stay.

I heard that redfish were biting, and saw a negro with one which was three feet long. I examined his line, hooks and bait, and then called on Mr. Stewart and bought 200 yards of tarpon linen line, rigged it up with three hooks, a quarter-pound lead sinker and floats near each hook to keep the bait from the bottom. Finding myself very sleepy I took a sleep which lasted one whole day and a night.

Early the next morning, with a basket of shrimps, I went to a rock breakwater, threw out my line, took a seat and watched the sun as it rose from the ocean. I had a bite, pulled in a redfish two feet long, baited up again, made a long cast and let the outgoing tide carry out my line about a hundred yards.

Then I sat down, and as I felt very sleepy again tied my line to my foot, lit a cigar and went to nodding and wishing I was away from this sleepy climate.

I must have slept some time before the line pulled my foot, and what a bite that was! I hauled in the slack and found I had a big one. To my astonishment the line rose into the air, I looked up and beheld a bird as big as a goose. It pulled and I held on. What was to be done? I could not pull him down as the line was not strong enough.

I had my .38-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver, and if I could only hit him and knock him down he was mine. The first shot knocked some feathers out of a wing, the next missed, and there were only three more; allowing for the wind I held high and a few more feathers flew. I then tried to tire him out, but I believe he could have stayed up there for a month. I tried another shot, the line fell into the water, and the pelican flew off with my sinker, floats and hooks. I was tired out, so I wound up my line, took my redfish and returned to the hotel.

I hope to try it again, but before I do I intend to take three good days' sleep and will carry along my .32-caliber Marlin rifle to keep away the pelicans.

I can recommend Galveston Island as a fine place for sleeping and good red snapper fishing. The Santa Fé Railroad runs Pullman cars right through Galveston, and traverse as fine a hunting and fishing country as can be found anywhere. I saw there had been considerable change since my last visit to Galveston; rooms and board have been reduced in price to very near the rates of Northern cities.

ALMO.

THE CHICAGO FLY CASTING CLUB

The regular bi-weekly medal contest [illegible] Fly Casting Club was held last Satur[illegible] North Garfield Park, there being a go[illegible] members and interested spectator[illegible] are those who scored 80% in the diff[illegible]

Dry Fly Casting, 5½ ounce rods and under: F. B. Davidson, 94⅓%, winning medal; J. E. Strong 93⅓%, J. M. Clark 89%, G. W. Strell 88%, F. N. Peet 84⅓%.

Distance and Accuracy, 8½ ounce rods and under: J. E. Strong, 94%, winning medal; J. M. Clark 93⅓%, F. B. Davidson 91%, G. W. Strell 91⅓%, Osgood 88⅓%, F. N. Peet 80%.

Long Distance Fly Casting: J. E. Strong, 62 feet, winning medal; F. B. Davidson, J. M. Clark, G. W. Strell, F. N. Peet, H. D. Osgood, Peck, Hillis, Milnor and others being discomfited by the wind.

Bait Casting for Distance and Accuracy: F. N. Peet won the medal on an average, five casts, of .97 feet, the following all falling under that: F. B. Davidson (handicap 42 feet, although just previous to contest he made an average of 171 2-5 feet in practice;) J. M. Clark, G. W. Strell, J. E. Strong. The conditions were not favorable for good work.

On account of the Fourth the next contest will be held Saturday, July 20, instead of July 6, at the usual place.

Secretary F. B. Davidson will send on application advance programs of the open tournament to be given by the club Saturday, August 24. He requests us to state that he would like to hear from members of different clubs and anglers generally. His address is 125 West Washington Street, Chicago. The club intends making the tournament popular by giving championship medals for the different events, and making the events sweepstake contests, so everyone will have some show. Particulars will be announced soon. Every fly and bait caster is invited to participate.

NOTES

THE following information of interest to anglers contemplating trips to Wisconsin and Michigan has been furnished us by Mr. W. B. Kniskern, the general passenger and ticket agent of the Chicago & North-Western Railway: Eagle River, Wis.—A chain of twenty lakes can be reached from this station, fishing commencing within a short distance of the depot. Fishing is excellent at present; mascalonge are biting well, a number weighing from fifteen to twenty-six pounds having been caught within the last few days. Pickerel and wall-eyed pike are also being taken in large numbers. Gillett, Wis.—There are a number of small lakes within two or three miles of this station which abound in pickerel and bass. Kelly Lake, about twelve miles distant, is also a good fishing resort. Little River, seven miles from Gillett, is an excellent trout stream. Teams and good hotel accommodations can be had. Gogebic, Mich.—Excellent black bass fishing is reported from Gogebic Lake. On the morning of June 13 ten black bass weighing thirty-seven pounds were caught there. When the water lowers fishing will be much improved. Green Lake, Wis.—Parties visiting this resort will be reasonably certain of good fishing. A number of large scores have been made. Manitowish and Mercer, Wis.—A number of large catches have been made this season, and all who have visited the fishing grounds in this vicinity have been more than satisfied with their success. The present prospects for fishing are very favorable. Pratt Junction and Pelican, Wis.—Pelican and Post lakes are excellent fishing grounds. Post Lake, about four miles from Pratt Junction, furnishes good bass, wall-eyed pike and mascalonge fishing. There is no hotel at the lake but conveyances can be secured at Pratt Junction, where there are good hotel accommodations. Boats can be rented at the lake. A hotel is located at Pelican, one mile from Pelican Lake. A catch of 130 pounds of wall-eyed pike and pickerel, in two and a half hours, is reported from this lake. Rhinelander, Wis.—Bass are biting well in all the lakes in this vicinity. A few days ago eighty Oswego bass, averaging two pounds apiece, were caught in Tamarack Lake. Mascalonge are biting fairly well, although no large catchos have as yet been reported. State Line, Wis.—There are a large number of lakes in this vicinity, in all of which mascalonge and black bass are biting well. A catch of 202 black bass in three days, by a party of Chicago gentlemen, is reported from Bent Brothers' resort. The mascalonge fishing at Lake Vieux Desert is excellent, a number of large catches having been made of fishes which weighed from fifteen to twenty-nine pounds each. Three Lakes, Wis.—The fishing in this vicinity is much better than in previous years. Ex-Governor Grant, of Colorado, a few days ago caught a mascalonge weighing thirty-four pounds. A number of other large catches of mascalonge are reported, as well as some large black bass scores, ninety-eight bass having been caught in one day by a Chicago gentleman. Watersmeet, Mi[illegible] bass fishing are both excellent in this [illegible] 100 bass were caught there recently, in [illegible] of which weighed over three pounds each. [illegible] weighing four pounds. It is expected that within the next thirty days a wagon road will be constructed from Watersmeet to Thousand Island Lake, a distance of twelve miles. This will open up additional excellent fishing grounds. Suitable conveyances can be obtained for those who desire to visit there. Woodruff, [illegible] bass fishing is good in this vicinity. A catch of four mascalonge, averagiug iu weight from ten to twenty-five ponnds each, and twenty-two bass and wall-eyed pike in three and a half days' fishing, is reported. Snrely the Chicago angler who has short time for an outing can find a desirable location iu this list, aud can be indulging iu his favorite sport the next day after leaving home.

THE anglers of the eastern states are having their fill of sport. Saltwater fishermen have been having grand luck with bluefish, weakfish and many other varieties, and last week the kingfish eommenced running. Anglers were fearful these fishes were nearly exterminated, as few have been caught with rod and line for the past few years. But they have returned, as the striped bass did. these two varieties having been decimated to a greater extent than any others by the netters. In Maine the trout season is at its prime. On Thursday, June 13, Miss Crosby (Fly Rod) took from Greely Pond thirty-one trout in thirty minutes; and two days previous one of two and a half pounds. At Chain of Ponds, on the Megantic Preserve, Judge Garretson, of New York, in one hour took a trout and three "lakers" that weighed twenty-two and three-quarters pounds. At the Upper Dam, Richardson, a party from Lewiston in one day caught forty-three trout that weighed twenty-four pounds after being dressed. And many more fine catches are reported. In Pennsylvania bass fishing is great. On the Susquehanna, at Peach Bottom and Fite's Eddy, anglers have been making fine catches. At the former place George Strode and W. Shaw, from West Chester, caught eighty-seven bass in three days last week. The bass are of good size, too, few less than one pound, and a good many were three and four pounder. In New Jersey some of the fishermen are having great sport also with bass, pickerel, perch and other varieties. At Culver's Lake last week four Newark anglers caught a lot of fine bass. Mr. Julius Steffens got one of five and a half pounds, Mr. J. Ifiland and Mr. C. J. Charles each took a four pounder, and the party caught many smaller ones during the two days they were there. The afternoon of June 19 Oscar Hesse—the game and trap shot—and Milliard F. Cromwell had a novel fishing match at McClee's Creek, opposite Fair Haven, N. J. The conditions were that they were to sit in the same boat and fish for three hours, each using the line and the kind of bait he wished. Cromwell drew the privilege of sitting in the stern, but he caught no fish, while Hesse landed five fine weakfish.

New York. KNICKERBOCKER.

MR. E. G. HARRISON, from Cincinnati, accompanied by Mr. W. Garret of this city, spent June 16 at Aransas Pass and Rockport, and took a whirl at the tarpon. Mr. Garret was so fortunate as to land the first tarpon that made a strike, but Mr. Harrison was not so fortunate, as he lost two very fine ones, and all he got for his day's fishing was a five-foot shark. Mr. Harrison says he is going baek to get his fish if he has to eome all the way from Cincinnati to do it. At present there must be at least seventy-five to one hundred sportsmen at the Pass, landing tarpons daily. Among them are several ladies from the North that are expert fisherwomen, and several of them have added a tarpon to their trophies. Fishing is getting better every day, and the weather is delightful at Aransas Pass at this time of the year; Atlantie City or Manhattan Beach are not in it for good bathing and fishing. Bathing is out of sight on Mustang and St. Joe islands. These are just the places for some of our overworked brothers from the North to go to for a good rest and at the same time have a good time. One great trouble with our Northern Summer resorts is that people that go to them are worn out more afterward than when they went, on account of having had too good a time with the hops, malt and eorn juice. No one will find it so here; but everyone gets good square meals and good outdoor recreation, and does not have to go into a hot, stuffy ballroom to enjoy himself. If anyone doubts this let him eome to Aransas Pass and see for himself, and if he has no tarpon outfit, call on me and I will let him have one to use while here free of charge, and will be only too glad to accommodate.

San Antonio, Tex. L. F. M.

LAST Fall the New Hampshire State Fish Commissioners made an exchange with the Maine State Fish Commissioners [illegible] 0,000 golden trout eggs for [illegible] ggs. Of the latter every egg [illegible] perfect fish. a most remark- [illegible] planted in the Connecticut [illegible] ampshire.

ALBERT LENCK, deputy game and fish warden at Hegewisch, Ill., arrested during the past few weeks, for seining in the Calumet River, W. Bush, G. Nieman and A. Greenfeld, and for spearing fish in the same river, E. Hansinger and Ch. Goesinger. Justice Foley of South Chieago fined each $10, and $3 costs.

Natural History

THE REPTILES AND BATRACHIANS OF MICHIGAN—NO. 21

BY MORRIS GIBBS

Batrachians

When this series of articles was begun it was intended to give only an annotated list of the serpents of the state. The list was continued through the lizards and turtles; and uow, from the interest manifested, the writer has decided to embrace the batraehians. Strictly speaking, batrachians are not reptiles, and are not so considered by scientists, as the habits and development, espccially when yonug, together with their peculiar metamorphosis, distingnish these often-called naked-skinned reptiles from the true scaly-skinned or horny-skiuned reptiles, snch as the tnrtles and snakes. This explanation is further made necessary by reason of the critical readers who may wonder why the batrachians were not given at the first and in order, as they are classed in modern works.

The word batrachian eomes from the Greek, and means pertaining to the frog. Some object to the word, as many of the creatnres of the class have tails throughout life. Perhaps the word amphibian is fully as appropriate, as it means having a double life, and is more directly applicable to all. The readers of the AMERICAN FIELD surely have noticed that these articles have bnt rarely touched upon strictly scientific points, being mainly devoted to a popular form of description. This principle will be adhered to; but a few lines may now be devoted to the relation betweeu fishes and the lower reptiles which so nearly approach the fishes in some conditions of life. Professor Owen describes the transition from fishes to reptiles with a clearness which can be given best in his words. He says:

"All vertebrates during more or less of their developmental life-period float in a liquid of similar specific gravity to themselves. A large proportion, eonstitutiug the lowest organized and first developed forms of this province, exist and breathe iu water and are called fishes. Of these a few retain the primitive vermiform condition, and develop no limbs; iu the rest they are 'fins' of simple form, moving by one joint npon the body, rarely adapted for any other fnnction than the impulse or guidance of the body through the water." Further on he says: "Many fishes have a bladder of air between the digestive eanal and the kidneys, which in some communieates with an air-duct and the gullet; bnt its office is ehiefly hydrostatic. When on the rise of strncture this air bladder begins to assnme the vaseular and pharyngeal relations with the form and eellnlar structure of lungs, the limbs acqnire the character of feet; at first, threadlike and many jointed, as in the Lepidosiren; then bifurcate, or two-fingered, with the elbow and wrist joints of land animals, as in Amphiuma; next three-fingered, as in Proteus, or four-fingered, but redneed to the peetoral pair, as in Siren."

Aside from many differences from the reptiles in anatomical strncture, habits, etc., batrachains possess oue marked variation from reptilian life in that they possess gills* in their earlier existenee, and by this means of respiration approach closely to the fishes in their habits of life. Some of these animals retain their gills throughout life aud are therefore truly amphibious dnring their entire existence. Some of the best representatives of a donble life occasionally lose their gills by accident or injury, and though given to an aquatie life have to ehange their manner of breathing, giving up aquatic respiration and inhaling air iuto their lungs. This peculiarity will be spoken of farther when we reach the Necturus. Bnt most species in this class, as the frogs, toads and most of the tailed amphibians, are only gilled when young, and at a certain stage they drop their gills and depend npon their lungs. This is a well-known eondition in the tadpole, whieh changes its mode of life and respiration when it transforms to a frog or toad.

A word In regard to these gills In batrachians. They may be either external or internal, and, nsnally, the former. Visible gills are outside of the skin and are not attached to the branehial arehes in those species which have both gills and luugs throughout life. Bnt with the early life of the frog, that is, the tadpole, the gills grow ont from the branchial arches as in the fishes, therefore, practically, when young frogs breathe like the fishes.

Amphibious animals are found throughout the globe excepting within the coldest parts of the earth and in salt water. I am not aware that any batrachiaus are to be found about salt water. The skin of batrachians is well supplied with glands which secrete a glutinous, usually whitish secretion. This secretiou is, so far as I am able to learn, acrid, and said to be sometimes poisonous, and, nndoubtedly, serves a purpose of defense against the enemies of these otherwise unprotected creatures.

The skeletal featnres are marked and worthy of observation. In particular, the peculiarities of the bony framework of the frog and toad are noticeable. Among other oddities is the absence of ribs in the frogs and toads. In breathing an adult frog or toad draws air into the mouth, and, then, shutting off the escape of air, it contracts the month and throat spaces aud forces the air into the lungs. This being the process, it follows that a frog would die if its mouth were kept open for a length of time.

There are more of these amphibious animals in the world than are generally known, and figures would surprise the ordinary reader both as to the euumeration of species as well as to the approximation of the number as a whole. Lonis Figuier, in his Reptiles and Birds, says:

"Those geographers who divide the world iuto land and sea overlook in their nomenclatnre the extensive geographical areas which belong permanently to neither section—namely, the vast marshy regions on the margins of lakes, rivers and ponds, which are alternately deluged with the overflow of the adjacent waters aud parched and withering nnder the exhalations of a Snmmer heat; regions inhabitated by beings capable of living on land or in water, beings haviug both gills throngh which they may breathe in water and lnngs throngh which they may respire the common air. The first order of reptiles possesses this character, and hence its name of Amphibia (meaning) having a double life."

On high and dry sections it is very unusual to find auy of the amphibians and never in auy numbers. Occasionally we meet with the common toad, Bufo, and the tree frog, H. versicolor, even in sandy districts; but I do not know of the appearance of any other species in like sitnations. It is on the marshy borders of lakes and ponds and about stagnant pools that we meet with the greatest abundance of frogs, while the salamauders are more often to be fonnd in low woods and at the edges of sparsely wooded swamps, and in wet fields and partial clearings, thongh one species of salamander is gilled and lives in the water in this section as we shall see. These pecnliar, little known creatnres beloug to the order Urodela, a word which means manifest tail, in distinction to the frogs and toads which come nnder the Anura, meaning without a tail.

Salamanders, tritous and nerots are credited with wonderful powers which they do not possess, and it is generally eonsidered that they are mysterions possessors of an ability to withstand the effects of fire. Of the many strange legends of ancient mythology, the ones concerniug salamanders, basilisks, unicorns, hydras and other impossible creatnres are familiar to all, and it is indisputably a fact that the story of the salamander walking nnscathed through the fire still has many believers. And though this ridiculons story was originated in an age wheu a man eould and did command the sun and moon to stand still, Josh. 10:12; aud Noah's ark, 475 feet in length, held the animals of the world two and two, it is still firmly adhered to. Like the mythieal phenix rising from the fire, the salamander story bobs up serenely on many occasions, and will continue as long as porcupines throw (?) their qnills, and hoop snakes are able to go abroad and perform their terrible deeds of destrnction. The following is taken from Bulfinch's Mythology, "The Age of Fable," and is an extract from the life of Benvenuto Cellini, an Italian artist of the sixteenth century, written by himself:

"When I was abont five years of age, my father, happening to be in a little room in which they had been washing, and where there was a good fire of oak burning, looked into the flames and saw a little animal resembling a lizard, which could live in the hottest part of that elemeut. Instantly perceiving what it was he called for my sister and me, and, after he had shown us the creatnre, he gave me a box on the car. I fell a-crying while he, soothiug me with caresses, spoke these words: 'My dear ehild, I do not give yon that blow for any fanlt yon have eommitted, bnt that yon may recollect that the little creature you see in the fire is a salamander; such an one as was never beheld before to my knowledge.' "

It may appear unfair to dispnte the assertions of a man of Cellini's known standing, in addition to the authority of Aristotle, Pliny and others, who not only claim that salamanders can resist fire but can extinguish it. We find, too, that unscrupulous men of guish it. We find, too, that unscrupulous men of ancient times derived profit from the credulity of their fellows by selling garments which would resist fire. These clothes were made of asbestos, but were represented as composed of the skin of salamanders.

*A few speeies lay their eggs on land under sticks and stones, and the young possess very rudimentary gills and may never enter the water. These batrachians closely resemble the reptiles in their habits.

As to what the original salamander was like, it is of course, impossible to conjecture, as it was mythical, but it is supposed that the foundation of the yarn about the modern salamander got its start from the fact that these creatures are usually supplied with a thick secretion on the surface. It is quite possible that in gathering wood for a grate fire a salamander may have been captured beneath the bark, and have been placed in the fireplace.* Escaping from the bark it would probably get out of the fire as quickly as possible, being greatly assisted in its resistance of the heat by its moist skin.

The subject has been spoken of quite fully here, because it is thought best to show cause why these old stories should be derided and discouraged, as with the ridiculous narrations of snake story tellers. In my next I will demonstrate that a salamander can be burned.

Travel

SPORT WITH BULLETS AND FISHHOOKS IN LAFAYETTE COUNTY, FLORIDA—NO. 2

BY W. G. DENHAM

After that trip with Jim and Henry Osteen, we accepted an invitation to go for another hunt on the head of Little Rocky Swamp. We stayed the first night with "Uncle" Jimmy Butler, who was to go with us in the morning, and after supper "Uncle" Jimmy—a whole-souled backwoodsman—began to entertain us with some of his experiences with bears, panthers and other game in his immediate neighborhood. Espying an old gun over the door, I questioned him if that was what he did his shooting with.

"Well, no! That's 'Old Smiley Ann,' and belongs to a neighbor of mine; she is no good now, she is 'busted.'" As well as I can now remember the history of that "busted" gun is as follows:

HENRY GOES FOR A BEAR

A handful of powder, a moss wad 'pon top,
Sixteen blue whistlers in her mouth he did drop,
Another moss wad in her throat he did cram
And with a stout rod the whole contents did ram.
He rammed and he rammed until out it did bound,
Missing Smiley Ann's mouth, and lay flat on the ground.
Henry to the cornfield that night he did go,
With old Smiley Ann on his shoulder, you know,
And over a pine log he rested his gun
Awaiting for Bruin, for Bruin to come.
A snort in the bushes told Henry he's nigh;
Now aiming Smiley Ann, at Cuffey to die,
Said, "Black, you are early, you've come in on time,
You look like the devil, to kill you's no crime."
Thought he pulled one trigger, then pulled the other,
Being shaky and scared he pulled both together.
Smiley Ann spit fire, and made clouds of thick smoke,
And the way she kicked Henry 'twas not any joke;
Two broken ribs and a large knot on his head.
There Henry lay sprawling as if he were dead.
When coming to life and looking all around
Spies Smiley Ann "busted," Bruin dead on the ground;
While viewing this scene it gave Henry a clew
Of what sixteen whistlers and powder can do!
She kicked him through bushes, briers and thorns;
Broke the belt to his pants and the string to his horn;
There was sand in one eye and blood on his nose,
And scratches from head to the ends of his toes.
She paralyzed his right arm, addled his brain,
Kicked and kicked, till she loosened his frame;
Shattered his constitution, health she impaired;
He sleeps but poorly now, then dreams about bears.
The rock that broke two ribs of Henry's right side
And log in the field mark the spot where they died;
And over the door sit Smiley Ann and the horn,
One barrel is "busted," one hammer is gone.
Sixteen blue whistlers, a cornfield and a bear
Come vividly to mind when viewing them there.

Several comments were made as to how much corn a bear could destroy in one night, and "Uncle" Jimmy said a bear could "walk over, tumble over, or get over, somehow, an eight-rail fence, with as many ears of corn in his arms as any man could carry." Friend Tucker remarked:

"What interests me most, about this story, is that when I see the unhealthy smile 'Smiley Ann' presents I am glad I was not at the killing."

"Yes," said "Uncle" Jimmy, "it was a killing; for Henry was that blinded he missed his way home and took up at my house; and that's why the old gun is up thar."

Morning came, and "all hands and the cook" were soon on the road to the hunting grounds, or, rather, a trail and a mighty dim one, at that. For six miles we were winding about through the pine forest, heading this pond, crossing that creek, and so on, until at last we came to a halt between two branches running into a rocky swamp, both branches being tributaries of Lake Echo and the main run. An elevation of ground sufficiently high to shed rapidly all rainfall was the spot selected by "Uncle" Jimmy for our camping ground, and before we began to unpack our dunnage the dogs rushed off into the branch and scattered a flock of turkeys in every direction. For an hour or more afterward the reports of a rifle or a shotgun could have been heard along the swamp of the westward creek. These turkeys are smaller than the upland or field turkey, and much darker in color. They are called the little black swamp turkeys.

While "Uncle" Jimmy and the boys were after the turkeys Henry and I got out our fishing tackle and went for pike. We had rods of cane or bamboo, about ten feet long, cut from the banks of the creek, and a line only two feet long. A bit of squirrel skin, about a finger's length, was our bait. With these rigs we walked along the creek, and wherever an opening in the bushes occurred through it we pushed our rods, and letting the bait down to the water dragged it back and forth on the surface. As the pike would dash from their hiding places and take our bait like hungry wolves, we landed them in every conceivable way.

There is some art and a good deal of practice required to safely land your fish through brush and overhanging trees. By throwing your rod directly behind you, butt end foremost, if an expert, you bring your pike through the opening without tangling your line in the bushes. Frequently I would forget and jerk my rod up over my head, and invariably would hang my fish on a swinging limb overhanging the creek.

"Now," said Henry, "he is up in a tree. Let me show you how to 'fling um;'" and to show me he would "fling um" so hard over his head, that when his rod took up against the overhanging boughs the fish would be torn from the hook and go sailing back into the woods, behind him. He finally admitted that my way of "flinging 'em" out was about as good as his.

We had lots of sport that evening, and turkey and fish for supper in abundance; and we had also plenty of venison for ourselves and dogs during our stay there.

I expect my readers have heard enough this time about shooting, so I will give a description of the scenery of this large county, and of our camp life. First should any of you ever be fortunate enough to participate in a camp hunt, be sure to select sober companions, men who respect themselves and will not drink strong liquors until they are drunk and make themselves disgusting, as a matter of course. One such man saddens the heart of all others, throwing a damper over the spirits of his companions, and makes the outing a sad failure, no matter what the surroundings may be.

Just here I will have to tell a little joke on a party of my friends, all strictly sober men, who purchased one bottle of brandy for medical purposes—which was a fact—and placed it in the mess chest along with other purchases, canned goods, etc. The first day they left camp for the hunt, they told the cook (an old colored man) to have dinner all ready by four o'clock in the afternoon, as at that time they would return. They came back on time, hungry and tired, but no dinner had been cooked. Sitting on the ground and leaning against a tree was the cook, and when asked why he did not cook dinner, he said:

"I look tro' all dem tiug; I don't fin' noting for cook." So drunk was he that he could not stand up. The moral to this tale is, if you take a little brandy along for medical purposes, don't place it with the provisions but under lock and key, in a sober man's satchel.

It is necessary, also, when out with a good party, to have plenty of breadstuffs, bacon, coffee, tea, sugar, black pepper and salt, the essentials of a camp. Each man should carry a box of matches in a waterproof box; and a good box for the occasion is a joint of reed, cut to suit the length of the matches, with a cork stopper. Such a box will float upon the water for hours, and when opened the matches will be found dry. Other things are necessary, of course; guns, fishlines, hooks, clothing, bedding, tents, ammunition, etc., but the camper should not burden himself with too many extras. He should make up his mind to take the uncomfortables of camp life patiently, do no fault finding, and see that his companions participate in all enjoyments; then he will find more pleasure in the environments of camp life than in the actual killing of much game or catching of many fishes. All the forest life around holds truths of deepest interest, if one will only look into the mysterious life, growth and habits of all the woodland creatures. From such an outing the camper will come home a stronger, healthier and wiser man. But, I repeat it, reform any poor, unfortunate brother man who is addicted to drink before risking him in camp with liquor, beyond the restraints of law and of civilization.

At the time of my writing, 1894, no railroads have been built in Lafayette County, and for the information of anyone who may contemplate a trip here I will give the boundaries, area and general features of the county; and, lastly, the game it contains.

*Once during a cold snap in Florida we had a rousing fire in the hotel. A good-sized live oak log was burning, and from under the bark there suddenly appeared a scorpion which, though benumbed, still demonstrated that its tail was aggressive.

NOTES

WE have received a communication from South Africa which informs us of an intended American Exhibition to be held there in November, 1896, and for the benefit of American manufacturers and merchants; they should not lose the opportunity of communicating with the Secretary, Box 429, G. P. O., Cape Town, who is willing to afford fullest particulars of what would be greatly to their advantage, as South African markets have not yet been properly exploited by our business men and that country bids fair to become "the and of the future."

THE general council of Philadelphia at a recent meeting decided by a unanimous vote to send the Liberty Bell to Atlanta. Some months ago the management of the exposition asked for the bell, but the request was refused. The matter has been put to the Philadelphia council in a new light since the legislature of Pennsylvania decided to make a state exhibit at the Cotton States and International Exposition, and this unanimous action of the council in favor of taking the Liberty Bell to Atlanta was the result.

Kennel

FIXTURES

SHOWS

Kingston Kennel Club's show, Kingston, ... ber 3, 4, 5 and 6. H. C. Bates, secretary.

Canada's Industrial Exhibition's seventh annual dog show, Toronto, September 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13. C. A. Stone, superintendent.

Rhode Island State Fair Association's third annual dog show, Providence, R. I., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. E. M. Oldham, superintendent.

Orange County Fair's dog show, Newburg, N. Y., September 17, 18, 19 and 20. Robert Johnston, secretary.

Omaha Kennel Club's second annual show, Omaha, Neb., September 18, 19, 20 and 21. E. L. Marston, secretary.

New England Kennel Club's second annual terrier show, Brookline, Mass., September 24, 25, 26 and 27. D. E. Loveland, secretary.

FIELD TRIALS

Continental Field Trial Club's inaugural trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 2. P. T. Madison, secretary.

Manitoba Field Trial Club's trials (on prairie chickens), Morris, Manitoba, September 10. Entries close July 1 and August 15. John Wootton, secretary.

International Field Trial Club's sixth annual trials, Mitchell's Bay, near Chatham, Ont., November 5. W. B. Wells, secretary.

United States Field Trial Club's Autumn trials, Newton, N. C., November 7. W. B. Stafford, secretary.

Eastern Field Trials Club's trials, Newton, N. C., November 18. W. A. Coster, secretary.

Continental Field Trial Club's Annual trials, Newton, N. C., November 25. P. T. Madison, secretary.

1896

Pacific Coast Field Trial Club's thirteenth annual trials, Bakersfield, Cal., January 20. J. M. Kilgarif, secretary.

Southern Field Trial Club's seventh annual trials, West Point, Miss., February 3. T. M. Brumby, secretary.

BEAGLE TRIALS

Northwestern Beagle Club's third annual trials, Columbus, Wis., October 22. Louis Steffen, secretary.

New England Beagle Club's trials, Oxford, Mass., November 5. W. S. Clark, secretary.

National Beagle Club's fifth annual trials, Hempstead, Long Island, November 11. Geo. W. Rogers, secretary.

REMINISCENCES

BY W. W. TITUS

Probably never in the history of man has the march of civilization been so rapid as the relentless tide that has swept the last vestige of the Indian and the buffalo from the vast plains west of the broad Mississippi.

Early in the seventies I was living in a small town on the bank of the Connecticut River. A relative kept a store in the village, which was the means of my escaping the usual carrying out of the old maxim, "early to bed," etc., for I would steal off after supper and go up to the store, where I would be allowed to stay until closing up time, about nine o'clock. It was a custom in that (and I guess was in most all New England) town for the men to drop into the village store after supper and tell stories, talk politics, and discuss everything but religion; I heard but little said about that. To the best of my recollection, the sales the store made during these evening sittings would have hardly paid for the oil consumed, and generally consisted of apples, cider, tobacco, and a few glasses of whisky, for the stores in those days all kept liquors, and there were but few frequenters of the store after supper but what took their nightcap in shape of a stiff toddy before going home.

Old Uncle Billy A— occupied the arm chair, and had exclusive and undisputed rights to it, and the right of sitting where he could lean back against a post and rest his feet on a soap box, and be within easy spitting range of the big square around the stove which was filled with sawdust and answered the purpose of a spittoon. Sometimes when he was a little late, which was seldom, and some other sitter occupied the chair, Uncle Billy would remain standing, though other chairs invited him to be seated, until the usurper would notice him, and bob up and say, "I believe I have your chair, Uncle Billy," and Uncle Billy without speaking would accept it with a don't-let-this-happen-again air, that used to tickle me (the only boy present) exceedingly. When this happened Uncle Billy would always have to smoke a pipeful of tobacco before he got in good humor enough to join in the general conversation.

Uncle Billy seemed to be the oracle of the village, he could remember farther back, was a better judge of the weather, and was in fact the oldest inhabitant: he always settled when a hot day came, or a very cold snap, in what previous year we had its equal.

Poor Uncle Billy! I see him now in memory, with his broad brimmed hat and curved top stick, and can recollect with what suspense I used to await his reply to a question. For instance, some would ask: "Pretty cold day, Uncle Billy. Do you recollect a colder one in the last twenty years?"

Uncle Billy would lean his head to one side and apparently thoughtfully consider the question from that point, and then turn it over on its other side and consider it anew. Often he would be so long in answering that the party who asked the question would get to talking about something else, and when Uncle Billy did answer, would look at the old man as if he did not know what he was talking about, having apparently forgotten asking him the question. But I never took my eyes off Uncle Billy, and tried to follow his every motion until he got the matter settled to his satisfaction. I would often get nervous waiting for him to speak, and he never ceased to be a study with which my boyish curiosity was never satisfied. When he answered it would be in measured tones, like a judge giving his opinion on an important law question, and something in this wise:

"Wal, it has bin a cold day, but 'way ... see, yes, it was the twenty-sixth day of J... had a cold day, that to-day were not a circ... Why hit were so cold that the wells all froze ...

some of them were twenty feet to the water. No, now I come to think of it, to-day has been warmish compared to January 26, 1843." And the old man would settle back with a shiver as though the very recollection were too cold to think about.

[illegible] obvious to Uncle Billy, his days of power [illegible] coming to a close. A party by name of Uncle [illegible] had to make a business trip to Denver. [illegible] his return that I first heard, from [illegible] only seen them, tales of the buffalo and deer, antelope, and the ducks, geese, cranes and the myriad of small game that existed on the prairies west of the Mississippi River.

After Uncle Daniel came back from his Denver trip he would drop into the store after supper, and in course of the evening would be reminded in various ways of the interesting incidents relating to his western trip, and being a good talker and an intelligent man, he interested his hearers to the exclusion of all other subjects. In vain Uncle Billy tried to talk about the weather; his power was broken; for, as became a traveled man, Uncle Daniel stood on his dignity, and by the well-known rule of the survival of the fittest soon occupied the arm chair as a matter of right, to the entire exclusion of Uncle Billy, who now even took a stool with the meekness of a broken and humbled spirit that was most distressing to see. It is true he stayed away an evening or two; a so unheard-of action that all inquired if the old man was sick. But he could not stand it, and meekly submitted to the inevitable.

I made this wide digression simply to introduce the testimony of Uncle Daniel, who saw with his own eyes the countless herds of buffaloes that could then be seen on the plains, and on my boyish mind his words made impressions that have never been effaced by time. Ten years later I first saw the prairies myself, but all sign of the big game had disappeared from Northern Iowa, though I saw in the splendid collection of stuffed animals and game birds set up by my old friend, John G. Smith of Algona, deer, wolf, and other big game he had killed there. And a brother-in-law of mine told me that, when as a boy he was herding cattle on the prairie, he had found fourteen pairs of elk horns around one small slough, and horns could be picked up without trouble.

The settlement was still scattered and the little town where I stopped was but a station-house, a few small stores and a hotel. It was a common thing for the business men of the town to walk out late in the evening and shoot all the prairie chickens they wanted close to the town. North or south of the town were vast stretches of wild prairie with no settlements whatever, and I have been in a scope of country next to the Minnesota line where one could drive for hours at that time and never see a house. I recollect that one day, while duck shooting among the lakes up there, we came to a lake that had a small tree growing on its bank, and on a knoll was an old sod dug-out. There was no sign of any tilling the ground, so we decided it must have been a trapper's camp. When I saw that country last year it was settled to almost a farmhouse on every quarter section of land, and the little town has grown to have a long business street, a bank, and does big business. I was told that there were fifteen hundred carloads of stock and produce shipped from there last year.

I drove about considerably over the country, and saw a few prairie chickens. Once I saw some rise out of a cornfield to the noise of the train I was on; and again I saw five sitting on a straw stack off the road I was traveling some hundred yards. They were evidently on the watch for a man with a gun.

In October, 1882, one could not look at the sky in any direction without seeing a flock of ducks passing in some direction. Now one could drive all day without seeing one duck. From one of the finest game countries I had ever hunted in it had got to be the worst.

I spent several weeks waiting before I got a letter from Frank Richards, informing me that he had made all arrangements for me at the hotel at Eldridge, N. D.; that he and his brother had intended stopping there, but as I had my family with me they would move into the country five miles or more and let me stop in town. Soon after I got this letter I was on my way to Eldridge, and after a long and tedious ride on an accommodation train from Fargo to Jamestown, we found we would have to stay in Jamestown all night, there being no train until morning to Eldridge, seven miles west.

I had had some correspondence with Mr. Webster, cashier of the Jamestown bank, and met him that evening after my arrival, and, while standing on the street talking with him a man with a lot of dogs following him passed on the other side of the street. I asked him who that was, and he said it was John Trail, from Wisconsin; he did not speak well of him. That was the only time I ever saw this man Trail, except that once afterward, I think, I passed him on the road. Mr. Webster told me afterward that he went to the man and told him if he did not get out of town and go to work, he would write him up in the papers. He then went to a small place called Windsor, nine miles west of where I was stopping, but it was the worst possible place to train, there being no stubbles to speak of, and I do not think he could have accomplished anything.

Mr. Webster was a splendid specimen of manhood, weighing at least two hundred and twenty-five pounds, with red cheeks, and the brightest of eyes; about thirty-four years old, I should judge. Poor fellow! the grim reaper spared him not because he was young and robust, and he has since gone to join the great majority. The next morning, after going to the railroad yards, we found our train, a local freight, standing on a side track. The dogs were loaded into an empty box, and with a engine behind as pusher, we started up the steep grade to reach the level of the prairie, as Jamestown is built in a basin-shaped valley on the banks of the Jim River.

The open prairies, with but few scattering farmhouses, put me in mind of Iowa years ago.

Looking [illegible] a tall grain elevator some [illegible] other buildings of the town; and [illegible] Eldridge consisted of a railroad [illegible] hotel, country store and post- [illegible] in house, the depot agent's house, a schoolhouse, and two empty dwelling houses. The size suited me exactly, for it appeared that there were no shooters in the town, and I thought there would be no one to kill the birds off.

Soon after our arrival, Frank Richards rode into the town on his wheel to get his mail, and almost before I was through shaking hands with him his brother George's outfit of dogs drove up and I met him also. I spent some time in fixing up my dog quarters comfortably and getting the kind of a rig to suit me, but I was finally suited in a buckboard and a big calico-marked horse by the name of Jerry. Jerry was a good one; I could get out and leave him hitched to the buckboard, go off a mile, and find him right there with everything all right when I returned. He was not afraid of the gun, and we often shot right from the wagon at hawks, ducks, and stray prairie chickens.

As the close season was not out for some time, my companion, Leo P—, amused himself as only a boy can. He soon got tired of training dogs where no shooting was to be had, so he directed his attention to shooting gophers with a little rifle he had; and many was the gopher that bit the dust under his unerring aim. Soon, from a weak appetite his developed to one that would have done a regular roustabout proud, and I was rejoiced to see him begin to eat as though he loved to, for his father had intrusted him to me believing the trip would benefit him. He had studied hard and needed rest and fresh air, and he got plenty of both at Eldridge, and after he had been there two weeks, the only apprehension I had was that he might not be able to get enough to eat if his appetite kept on increasing in such alarming proportions. He was every bit a boy, and tried herding cattle, learned to throw a rope and pitch hay; nothing came amiss to him.

To get our horse we had to go fourteen miles west to a Mr. Weld's ranch to get it out of the herd it was in. We passed through the town of Windsor, and five miles or more west of there, after driving over prairies and through deep valleys where the sight of a house could not be seen, we finally saw the ranch house. But after descending into the valley we could not see it any more, though we drove up several high hills to see if we could do so. After making a detour around a big slough we ran up against a wire fence. We were certain this fence was part of the pasture connected with the ranch, and after so long a time found our way to it. It was about twelve o'clock when we arrived, and soon the proprietor came in from the hayfield with his men.

He had a son named Bert, about twenty-one years old, that was a genius in many ways. He showed us three boats of his own construction, all round bottom, one a sixteen-foot sail boat, one a canoe-shaped affair, and the other a small, one-man canoe; besides the boats he had bridles made of braided leather, lariats, slings for carrying a rifle on the saddle, all of his own construction.

The house was situated on a knoll, in a depression when compared to the higher hills that surrounded it, and there had evidently been a lake at some time on the north and east sides, as the bank was too steep to even climb on foot, though Bert had, in running a wild steer on one occasion, failed to stop and had gone to the bottom without injury to himself or horse.

There were lakes all around the house, and several a mile or two from the house, out on the prairie. We took one of the boats down to try it in a lake close to the house in the pasture. There were plenty of rushes scattered about, but the main body of the lake was open water and ducks of several kinds in broods as they were hatched could be seen on it. I paddled out among them, and noticed mallards, spoonbills and blue-wing teal; they were gentle as common domesticated puddle ducks, and I could with a gun have killed twenty with both barrels. I was there later, I might add, when this gentle spirit had departed, and it took a sky scraping shot to bring one to earth. But more of that later on.

FOREIGN DOGS IN GREAT BRITAIN

During the past few years many changes have taken place in what may be called "fashion in dogs." New varieties have become more or less popularized, and old favorites have, as it were, had their noses put out of joint. Our grandfathers and grandmothers were contented if they had a terrier or a mastiff as a companion in the one case, and a pug or toy spaniel in the other. They had not much choice, nor did they require it, because they were not so advanced in doggy knowledge as we are to-day. With this increasing knowledge came a desire for novelties, and if these could not be produced in our own island they were sought for further afield, and imported from various foreign countries.

Of what may be called these new varieties, perhaps the St. Bernard is the oldest. Few specimens of this noble breed were to be seen at the earlier shows, but the few were admired, and, besides, they had a history attached to them, and were almost household words as dogs of utility and docility. They were not long in popularizing themselves, and now good specimens can be counted in hundreds where twenty-five years ago they could not be found in tens. It seems somewhat strange that the popular strain of the St. Bernard with us is the rough or long-coated variety, while in Switzerland the smooth or short coated is held in the highest esteem. No doubt the St. Bernard is at the present moment the most popular of all our big dogs, and, in a great measure, he appears to have supplanted the honest mastiff, a British dog of the oldest race, which may become extinct in the course of a century. The latter has, unfortunately, not advanced with the times, and the excellent classes observed at our early shows stand out very powerfully against the meager array at our modern gatherings. But it is not our intention to go seriatim through all the breeds of the dog which have not been progressive, but rather to draw attention to such varieties of the canine race as were comparatively unknown in Great Britain when dog shows were first instituted.

There are the Great Danes, huge, active dogs, of pretty symmetry, which at one time bade fair to run the St. Bernard hard in the race for favoritism; but the fancy for them was but ephemeral, and these famous dogs are as far off becoming popular with us as ever they were. As a fact, they were too fond of fighting; and, again, the practice of cutting their ears was contrary to our tastes, and the huge flapping aural appendages left intact did not by any means add to the creature's beauty. The borzoi or Russian wolfhound, elegant in form as our own Scottish deerhound, appeared to come upon us with a rush a few years since, and certainly a group of them look very handsome, lovely almost, but they are not going on well. Many were found to be delicate, more especially the new importations, and as they had never been trained to live out of their kennels and occupy a position in the drawing room, when they were expected to do the latter, they proved a failure. Then their hunting and killing proclivities were strong, as in many cases the farmers' bills for wounded sheep and frightened ducks and geese has often testified. Still, the borzoi is now fairly well naturalized; he has, no doubt, come to remain with us, but he must never supplant our Scottish deerhound, rugged and characteristic of the Highlands, where, unfortunately, he is very little used nowadays to assist in deer stalking and coursing. As a sporting dog he will not survive long, because it is found that collies and retrievers can do his work better than he, for they disturb the forests less, and do not drive the deer over their owners' "march." We should like to see the Highland deerhound more fashionable than he is, for when brought up in a proper manner no dog is more fitted for a companion, he being sensible, kindly, and certainly most picturesque.

We need not go very far back for the time when the quaint little dachshund was a stranger in this land, one or two being occasionally benched in the variety classes at our largest shows. Now we meet him waddling along the roads or streets everywhere, his unduly long back and, alas! too often misshapen forelegs being features not be overlooked. Like the boarhound, brought to us from Germany, he (as are so many of our present everyday articles) was made there years ago. Here the public know him at present in three colors only—red, chocolate, and black and tan—and smooth in coat. A peculiarity in this variety, which has no doubt led to his popularity, is the extreme softness or velvety character of the skin. Rough or long-haired dachshunde are occasionally exhibited, and of late most noticeable have been two or three marbled or mirled specimens, with the accompaniment of the china or wall eye. We take the dachshund to be one of our most important usurpations, for, in addition to being a capital house dog, his temper is excellent, and his bump of combativeness is not highly developed. In his adopted country he is mostly a pet dog; but at home he is used to "draw badgers," drive foxes, and in the ordinary duties for which we keep our terriers.

Basset hounds, rough and smooth, were brought to us from France, their pretty tri-color markings, long, pendulous, gracefully hung ears, set off by a most sympathetic expression, giving them a character of their own by which the veriest novice in canine matters could distinguish them as something out of the common. Possibly these dogs have had their day with us, and, handsome though they be, they are somewhat unwieldy as house dogs; while for hunting purposes, though their voices are fine, they are certainly behind our native hounds, so far as scenting powers and pace are concerned; nor do we believe them so painstaking and careful on a cold scent as our otter hounds or the foxhounds which are hunted by men on foot among the mountains in the English lake district.

The most recent importation of all, and one which has achieved a unique share of popularity in a very short time, is the Schipperke from Holland, where his home is on the canal boats; his friends the captain and the sailors on the same. And a queer little creature is the Schipperke, who, though devoid of tail, carries himself with all the pride of the peacock, and yelps and barks as though the whole world were his. Experts say that he should have a tremendous "mane," not quite lion-like, but still a "mane"—or perhaps a frill—such as the good collies of the day are supposed to possess. In Holland the national little dog is often brown or fawn in color, and pretty such a shade is; here the "fancy" will not look at a Schipperke unless he be as black as the coal from Newcastle. But what is "fancy?" Why, nothing. At the last Birmingham show it went so far that, although Mr. A. C. Jackson, the judge there, was the first Englishman to bring a a specimen over to this country, and knows all about them, he was honored (?) by having a miserable entry of only two. Being smart, cleanly, intelligent, and handy in destroying the rats of the household, the Schipperke will remain with us, though there is a certain amount of deception about him. He is supposed to be brought into this world without any caudal appendage, which does not always happen; so when the tail is there it is speedily amputated, and the operation is performed so skillfully that an expert cannot discern the naturalness of the stern or otherwise.

Not unlike the Schipperke in some respects is the black Pomeranian, which appears to have quite ousted the white variety commonly known as the Spitz dog. The fashion to-day in Pomeranians is diminutiveness, and the smaller the dog the better, so long as it is deep, dark black in color, fluffy in coat, curly in tail, and foxlike in expression. Her Majesty the Queen possesses several very pretty little Pomeranians, the best of them being bright fawn in color, and "the Queen's Marco" is quite a celebrity in his way, having taken several prizes at our shows where the royal dogs have formed a leading feature. Still black appears to be the fashionable color in our "new dogs," for we have black Schipperkes, black Pomeranians and black pugs. The latter, however, have not yet been produced in sufficient numbers to glut the market, so that good or fair specimens are not obtainable for an old song, especially as the best are in few hands. Their owners give them credit for being hardier than the ordinary "apricot fawn" pug we all know so well, with his curly tail and nose "tip-tilted" certainly not like the petals of any flower. The late Lady Brassey is said to have invented or discovered the black pug, the history of which is too long to reproduce here, but the variety is now in capable hands for its advancement and improvement, and we do not fancy that any special expedition need be taken to the interiors of China and Japan for the purpose of discovering a fresh strain to strengthen that already with us.

From the East have come the peculiar black and white, occasionally fawn and white, Japanese spaniels, some call them pugs. They are, however, long coated, and, though their tails are curled, they are clothed with long silky hair, which, ostrich feather like, falls over to one side or the other with all the grace imaginable. A peculiarity of the "Jap," which his admirers love to call him, lies in his catlike character, not that he is evilly disposed like pussy too often is, but he laps his milk with a catlike care; and, if he does not purr instead of bark, when he is even a little out of sorts he sulks and frets, will not take his food, and is quite as averse to his medicine as the domestic feline. The Japanese spaniel is too delicate a creature to be actually popular; but he is a great favorite in the higher social circles, and at the late exhibition of the Royal Academy an excellent little dog of this variety is introduced in connection with the portrait of H. R. H. the Princess of Wales. The Japanese spaniels vary in size, the smallest specimens being from two pounds to three pounds in weight each, while others go up to eight pounds or even more. The admirers of the latter contend that the more diminutive strains cannot be produced without diminished vigor and healthfulness; in which opinion they are no doubt quite correct. Still, the tiny dogs have, from time immemorial almost, been the favorites of my lady, and ancient history tells us how the luxurious maidens of ancient Rome kept their pet puppies in tin canisters to retard their growth, and fed them upon dried liver, sprinkled with the pared fresh bark from the wild fig tree for a similar purpose. But in that great city the tiny toys, when fully matured, were pampered with the breasts of fowls, served on golden dishes.

While adopting sundry varieties of the canine race from other countries, a system of reciprocity has been proceeding, and in return we have provided the mastiff, the fox terrier, and sundry strains of the terrier, the bulldog, some toy spaniels, to say nothing of the setters and retrievers. So, after all, we are not quite so much indebted to Germany, France, Spain and Japan in the matter of dogs as many persons would lead us to believe is the case.—The Field.

GENERALITIES

CHICAGO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD —While spending a few pleasant and instructive hours around the benches at the Mascoutah Kennel Club's show last March I ran across a friend gazing intently at a good-sized, wavy-coated, silken-haired dog of a pale chestnut color. As I drew up alongside of him, with a question on the tip of my tongue, he cut me off by demanding, "what do you call that?" indicating the object of his previous study by a wave of the catalog in his hand. After looking the dog over I told him he could not prove it by me. But he persisted in a more definite answer. Then I told him to look it up in his catalog, and he said he knew what the catalog called it, but he had been unable to find any dog man who classified it similarly; and again he persisted in a reply to his query as to what breed it most nearly resembled, so at last I said, "Well, it favors a wavy-coated retriever more than anything else, but it differs from a good specimen considerably." Then he vouchsafed the information that it was cataloged as an "English retriever," and he began asking questions about retrievers and why a separate breed was needed for that particular branch of a bird dog's work, and finally we fell to discussing the retrieving of pointers and setters, and the dropping of retrieving by the field trial clubs. As we held opposite views on the last question, we of course found plenty of room for arguments. He did not approve of the clubs' actions, maintaining that retrieving was part of a bird dog's work, and therefore a field trial winner ought to be put through his paces at retrieving just as much as any other work expected of a dog in the field. I argued with him that a terrier, a poodle or a collie could be taught to retrieve cleverly and reliably, and that it was not necessary to test a field trial dog at such work. Then he declared that when he went out for a day's shooting he wanted a pointer or setter—no, a setter; he has queer and erroneous ideas about pointers, and never uses them—that would retrieve, and do it properly. I was with him on that point of course, and then he began to accuse me of not being consistent, and started off on the old story that field trial dogs were not good practical animals to shoot over, etc.

Finally we got back—we had been loitering around the show building—to the golden-hued so-called English retriever on the bench, and discussed the use of the retrievers in Great Britain. We came to the conclusion that retrievers were not apt to come into general use in America. But is it not a litle odd that this breed finds no favor with some one of our many fanciers? Apart from its usefulness in the field the retriever has much to recommend it to those who keep dogs just because they like them. The curly-coated variety does not bear such a good reputation as its flat or wavy relative, but the latter is kindly in disposition, obedient, easy to train, an excellent companion and a good house dog; he is also wonderfully intelligent, and, if treated as a companion, a most faithful animal, and in addition to these good qualities he is a handsome fellow. When one looks upon some of the breeds that are made much of it does seem strange that no one goes in for retrievers.

But to change the subject. The AMERICAN FIELD'S kennel editor recently gave some striking figures showing the lack of competition generally witnessed in the challenge classes at shows of over five hundred entries, the New York show being excepted.. In view of this state of affairs would it not be advisable to make some change in the method of acquiring the title of champion for a dog? What credit is there in the empty honor of a win in the challenge class without opposition? Or perhaps a victory over some old-timer that does not take much beating. It is very evident that a win in the challenge class at a show of over five hundred entries does not imply competition, or stronger competition than a win at a show where the entries do not reach that total. The title of champion is losing ground, and many exhibitors are growing to regard it as a cheap honor. I could quote instances of dogs not worth more than V.H.C. in a really good open class that have gained the title of champion, but of course their owners would fall upon me like a cartload of bricks. Let the title of champion be made worth the winning. And to that end I offer the following suggestion for the consideration of owners, breeders, exhibitors and the American Kennel Club: Do away with the present rule about "a dog having won three first prizes in this class," etc.; let the American Kennel Club offer special prizes—diplomas would do; medals would be too expensive—at all shows held under its rules for the best dog and best bitch of each breed for which open and challenge classes are provided; let a win with competition in the challenge class count toward championship honors only when the winner beats the open class winner (of same sex) for the American Kennel Club's special diploma for best of sex in the show, provided said open class winner has beaten in the open class at that show at least three competitors, and that none of the prizes in said open class have been withheld; let three or four such wins at A. K. C. shows, no matter what the total number of entries for the show may be, qualify for championship honors. This would mean that the challenge class dog (or bitch) would have to beat at least one competitor in its own class, and (indirectly) at least four in the open class, which is not asking too much of a would-be champion. If the requisite number of competitors was lacking the A. K. C. diploma should not be competed for. In other words, unless a challenge class winner proved the best of his or her sex at a show where there was a reasonable amount of competition his or her challenge class win would not count toward title of champion. This plan is not advanced as the best possible, and suggestions for its betterment will be welcome; so let the vox populi be heard. One thing is sure, viz., the present method of sliding into a championship (by three walkovers possibly) is sometimes farcical.

There is another question which may be considered at the same time. Should a win in the open class without competition, or against only one competitor, be counted in the four wins required to qualify for the challenge class? Ought not the "pass examination" for the challenge class to be made a little stiffer?

TWO-BITS.

LONDON DOG THIEVES

A couple of years ago a writer in Donahoe's Magazine told of an evening spent in the haunts of dog thieves in the English capital some years ago.

Once in my life I consorted with professional dog thieves. I wish it to be distinctly understood that I never stole a dog, although I am free to confess that I have been tempted, and I have told the story of how on one occasion a dog stole me. But to return to my thieves. In the northern part of London, which you will reach by passing through Fetter and Leather lanes, continuing past the quaint Italian Quarter with its cathedral, the interior of which is beautiful, although the building is but crude externally, you will find yourself in close proximity to the rendezvous of the London dog thieves. Near by is a place called Hockings-in-the-Hole. It is well named, being situated in a decided hollow in one of the worst quarters of the great city. Those in search of a fine, creepy feeling should visit it after nightfall, as I did. I then found myself in the bar of a small, old-style public house of very doubtful character, or perhaps I shall express myself better if I say that its character was not at all doubted. I was eyed curiously by the loungers as I took some refreshment at the bar. I then quietly gave the countersign in accordance with the instructions with which I had armed myself. The powerful and heavy-necked publican changed his demeanor at once, and ushered me through a side door and up a creaky, tortuous and dark staircase. At this period the creepy feeling was at its best—or worst. A door opened and we entered a long room, the ceiling of which was very low. Yellow gas jets flickered here and there.

A curious sight met my gaze. The room was full of men, three-fourths of whom held dogs of every degree. The men were mostly of an uncouth description, clothed in great part in corduroy, surmounted with the conventional caps that are worn by the London costermonger. They resemble in general appearance the touts and welchers of the English racetracks. Most of them smoked short pipes. The dogs yelped and whined amid the general hum of conversation that came through the amber haze. My appearance excited no comment, and for this reason: It was quite a common thing for "swells with sporting blood in them" to drop in upon these gentry and pick up a good dog at a nominal price. The morality of the proceeding was very questionable, but the fact remains. Gin, the favorite drink with the low class of Loudon, was brought in a jug and served in small wine glasses. I accepted the hospitality of my friends, the thieves, as I saw at once that it was expected. Then I conversed with various members of the party concerning the points of the canines in their possession. They took my presence there as a matter of course and talked with perfect candor. Had I been able to forget the company I was in I might truthfully record that I spent a pleasant half hour at Hockings-in-the-Hole.

These men are not all thieves. Some of them are dog brokers, who sell dogs for others or pick up a bargain to sell again. None of them openly admit that they are professional thieves, although, of course, it is understood perfectly. They "find" lost dogs or else they are commissioned to sell a dog that belongs to a "friend." Not a small part of their income is obtained through receiving rewards offered for lost dogs which they have been fortunate enough to "find." During my visit to them their demeanor was [illegible]. They might have been an assemblage of farmers at a cattle show.

THE NEED OF A DOG PROTECTIVE SOCIETY

WA[illegible]

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD: —A leader in the AMERICAN FIELD of June 15, entitled "The Need of a Dog Protective Society," struck me as very good and worthy of the attention of dog fanciers throughout the country. I hope your readers will take advantage of your columns, which you offer for a full discussion of this subject, and that you will lend your aid in bringing together the existing dog clubs as well as all interested persons, so as to form a nucleus for such a society.

If one person in each city or county will furnish his name and address for publication, dog fanciers in his vicinity may rally about him and thus form small clubs, which may send delegates to a general convention of dog fanciers of America to secure the enactment of uniform laws for the protection of our wards and to encourage a more general appreciation of high-bred dogs.

G. A. ERNI.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Is there not some way by which we can arrange to get railroad companies and the different express companies to give us one rate upon dogs, when crated? Our friend, the fancy hog-dealer, has secured one rate. The bicylce rider has secured rates, and why not we?

We can do it.

The shipment of dogs is a big thing.

S. C. ALEXANDER, M. D.

DISTEMPER

CHICAGO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Having seen the article by C. B. Westcott in the last issue of the AMERICAN FIELD I feel it my duty to set him right in regard to distemper in dogs.

Evidently the dogs he lost had become infested with filaria immitis before being attacked with distemper. The filaria immitis, or cruel thread worm, is found in the heart and blood vessels of the dog, and rarely causes any trouble. Sometimes they accumulate in large numbers and plug up the arteries, forming emboli in the blood vessels of the brain and causing death in epileptiform convulsions. Messrs. Grube and Delafond, who found some European dogs entertaining over 200,000 of these minute worms at a time, state that in no case did the dogs seem to suffer from them. And Dr. Louis says that in India many people go about with thousands of living parasites in their blood and yet betray no symptoms of disease. Dr. Lamphrey states that the presence of the parasites is only prejudicial to the dog when it is suffering from some other cause than the parasitism itself.

The dogs Mr. Westcott speaks of were undoubtedly infested with this parasite before contracting distemper.

Distemper has been studied by veterinarians for hundreds of years, and thousands of post mortems have been held. Most of the fatal cases show a typhoid or pneumonic complication. Mr. Westcott probably has the idea which I have heard expressed by certain dog quacks, "that veterinarians do not study the diseases of the dog and only have one lecture a year on the dog and its diseases, which is on distemper and they do not know anything about that." The truth of the matter is, that we have lectures on every disease the dog is heir to, and some colleges have a special chair of canine pathology.

C. E. SAYRE, M. D., D. V. S.

FOR SALE.—Mr. W. P. Stone, Harlan, Ia., offers English setters....J. F., Chicago, offers fox terrier ....Mr. W. J. Bryson, Chicago, offers bull terriers ....Mr. A. C. Peterson, Homestead, Pa., offers English setters....Mr. C. J. Brook, Atkinson, Neb., offers cocker spaniels....Weeks' Pug Kennels, Bridgeton, N. J., offer pugs....Diane Pointer Kennels, Knox, Ind., offer pointer....Mr. T. E. Duncan, Albia, Ia., offers St. Bernard....Mr. S. E. Eshelman, Persia, Ia., offers Irish setters....Rochester St. Bernard Kennels, Rochester, N. Y., offer St. Beruards....Mr. G. E. Gray, Appleton, Minn., offers English setters and pointers ....Mr. E. D. Brown, Minneapolis, Minn., offers pointers....Mr. C. H. Barrett, Binghamton, N. Y., offers fox terriers....Mr. N. M. Smith, Chester, Conn., offers pointers.

IN THE STUD.—Messrs. Gibbs & Warnf, Kalamazoo, Mich., offer the services of the pointer Osborne Ale II.

NOTES

IT does seem as if it were about time that owners of valuable dogs should have some protection, not only in their own state but the country over. If the scheme laid down in the AMERICAN FIELD could be carried out, the sportsmen of this country would have what they are, and have been for years past, entitled to. The fault for not punishing those that steal dogs does not lie with the judges of courts alone, but with the juries also. I have often seen this fact illustrated here in Cleveland. I can cite a case where a King Charles spaniel was stolen; a detective recovered the dog in Akron, O., the thief was arrested, and when placed on trial he demanded a jury. The theft was proven against him; the owner swore that she had refused two hundred dollars for the dog; I was called upon to testify as to its value, which I placed at seventy-five dollars; and the case was clear against the man. But the jury acquitted him. If the Supreme Court of Ohio has decided that dogs are not property, it is not much credit to their judgment, as this is a progressive age and we expect that our interpreters of the laws should [illegible] all mankind. To the state's credit we [illegible] judges who rule otherwise. Judge Noble, of our Court of Common Pleas, in my case against the City of Cleveland, asking for an injunction against the city collecting the dog tax levied by the Council, ruled that property. He said it was true that our [illegible] held that stealing a dog was not larceny at the time then existing, making it larceny to steal horses or other personal goods or chattels [illegible] another, but an amendment to the [illegible] statute had passed, making it larceny to steal anything of value; and since then our common pleas courts have held that stealing a dog is larceny. This decision of Judge Noble was published in full in the AMERICAN FIELD of August 24, 1889. The case was decided in my favor, and we have never had a city dog tax since. I have had many requests from lawyers in different parts of the country for this decision, and much credit is due Judge Noble for the position he took in the question at issue. His ruling has never been questioned and it stands to-day unchallenged, as every fair minded man must know it is good law. I trust that your article will bring forth good fruit; it should, and may there arise such an organization that will attain all the ends desired.

Cleveland, O. C. M. MUNHALL.

THE unsportsmanlike plan of entering valuable racehorses like Banquet and Stonenell in cheap selling races which Messrs. Croker and Dwyer followed so unsuccessfully on the English turf was recently imitated, with very similar results, by two fanciers at a show in the north of England; they got their deserts, and the tale is told thus by The Stock-Keeper: "Dog shows are often tame, but a little excitement and amusement were caused by an old exhibitor having entered a very nice pointer in the £5 selling class. Much to the exhibitor's chagrin, the boys were on the alert, bought his dog and got all signed, sealed, and settled before Mr. Secretary knew what he was about. Another claim was made prior, but the secretary unwittingly was taken off his guard by the second claimants, who got him to give them a receipt for dog as being sold to them. It ended peaceably by the late owner going home a sadder but wiser man without his dog, and with the conviction that it is not policy to try the same game on again. Another exhibitor had a Bedlington in the same class, which, hearsay goes, he had refused £30 for. Redcar races are an attraction for Whitsuntide. This gentleman, according to report, was going round the show arm and arm with a friend, mentions the foregoing fact to his friend and states, 'I am off to Redcar, but I hope my dog will not be claimed.' By the time the exhibitor was nicely seated and steaming off by train to Redcar his dog was claimed and paid for. We give this fully, so that exhibitors should beware, and not enter £20 and £30 dogs in £5 selling classes. We have no sympathy with such acts, and are pleased that gentlemen are occasionally caught napping."

DATES for the Fall shows are being claimed fast now, and ere long there will be none left. If there is any one place in the West that should give a show Des Moines is it. The show last year was a great success in every particular, and one given this year could be made greater. The management of the show was in the hands of two people last year, viz., Mr. Bruce, the secretary, and Mr. Ford, the superintendent. Mr. Bruce proved an ideal secretary and should continue in the same position this year. Mr. Ford was always on hand attending to the wants of the different exhibitors. I understand the Des Moines Kennel Club has a cash balance in its favor, which is very creditable for the first effort. If a show could be given the week before the Omaha show there would be no chance for a failure: there would be a large entry, and given (as it would be) during the state fair week there would be no lack of attendance. There will be plenty of vacant buildings in the heart of the city suitable for holding a show of this kind. I believe if a canvass could be made of the dog men of Des Moines nearly all, if not all, of them would be heartily in favor of holding a show and would offer their support for its success. Mr. Bruce should at least call a meeting of the directors and see what their sentiment is in the matter, and then if they conclude to give a show let all the other fanciers join hands and make the second annual dog show of the Des Moines Kennel Club a grand success.

Des Moines, Ia. MELKYRIE.

AT a meeting held Tuesday evening of last week of the Montreal Kennel Association, Dr. Mills read a detailed account of the late dog show. Much to the satisfaction of the members it was shown that after all expenses had been paid there was still a surplus of funds remaining to the credit of the club. After some little discussion it was decided to hold a second and more complete show next September, as suggested by the AMERICAN FIELD. The President then gave a short address, speaking in reference to the judging of the different breeds at the late exhibition, and ending by complimenting the members on the success that had attended their efforts. As several valuable dogs, chiefly the property of members residing in the city, have been poisoned lately, while others have been stolen, the question was brought before the meeting as to what was best to be done in the matter. After some discussion two motions were passed which, if carried out, will make it dangerous for any person to either poison or steal a dog in the future. Some general conversation ensued, after which the meeting was adjourned for the Summer. The decision to hold a show at Montreal in September is a step toward the Canadian circuit outlined by us two weeks ago; now we should like to hear from Ottawa and Hamilton.

AN instance of canine sagacity was very forcibly given recently in Dublin, when a young St. Bernard bitch was heroically rescued from what might have been a watery grave by a member of its own species. The [illegible] porary, says: "It appears Mr. [illegible] ing along the Wharf Road, [illegible] his dogs, when one of them, [illegible] a scamper on the 'slip,' accidentally fell over. The tide was fully in at the time, and whether through fright or being unable to swim, the poor animal made but a feeble attempt to save itself. Seeing its perilous position, his St. Bernard dog Momus, who had been a passive onlooker, jumped in, and, seizing with his teeth the leather collar which encircled the other's neck, pulled her along to where the 'slip' was on a level with the water, when she was safely landed, not much the worse of her immersion. Several persons who had been bathing witnessed the strange occurrence. Quite recently an Irish terrier narrowly escaped being drowned in the same spot. Two 'natives' had a row in the water, and one became so exhausted that it was with much difficulty rescued by means of a lifebuoy, which an ardent admirer of the breed, in the person of a police constable, had thrown in to it."

WHEN Mr. Dudley E. Waters' smooth St. Bernards Champion Alton II and Lady Adelaide II went to the Ohio Humane Society's dog show last month they were accompanind by their owner's brother-in-law, Mr. R. E. L. Hills. He took breakfast at the Dennison House, and when he was ready to start to the show the rain was pouring down. Calling a cab, Mr. Hills took a seat in the lobby with a St. Bernard on either side of him to await its coming. When the cab arrived Mr. Hills, to the surprise of the small crowd that had been attracted by the fine canines, placed both dogs inside the cab, while he himself climbed to the driver's seat and rode to the hall. It was a novel spectacle to people on the streets to see the face of a St. Bernard dog in either cab window, while their master sat outside in the rain, and probably a good many wondered why he did not secure a vehicle large enough to hold himself as well as the dogs; be that as it may, Mr. Hills felt fully rewarded and forgot all about the wetting he had got when the bitch won in open and novice classes and Alton II took the society's silver cup in the challenge class.

COMPLAINTS reach us from Pueblo and Colorado Springs that the Western Kennel Club Company has not yet paid all the premiums won at the last Denver show. There was a deficit after each one, we believe, of the five previous shows at Denver, and on each occasion the gentlemen most actively interested in promoting those shows put their hands in their pockets for the amount needed. What the deficiency amounts to this year we are not aware, but knowing President Norman and Secretary Weiant as we do we feel safe in saying they will leave no stone unturned to pay off all prize-winners in full. The executive may have been disappointed by not receiving promised support, or hampered by slow collections; we do not know. But we hope to hear ere long that all debts have been liquidated without exhibitors having recourse to the lodging of protests with the American Kennel Club.

THE bloodhound's misfortune in its name, which conveys to the ordinary public and the average reporter for a daily paper the idea of a fearsome animal whose appetite for human flesh and blood is only exceeded by a man-eating tiger's. Perhaps in the twentieth century the people will learn to know and appreciate the bloodhound as he deserves, but the prevalent idea will take much uprooting. The Denver Post of June 18, a marked copy of which has been sent us, says the Chief of Police in that city has purchased "a pair of ferocious bloodhounds, imported from the Ozark Mountains of Arkansas." When the terrible creatures have arrived we trust some of Denver's dogmen will call and inspect them, and then let the people and press of the Colorado city know how and where they differ from the much maligned and misrepresented bloodhound.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Pacific Fox Terrier Club was held June 11 at the office of the Breeder and Sportsman, President H. W. Fores in the chair. Secretary J. B. Martin, H. H. Carlton, A. Gonzales, G. B. Debenham, J. R. Dickson and A. Russell Crowell were also present. Dr. F. W. D'Evelyn was elected to membership and Harry Lowden was proposed. The treasurer reported a balance of $28.85 cash on hand. Mr. Carlton proposed that the members bring their dogs at the next meeting and discuss their merits and demerits, to educate the members as to the requirements of the standard. The question of the charges brought by Mr. Martin against Messrs. Debenham and Heffernan before the Pacific Kennel Club were discussed at considerable length, but the club decided that it had no jurisdiction in the matter.

A LAWSUIT of considerable interest to dogmen is promised as a result of dog shooting by the Marshal of Hammond, a town in Indiana. Last week the authorities issued a proclamation cautioning all people in the town to muzzle their dogs, and Saturday morning the Marshal, on orders from the Mayor, sallied forth to destroy all unmuzzled dogs. Among those he slew was a young St. Bernard named Rover, the property of Mr. E. E. Towle, a banker, and this gentleman avows his intention of bringing suit against the town of Hammond. Rover is said to have been a son of Mr. C. A. Pratt's smooth bitch Judith's Raehel (Sir Bedivere—Judith), the winner in novice and open classes for smooths at the last Chicago show.

WE have received a clipping from some Eastern daily paper, the name of which the sender does not give, which says the police of Elizabeth, N. J., recently commenced an indiscriminate crusade against all unmuzzled dogs in that town and shot seventy in two days. The people are said to dislike this, but the police are backed up by the Mayor, who declares the city will never be safe until all the strange dogs have been killed. It is further stated that there are more dogs to the square mile in Elizabeth than in any other part of New Jersey; if this is true, and a large number of them are vagrants, as the Mayor's assertion would imply, the actions of the police may not be so unjustifiable as they appear at first blush.

THE annual meeting of the Kingston Kennel Club was held on Wednesday evening, June 5, in the Frontenac Hall, Kingston, a large number of members being present. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary patrons, Hon. William Harty and Mr. J. H. Metcalfe, M. P.; honorary president, Lieut.-Col. Van Straubenzie; president, Dr. C. K. Clark; first vice-president, T. A. Carson: second vice-president, Dr. C. L. Curtis; secretary-treasurer, H. C. Bates; Dr. Massie, veterinary surgeon, Dr. Morgan, assistant: executive committee, J. B. Walkem, T. MacKay Robertson, A. E. Loscombe, Carl Y. Ford, Lt. Beostall and W. Norton Taylor.

NO news, they say, is good news; but how much better to receive actual good news. It was with a genuine pleasure that we read, and re-read, the following telegram, received Tuesday of this week, from Mr. F. G. Simpson, president of the Manitoba Field Trial Club: "Manitoba and Northwest clubs in harmony. Thos. Johnson elected member of our club last night." This is as it should be. Now for a big entry to run for the Champion Cup, donated by Mr. A. P. Heywood-Lonsdale.

IT should not be forgotten that entries for the International Field Trial Derby close next Monday. A breeding certificate and $2.50 must accompany each entry; another $2.50 will be payable September 1, and a final payment of $5 must be made on each starter. This Derby is open to all pointers and setters whelped on or after January 1, 1894, and four moneys will be given, viz., 40 per cent. of the stakes to the winner, 20 per cent. to the second dog, 15 per cent. to the third, and 10 per cent. to the fourth.

CONTRIBUTIONS are still coming in for the Elliott fund. Since our last we have received the following subscriptions: A friend from Pittsburg, $25; Walter J. Comstock and a few friends, $15; Henry Brooks, $5; H. F. Church, $5; George Thomas, $5; Alex M. Hughes, $5; C. G. Browning, $1; Donald Munro, $2. Total received to date, $312.68. Amounts promised, $64.

JAMES MORTIMER,
New York. E. M. OLDHAM.

MR. C. A. STONE writes that he is receiving many applications, from the United States as well as Canada, for premium lists, which he hopes to have ready by August 1. He expects the Montreal show to follow the Toronto week, and looks forward to a strong influx of American entries for the Canadian circuit.

MR. W. C. EHRMANN of Spratts Patent, who has been in Chicago for the past month, made the AMERICAN FIELD a pleasant call before leaving on his trip eastward, when he will visit prominent cities in Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Mr. Ehrmann reports business very good and that a permanent revival has set in.

A PACING dog, bred and owned at Galesburg, Ill., is said to have been attracting considerable attention at Denver. The dog is described as a Newfoundland and Gordon setter cross, and black with a white spot on breast. He is credited with going an eighth in 18 seconds, a quarter in 38¼ and a half in 1:30.

MR. G. N. CLEMSON of Middletown, N. Y., has purchased from Messrs. Avent and Thayer the English setters Chevalier and Kingston; these dogs have received honors at field trials from different judges, and Mr. Clemson is to be congratulated on his purchases, which will be a credit to both him and Middletown.

IT is stated that a post mortem of the collie Roslyn Wilkes, whose death by drowning we mentioned last week, revealed a badly diseased heart, and the dog's sudden collapse while swimming is accounted for by a rupture of the right ventricle.

A NUMBER of valuable dogs have been poisoned at Larchmont recently; owners of bulldogs, St. Bernards and English setters have suffered most. Although New York detectives have been employed by the wealthy residents no arrests have yet been made.

WE acknowledge with thanks the receipt of two photographs of Mr. J. L. Rice's St. Bernard bitch Arline, one of Mr. E. H. Moore's breeding and last year an inmate of Mr. J. B. Lewis' kennel.

THE president of the Montreal Kennel Association informs us that the total number of entries at its recent show was 377, over 300 dogs were benched, a good cash balance was left after paying all debts, and the public were well pleased.

THE notice I sent you of my Belle of Blue Ridge having whelped was incomplete, as I omitted the name of the sire of the puppies. The notice appeared last week. The puppies are by Gath's Mark.

Muncie, Ind. G. G. WILLIAMSON.

OVER twenty-four thousand dog licenses have been issued by the city of Chicago up to June 25. The cost per license is two dollars, and 40,000 licenses are expected to be issued.

AT the regular monthly meeting, on June 6, of the St. Bernard Club of California it was voted to make application for membership in the American Kennel Club.

MR. CARL LEDER of Chicago is "playing for" another Major McKinley, having bred the big dog's dam, Madge, to Melac again.

THE sire of Mr. Blaisdell's cocker spaniel bitch Bell, mentioned last week, was given as Red Obo, but should be Obo III.

IT must not be overlooked that entries for the Manitoba Field Trial Derby close next Monday.

WHELPS

WHELPS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Whelps. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MR. L. S. EDDIN'S
RODERIGO'S PET, English setter, by Roderigo—Blue Dick's Friend, whelped, June 9, six dogs and four bitches, by Count Rodstone (Roderigo—Fanette).
MADGE M, English setter, by Ben Hill—Katy Q, whelped, June 14, four dogs and three bitches, by Count Rodstone.

MRS. B. HAYMAN'S
HASTY PUDDING, white and brindled greyhound, by Major Glendyne—Daisy Dublin, whelped, June 24, two dogs and five bitches, by Robert the Devil (Miller's Rab—Lady Dell Glendyne).

MR. J. SMITH'S
VEXATION, English foxhound, by Genius—Nancy, whelped, May 21, two dogs and seven bitches, by Toronto Hunt's Grafton Jimcrack. One dog and five bitches dead.

MR. JOEL H. JONES JR.'S
LILLIAN HENDRICKS, orange and white English setter, by Tom Hendricks—Daisy P, whelped, June 11, four dogs and three bitches, by Rod Roderigo.

ROCHESTER KENNELS'
ALTA LOMOND, St. Bernard, by Alton Jr—Lady Lomond, whelped, May 23, seven dogs and five bitches, by Sir Rodney II (Sir Bedivere—Gundreda).

MR. G. DAYTON'S
WHEATSTONE, fawn and white greyhound, by Dingwall—Novenery, whelped, June 17, four dogs and five bitches, by Lord Neversettle.

MR. C. W. LITTLE'S
LADY FINGLAS L (35794), Irish setter, whelped, June 18, three dogs and five bitches, by Duke Elcho Jr (28336).

MR. F. B. COYNE'S
LADY PEMBROKE, greyhound, whelped, June 16, six dogs and one bitch, by Miller's Rab.

MR. A. FOLEY'S
HOTFOOT GEM, fox terrier, whelped, June 1, four bitches and one dog, by Brixton Plunderer.

MR. J. SMITH'S
MY JOE, cocker spaniel, by Black Duke—Topsy, May 9, to Red Roland.

MR. C. LEDER'S
MADGE, Great Dane, June 10, to Melac.

SALES

SALES.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Sales. To secure insertion write plainly and use following form:

MR. L. P. HIGGINS, Chicago, has sold
DWIGHT ROSE, Gordon setter, by Heather Lad—Sallie II, to Oakwood Kennels.
DOT VIEW, Gordon setter, by Rupert Beaumont—Kent's Queen, to same.
———, Gordon setter bitch and dog puppies, whelped September 29, 1894, by Pilot of Loraine—Chloe II, to same.
———, bitch puppy, whelped April 11, by Dwight Don—Dwight Rose, to same.

MR. J. W. BARRE, Louisiana, Mo., has sold
———, black, white and tan English setter dog puppy, whelped April 6, by Ned T (31588)—Queen Barre (31589), to Messrs. Burkhead & Day, Yale, Ia.
———, black, white and tan bitch, same litter, to same.

RICE KENNELS, Columbus, O., have sold
GRAND DUKE, mastiff dog, to Mr. J. L. Dunsford, Columbus, O.
TOKIO, mastiff dog puppy, whelped April 9, by Grand Duke—Belle, to Mr. Abe Ramsfelder, Columbus, O.

MR. W. P. STONE, Harlan, Ia., has sold
———, English setter dog puppy, by Troy Gladstone—Wale Bessie, to Mr. E. F. Glassman, Lincoln, Neb.

NAMES CLAIMED

NAMES CLAIMED.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Names Claimed. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

MR. L. RAUSCH, St. Louis, Mo., claims the name
MISS TONY, for black, white and tan English setter bitch puppy, whelped June 6, 1894, by Antonio—Miss Nellie Y.
SPOT BOY, for liver and white pointer dog, whelped June 25, 1893, by Spotted Boy—Bess B.

MR. J. SMITH, Guelph, Ont., claims the name
GRANDEUR, for English foxhound puppy, whelped May 21, by Grafton Jimcrack—Vexation.
PRIMROSE, for puppy, same litter.
PASTIME, for puppy, same litter.

MR. E. P. NICHOLS, St. Louis, Mo., claims the name
DOLLY NICHOLS, for lemon and white pointer bitch puppy, whelped December 25, 1894, by Meig's Tom—Jessie G (26281).
DONALD NICHOLS, for liver and white ticked dog, same litter.

VISITS

VISITS.—We make no charge for inserting notices of Visits. To secure insertion write plainly and use the following form:

RICE KENNELS'
ARLINE, rough-coated St. Beruard, by Ben Lomond—Corrette, June 9, to Grand Master.

Coursing

FIXTURES

Aberdeen Coursing Club's Autumn meeting, Aberdeen, S. D., October 1. J. H. Davis, secretary.

American Waterloo Cup meeting (first), Huron, S. D., October 8, etc. F. B. Coyne, secretary, American Coursing Club.

Altcar Coursing Club's third annual meetlug, ———, October 16, etc. T. W. Bartels, secretary.

Kenmore Coursing Club's third annual meeting, ———, October 22, etc. C. F. Weber, secretary.

Cheyenne Coursing Club's first meeting, Great Bend, Kan., October 29, etc. Ira D. Brougher, secretary.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

BUTTE, MONT.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—I have sold to Mr. Sam W. Vidler Fleur-de-Lis, black dog, and Procrastination, black bitch, by Royal Crest out of Wasted Time. They were shipped about three weeks ago, and I have received a letter from Vidler that he is well pleased with them. They are a very fine pair of puppies, large and sturdy, and the bitch particularly has a fine turn of speed. I have retained an interest in her winnings next Fall, as she will probably run in the Altcar Produce Stakes. I hope to send Vidler one or two more of the same litter for that event, though he has a right to an entry for Fleur-de-Lis, if he wants to run him. As this youngster is very growthy, however, it is probable that my entries will be represented by the other three, as they are all smaller and lighter, and more likely to come early, but I will give the boys fair warning to look out for Fleur-de-Lis in the Fall of 1896.

About the match between Royal (Lord Neversettle—Whitellps) and Snowball (Spot—Annie) which I mentioned in my last; it proved that it is better to be born lucky than rich, for Royal, after smothering Snowball for the first few turns, fell trying to kill, and Snowball went on and won. Royal was injured internally, and is not fully recovered yet. Fred Nichols, his owner, has bargained with Mr. Lowe for a bitch by Lord Neversettle out of Partera, and expects her here in a few days. He talks of taking them to California next Fall. Snowball is a small, white dog, about as unattractive looking as they make them, but is nearly first-class. He is not very fast, but can stay forever, and is dead game. His sire, Spot, is said to be an own brother of the well-known California dog, Examiner; and his dam, Annie, is bred from California stock too, and is absolutely the prettiest bitch I have ever seen, and could beat everything here when she was at herself.

I wonder if dog men generally know that a bran mash is an excellent alterative for dogs? I discovered this accidentally. Whenever I am making a mash for my young Kentucky horse El Monte (and a dandy he is, too) the dogs get around me and beg for some. Then they will go to the bran bag and eat dry bran at times. One of my Twister—Wasted Time puppies nearly sent me into convulsions the other day by coming out with his little black "snoot" all floured over. When I notice them stealing bran that way, which happens once in a week or two, I mix them a pretty good mess of it, and it would do your heart good to see them "wolf" it down. It has a very mild and pleasant effect on their bowels, and they are plainly the better for it for several days. Another discovery, for which Mrs. Macdougall is responsible, is that sugar is great stuff for puppies, especially in Winter. These Royal Crest—Wasted Time puppies were very poorly for some time after they were weaned, which was in the latter part of September, and nasty, wet weather, and in fixing up their messes she insisted on putting in plenty of sugar, rather against my judgment. I cannot put their wonderful improvement and growth down to anything else, for otherwise they were fed no better than any other puppies. In a mess of gruel or porridge for the four she would put about half a cup of sugar, and the result was that the rascals were as fat as seals all Winter, and did not suffer the least check in their growth. The fact that they weighed fifty-four, forty-nine, forty-four and thirty-nine pounds at seven months old, in the latter part of March, is sufficient proof of what I say. I do not know that sugar would be so good for them in Summer, but will probably know about that by Fall, as the little Twister—Wasted Time brace are getting about the same ration of it proportionally; not because they look as if they needed stimulating, but because my wife thinks they like it, which is reason enough for a lady who loves dogs. The aforesaid El Monte buncos her out of a good deal of sugar, too, but that rascal gets exactly what he wants from the whole family, and keeps fat and sassy on it. After all, there is reason for it. Sugar is both fattening and stimulating. I give these two hints for what they are worth.

I have named the Twister—Wasted Time dog Diamond Drill, and the bitch Spinning Wheel. They are growing nicely, and inspiring us with the hope that they will be so good that we will not regret the death of the rest of the litter.

Why do not you get Dr. Van Hummell to write more about his English experiences? I have been watching for another letter from him. I am sure all the "boys" would be delighted to read his description of English methods of training, running and so forth, and I don't think "Doc" is the kind of fellow to want to keep all he learned to himself. Punch him up and get him to give us a nice story. Nobody is better able than he to single out the important facts in their methods as contrasted with ours. Such a comparison, by so practical a man, would be both interesting and valuable.

There is no coursing news at present. My friendly silver magnate has returned, but has not decided to do anything about a coursing park yet. I do not despair of getting him interested, however, as it would be a fairly profitable venture here. I hope to catch him in a good humor some time, and pin him down to a promise. Open coursing is out of the question on account of the scarcity of jack-rabbits and the rough nature of the country, but I can get splendid hares from the eastern part of this state and from Idaho.

G. H. MACDOUGALL.

NOTES

IN the off-season, when coursing news is few and far between, so to speak, such a pleasant letter as Mr. Macdougall's is doubly acceptable. One is apt to think of Mr. Macdougall as a lone sportsman wasting his good fellowship upon desert air; this is because he is the only representative of Montana personally known to some of the coursing fraternity and Montana does not boast an annual coursing meeting. But he is not really without kindred spirits; there are others in his vicinity who take an interest in coursing, and if he can succeed in promoting a coursing park—we hope it will be a big, roomy one—near Butte no doubt the sport will flourish like the proverbial green bay tree. Pending this we trust he will make arrangements to attend some of the western meetings next season, and coax some of his Montana friends to accompany him. His sugar feeding method may not meet with general favor; though the saccharine matter is undoubtedly fattening for whelps that are doing poorly, and it restores wasted tissues. No doubt Mr. Macdougall pays proper attention to bone and muscle making food also. The bran mash is all right, but it must not be forgotten that though a mash acts as an aperient, bran when fed dry has an opposite effect. It is easy to imagine the youngsters "wolfing" the mash down, and it would be but a hard-hearted churl who could stay the hand of the sugar donor. As regards Dr. Van Hummell's experiences abroad, the Doctor is under a solemn promise, made some weeks ago, to give our readers the benefit of his observations during his flying trip to England, and we are waiting patiently for his "copy." We hope he will continue from where he left off in his "Letters from Abroad," of which only the first chapter came to hand.

LATE one evening last February an [illegible] driving along the electric car track from [illegible] to Ocean View Park, and being [illegible] rising, the climate or some other [illegible] until too late the clanging gong of a [illegible] swiftly from the rear. As a result the express wagon was soon floating keel up, and five large but lightly built crates were rendered useless except for kindling wood; and as a further result the contents of the aforesaid crates were flying over the neighboring fields in all directions and as fast as only Merced hares can fly. For the expressman had been hauling a large consignment of hares to the coursing park when the accident occurred and set the captives free. The witless expressman gazed after the scampering animals in a helpless sort of way, and then pulled himself together and made some trenchant remarks about electric cars in general and one car in particular. The next day local gunners were having a great time; a world of ammunition was expended, and the neighborhood enjoyed hare soup, roast hare, jugged hare, and hare in every form of cookery, all at Mr. Casserly's expense.

IT has been suggested that it would be beneficial for the Altcar and Kenmore clubs to hold their meetings at Goodland, Kan., during successive weeks. Such an arrangement would have its advantages, particularly in the matter of reducing traveling and other expenses; but on the other hand it will probably be argued that two towns will offer more added money than one can. The principal argument we can put forward in favor of the clubs holding their meetings at different towns is that the knowledge and consequent popularity of the sport are more thoroughly disseminated thereby, which certainly is very desirable. It is a matter on which we should like to hear from those most interested, viz., the clubs' members and others who are likely to attend their meetings. The proposed arrangement might result in both meetings receiving stronger support.

THE victory of Sam in the Consolation Stakes at the recent California meeting seems to have been a huge surprise to the cognoscenti, judging from the following remarks in the California Turf: "The fall of Best Trump in the final course was an astonisher to nine out of ten of the crowd that witnessed the closing scene in this meeting. The talent thought that Sam had no show even against Capt. Morse and offered three to one against him; they fell though pretty heavily and thought to recoup themselves in the next and final course by offering five and six to one against him with Best Trump. Many, however, had their eyes open, and the layers of the long odds suffered accordingly."

THE coursing club at Weir City, Kan., which we mentioned last week, has been organized under the name of the Bothal Coursing Club and with the following officers: President, Mr. Amos Greenwood; vice-president, Mr. Joseph Wilkinson; treasurer, Mr. Richard Curry; secretary, Mr. T. W. McManus. We are assured the new club will take a prominent part in public coursing, so no doubt an open meeting will be held near Weir City next season.

THOSE of our readers who attended the dinner and draw of the meeting at Huron in October, 1893, will doubtless remember Mr. W. B. Sterling and his speech, when he proposed "Dakota and her Jack-rabbits," while a few of the visiting sportsmen can recall a pleasant evening spent at Mr. Sterling's home, and they will regret to hear that he is about to leave Huron for Omaha, where he goes to take the general attorneyship of the Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley Railway.

THE greyhound bitch Wheatstone (imp. Dingwall—imp. Novenery) that ran at the Wallace Coursing Club's little meeting last November, when she was owned by Mr. W. N. Sweet, has a litter of nine, by imp. Lord Neversettle. She now belongs to Mr. George Dayton of Lincoln, Neb., and that gentleman very naturally expects some of the litter will represent him worthily at some future time.

ON the sixteenth of this month the imported bitch Lady Pembroke whelped a litter of seven (six dogs and a bitch), by imp. Miller's Rab. It will be remembered that Lady Pembroke was imported last year by Mr. H. Nelson, but slipped her stifle while in training prior to the Huron meeting and was left there by Bradbury when he took his string to La Crosse, Kan. She is still at Huron.

MR. J. R. DICKSON has lost his imported dog Waratah, which has either strayed away or been stolen. We shall be glad to hear the veteran journalist has got his dog back safe and sound.

Rifle

FIXTURES

National Sharpshooters' Union's first tournament, Glendale, L. I., June 30 to July 8.

SEVERAL members of the Milwaukee Rifle Club attended the tournament of the Western Sharpshooters' Union last week, H. N. Campbell and Dr. Rogers taking part. Mr. Yale was present for a time and Henry Drake tried to put in some time but failed. We found Mr. Drake hale, hearty and full of enthusiasm [illegible] and were pleased to learn that all the members of the good old club are in the enjoyment of health and [illegible] ing practice shoots, and that not a death has occurred in the club, though in existence for [illegible] fifteen years, which speaks well for rifle shooting as a recreation. Among them are Messrs. Johnston, Drake, Hayes, Fielding, Welles, Hill and Yale, names which bring to mind the interesting contests between these [illegible] as a team against the Geo. H. Thomas Rifle [illegible] ten years ago, and later the Chicago Rifle [illegible] scores being at 800 and 900 yard ranges. [illegible] ization has deprived the Milwaukee [illegible] as others, of long ranges, and to [illegible] the apparent lack of interest at the present time in rifle clubs. If 1,000 yard ranges could be secured within fifteen miles of our large cities we would see a great revival in rifle practice, and the man that devises practical stops and convinces farmers that a ricochetting ball will never reach their pigs, cows or other live stock, will be a benefactor indeed. A half-moon or quarter-sphere shaped stop might do it.

AMONG the many rifles used at the tournament of the Western Sharpshooters' Union last week, we noted the appearance of the new Farrow target rifle, and if all the rifles turned out by the Farrow Arms Co. do as well for their owners as the two present at this shoot did for those in whose hands they were, we can predict that Capt. Farrow will have no difficulty in gaining many patrons of the "Schutzen" with his special make. We refer to the scores on the Union target of 67 made by Capt. Farrow, of Morgantown, W. Va., and of Wm. Heyer, of Fountain City, Wis. The prizes in cash were seventy-five dollars and sixty-five dollars, respectively, a very fine showing on a target demanding the exhibit of about all the nerve in a shooter's system. We noticed also that Capt. Farrow actually "drove the very center" on the "Stich" target with his second shot, and the other two so close by they would have won nice prizes, but only the best is counted. The string measurement of the 3 shots fired in succession, off hand, 200 yards, was but 2 and 13-16 inches. It is the highest on record for the "Stich" target in a public tournament. Capt. W. Milton Farrow will be remembered particularly as one of the American team that went to Ireland in 1880 and defeated the Irish team at Dollymount, and as one of the military team that defeated all comers in England. Also, at Creedmoor, in 1882, Capt. Farrow won first prize for 800, 900 and 1,000 yards, holding the record at the latter—145 out of 150. At Newark, N. J., in 1878, he won the "king's" medal. We were pleased to note that Capt. Farrow is still enjoying good health.

ON July 15 and 16 the South New England Sharpshooters' Union will hold a tournament at Springfield, Mass. The Union is composed of clubs from Springfield, Hartford, New Haven, Meriden, New Britain and Ansonia. The shooting will take place at Forest Park, and many visitors are expected, from the Glendale tournament, to participate. On July 15 all the targets will be open at 9 o'clock with the exception of the target of honor match which will open at 1 o'clock p. m. and will close at 7 o'clock. From 12 to 1 o'clock there will be an intermission for dinner. On the 16th the targets will be open from 8 to 5 excepting the target of honor, which will close at 4 o'clock. The prizes for the target of honor will be distributed at 5 o'clock and the other prizes after the closing of the second day's shoot.

THE Columbia Rifle Club of San Francisco, a number of the members of which attended the tournament of the Western Sharpshooters' Union last week, has, in conjunction with other riflemen of California, purchased a site at San Rafael, across the bay from San Francisco, and fitted it up with rifle ranges, club houses, etc., at a cost of $55,000, and they now claim the finest rifle club grounds in the country. Upon the conclusion of the Milwaukee tournament they left for Glendale, L. I., to participate in the tournament there next week.

DURING the Milwaukee tournament last week a letter was received by Capt. Farrow from Mr. D. F. Macdonald, secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Rifle Association, of Parry Sound, Ont., in which he expressed great regret at not being able to be present, but assured all that he and his club members would watch closely the work done, and hoped to be present in a body at the next tournament.

AT the Massachusetts Rifle Association's range on Saturday of last week, June 22, Mr. H. L. Willard, of Boston, made a possible, or 120, in the prize contest, shooting with a rest. The highest previous record on the range was 119. The conditions were very favorable to good work, and several other good scores were also made.

THE National Sharpshooters' Union will hold a tournament of a week's duration, the festivities beginning to-day, and ending next Saturday, at Glendale, L. I. With the exception of the "honor target," all other events, in which numerous cash prizes are offered, are open to all comers.

THE Bisley rifle team of Canada sailed on Saturday last for England. The team consisted of twenty-one men and two officers, the latter being Maj. A. A. Markham, 8th Hussars of St. John, N. B., commander, and Captain Mitchell, 90th Battalion, Winnipeg, adjutant.

MANY improvements are contemplated by the St. Louis Sharpshooters' Association on their forty acres of land near Drew Station on the Missouri Pacific Railroad. Among these will be a commodious club house and new ranges.

TOURNAMENT OF THE WESTERN SHARPSHOOTERS' UNION

The ninth tournament of the Western Sharpshooters' Union, held at Milwaukee, Wis., June 19, 20, 21 and 22, was the most successful ever given [illegible] this popular organization. There were over [illegible] ck shots present from every [illegible] and their enthusiasm and good [illegible] nd their praise of the manage- [illegible] union well deserved the praise bestowed on them, for from the time the first signal gun was fired on Wednesday till the end of the tournament everything ran smoothly and satisfactorily. The weather was perfect—cool, clear and exhilarating.

On Wednesday, Mayor Koch welcomed the visitors in a felicitous speech, giving them the freedom of the city. President John Meunier, who was ubiquitous and had a pleasant word and a hearty handshake for everybody throughout the four days, responded to the Mayor's welcome on behalf of the riflemeu assembled; the band played, the signal gun fired, and the whistling bullets told that the events had begun. Secretary Wm. Finger, who had had a great deal of preliminary work to perform, just began to realize that the hardest work of the tournament was before him; but he was equal to the occasion and he discharged his onerous duties most satisfactorily, and expeditiously. Messrs. S. Meunier and A. Engel, shooting masters, attended to the daily details so closely that not a moment's delay occurred at any time, not a target was out of order, every shooter was scored correctly, and everyone had a target to shoot at as soon as he was ready, there being over thirty shooting stalls and targets. Stephen Meunier was particularly happy in that his foresight helped out his system of rotation wonderfully, thereby allowing him many spare moments for witty chats or good advice as the occasion called for. Mr. Mohr had a good word for everyone and was generally found in or near a stall, ready to advise. Each member of the executive committee of the Western Sharpshooters' Union realized the responsibility resting on his shoulders and never shirked it, for which the committee were given three cheers and a tiger.

Thursday night the shooters were tendered a Summer night's festival at Pleasant Valley, instrumental and vocal selections, refreshments, fireworks and general illumination of the park being the features. Friday evening Mr. Engiehardt, lessee of Schlitz Park, entertained them, the features being a performance by the America Opera Co. of "Boccaccio," forty artists taking part, an outdoor vaudeville and refreshments. Altogether the participants in the ninth tournament of the Western Sharpshooters' Union will long have cause to remember their visit with pleasure and satisfaction.

The proportionate number of Ballard rifles used to that of any other one make was significant, and generally commented on, for the reason that the manufacture of this old reliable target rifle has ceased and few are now on the market. This fact makes each rifleman cherish all the more his possession, and if a mishap occurs it is considered a serious matter. So fond are the majority of the shooters of the Ballard, that if they cannot obtain one they will use other barrels but apply the Ballard action, the Zischang barrel being mostly the substitute. It was the general opinion that the manufacturers have made a mistake in discontinuing the Ballard. The Winchester single shot rifle was the next most generally used, there being over sixty on the grounds, and their owners considered them fully the equal of any others used, not excepting the Ballard, the favor in which the latter were held being attributed to their earlier introduction as a target rifle exclusively. The Marlin, Remington, Farrow, Pope, Toggenburger, Martini-Henry, Hoffaker and Bulard were all in evidence.

Captain W. Milton Farrow, well-known to all our readers, has perfected his rifle to such a nicety of barrel and hammerless action, that the demand has exceeded his ability to supply. The Captain showed his faith in his rifle by entering for every event and shooting out his string at every target. Captain Farrow believes in patched bullets for good work and used them; almost every other shooter used lubricated bullets.

The Cincinnati Rifle Club was present in force, and Captain Mat Gindele was proud of them. They are all good shots; their rifles weigh less than ten pounds, with three to five pound trigger pull. Of the club Messrs. Topf, Nestler and Randall use Ballards, Messrs. Lee, Hasenzahl, Gindele and Weinheimer use Ballard action with Zischang barrels, and Messrs. Payne and Wellinger use Winchesters. Those present regretted their other members were not there, a sentiment we can appreciate, for they pull together like one man. They left in a body for the big tournament at Glendale, L. I., June 29 to July 8.

The Columbia Rifle Club of San Francisco received a hearty welcome and right well they deserved it, not only on account of the long trip they made but because they are all good shots and jolly good fellows. A. Strecher, one of its members, was the first man to score 250 on the "point target" and win a medal. This not only was a great honor but caused him and his club to be looked upon as extra skillful shooters and hard to beat. Every shooter knows what an advantage it is to lead—he breathes easier and has set the pace; the other fellows breathe harder and feel the strain of trying to beat the high score. An amusing experiment was that of Mr. Ehrenpfort, a genial member of sixty-eight Summers and who wears seventeen handsome and valuable medals won at different tournaments. He had been shooting a heavy octagon barrel and getting a red flag every time, and changed to a round and lighter and shorter barrel. With this he got two blue flags and three reds out of five; he said the length and twist in the round barrel were just what he wanted, but the weight was lacking for steady holding, to overcome which he bound nine 306 grain bullets on either side of the barrel four or five inches from the muzzle. This gave the desired weight and he held steadier and got more blue flags. F. O. Young of the same club was the only shooter present using a nitro powder, the American Wood, of which he used only a few grains for priming, he claiming he got better results in consequence of its quick ignition, thus assisting the black powder; he also claimed it kept his barrel clean. A number who had tried nitros in cartridge shells failed to get as good results as with the black, and are waiting for the manufacturers to produce a satisfactory nitro for rifle shooting before attempting it again.

Considerable comment was indulged in bearing on the system of single and double score cards. Upon the payment of one dollar a competitor received a score card marked "single" and which entitled him to twenty shots; as a score of 250 on the Kehr target was necessary to secure a medal, he would have to buy possibly seven or eight "singles" to score 250, whereas, if he bought a card marked "double," paying two dollars therefor, every shot would count double, and in this way he could score 250 with half the number of "singles" required. Of course this prevented a comparison of skill, for the reason that only half a score was shot and the other half bought. Where there are so many shooters as were at this tournament, we think there should be a uniform charge of two dollars, placing all on an equality. Some criticism was also indulged in on the rule which governed the shooters at the Standard target, compelling everyone to extend his arm in aiming, the "strictly off-hand shooting" being so construed. This handicapped those who were shooting 14 and 16 pound rifles, they claiming that if they kept their elbow off their body it was "off-hand" shooting, such as turning the arm under the forearm of the rifle, etc. This prevented many of the latter from entering for the prizes. To prevent any criticism whatever, the conditions should be plainly stated and it would be well to restrict the rifles to a certain weight in this event; then those who come with heavy rifles only could have no fault to find except with themselves for coming unprepared.

We noticed only three muzzle-loaders and they had a very antiquated appearance. We were surprised, also, at the large number of shooters who were ignorant of the charge they were using or the weight of their rifles; they bought what they had been advised by some fellow member and that was all they knew about it. In many instances the rifles and charges were not suited for their owner and until they make a study of weapons and ammunition they need not expect to excel. For the purpose of comparison, and as an exhibit of the rifles and charges used, the subjoined list of a majority of those present will prove interesting:

Name	Rifle	Cal.	Pow.	Bul.
A. Strecher	Winchester	32	40	165
F. O. Young	Ballard	38	59	330
Wm. Ehrenpfort	Ballard	32	40	190
D. B. Faktor	Winchester	38	55	306
Geo. Helm	Winchester	32	41	165
F. P. Schuster	Winchester	38	55	255
A. Fienhold	Ballard	38	55	306
J. E Schmidt	Ballard	38	55	306
A. O. Neider	Winchester	38	50	255
O. Altpeter	Ballard	38	55	306
S. Meunier	Ballard	38	50	306
A. Herden	Ballard	40	63
H. N. Campbell	Ballard	32	35	185
Dr. F. C. Rogers	Winchester	32	35	185
H. Wesle	Ballard	38	55	306
E. F. Richter	Ballard	38	50	306
J. Traudt	Martini	32	40	185
G. L. Kurtz	Winchester	32	40	165
M. Gindele	Ballard*	32	40	200
O. Topf	Ballard	32	40	165
F. M. Lee	Ballard*	32	40	185
E. D. Payne	Winchester	32	40	175
C. Nestler	Ballard	38	55	306
C. Wellinger	Winchester	32	40	185
W. Hasenzahl	Ballard	32	40	200
W. Randall	Ballard*	38	50	306
R. Weinheimer	Ballard	32	40	180
J. J. Ott	Ballard*	38	55	306
W. Ott	Pope	32	40	200
E. A. Gatterdam	Winchester	32	40	165
C. Pederson	Remington	32	40	175
M. W. Farrow	Farrow	32	40	240
W. Heyser	Farrow	32	40	185
A. Kohl	Winchester	32	40	165
A. W. Reen	Ballard	32	40	165
W. F. Meidroth	Ballard	32	40	165
F. J. Bohri	Winchester	32	40	165
A. Karbe	Winchester	32	40	170
V. Rapp	Ballard	32	40	170
M. Kaeer	Winchester	32	40	170
S. G. Dorman	Remington	32	40	177
J. Morf	Winchester	32	40	185
D. Wiget	Winchester	32	40	185
R. W. Staley	Winchester	32	40	180
R. Bethmann	Winchester	32	40	165
N. M. Plotke	Ballard	38	50	255
F. Roth	Ballard	38	50	255
C. Schotte	Ballard	38	50	255
S. B. Traud	Martini-Toggenburger	38	40	255
E. Thielepape	Ballard	38	40	255
C. M. Weinburger	Hoffaker	38	45	255
W. Ott	Ballard	38	50	255
J. Demling	Martini-Toggenburger	38	40	255
F. Toggenburger	Martini-Toggenburger	38	40	255
C. Theiler	Ballard	32	35	185
H. Wild	Ballard	38	55	306
F. J. Breyliuger	Winchester	38	35	185
E. Wittmei	Ballard	32	35	65
J. C. Marti	Ballard	38	50	255
H. L. Babler	Ballard	32	35	65
E. Ladwig	Ballard	38	55	255
W. Sonneuberg	Winchester	32	40	185
J. F. Brethauer	Ballard	38	50	306
B. L. Schmidt	Ballard	38	55	255
J. Ehlers	Winchester	32	40	185
J. W. Buck	Ballard	38	50	255
E. Berger	Ballard	38	55	255
F. Bredow	Ballard	38	50	255
J. D. Regennitter	Ballard	32	40	185
C. W. Ranzow	Ballard	38	50	255
C. J. Schutter	Winchester	32	40	185
W. H. Regenuitter	Ballard	38	55	255
E. Wentzell	Ballard	32	40	185
A. Berg	Ballard	38	50	255
F. A. Martin	Marlin	38	50	306
H. M. Pope	Pope	32	43	200
A. Muenster	Ballard	32	40	185
P. Duecker	Remington	38	47	306
A. Kuentz	Winchester	32	40	165
F. A. Mans	Ballard	32	35	185
F. Merz	Martini	40	45	—
P. Zapf	Martini	40	45	—
A. J. Van Dusen	Pope (M. L.)	32	40	200
G. M. Ziegenfuss	Winchester	32	40	212
W. P. Bragg	Ballard	38	45	306
L. E. Danuser	Ballard	38	55	306
C. Matthey	Ballard	38	50	255
H. Schroeder	Ballard	38	50	255
F. Mengedoht	Ballard	38	50	255
F. R. Heft	Ballard	32	40	165
D. Sehneidewind	Winchester	32	40	165

*Ballard Aetion, Zisehang barrel.

Up to the time of going to press all the winners had not been announced and the scores not certified to; as soon as they are they will be given. So far as announced the winners on the different targets are as follows: Edward Richter of Milwaukee was declared "King" of the tournament, he scoring 228 points on the King target. Stephen Meunier won first on the Union target, H. M. Pope on the People's target, A. Strecher on the Man target, M. Giudele on Standard target.

RIFLE AT EPHRATA

EPHRATA, PA.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—A very interesting contest between riflemen from Chester and Lancaster counties took place on the range of the North End Rifle Club at this place, on June 20, which was witnessed by a large crowd of visitors from this and other places.

The contest was the first of a series of three matches for the championship of these two counties, arranged some time ago, and lasted during the day. Each team had fourteen marksmen, the Chester County team taking its men mostly from the Coatesville Rifle Club, while the Lancaster County team was composed of members from the North End Rifle Club and the Lancaster Schuetzen Verein. The distance was 200 yards, muzzle rest, best out of a possible 100 points, standard American targets being used. Each shooter was allowed five sighting or trial shots, and ten shots in the contest proper.

The visitors arrived on the grounds by train at 9 o'clock a. m., and after the necessary delay to arrange the preliminaries, which was done by the captains of the teams, the sport began. The trial shots consumed the time until noon, when a lunch was partaken of. The regular contest was begun immediately afterward and lasted several hours. It was very interesting from the beginning, and the Lancaster County boys were not slow in realizing that if they expected to win they could afford to do but little poor shooting. The Chester County team proved to have the better marksmen, as the following summary shows, and won the contest. The full scores were as follows:

CHESTER COUNTY

W. T. Gordon	9	9	9	10	10	9	10	7	6	10	89
W. P. Thompson	10	9	10	9	7	10	8	9	9	9	90
S. Fairlamb	9	7	6	8	9	10	8	10	9	9	85
M. Darlington	8	7	9	9	9	10	8	8	6	9	83
E. Pattersou	7	10	8	5	7	0	5	9	7	5	72
C. Fulmer	10	0	10	9	10	10	0	6	10	8	73
Irwin	10	10	9	4	8	4	9	7	10	7	78
J. G. Pugh	7	9	10	10	9	9	10	9	10	9	92
G. Gilbert	10	7	9	9	9	8	9	8	10	10	89
S. Moore	8	7	9	7	7	8	5	7	6	10	72
H. Thorne	8	10	10	10	9	8	7	10	9	8	89
J. Entrekin	9	10	10	8	9	9	8	9	8	6	86
J. Rodney	7	7	7	7	7	9	9	6	8	9	76
J. Kendig	7	6	7	8	9	9	7	10	8	8	70
Team total											1,153

LANCASTER COUNTY

T. A. Anderson	9	6	8	9	5	9	7	5	7	5	70
O. F. Weber	10	9	9	9	7	9	9	9	6	7	84
D. W. Wentzel	6	5	8	7	7	8	8	10	7	10	76
C. C. Franciscus	9	10	8	5	4	8	9	7	8	5	73
B. F. Bichl	7	10	9	9	8	7	7	9	9	5	79
W. K. Romig	9	9	10	10	10	9	10	8	8	10	93
C. H. Obrieter	7	9	10	9	9	10	9	7	7	6	83
D. W. Winters	8	10	8	9	7	10	8	8	10	8	86
P. Dommel	7	6	9	8	6	8	3	9	8	6	61
L. M. Weist	8	7	9	10	9	8	10	9	9	9	88
S. L. Sharp	10	7	6	7	4	6	7	10	6	7	73
J. F. Wolfer	6	7	10	6	8	5	7	5	5	4	61
D. B. Lefever	8	7	9	10	8	7	8	6	9	6	78
W. M. Carpenter	6	7	9	9	7	8	7	7	8	7	75
Team total											1,081

Although Chester County won the contest the Lancaster County team claimed the honor of having made the highest single score, which was made by Mr. W. K. Romig of the North End Club.

After the regular contest another match of three shots to each man was indulged in, which brought out some very fine shooting. Before the visitors departed for home they were conducted to the Ephrata House, where a fine supper awaited them, and to which they did ample justice. The second match in the contest will be held at Lancaster, Thursday, July 18.

D. B. LEFEVER.

RIFLE AT DENVER

At a recent tournament of the Denver Rifle Club on the range near Golden scores as given below were made at 200 and 500 yards range, American standard target:

200 YARDS

J. N. Lower	4	10	10	9	10	7	10	6	9	10—85
G. C. Schoyen	7	9	10	5	9	6	8	8	8	7—77
J. A. Ricker	6	5	5	8	5	6	9	10	8	7—69
A. W. Peterson	5	10	7	5	5	6	6	7	6	6—63
C. C. Ford	3	9	10	4	4	5	4	8	4	9—60
J. E. Sheriff	4	9	5	4	4	9	6	3	1	9—59
H. B. Gilbert	5	4	5	8	4	8	6	3	4	8—55
F. Speth	6	5	8	4	6	7	7	4	5	3—55
D. W. King	6	3	1	3	8	7	3	7	8	5—51
J. H. Dean	2	5	1	3	5	6	9	6	6	7—53
C. Gove (rest)	9	9	10	8	10	5	9	8	8	7—83

500 YARDS, CREEDMOOR TARGET

J. H. Dean	5	4	4	5	5	4	5	5	1	5—46
H. B. Gilbert	5	5	4	5	3	4	3	5	5	5—44
G. C. Schoyen	5	1	2	5	4	5	5	5	5	3—43
A. W. Peterson	5	3	3	3	3	5	1	5	5	5—41
J. N. Lower	2	3	3	4	5	5	5	4	3	4—38
F. Speth	3	2	2	5	2	5	2	2	5	5—33

EPHRATA, PA.—The regular semi-monthly practice shoot of the North End Rifle Club took place recently at the club's range, eight members participating. The American standard target was used, distance 200 yards, muzzle rest, best out of a possible 100 points. The day was all that the shooters desired, and the following were the best scores made by the several members:

Lefever	10	10	6	10	10	7	10	10	10	10—93
	10	9	10	10	10	9	7	10	10	8—93
Winters	10	10	9	10	8	8	9	8	10	8—90
	10	8	10	10	8	10	10	8	10	8—92
Wiest	7	8	10	10	9	7	10	10	9	9—89
Romig	9	8	8	10	7	9	10	8	9	10—88
Bowman	7	10	7	7	10	10	8	9	9	5—82
Carpenter	7	5	10	7	8	10	10	9	8	8—82
Sheaffer	10	6	5	7	6	8	7	10	8	8—77
Sharp	6	6	8	9	6	10	10	7	8	8—77

B. B. L.

Trap

FIXTURES

JUNE

Maryland and District of Columbia Trap Shooters' League tournament, Oak Crest, Md., June 29.

Endeavor Gun Club's tournament, Marion, N. J., June 29.

JULY

Prescott Gun Club's tournament, Prescott, Arizona, July 3, 4 and 5.

Springfield Gun Club's all-day shoot, Springfield, N. J., July 4.

Natchitoches Gun Club's tournament, Natchitoches, La., July 4.

Wilmerding Gun Club's tournament, Wilmerding, Pa., July 4.

Ironton Gun Club's tournament, Ironton, O., July 4.

Garfield Gun Club's all-day shoot at club's grounds, West Madison and 50th Streets, July 4.

Standard Gun Club's shoot, Baltimore, Md., July 4.

Elwood Gun Club's tournament, Elwood, Ind., July 4.

Eureka Gun Club's tournament, Chicago, July 4.

Dahoga Gun Club's tournament, Athens, Pa., July 4.

Forester Gun Club's all-day shoot, Davenport, Ia., July 4.

Live bird shooting tournament, Hartshorne, I. T., July 4.

Cicero Gun Club's all-day tournament, Oak Park, Ill., July 4.

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., July 4, live birds and targets.

Naromake Gun Club's all-day tournament, Norwalk, Conn., July 4.

Shamokin Gun Club's tournament, Indian Park, Shamokin, Pa., July 4.

Norwalk Shooting Association's second annual tournament, Norwalk, O., July 4.

Wood Powder Gun Club's tournament, Orangeville, Baltimore County, Md., July 4.

Palmetto Gun Club's tournament, Charleston, S. C., July 4.

White Plains Gun Club's tournament, White Plains, N. Y., July 4.

Central Gun Club's tournament, Duluth, Minn., July 4 and 5.

Central Gun Club's tournament, Duluth, Minn., July 4 and 5.

Altoona Rod and Gun Club's tournament, Wapsononock Park, Altoona, Pa., July 11 and 12. W. G. Clark, secretary.

J. F. Schmelzer & Sons Arms Co.'s second annual midsummer shooting tournament, Kansas City, Mo., July 16, 17, 18 and 19. Open to amateurs only; $1,500 in prizes.

Belfast Gun Club's second annual tournament, Belfast, Me., July 17 and 18.

Interstate Association's tournament, Macon, Ga., under the auspices of the Macon Gun Club, July 17 and 18. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Macon Gun Club.

Lafayette Gun Club's annual tournament, Lafayette, Ind., July 23, 24 and 25.

AUGUST

Interstate Association's tournament, New Orleans, La., under the auspices of the Louisiana Gun Club, August 9 and 10. Two hundred dollars in cash added by the Louisiana Gun Club.

Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association's tournament, Philadelphia, Pa., August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

Interstate Association's tournament, Charlotte, N. C., under the auspices of the Charlotte Gun Club, August 27, 28 and 29. Amount of added money will be announced later.

SEPTEMBER

Tournament at Attica, N. Y., live birds and targets, September 2 and 3.

South Side Gun Club's tournament, Newark, N. J., September 2 and 3.

Morgan's Grove Fair Association's tournament, Shepherdstown, W. Va., September 4 and 5, under the management of the Interstate Association.

Limited Gun Club's tournament, Indianapolis, Ind., second week in September.

OCTOBER

West Newburg Gun Club's Fall tournament, West Newburg, N. Y., October 9, 10 and 11. First two days at targets, last day at live birds.

NOVEMBER

Kewanee Gun Club's regular annual tournament, Kewanee, Ill., November 5, 6 and 7.

1896

Annual territorial tournament, Arizona Sportsmen's Association, Phœnix, Ariz., January 4 and 5, 1896.

Interstate Association's fourth annual Grand American Handicap at live birds, New York, April 1, 2 and 3.

Memphis Gun Club's tournament, Memphis, Tenn., second week in May. $2,000 in cash added to the purses.

Winona Gun Club's tournament, Winona, Minn., May 30.

South Side Gun Club's eleventh annual tournament, Milwaukee, Wis., May 30, 31 and June 1.

American E. C. Powder Co.'s tournament, New York, May 4 to 8, 1896.

KANSAS CITY SPORTSMEN THROW DOWN THE GAUNTLET

KANSAS CITY, MO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—With a view to promoting the interest in trap shooting a meeting was recently called of the representative sportsmen of this city, and at it it was decided to select and send a team of ten men to visit and shoot a contest against a like number of representative sportsmen in cities of 100,000 inhabitants or over. We would be pleased to hear from the following cities: Omaha, Minneapolis or St. Paul, Milwaukee, Chicago, Pittsburg, the Riverton Gun Club of Philadelphia, the Carteret, Westminster or New Utrecht Gun Club of New York.

The following conditions to govern all matches: American Shooting Association rules revised, 30 yards rise and limited to 12-gauge guns, 50 live pigeons per man, two men up and shoot down, losing side to pay for birds. Should gate money be charged at any point same to be applied on payment of birds and if any surplus, it to be divided as follows: Winners 60 per cent., losers 40 per cent.

Following the Chicago contest we would be pleased to meet a selected team from the Dominion of Canada on Des-Chree-Shos-Ka Island, near Detroit.

All communications should be addressed to

CHRIS S. GOTTLIEB, Corresponding Secretary, 807 Delaware Street, Kansas City, Mo.

NOTES

THE program for the Interstate Association's tournament to be given at Macon, Ga., for the Macon Gun Club, on July 17 and 18, has been received and like all the programs issued by the association is inviting to the amateur as well as the expert. In all the tournaments held under the management of the Interstate Association, the shooters are classified into two classes—experts and amateurs—the expert at all times being required to shoot in accordance with the expert rule, which is from five unknown traps, known angles, while the amateurs shoot from known trap, unknown angles. The amateur also who in one event wins or divides first money must in the next event in which he enters shoot in the expert class and continue there until he fails to win or divide any portion of a purse, when he will be permitted to fall back among the amateurs. While this is perhaps not the best handicap that could be promulgated, it is in a great measure in the interest of the amateur and against the expert; but as a rule the expert is competent to look out for himself, and if the game is too hard for him he will not attend, thus giving the amateur a still better chance of winning. The Macon Gun Club will add $200 to the purses and the individual members of the club will exert themselves to make the tournament exceedingly pleasant for all who may attend.

WHILE at the Texas state shoot at San Antonio, some weeks since, several gentlemen, I among the number, got into an argument on the penetration respectively of a 16-gauge and a 12-gauge gun. They claimed that the 16-gauge was superior in penetration to the 10-gtuge; asserted that they had tested them together and in every instance the result was in favor of the 16-gauge. I not having tried them, claimed that it was unreasonable to supose that an extreme load, say 3 drams of any powder from a 16-gauge gun would propel a charge of shot with as high velocity and as great penetration as 4½ drams of the same powder would from a 10-gauge gun. Will not some reader of the AMERICAN FIELD who has demonstrated this to his own satisfaction have the kindness to explain the matter in full in these columns. If I am wrong in my conclusions I would like to know it, and also know why it is so, or rather why the small bore gun is superior to the large bore in penetration.

Burton, Tex. E. B.

QUITE a number of the shooters at the Cleveland tournament, in discussing the best method of dividing purses so as to make a man shoot his best all the time, spoke very favorably of the Equitable system as described in the AMERICAN FIELD some time since by Mr. J. E. Pumphrey of Columbus, O.; others liked Dr. Carver's new method, and others still favored the English style of letting the high guns take the purse. This latter proposition, however, did not meet with much favor and we do not believe will ever be adopted at regular tournaments in this country, though it seemed to be well thought of at the Great American Handicap last Spring. Mr. John Parker thought that instead of shooting against one another as now, the shooters should shoot against the man that is making the money, and that man is the management, and at his forthcoming tournament he will try a few events of this kind to see how the shooters like it.

I DESIRE to compliment you on the manner of reporting the recent Knoxville and Memphis tournaments. This is something entirely new. The old manner of writing up shoots, where there was simply an array of 1111 or 0000 became very dry and uninteresting reading, and I, for one, wish to compliment you on this great improvement. It is not only very interesting, but instructive as well, to see all the different makes of guns which were used given as well as the makes of nitro powders used, and tends to give one an idea of the drift of things. The AMERICAN FIELD, ever the leader and always the best and foremost of sportsmen's papers, is to be thanked and congratulated on this improvement in the method of reporting trap shooting events.

Gladstone, Mich. R. H. MERTZ.

THE Central Gun Club of Duluth, Minn., will hold its third annual tournament on July 4 and 5, at which $350 will be guaranteed in purses and prizes and professionals barred. A Winchester repeating shotgun, presented to the club by an enterprising hardware firm, will be given to the man making the highest average in all program events. Purses will be divided into four moneys and a winner of first money in one event will be handicapped in the next event in which he shoots. American Shooting Association rules will govern, except that guns of all gauges will shoot from the same rise. No dropping for place will be permitted by the management and anyone caught doing so will be debarred from participating further.

AT the first annual meeting of the North Dakota Sportsmen's Association, held at Fargo, N. D., on June 13, the election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, C. E. Robbins, Fargo; first vice-president, J. J. Gokey, Dawson; second vice-president, D. R. Duck; secretary, W. W. Smith, Fargo; attorney, W. P. Miller, Fargo; directors, G. A. Carpenter and G. E. Bowers, Fargo, and J. A. Rankin, Jamestown; law committee, S. S. Lyon and J. D. Henning, Fargo, and P. Blewett, Jamestown; tournament committee, G. E. Bowers and G. A. Carpenter, Fargo. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting and tournament of the association at Fargo.

THE Maryland and District of Columbia Trap Shooters' League will hold a tournament at Oak Crest, Md., under the auspices of the Laurel Gun Club, on June 29. The attraction of the day will be a team race, six men to a team, 25 targets per man, open to any organized gun club in Maryland or the District of Columbia; entrance price of targets only. It is proposed at this tournament to perfect the organization of the league, elect officers for the current year and arrange for a tournament to be held in 1896.

MR. A. C. CHAPIN, a wealthy resident of New York City, has brought suit against Mr. R. B. Gibbins of Perth Amboy, to recover $45,000 which he claims Gibbins beat him out of by inducing him to make large bets when under the influence of liquor on certain shooting events. Gibbins denies that the man was intoxicated when he made the wagers and says that Chapin is a man of years and understood what he was doing. The courts will have to determine which is right.

MR. J. G. MESSNER, of Pittsburg, Pa., winner of the Great American Handicap at New York last April, has since then been annoyed considerably by parties wanting to shoot matches with him, and a few days since, it is said, he became tired of this and hearing that Harry Vandergrift wished to shoot him a race, gave a friend ten one hundred dollar bills and told him to make a race at once with that gentleman.

THE Ironton Gun Club of Ironton, Ohio, will hold a [illegible] day amateur tournament at inanimate targets on J[illegible] dollars in cash will be given to the men making t[illegible] averages during the day shooting in all prog[illegible] for first best average, $3 for second, $2 for [illegible] fourth. Five dollars in cash will be added [illegible] the third, sixth, tenth and thirteenth ev[illegible] will be heartily welcomed by the club.

AT the recent annual meeting of the N[illegible] men's Association, at Omaha, the follow[illegible] elected officers for the ensuing year [illegible]. C. W. Loomis of Omaha; vice-president, T. E. Ackerman of Stanton County; secretary, F. S. Parmelee of Omaha; treasurer, W. H. S. Hughes. It was decided to hold the next tournament at Omaha, the date to be named later by the officers of the association.

MR. WM. WOLSTENCROFT, who went to Cleveland to attend the Cleveland Target Co.'s big Blue Rock tournament, was taken seriously ill soon after reaching that city and returned to his home as soon as he was able to travel. He was sick half a day or more before any of the sportsmen knew he was in the city, but as soon as they learned of his illness they did everything possible for his comfort and relief.

AMONG the many clubs that will participate at the New York State tournament, at Saratoga, this week, for the Dean Richmond cup, will be the New Utrecht, the New York County and the Emerald Club of Long Island. The state shoot is now being held and the attendance is large, consequently the contest for the above trophy will be a lively and interesting one.

AT Milwaukee, Wis., on June 13, at the club contest of the National Gun Club, Mr. Theodore A. Thomas won the handsome medal donated to the club by Dr. J. L. Williamson, by scoring 25 targets straight. The conditions upon which the trophy was given were that it should become the personal property of the man who first scored 25 birds without a miss.

AT the tournament to be held by the Forester Gun Club of Davenport, Ia., on July 4, a match at 25 live birds per man will be shot between Messrs. R. B. Cook and George Shado. The tournament will consist of six target events and two live bird events, and the members of the club are looking forward to a fine day's sport.

THE Union Gun Club of Springfield, N. J., will give an all day shoot on targets and live birds July 4. Shooting will begin at 9 o'clock a. m. There should be a good attendance at these favorite grounds. Enoch Miller will see that the boys have all the shooting, of both kinds, that they may want.

THE Garfield Gun Club of Chicago will have an all-day shoot at its grounds on July 4. If permission can be obtained to shoot them in Cicero Township, live birds will be used for part of the events, but if such permission cannot be had the shooting will be exclusively at targets.

MR. I. C. WHISLER of Marion, Ind., a gentleman 61 years of age, recently scored 52 targets straight, and on the same day scored 57 out of 60. After the shoot he issued a verbal challenge to shoot a match at 100 targets for any amount up to $250, with any man of his age in the world.

THE programs for the annual tournament of the Pennsylvania State Sportsmen's Association will be ready for distribution in a few days. The tournament is to be held at Holmesburg Junction, on the grounds of the Keystone Shooting League, August 20, 21, 22 and 23.

THE Standard Gun Club of Baltimore, Md., will give a handsome silver trophy to the winner of its championship race on July 4. The event will be at 50 single targets per man, known trap, unknown angles, American Shooting Association rules to govern.

THE fourth Hollywood Futurity Handicap will be shot at Hollywood, West End, N. J., on July 6. The handicap will be from 25 to 31 yards, and nearly all the crack live bird shots of the East will participate. The entries close July 1.

FIRE, the work of an incendiary, recently destroyed the Oakland Rod and Gun Club's club house near Pittsburg, Pa. The house was occupied by Mr. Harry Korte and wife and they barely escaped in their night clothes.

THE Elwood (Ind.) Gun Club will have an all-day tournament on July 4. Purses will be divided on the equitable plan as described recently in the AMERICAN FIELD by Mr. J. E. Pumphrey of Columbus, O.

THE Coldwater (Mich.) Gun Club will have an all-day tournament on July 4.

THE Natchitoches (La.) Gun Club will hold an all-day tournament on July 4.

THE Fremont (O.) Gun Club will have an all-day shoot on Independence Day.

THE CLEVELAND TOURNAMENT

Cleveland, O., as a majority of the readers of the AMERICAN FIELD know, is ordinarily a city of good size, and its people enjoy the reputation of being thrifty, enterprising and hospitable to strangers; but when we reached there about 9 o'clock a. m., last week Wednesday morning, it seemed that it was double its usual size—in population—for the National Republican League was holding a convention there and half the people one met or saw on the street carried a gripsack or wore a badge; some were loaded—with badges—and occasionally one or two with something more inconsistent with rapid transit.

We took in the situation at once—we always do when we have to—and ordered the gentleman in livery who was to pilot us up town to head his fiery (?) and almost unmanageable hack team, to drive us to the Weddell House that we might engage quarters for our temporary stay in the city and have some place, after the arduous labors of the days before us were performed, to "lay me down to sleep." We were fortunate, for Mr. Carney, the gentleman who acted as master of ceremonies at the hotel office, said we were not a moment too soon; he could take care of us, but no more, as the house was full to the roof and the walls were already groaning under the weight that had been put upon them.

Our mind now being at rest regarding our temporary home while in the city, we inquired the way to the shooting grounds where the Cleveland Target Co.'s great Blue Rock tournament was being held, and were told to cross the street on the south front of the hotel and take a Cedar Avenue electric car; that he did not know where the shooting grounds were located, but thought perhaps the conductors on that particular line could tell us. We did as instructed—that is, crossed the street—and then began our watch for a Cedar Avenue car. Cleveland has a veritable network of electric car lines, and nearly every car in the city runs either up or down, some time during the day, Superior Street, the street we had crossed. We let one or two cars that were marked Cedar and Water streets pass, but we had been told to take a Cedar Avenue car, and in our early childhood having been taught to obey instructions to the very letter, we did not think of disregarding so good a general rule at this stage of life. Finally another of those cars marked Cedar and Water streets, came along, and discovering a [illegible] his hand making for it, and being disgusted [illegible] and waiting, we ventured out to it and asked [illegible] if his car ran ont to the shooting park. He said [illegible] pretty nearly there, so we jumped on, not k[illegible] we had one mile or five to go to get to the park

The day was warm and suitry, and as the car spun down one street and up another, tbe gentle breeze created by the motion of tbe car fanned our heated body and, having no one to converse witb, we leaned back in tbe seat and became completely lost to the surroundings. As we were skimming along [illegible] we caught the sigbt of a boy aud a gray squirrel [illegible] tree; that is, the squirrel was trying to [illegible] boy was trying not to let it climb. This [illegible]'s blood in our veius and we grabbed [illegible] flashed across our mind that we [illegible]ds, and we dropped back into the [illegible] went. Presently the conductor sang [illegible] Harriet, then Jessie, and for a mo- [illegible] had taken the wrong train on leaving home and been landed in Salt Lake City among the Mormons, instead of Cleveland. But we remembered tbat we took the Nickel Plate road when we started and knew tbat it did not run to Salt Lake.

Soon the conductor, as we rounded the corner of a street near a bluff covered with trees and undergrowtb, sang out, "here's where you get off," and looked straight at us—tbe boy with the gun case and myself. We asked the boy if we had far to walk, and his reply was "only a little way," and then he started off like many boys will and left us to bring up the rear. He was soon out of sight, but we could hear the crack of the nitro powder in tbe distauce, and as the road from this point to the shooting grounds was "blazed" with flaming E. C. powder advertisements nailed on every large tree, we began to feel as if the end of our journey was not far away. The road led up a bluff lined on either side with timber, and as we trudged slowly along, our path shaded by the dense growth of timber on eitber side, the cool atmosphere and the twitter of numerous small birds in the branches that met in tbe roadway over which they spread were delightful. It was such a change from the humdrum life of a big, dusty, bustling, crowded city, that we felt that except for the work that was expected of us we should be content to sit down right there and enjoy tbe beauty and quiet of tbe surroundings; but the "crack!" "crack!" of tbe guns said nay, we bad a labor to perform, so on we went.

As we reached tbe top of the bluff and emerged from the timber, we came upon a level plateau containing ten or twelve acres of ground, upon which is located the shooting house of the Sherman Gun Club, and which was being nsed by the Cleveland Target Co. for its second annual Blue Rock tournament.

The place is a pretty one for a tournament aud quite well adapted for the purpose, but the getting there on a hot day to a stranger without a companion to help while away tbe time is everything but the pleasautest thiug imaginable.

The club house is ample in size and very convenient, wbile on the edge of the bluff, about seventy-five yards distant from the club house, was a comfortable building of fair dimensions that is used as a dining ball, and where, duriug this tournament, a reasonably good lunch was served, together with temperance beverages and cigars.

The traps, ten in number—two sets of five each—were set in front of the club house a short distance, a plank walk led out to tbe score and a canopy covered the score line to protect the shooter from tbe rays of the sun. Back of the score line were tbe trap pullers' boxes, on each side of which were teuts provided with benches and rustic settees for shooters and lookers-on. At the extreme ends of the score line were two large blackboards upon which the scores were plainly kept, and in addition to tbis official scorers and a referee were employed at each set of traps. The background, while not as good as it might be, was not bad on a bright day or with a good light, but on a cloudy day or late in the afternoon, the bluff that rises quite abruptly some distance away in front of the traps, and some trees to the right of the second set of traps, make the "getting on" to a target with accuracy, quite difficult.

Tbe traps worked well and the Biue Rocks—tbough they are built without feathers or wings—flew uicely. The targets were not thrown hard and as there was not mucb wind the first day, many good scores were made until late in the afternoon, when the light was insufficient for some of the shooters to judge the birds correctly. One thing, however, was lacking on the first day to give the vim to a tournament that is always essential at so large a gathering as this was, and that was that there was no one except Paul North to act as squad hustler, and as Paul had a thousand and one other matters to attend to he was obliged to neglect this duty to some extent, consequently the shooters were a little slow a part of the time in getting to the score promptly. This caused the shoot to drag a little, and when darkness set in the first day's program had not been completed.

The office force, consisting of Mr. J. H. Webster, president of the Cleveland Target Co., and Messrs. J. E. Brocklesby and D. S. Mitchell, his assistants, was ample and efficient, these gentlemen being very pleasant, prompt and courteous, not alone to the participants in the tournament, but also in furnishing duplicate copies of the scores to the press and giving the press representatives such other information as they needed. We found Mr. Webster a gentleman of culture and large business interests, who regarded his duties as cashier and treasurer of the tournament as sort of a vacation from his other duties that he really enjoyed. Mr. Webster is also receiver for a large steel plant in Cleveland, and his assistants in the office at the tournament were young men from the office of the steel works. Mr. Webster has resided in Cleveland since he was four years old and consequently has seen the place grow up from a small town to a large and prosperous city, and being a man of foresight and enterprise bas taken advantage of opportunities and is now a man of considerable wealth.

The attendance to begin witb was good, there being something over one hundred sportsmen present the first day; but the all-day rain of Thursday caused much disappointment, and some few who expected to remain through the week became disgusted with the weather, themselves and everytbing else and pulled out for home Tbursday night.

Despite the steady, drizzling rain all day Thursday the shooting went on pretty steadily, but not with as good results nor as satisfactorily to either the management or tbe shooters as it would have been bad the weather been pleasant. Tbe rain continued well on into the night, but when Friday morning dawned the wind had shifted, the rain ceased and tbe promise was for a pleasant day, and the promise was fulfilled, for with the exception of considerable wind early in the morning of this day the weather was delightful all day long. Tbe attendance this day was good, though not quite so large as on the first day, and most of the shooters from a distance shot the program to a finish, while many did excellent work. The shooters had become acquainted with the grounds and as tbe day was the best of the three for target sbooting the scores were greatly improved.

As stated above, each set of traps had a referee and two scorers, one the official and the other to keep the record on the blackboard. These officials at No. 1 set of traps were Mr. Barton, referee; Messrs. Wherry and Jones scorers. At No. 2 set, Mr. Bissett referee; Messrs. Willis and Wightman scorers. On the last two days more attention was given to squad hustling, consequently everything moved along in better shape. Some of the men who were compelled to leave on Thursday night were very greatly missed on the last day, among these being W. Fred Quimby and T. H. Keller, two as jolly fellows at a shooting tournament as one ever meets. The scores will show who were in attendance, though perhaps it is well to state that more men were present from a great distance than is generally the case even at our largest tournaments. There were men from Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Utah and Texas, besides good representations from many of the near-by states, and most of them were shooters, too. Look at the scores:

EVENT No. 1.—15 single Blue Rocks, $3 entrance, $30 added, five moneys.

Speer.....101110101011110–10	Kennerson.....111111111111111–15
Stein.....111111111110111–14	Dickey.....111111111001111–13
Knopf.....111111111111111–15	Mascroft.....111111100011010–10
Price.....111111111111111–15	Courtney.....111101111111011–13
Thomas.....110111111111100–12	Tuttle.....111110011101111–12
Frank.....111010101010111–10	Mosher.....111101111001111–12
Walton.....011111101111011–12	Wagner.....111111110011111–13
Flick.....111111111111111–15	Kelsey.....111111111111101–14
Schmeck.....111111111111111 15	Valentine.....101111111111111–14
Andrews.....111111011111111–14	Parker.....111110011111111–13
Fulford.....101111111111110 13	Marks.....111110111111111–14
Weller.....011100111111111 12	Brady.....111111111111010–13
Peck.....111111111111111 15	Fox.....111001111110111–12
Williams.....[illegible]	Osmun.....100011101111011–10
[illegible]	Rennick.....111111001111111–13
[illegible]	M. Browning.....111111111111111 15
[illegible]	Young.....101111111111111–14
[illegible]	J. Browning.....111111101111111–14

Van Dyke.....111111111111111–15	Becker.....111111111011111–14
Hoffman.....100111101110110–10	Biglow.....111111101111111–14
Le Roy.....111111111101111–14	Alexander.....111111111111111–15
Bartlett.....111001111111111 13	C. M. Powers....111111111011111–14
Drake.....111011010011111–11	B. White.....111111111111111–15
Shorty.....111111101111111–14	Budd.....111111101010111–12
McMurchy.....111111111111111–15	E. W. Bird.....111111101011111–12
Keller.....111111101111111–14	Landis.....101011001111011–10
Apgar.....111111111111011 14	Sanders.....110111101011111–12
Moore.....111101111101011 12	Shaner.....111111101001110–10
Holzapfel.....111111111101111–14	Stout.....011011111111111–13
W. Miller.....010111110111011–11	Stephens.....101011110101011–10
Hill.....101111111110111–13	Quimby.....111011101110111–12
Trimble.....111111111111111 15	Spross.....111111111011111–14
Gambell.....111111111110011–13	Prechtel.....111111111011111–14
Ray.....111111111110111–14	Cockron.....110111111111111–14
Waddell.....111011111101101–12	Hammond.....111111111111111–15
Anthony.....110111111111111–14	Snow.....111111111111111–15
Harrison.....111111110111111–14	Taylor.....001111111101101–11
Schaber.....000101110111001—8	E. A. Berry.....110111111101111–13
Melott.....000010111101110—8	Ewalt.....011101100100111—9
Bibbee.....101111011101111 12	Watts.....110101011111111–12
Burton.....111111111110101 13	Schunover.....111111110011111–13
Elliott.....111111111111011–14	H. C. Fry.....010111011111111–12
Wheeler.....111111111110101–13	M. Weakland....011111100110011–10
Eager.....111110111111111–14	Leaming.....011111101001010–10
Davis.....111110111111111 14	Grieff.....111111111111110–14

EVENT No. 2.—15 targets, $3 entrance, $30 added, five moneys: Walton 11, Flick 10, Schmeck 14, Andrews 13, Fulford 15, Weller 7, Peck 11, Williams 11, Upson 12, Kiota 12, Graham 14, Red Wing 14, Van Dyke 12, J. W. Hoffman 14, Le Roy 15, Prechtel 14, Drake 14, Shorty 12, McMurchy 15, Keller 12, Apgar 11, Moore 13, Holzapfel 13, W. Miller 12, Hill 14, Trimble 13, Gambell 14, Ray 12, Waddell 10, Anthony 11, Harrison 9, Schaber 12, Melott 11, Bibbee 12, Burton 13, Elliott 12, Wheeler 13, Eager 11, Davis 13, Kennerson 11, Dickey 12, Mascroft 11, Courtney 15, Tuttle 15, Mosher 13, Wagner 10, Kelsey 15, Valentine 14, Parker 12, Marks 10, Brady 12, Fox 11, Osmun 13, Rennick 15, M. Browning 14, Young 13, J. Browning 13, Becker 13, Bigelow 13, Alexander 14, C. M. Powers 14, Bob White 13, Budd 13, E. W. Bird 9, Landis 12, Sanders 9, Speer 10, Stein 12, Knopf 13, Price 13, Thomas 14, Frank 12, Shaner 19, Stout 12, Stephens 11, Quimby 13, Spross 13, Prechtel 12, Cochran 13, Hammond 15, Snow 13, Marlett 8, Watts 14, Leaming 8, Ewalt 7, D. A. Berry 13, Grieff 12, Schunover 11.

EVENT No. 3.—15 targets, $3 entrance, $30 added, five moneys: Walton 10, Flick 14, Schmeck 13, Andrews 13, Fulford 15. Weller 7, Peck 13, Williams 13, Upson 12, Kiota 13, Graham 15, Red Wing 15, Van Dyke 11, J. W. Hoffman 13, Le Roy 9, Bartlett 13, Drake 14, Shorty 12, McMurchy 14, Keller 12, Apgar 12, Moore 8, W. R. Miller 9, Hill 13, Trimble 13, Gambell 13, Ray 15, Waddell 12, Anthony 13, Harrison 14, Schaber 12, Melott 12, Bibbee 13, Burton 13, Elliott 11, Wheeler 14, Eager 13, Davis 12, Kennerson 11, Dickey 14, Mascroft 13, Courtney 11, Tuttle 14, Mosher 13, Wagner 14, Kelsey 14, Valentine 12, Parker 14, Marks 14, Brady 11, Fox 9, Osmun 12, Rennick 14, M. Browning 14, Young 13, J. Browning 14, Becker 13, Biglow 14, Alexander 13, Powers 14, White 14, Budd 14, E. W. Bird 12, Sanders 12, Hammond 13, Henry 13, Shaner 11, Stout 12, Stephens 11, Quimby 9, Spross 15, Prechtel 14, Snow 12, Stein 13, Worthen 8, Knopf 12, Price 10, Taylor 13, Thomas 11, Fry 12, Marlett 10, Cochran 12, Leaming 10, Watts 15, Speer 11, Frank 13, Weakland 8, Schunover 13, E. A. Berry 9, Ewalt 12, Jones 11, Grieff 12, Duffy 11, Schick 10, Holzapfel 15, Swope 9.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $3 entrance, $30 added, five moneys: Walton 12, Flick 11, Scbmeck 13, Andrews 15, Fulford 14, Weller 8, Peck 13, Williams 13, Upson 14, Kiota 14, Graham 12, Red Wing 15, Van Dyke 12, J. W. Hoffman 10, Le Roy 11, Bartlett 14, Drake 15, Shorty 13, McMurchy 14, Keller 14, Apgar 12, Moore 13, Holzapfel 13, W. Miller 12, Hill 9, Trimble 10, Gambell 15, Ray 14, Waddell 12, Anthony 13, Harrisou 14, Schaber 9, Melott 7, Bibbee 13, Burton 14, Elliott 13, Wheeler 14, Eager 14, Davis 9, Keunerson 13, Dickey 12, Mascroft 10, Courtney 11, Tuttle 12, Mosher 14, Wagner 13, Kelsey 13, Valentine 13, Parker 12, Marks 11, Brady 14, Fox 13, Osmun 9, Reunick 11, M. Browning 13, Young 15, J. Browning 13, Becker 14, Biglow 15, Alexander 11, Powers 12, White 11, Budd 11, E. W. Bird 14, Henry 12, Hammond 13, Shaner 12, Stout 14, Stephens 12, Quimby 10, Prechtel 13, Worthen 8, Cochran 13, Leaming 5, Watts 11, Speer 9, Frank 13, Spross 13, J. E. T. 11, Thomas 10, Stein 13, Sanders 9, Snow 11, Schunover 11, Knopf 14, Burkhardt 11, E. A. Berry 9, Sherman 11, Weakland 13, Fry 13, Taylor 10, Ewalt 9.

EVENT No. 5.—20 targets, $3 entrance, $30 added, five moneys.

Walton....10110001101110111011–14	Parker.....11111111111111110111–19
Flick.....11111011011011011111–16	Marks.....10110101011111111011–15
Schmeck...11111111111101111111–19	Brady.....01000011111010011111–12
Andrews...11111111111111111111–20	Fox.....11110011111100111111–16
Fulford....11111111111110111111–19	Osmun.....11111110111111111111–19
Weller.....01111111110101111111–17	Rennick...11111111001111111110–17
Peck.....11111110111111101111–18	M. Browning—
Williams..11011001011001111111–14	10111111111111110111–18
Upson.....11011111101111111111–18	Young.....11111011111111111111–19
Kiota.....11111111111111111111–19	J. Browning—
Graham....11001111110111101101–15	11111111110111111111–19
Red Wing..01111111111111111111–19	Becker.....10111111101111111111–18
Van Dyke.01111111111111111111–19	Biglow.....11111101111111111110–18
J. W. Hoffman—	Alexander.11111101111101111100–16
11110011111111011101–16	Powers....10111111111111111111–19
Le Roy.....11111110111111111111–19	White.....11110111101110111111–17
Bartlett....11111101111111111111–19	Budd.....11111111111111111111–20
Drake.....11111111010111101111–17	E. W. Bird.01011101100111011111–14
Shorty.....11111111001111111101–17	Henry.....11001110111111110111–16
McMurchy.11111111100011111111–17	De Wolf...01011101111111111111–17
Keller.....11111111111111111101–19	Leaming...01110110111011111110–15
Apgar.....11011101111011011111–16	Spross.....01111111111101101111–17
Moore.....01111110111111110111–17	Prechtel...11111111001101101111–16
Holzapfel..01111111111011111111–18	J. E. T.....11111101111011000111–15
W. Miller..11111111111111111101–19	Snow.....11011111101111101101–16
Hill.....01111111110101101 1–16	Hammond.11111101111111111111–19
Trimble...11101111111111111111–19	Stout.....11011111111101011111–17
Gambell...11111111111111111111–20	Stepheus..11100010111111111111–16
Ray.....11111111111111111111–20	Burkhardt.11111101110111111111–18
Waddell...11110110101111001111–15	Stein.....11011100101001011110–12
Anthony...01111111111111111010–17	Cochran ...11000111001100011110–11
Harrison...11110111101111111100–16	Sanders....11101011101011111110–15
Schaber...11111111110101011111–18	Speer.....11111000111101111011–15
Melott.....11101111001111011111–16	Thomas....10111011111110110010–14
Bibbee.....11111111111101101011–18	Weakland.11111111101001101001–14
Burton.....10110011111011011111–15	Kuopf.....11111111111111111101–19
Elliott.....11111110110111111011–17	Price.....10111001111110100011–13
Wheeler...11101011111111111111–18	Watts.....11111101111101011111–17
Eager.....11011110111111111011–17	Frank.....11111011110011111010–15
Davis.....11101110111011111001–15	Fry.....11010111111111110101–16
Kennerson.11110111100011111111–16	Sherman...01111101111110111011–16
Dickey.....11110111011110101110–15	Schick.....11111001011111010110–14
Mascroft...11111101101110111110–16	Schunover.11111001111110110111–16
Courtney...11001111111111111111–18	A. G. North10111111010111111111–17
Tuttle.....11011110111111001101–15	N. S. Miller01101111111111011011–16
Mosher.....10110111011011011110–14	Clay.....10110111111111111111–18
Wagner.....01111101111111111111–18	Thomas....11110111111101111111–18
Kelsey.....11111010011111111111–17	Frank.....11111001101111110111–16
Valentine..01001111111111111111–17	Watts.....11001110111111111101–16

EVENT No. 6.—20 Blue Rocks, $3 entrance, $40 added, five moneys: Walton 17, Flick 15, Schmeck 18, Andrews 18, Fulford 20, Weller 18, Peck 18, Williams 17, Upson 19, Kiota 18, Graham 14, Red Wing 20, Van Dyke 18, J. W. Hoffman 16, Le Roy 20, Bartlett 18, Drake 18, Shorty 17, McMurchy 18, Keller 20, Apgar 16, Moore 19, Holzapfel 19, W. Miller 17, Hill 13, Trimble 19, Gambell 20, Ray 18, Waddell 17, Anthony 18, Harrison 16, Schaber 16, Melott 12, Bibbee 14, Burton 13, Elliott 15, Wheeler 19, Eager 18, Davis 17, Kennerson 17, Dickey 15, Mascroft 12, Courtney 18, Tuttle 13, Mosher 18, Wagner 17, Kelsey 17, Valentine 17, Parker 15, Marks 16, Brady 10, Fox 16, Osmun 17, Rennick 16, M. Browning 17, Young 20, J. Browning 18, Becker 19, Biglow 18, Alexander 16, Powers 18, White 19, Budd 14, E. W. Bird 14, Henry 17, Deadshot 11, Leaming 17, Spross 17, Hammond 17, Snow 17, Ebert 13, J. E. T. 14, Burkhart 10, Cochran 13, Prechtel 15, Stout 12, Stephens 15, Sanders 13, Thomas 18, Frank 16, Watts 16.

EVENT No. 7.—Same as preceding: Walton 18, Flick 17, Schmeck 16, Andrews 14, Fulford 19, Weller 14, Peck 18, Williams 14, Upson 18, Kiota 16, Graham 18, Red Wing 19, Van Dyke 20, J. W. Hoffman 18, Le Roy 18, Bartlett 18, Drake 17, Shorty 20, McMurchy 18, Keller 14, Apgar 19, Moore 16, Holzapfel 16, W. Miller 18, Hill 18, Trimble 20, Gambell 19, Ray 18, Anthony 14, Harrison 15, Schaber 15, Melott 15, Bibbee 12, Spross 18, Elliott 16, Wheeler 19, Eager 19, Davis 18, Kennerson 15, Dickey 16, Mascroft 16, Courtney 15, Tuttle 11, Leaming 15, Powers 20, White 17, Schunover 15, M. Browning 17, Young 18, J. Browning 17, Becker 18, Biglow 17, Alexander 11, Hammond 18, Thomas 14, Wagner 15, Kelsey 19, Valentine 17, Budd 19, Bird 16, Prechtel 17, Frank 14.

EVENT No. 8.—Same as before: Walton 17, Flick 20, Schmeck 19, Kelsey 18, Fulford 16, Weller 16, Peck 19, Williams 17, Upson 20, Kiota 17, Graham 20, Red Wing 18, Van Dyke 19, J. W. Hoffman 15, Le Roy 18, Bartlett 18, Drake 19, Shorty 19, McMurchy 18, Keller 20, Apgar 18, Moore 14, Holzapfel 20, W. Miller 16, Hill 15, Trimble 20, Gambell 20, Ray 20, Anthony 16, M. Browning 20, Young 17, J. Browning 18, Becker 18, Biglow 19, Alexander 19, Wheeler 18, Eager 19, Davis 20, Kennerson 15, Dickey 18, Mascroft 13, Harrison 17, Schaber 19, Melott 13, Powers 19, Spross 19, Elliott 18, Hammond 17, Valentine 17, Wagner 18, Thomas 19, White 17, Courtney 18, Budd 19, Stephens 18, Bird 14, Frank 17, Burkhardt 19, Stout 18, Watts 17, Henry 20, Tuttle 13, Leaming 17, Andrews 19.

SECOND DAY

EVENT No. 1.—15 targets, $3 entrance, $4 added, five moneys.

Walton.....011111101111111–13	Budd.....111001111111110–12
Flick.....111111111111111–15	Biglow.....111111111111011–14
Schmeck.....111111111101111–14	M. Browning..101101011111111–12
Andrews.....011111111011110–12	Tuttle.....011110111111011–12
Fulford.....111111111111111–15	Courtney.....110111011110110–11
Weller.....101101100100111—9	Parker.....111111011011111–13
Peck.....111111111101111 14	Rennick.....110111111111101–13
Williams.....111011000011111–10	Alexander.....010001101111111–10
Upson.....111111111111111–15	Kelsey.....110111011111111–13
Kiota.....111011110011111–12	Burkhardt.....011111101111111 13
Young.....011011111111111–13	Spross.....111101111111110–13
Red Wing.....111111111111111–15	Wheeler.....111110111111011–13
Ray.....111101111111111–14	Eager.....111111111111011–14
Graham.....111111011111111–14	Davis.....111111011111011 13
Bartlett.....111111111111110–14	Kennerson.....101111111101100–11
Van Dyke.....111111111111111–15	Dickey.....111101011101011–11
J. M. Browning.110111111111111–14	Mascroft.....100111101111000—9
Becker.....101011111111101–12	Modoc.....111111111011110–13
Wagner.....110110111011110–11	Hammond.....101101111111110–12
Hoffman.....110110011111111–12	Watts.....001111111011111 12
Le Roy.....111011111111111–14	Toby.....000100110011100—6
Powers.....111111111111111–15	Rich.....100010001101011—7
Drake.....111110111111001–12	Quimby.....101011101111101–11
Shorty.....111101111111111–14	Valentine.....111111111010100–11
Hill.....111001111111111–13	Quill.....011110101011000–10
Trimble.....111110111101111–13	Stephens.....111001111111011–12
Gambell.....111111111111111–15	Schick.....110011010111100—9
Stout.....111110101110110–11	Frank.....111111010110100–10
Waddell.....011111111111111–14	Bumstead.....110010010000010—5
Anthony.....111111111101111–14	N. S. Miller.....111111101011011–12
Landis.....111111001101001–10	Anson.....011111101111111–13
Harrison.....011111111111101–13	Stein.....111010111111111–13
Schaber.....010111001111111–11	Speer.....001110011111011–10
Troy.....111011110110111–12	Sanders.....101001110011001—8
Elliott.....110111001111111–12	White.....111111111111111–15
Black.....011101110111011–11	Grieff.....011011011111111–12
McMurchy.....111111111111115–15	De Wolf.....001011011110001—8
Keller.....011110111111111–13	Thomas.....011011101111111–12
Apgar.....111111111011111 12	Osmun.....011011101001110—9
Moore.....111111111111010–13	Kleinman.....111111101111111–14
Holzapfel.....111111111111111–14	C. J. W.....101110101011110–11
W. Miller.....110111111111110–13	Wise.....000101101100001—6
Bird.....110011111101110–11

EVENT No. 2.—Same as preceding: Walton 11, Flick 14, Schmeck 13, Andrews 15, Fulford 13, Weller 10, Peck 14, Williams 13, Upson 15, Kiota 14, Young 14, Red Wing 15, Ray 14, Graham 13, Bartlett 13, Van Dyke 14, J. M. Browning 15, Becker 13, Wagner 14, Hoffman 11, Le Roy 12, Powers 14, Drake 13, Shorty 13, Hill 13, Trimble 15, Gambell 14, Stout 12, Waddell 13, Anthony 12, Landis 13, Harrison 13, Schaber 14, Troy 12, Elliott 12, Black 10, McMurchy 15, Keller 15, Apgar 13, Moore 12, Holzapfel 14, W. Miller 11, Bird 12, Budd 15, Biglow 14, M. Browning 11, Tuttle 14, Courtney 15, Parker 15, Rennick 14, Alexander 11, Kelsey 15, Burkhardt 11, Spross 14, Wheeler 13, Eager 13, Davis 14, Kennerson 10, Dickey 10, Mascroft 9, Modoc 9, Hammond 15, Watts 13, Toby 13, Rich 11, Quimby 11, Valentine 12, Quill 13, Stephens 15, Schick 7, Franx 11, Bumstead 6, N. S. Miller 10, Speer 9, Stein 14, Sanders 12, Weakland 11, Mathews 9, Wise 7, Grieff 15, Kleinman 13, Prechtel 12, White 12, Bibbee 13.

EVENT No. 3.—Same as before: Walton 12, Flick 12, Schmeck 13, Andrews 12, Fulford 14, Weller 10, Peck 10, Williams 14, Upson 14, Kiota 14, Young 13, Red Wing 15, Ray 12, Graham 13, Bartlett 14, Van Dyke 15, J. M. Browning 15, Becker 15, Wagner 13, Hoffman 13, Le Roy 15, Powers 14, Drake 13, Shorty 15, Hill 12, Trimble 14, Gambell 15, Stout 12, Waddell 13, Anthony 13, Landis 11, Harrison 11, Schaber 13, Troy 12, Elliott 14, Black 10, McMurchy 13, Keller 12, Apgar 13, Moore 12, Holzapfel 14, W. Miller 15, Bird 9, Budd 14, Biglow 13, M. Browning 13, Tuttle 13, Courtney 12, Parker 14, Rennick 14, Alexander 10, Kelsey 13, Burkhardt 12, Spross 14, Wheeler 14, Eager 12, Davis 12, Kennerson 13, Dickey 14, Mascroft 11, Modoc 11, Hammond 13, Watts 13, Valentiue 11, Quill 11, Quimby 11, Toby 12, Rich 13, Stephens 14, Kleinman 14, Prechtel 14, Swope 7, C. J. W. 10, Stein 12, Sanders 7, Weakland 11, White 14, Thomas 13, Snow 14, Speer 13, Frank 11, Grieff 10, J. I. C. 14.

EVENT No. 4.—15 targets, $3 entrance, $40 added, five moneys: Walton 9, Flick 15, Schmeck 12, Andrews 10, Fulford 15, Weller 8, Peck 13, Williams 10, Upson 15, Kiota 13, Young 12, Red Wing 15, Ray 12, Graham 12, Bartlett 11, Van Dyke 15, J. M. Browning 15, Becker 13, Wagner 12, Hoffman 15, Le Roy 12, Powers 13, Drake 12, Shorty 13, Hill 12, Trimble 15, Gambell 13, Stout 11, Waddell 15, Anthony 12, Dandis 14, Harrison 10, Schaber 15, Troy 10, Elliott 14, Black 13, McMurchy 14, Keller 15, Apgar 12, Moore 13, Holzapfel 15, W. Miller 13, Bird 8, Budd 14, Biglow 15, M. Browning 13, Tuttle 12, Courtney 15, Parker 10, Rennick 14, Alexander 14, Kelsey 10, Burkhardt 10, Spross 15, Wheeler 16, Eager 17, Davis 15, Kennerson 12, Dickey 13, Mascroft 7, Modoc 11, Hammond 15, Watts 13, Valentine 14, Quill 8, Quimby 9, Toby 7, Rich 12, Stephens 13, Kleinman 12, Grieff 12, J. I. C. 12, Speer 11, Frank 11, White 15, G. Drake 8, Stein 10, Snow 14, Prechtel 15, Thomas 12, Weakland 13, Louis 10, Greener 13

□ EVENT No. 5.—20 targets, $3 entrance. $45 added, five moneys: Walton 12, Flick 14, Schmeck 17, Andrews 17, Fulford 18, Weller 12, Peck 17, Williams 17, Upson 20, Kiota 20, Young 19, Red Wing 17, Ray 15, Graham 14, Bartlett 17, Van Dyke 16, J. M. Browning 13, Becker 14, Wagner 19, Hoffman 17, Le Roy 20, Powers 18, Drake 13, Shorty 18, Hill 20, Trimble 20, Gambell 16, Stout 16, Valentine 19, Anthony 16, Landis 20, Harrison 11, Schaber 17, Troy 13, Elliott 18, Black 10, McMurchy 20, Parker 17, Apgar 19, Moore 17, Holz 16, W. Miller 19, Bird 16, Budd 17, Biglow 18, M. Browning 20, Tuttle 15, Courtney 13, Kleinman 17, Rennick 17, Alexander 16, Kelsey 18, Burkhardt 15, Spross 18, Wheeler 19, Eager 18, Davis 15, Kennerson 15, Dickey 18, Mascroft 15, Stephens 16, De Wolf 11, Toby 16, Rich 12, Sanders 11, J. I. C. 17, Waddell 16, Snow 16, Greener 16, Weakland 18, Louis 12, Mosher 16, Stein 14, Thomas 10, Frank 16, Speer 15, Hammond 20, Fox 14, Prechtel 16, Watts 16, Anson 16, Wilmot 16, White 16.

EVENT No. 6.—20 targets, $3 eutrance. $45 added, five moneys.

Walton.....11111111001111111110–17	Elliott.....11111111010011111111–17
Flick.....11111111101111110111–18	Black.....11111001111111111111–18
Schmeck...11111110001111111110–16	McMurchy.11111111111111111111–20
Andrews...11111111111101111110–18	Parker.....11111111111011111011–18
Fulford....10011111111111101111–17	Apgar.....11111111110111111110–18
Weller.....10111111110111011111–17	Moore.....11111101101101111111–17
Peck.....11111101111101111111–18	Holzapfel..10111111111111111111–19
Williams...11111101111111101111–18	W. Miller..11101111111111111111–19
Upson.....11111111111111111111–20	Bird.....11111111000111111111–17
Kiota.....10111111111111111111–19	Budd.....10111101101111111111–17
Young.....11110111011111111111–18	Biglow.....11011111111111111011–18
Red Wing..10011111111111111111–18	M. Browning—
Ray.....11111111110100011110–15	11111111111111101111–19
Graham....11111111111111111111–20	Tuttle.....11011111011111010111–16
Bartlett....01111111011111111111–18	Courtney...10011111111111111111–18
Van Dyke..11110111111011111011–17	Kleinman...11111101111011111111–18
J. M. Browning—	Rennick....11111111111111111111–20
11111111111111111111–20	Alexander..10101111111111111110–17
Becker.....11111111111111110111–19	Kelsey.....11111011111011110111–17
Wagner....01101101110001111111–14	Burkhardt..10111101010011111110–14
Hoffman....11011111111111111001–17	Spross.....11111101110111111111–18
Le Roy.....10111111111001111111–17	Wheeler....10011111111111001110–15
Powers.....11011111111111110111–18	Eager.....11111111111011110110–17
Drake.....11111111111110111111–19	Davis.....11010111111110011111–16
Shorty.....10111111101111111111–18	Kennerson.11111111111010111001–17
Hill.....11111001100101111110–14	Dickey.....11111101111111111111–19
Trimble....11101111101110111111–17	Mascroft...00111111111100110110–14
Gambell.....11111111111111111111–20	Frank.....01100111010110111111–14
Stout.....01111101111111011110–16	Hammond..11111110111111011111–18
Valentine..11111111111111110101–18	Mosher.....11111111011111111111–19
Anthony....11111101010010011110–14	Stephens...11111111111111111101–19
Landis.....11110111011111111111–18	Rich.....10011101010111110110–14
Harrison...11111110101110111111–17	Greener....10001111110111111111–16
Schaber....01111111111111111110–18	Snow.....10011111001010110 1–13
Troy.....11110110101101010011–13	Thomas.....11111011111110100111–16

EVENT No. 7.—Same as preceding: Walton 15, Flick 18, Schmeck 17, Grecner 16, J. I. C. 17, Weller 12, Peck 19, Williams 18, Upson 18, Kiota 19, Young 18, Red Wing 19, Ray 18, Graham 18, Moser 17, Van Dyke 20, J. M. Browning 18, Becker 18, Hammond 18, Hoffman 18, Le Roy 16, Powers 19, Drake 17, Shorty 20, Hill 18, Trimble 19, Gambell 18, Thomas 17, Valentine 13, Anthony 20, Landis 16, Harrison 13, Frank 15, Troy 17, Elliott 18, Black 17, McMurchy 19, Parker 16, Apgar 18, Moore 17, Holzapfel 19, W. Miller 15, Bird 15, Budd 19, Biglow 18, M. Browning 14, Tuttle 17, Courtney 19, Kleinman 18, Bartlett 14, Alexander 15, Kelsey 13, Burkhardt 17, Spross 18, Toby 14, Andrews 14, Fulford 16, Cleve 15, White 20, Prechtel 18, Body 17, Wheelcr 19, Eager 18, Davis 16, Kennerson 17, Dickey 19, Mascroft 10.

EVENT No. 8.—Same thing again: Walton 14, Flick 15, Schmeck 13, Greener 15, J. I. C. 13, Weller 13, Peck 18, Williams 14, Kiota 18, Young 16, Red Wing 20, Ray 18, Graham 16, Mosher 11, Van Dyke 19, J. Browning 17, Becker 16, Hammond 15, Hoffman 16, Le Roy 19, Powers 17, Drake 16, Shorty 14, Hill 17, Trimble 18, Gamble 18, Fulford 19, Valentine 16, Anthony 16, Landis 15, Harrison 18, Frank 13, Troy 17, Elliott 17, Black 16, McMurchy 19, Parker 19, Apgar 16, Moore 15, Holzapfel 18, W. Miller 18, Bird 14, Budd 18, Biglow 17, M. Browning 15, Tuttle 11, Courtney 19, Kleinman 16, Bartlett 17, Alexander 15, Kelsey 17, Burkhardt 11, Spross 16, Toby 16, Cleve 17, Body 16, Rich 15, Fry 16, White 20, Thomas 13, Prechtel 16, Andrews

18, Wagner 15, Wheeler 20, Eager 17, Davis 16, Kennerson 16, Dickey 17, Upson 18, Mascroft 16.

THIRD DAY

EVENT NO. 1.—15 targets, $3 entrance, $45 added, five moneys.

Walton	011111111101101-12	Apgar	111111111101111-14
Flick	101111111101111-13	Moore	111101111111101-13
Schmeck	0101101111111110-11	Holzapfel	111111111111111-15
Andrews	111111101111111-14	W. Miller	110011111111111-13
Fulford	101111001111111-12	Landis	111111111111111-15
Weller	110010010011011—8	Harrison	010111101011111-11
Peck	011111111011111-13	Spross	011111111011111-13
Williams	111111101111111-14	Troy	111111111101101-13
Upson	011111111111111-14	Elliott	011110011110101-10
Kiota	111111111110111-14	Black	110111000110111-10
Young	110111111111011-13	Wheeler	111111111111111-14
Red Wing	111111111111111-15	Eager	010111111110011-11
J. M. Browning	111111111111111-15	Davis	111111111001011-12
Graham	111111110110111-13	Keunerson	111111111111111-15
Bartlett	111111111111111-15	Dickey	111111101011111-13
Van Dyke	110101111111110-12	Mascroft	101111011111010-11
Ray	111111111101111-14	Waddell	011011111111111-13
Becker	111101111101111-13	Budd	111111111101111-14
Hammond	111011111111111-14	Frank	111111111111101-14
Hoffman	111110111111111-14	Rennick	111111111111111-15
Le Roy	111111111111111-15	Biglow	111111110110111-13
M. Browuing	111101011110110-11	Bird	111100100110111-10
Drake	011111101111111-13	Toby	110111101111111-13
Shorty	111100111111111-13	Body	111011101111101-12
Hill	110101111111111-13	Cleve	100101111100110—9
Trimble	111111111111111-15	Wagner	110111111111111-14
Gambell	110111111111111-14	Greener	111111111101110-13
Mosher	111111110111111-14	J. I. C	111111101111101-13
Kleinman	111101111101110-12	Modoc	111111011000010—9
Anthony	111101111011011-12	B. White	101111111011100-11
Burkhardt	101001101110111-10	Valentine	001111111111101-12
Kelsey	111111111111110-14	Bibbee	111011111111011-13
Alexander	010111011011111-11	C. J. W	110110011101111-11
Powers	111111111011111-14	Thomas	101110111111110-12
Tuttle	011111101111111-13	Snow	111001000011110—7
Courtney	111111111111011-14	Weakland	010111111111110-12
McMurchy	111111011111111-14	Grieff	111101111111111-11
Parker	111111111111115-15	Fry	100111111111100-11

EVENT NO. 2.—Same as preceding: Walton 11, Flick 11, Schmeck 15, Andrews 12, Fulford 13, Weller 11, Peck 13, Williams 9, Upson 15, Kiota 12, Young 13, Red Wing 15, J. M. Browning 13, Graham 14, Bartlett 13, Van Dyke 13, Ray 13, Becker 12, Hammond 12, Hoffman 12, Le Roy 13, M. Browning 8, Drake 11, Shorty 11, Hill 13, Trimble 12, Gambell 12, Mosher 14, Kleinman 14, Anthony 10, Burkhardt 12, Kelsey 12, Alexander 11, Powers 12, Tuttle 8, Courtney 11, McMurchy 14, Parker 13, Apgar 13, Moore 13, Holzapfel 14, W. Miller 14, Landis 10, Harrison 10, Spross 11, Troy 7, Elliott 10, Black 13, Wheeler 14, Eager 13, Davis 12, Kennerson 12, Dickey 12, Mascroft 11, Waddell 12, Budd 15, Frank 10, Rennick 11, Biglow 14, Bird 10, Toby 12, Body 11, Cleve 10, Wagner 12, Greener 14, J. I. C. 9, Weakland 12, B. White 14, Valentine 13, Bibbee 9, Thomas 13, Grieff 12, Snow 12, Watts 14.

EVENT NO. 3.—Same as before: Walton 15, Flick 13, Schmeck 15, Andrews 14, Fulford 15, Weller 12, Peck 13, Williams 12, Upson 15, Kiota 15, Young 14, Red Wing 14, J. M. Browning 14, Graham 12, Bartlett 14, Van Dyke 15, Ray 14, Becker 13, Hammond 12, Hoffman 14, Le Roy 14, M. Browning 11, Drake 14, Shorty 14, Hill 14, Trimble 15, Gambell 13, Mosher 11, Kleinman 14, Anthony 12, Burkhardt 15, Kelsey 14, Alexander 11, Powers 15, Tuttle 12, Courtney 10, McMurchy 15, Parker 12, Apgar 14, Moore 15, Holzapfel 13, W. Miller 13, Landis 11, Harrison 13, Spross 8, Troy 11, Elliott 12, Black 13, Wheeler 15, Eager 15, Davis 12, Kennerson 14, Dickey 15, Mascroft °, Waddell 10, Budd 14, Frank 13, Rennick 14, Biglow 14, Bird 7, Toby 9, Cleve 12, B. White 9, J. I. C. 11, Greener 10, Valentine 11, Snow 12, Watts 14, Richards 12, Wagner 13, Bibbee 10, Thomas 14, Grieff 11, Fry 11, Clay 13.

EVENT NO. 4.—Same as before: Walton 12, Flick 12, Schmeck 14, Andrews 13, Fulford 12, Weller 9, Peck 14, Williams 11, Upson 14, Kiota 13, Young 13, Red Wing 13, J. M. Browning 14, Graham 14, Bartlett 13, Van Dyke 15, Ray 14, Becker 14, Hammond 10, Le Roy 15, M. Browning 11, Drake 12, Shorty 13, Hill 13, Trimble 15, Gambell 14, Mosher 12, Kleinman 14, Anthony 13, Burkhardt 10, Kelsey 10, Alexander 10, Powers 12, Tuttle 11, Courtney 8, McMurchy 13, Parker 10, Apgar 13, Moore 14, Holzapfel 12, Miller 15, Landis 15, Harrison 12, Spross 14, Troy 9, Elliott 14, Black 9, Wheeler 13, Eager 12, Davis 14, Kennerson 14, Dickey 14, Mascroft 11, Waddell 12, Budd 15, Frank 13, Rennick 13, Biglow 15, North 13, Cleve 11, Greener 11, Valentine 12, Toby 11, White 12, Clay 13, Watts 13, Snow 12, Grieff 13, J. I. C. 13, June 13, Thomas 11, Hogen 13, Hoffman 14, Frost 7.

EVENT NO. 5.— 20 targets $3 entrance, $50 added, five moneys.

Walton	0100111011011101010101-12	Tuttle	111111011111111111101-18
Flick	010111110011111101111-15	Courtney	111011001111110111111-16
Schmeck	111111111111111111111-20	McMurchy	111111111011111111111-19
Andrews	111011111111010110110-16	Parker	111001111011101111111-16
Greener	111111111111011111111-19	Apgar	111111111011011111111-18
Weller	111011111111010111111-17	Moore	111110101111101110111-16
Peck	111011111111011111111-18	Holtzapfel	011111111111111111111-19
Williams	111111111111101010010-17	W. Miller	111111111111111111111-20
Upson	111111111111011111111-19	Landis	111111111111101111101-18
Kiota	111111011111111111111-19	Harrison	011010111101110010101-13
Young	111111111111111111111-20	Spross	111101111011111011111-17
Red Wing	110111111111111111111-19	Troy	001001111101011011011-13
J. M. Browning—	111011111111111111111-19	Elliott	111111111111111011111-19
Graham	111111111011100111111-17	Black	110001100111010011011-11
Bartlett	111111001101111111111-17	Wheeler	111111111111101111111-19
Van Dyke	111111111111111111011-19	Eager	101111111111101111111-18
Ray	111001011111111111011-16	Davis	111111101111111011111-18
Becker	111111111111111111111-20	Kennerson	111111011111111110101-17
Richards	111111101010010110-14	Dickey	111011111111011111111-17
Hoffman	011101111111111111110-17	Clay	111101011101111101110-15
Le Roy	111111111111111111111-20	Frank	111011111111101111100-16
M. Browning—	101011111111111111101-17	June	111011101010111111110-15
Drake	110011111011111111111-17	Hogen	111110111011111111111-16
Shorty	111111111111111111111-20	Valentine	111111111111111101111-19
Hill	111111111001001110-15	Snow	111111111111101111110-18
Trimble	111111111110011111-18	Budd	111111111111111111111-20
Gambell	111111111111111111111-20	Thomas	010100111111111111111-16
Mosher	111011111010111111011-16	J. I. C	101000111101011101101-13
Kleinman	111111011111111111111-19	Allen	010101110101100111101-12
Anthony	010111111111111111001-16	Cleve	101110101111101100100-12
Burkhardt	011110111111111011111-17	Rennick	111111111111111111111-20
Kelsey	111011111111111111111-19	White	111111111011011011-16
Alexander	111110100111111011111-16	Toby	111100101011111100111-14
Powers	111111111111111111111-20	Biglow	111111111111111111111-20
		North	011111111111111111111-19

EVENT NO. 6.—Same as preceding: Walton 14, Flick 16, Schmeck 19, Andrews 18, Cleve 15, Weller 12, Peck 18, Williams 16, Upson 20, Kiota 19, Young 17, Red Wing 19, J. M. Browning 19, Graham 17, Clay 16, Van Dyke 18, Ray 18, Becker 18, Smith 14, Hoffman 17, Le Roy 19, M. Browning 16, Drake 17, Shorty 19, Hill 17, Trimble 18, Gambell 20, Mosher 18, Kleinman 19, Anthony 13, Burkhardt 16, Kelsey 18, Alexander 17, Powers 15, Tuttle 17, Courtney 12, McMurchy 19, Parker 18, Apgar 17, Moore 19, Holzapfel 20, W. Miller 15, Landis 15, Harrison 17, Spross 19, Troy 15, Elliott 18, Black 16, Wheeler 19, Eager 20, Davis 18, Kennerson 18, Dickey 14, June 15, Toby 12, Hogen 16, Budd 19, Franz 11, White 16, Thomas 16, Valentiue 15, J. I. C. 9, Biglow 16, North 20, Snow 19.

EVENT NO. 7.—Another of the same kind: Biglow 17, Flick 17, Schmeck 19, Andrews 15, Richards 14, Weller 12, Peck 19, Williams 13, Upson 20, Kiota 18, Young 17, Red Wing 20, J. M. Browning 20, Graham 17, Cleve 13, Van Dyke 18, Ray 18, Becker 19, Smith 13, Hoffman 17, Le Roy 20, M. Browning 16, Drake 20, Shorty 20, Hill 17, Trimble 19, Gambell 20, Frank 16, Kleinman 17, Anthony 17, Burkhardt 17, Kelsey 18, Alexander 17, Powers 18, Tuttle 18, Valentine 17, McMurchy 20, Parker 20, Apgar 19, Moore 19, Holzapfel 20, W. Miller 18, Landis 17, Harrison 17, Spross 19, Troy 18, Elliott 18, Black 18, Wheeler 19, Eager 12, Davis 18, Kennerson 17, Dickey 19, Clay 16, North 18, Hogen 20, June 14, Allen 16, J. I. C. 16, Snow 17.

EVENT NO. 8.—Same as before and the closing event: Biglow 16, Flick 18, Schmeck 19, Andrews 20, Allen 12, Weller 13, Peck 19, Williams 16, Upson 19, Kiota 19, Young 18, Red Wing 19, J. M. Browning 20, Graham 16, Cleve 12, Van Dyke 20, Ray 15, Becker 18, North 20, Hoffman 16, Le Roy 20, M. Browniug 18, Drake 17, Shorty 20, Hill 17, Trimble 19, Gambell 17, Frank 19, Kleinman 17, Anthony 17, Burkhardt 14, Kelsey 20, Alexander 18, Powers 17, Tuttle 16, Valentine 16, McMurchy 20, Parker 19, Apgar 19, Moore 18, Holzapfel 17, Miller 18, Landis 17, Harrison 16, Spross 20, Troy 15, Elliott 18, Black 12, Wheeler 18, Eager 15, Davis 16, Kennerson 15, Dickey 16, Clay 10, J. I. C. 13, Hogen 15.

That the reader may judge somewhat of the variety of guns, powders and shells used by those in attendance, we give below a list of those used by the participants the first day:

Name	Residence	Gun	Powder	Shell
J. S. Speer	Sandusky, O.	Smith	Du Pont	Smokl.
John Stein	Sandusky, O.	Parker	Du Pont	Smokl.
E. G. Knopf	Sandusky, O.	Pieper	Black	Nltro.
G. S. Price	Norwalk, O.	Smith	Black	Smokl.
C. W. Thomas	Logansport, Ind.	Lefever	Du Pont	Trap.
F. Lamkin	Norwalk, O.	Smith	Du Pont	Smokl.
M. P. Walton	Grand Rapids, Mich.	Parker	Am. Wood.	Rival.
John Flick	Ravenna, O.	Smith	Schultze	Rival.
J. E. Schmeck	Reading, Pa.	Smith	Du Pont	Smokl. and Trap.
Ed Andrews	Sardinla, N. Y.	Smith	Walsrode	U. S. Walsr'd.
E. D. Fulford	Utica, N. Y.	Greener	Wood	Trap.
N. W. Holt	Manchester, Mich.	Smith	E. C.	Smokl.
H. Easton	Sandusky, O.	Smith	E. C.	Smokl.
W. A. Babcock	Cleveland, O.	Scott	E. C.	Smokl.
D. A. Upson	Cleveland, O.	Greener	E. C.	Smokl
T. W. Latham	Monroeville, O.	Greener	Am. Wood.	Smokl.
T. J. Graham	Roscdale, Mich.	Winchester	E. C.	Smokl.
Ralph Worthington	Cleveland, O.		E. C.	Smokl.
F. Van Dyke	Dayton, N. J.	Winchester	E. C.	Metal Lined.
W. Hoffman	German Valley, N. J.	Parker	Am. Wood.	Smokl.
B. Le Roy, Woodward	Campello, Mass.	Scott	Am. Wood.	Leader.
B. A. Bartlett	Buffalo, N. Y.	Burgess	E. C.	Smokl.
Shorty Bacon	Dayton, O.	Greener	Am. Wood.	Smokl.
H. Mc Murchy	Syracuse, N. Y.	Smith	E. C.	Rapid.
T. H. Keller	Plainfield, N. J.	Smith	E. C.	Rapid.
Neaf Apgar	Plainfield, N. J.	Smith	Walsrode	U. S. Walsr'd.
K. M. Moore	Farmersville, Tex.	Smith	E. C.	Nitro.
A. Holzapfel	Cuero, Tex.	Smith	E. C.	Nitro
W. R. Miller	Austin, Tex.	Greener	E. C.	Rapid.
H. Hill	Aurora, Ind.	Wiuchest'r and Parker	Du Pont	Smokl.
R. Trimble	Coviugton, Ky.	Parker	Du Pont	Smokl.
A. Gambell	Aurora, Ind.	Parker	Du Pont.	Smokl.
C. W. Raymond	Dayton, O.	Winchester	Schultze	Rival.
R. S. Waddell	Cincinnati, O.	Smith	Du Pont	Smokl.
J. T. Anthony	Charlotte, N. C.	Scott	E. C.	Smokl.
B. Harrison	Reading, Pa	Francotte	Du Pont	Trap.
J. Shaber	Reading, Pa.	Smith	Du Pont	Leader.
O. Melott	Reading, Pa.	Francotte	Du Pont	Trap.
T. S. Bibbee	Elba, O.	Lefever	Du Pont	Smokl.
L. Burton	Norwalk, O.	Hollenbeck	Du Pont	Smokl.
D. Elliott	Cleveland, O.	H. & R.	Schultze	Smokl.
W. N. Drake	South Orange, N. J.	Smith	E. C.	Leader.
J. A. Prechtel	Cleveland, O.	Prechtel	E. C.	Leader.
H. G. Wheeler	Marlboro, Mass.	Parker	Am. Wood.	Smokl.
H. W. Eager	Marlboro, Mass.	Smith	E. C.	Rapid.
W. L. Davis	Worcester, Mass	Scott	E. C.	Rapid.
V. D. Kennerson	Worcester, Mass	Parker	Am. Wood.	Smokl.
O. R. Dickey	Roxbury, Mass.	Parker	E. C.	Rapid.
J. T. Mascroft	Sutton, Mass.	Scott	Am. Wood.	Smokl.
A. G. Courtney	Syracuse, N. Y.	Lefever	E. C.	Smokl.
C. W. Tuttle	Auburn, N. Y.	Lefever	E. C.	Smokl.
Geo. Mosher	Syracuse, N. Y.	Hollenbeck	E. C.	Rapid.
Wm. Wagner	Washington, D. C.	Daly	E. C.	Rival.
F. D. Kelsey	East Aurora, N. Y.	Smith	Schultze	Smokl.
Ralph Valentine	Monroeville, O.	Lefever	Am. Wood.	Climax.
John Parker	Detroit, Mich.	Winchester	E. C.	Rival.
J. A. Marks	Detroit, Mich.	Smith	E. C.	Rival.
W. H. Brady	Detroit, Mich.	Smith	E. C.	Rival.
J. A. Fox	Detroit, Mich.	Winchester	E. C.	Rival.
W. H. Osmun	Pontiac, Mich.	Wes. Richards	E. C.	Rival.
W. Rennick	Detroit, Mich.	Winchester	E. C.	Rival.
M. S. Browning	Ogden, Utah	Winchester	Du Pont	Smokl.
C. A. Young	Springfield, O.,	Young	E. C.	Smokl.
J. M. Browning	Ogden, Utah	Winchester	Du Pont	Smokl.
G. L. Becker	Ogden, Utah	Winchester	Du Pont	Smokl.
A. P. Biglow	Ogden, Utah	Smith	Du Pont	Smokl.
A. Forrester	Buffalo, N. Y.	Baker	E. C.	Nitro.
C. M. Powers	Decatur, Ill.	Smith	E. C.	Leader.
J. A. Ruble	Chicago,	Lefever	Du Pont	Nitro.
C. W. Budd	Des Moines, Ia.	Smith	E. C.	Rapid.
H. L. Landis	Philadelphia Pa.	Smith	Du Pont	Leader.
A. F. Miller	Sandusky, O.	Colt	Schultze	Lightning.
E. W. Bird	Fairmont, Minn.	Francotte	Du Pont	Smokl.
E. E. Shaner,	Pittsburg, Pa.	Remington	E. C.	Trap.
E. M. Stout	Circleville, O.	Lefever	E. C.	Rival.
J. E. Stephens	Circleville, O.	Lefever	E. C.	Rival.
W. F. Quimby	New York	Smith	E. C.	Rapid.
Geo. Spross	Toledo, O.	Lefever	E. C.	Smokl.
Thos. Cochran	Pittsburg, Pa.	Parker	E. C.	Smokl.
E. F. Hammond	Ashford, N. Y.	Smith	Walsrode	Smokl.
Frank Snow	Cleveland, O.	Parker	Black	Rival.
Ed. Taylor	Cincinnati, O.	Smith	Troisdorf	Nitro and Rapid.
E. A. Berry	Warren, O.	Prize	Du Pont	Nitro.
R. W. Ewalt	Warren, O.	Lefever	Du Pont	Nitro.
Wm. Watts	Jackson, Mich.	Watts	Black	Rival.
C. L. Schunover	Warren, O.	Lefever	Du Pont	Nitro.
H. C. Fry	Youngstown, O.	Parker	E. C.	Rival.
W. Wheatland	Youngstown, O.	Parker	E. C.	Rival.
Jas. Leaming	Camden, N. J.	Smith	Du Pont	Leader.
Gus. E. Grieff	New York	Francotte	Schultze	Lightning.
E. C. Burkhardt	Buffalo, N. Y.	Smith	Walsrode	Walsrode.
W. F. De Wolf	Chicago	Lefever	Schultze	Smokl.
John Tettlebach	Cleveland, O.	Parker	E. C.	Smokl.

In addition to the money added by the Target Co. to each purse fifteen cash prizes of $10 each were awarded to the fifteen men shooting in all program events and making the highest averages for the three days. The winners of these average prizes and the records made out of a total of 420 shots were as follows: Red Wiug 402, Upsou 397, J. M. Browning 394, Gambell 393, Trimble 391, Holzapel 387, Le Roy 385, Wheeler 384, Klota 381, Powers 381, Biglow 380, Young 377, Becker 375, Peck 375, Spross 375, Schmeck 374. Besides the above the company hung up a very handsome watch charm, valued at $50, with an elegant diamond settiug, as a prize to the man making the highest average during the three days. This was won by Mr. Ralph Worhington (Red Wing) of Cleveland, he leading the next highest man, Mr. D. A. Upsou, also of Cleveland, by five birds. Harvey McMurchy, the representative of the Smith gun, beat Mr. Upson oue point in the average, but the conditions barred manufacturers' ageuts from competing for any of the average prizes.

The banner squad of six men came to the front on the last day in event No. 7, which was 20 birds per man. This was not a selected squad, but came together just as they made their entries, and when they went to the score had no thought of making a particularly good record, though each man was shootiug his best in order to stand well in the averages. This squad consisted of Harvey McMurchy, John Parker, Neaf Apgar, Mr. Moore, Mr. Holzapfel and W. Miller, and the record they made was as follows:

McMurchy	1111111111	1111111111—20
Parker	1111111111	1111111111—20
Apgar	1111111111	1111111011—19
Moore	1111111110	1111111111—19
Holzapfel	1111111111	1111111111—20
W. Miller	0101111111	1111111111—18

That the reader may understand that the company was hot all the way through, and especially so on the last day, we mention a few of the good scores that were particularly noticeable:

Red Wing, who won the diamoud trophy, scored 134 out of 140 each day.

Le Roy scored on the last day 136 out of 140.

Mr. Holzapfel scored 65 without a skip.

Mr. Gambell broke 68 straight.

Paul North, though shootiug but little during the tournament on account of his multitudinous duties, on the last day missed the first bird he shot at and then made a run of 65 straight, and a number of others did nearly as well.

Everything passed off so nicely and satisfactorily that the Target Co. claims the same week in June, 1896, for its third annual, and from some remarks dropped by Mr. Webster and Mr. North, we are led to believe that it will surpass in many respects the tournament given this year.

The management announced in its program that dropping for place would not be tolerated, consequently when, on the last day, attention was called to the fact that two men were disregarding this rule, they were watched, and when it appeared plain that they were doing this, Mr. North went to them and told them that they could not participate further in the tournament; so they put up their guns and left the grounds. This step is a proper one and the action of the management should be applauded by every trap shooter who believes in honest work at the traps. It is more than probable that there were others present doing the same thing, but not in such open manner as to be detected. This has been written and printed upon this subject for the first instance that we know of where the rule was enforced. It is an unpleasant thing to accuse a gentleman of shooting a bird purposely, and a very difficult thing to do, but when the management of a tournament takes the stand that it is doing it is a duty it owes to the shooting honestly, to call such men down.

McMurchy, Quimby, Keller, Courtney, [illegible] and Bartlett went from Cleveland to Saratoga, N. Y., to attend the New York state shoot this week, but most of those who were at Cleveland and who do not visit tournaments as a business, headed for home and will be content to let their guns rest for a few weeks if not a few months.

ARKANSAS STATE SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION'S TOURNAMENT

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed you will find the scores made at the fifth annual tournament of the Arkansas State Sportsmen's Association. As the scores will show the tournament was well attended, and some of the finest shots in the land participated in the different events. The appended scores tell the story and also show who were present:

EVENT NO. 1.—15 single targets per man.

Poston	011111000101001—8	Thibault	101110111011011 11
Duncan	000111000010110—6	Moore	111111111111111 15
Plummer	110111001111011 11	Hughes	110111111111111-14
Schmidt	011111111011111-13	Sumpter	110011111111110 12
Cockrell	001111110111010-10	Dobbins	011100111111101-11
Bennett	000111111011111 11	Little	010111111110011 11
Heikes	111011111111111-14	Rix	011011111111111 13
Young	111101101111111-13	Smith	011101011111101-11
Bartlett	111111111101111-14	Wadley	111111101011110 12
Leroy	110110111010111-11	Hoffman	111111011111011 13
Van Dyke	111111010111111-13	Fletcher	011110110101000 10
Rike	011110111111110 12	Drake	110111111111111 14
Dickinson	011111111010111-12	Clausen	111111101111111-14
Duley	110111110101111-12	Timberline	111110111101101 12
Pemberton	101110101111111 12	Fulford	111001101011111 11
Alexander	101111111111111-14

EVENT NO. 2.—20 singles per man; Poston 13, Duncan 16, Plummer 14, Schmidt 16, Cockrell 14, Bennett 12, Heikes 19, Young 18, Bartlett 17, Leroy 16, Van Dyke 17, Rike 18, Dickinson 19, Duley 12, Pemberton 15, Alexander 14, Thibault 15, Moore 18, Hughes 17, Sumpter 16, Dobbins 11, Little 14, Rix 15, Smith 15, Wadley 18, Hoffman 14, Timberline 16, Fletcher 13, Drake 18, Fulford 15, Clausen 15, Lloyd 17, Leach 15, Irwin 15.

EVENT NO. 3.—15 single targets: Poston 11, Duncan 13, Plummer 7, Schmidt 9, Cockrell 13, Bennett 12, Heikes 14, Young 14, Bartlett 11, Leroy 14, Van Dyke 14, Rike 12, Dickinson 10, Duley 13, Pemberton 12, Alexander 12, Thibault 11, Moore 14, Hughes 13, Sumpter 13, Dobbins 8, Little 10, Rix 10, Smith 14, Wadley 9, Hoffman 10, Timberline 13, Fletcher 12, Drake 10, Fulford 11, Lloyd 12, Leach 9, Clausen 8, Irwin 10.

EVENT NO. 4.—20 singles each man: Poston 17, Duncan 13, Plummer 9, Schmidt 16, Cockrell 17, Bennett 16, Heikes 18, Young 20, Bartlett 17, Leroy 17, Van Dyke 19, Rike 16, Dickinson 13, Duley 18, Pemberton 12, Alexander 15, Thibault 16, Moore 19, Hughes 17, Sumpter 19, Dobbins 14, Little 13, Rix 17, Smith 14, Wadley 15, Hoffman 16, Timberline 14, Fletcher 13, Drake 18, Fulford 17, Leach 15, Lloyd 15, Irwin 17.

EVENT NO. 5.—15 single targets: Poston 9, Duncan 11, Plummer 10, Schmidt 15, Cockrell 14, Bennett 9, Heikes 11, Young 11, Bartlett 12, Leroy 13, Van Dyke 12, Rike 13, Dickinson 15, Duley 13, Pemberton 11, Alexander 10, Thibault 12, Moore 12, Hughes 12, Sumpter 10, Dobbins 13, Little 10, Rex 12, Smith 12, Wadley 11, Hoffman 13, Timberline 12, Hetener 11, Fulford 14, Drake 14, Lloyd 13, Leach 9, Marsh 11.

EVENT NO. 6.—20 singles: Poston 14, Duncan 19, Plummer 12, Schmidt 14, Cockrell 14, Bennett 16, Heikes 20, Young 18, Bartlett 16, Leroy 19, Van Dyke 19, Rike 16, Dickinson 15, Duley 17, Pemberton 12, Alexander 14, Thibault 15, Moore 17, Hughes 18, Sumpter 18, Dobbins 15, Little 10, Rix 15, Smith 16, Wadley 15, Hoffman 16, Timberline 16, Hetener 17, Fulford 17, Drake 19, Leach 16, Lloyd 19, Irwin 19, Marsh 15, Jim 16.

EVENT NO. 7.—Team contest for Keeley Cup, three men to each team, 15 single targets per man.

HOT SPRINGS TEAM NO. 1		HOT SPRINGS TEAM NO. 2
Hughes	111111111111111-15	Rix	001010001111111—9
Sumpter	111111111111110-14	Smith	110110110111110-11
Williams	111011111111111-14—43	Wadley	011010010111011—9—29
LITTLE ROCK TEAM NO. 1		LITTLE ROCK TEAM NO. 2
Woodson	111011010101110-10	Dickinson	111100111011110-11
Duley	111101110111011-12	Alexander	111111111111111-15
Pemberton	111111101111111-14—36	Irwin	111101111101111 13—39

LITTLE ROCK TEAM NO. 3

Thibault	111101011111111-13	Fletcher	111010110110111 11—32
Schaer	001010101110110—8

EVENT NO. 8.—15 single targets: Poston 12, Duncan 14, Plummer 8, Schmidt 10, Cockrell 8, Bennett 8, Heikes 15, Young 13, Bartlett 13, Leroy 15, Van Dyke 12, Rike 14, Dickinson 12, Duley 12, Pemberton 12, Alexander 13, Thibault 11, Moore 15, Hughes 13, Sumpter 15, Dobbins 14, Little 10, Rix 13, Smith 12, Wadley 8, Hoffman 9, Timberline 13, Drake 13, Lape 11, Fulford 15, Fletcher 13, Lloyd 11. Marsh 12, Leach 11, Jim 11, Schaer 13.

EVENT NO. 9.—20 singles: Poston 13, Duncan 16, Plummer 16, Schmidt 14, Cockrell 15, Bennett 17, Heikes 16, Young 19, Bartlett 19, Leroy 18, Van Dyke 19, Rike 16, Dickinson 15, Duley 19, Pemberton 13, Alexander 18, Thibault 18, Moore 19, Hughes 15, Sumpter 15, Dobbins 18, Little 15, Rix 17, Smith 12, Wadley 14, Hoffman 19, Fulford 18, Drake 17, Irwin 15, Marsh 11, Leach 17, Lloyd 18, Fletcher 17, Jim 11, Schaer 17.

EVENT NO. 10.—15 singles: Poston 11, Duncan 14, Plummer 11, Schmidt 12, Cockrell 15, Bennett 13, Heikes 15, Young 14, Bartlett 13, Leroy 13, Van Dyke 15, Rike 13, Dickinsou 13, Duley 12, Pemberton 15, Alexander 11, Thibault 11, Moore 11, Hughes 12, Sumpter 14, Dobbins 13, Little 8, Rix 9, Smith 13, Wadley 8, Timberline 13, Drake 14, Fletcher 8, Fulford 15, Hoffman 14, Lape 14, Leach 12, Lloyd 11.

SECOND DAY

EVENT NO. 1.—15 single targets each man.

Heikes	111111111111111—15	Duley	011111111111111—14
Young	111111111111111—15	Pemberton	111111111101111—14
Bartlett	110011110111111—12	Thibault	011110111111111—13
Leroy	111111111101111—14	Moore	111111111111111—15
Van Dyke	111111111111111—15	Alexander	111111101111111—14
Rike	001111011011110—10	Hoffman	110111111111111—14
Hughes	111001010011110— 9	Lloyd	111111011111111—14
Sumpter	111101111111111—14	Drake	111111110110111—13
Little	111110101011110—11	Leach	011100010111010— 8
Rix	111111001111011—12	Fulford	111111011111110— 13
Smith	111000111111110—11	Lape	100101110101110— 9
Wadley	001011111100111—10	Timberline	101111111111000—11
Dickinson	111010110111011—11

EVENT NO. 2.—20 singles: Heikes 20, Young 20, Bartlett 17, Leroy 17, Van Dyke 18, Rike 20, Hughes 14, Sumpter 11, Little 15, Rix 18, Smith 17, Wadley 17, Dickinson 19, Duley 17, Pemberton 19, Thibault 17, Moore 18, Alexander 16, Hoffman 16, Leach 18, Lloyd 14, Fulford 20, Dobbins 18, Timberline 18, Mack 9, Drake 18.

EVENT NO. 3.—15 singles: Heikes 15, Young 12, Bartlett 13, Leroy 13, Van Dyke 9, Rike 14, Hughes 14, Sumpter 13, Little 11, Rix 10, Smith 9, Wadley 9, Dickinson 11, Daley 13, Pemberton 12, Thibault 12, Moore 13, Alexander 12, Hoffman 11, Leach 13, Lloyd 9, Drake 14, Fulford 15, Lape 14, Mack 7, Timberline 12, Dobbins 9.

EVENT NO. 4.—20 singles: Heikes 18, Young 18, Bartlett 15, Leroy 17, Van Dyke 18, Rike 19, Hughes 14, Sumpter 18, Little 15, Rix 17, Smith 11, Wadley 15, Dickinson 15, Duley 15, Pemberton 19, Thibault 17, Moore 18, Alexander 18, Hoffman 19, Leach 13, Lloyd 16, Dobbins 15, Drake 18, Fulford 16, Timberline 15.

EVENT NO. 5.—15 singles: Heikes 15, Young 13, Bartlett 12, Leroy 15, Van Dyke 13, Rike 14, Hughes 9, Sumpter 12, Little 12, Rix 12, Lape 11, Timberline 12, Dickinson 10, Duley 13, Pemberton 11, Thibault 11, Moore 13, Alexander 10, Hoffman 13, Leach 11, Lloyd 15, Dobbins 10, Drake 11, Fulford 14, Jim 12, Smith 12, Irwin 12, Mathews 14.

EVENT NO. 6.—20 singles: Heikes 19, Young 20, Bartlett 19, Leroy 18, Van Dyke 19, Rike 18, Hughes 19, Sumpter 19, Little 12, Rex 11, Smith 14, Dobbins 18, Dickinson 15, Duley 16, Pemberton 16, Thibault 17, Moore 15, Alexander 18, Hoffman 19, Leach 19, Mathews 15, Timberline 17, Fulford 18, Drake 19, Jim 17, Irwin 15.

EVENT NO. 7.—Club championship team race [illegible] team, 25 single targets per man, 15 unknown angles [illegible] rules.

HOT SPRINGS GUN CLUB

Hughes	1110110110 1111111111 [illegible]
Sumpter	1111111111 0111 [illegible]
Williams	1010001110 1101100101 [illegible]
Rix	1110111011 1111111011 1101 [illegible]

LITTLE ROCK GUN CLUB

.....1110111110 1011110110 11111—20
.....0111111111 1111111011 11111—23
.....1111111111 1111110111 11011—23
.....1111110111 1011111101 11101—21—87

s: Heikes 15, Youug 14, Bartlett 13, Leroy 15 Hughes 10, Sumpter 12, Smith 14, Rix 10, b Dickinson 13, Duley 15, Pemberton 12, fo nder 14, Hoffman 13, Timherline 14, th ford 14, Drake 14, Mack 6, Jim 12, Irwin

EVENT NO. 9.—15 single targets each man: Heikes 19, Young 18, Bartlett 20, Leroy 19, Van Dyke 18, Rike 18, Hughes 17, Sumpter 18, Smith 16, Rex 15, Little 15, Dobbins 16, Dickinson 18, Duley 16, Pemberton 17, Thibault 17, Moore 18, Alexander 19, Hoffman 17, Jackson 10, Drake 16, Mathews 7, Fulford 18, Jim 18, Irwin 17, Dobbins 13.

EVENT NO. 10.—15 single targets: Heikes 12, Young 13, Bartlett 11, Leroy 13, Van Dyke 12, Rike 15, Hughes 10, Sumpter 15, Smith 13, Rex 9, Little 12, Dobbins 14, Dickinson 12, Duley 14, Pemberton 13, Thibault 13, Moore 12, Alexander 12, Hoffman 11, Jim 11, Mathews 11, Fulford 13, Drake 14, Jackson 11, Timberline 13.

THIRD DAY

EVENT NO. 1.—15 single inanimate targets each man.

Heikes	111111111110111 14	Dickinson	110110111111110 12
Young	111111111111115	Duley	001111111111113
Bartlett	011111101111113	Pemberton	111111001111113
Leroy	111011111111114	Thibault	111111111111115
Van Dyke	111111111011114	Moore	111111111111014
Rike	111110111111010 12	Alexander	011101110111112
Hughes	111011111111114	Hoffman	111101111111114
Sumpter	111011111101012	Fulford	111011111111114
Smith	111111011111013	Timberline	011111111111114
Rix	001111111011110 11	Drake	111111111111115
Dobbins	011011111101011 11	Jackson	010000100110010 5
Mathews	111101111111114

EVENT NO. 2.—20 single targets: Heikes 18, Young 16, Bartlett 17, Leroy 16, Van Dyke 20, Rike 17, Hughes 14, Sumpter 17, Smith 11, Rix 12, Dobbins 14, Mathews 14, Dickinson 17, Duley 15, Pemberton 18, Thibault 17, Moore 15, Alexander 19, Hoffman 19, Fulford 16, Drake 20, Jackson 7, Timberline 15.

EVENT NO. 3.—15 singles: Heikes 15, Young 12, Bartlett 14, Leroy 15, Van Dyke 15, Rike 12, Hughes 11, Sumpter 15, Smith 9, Rix 10, Dobbins 7, Mathews 9, Dickinson 10, Duley 14, Pemberton 12, Thibault 12, Moore 9, Alexander 9, Hoffman 14, Fulford 14, Drake 14, Jackson 5, Timberline 12, Jim 8.

EVENT NO. 4.—20 singles: Heikes 18, Young 17, Bartlett 14, Leroy 17, Van Dyke 17, Rike 17, Hughes 17, Sumpter 16, Smith 15, Rix 14, Dobbins 16, Mathews 12, Dickinson 20, Duley 16, Pemberton 18, Thibault 16, Moore 16, Alexander 15, Hoffman 16, Fulford 18, Timberline 19, Jim 14, Drake 12.

EVENT NO. 5.—15 single targets: Heikes 13, Young 14, Bartlett 13, Leroy 13, Van Dyke 12, Rike 12, Hughes 14, Sumpter 11, Baise 10, Drake 14, Timberline 15, Mathews 13, Dickinson 15, Duley 12, Pemberton 12, Thibault 12, Jim 14, Alexander 7, Hoffman 10, Fulford 15, Jackson 4, Davis 7.

EVENT NO. 6.—20 singles: Heikes 18, Young 20, Bartlett 17, Leroy 20, Van Dyke 14, Rike 17, Hughes 16, Sumpter 16, Drake 15, Baise 8, Fulford 17, Mathews 13, Dickinson 13, Duley 19, Pemberton 14, Thibault 18, Jim 17, Alexander 14, Hoffman 17, Timberline 17.

EVENT NO. 7.—25 singles each man.

Matthews	1010110100 0111101100 10010—13
Dickinson	1010111111 1110111110 11101—20
Pemberton	0011111111 1111111111 10110—21
Williams	1011011111 1011110100 10011—17
Sumpter	1110110110 1010110111 11111—19
Jackson	1011000110 1011100100 00011—12
Hughes	0011111101 1101101111 01111—19
Duley	1111110111 1110111100 00011—18
Jim	1111111100 1111010110 10100—17
Alexander	0110111111 1011111110 11011—20
Thibault	1111111111 1111111101 11101—23
Litzke	1010111111 1110101001 10101—17
Baise	0111010011 1101011001 11011—16

EVENT NO. 8.—11 singles: Heikes 14, Young 14, Bartlett 12, Leroy 14, Fulford 13, Rike 10, Sumpter 13, Matbews 11, Hughes 13, Timberline 8, Drake 15, Hoffman 12, Dickinson 9, Duley 15, Pemberton 9, Tbibault 13, Jim 13, Alexander 11.

EVENT NO. 9.—20 singles: Heikes 20, Young 20, Bartlett 18, Leroy 17, Fulford 17, Rike 13, Dickinson 12, Duley 16, Drake 17, Steele 9, Alexander 6, Sumpter 18, Mathews 15, Hughes 18, Jim 13, Hoffman 18, Tbibault 18.

EVENT NO. 10.—15 single targets: Heikes 13, Young 14, Bartlett 15, Leroy 14, Fulford 13, Rike 11, Sumpter 12, Mathews 10, Hughes 13, Jim 13, Hoffman 13, Thibault 10, Dickinson 10, Duley 12, Drake 11, Pemherton 12, Carr 9.

AVERAGES MADE DURING THE TOURNAMENT

Name	Shot at	Scored	Average
Heikes	465	433	93 1/3
Young	465	425	91 1/3
Leroy	465	417	89 2/3
Van Dyke	415	369	88 7/8
Fulford	465	410	88 1/3
Schaer	50	44	88
Bartlett	465	407	87 5/9
Drake	465	407	87 5/9
Moore	380	331	87 1/3
Rike	465	403	85 3/4
Duley	465	384	84 5/9
Sumpter	465	384	84 5/9
Hoffman	465	384	84 5/9
Lloyd	225	187	82 2/3
Irwin	165	136	82 5/11
Cornett	390	319	81 9/13
Hugbes	465	380	81 3/4
Tbibault	465	379	81 1/2
Alexander	430	350	80 1/7
Duncan	155	124	80
Dickinson	465	365	78 1/2

Name	Shot at	Scored	Average
Pemberton	445	349	78 4/9
Woodson	270	211	78 1/7
Schmidt	155	119	76 4/5
Lape	90	69	76 2/3
Leach	245	187	76
Smith	380	281	73 18/19
Williams	365	287	73 1/7
Rix	380	277	72 5/7
Clausen	50	36	72
Mathews	240	171	71 1/4
Wadley	225	161	70 1/3
Little	310	217	70
Marsb	70	49	70
Poston	155	108	68 1/20
Bennett	155	104	67 1/15
Cockrell	155	104	67 1/15
Fletcher	205	135	66 2/3
Plummer	155	98	62
Villipique	15	9	60
Baise	35	18	51 3/7
Jackson	100	47	47

Extras and trophy contests are not included in averages.

PAUL R. LITZKE.

CONTEST FOR THE GETSCHLAG DIAMOND MEDALS

DETROIT, MICH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The June shoot for the Getschlag diamond medals was held at the Ruseh House grounds Friday, June 14, sixteen teams entering. Among the shooters present was Mr. Damon, with his Burgess gun, and, as will be seen by his score, he did excellent work. Eacb team was composed of three men and each man shot at 25 single targets, the first six teams shooting known trap, unknown angles, aud all the rest known trap, nnknown angles.

OLD RELIABLE GUN CLUB TEAM

Walton.....0111111001 1111111111 11101—20
Marks.....1111111111 0111101111 11011—22
Avery.....1111011111 1111111011 11111—23
Team total.....65

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 1

North.....1111011001 1111110111 11011—20
Cutchler.....0100000111 1100000100 01110—10
Osmun.....0111111111 1111111111 11111—24
Team total.....54

DETROIT TEAM NO. 1

Klein.....1111011111 1011111110 10111—21
Rennick.....1111111011 1111111011 11011—22
Parker.....1110111111 0101101011 01111—19
Team total.....62

RIVER ROUGE GUN CLUB TEAM

Cicotte.....1101101101 1001111110 11111—19
Donaldson.....0111111111 1001110001 01110—17
Clay.....1111010110 1001011110 10111—17
Team total.....53

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 2

Giddings.....0101011110 1011011100 01100—14
Brummltt.....1111011101 1001001001 00010—13
Windiote.....0010010100 1011111010 11111—15
Team total.....42

ILLE TEAM NO. 1

.....0111111111 1010111111 11101—21
.....1011011011 1111101111 11111—21
.....1111011111 1010001101 11110—18
.....60

PASTIME TEAM NO. 2

Zilke.....1111111110 1111110111 11111—23
Gross.....0111111110 0111101101 10101—18
Niesues.....1010111101 1101111111 00110—18
Team total.....59

PASTIME TEAM NO. 1

Wolfe.....0011111111 0010110111 11111—19
Buesser.....0101110110 1111111101 11001—18
Fox.....1111111011 0111111110 10111—21
Team total.....58

NORTHVILLE TEAM NO. 2

Hamilton.....1010011000 1011000000 00000— 7
Green.....1001111101 1100010100 01110—14
Purser.....1000010100 0010100011 11001—13
Team total.....34

PONTIAC TEAM NO. 3

Cooper.....0111110011 0111111011 01110—18
Webb.....1000010101 0001110111 01110—13
Chaman.....0110011110 1001001101 11101—15
Team total.....46

MICHIGAN TEAM NO. 1

Woods.....1011111001 1111111101 11011—20
Fleischer.....1111111111 1111111001 11111—23
Bonte.....1111111110 1111100011 11100—19
Team total.....62

MICHIGAN TEAM NO. 3

J. Daniels.....0011101011 0111111101 11011—18
Procter.....0001011100 1011000010 11010—11
Adams.....1011110111 1111101111 01101—20
Team total.....49

GROSSE POINT GUN CLUB TEAM

Guyatt.....0100011110 0011001011 10001—12
Miehie.....0101111100 1111111010 01001—16
Bachman.....0010100101 1100010101 00101—11
Team total.....39

MICHIGAN TEAM NO. 2

C. Daniels.....0110001101 1110000110 00101—12
Adams.....1100101011 1111011101 01001—15
Cavanna.....0111111010 0111110010 11111—17
Team total.....44

SWAN CREEK GUN CLUB TEAM

Damon.....1110111111 1111110111 11111—23
La Fontaine.....1111101011 1111111110 11111—22
Weise.....1101101111 1010011101 00100—15
Team total.....60

PASTIME TEAM NO. 3

Smith.....1010101101 1111101110 01011—18
Mundt.....0101111010 1111101111 01011—18
Sheiberle.....1110000010 0001010101 11110—12
Team total.....38

I. K.

THE KEWANEE GUN CLUB'S TOURNAMENT

KEWANEE, ILL.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed please find seores made at the Kewanee Gun Club's midsummer tournament, held June 4 and 5. Owing to high wind both days the seores are poor. We look for a large attendance at our Fall shoot, as trap shooting is fast growing in favor here.

EVENT NO. 1.—Special team race, six men to a team, 25 single targets per man, entranee $6 per team, three moneys.

Sheffield Team—Alexander 21, Humphrey 24, Battey 16, Klock 21, Reider 17, Kildow 16. Total 115.

Neponset Team No. 1—Norton 20, Lyle 22, C. Stuart 18, Snow 19, V. Studley 15, Robinson 21. Total 115.

□Kewanee Team No. 1—Baker 20, Bannister 15, Huekins 22, Crain 19, Sharp 15, Kellogg 18. Total 109.

Galesburg Team No. 1—Hiekey 24, Marsh 17, Hodge 16, Henry 18, Harris 18, Breckwall 17. Total 110.

Kewanee Team No. 2—W. A. Bowen 16, McClure 17, Faull 17, D. Day 19, White 18, Pierce 21. Total 109.

Galesburg Team No. 2—Harrington 19, Phillips 11, Gardt 19, Harris 19, Hodge 18, Henry 17. Total 103.

Prineeton Team—Skinner 20, Hopkins 14, Stuart 20, Powell 18, Priestley 15, Wagner 17. Total 104.

Neponset Team No. 2—E. Miller 18, La Frinier 12, McIntire 17, Kopp 19, F. Bowen 16, Livingston 18. Total 100.

Events Nos	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Number targets	10	15	10	20	10	15	20	10	15	10
Baker	9	15	6	16	9	8	18	5	13	7
Wagner	7	11	4	18	10	8	17	7	11	9
Skinner	5	11	6	12	8	11	14	7	11	7
Alexander	8	15	7	16	10	11	18	8	11	..
Bannister	9	13	6	9	6	12	12	8	11	..
I. R. Stuart	8	11	6	17	9	10	14	8	..	6
C. Stuart	9	14	7	20	8	9	11	8	..	..
Huekins	8	11	5	15	9	10	20	10	14	8
V. Studley	10	12	7	12	8	10	15	9	..	9
Snow	8	14	6	14	10	9	13	4	..	10
Kellogg	7	9	7	17	6	10	13	7	..	8
Sharp	7	11	8	13	..	12	..	6	..	..
Cady	8	12	5	16	10	12	15	..	..	..
Long	6	12	1	10	6	7	17	..	..	..
Clark	10	13	6	18	9	11	18	..	..	..
Kopp	8	12	4	16	8	12	14	..	..	..
Day	12	8	14	9	14	19	5	11	..
Hiekey	12	4	18	9	12	16	4	14	..
G. Bowen	6	7	..	19	6	12	..	..	..	..
White	6	11	..	11	7	9	13	..	..	..
Lyle	9	13	4	16	9	9	15	7	..	..
Robinson	9	11	6	17	7	13	18	..	..	..
Humphrey	13	5	15	8	8	..	8	12	..
Norton	4	9	..	15	7	..	..	8	..	..
Crain	5	13	4	14	6	..	..	..	..	8
W. A. Bowen	3	12	4	16	4	..	9	..	..	..
Harrington	10	6	14	7	8	13	..	..	..
Pieree	11	5	15	7	11	15	..	..	..
Hodge	9	3	16	7	..	..	..	11	..
Harris	9	3	..	8	8	16	..	..	..
W. F. Bowen	..	7	12	5	8	..	6	..	..
Kloek	7	13	6	..	8	11	..	..	..	6
Williams	7	9	..	..	8	8	..	4	..
La Frinier	8	8	..	..	5	..	..	7	..	..
Faull	7	6	4	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Robson	9	9	..	16	8	..	..	..	..	..
McClure	5	9	5	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Heury	13	5	13	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Pbillips	7	3	13	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Marsh	11	..	12	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Gardt	7	5	11	4	..	..	..	..	..	..
Kildow	5	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	9
Battey	6	12	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Livingston	..	..	..	..	8	8	..	..	..	..
Carpenter	..	..	..	..	7	..	..	5	..	..
Dunbar	..	..	..	..	8	..	..	..	..	..
Miller	5	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Reader	8	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	9
Breckwall	11	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Hopkins	3	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Powell	3	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..
Custer	..	..	..	..	6	..	..	7	..	..
Roberts	..	..	..	..	7	..	..	..	..	..
Brinkhoff	..	..	12	..	..	..	..	..	..	..

All the above events were at known traps and angles except Nos. 3 and 6, which were unknown traps, four moneys.

SECOND DAY

Events Nos	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	13	14	15
Number targets	10	15	10	12	15	15	10	15	15	10	15	10	10	10	10
Baker	7	8	8	9	12	12	5	15	11	8	10	9	8	7	8
Cowden	5	9	6	7	9	12	4	10	12	6	14	6	..	6	4
Cady	10	10	9	10	11	9	4	12	11	8	11	8	6	7	7
Long	9	10	5	10	12	12	7	10	13	9	11	8	7	8	6
Huckins	8	14	10	9	14	13	8	13	13	9	12	9	7	7	9
Snow	10	6	8	11	12	5	9	13	9	13	9	6	8	6
Studley	..	6	9	13	14	6	11	12	7	12	8	5	..	10
Sharp	..	7	9	8	10	..	..	10	6	..	7	5	..	9
Crain	9	12	6	7	..	11	..	..	10	6	10	..	5	..	5
Clark	6	11	9	8	10	7	4	..	11	5	..	..	..	9	8
Hickey	5	11	7	9	13	14	6	14	..	..	..	..	..	..	8
Day	8	13	7	11	14	14	..	11	13	..	..	..	..	..	9
Brock	..	..	6	11	..	11	3	13	10	7	10	..	..	..
Lyle	..	..	9	11	14	12	9	11	11	9	11	..	3	..
Wells	..	..	..	8	..	13	8	12	10	8	12	..	..	..
E. Studley	..	..	..	9	11	12	4	10	..	9	..	..	..	..
C. Stuart	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	15	12	6	10	9	8	..	..
Lewis	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	8	11	6	8	9	..
Richards	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	5	12	6	5	8
Pieree	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	11	7	7	3	6
Robson	..	..	..	..	..	11	11	6	..	9	..	..	..	..
Dunbar	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	9	..	8	7	5	6	..
G. Bowen	9	7	5	..	..	12	..	11	14	9	12	..	..	..	6
Spiekler	6	..	8	..	10	..	..	..	..	..	..	7	6	9	8
Maynard	3	..	..	..	8	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	7
Kopp	..	9	5	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	6
Hodge	6	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	8
Marquiss	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	5	..	7	..	..	..	..
Pylo	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	5	..	..	6	..
Martin	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	6	..	..
Eddy	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	5

Events Nos. 7 and 13 were at 5 pairs, three moneys. Rest were shot from known traps and angles, four moneys.

L. C. HUCKINS.

TRAP AT LINCOLN

LINCOLN, NEB.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Tbe Lincoln Gun Club held an all-day shoot at Lincoln Park on May 30. The out-of-town shooters present were C. "Dewitt" of Wymore and L. Utterbach of Nebraska City. The home shooters and members of the club were more in evidenee. Tbere were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Latshaw (and, by the way, Mrs. Latshaw is the best lady shot at the trap in tbis western country), F. Miller, Geo. Rogers, F. W. Sharpe, U. G. Powell, J. H. Stevens, F. Clyde, Dr. Eatou, Joe Brinker, Mark Woods, Dr. Kerman, Dr. Graham, J. Brown, D. Shilling, Mr. Denham and Mr. Washington.

Everybody had a good time, but it began to rain about 2:30 in the afternoon and that stopped the sport for the day. We used five Blue Rock expert traps equipped with Paul North's electric pull. Frank Sharpe aeted as trap puller, while Geo. Sipe did the refereeing, and their services were greatly appreciated. The scores:

EXTRA NO. 1.—15 singles to warm up on: Rogers 12, Brown 7, Powell 12, Sbarpe 13.

EVENT NO. 1.—10 singles, known angles, entrance $1, tbree moneys: Rogers 9, Brown 8, Powell 9, Sharpe 8, Woods 4, Latshaw 9, Miller 8, Stevens 4, Eaton 7, Brinker 5, Shilling 6, Denham 6, Clyde 6, Dewitt 8, Wood 4. Rogers, Powell and Latshaw divided first money; Brown, Sharpe, Miller and Dewitt divided second money; Dr. Eaton won third money.

EVENT NO. 2.—20 singles, known angles, entranee 50 eents, five merchandise prizes.

Woods	00110101101011011100–11	Powell	11100111111111111101 17
Shilling	11111011111110011111–17	Sharpe	11111101101001111111 16
Rogers	11111101011011101111–16	Mrs. Latshaw—
Brown	11011111101101111101–16		10101001111111111111–16
Miller	00111110111011111011–15	Graham	00001011010000000101– 6
"Jones"	11110010101100111100–13	Kerman	10000000011101100001 7
Brinker	11111100100000111000–12	Washington—
Dewitt	11000100111011110111–13		11010000010010000100– 6
Clyde	11111011010111111117	Woods	00011101000101110110 10
Eaton	01100010000001000000– 4	Rogers	11101111011110000101– 8

Shilling won first prize, a handsome painting; Sharpe won second in the shoot off, a Chubb jointed fishing rod: Miller third, box cigars; Dewitt fourth, fifty band-loaded shells; Brinker fifth, fifty hand-loaded shells.

In the above eveut Mrs. Latshaw broke her last 13 targets straight, the best straight seore made during tbe day.

EVENT NO. 3.—15 singles, unknown angles, entrance $1, four moneys: "Dewitt" 10, Miller 12, Sharpe 13, Shilling 14, Brown 11, Clyde 11, Rogers 10, Mrs. Latshaw 9, Powell 11. Shilling first money; Sharpe seeond: Miller third: Brown, Powell and Clyde fourth.

EVENT NO. 4.—5 live birds for price of the birds: Kerman 4, Graham 1, Brinker 4, Latshaw 5, Woods 1.

EVENT NO. 5.—7 live birds, entrance $3, three moneys.

Latshaw	211*212—6	Dewitt	1220210—5
Powell	1*01121—5	Clyde	0*00002—1
Miller	22222*1—6	Denham	2211121—7

Denham won first money; Latshaw aud Miller second; Powell and Dewitt third.

EVENT NO. 6.—10 single targets, unknown angles, eutranee $1, three moneys: Brown 3, Miller 5, Sharpe 7, Latshaw 10, Utterbach 6, DeWitt 6, Clyde 4. Latshaw won first money: Sharpe seeond: Utterbaeh and Dewitt third.

EVENT NO. 7.—10 singles, unknown angles, entrance $1, three moneys: "Jones" 3, "Dewitt" 6, Shilling 8, Miller 9, Brown 3, Sharpe 9. Miller and Sharpe divided first money; Shilling won seeond; "Dewitt" won third.

EVENT NO. 8.—10 singles, unkuown angles, entrauce $1, threc moneys: Dewitt 7, Brown 5, Rogers 9, Shilling 8, Miller 7, Sbarpe 6. Rogers won first money: Shilling second; Dewitt third.

EVENT NO. 9.—10 singles, unknown angles, entrance $1, three moneys: Dewitt 8, Miller 8, Rogers 7, Brown 6, Sharpe 8, Shilling 8. Dewitt, Miller, Sharpe and Shilling divided first money; Rogers won seeond; Brown third.

EVENT NO. 10.—9 singles and 3 pairs targets, entrance $1.50, three moneys: Miller 13, Rogers 11, Shilling 11, Dewitt 8. Miller won first money; Rogers and Shilling seeond; Dewitt tbird.

SOFT COAL.

THE WEST NEWBURG GUN AND RIFLE ASSOCIATION

Tbe "Field Day" of the West Newburg Gun and Rifle Associaeiation, June 13, was a pleasant and successful affair; not quite as large in numbers, however, as was expected. Messrs. Halsted, Everinghim, Dain, Southard and Riehmoud were present with the Messrs. Rhoades from Marlboro and Fishkill. The program called for both targets and live birds.

Mr. Gidney set a free lunch where all made straight scores, there not being a miss out of the entire attendance, and why should there have been, for before tbem were stewed clams, baked beans, boiled ham, corned beef, pickled ealves' head, cucumbers, onions, limburger, old English and pot cheese, Dutcb courage (beer), soda, ginger ale, ete.

The boys always have an enjoyable day here and few miss it thal can be on hand. The scores:

EVENT NO. 1.—10 single targets for practice: H. C. H. 9, Halsted 8, Likely 8, Riehmond 5, Dain 7, Taylor 7.

EVENT NO. 2.—15 single targets.

T. Rhoades	001111010110111–10	Halsted	100101111110101 10
J. Rhoades	100011100001000—4	Likely	110111110111100 11
Richmond	111111111110110–13	Wood	111110111101100 11
Taylor	111011111110110–12	Dain	011101111111101–12
H. C. H.	101111111011110–10	Stansbrough	111101111011110 12
Stone	010101011011110–9	Taylor	111110111111101 13

EVENT NO. 3.—10 singles each man: T. Rhoades 7, J. Rhoades 4, Richmond 4, Taylor 9, H. C. H. 8, Stansbrough 7, F. A. T. 8, Halsted 8, Dain 6, Kissam 5, Donoline 9, Wood 8.

EVENT NO. 4.—15 singles: Stansbrough 14, T. Rhoades 12, J. Rhoades 8, Kissam 9, Wood 10, Mitebell 13.

EVENT NO. 5.—15 singles: Taylor 13, F. A. T. 12, H. C. H. 13, Wood 12, Halsted 12, Mitchell 7, Stansbrough 13, Dain 9, Everinghim 14, Donohue 13, Richmoud 11. Everinghim won first money: ties for second and third divided.

EVENT NO. 6.—25 targets, $1.50 entrance: Taylor 23, F. A. T. 19, H. C. H. 19, Wood 16, Halsted 19, Kissam 18, Dain 16, Stansbrough 19, Everinghim 19.

EVENT NO. 7.—Live birds for practice, 10 each man: Likely 9, Riebmond 1, Wood 7, H. C. H. 8, Halsted 10, Taggart 9, Taylor 8, Dain 7.

EVENT NO. 8.—Pairs for practice: H. C. H. 3 out of three pairs, Halstead 1 out of one pair, Dain 4 out of three pairs. The others shot only at one pair each: Taylor 2, Likely 0, Halsted, re-entry, 2, Taggart 0.

EVENT NO. 9.—10 live birds each man, high guns to win.

Halsted	2111201121—9	Stansbrough	0222222002—7
H. C. H.	2120222202—8	Richmond	2022212222 9
Taggart	2100111010—6	J. Rhoades	1010021111—7
Dain	2201121111—9	Kissam	0122112011 8
F. A. T.	2212201222—9	Likely	1122212102 9
Taylor	2122210222—9	Mitchell	00w 0

□Messrs. Rhoades and Likely were not in the sweep, shooting simply for the birds.

EVENT NO. 10.—Miss and out. $2 entrance: Likely 3, Halsted 1, Dain 4, H. C. H. 0, Taylor 4, Stansbrough 4, Taggart 3, Wood 4. Mr. Likely and Mr. Wood were not in sweep. Dain, Taylor and Stansbrough divided the purse.

TRAP AT BROOKVILLE

BROOKVILLE, IND.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD: I herewith send you the scores made in ten events shot on the grounds of the Franklin Gun Club of this city on June 12.

This is the second contest of a series of four social contests to be held this season between members of the gun clubs of Sunman, Newpoint, Greensburg and Brookville, the first contest having taken place at Sunman, May 27. All events were shot from five known traps, unknown angles.

EVENT NO. 1. 10 single targets, 70 cents entrance, three moneys, 50, 30 and 20.

Foy	1100101110 6	Mac	0001000111—4
Rox	0010000111—4	Baker	0011011011—6
Buckley	1011111110—8	Dan	1010001001—4
C. Pea	1111111111 10	Jos. Meyer	0111011111—8
Link	1111010111 8	Thompson	1110011111 8
Maharry	1111101011 8	Coe	1111110111—9

EVENT NO. 2.—Same as preceding: Coe 4, Thompson 4, Meyer 8, Dan 4, Baker 9, Mac 9, Maharry 6, Link 7, C. Pea 6, Buckley 9, Rox 6, Foy 5, Bee 7.

EVENT NO. 3. 15 single targets per man, $1 entrance, three moneys: Bee 12, Foy 9, Rox 11, Buckley 11, C. Pea 13, Link 8, Maharry 11, Baker 10, Meyer 11, Thompson 8, Coe 10, Dan 7.

EVENT NO. 4. 10 singles, 70 cents entrance: Bee 9, Rox 5, C. Pea 5, Foy 6, Meyer 8, Buck 6, Link 7, Thompson 6, Baker 8, Dan 3, Maharry 7, Luhring 2, Spodge 6, Coe 8.

EVENT NO. 5.—Same as before: Foy 1, Dan 6, Bee 4, Winnie 7, Rox 5, Buck 4, Meyer 6, Luring 5, Link 7, C. Pea 5, Maharry 4, Mac 5, Coe 4, Thompson 3.

EVENT NO. 6.—15 single targets, $1 entrance, three moneys.

C. Pea	111011111111101 13	Meyer	111111010111110-12
Bee	110110110010001 8	Baker	111111000101111-11
Maharry	110000000100011 5	Foy	001011110000111—8
Winnie	111110101011010 10	Mac	0000010110 w...—3
Buck	100110011111100 9	Coe	101100110101110—9
Link	011111100111000 9	Dan	100000000010101—4
Luring	000000101011010—5	Thompson	111000110101101—9
Rox	111111100111111 13

EVENT NO. 7.—10 singles, 70 cents entrance: Spodge 3, Harwood 3, Bee 4, Meyer 5, Link 5, Winnie 7, Buck 3, Rox 7, Dan 2, Maharry 4, Coe 3, Foy 3.

EVENT NO. 8.—Same as preceding: Maharry 5, F. Bee 10, Harwood 5, Meyer 6, Baker 6, Winnie 7, Rox 6, C. Pea 7, Foy 6, Buck 5, Mack (w) 1, Link 5, Coe (w) 1.

EVENT NO. 9.—15 singles, $1 entrance: C. Pea 12, Buck 10, Bee 12, Winnie 9, Foy 2, Harwood 7, Meyer 12, Thompson 11, Coe 5, Rox 10, Maharry 9, Link 7.

EVENT NO. 10.—Same as before: Buck 6, Dan 6, Coe 4, C. Pea 8, Rox 5, Bee 6, Winnie 9, Maharry 9, Meyer 5, Foy 5, Thompson 7, Mac 3.

MAC, Secy.

TRAP AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, WASH.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—On May 30 a live bird shoot was held here, the principal event being a 25-bird race, $20 entrance. This event had twelve entries, and Capt. E. P. Miner of this city proved the winner, killing 25 straight. Mr. W. A. Eberly of Tacoma was a close second with 24, while W. F. Sheard, who now resides at Tacoma, but who is well known by nearly all trap shooters of Montana, and "Stevens" of this city divided third, each killing 23.

The birds were a very inferior lot; in fact the poorest that have ever been trapped on the grounds, and were a source of much disappointment and dissatisfaction to the management as well as the shooters. Over one thousand had been secured, a majority of which had been turned loose in a large room for over a week before the day they were to be used, and were fed and watered regularly. About four hundred of the number were wild pigeons, but they proved even slower than the domestic birds.

The wild pigeons are a nuisance to handle, and refuse to eat or drink very little while kept in captivity. They do not easily aquaint themselves with the presence of man and will fly around the cage in a most frantic manner when anyone attempts to visit them, banging their heads and wings against the walls and ceiling to the great detriment of these organs. When released from the trap they invariably fly away from the shooter, and the quickness with which they will twist around in midair when thrown out by scoop traps is astonishing.

This shoot winds up the season here on live birds, but next Fall will find Seattle to the front again. Several smaller sweeps were shot during the day. The scores of the big shoot follow.

Churchill	1221121220 2111212211 10012—22
Charles	2122220120 2201200122 12221—20
"Stevens"	1012221110 2212222111 21111—23
Purdy	2122001022 1122122212 11122—22
Kimball	2121011220 0122211210 02211—20
Sheard	1122122222 2102221210 22221—23
Smith	2102120120 2212111111 01120—20
Lanning	2212212102 2222221022 12010—21
McKee	1222200201 2210101011 22011—18
Eberly	1111212222 1110121111 22111—24
Miner	2211221222 2221221211 12212—25
"Pane"	0002221021 0100011002 12021—14

Miner won first money, $75: Eberly won second, $45; Sheard and "Stevens" won third, $30.

C. F. GRAFF.

THE VERNON ROD AND GUN CLUB

NEW YORK.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—Inclosed I hand you the scores made at the regular weekly shoot of the Vernon Rod and Gun Club. The scores are not as good as usual owing to a strong wind right in the faces of the shooters, which not only made the targets hard to gauge correctly but blew the small particles from the burned nitro powder back into the shooters' eyes, making it quite unpleasant as well as hard shooting. The scores:

EVENT NO. 1.—10 single targets: Beveridge 6, W. H. Thompson 7, Welles 8, Allen 2.

EVENT NO. 2.—Same as before: Beveridge 3, Thompson 5, Welles 5, Allen 3, G. A. Rowell 5.

EVENT NO. 3.—10 single targets.

Allen	0110110101—7	Beveridge	1010110011—6
W. H. Thompson	0111101110—7	Emery	1110111011—8
Welles	0111011101—7	G. A. Rowell	0011100000—3

EVENT NO. 4.—Same as before: Allen 6, Bishop 6, Welles 6, Beveridge 4, Emery 6, G. A. Rowell 4, Dr. Smith 5, F. A. Thompson 7.

EVENT NO. 5.—Match for price of birds, everything unknown, between Welles and Beveridge: Welles 4, Beveridge 2.

EVENT NO. 6.—10 single targets per man: Beveridge 7, Welles 8, W. H. Thompson 6, Dr. Smith 5, Emery 8, Rowell 4, Allen 4, Bishop 7.

EVENT NO. 7.—Another of the same kind: Bishop 6, Emery 5, Beveridge 8, Dr. Smith 10, Rowell 4, Welles 6.

EVENT NO. 8.—Same as above: Beveridge 4, Welles 9, W. H. Thompson 4, Dr. Smith 7, Emery 4, Rowell 3, Allen 4, Bishop 9.

EVENT NO. 9.—Same again: F. A. Thompson 4, Allen 6, Welles 10, Rowell 3, Beveridge 8, Bishop 4.

EVENT NO. 10.—10 single targets, expert traps, known trap, unknown angles, optional 50 cent sweepstake.

Dr. Smith	1011110101—7	Welles	0111001111—7
F. A. Thompson	0101111111 8	Emery	0011011101—6
Beveridge	1110101111—8	Bishop	1001010110—5

EVENT NO. 11.—Same as before: Rowell 2, Dr. Smith 6, Beveridge 5, Bishop 7, Welles 7.

EVENT NO. 12.—Same again: Dr. Smith 7, F. A. Thompson 7, Beveridge 5, Welles 7, Emery 8, Bishop 7.

H. S. WELLES, Assistant Secy.

MONDAY VS. COHRON—MORTON VS. MONDAY

PLEASANT HILL, MO.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The match between Mr. J. W. Monday, present holder of the Troisdorf Smokeless Powder Cup emblematic of the colored champion target shot of Missouri, and Mr. T. H. Cohron, both of Pleasant Hill, came off on Friday, June 14, and resulted in a second victory for Mr. Monday by two birds: and as both of these parties had agreed to meet Mr. J. D. Morton of Harrisonville, Mo., the same day, he (Morton) was also on the grounds, and immediately following the above match Mr. Monday and Mr. Morton shot a similar match, which resulted in a victory for Mr. Morton, and he now holds the cup, which is subject to challenge from any colored shooter of the state.

The conditions of these matches were 50 targets from three traps, American Shooting Association rules to govern, the first 15 singles from known trap and angles, the next 15 from unknown trap and angles and the last 20 at 10 pairs. Scores as follows:

MONDAY COHRON

Monday	1111110111 1011101111 1111011011
	10 11 11 11 01 11 11 01 11 01 41
Cohron	1101101111 1101111101 1111101010
	11 11 01 11 10 01 11 11 10 11 39

MORTON—MONDAY

Morton	1111011111 0011111011 1101111111
	11 10 10 11 10 11 01 11 11 10—40
Monday	1011101110 0111110101 1110111110
	11 00 11 10 11 01 11 10 11 01 36

S. M. W.

NEW YORK GERMAN CLUB

The annual picnic and shoot of the New York German Gun Club of New York was held at Dexter Park, L. I., June 19. The members, with their families and friends—about 120 in number were on hand early and made a long day of it.

After the first sweep dinner was served. The president made a pleasant address of welcome to all, complimented the club on its good work, and concluded his remarks with a toast to the ladies.

After dinner the shooting was resumed, and the ladies, with a number of gentlemen, engaged in bowling, wheelbarrow and other prize contests, in which the lucky ones were handsomely rewarded. Dancing kept the party together until after 10 p. m. The scores of the shooting follow:

EVENT NO. 1.—Club contest, 8 live birds per man, handicap rise:

	Yards			Yards
Sauter	30	11210011—6	J. Schlicht	25	12222111—8
Schmitt	30	112222*2—7	A. Busch	25	10012212—6
Dreste	21	10020000—2	Noble	21	10001211—5
Lenone	28	02000102—3	Wellbrook	30	22220121—7
Elfers	21	11002120—5	Tomford	30	02021120—5
Konig	21	01001201—4	Guetner	21	*0000100—1
Boudan	21	11101110—6	Danuefelser	25	01101010—4
Frazer	25	11112211—8	Edwards	30	02100222—5
Miller	25	10111011—6	Kransby	25	*0022001—3
Huff	25	11011*01—5	Steuernagle		11002210—5
T. Garms	21	00200011—3	Lucas		21201002—5
Dr. Hudson	30	12000112—5

In the shoot off of ties Mr. Frazer won first medal, Mr. Schlicht second medal, and Mr. Wellbrook third medal.

EVENT NO. 2.—Sweep at 3 live birds, three moneys: Lucas 2, Lenone 1, Bush 3, Schmitt 1, Hudson 3, Huff 3, Kransby 1, Sauter 2, Steuernagle 2, Frazer 2, Miller 2, Wellbrook 3, Noble 3, Elfers 3, Radle 0, Le Mault 1, Messmann 1.

THE HINGHAM GUN CLUB

HINGHAM, MASS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The members of the Hingham Gun Club and a few of their friends recently made the following scores on targets:

EVENT NO. 1.—50 targets each man.

*Herbert	1101101111 0110111111 0111111101 1111111110 1111111111—43
Allison, a	1010111111 0101111111 1111111111 1111101110 0110101110—40
Henderson, a	1111111101 1111011101 1111010001 1110111110 1011110010—37
*Prescott	1001111111 0011001011 1110111001 1100111101 1011111111—36
Breen, a	1111111001 0101110111 0100111010 1111111011 1001100110—34
Howe, a	1100011111 1011010001 1010110111 1101101101 1110101111—34
Sylvester, b	0011011111 1000101111 1000110111 0001111101 0011111111—33
Higgins, b	1011111010 0011000000 0110101011 0100111011 1011011111—29
*Wilcott,	1110110111 1000011111 1000110010 1000100000 1110101100—26
Spalding, b	1000110010 1100101011 0111001100 0001011011 1100001011—25
Lincoln, b	0000000110 0101110001 0101011100 1011100001 1101011111—25
Maynard, b	0001010100 0100000101 0010001011 0101000001 0011000001—16
*Alleock,	1100001110 1011001010 1111111101 0111111111 w........—27
Kelley,	1001000010 0001111101 0111111001 1101110011 w........—23

*Visitors.

EVENT NO. 2.—25 targets, unknown angles: Henderson 23, Herbert 21, Breen 21, Prescott 18, Spalding 17, Howe 16, Allison 16, Sylvester 14, Higgins 14, Maynard 9.

EVENT NO. 3.—15 singles, unknown angles: Howe 14, Henderson 13, Herbert 12, Prescott 12, Allison 11, Breen 8.

HINGHAMITE.

THE EMERALD GUN CLUB

The above named club of New York City held its monthly club contest at Dexter Park, L. I., on June 18. The attendance of members was exceptionally good and all had a delightful time. Each man shot at 10 live birds, handicap rise, making the following scores:

	Yards			Yards
C. Maesel	25	010020100*—3	W. Levens	28	2220201222—8
T. P. McKenna	28	112002*111—7	F. W. Place	28	0211111022—8
J. H. Voss	30	22122*2*12—8	P. Butz	28	0102210100—5
N. Maesel	25	1000021011—5	T. Short	28	2212221212-10
J. Woelfel	28	2202120022—7	G. A. Vroome	28	1112221212-10
E. Doeinck	30	2221221221-10	Col. Hamilton	25	1120212202—8
R. Regan	25	1121010202—7	C. Wash	28	2110112212—9
M. Herrington	30	2101120221—8	O. Mulcahy	28	2211110101—8
Dr. Hudson	28	1212111122-10	L. H. Schortemeier—	30	2222001202—7
J. Maesel	28	2102111001—7
H. P. Fessenden	28	21*1112021—8	T. Codey	28	1110200102—6
J. H. Moore	30	2121220120—8	E. Bell	28	1221221012—9
C. Charles	25	2202221021—8	B. Amend	25	0210200211—6
R. Woods	30	2222221222-10	W. Amend	25	2221220102—8
G. Nowak	28	2122221212-10	G. E. Loeble	28	0012101220—6
Dr. Klein	25	2110111100—7

SCOTT HAMMERLESS.

SHOOTING BLUE ROCKS IN SACRAMENTO

Some of the best shots in California participated in the recen Blue Rock shoot at Sacramento, that state. Several events were shot and a number of good scores made.

SHOOT NO. 1.—10 birds per man: Fitzgerald 10, Webb, Fanning, Simson, Mierson and Burston 8 each, Robertson 5, O Donnell 4, Morrison 3.

SHOOT NO. 2.—15 Blue Rocks per man: Simson and Durst 13 each, Fitzgerald, Robertson and Fanning 11 each, Webb and Mierson 10 each, Burston 8, Morrison 6.

SHOOT NO. 3.—20 targets: Burston 19, Robertson and Durst 18 each, Webb 17, Fanning and Simson 16 each. Fitzgerald 15, O'Donnell 12, Morrison and Mierson 10 each.

SHOOT NO. 4.—10 targets: Fanning 10, Robertson 9, Webb, Durst and Newbert 8 each, Simson 7, Brown 6.

SHOOT NO. 5.—20 targets per man: Webb and Worthington 18 each, Robertson, Durst and Newbert 16 each, Brown 11, Fanning, Simson and O'Donnell 10 each.

SHOOT NO. 6.—25 targets: Webb, Fanning, Durst and Worthington each 21, Simson 19, Brown 16.

SHOOT NO. 7.—10 targets: Webb and Fanning 10 each, Worthington 9, Durst 8, Robertson, Simson, O'Donnell, Mierson and Brown each 7.

SHOOT NO. 8.—20 targets: Worthington 19, Simson 18, Webb 17, Fanning and Durst 16, O'Donnell 12.

THE WHITE CITY GUN CLUB

Members of this Chicago Gun Club had a shoot at live birds and inanimate targets on June 23, when the following scores were made:

EVENT NO. 1.—12 single live birds per man.

Man	111211111110-11	D. Lloyd	1121002w...—5
Paddock	120101111111-10	Schwer	010222w....—4
Liddy	111111120112-11	A. Maierhoefer	011001w....—3
Forbrich	111101221022-10	J. Maierhoefer	101111w....—5
Junker	211121210111-11

EVENT NO. 2.—10 live birds: Man 6, Liddy 6, Looker (w) 2, Forbrich 8.

EVENT NO. 3.—12 single live birds per man.

Liddy	221120121101-10	F. Maier	120001001022—6
Man	000120101201—6	Lloyd	110101111001—8
A. Maier	001001110110—6	Schwer	000201220011 6
Franz	201010121011—8	Harding	100121111010—8
Paddock	102112211121 11	Junker	011000212202—7

EVENT NO. 4.—25 single targets: A. Maierhoefer 9, Paddock (w) 17, Man 21, Junker 25, Liddy (w) 8, Franz 19, Lloyd 16, F. Maierhoefer 11, Schwer 14.

COLUMBUS VS. OCONOMOWOC

COLUMBUS, WIS.

EDITOR AMERICAN FIELD:—The Oconomowoc Gun Club shot our club a friendly match for the price of the birds on Thursday, June 20, and were defeated by the close score of 404 to 396. The shooting was very good, the combined scores averaging exactly 80 p[...] Conditions: 50 birds each, known traps and angles. The sc[...]

Columbus Gun Club—Maxwell 31, Rockwell 46, Peck 43 [...]ing 46, Bellack 42, Anderson 43, O. M. Dering 37, Vogl [...] Linck 39. Total 404.

Oconomowoc Gun Club—L. J. Stone 46, Dupee 41 [...] Machus 46, Race 31, Diettrich 35, Eastman 37, Park[...] 43, Lester 33. Total 396.

The afternoon, until train time, was spent in [...] stakes. The weather was simply perfection a[...] enjoyable one in every respect. The Columbus c[...] dolph on June 27 to shoot a team race with the c[...]

A. M. B.

SANTA ANNA VS. LOS ANGELES

Teams of six men each from Los Angeles and Santa Anna, Cal., shot the second of a series of matches at the grounds of the first named team, on June 15. Each man shot at 25 singles, and the scores made were as follows:

Santa Anna Team—Frank Proud 24, Clarence Parker 21, E. E. Mason 25, Thomas Kerr 24, V. T. West 21, Ed Vaughn 20. Team total 135.

Los Angeles Team—James Matfield 22, L. Ralphs 21, Charles Leighton 22, L. Preer 24, C. Van Valkenburg 23, J. H. Hauerwass 21. Team total 133.

At the conclusion of the match a banquet was spread and participated in by the members of both teams and their friends.

EDWARDSVILLE, ILL.—The Amateur Gun Club of this city held a prize shoot a few days since for a gold medal donated to the club by our county clerk, Mr. Henry Riniker. The shooting was under the walk-around system and at 50 clay birds. The wind blew a gale across the traps, which greatly reduced the scores. The medal will be shot for once each month until won three times by some one person, when it will become his individual property. The shooters were under a handicap, but I only append the scores actually shot by each man, which are as follows: Lewis 48, Montgomery 43, Grigsby 43, Cook 42, Chapman 40, Glass Jr. 37, Sidney 36, Dotterway 34, Harles 33, Gilham 32, Belk 23.

Mr. Lewis won the medal with 48, shooting an L. C. Smith hammer gun, black powder and 1⅛ ounces of No. 8 shot. Montgomery used a Remington hammerless, S. S. powder and 1¼ ounces of No. 7 shot. Grigsby used a Winchester repeater, black powder and 1¼ ounces of No. 7 shot. Cook used a Winchester repeater, American Wood powder and 1¼ ounces of No. 7 trap shot. Chapman used same kind of gun, black powder, and 1⅛ ounces of No. 8 shot. Glass used a Parker hammerless gun, black powder and 1⅛ ounces of No. 8 shot. Sidney used a Smith pigeon gun and same load as Glass. Harles used a Parker hammerless gun, Schultze powder and 1⅛ ounces of No. 7 shot. Gilham used a 10-gauge Parker hammerless, black powder and 1¼ ounces of No. 7 shot. Belk used a Torkelson hammerless gun, black powder and 1 ounce of No. 8 shot.

On June 19 the club is to shoot for a silver cup donated by H. E. Prickett and I hope to be able to send you much better scores, as the boys are getting interested and will improve in their shooting.

Edwardsville, Ill. RALPH RINGWOOD.

BURLINGTON, IA.—Scores as appended were made recently at a tournament held at Weaver, this state. The event of the day was the contest for the American Field Handicap Trophy, 50 single targets per man, which resulted in a second victory for L. F. Gemmett of Lee County, he scoring 47 out of 50. D. Brockway was a close second with 46 and A. Kammerer third with 44. Scores:

SHOOT NO. 1.—10 single targets each man: Scott 10, Brockway 8, Gemmett 9, Hitch 10, Philpot 7, Krieg 9, C. Kammerer 9, A. Kammerer 6, Lange 7.

SHOOT NO. 2.—Same: Scott 10, Brockway 9, Gemmett 9, Philpot 9, Hitch 8, Lange 8, C. Kammerer 6, A. Kammerer 6, Krieg 7, Woods 8.

SHOOT NO. 3.—Same again: Scott 8, Brockway 8, Gemmett 9, Philpot 6, Hitch 8, Lange 10, C. Kammerer 8, A. Kammerer 9, Krieg 5, Woods 9.

SHOOT NO. 4.—Trophy contest, 50 targets per man.

Robert Lange	1101111111 1111101111 1110111101 1001101111 1111111111—43
L. F. Gemmett—	1111111111 1111111111 1111111111 0111111110 1111101111—47
Dr. Philpot	0111111011 1110111111 1111110110 0111111110 1111011111—42
J. L. Grieg	0111111110 1111011001 1111111111 1110111111 1111110110—42
D. M. Brockway—	1111111101 1111011111 1111111011 1111111011 1111111111—46
C. Kammerer	1111101110 1110011111 1010111001 0111111011 1111000111—37
S. F. Scott	1110111010 1000011010 1111111111 1111111111 1110111111 40
Art. Kammerer—	1111111111 1111111110 1110111101 1101101111 1110111111—44
Sherman Woods—	1111001111 1101110111 1111111011 1111111111 0110111011—41
P. Hitch Jr.	1101001111 1111101111 1101111110 1101111111 1111111111—43

SCOTT.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—Members of the Louisiana Gun Club in a recent contest at 25 single targets per man, unknown angles, handicap dead bird allowance to the less proficient, $1.25 entrance, two moneys.

	Birds added
Jefferson		1111111110 1111111110 11111—23
Thornhill		0110011101 1011111111 11111—20
Jung		1011110011 0111011011 01111—19
Phil. Nott	2	1111111111 1111001111 01111—24
Saucier	2	1111001011 0011111100 10100—17
Geo. Miller	4	1111111110 1110010110 10100—21
Nuber	5	0011100010 1000000000 00011—12
Macmurdo	2	1001010011 1010011110 11010—16
P. Cousin	3	1111111111 1001110101 00011—21

Mr. Philip Nott won first: Mr. Jefferson second. Mr. Nott shot in very good form, winning his third heat of the season. As a trap shot he is among the youngest in point of experience, last year being his first at the traps. In subsequent pool shoots he won first with splendid regularity. It may be added that our birds are by no means easy, as many experts who have shot here can testify.

PERCY S. BENEDICT, Secy.

NEW POINT, IND.—The scores which I inclose herewith were made recently by members of the New Point Gun Club. The shooting was at both Empire and Blue Rock targets, from five expert traps, rapid fire.

EVENT NO. 1.—10 single targets, 25 cents entrance, two moneys.

J. A. Meyer	1111101100—7	M. Hoff	1100111111—8
Bee	1111111111-10	C. Meyer	1100110111 7
J. Hoff	1011011001—6	D. Freeland	0111111110 8
H. Meyer	1110011101—7

EVENT NO. 2.—Same as preceding: J. A. Meyer 8, Bee 6, J. Hoff 8, M. Hoff 5, C. Meyer 5, F. Green 8, H. Meyer 2.

EVENT NO. 3.—Same as before: M. Hoff 8, Bee 10, J. Hoff 7, J. A. Meyer 5, C. Meyer 6, J. McLaughlin 7, H. Meyer 9.

EVENT NO. 4.—10 singles, 25 cents entrance, two moneys.

J. A. Meyer	1101101111—8	J. Green	0100010010—3
Bee	0100111110—6	H. Meyer	1010100010—4
M. Hoff	1010100110—5	J. McLaughlin	1100100010—4
J. Hoff	1111101110 8	Frank Green	0100110010—4
C. Meyer	0010111111—7

EVENT NO. 5.—Same as last: Bee 6, J. A. Meyer 9, M. Hoff 9, H. Meyer 8.

JOE.

HELENA, MONT.—The following scores were made in practice by the members of the Helena Rod and Gun Club, each man shooting at 25 single targets.

Cronin	1110101100 1101001011 10110 15
Pickett	1110010111 1010111011 01110—17
Bryan	1010011111 1111100111 11011—19
Haag	1111100111 1111101111 11011—21
Walker	0101011011 1111011001 10101 16
Barbour	1111111111 1111111011 11111 24
Fisk	0111110111 1011111111 11110—22
Bellmaine	1110101011 1110111111 00111 19
Norris	0111010011 1001110111 01101 16
Fashbaugh	1111111110 1101011110 10101—19
Farmer	1001011110 0111100110 11011 16
Yaeger	0000001100 0000011110 01101—9
O'Connor	1100111111 0110011101 11111 19
Hughes	1111011011 0111111111 11111 22
Dogge	0011101111 1000011000 00110—12

J. H. FARMER, Secy.

HOUSTON, TEX. Below please find scores ma[...] regular monthly contest for the Houston City Gun [...] Blue Rock medal, each man shooting at 25 tar[...] Saunders 21, Simmons 20, Hernden 20, Crank 19. Han[...] medal, and with what is known here in Houston as J[...]

medal-winning Smith gun. This gun has quite a record for winning medals having won both the inanimate and live bird medals six times in the last seven contests. Great interest is manifested in trap shooting circles and there will be an all-day live bird contest July 4, if a sufficient number of live birds can be procured it will be both live bird and inanimate target

J. E. H.

MASS. Members of the Worcester Sportsman's [illegible] made the following scores in the nitro powder [illegible] at 25 single targets, with an added handicap of [illegible] the less proficient members.

	Birds added
Bucklin	2	1111101111 0011111011 01101—21
W. H. Buck	1	1111111111 0111111101 11111—23
R. C. Walk		1101111110 0111111111 11110—21
Kinney	1	1010101011 0100010010 01010—12
Harris	3½	0111110101 0000110110 01111—18½
E. Ide	5	1110101100 1111000011 11011—20
A. W. Watts		1111101110 1101011111 11010—19
C. Forehand		1111110111 1111111111 11111—24

CHAS. E. FOREHAND, Secy.

BRAINERD, MINN.—Members of the Brainerd Gun Club in practice recently, each man shooting at 15 single targets, made the following scores:

Courtney	010110101011000—7	La Bar	100000100011110—6
Ingersoll	011001110110000—7	Casey	111010010111011—10
Mantor	100111111301010-10	McCabe	001001010011011—7
Veon	011101001110111-10	Closterman	000000001101001—4
Westfall	011111101010110-11	Groves	011011000011111—8
Walker	110010100111110—9	Saunders	011011100100000—6
Smith	111111111001111-13

W. H. MANTOR, Secy.

WACO, TEX.—Inclosed please find scores made in a team shoot at this place, two men to each team, on the afternoon of June 15. Considerable interest was manifested among local sportsmen over the match, which was at 50 Blue Rocks per team, entrance $10 per team. Scores:

W. M. Caldwell	0111111111 1110111111 11010—21
T. E. Hubby	1111111111 1111111111 11111—25	—46
W. E. Cresap	0111110111 1111011111 10011—20
E. T. North	1011111111 0111111111 10111—22	—42

WM. CALDWELL.

PUEBLO, COLO.—Recently four members of the Pueblo Gun Club contested at inanimate targets for the Otero prize. In shooting for this trophy a handicap of extra birds to shoot at is given the less proficient members, and often, as on this occasion, these men defeat the more proficient. On this occasion Holmes, Burrows and Morse shot from scratch or at 25 targets each, while Belleville was allowed to shoot at 40 targets. Scores: Belleville 30, Holmes 12, Burrows 20, Morse 22.

L. G. M., Secy.

Answers to Correspondents

We are willing always to answer any question that we can answer, and prescribe for dogs or other animals in these columns, but we cannot answer questions or prescribe by mail. In all instances where it is necessary that a sick animal should be prescribed for by mail, we refer the owner to Professor R. J. Withers, No. 627 South Main Street, Los Angeles, Cal., to whom one dollar must be inclosed to pay for his services.

KENNEL

G. J. P., Joliet, Ill.—(1) Last March I bought a cocker bitch that was said to be in good condition. She was in whelp at the time. When she arrived I noticed a sore on her hindleg and one behind her ear; also that she had no hair on the under side of her neck or on her stern, but as I am not very well posted about such matters I thought nothing of it. When she whelped her puppies all died, and in the meantime more sores were breaking out on her and she was very feverish. I wrote to the seller about it repeatedly but have received no reply. I tried to doctor her myself, but with poor success, so I went to a veterinarian and he told me she had eczema. He gave me some medicine to rub on her and some to give inwardly. I succeeded in healing the sores on her with the outside lotion, but the medicine she takes does not seem to cool her blood and she is beginning to break out again. The edges of her ears were sore and when the scabs fell off after healing the hair came off with them, and now on her neck where the hair is off there are no sores, but the neck is covered with lumps or pimples. What can I do for her? (2) Is there any way of making the seller make matters right? He clearly misrepresented her condition. Ans.—(1) It is eczema, and sometimes obstinate to treat. Keep on with the veterinarian. (2) It does not follow that she had eczema when you got her, and the death of the puppies and subsequent eczema may have been due to your own lack of care or knowledge. If you had had the bitch examined when she arrived, and a veterinarian had certified that she was unhealthy, you could, of course, have refused to accept her.

MRS. R. B., Danbury, Conn.—Ans.—(1) Two hours exercise daily should keep your spaniel in proper flesh, but probably her obesity is due to a diseased condition. If you breed her next month, continue the daily exercise (not tot fast) right up to date of whelping, and avoid sloppy food. (2) It is absurd to give dogs castor-oil every month unles they require it. (3) They do not. (4) If rocky, flinty, full of broken glass, etc., the ground would hurt them, but not otherwise. (5) Feed your dogs table scraps, varied with rice and oatmeal; and it will be a good thing if you can get them to eat vegetables. A dog that is lying around all the time does better without much meat.

CONSTANT READER, Pittsburg, Pa.—Ans.—(1) Send to Secretary American Kennel Club, 55 Liberty Street, New York, for registration blank, which fill out and forward to him; the fee is $1. (2) Iron Duke and Princess Frederica are not registered. (3) Mizpah is not registered, but she has been exhibited and is listed, and her pedigree as given by you is quite correct; so is Rochelle Rush's. (4) We cannot say positively that you can register your puppy, because we do not know anything of its sire and dam, but if its breeding is authentic you can register it.

J. M. T., Seattle, Wash.—Ans.—(1) Vol. III of "Modern Dogs" is devoted to terriers, and therein you will find some forty pages and two illustrations devoted to the Skye and the Clydesdale (or Paisley) varieties, including names of prominent breeders and owners and their best specimens; price $4 at this office. (2) For addreses, etc., consult the advertising columns of the Scottish Fancier, the British Fancier, the Stock-Keeper, and other prominent journals devoted to the fancy in Great Britain, which your newsdealer can procure for you.

WM. M., Philadelphia, Pa.—(1) How can one diagnose cancer in a dog? (2) Does it attack the teats of a bitch? (3) Can you recommend a cure? (4) Is it contagious? (5) Is it hereditary? (6) Give the pedigree of the English setter bitch Kyd Monarch, who is her owner, and has she any public record? Ans.—(1) By means of a microscope, and it requires the services of an expert. (2) Not at all likely. (3) No. (4) No. (5) Yes. (6) She is not in the stud book. We do not know anything about her field qualities.

G. W., New Orleans, La.—Ans.—(1) Cleanse the ear with warm water and a soft sponge, then apply the tincture of iodine once daily. (2) Four weeks old, use from four to six drops of the fluid extract of pinkroot and senna; six to eight weeks, ten drops; eight to sixteen weeks, fifteen to twenty drops, for six consecutive mornings. (3) Address A. P. Vredenhurgh, Secretary American Kennel Club, No. 55 Liberty Street, New York City.

T. A. D., Lancaster, Pa.—Ans.—(1) Joe Jr (603) was by Elcho (579) out of Buck Jr (685). (2) Gloster (3435) was by Dashing Rover (Dash II—Norna) out of Trinket (Craek—Diana). (3) Gus Bondhu (3439), by Dashing Bondhu (Dash II—Countess Bear) out of Novel (Dan—Nellie). (4) Buck Jr (685), by Joe (Otto—Faunie) out of Buck (Jeff—Fan). (5) Mr. Geo. W. Campbell's Fannie (2811), crossbred, by Light (Otto—Nora) out of Buck Jr (685).

MARSHALL, Birmingham, Ala.—Ans.—(1) Sir Bedivere (19451) was by Nero III out of Bena, she by Bayard (Bosco—Juno) out of Freda (St. Nicholas—Juno II); Nero III, by Boniface (Bayard—Luna) out of Bessie II (Bayard—Hebe). (2) Judith (14722) is by Keeper out of Regina, she by Sirius (Medor—Blaess) out of Hilda Josepha (Berne—Longtou Belle); Keeper, by Ivo (Leon—Belline) out of Sans Peur (Siegenthaler's Barry—Belline).

POINTER, Webster, Mass.—Will a bitch come in heat and take a dog after she has been spayed? Of course I know they will not have puppies, but I have heard they will take a dog and write you to find out. Ans.—Some will at times stand for a dog, evincing a slight amount of sexual desire, which is observed similarly in a gelding, but if the removal of the ovaries has been thoroughly carried out a bitch cannot come in heat in the accepted sense of the term.

J. J. K., Springfield, O.—Ans.—We cannot undertake to select a brood bitch for you, but there are numbers that should mate well with a dog of the breeding you mention. You say you "want the best I can get;" if that is so you must be prepared to pay a big price, and you cannot do better than advertise in our business columns.

J. H. B., Austin, Ill.—Ans.—(1) Donald II (E. 13357) was by Rock—Fun; that is all the information given by the English Kennel Club's Stud Book. (2) Juno (E. 9047) was by Mike out of Juno (Hamlet II—Venus); Mike, by Bang (739) out of Della.

J. A. H., Austell, Ga.—Ans.—Write for registration blanks to the secretary of the American Kennel Club, 55 Liberty Street, New York; when received, fill them out and return, with fee of $1 each for registration.

G. R. B., Paris, Ky.—Ans.—The period of gestation for a bitch rarely extends to seventy days, but authenticated instances have been recorded from time to time.

E. J. H., Cherokee, Ia.—Ans.—The fee is $1; write for registration blanks to the secretary of the American Kennel Club, 55 Liberty Street, New York.

C. H. B., Binghamton, N. Y.—Ans.—Dusky Diamond (7748) was whelped March 14, 1888; she is by Dusky Trap (7711) out of Daze (6992).

TRAP

RALPH RINGWOOD, Edwardsville, Ill.—On last week Wednesday the Amateur Gun Club of this city shot for the handsome silver cup donated to the club by Mr. H. E. Prickett of the banking house of J. A. Prickett & Sons. Mr. Prickett fixed the handicaps of the shooters himself, and stated that when any shooter won the cup three times he should become the owner of it. The contest was at 50 clay birds. Following is the result of the first shoot, the first column showing the number of birds allowed by the handicap, and the second column the number actually broken by each shooter:

	Dead birds allowed	Birds actually scored	Total		Dead birds allowed	Birds actually scored	Total
Montgomery	6	47	53	Sidney	13	34	47
Grigsby	6	44	50	Prickett	11	34	45
Lewis	5	41	46	Riniker	20	23	43
Belk	20	38	58	Burton	20	21	41
Mumme	13	38	51	Gerber	20	18	38
Dotterway	14	37	51	Friday	20	14	34
Glass Jr	13	34	47	Armstrong	20	10	30

The referee declared Belk the winner, he having made the largest score, and Montgomery second, his being the next highest score. Was the referee's decision right? Could any man be scored more than 50 birds? Should not all who scored 50 or over be required to shoot off the tie? as no one could score more than 100 per cent., 50 birds being the maximum. As this cup will be shot for again we desire your decision upon this point. Section 4 of our by-laws provides that "all questions arising in any contest, and any failure of referee to render a decision, shall be decided by the AMERICAN FIELD, which decision shall be final." Now a controversy has arisen between the members and your decision is asked for to control future contests for this cup. No provision is made for ties, but American Shooting Association rules govern the club. The same handicap continues in all future shoots for this cup and as it is a valuable one, much interest is taken in the final result. Ans.—All participants who, with their added handicap of dead birds, scored 50 or better, were in the tie for the trophy, as no man could score more than a possible. If no provision was made by the donor of the trophy for shooting off ties, he should be asked to make such provision, and if he declines to so the rules governing the club shoots should prevail. In an event of this kind where the added handicap is so large in several instances, the tie should be shot off at the original number of targets, each man's handicap being the same as in the original contest.

C. G. C. W., Chicago.—(1) In a live bird shoot a pigeon after being shot at with both barrels fell or lit in a depression in the ground, out of sight of everybody. The referee called "dead bird," but when the boy went out to fill the trap and gatherer, the pigeon flew out of bounds, apparently unhurt. Should not the referee have waited until the gatherer had attempted to retrieve? (2) How should the bird have been scored? (3) Can a referee change his decision? Ans.—No. It was the referee's duty to call the bird "dead bird" as soon as it struck the ground. (2) Lost bird. (3) Yes, a referee can change his decision, but should do so before another bird has been shot at. At any large tournament one will often hear the referee reverse his decision, for frequently a bird that is supposed to be perfectly dead or mortally wounded succeeds in clearing the boundary line when the boy or dog attempts to gather.

U. P. B., Natchitoches, La.—In shooting doubles, if the traps are sprung—Nos. 2 and 4 being in action—and No. 2 throws a perfect and No. 4 an imperfect target, and the shooter accepts No. 2, shoots and breaks it, but does not shoot at No. 4—imperfect—how should it be scored? Ans.—"No birds." The party shooting should be required to shoot at another pair, and keep on shooting until he gets two perfect birds sprung at the same time. Should a perfect and an imperfect bird be thrown and the shooter accepts them and shoots, then the result must be scored; but if one is a perfect bird and the other an imperfect bird, and he holds his fire on the latter, he is entitled to another pair.

GAME AND SHOOTING

J. W., St. Louis, Mo.—When does the season open on woodcocks in Illinois and Missouri? Ans.—Illinois, July 15; Missouri, July 1.

MISCELLANEOUS

F. S., York, Pa.—We do not know his present address.

Club Elections

CLUB ELECTIONS.—Secretaries and other officers of clubs not having previously done so will confer a favor by sending us the names of all such organizations, with a list of the officers elected for the current year.

THE Brenham Gun Club which was recently organized at Brenham, Tex., elected the following gentlemen as officers for the ensuing year: President, O. A. Seward; vice-president, D. C. Giddings Jr.; secretary-treasurer, W. J. Graber; captain, R. E. Pennington; board of directors, T. A. Low, J. M. Nash, O. A. Lindeman and Earnest Reichardt.

THE recently organized Montpelier Gun Club of Montpelier, Vt., elected the following gentlemen as officers of the club for the current year: President, Lawson C. Cummins; vice-president, W. O. Lowe; secretary, J. G. Brown; treasurer, C. F. Lowe; captain, C. O. Barrett; executive committee, F. D. Dawley and W. W. Brock.

THE officers of the Capital City Gun Club of Montgomery, Ala., for the ensuing year are as follows: President, J. Taylor Roberts; vice-president, P. C. Smith; secretary and treasurer, R. P. Dexter; captain, T. M. Wescott; junior captain, T. W. Jewell; directors, G. M. Oliver, D. F. Lowe and J. T. Stuart.

THE Florence Fishing and Gunning Club of Philadelphia, Pa., has elected the following as officers of the club for the ensuing year: President, John Kale; vice-president, Charles Smith; secretary, A. S. Bullock; treasurer, James Absalam; trustees, William Kimble, William F. Parker and T. Emlen.

THE St. Stephens Rifle Club was recently organized at St. Johns, N. B., and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, W. C. H. Grimmer; vice-president, C. W. Young; secretary-treasurer, Norman Sederquest.

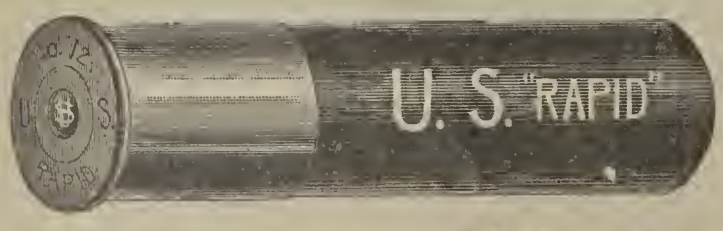
Amusements

SCHILLER THEATER.—The immediate and pronounced success of the new operatic burlesque, "Little Robinson Crusoe," has kept the handsome house crowded to the doors every night since its first performance. "Crusoe" is an unqualified triumph for Manager Prior; for Eddie Foy, the leading Chicago favorite in character comedy, for Marie Dressler, the accomplished and brilliant comedienne, who has made another great hit as Ophelia Crusoe, and for the other clever members of the American Burlesque Company. Very much was expected of this production, but such an immense popular success was scarcely anticipated. Eddie Foy, in his new and eccentric character Dare-Devil Willie, shows that he has not lost his firm hold upon the Chicago public; on the contrary it would seem that this has been increased, and that he is a greater favorite than ever. For Marie Dressler as Ophelia Crusoe, the landlady of the Anti-Fat Hotel, the public seems to have no limit to its plaudits and its laughter. Together these two admirable artists make a great team, and the audiences have been kept in continuous laughter and applause for the entire week.

MCVICKER'S THEATER.—Last week but one of the great melodrama, "The Cotton King," with the thrilling scene of a lady's rescue from beneath a falling elevator in a cotton mill. Usual matinees.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—A gorgeous and unprecedented spectacle, the new edition of "Ali Baba," a grand triumph of magnificence. Popular 50 cent matinee Wednesday.

U. S. RAPID



SHOT SHELL

FOR NITRO POWDERS.

Penetration increased with pattern 15 per cent improved. Results same with every shell. None so regular ever produced before. Head of shell and battery cup one piece of metal. No gas escape, no balling of shot, no upsetting of charge.

AGENTS:
[illegible] New York City.
[illegible] CO.,
[illegible] San Francisco, Cal.

U. S. CARTRIDGE CO., Lowell, Mass.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS-URBANA
3 0112 118914263